MANCHESTER'S 140th --- AND OUR OWN 23rd ANNIVERSARY

908 Main Street Telephone 648-2478 Formal Wear For Hire

Regal men's shop "The Marvel Of Main Street" WE LOVE BEING OLD-FASHIONED

BUT ONLY IN OUR WAY OF DOING BUSINESS It's true, we don't have a pot belly stove for you to sit around and play checkers or dominoes, but we do have chairs handy for your comfort (See photo below). And we do keep you warm in winter and delightfully air conditioned in summer. Now celebrating our 23rd birthday, you'd hardly call us a fly-by-night, so we've established some of the permanence of the merchant of bygone years. When you make a purchase here, if you want, we put it "On the Books." And if there's anything wrong with your purchase you can come back, not on your hands and knees, but like you would a friend, knowing that everything will be made right. And something that isn't old-fashioned is Regal's PAL Service by which we alter your purchased garment Free at the time you buy it and keep it altered for perfect fit for as long as you wear it. In this high pressure age you're apt to run into the "Sell and Forget" attitude in many places, but here at Regals we let you "BUY AND REMEMBER." Is all this old-fashioned? It sure is and we're glad... and we're sure you're glad, too!

World News In Brief

MOSCOW (AP)—An international Communist source said today that Communist party delegations from 20 to 25 foreign countries would meet in Moscow Nov. 7 to prepare a call for a world meeting to discuss the Soviet-Chinese dispute. The delegations will be in Moscow for the celebration of the anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The informant said the meeting would probably be called for February or March and all Communist parties in the world approximately 100 would be invited.

A special invitation will be sent to the Chinese, the Albanians and others following the Chinese line, the source said.

The invitation, the informant continued, is expected to emphasize the validity of the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence, and the Chinese are not expected to accept it in that form. The special meeting then is expected to "ostracize" the Chinese.

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—Another American soldier—the fifth in three weeks—has been detected by Communist East Germany, the East German news agency ADN claimed Wednesday night.

U.S. Army headquarters said the alleged defector, Pvt. Frank Barton, 22, of 3049 Wynwood Lane, Los Angeles, Calif., has been absent without leave since Aug. 30 from his unit in Gieszen, northwest of Frankfurt.

The Army said another GI was detected by the Communist agency as having defected to East Germany also has been reported.

GENEVA (AP)—The International Committee of the Red Cross complains that its appeal for medical aid for soldiers in Yemen has aroused "only a little echo."

The all-Swiss body said that without international assistance it could not provide relief for the victims of Yemen's civil war.

The ICRC said the need for medical relief is particularly great on the side of the royalists.

TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito today opened a special session of the Diet.

The main tasks before the Diet are approval of a supplementary budget to cover increased payments to government employees and other expenditures, and approval of Japanese membership in the Organization of Economic Co-operation Development and the International Labor Organization's Convention 87 on the right of labor to organize.

Premier Hayato Ikeda announced Wednesday that he would dissolve the lower house during the current Diet session to seek the nation's approval of his economic expansion program, which has the goal of doubling the national income.

Bias in Housing Hit by Church

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The international convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) ended its 14th assembly by urging Christians to refrain from discriminating against homes in integrating communities.

In a special business session late Wednesday, the assembly approved an amended resolution which urged Christians "to stand for equal opportunity in housing."

A sentence saying "racism is inhuman and segregation and discrimination on the basis of color, creed or condition are sins" set off a debate. It was deleted and replaced with this sentence: "People who sell their homes to move away from their integrated neighborhoods are as bad as those who refuse to sell to persons of another race."

I Believe: It's Smart to Save Money

The management of your household funds is an important and exacting responsibility. I am sure that you want full value for every dollar spent.

The key word is VALUE

It is easy to buy at a lower price. But is it smart? The proof of VALUE is readily seen when you compare Mott's "Tender-Trim" meats with ordinary meat in the average store. When you compare quality, trim and price, Mott's VALUE makes your dollars VALUABLE.

Read and check off the VALUES in this ad—our invitation to shop in Mott's this weekend—then shop and see for yourself why Mott's customers are happy about the extra money they save each week.

I know they save each week. They tell me so.

Honorable Yale

To the Editor:

I see by the media of the press, television, radio, etc. that Yale University has succeeded in making two ghastly mistakes.

Number 1 and the most important is their chickening out on their invitation for Governor Wallace to speak on the campus. Here we have the vomit inducing spectacle of one of the honored seals of higher education in the land being dictated to and cowed by a mediocre politician whose very action implied that the forces of law and order in his own city were inadequate to guarantee freedom of speech for a private citizen. It was so, then the city of New Haven is in sad shape, even worse than the status of Yale is at of now.

Number 2—after wailing out on Governor Wallace's invitation they invite Madame Nhu to speak and as yet I have heard no dissenting voice on this matter. Compared to Madame Nhu, Governor Wallace is a saint!

As far as I'm concerned the symbol for Yale is no longer a bulldog, but an ostrich with yellow feathers. Old Bill and eye Old gullies big he is more appropriate!

By their moral cowardice the students of Yale have disgraced the memory of every soldier, sailor and Marine who died to guarantee Governor Wallace's right to speak, be he right or wrong. Whoever was responsible for the cancellation of Governor Wallace's appearance, be it the faculty or the student body, has conclusively proven to the whole world that they have been unfortunate enough to have been endowed with the intellectual fortitude of an invalid ant.

Yours truly,

Tito Welcomed To White House

freedom and no friend of the United States," Dode said. "On the contrary he is the sworn enemy of everything we stand for."

The visit was described by officials as "informal, but official." Tito and his wife Jovanka, 39, a former major in the Yugoslav army, arrive at the White House from Williamsburg, Va., by helicopter, and return to Williamsburg in the same way in the afternoon.

In making the visit here short and in choosing the places Tito will see after he leaves Washington, the administration had to weigh carefully domestic political implications, informants said. Except for Khrushchev, who was here in 1962, Tito is the only Communist head of state to have been invited to Washington.

Friday and Saturday Tito will make a leisurely tour of the Yosemite National Park in California, then visit San Francisco on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's invitation. Tito is due in New York Tuesday to address the U.N. General Assembly.

The aides, officials said, agreed that the Yugoslav leader should avoid visiting the industrial areas of Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit, where sizable minorities from his country are living and known to be bitter about him.

Security measures have been planned a little more carefully than usual, the officials said.

The Doctor Says

GOUT'S MISCONCEPTIONS ARE SLOW TO PASS AWAY

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
M. D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you have gout, you can be glad you did not live in the last century when the disease was poorly understood. Some misconceptions about this disease that were popular in those days have persisted because of a use of erroneous ideas are slow to die.

For one thing the disease is not limited to gourmands who eat steak and kidney pie for breakfast and wash down all their food with wine. In some persons gout is a hereditary disease, and like diabetes, is due to faulty metabolism.

Also, like diabetes, it can be controlled but not cured. In persons with gout it has been found that the amount of uric acid in the blood is increased. This may be the result of eating large amounts of certain foods that are rich in purines, a greater than normal breaking down of body proteins, an overproduction of uric acid, or an interference with the normal elimination of uric acid through the kidneys.

In some persons without a hereditary tendency to gout acute attacks of gout may occur following the taking of large amounts of pyrazinamide for tuberculosis, or chlorbutamide which is a diuretic or "water pill." If these drugs must be taken over a long period, the gout they cause can be relieved by the use of the same drugs used to control hereditary gout.

Gout is seen more commonly in persons who are overweight than in the thin and more often in men than in women for reasons not yet known.

When the excess of uric acid in the blood exceeds a certain concentration, uric acid crystals may form in the joints, especially those of the great toe, where they cause gouty arthritis, an excruciatingly painful disease. Crystals may also form in the skin, in the ear or other parts, and they may form in the kidneys where they may cause kidney stones and may seriously damage the kidneys.

In a person with gouty arthritis is not treated, the attack will clear up within about two weeks, but several months later another attack will occur. These attacks come on at shorter and shorter intervals and become longer in duration until a chronic or unrelieved gouty state exists. This was a common occurrence in the past, but rarely, if ever, happens now.

Persons with gouty ancestors or who, for any reason, are suspected of having a gouty tendency can be recognized by an increased uric acid level in the blood and then with intelligent management may go through life without ever having an acute attack. They should drink two or three quarts of water daily as this helps to keep the uric acid from crystallizing in the urine and causing stones.

They should avoid all purine-rich foods such as glandulars, kidney, liver and kidney, meat extracts (bouillon or consommé), anchovies and sardines but, as in diabetes, diet alone is not enough. If necessary to take one of the drugs that cause elimination of uric acid without causing a loss of essential nutrients in the blood.

CHANGE MARIGOLE ODOR

DEAR POLLY—Those who hesitate to use marigolds or other flowers for table arrangements because of their offensive odor, can spray them with a household air freshener. The flowers are then completely odorless and the spray does not affect the appearance of the blooms at all.—MRS. G. H. GIBBS—There is one better than one good way to "skin a cat." If you don't like the idea, show by the one below.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I grow mint in my garden and when I pick flowers like marigolds that have an unpleasant odor, I put a few sprigs of mint in the bouquet. This gives off a fresh odor as well as adding green to the flowers.—LILA

DEAR POLLY—An old plastic raincoat which has become too shabby to wear has not outlived its usefulness. Cut it to waist length, remove the sleeves and use it as a cosmetic cape. It affords excellent protection to your clothes.—MRS. A. E. L. RUTH MILLET

DEAR POLLY—I am a regular pack rat when it comes to having things. I have been saving worn out slippers for a long time and have found they can be made into pretty and inexpensive house slippers. The cloth tops on the slippers is of different colors and I make them into flowers. Divide each slipper at the bottom, coil one side of it into a ring with the metal prongs on top. Fasten together with a thread. Mount on three green plastic leaves. Put a small gold safety pin on the back and no one will ever guess the origin of your novel house slipper.—E. B.

DEAR POLLY—Now is the time to begin collecting newspaper and magazine articles about political candidates and their views in preparation for the next election. Some of us are too weary by night to study carefully the writings that are of a political nature. I keep scissors handy and clip these for that quiet time when politics can be my primary interest.—MRS. D. H. GIBBS

DEAR POLLY—I am sure many of us would do well to follow this sage advice and keep the political material until we can read it intelligently and carefully rather than scan through it without much thought. Making it be more interesting to have the opposing candidate's statements read and compare at the same time.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—A pastry brush is fine for knocking starching on shirt collars, shirt fronts, belts and so on. It really beats spraying, I think. Brushing starch onto the desired parts of the garment eliminates waste. And there's no chance of spraying the starch where you do not want it to go.—MRS. N. M. AUTOMATIC COMFORT MEANS AMERICAN COAL

KNOW WHEN TO SAY YES

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The man who stands a good chance of a happily married life is the one who knows when it says to agree with his wife. If he's wise, he can get a lot of peaceful mileage out of a "yes" when certain situations arise.

One is when she models something new she bought on sale and can't return. If he says he doesn't like it, then his wife is never going to want to wear it, and his money has been wasted.

When she points out some flaw in a woman who is getting more than her share of masculine attention he could agree without reservation. This is no time to remark: "I don't see why all you women have it in for her."

When she has a grievance against a third person, it is no time to strike a judicial attitude and open-mindedly see the other person's point of view. At that moment the only point of view your wife wants you to see is her own outraged one.

Or take this common situation: She is leaving out part of a story in order to make it sound a little more impressive. This is not the time to jump with, "Why don't you tell the whole story?"

When she spends the day shifting "mud" around and says expectantly: "Don't you think it looks better this way?" "What was wrong with it the way it was?" But that is merely exasperating to a woman who worked for hours to change it. The payoff is when you come home and find she has changed the color of her hair.

Let her have her fun. If it really does look awful, she'll come around to your way of thinking and restore the natural color herself. And if it looks great, you'll become accustomed to the change. You can't lose either way, so why argue?

Civil Strife Hikes Sales For Yemeni

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
BANKA, Yemen (AP) — The dusty market places of backward Yemen are thriving on civil war. Hundreds of tiny shops in the pungent 'souks' are literally bulging with goods. Along the twisting, narrow alleys, the vendors can find almost everything—Japanese transistor radios and cameras, Hong Kong electrical equipment, Czechoslovak shoes, East German razor blades, Red Chinese silk, British shirts and even bottled soft drinks from Saudi Arabia. American cosmetics are a big item—although the women of Yemen veil themselves completely to public. You can even find 'fauxes'.

The trade boom has created problems for President Nasser who has sent about 20,000 of his Egyptian troops here to help President Abdullah Al Sallal fight rebellious tribesmen loyal to deposed King Mohamed El Faisal.

The Egyptians find in Yemen many consumer goods which have all but disappeared from Nasser's socialist state. And they readily spend their money by $15 allowance in the souks.

Aware of the need to maintain friendship with the Yemenis, Nasser has not pushed for import controls. Instead, he has continued to dip into his country's treasury to help Yemen.

The Yemeni rial, actually the silver Maria Theresia dollar, is floating out of the country at an alarming rate to pay for the influx of consumer goods. To balance the demand, Nasser has agreed to mint new state of Yemen and has advanced about $7 million worth of silver.

It is estimated that Egypt has poured about $10 million to finance Sallal's regime since last year's revolt—in addition to doing most of the fighting and attempting to build up Yemen's ill-trained 8,000-man army.

For its part, Sallal's government is of little help. Administration was left in a chaos when Mohamed was ousted.

The government really doesn't know where to begin to set its financial order. There are no statistics and no statisticians. A few figures are being gathered and by next year Sallal has promised a formal national budget for the country's first.

When Imam Ahmed died about a year ago, it was assumed that his son, Imam Mohamed, gradually would restore the country out of his backwardness. He knew something of the outside world and made much of a supposed friendship with Nasser.

But before Imam Mohamed had ruled 11 days, he was ousted out of the country and stone placed by Sallal, then a 46-year-old army colonel, Sallal discovered that he inherited a backward nation and all its problems.

The balance of power was against him. Although he had the support of the townpeople and tribal leaders—a majority of the country's five million population—he found they were no match for the fierce mountain tribesmen who delighted in fighting and normally supported the Imam.

Drone fighting on both sides have a tendency to vacillate or settle old tribal scores, often at the expense of ignoring the civil war. Last summer, Sallal's government had to execute some of its own tribal followers.

Under these circumstances it is impossible for the overwhelming majority of Yemenis to take an international view of their situation. But the war is international, potentially dangerous in the Middle East and disastrous to almost every one.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By DORIS BELTING
Mrs. John Lessard of 844 Vernon St. serves four of her five children portions of her husband's favorite dessert, Pumpkin Apple Pie. The children are, left to right, John, 4; Rose, 6; Kenneth, 7; and Joyce, 2. Diana, six months old, was not available for the picture because she was sleeping at the time.

Pumpkin-Apple Pie
3 tablespoons soft butter
1 cup brown sugar, well packed
Pastry for two-crust nine-inch pie
6 cups sliced apples
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
Line 9-inch pie pan with 18-inch circle of aluminum foil, leaving one-inch overhanging edge. Spread soft butter over the foil. Press pecan halves, flat side up, into butter. Gently pat brown sugar into butter. Pre-prepare pastry and roll into an 11-inch circle. Ease into pie pan over other mixture.

Mix apples, sugar, flour and spices and put into pie pan over crust. Cover with top crust and seal and flute. Prick with fork. Brush lightly with milk. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Place pie in oven and bake for 10 minutes. Lower temperature to 375 degrees and bake 35 to 40 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand five minutes. Invert, on serving plate. The pie is very good when served warm.

MRS. JOHN LESSARD AND CHILDREN

Child Relaxed When Mim Away

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Mothers should not remain in the room when their children are undergoing dental treatment, says a specialist.
Except for very small children, the young patient is more relaxed and cooperative if the mother stays in the waiting room. Dr. Walter Schwartz of Roselle Park, N.J., said today in a paper presented at the 104th annual meeting of the American Dental Association.

School Menus

The public school menu for the week of Oct. 21-25 is as follows:
Monday: Baked link sausage, mashed potato, buttered peas and carrots, bread, butter, milk, apple sauce.
Tuesday: Hamburg patty on roll, potato chips, buttered bread, milk, ice cream.
Wednesday: Baked ham, parmesan potato, whole kernel corn, bread, butter, milk, orange pineapple whip.
Thursday: United Nations Day: Baked Swiss steak, French green beans, whipped fish potatoes, Italian bread, butter, U.S.A. milk, Danish apple cake.
Friday: Teacher's Convention No school.

Idle Claims Dip To 693 in Town

Although compensation claims filed in Connecticut during the week ending Oct. 12 dropped 6 per cent, claims filed in Manchester during the same period, dropped by the same percentage.
A total of 603 claims were processed locally, compared to 738 for the week ending Oct. 8. The Rocky Hill area accounted for 142 of the amount, four more than last week.
Claims by women totaled 332, or about 55 per cent.
Manchester ranked fourteenth in the state last week, in total claims filed, compared to its thirteenth position the previous week.
The State Labor Department attributed the rise in claims throughout the state to the start of a new benefit year for some claimants who had previously exhausted their benefits.
