Anyone for Sailing...Fishing...Swimming?

Balmy, summer weather on the weekend found sailing and boating enthusiasts out on the waters. It was a good weekend for anglers, too, not to forget swimmers—like the girl above—who didn't mind the chilly waters at Bolton Lake. (Herald photo by O'Hara.)

Supreme Court Rules No Ban on Shop Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today the Taft-Hartley Law does not ban agency shop agreements, but in a separate decision upheld Florida's prohibition of agency shop contracts. Both decisions were 8-0. Justice Goldberg, a former secretary of labor, did not take part.

Non-Violence Classes Held For Negroes

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—About 25 Negro high school and college students sat in a semicircle in a corner of a large auditorium, intently watching a "white lunch counter"—two small tables and two chairs.

Alabama Campus New Focal Point

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Foster Auditorium, a shiny brick building with white facings on the University of Alabama campus is the focal point today in a critical move toward peaceful desegregation in the South.

Rockefeller Test Period Now Starts

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller returns to public affairs today and begins a testing period that may chart his course in the 1964 GOP presidential nomination contest.

Postmaster Fires Back At Many Press Critics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day fired back today at his press critics, charging they lack "an even rudimentary knowledge of how postal expenditures are financed."

Seasonal Fad

NEW YORK (AP)—The season of June brides began Saturday. Fifty couples were married in the chapel of the City License Bureau between 9 a.m. and noon.

Under agency shop agreements, non-union members must pay to unions the equivalent of fees and dues paid by members.

Many unions have pressed for such agreements in states which have so-called right-to-work laws, forbidding a requirement for union membership as a condition of employment.

The two cases in the Supreme Court's decision today were:

1. A case from Indiana in which the United Auto Workers was seeking from General Motors Corp. an agency shop agreement for workers in Indiana.

In a statement Sunday, the GOP group accused the Democratic administration of "footdragging" on civil rights. To do so, the Republicans said, is "irreconcilable with temper of the times which demand immediate action."

The administration is known to be preparing its own two-bill civil rights package for introduction later this week or next. One measure would forbid restaurants, theaters, hotels and the like to bar Negroes if the business operates in interstate commerce. The other would authorize federal authorities to set up court-approved desegregation schedules for school districts which refuse to act on their own.

What ignited Day's ire was editorial criticism of his stand that unless drastic cuts voted by the House in the Post Office budget were restored he would have to cut back services.

Another appalling thing about these sharply critical editorials was the obvious lack, in so many of them, of an even rudimentary knowledge of how postal expenditures are financed.

Pope John XXIII Dead, Ending Dramatic Struggle

Budget Unsettled As Deadline Nears

HARTFORD (AP)—The General Assembly entered the final hectic days of the 1963 session today with several important matters—most notably the budget—still unsettled.

State News Roundup

Valerie Stetson
Miss Connecticut

WALLINGFORD (AP)—Valerie Dale Stetson, a 19-year-old beauty from Southington, reigns today as the 1963 Miss Connecticut.

Her Saturday night victory over other hopefuls from the state makes Valerie the Connecticut entry in the Miss America pageant to be held in Atlantic City in September.

The three days of competition in Wallingford, she said on the day after winning the crown, was "a wonderful experience."

"I don't remember last night too clearly, though," said Valerie, a junior at Boston University. "I think I was numb."

Valerie, who stands 5 feet 6 1/2 inches, has brown hair and blue eyes.

Faces Kidnap Charge
NORTH BRANFORD (AP)—Neil Thomas, who police say has confessed to carrying a frightened 8-year-old girl from her bedroom in the middle of the night, faces a kidnap charge in Circuit Court today.

Thomas could not explain why he made the attempt, police said. The child, red-haired Tracy Miller, was taken out Saturday early Sunday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Millet, in woods near their home.

Police said Thomas originally intended to burglarize the Millet house.

Ex-Chief's Funeral
HARTFORD (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Henry G. Thomas, a member of the Hartford Fire Department for 42 years, who served as chief for 18 of them, Thomas died Saturday at the age of 69 after a short illness. He had retired from the fire department April 5, 1959.

Survivors include his widow, a daughter, a son, three granddaughters, four sisters and one brother.

Horse Trader Sentenced
HARTFORD (AP)—A 35-year-old Mansfield horse trader was sentenced to prison for three years on each of three counts, to be served concurrently, in U.S. District Court today.

This is the first time the system has been tried in the continental United States. If successful, it will be applied to all the aerial gateways to this country.

The simplified form requires no listing of purchases except in cases where the maximum $100 has been exceeded, or where purchases are being reported after the arrival of the passenger.

The form, issued by the Treasury and distributed by the air lines, says that baggage may be examined on entry into the United States. It adds that nonresidents may make their declarations orally, and that the same usually applies to returning residents of the United States.

Not one editorial contained a concrete suggestion of how we could provide the same service with less money. A few even urged that we bring back afternoon delivery.

Another appalling thing about these sharply critical editorials was the obvious lack, in so many of them, of an even rudimentary knowledge of how postal expenditures are financed.

The Senate originally slashed the Post Office's total appropriation request by $22 million—the largest cut ever imposed on the department. The Senate voted to recommend a cut of $36 million and Senate and House conferees finally agreed on a $22 million cut.

This will require some limited service curtailments, Day said, and "will hamper us from providing the top-flight postal operation which the people of this country are entitled to expect."

"I completely agree that now that postal rates have been raised the public has a right to steadily improved service," Day said. "But what many of the editorial writers apparently failed to understand is that while all our revenues go into the postal fund we can only spend the amount fixed by Congress in the annual appropriation act."

POPE JOHN XXIII

Wallace Insists He'll Stop Way

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The case of the federal government vs. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace comes up today in U.S. District Court. There were indications that come what may, Wallace will go through with his plan to try to keep Negroes out of the white University of Alabama.

No one expected the fiery segregationist governor to be present for the legal proceedings. He said on a national television program Sunday that he would send counsel to present his defense of his stand-in-the-door policy against integration.

The Justice Department asked U.S. Dist. Judge Seybourn H. Lynne for an injunction barring Wallace from interfering with an earlier court order directing the university system to enroll two Negroes.

Repealing his vow to stand in the university doors to keep Negroes out, Wallace told interviewers on NBC television's "Meet the Press" that his defiance would "test in the courts the validity of this order involving our school system."

The issue, he said, is whether Alabama may run its schools as it has or must submit to federal government operation of the schools. He said repeatedly that violence would not be tolerated at the university, but said it remains to be seen whether federal troops will be needed to get two Negroes into the university system next week.

The governor said he has appealed to the citizens of Alabama to stay away from the campus. "Absolute law will prevail," he said.

The Vatican press office released this communique:

At 1:30 (7:35 a.m. EST) the situation remains as reported earlier. A new particular is that (blood) pressure was dropped to 80.

At 8 a.m. the Pope's blood pressure was 115.

The Vatican radio said the Pope had been unconscious for several hours and that his temperature was above 104 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Vatican radio also reported Benedictine Cardinal Alois Masella, the cardinal chamberlain, had gone to the Vatican along with Archbishop Francisco Carpino, secretary of the College of Cardinals, and other prelates.

Cardinal Alois Masella has the duty of certifying the death of a Pope and becomes a sort of interim administrator during the interregnum between Popes.

Archbishop Carpino would take over the duties of Vatican secretary of state, an office that lapses on a Pope's death.

A Vatican source said Cardinal Alois Masella and the other prelates went to the Pope's apartment.

At one point Vatican radio said death already had seemed to snuff out the Pope's life, but it flickered once again amidst the ferment of a terrible agony.

"This is an hour of prayer," said Vatican radio.

The Pope received extreme unction, the last rites of the church, 72 hours ago. For four days he has lingered between life and death. Only the periods of some lightening his pain.

His temperature rose to more than 104 degrees today and his pulse, which had been 125 Sunday, rose to 140 and then dropped again to 130. He had 10 periods of consciousness but sank back into coma early in the afternoon.

"The strong physical constitution that has so tenaciously resisted the disease is being over-

Catholic Leader Mourned

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican press office announced today Pope John XXIII is dead.

The Pope's stout heart gave up after a long and dramatic duel with death in which his resistance confounded all medical expectations.

The pontiff, 81, called "Pope of Unity and Peace," had described himself as serenely ready, "going sweetly toward the end."

The final illness was caused by a stomach tumor, which brought persistent hemorrhaging and was complicated near the end by peritonitis, an inflammation of the lining of the abdominal cavity.

The supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church succumbed at 7:49 p.m. (1:49 p.m. EST) the announcement said.

Death came to the 21st supreme pontiff of the world's Roman Catholics only nine minutes after echoes of an extraordinary outdoor Mass in St. Peter's Square died away.

There at least 20,000 of all faiths and nationalities had joined in prayer for the dying Pope.

An announcer on Vatican radio broadcast the news to the world, first in Italian, in a calm but sorrowful voice.

The Pope was stricken a year ago with a stomach ailment that caused hemorrhaging, but he continued his heavy tasks virtually to the end.

A medical bulletin at noon—8 a.m. EST—said that the Pope no longer felt the agonizing pain which had been wracking him and sedatives and pain killers no longer were necessary.

The bulletin said the pontiff's temperature had gone up again, but "the cardio-circulatory condition remains, nevertheless, rather valid."

This was the text of the noon bulletin:

"For some hours there has been increasing in the pontiff a state of stupor and therefore it has no longer been necessary to use sedatives and analgesics (pain killers)."

"The temperature has gone up again. The cardio-circulatory condition remains, nevertheless, rather valid."

The 1 p.m. bulletin said:

"There is nothing new to report. The slow course of the ailment is being contained by the still fairly strong functioning of the cardio-circulatory system."

At 1:30 p.m. (7:50 a.m. EST) the Vatican press office released this communique:

At 1:35 (7:35 a.m. EST) the situation remains as reported earlier. A new particular is that (blood) pressure was dropped to 80.
