Farmlands Wither, Water Supplies Low

CHICAGO (AP)—The drought belt extending Texas to New England remained explosively dry over the weekend as the effect on the nation's economy deepened.

Scattered rains brought scant relief to some spots, but the loss to crops and property from the dryness and accompanying fires is expected to run into the millions of dollars.

Fires have burned across thousands of acres of forests and woodlands. Pastures have turned brown. Wells and farm ponds have gone dry. Water is being rationed in some communities. The shortage of water has been felt in some of the major cities in the East.

The drought has delayed the seeding of winter wheat in the Great Plains. Livestock production in many areas has markedly declined because of shortage of feed and water. Milk production in many areas was far below seasonal levels.

Officials in several eastern and Midwest States have ordered the closing of many forests and woodlands. Hunting and fishing have been banned.

Although light rain fell in central sections of the nation over the weekend, Weather Bureau officials said heavy rains are needed.

A storm off the Atlantic Coast became a hurricane Sunday night. The hurricane, named Ginny, was accompanied by winds up to 85 m.p.h. A Weather Bureau forecast said the storm, about 90 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., could bring more wind than rain and thus increase the fire hazard in the parched Eastern forests.

On the bright side of the dismal weather picture, the nation's major winter vegetable and citrus growing regions—

JFK Order Expected For Women's Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to step more squarely into the battle of the sexes with an executive order carrying out his promise to do something about discrimination against women.

Kennedy's order reportedly will set up a citizens committee and name Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to work with it in trying to get women a better competitive break with men in jobs, education and other areas.

The President's order could come within a week or two, reliable sources said today.

But the real fight, said one Labor Department source, will come later when women seek a stronger presidential order to discourage discrimination against them by employers with federal contracts.

Kennedy's expected action stems from recommendations by his Commission on the Status of Women.

Asst. Secretary of Labor Esther Peterson, the commission's vice president, said she was surprised how much options have changed in high-level government, labor and management circles since the commission began its work last year.

She said state commissions have been set up or are in the works in Michigan, Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Washington, Minnesota, Illinois, New Hampshire, North Carolina and Tennessee among others.

The commission's report laid much of the responsibility for bettering women's lot on state legislatures. Mrs. Peterson said 30 states already are in the process of doing something about it.

She said state commissions have been set up or are in the works in Michigan, Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Washington, Minnesota, Illinois, New Hampshire, North Carolina and Tennessee among others.

Sides to Argue Tomorrow On State Reapportioning

By THOMAS M. STEWART
NEW HAVEN (AP)—A problem that has been hoped to be resolved in politics for decades—reapportionment of the Connecticut legislature—will be placed in the laps of three federal judges tomorrow in U. S. District Court.

Until last year, the federal courts kept hands off in the disputes over how representation was allocated in legislatures throughout the country.

But that was before Baker vs. Carr, a Tennessee case, in which the Supreme Court held that federal courts could hear cases in which it was alleged citizens were denied their rights under the U. S. Constitution in the legislative reapportionment systems in their states.

Since then nearly three dozen cases have been instituted across the country.

Oral arguments in the Connecticut case, Butterworth et al. vs. Dempsey et al., will be presented before Judges Charles E. Clark, William Tamm, and Robert Anderson. The whole affair should only take several hours and then the justices are expected to retire and think it over—perhaps for weeks or even months.

The League of Women Voters was primarily responsible for bringing together the nine private citizens who are the plaintiffs in the case.

It is the plaintiffs' contention that the equal protection under the law that they are guaranteed by the 14th amendment of the U. S. Constitution is actually being denied them.

They say the Connecticut General Assembly—both House and Senate—is hopelessly malapportioned because it gives the same number of representatives to a town with a few hundred residents that it gives to one with many thousands and allows a senator from one district to represent one-eighth as many constituents as another senator.

In a brief filed in advance of the oral arguments, the plaintiffs insisted that the principle of the number of qualified voters "must always be the primary basis of any system of apportionment under the U. S. Constitution."

The possibility that the federal court might rule sections of the Connecticut Constitution invalid and order a special session of the legislature has immense implications for the Republican and Democratic parties.

Under the present system, the Democrats almost inevitably hold the Senate and the Republicans the House. With a divided legislature session after session, it has been impossible in the past to get through reform legislation.

Leaders of the two parties have been allowed, as individuals, to enter the suit as intervenors. They will be represented in the arguments tomorrow. Former GOP National Chairman Mesede Aloom is speaking

State Approves Renewal Bonds

HARTFORD (AP)—Urban renewal projects totaling $630,559 were approved today by the State Bond Commission. The bonding represents the state's share in the projects.

Granted to the Bushnell Plaza project was $594,944, and to the Front-Talcott project, $35,615.

The commission also approved:

- $500,000 to assist in construction of Rts. 750 and 607 in Wallingford.
- $89,400 for the East Main St. urban renewal project in New Britain. An increase of $1,500 to the previous allotment for the Norwich Water-Commerce St. project.

Acting on the recommendation of State Public Works Director Timothy J. Murphy, the commission approved a cutback on specifications for the proposed mental hospital at New Haven so that it will be tailored to the funds appropriated for its construction.

Murphy advised the commission the bid for the project had been some $200,000 over the $4,992,000 which was authorized for the center.

He pointed out that State Mental Health Commissioner Wilfred Bloomberg desired to retain the original specifications for the building but he was confident that a review of the project would develop areas where savings could be made.

State Finance Commissioner George J. Conkling reported the state might receive additional private grants for the center but was not assured of them at this time. He also advised that further efforts should be made to determine whether or not all possible sources of federal aid had been explored.

Crashes Kill Three
Three persons, including a 3-year-old East Haven girl, died in weekend highway accidents.

The child, Lynn Finner of 3 Maynard Rd., was riding with eight other children Saturday in a station wagon driven by Mrs. Joseph DeMalo, 37, of Meriden.

As the vehicle sped on a steep hill on West Peak Dr. in Berlin near the Meriden town line, its brakes apparently failed, police said.

The vehicle struck a stone wall. Lynn was killed and three other children were hurt seriously enough to require hospitalization.

In a Lisbon accident, Gerald F. Martin, 31, of 8 Quarter Rd., Norwich, was fatally injured when his motor scooter was slammed into a fence post on Rt. 166.

Martin died yesterday in Backus Hospital, Norwich, of head injuries.

Steven G. Lappas, 17, of 6 Grand St., Bethel, lost his life early yesterday when his car crashed into a tree 12 days before control in Rt. 7, Whiton.

Tories Hurt
By Defections
LONDON (AP)—Lord Home, Britain's next prime minister, today faced an urgent job on the Conservative party's election machinery, disrupted by defections at the top.

Home's hastily constructed Cabinet—largely a reshuffle of Harold Macmillan's—won general approval from Conservative newspapers and deflection from pro-Labor commentators.

Editorial writers of both sides suggested the government must be handicapped by the refusal of Iain MacLeod and Enoch Powell to serve under Home.

MacLeod, one of the younger Tory progressives who backed Richard A. Butler in last week's struggle for the leadership was expected to resign as joint chairman of the Conservative party.

Informed sources said his co-chairman, financier Lord Poole, would resign with him. He had backed Science Minister Lord Hallahan to succeed Macmillan.

MacLeod and Poole were a formidable team in planning Conservative platform and finances for the national election next year. Their joint chairmanship probably will be turned into a one-man post and given to John Hare, 52, a former labor minister who took the sinecure post of chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the new Cabinet.

Editorial reaction to Home's Cabinet ranged from "a good start" in the Conservative Daily Sketch to "grotesque" in the Laborite Daily Mirror.

The Independent Times said the speed with which the Cabinet was produced was a good strength of the party.

Boy Gives Up Dog 'Stormy' To Help Rusty

HARTFORD (AP)—It isn't every shoshina boy who reads the front page of the newspaper.

But Clarence Walker, 13, says he did yesterday because a snack dab on the top of the page was a picture of his dog, Stormy.

Stormy was not just any old dog. She was a full-blooded German shepherd that cost him $25 and months of saving. And now she was in the pound.

So Clarence was natural. Interested. Besides, he hadn't seen his six-month-old pup since she trotted off with his five-year-old cousin last Wednesday.

Clarence might have run right down to the pound and claimed his dog, but he didn't.

Instead, Clarence decided to give her away.

With Stormy in the picture was 9-year-old Rusty Stackman, who had come to Hartford Saturday to see if the dog in the city pound might be Dame, the shepherd stolen last month from outside his West Quincy, Mass., home.

Rusty has had five operations.

He pointed out that State Mental Health Commissioner Wilfred Bloomberg desired to retain the original specifications for the building but he was confident that a review of the project would develop areas where savings could be made.

State Finance Commissioner George J. Conkling reported the state might receive additional private grants for the center but was not assured of them at this time. He also advised that further efforts should be made to determine whether or not all possible sources of federal aid had been explored.

'Bloodiest Nose' for U. S. Side Vietnamese Routed

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—South Vietnamese and U.S. Army officers expected trouble when they planned a weekend attack on a Communist guerrilla unit deep in the Mekong Delta.

Their fears were well founded. The battle, termed by U. S. advisers "the bloodiest nose" given President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces since a similar defeat Jan. 2, took place in a remote area of rice paddies and palm groves near Loc Ninh, 140 miles southeast of Saigon.

A considerable distance from helicopter bases and out of reach of government artillery, the sector has long been infiltrated by guerrillas.

Entrrenched in fortified positions, Viet Cong heavy machine guns cut up two waves of South Vietnamese troops carried in by U. S. helicopters.

Another government battalion brought in on foot failed to dislodge the Viet Cong's well-trained and well-equipped battalion. A third helicopter force was halted too.

By Sunday morning, the Viet Cong had melted away in sampans along the many canals in the area.

About 900 Vietnamese troops fought against a force of no more than 400 to 500 guerrillas, U. S. advisers said.

"They (the guerrillas) were a well-trained, well-organized unit," said an American officer. "They had plenty of automatic weapons and ammunition."

Four American crewmen were injured when a helicopter was flipped over in the mud. Another helicopter lost rotor control but made a crash landing at an airfield 25 miles away after the American pilot was struck in the back by a Communist bullet.

Viet Cong machine guns also wounded the American aviators.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—The war against communism in South Vietnam—with the security of a vastly strategic area at stake—can be lost. It can be won, too. Hopes were high not long ago.

If South Vietnam goes, it will be lost in the presidential palace in Saigon, where a frightened regime seems to be playing Vietnamese roulette with the future of all Southeast Asia.

Perhaps the war never can be wholly won while South Vietnam has a Communist neighbor in the north. But even in this sea of confusion and frustration, it is possible to hope the back of the Viet Cong Communist effort can be broken and a reasonable amount of peace restored.

High Seas Endanger Two Ships

MANTEO, N. C. (AP)—Hurricane Ginny churned northeastward in open sea today, bringing gale force winds and high tides to the North Carolina and Virginia coasts.

At least two ships were in trouble in the lashing waves.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said at noon that Ginny was estimated to be about 115 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras. The storm, with top winds of about 80 miles an hour, was reported moving slowly toward the northeast at about five miles per hour.

Winds along North Carolina's Outer Banks, a narrow, sandy strip of islands paralleling the coast, were reported only slightly above normal.

A Navy hurricane hunter plane reported it had sighted the decommissioned Fogg, a destroyer escort adrift in the Atlantic since Saturday. The Fogg, with 10 men aboard, broke from its tow, the tug Salish, in high winds. A spokesman said the Fogg was reported upright but there was no word about the crew. The Salish also reported it was having difficulty in the turbulent Atlantic.

The Outer Banks area and coastal regions of North Carolina relaxed. No extraordinary hurricane precautions were taken.

Hurricane warnings are displayed in the Cape Hatteras vicinity south of Manteo.

With the apparent turn of Ginny to the northeast, storm-wyde veterans of this narrow, sandy island off the North Carolina coast relaxed.

Telephone lines are down between Cape Hatteras and Manteo, a distance of about 35 miles, but communications are maintained through Coast Guard radio.

Ginny became a hurricane Sunday night about 90 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras. The storm had been developing since Saturday.

The storm spun 90-mile winds out for 60 miles around its center and reached out with gale force winds for 250 miles to the north and 170 miles to the south and west.

Waves of 25 to 30 feet were reported lashing the Diamond Shoals lightship off Cape Hatteras, N. C.

HOME NAMES HARE
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Lord Home picked a new chairman for his Conservative party today to repair the rents of factional struggle and reorganize for elections. The new chairman, John Hare, minister of labor in the Harold Macmillan government, who now moves up to the House of Commons and takes on the title of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster to assure him a seat in the Cabinet. Home also began appointing junior ministers, picking cautiously from party inside circles and the ranks of those tested in other posts. There was a job for Maurice Macmillan, 42, son of the former prime minister, as economic secretary of the treasury.

CHINA REJECTED
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The General Assembly rejected by a substantial margin today a new bid to seat Red China in the United Nations. The vote on the Albanian-Cambodian proposal was 41 in favor, 57 against and 12 abstaining. Ethiopia was absent. The result last year was 42 in favor, 56 against with 12 abstentions. It was the 14th successive year in which the issue had been sidetracked or in which the assembly had voted outright to keep the Peking regime out. The vote came after a week of debate which placed the spotlight on the ideological rift between the Kremlin and the Chinese Communists. The Soviet block voted solidly for seating the Peking government, but left it to Albania—follower of the Peking line—to carry the ball. As usual, the United States led the fight against handing over Nationalist China's seat to the Communists.

Views of Rocky, Barry Split Widest on Rights

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater disagree on some vital issues but they are in accord in advocating a two-front attack on President Kennedy in 1964.

In answers to a series of identical questions submitted to them separately by The Associated Press, the two potential contenders for the GOP presidential nomination disclosed a deep division over civil rights.

The New York governor and the Arizona senator voiced opposing views on how to provide medical care for the elderly, the need for right-to-work laws and whether there should be an immediate tax cut.

In the international field they stood together in opposition to any American pull-out from Vietnam. Both cautioned against being lured by Soviet overtures for peaceful coexistence. Their answers about what to do about the Cuba problem were relatively similar. They differed in degree over the limited nuclear test-ban treaty's effect.

Rockefeller served notice he did not regard answers to the questions as a substitute for a face-to-face debate with Goldwater over party policies. Goldwater said he was willing to debate "the weaknesses of the Kennedy administration" but saw little value in Republicans debating Republicans.

Florida, California and the lower Rio Grande Valley — reported favorable growing conditions. Irrigation from wells provides sufficient moisture for crops in the Rio Grande Valley and the state of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont remained critical. The first danger was accelerated by high winds which accompanied the Atlantic storm that lashed the North Carolina coast and moved northward.

All woodlands and fields in New Hampshire were closed to the public. Hunting, fishing and other outdoor sports were banned. The state's grazing pastures were burned and half the state parks and the White Mountain National Forest were closed.

No major fires were reported in New Hampshire, but there were numerous small blazes over the state. William Mesick, director of the Division of Resources Development, said the state was on the brink of disaster relief because of the drought. "A major fire in any town were using emergency water supplies," he said.

Vermont's Gov. Philip H. Hoff who closed the state's woods Oct. 10, repeated his warnings against persons entering wooded lands, except in cases of emergency. Livestock in Vermont was eating forage stored for winter. There was an acute shortage of grain. A shortage of water prompted

The Weather Bureau's agricultural branch at Stoneville, Miss., said there has been "no recorded significant rainfall in the past 30 days or more and the dry conditions have not only affected farm operations but also have increased the danger of grass and brush fires."

Agriculture sources in Alabama said the state "was in a crisis and in a hazardous condition." In some areas farmers were unable to plow the dry earth.

Refrainless timberlands in Louisiana faced the greatest fire hazard since 1952 when 400,000 acres burned. Tennessee said more than 250 brush and forest fires since Oct. 1, reported that the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was "under a dry spell."

The New York health department warned that the wide-spread smog, especially in the Hudson Valley, could cause trouble for persons suffering from respiratory and heart ailments.

Pennington was especially hard hit by the continued drought. The weather bureau said immediate relief was in sight for the drought-weary state. Fires continued to break out in the state Saturday — across the state's timberlands.

THE WAY I HEARD IT

by John Gruber

There are always few young people arriving at an age where they want to "take lessons" on a musical instrument, and so there are always parents who ask about instruction in a musical instrument. Consequently, here we go again, in response to some questions that seem to pop up quite regularly.

In the first place, it would be well to consider whether your youngster should study an instrument at all. There are many reasons for this, and unless the child really wants to play, it is not worth the effort. If the child does want to play, the instruction will be more effective if the child is motivated.

Of course, the child will be asked to do this when he starts the instrument. It is not a matter of "if" but "when." The child should be ready to start the instrument, and the parent should be ready to support the child's efforts.

I know, you cry, "I wish I had stuck to my music when I was a kid and had the opportunity." You say, "I'm not going to force Willie; if he wants to learn, he will learn." I'm not going to force Willie; if he wants to learn, he will learn.

After a little while you'll have to force him to practice, every day, every week, for several years. It's a chore, and he won't like it. Of course there is the really exceptional kid who comes along with the rattle of a quill pen, who would rather practice than eat, but you don't have him in your family.

So, unless you're willing to devote the energy to seeing that Willie does regular practice, the whole idea will find out. You weren't willing to take the time to practice yourself, when you were Willie's age, and you probably are not willing to take the time for Willie's practice now.

So maybe you'll better forget about the whole thing. Your child will get some musical instruction in the public schools in any case. Starting in kindergarten, effort is made to get the children to like music, and in the sixth and seventh grades they try to teach him to read music. This is a commendable business, and few really devoted parents will object to it before they've learned to read, they're in junior high school, and here the emphasis is placed on a band instrument. The kids want to play in the band, and the music department wants to have a good band to show at the football games, so there is plenty of persuasive argument for starting a band instrument.

Unfortunately, there are many instances where this is looked a peculiar instrument because it is both available and needed in the school band, whether or not it is the child's actual choice. One study I've seen is a youngster get a bass clarinet when he was so short he had to stand on a chair to play it; he was so short he had to stand on a chair to play it; he was so short he had to stand on a chair to play it.

Martial Law Set in Congo Capital

Cabinet ministers led by Defense Minister Jerome Anany. A form of martial law was imposed in the Congolese capital, Kinshasa, today.

Leaders of the Congo's labor unions and military officers will try to force the cabinet ministers to resign.

The government also ordered the arrest of six leading followers of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba and Antoine Gizenga. They have been reported in Brazzaville, across the Congo River. Other reports said they were held up in Leopoldville.

The unions have called a strike by extremists to join their march to bring down Anany.

The union leaders are generally elected and dedicated men. Anany is a former government minister. He said his main target was the "Brazza group"—a handful of ministers and high officials grouped around Justice Minister Martin Bomboko. Security police chief Victor Nankala and Congolese army commander, General Etienne Diabolo, were also named.

Bomboko was one of the ministers named for arrest in ruling the city. The other two ministers named were Joseph Mabidi.

Abouli still faces militant teachers and civil servants. A teachers' strike has been in progress since May 15. The teachers are demanding pay due them. Some have not been paid for nearly a year.

A popular feature for the children was the Acrobatic Italian Danzera, headed by Ted Thunder Cloud. The skilled western dancers were members of the Rolling W Ranch.

Climbers Killed

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Two Italian climbers fell to their deaths Thursday on 23,700-foot Langtang Lirung peak in the Himalayas, according to reports reaching the Nepal government Sunday.

The victims were Dr. Cesar Volante, 27, and Giorgio Rossi, 26, members of a ten-man Italian team tackling the unclimbed peak. They died in the area where three members of a Japanese expedition were killed in 1961.

Rockefeller said a civil rights bill should "contain provisions for stronger voting guarantees, initiative by the attorney general in enforcing civil rights, equal opportunity for employment, non-discrimination, and for providing public education on a desegregated basis, in compliance with the law of the land."

Goldwater said he believes there are adequate laws on the books to take care of voting abuses and all that is required is action by the attorney general.

He called a provision of the administration's bill to permit the President to withhold federal grants from states which did not comply with desegregation orders interesting. But he said that "desegregation of the schools is a constitutional or moral issue, not a political one."

The senator said he would support a provision to permit the attorney general to sue to desegregate schools if it were determined that it is either constitutionally or morally correct.

On other issues, Rockefeller said he would support a provision to permit the attorney general to sue to desegregate schools if it were determined that it is either constitutionally or morally correct.

To And For Mankind

Paul Henri Spaak, foreign minister of Belgium, was first president of the United Nations General Assembly, and perhaps the most prominent of the enlightened post-war statesmen of Europe...

Even if he himself was carried away at the end, it was good, and it was about time there was some good oratory on the side of Spaak...

It would, Spaak said, be a great sign of weakness and wavering on the part of the West, if it should fail to accept such a challenge for peaceful competition.

Spaak noted that, on his own, he would be a member of the Peace Council, and that he would be a member of the Peace Council...

There is no risk statement and satisfaction will not take for war, which, in fact, is such unwillingness to gamble for peace that even Spaak himself, in this speech, may be rated an irresponsible advocate of the risks involved in faith and trust.

Nevertheless, in this speech on carrying his world audience with him, through his obvious passionate belief, through his more measured arguments, to a prolonged and somewhat unorthodox appraisal at the end.

Before he got to the end, Foreign Minister Spaak discussed, in some detail, the proper definition of that possible relaxation of tensions which is being called a "detente" and which, on some tongues, is made to seem something unspicable.

wanted, would have to be a long and patient process. But to break up, now, the atmosphere in which that process might be begun would, Spaak said, be a grievous mistake and a great victory for the skeptics.

There will perhaps be none of this without some specific queries or quibbles about all the thinking and reasoning included in a speech such as Spaak's. But we should let no detail obscure the fact that this was at least one of the great and respected statesmen of our age dared stand up and speak his faith in human progress, his willingness to take some risk based on his belief in man and in the possibility of peace, his defiance of all those who crawl under stones to live and take their perspective of life and humanity from there. This was a man. His audience, and cause, were mankind.

A Wary Welcome

Conceded the passage of some time and await between the two visits of President Tito to this country, the amount of time, course, or trajectory, President Kennedy displayed can be judged to the most equitable.

When President Tito was at the United Nations in New York, he was met by a delegation of the United Nations General Assembly, and perhaps the most prominent of the enlightened post-war statesmen of Europe...

Even if he himself was carried away at the end, it was good, and it was about time there was some good oratory on the side of Spaak...

CD Is Considered Paper Organization

The town of Manchester has informally decided to maintain only a "paper" civil defense organization. This statement came from General Manager Richard Martin, not as a new decision but as a restatement of the town's policy.

The town's civil defense organization was organized in 1951 and has since then been a "paper" organization, with no real activities. The town's civil defense organization was organized in 1951 and has since then been a "paper" organization, with no real activities.

East Capitalizes on Breaks to Down Penney

Post 18-12 Victory In Home Opener

By EARL YOST

Eagles are still flying high. Capitalizing on three major breaks, East Catholic High's football team made its home debut a successful one last Saturday afternoon with a come-from-behind 18-12 victory over Penney High.

The game, which was held at East Catholic's home field, was a hard-fought affair. Penney, who took advantage of an opponent fumble to register a six-point after a sustained 10-yard march set the first score of the homecoming afternoon.

East's lead, however, was estimated at 1,000, most of whom had to stand due to the lack of bleacher seats. Viewed from the field, East's defense was a formidable one. Penney's offense, however, was a formidable one. Penney's offense, however, was a formidable one.

Mansfield Fight Taken to Court

MANSFIELD (AP)—A Superior Court challenge was planned today against a proposed action to strike 69 Mansfield Democrats from the party's membership list.

Charles Tarplin, Democrat town chairman, seeks to remove the 69 Democrats from the party rolls on grounds that they supported first selection Daniel Graf, who ran as an independent for re-election in Mansfield's Oct. 7 town election.

Leo Flaherty of Rockville, the attorney representing the 69 Democrats, said he will seek a Superior Court injunction against Tarplin's plan to move.

Tarplin conducted a hearing yesterday that broke up after an hour when Flaherty objected to the town chairman's questions on the political activity of a witness. He said Tarplin had announced to a witch hunt aimed at harassing and embarrassing the 69 Democrats.

Flaherty said Tarplin should first state the nature of the charges he was bringing against those whose party loyalty was questioned.

Tarplin ruled Flaherty out of order, and the attorney withdrew from the hearing after reading a statement that his clients were registered as Democrats, intended to continue as such, and to support Democratic principles and qualified candidates.

Flaherty said that this is all that the law requires of party members. The attorney said today that he wanted the injunction to prevent Tarplin from striking the 69 Democrats from the rolls before next Tuesday's town caucus.

Graf had been denied party backing in his bid for reelection, but ran as an independent with the support of many Democrats.

Jurors Probe Prices Of Eight Steel Firms

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury moved today to dig into the sensitive area of steel industry price practices, subject of Kennedy administration-business blowup in April 1962.

At least eight steel companies have been subpoenaed to produce records relating to price policies since 1956. The list was headed by U.S. Steel Corp.

The companies and the Justice Department were reluctant to shed light on the development.

A spokesman for the department said that this is all that the law requires of party members. The attorney said today that he wanted the injunction to prevent Tarplin from striking the 69 Democrats from the rolls before next Tuesday's town caucus.

Graf had been denied party backing in his bid for reelection, but ran as an independent with the support of many Democrats.

Viet Nam Aid Cut for Units Not in Field

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is cutting off as much as $20 million in military aid to the South Vietnamese special force troops that led government war against Buddhist insurgents.

They will get no more U.S. help until they are assigned to field duty against Communist guerrillas.

The action, announced Monday by the State Department, is a direct challenge to Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem, reportedly the behind-the-scenes ruler in Saigon.

It is also, State Department officials said, in line with President Kennedy's policy.

Ethiopian Trying To Mediate Fight

ALGIERS (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia continued his efforts to mediate the Algerian-Moroccan border dispute today. Morocco held out little hope for a quick settlement.

"The position of the two countries is the same," Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Boussouf said.

Houk Named To New Post With Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Houk, field manager of the New York Yankees for the past three years, was named general manager today, succeeding Roy Firestone, who retired because of ill health.

The successor to Houk as manager will be named Thursday, and the prime candidate is Yogi Berra, the long-time Yankee catcher.

Yankees have won three American League pennants since 1951 and 1962. They lost the '63 series to the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight games.

Houk has been in the Yankee organization since 1939. He joined the club in 1947 and served eight seasons as a catching understudy to Berra. In 1951, he was named general manager. He failed to hit a single home run and had only one RBI in 1952.

But the one-time Army Ranger here rose in the organization and now has the top operational position. He was given a four-year contract, effective Nov. 1.

Houk, present at the press conference, said he would not accept the position until he had seen the club's financial situation.

New England Fire Danger Held Critical

BOSTON (AP)—"We're sitting on a powder keg, waiting for someone to light the match," was the way one fire warden described the conditions today in most New England woodland areas.

The weather bureau listed the forest fire danger in Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire today as very high to extreme.

Cooler air moved into the area last night. Houlton, Maine, reported a low early today of 25. It was 30 at Burlington, Vt., and Millinocket, Maine.

Forestry officials estimate that a soaking rain totaling about an inch would be needed to alleviate the fire danger. There were 22 fires reported in Massachusetts Monday. One 40-acre tract burned in Essex County. All the other fires were 10 acres or less.

Advising to the fire danger today were winds of up to 30 mph from the west-northwest.

The prolonged drought—total rainfall for the year, many areas, is as much as 10 inches below normal—is also causing severe water shortages in many communities.

The U.S. Geological Survey reports that in four of the 26 observation wells it maintains in New England, the water level is at an all-time low.

On hand to the fire danger today were winds of up to 30 mph from the west-northwest.

Parties Argue Redistricting In U.S. Court

NEW HAVEN (AP)—A federal court hearing on redistricting of the Connecticut House of Representatives ended at 1 p.m. today after three hours of testimony.

The hearing, which began in the U.S. District Court here, ended with a decision which will be returned by the court later today.

The hearing was held in New Haven, where the case was brought together by the League of Women Voters, which argued for equality of representation in the Connecticut House and Senate.

At a hearing before a panel of three federal judges, the plaintiffs' attorney said an alternative proposal would be to reapportion the house into four districts, each with an equal number of voters.

Under the Republican proposal, said Atty. Donald Keefe, "little dots of discrimination would be limited to a monthly quota of six pounds a person so exports can be increased."

Castro said he probably taken hundreds more lives than the 1,129 previously announced.

More than 100,000 persons lost all their possessions. There was great damage to crops and cattle, he said, but he gave a figure which the coffee loss—over 50 million pounds.

Castro said "we will not only recover what was lost but will surpass it. This will make us a shakier our history."

He expressed appreciation for the aid of the United States.

Flood Control Planned Damages Hike Cuba Prices

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro has announced that his government is raising the price of beef, poultry, beer and cigarettes to help pay for a $200-million flood control program in hurricane-devastated Oriente Province.

In a three-hour television report Monday night on Hurricane Flora, Castro also accused the United States of withholding weather information from Cuban meteorologists during the storm.

He said a charge by the United States that Cuba had raised the price of beef, poultry and cigarettes to help pay for a $200-million flood control program in hurricane-devastated Oriente Province.

U.S. Southeast Units Strong On Birthday of Cuba Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Swift jet fighters are poised in Cuba today to meet the Cuban missile crisis which has directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventuality.

Through the summer of 1962 the United States was aware of a military buildup in Communist Cuba, but its proportions were not known until the surprise. Today, Soviet military forces on the island number something over 7,000—about one-third last year's total strength—and "those remaining are largely engaged in training and advising Cuban units," according to the Pentagon.

The Navy had nine Polaris missile submarines. Now 13 are on duty. The Soviet Union and Cuba face a much stronger and more

First Wave Of Troops In Europe

FRANKFURT (AP)—The transport planes in "Exercise Big Lift" landed in Germany tonight with the first of 16,000 American soldiers and airmen moving across the Atlantic in a historic demonstration of military mobility.

The first of 200 planes taking part in a massive test movement of fighting men from Texas, touched down outside this German city at 5:27 p.m.

Plane after plane will follow across the ocean, bringing here the main body of the 2nd Airborne Division. The joint Army-Navy exercise is designed to test the ability of the United States to rush men and supplies across the world in a military emergency.

On hand to meet the first wave of troops were 12 C-130 Hercules transport planes, a host of C-119 Flying Boxcars, and German civilian and military officials.

The 75 soldiers who landed in the first plane along with the 12 C-130s were met by the 2nd Airborne Division's Maj. Gen. Edwin H. Burba, who said the exercise was "a rehearsal for a quick response to any military emergency."

They began unloading their personal belongings and weapons, prepared to take a quick march to the Rhine River to pick up heavy equipment waiting for them.

They will be joined in the next few days by the main body of the 2nd Airborne Division, which is being moved to Germany—that is, unless bad weather interferes.

The first of more than 200 Air Force transport planes left the more divided to Germany in Exercise Big Lift at 5:27 p.m.

Tito Supports Coexistence In UN Speech

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia urged today a summit meeting to chart a code for peaceful coexistence for the nations of the world.

He made the proposal in a speech prepared for delivery by the Yugoslav government in which he appealed urgently for an end to the cold war.

The visiting Yugoslav leader asserted that the fundamental political question facing mankind is the strengthening of peace in the world for the United Nations—as the most representative gathering of equal and sovereign nations and as the most prominent force through which world opinion expresses itself—through elaborate and to codify the principles of peaceful coexistence.

He said he is aware that the matter is covered by the U.N. charter and is also under discussion in the assembly's legal committee.

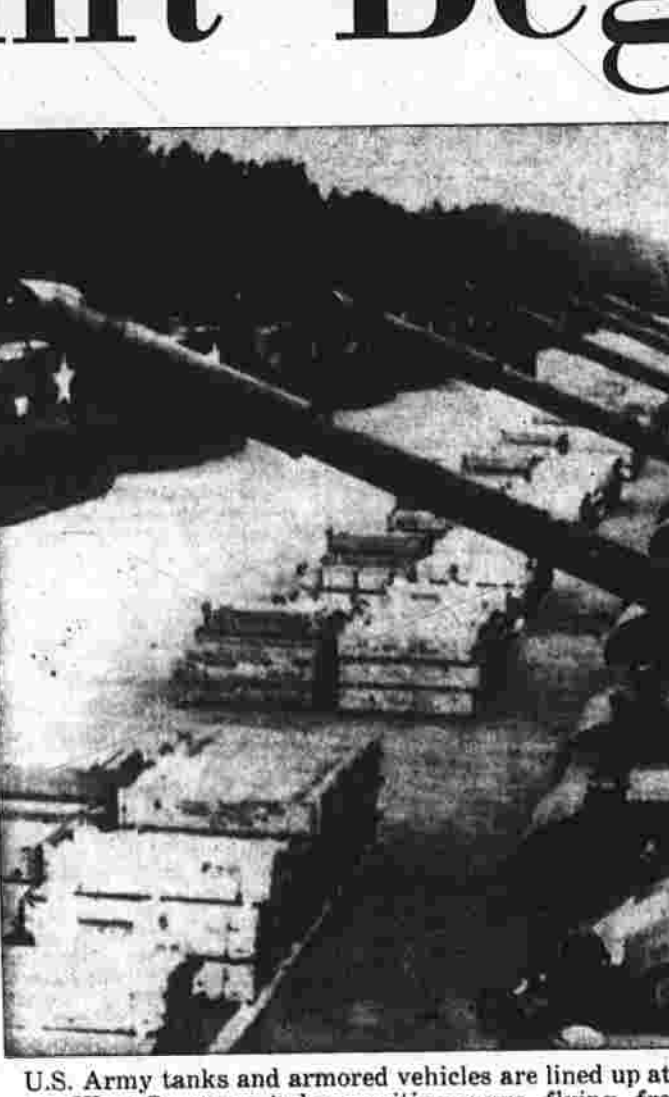

Nevertheless, he added, because of the attaches to the question, "I feel that the United Nations should devote particular attention to the consideration of this question at a high level and in a manner which would most appropriately reflect its importance."

REPORT STRAFING NEW YORK (AP)—An American-owned ship registered under a foreign flag was strafed off the coast of Cuba today, the owners reported. The attack damaged the ship's structure and hull of the J. Louis, carrying a cargo of ore and set a fire in the hold, but caused no casualties, according to the captain's radioed report. A spokesman for W. W. Waggoner, owner of the ship, said the attack occurred about 12 miles off Cap Corrientes, Cuba.

DRUG FIRMS SUED NEW YORK (AP)—Seven eastern persons filed suits today totaling $15,650,000 against manufacturers of "Mez-29," a drug for controlling excessive cholesterol. Some said they suffered after-effects as liver damage and osteoarthritis. The defendants in the State Supreme Court action entered general denials. Named as defendants were the William S. Merrell Co., Vial Chemical Co., and Richardson-Merrell Inc., and the successors in interest, the William S. Merrell Co. and Vial Chemical Co.
