

11th Choking Unsolved in Boston Area

BOSTON (AP)—Fingerprints found in the apartment of 19-year-old Mary Ellen Sullivan apparently offer the only solid clue to the 11th unsolved case strangling in this area since June 1962.

Miss Sullivan's nude body was found Saturday night in her second-floor apartment on Charles Street, at the foot of Boston's Beacon Hill. Like the victims in the other 10 unsolved cases, she had been sexually molested.

The fingerprints found in Miss Sullivan's apartment, which she shared with two other young women, were sent to Washington for check with FBI files.

Police Commissioner Edmund McNamara assigned 30 detectives to a house-to-house check of the Beacon Hill area. The killer throttled Miss Sullivan with a nylon stocking and two nylon scarves.

An 18-year-old boy from suburban Newton was questioned for hours after two young women reported he forced them at knife point to drive him to Newton Saturday night from the Boston Common underground garage. The garage is only a short distance from the Sullivan apartment.

Miss Sullivan, a clerk in a Boston finance company, moved into the apartment Jan. 1. She

Berlin Wall Shut, Aides Talk Visits

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists sealed the Berlin wall again today, ending 17 days of joyous family reunions and heart-breaking partings.

A record number of more than a quarter million West Berliners poured into the Communist zone Sunday—the last day for visits under a Christmas agreement negotiated between the West Berlin city government and the Communist East German regime. The crossings started Dec. 19.

The crush was so big that tens of thousands returning to West Berlin were still waiting at the snow-covered Communist checkpoints when the visiting period expired at midnight.

Authorities said 1,318,000 permits were issued for crossings, but many West Berliners made several trips.

"The honeymoon is over," observed a Westerner.

There were flickering hopes the West Berlin government could negotiate a new agreement with the Reds in talks scheduled to start this week.

The Western allies, who are responsible for the security of West Berlin, have given their blessings to the talks. But they have warned Mayor Willy Brandt not to jeopardize the Western stand against recognition of the East German Communist regime.

Events In State

Bliss Hits Pace Of State Probes

HARTFORD (AP)—The tempo of two current state investigations is too slow for State Sen. Robert L. Bliss and he says the pace strikes him as "politically inspired." The Republican from New Canaan said he was referring to a probe of alleged irregularities in land appraisals for the State Highway Department and a case involving the disappearance of nearly $4,000 in circuit court funds in Meriden.

"In both instances Governor Dempsey called in the state police to investigate," Bliss said in a statement Saturday.

He charged the highway probe had been "kept under wraps" for several months after it started last spring. It is now being conducted by federal, as well as state investigators, he said.

In the Meriden case, Mrs. Marion Belczyk, 56, an employee of Circuit Court 7, was charged with theft of the court money. It was her job to deposit court funds in a bank.

Her trial last spring was postponed to the fall session when Superior Court Judge William Barber said prospective jurors hesitated a discussion of the case while they were waiting to be examined.

That Mrs. Belczyk suffered a heart attack. Her attorney, Meriden mayor-elect William Shea, said she will stand trial as soon as her doctor says she is strong enough.

"As usual, Senator Bliss is not familiar with the facts," said Shea, who was Democratic minority leader in the State House of Representatives during the 1962 session.

Bliss said, "The state must proceed to conclude both of these investigations. Speed is essential to uncover and correct any criminal or irregular practices and to remove the stigma of suspicion from those who are not involved in the alleged wrongdoing."

"The snail's pace progress of these two investigations strikes me as either politically inspired or, even worse, a cold-hearted disregard for the reputation of the innocent persons over whom is cast the pall of suspicion."

Workers See Suspect Start Fire in Astor

NEW YORK (AP)—An arsonist set a fire that swept the Astor Hotel's grand ballroom today, then fled when chased by hotel employees, officials said.

About 400 guests left their rooms as heavy smoke poured through the 11-story hotel, attracting a huge crowd outside the Times Square landmark. Damage was estimated at $1 million.

"Thank God nobody was hurt," said William Zeckendorf Jr., an official of the Zeckendorf Hotel Corp. chain of which the Astor is part.

Zeckendorf said the heavily damaged ballroom was renovated about two years ago at a cost of nearly $1 million.

Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson said the fire definitely was set.

"We have two witnesses who actually saw the man start the fire, and we have a good description of him," Thompson said. "These witnesses chased the man but they lost him."

Police and fire officials questioned a man who answered the general description of the suspected arsonist, but he was released.

Police described the firebug as being between 30 and 35 years old, about 5 feet tall and wearing a trench coat and glasses.

Barry Starts Race Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater launches his campaign for the White House tonight—after vowing that if he got there and finds it "to our advantage he will renounce the limited nuclear test-ban treaty."

The Arizona senator's sights trained on the Republican presidential nomination, makes his first speech as a candidate tonight before a GOP fund-raising dinner at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Tuesday he turns to the top target in his quest for the nomination: New Hampshire. Goldwater plans to spend three days there campaigning for votes in the March 10 presidential primary that will be the nation's first of 1964.

Goldwater got in a dig Sunday night at his only announced rival for the nomination, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"Gov. Rockefeller is used to giving money away and I'm not, that's the difference," Goldwater

Millionaire Slain, Ex-Dancer Held

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Police today probed the slaying of multimillionaire William W. Bartholomae, seeking to unravel the chain of events that left him stabbed to death in the blood-spattered kitchen of his luxurious bayfront home.

Booked on suspicion of murdering the 50-year-old yachtman was his brother's wife, Carmen Gallardo Bartholomae, 55, a former Spanish dancer.

LBJ Requests Prayers For Peace Tries

JERUSALEM (AP)—President Johnson has asked Pope Paul VI to pray for U.S. efforts for peace and expressed a desire to meet the Roman Catholic leader. The Pope responded warmly on both points but there was no indication that he would visit the United States.

Johnson requested the Pope's prayers in a letter delivered to the pontiff Sunday at Nazareth by U.S. Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Shriver told newsmen in Jerusalem the Pope seemed touched when he came to the point in the letter where the U.S. President, a Protestant, asked that the Pope pray for U.S. peace efforts as well as for the work of the President.

The Pope looked up and said he was not only willing to offer his prayers but was appreciative that Johnson had asked, Shriver said.

He added that Johnson had personally handwritten in a postscript to the typed letter that he hoped to meet the Pope, but there was no mention of a date and place. Shriver said the pontiff responded that he would be happy to meet the President

Not 'Me-Too', Rocky States

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says that if the Republican party nominates him for president, he will offer voters a clear alternative to Democratic party philosophy.

"There are fundamental differences between my views and (Democratic) views," he said in reply to a charge by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona that Rockefeller is a "me-too" candidate.

Rockefeller and Goldwater are the only declared candidates for the Republican nomination.

Goldwater announced his candidacy Friday and opened his campaign by saying Rockefeller's views sound more like a Democratic platform than Republican philosophy.

Goldwater, chief spokesman for GOP conservatives, said no other Republican candidate—meaning Rockefeller—could offer voters a genuine alternative to the Democratic administration of President Johnson.

Rockefeller, who resumed his campaign in the New Hampshire presidential preference primary over the weekend, told a news conference in Concord, "I don't think that 'me-too' label has any application (to me). I think that was just a

Court Asked to Drop Indictment of Darwin

A motion asking for dismissal of the first degree murder indictment against Roy F. Darwin of Andover has been filed in Tolland County Superior Court.

The 46-year-old father of four was indicted last month in the slaying of Hope Fern Rothwell, 17, of Bolton.

The motion will be heard Friday at the opening of the court's criminal session. Darwin's attorneys, Marie Shea and Keith of Manchester, the judge denied the motion of Guay's counsel.

The reference to the substitute bill in the motion by Darwin's attorneys concerns the permission given to State Atty. Joel H. Reed II to present a substitute indictment to the grand jury after it questioned the scope of the original bill.

The original bill referred to premeditated murder but the jurors indicated they wanted to return an indictment that would

Banners Fly In Rome for Homecoming

ROME (AP)—Pope Paul VI returned tonight from his "unforgettable pilgrimage" to the Holy Land, where he took steps along the path toward Christian unity.

In a speech from Bethlehem, where Christ was born, Pope Paul VI appealed to world leaders to keep the peace and called on Christians to unite.

Then he returned to Jerusalem for a second historic meeting with Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world Orthodoxy. There they issued a joint communique praying that their meetings will be "a prelude of things to come for the glory of God."

The ruler of 550 million Roman Catholics took off for home from Amman, capital of Jordan, to the cheers of crowds shouting "Baba! Baba!"—the Arab equivalent of "Pope."

Rome arranged a colorful reception for the 68-year-old Pope, home after three days amid the shrines of the life and passion of Jesus Christ.

Banners fluttered along the Pope's route into the city and torches lit the way.

Despite the fanfare and the homecoming fever, the Pope's trip retained its aspect of a pilgrimage to the last.

His chartered American-built DC8 jet brought him down at Ciampino military field, alongside the ancient Appian Way.

Vatican sources said the Pope chose that airfield for his return because of its historic symbolism. Through the centuries millions of European Christians returned from Holy Land pilgrimages over the Appian Way, which led to Rome from the heel of the Italian boot.

Tradition says St. Peter used the Appian Way when he came to Rome from the Holy Land.

Pope Paul had taken off from Rome's seaside commercial airport on his departure Saturday.

The president, Antonio Segni, went to the airport.

Mayor Gaetano Della Porta waited at the ancient Colosseum to welcome the Pope formally to Rome.

As the Pope's plane approached the Italian peninsula, an escort of eight Italian jet fighters met it to escort it to Rome.

It was a holiday in Rome—the Roman Catholic Feast of the Epiphany—and city authorities appealed in giant posters for Romans to turn out to welcome the Pope.

Hours before his arrival, thousands gathered at the airport and along the 12-mile route to the Vatican. The route took him past the Basilica of St. John Lateran, his see as bishop of Rome, the Colosseum, and

REVIEWS SPEECH
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson called in top advisers today for a final review of his State of the Union message. Johnson also discussed his forthcoming budget message to Congress. The State of the Union message will be delivered at noon Wednesday to a joint session of the House and Senate.

NEGRO ENROLLS
AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—A Negro graduate student attended his first class today at Auburn University. His appearance for a Russian history class was marked by the same air of routine procedure which was evident when he arrived Saturday. The student, Harold A. Franklin, 31, strode up the walk to Sanford Hall at 10 a.m. while a few state and city policemen watched from a distance.

SMOKING REPORT DUE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The long-awaited report on smoking and health by a special federal panel of scientists will be made public Saturday at noon. It was announced today. The panel—called the Surgeon General's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health—has been going over the evidence for more than a year. Now, apparently, the report is finished. It will offer no recommendations for action—but will form the basis for a second study which will consider possible federal actions to regulate tobacco use and trade.

Rival Spring Fashion Shows Keep Editors at a Sprint

By RHEA STEWART
NEW YORK—This is the season when that traditional forerunner of spring, the first robin, is preceded several months by another harbinger, the showing of spring fashions. Fashion editors of the country are subjected to this peek into the future, sometimes a little like opening Pandora's box, twice every year. This January, however, something new has been added in that two rival Press Weeks are going on at once: The New York Couture Group, whose showings I must admit to attending 21 years ago, and the new splinter group, the American Designer Series. It will mean scurrying back and forth between the Pierre and the Delmonico, so

Curtis Message Explains Items in School Budget

Supr. of Schools William H. Curtis' message, in which he explains individual items in the recommended $5.3 million operating budget for fiscal 1964-65, has been sent to board of education members for study.

The 13-page report, which is incomplete at the time of Thursday's workshop session, during which the major items of administration and instruction were studied by board members.

Two categories include salaries for teachers, administrators, business office personnel, secretaries and clerical assistants, and teaching supplies and aids to instruction. Together they account for about $4.3 million of the total budget recommendation.

In the first budget session, three items were questioned tentatively by Board members. These include the following appropriations:

1. Hiring of an additional administrative assistant for the central office who would in effect be a second assistant superintendent in charge of personnel at a salary of $12,000.

2. Setting up of a one-month have three assistants in the central administration (two assistant superintendents and a business manager); and that although a third assistant has been wanted in past years, the tightness of the budget has necessitated deleting this position.

The present assistant superintendent, Ronald P. Scott, was hired primarily to develop curriculum guides for the district. Mr. Scott's time, however, has been spent in developing curriculum, noted Dr. Curtis, but the duties of recruiting and hiring teachers are now "consumed" by much more than 50 per cent of his time.

A third assistant would take over hiring and several other personnel duties, thus freeing Scott to concentrate more fully on curriculum, he said.

The provision in the budget study would enable the administrator to pay six teachers now in the system to work on curriculum during the summer, updating existing curriculum guides and developing new ones.

"This is an area," says the superintendent, "which should be given further support, particularly, as we embark upon more extensive programs of curriculum development."

Scott, who has been in the past has been asked to prepare curriculum guides for the central office in several areas, and that summer study is a good way to effect this.

THE WAY I HEARD IT

By John Gruber

It will begin with the Prelude to Act I and III from "Lohengrin." Actually, this is a tough opening. The Prelude to Act I musically represents the joy of the dawn, the first rays of light in a vision, where it is revealed in all its glory and then the vision dissolves into nothingness. Wagner wrote his own description of the scene in his program notes, but he speaks only in general terms. The music is a masterpiece of sound painting. It begins with some very high notes and a harmony amongst themselves. The register is very difficult for instruments, and the performers frightens the players half to death. They're confident they can play it in tune, and they usually don't, whether it be the strings or the woodwinds. The violins play it with a certain amount of freedom in New York, or in Hartford, or in Boston. It's a little off pitch Wednesday evening, don't you see? It's a little off pitch Wednesday evening, don't you see? It's a little off pitch Wednesday evening, don't you see?

Pope Paul in The-Holy Land

Pope Paul at Nazareth Sunday preached a sermon which was so much to the minds and hearts of all men that his own special sources—the mind and heart of a sectarian leader interpreting the meanings of a particular one of the world's great religions—seemed somehow merged into some universality of truth.

Pope Paul himself seemed to confess a quest for something eternal and simple. "Oh," he exclaimed, "how we would like to become children again and to return to learn our lessons in this humble, and yet sublime school of Nazareth."

"But," he went on, "our steps are hurried, and we must leave here the desire for the never-ending education. . . But we cannot depart without recalling briefly and fleetingly some fragments of the lesson:

"The lesson of silence: May an appreciation of this stupendous and indispensable moment of spiritual opportunity return to us, deflected as we are by so much tumult, by so much noise, by so much of our chaotic and frenzied modern life."

"The lesson of domestic life . . . its simplicity and austere beauty, its sacred and its joyful character. May I teach you how sweet and irreplaceable is its pedagogy, how fundamental and incomparable its sociology. . ."

"At the close of his sermon, Pope Paul gave his own beautiful paraphrasing of the Beatitudes: "Blessed are we, if in poverty of spirit we have the gift of our creature's confidence in matters of things and of things in matters of spirit."

"Blessed are we, if we have retained the meekness of the strong, we learn how to renounce the perverse power of hate and vengeance. Then we shall have the wisdom of preferring to the fear of armed force the generosity of forgiveness, the alliance between freedom and peace."

"Blessed are we, if we do not make egotism the guiding criterion of our life, we possess its purpose, but learn rather to discern its true nature, its path, in sacrifice the very summit of growth."

"Blessed are we, if we prefer to be oppressed rather than to be the oppressor. . ."

"Other beautiful and meaningful passages which were thus enacted, accompanied by such words of his spirit, across the historic background of the Holy Land, in imagination and courage of Pope Paul, in the kind of grime in a tourist's kind of world, reveal, once again, the importance, even among the most advanced and principled, of the noteworthy individual."

Ben Flailing in The Barn On a sunny, breezy day when there was no wind with the regular voters of the party.

Roosevelt's $1,000,000 third party liberal ticket took 4,000,000 votes in the country, as compared to William Howard Taft's $500,000 on the regular Republican ticket.

What this proved was that neither party wing could win without the other. Roosevelt's ticket was a coalition of the emotional feelings of the time inside the Republican party, so sharp the mutual feelings of betrayal, treachery and double-cross, so extreme the bickering between men and cliques, that it was quite likely no knowledge of the prospective vote results would have deterred the party from its split.

Yet, as we look back and then look at our present day political stage as it is setting itself, we have to face the fact that the coalition of the liberal insurance companies of that day were moderate and responsible compared to what the conservative wing could become today, should some of the more extreme rightist elements in the national life succeed in giving it their coloration, their pathos, their emotional appeal.

Any other factual parallel, or frightening difference? Theodore Roosevelt succeeded to the Presidency in the first place because of an accident of birth.

The Danger Of A 1912

The fatal question which lies just beyond the formal declaration of Senator Barry Goldwater's candidacy for the Republican nomination for President is this:

Can the passionate emotions which must now battle for control of the Republican party stop short of the third party disaster?

Not only the character of the rivalries inside the Republican party, but the character of the party itself is at stake. The party must not be allowed to split into two camps.

Then, as now, the party found itself divided between liberal and conservative wings.

Now, as then, at least one of the two party wings seems likely to claim to have God on its standard.

In 1912 it happened to be the liberal wing which had the emotional crusading semi-religious fervor.

Then it was Theodore Roosevelt who stood before his fellow Republicans and proclaimed, "We stand at Armageddon and we battle for the Lord."

Today, it would be the conservative wing which would make some similar claim to have God on its standard.

After the two factions had split and taken their rival claims to the voters, they both lost. And neither really won the argument, either, about how it was to proceed with the regular voters of the party.

Roosevelt's $1,000,000 third party liberal ticket took 4,000,000 votes in the country, as compared to William Howard Taft's $500,000 on the regular Republican ticket.

What this proved was that neither party wing could win without the other. Roosevelt's ticket was a coalition of the emotional feelings of the time inside the Republican party, so sharp the mutual feelings of betrayal, treachery and double-cross, so extreme the bickering between men and cliques, that it was quite likely no knowledge of the prospective vote results would have deterred the party from its split.

Yet, as we look back and then look at our present day political stage as it is setting itself, we have to face the fact that the coalition of the liberal insurance companies of that day were moderate and responsible compared to what the conservative wing could become today, should some of the more extreme rightist elements in the national life succeed in giving it their coloration, their pathos, their emotional appeal.

Chargers Established as Greatest in AF

Trounce Patriots By 51-10 Margin

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The San Diego Chargers have established to the eminent satisfaction of Boston, that they are the finest team in the American Football League.

San Diego Coach Sid Gillman declared yesterday after the Chargers won their first AFL title by demolishing Boston, 51-10, that his club would not disgrace itself in a game with the National Football League champions.

To which AFL Commissioner Joe Posada said that he would not be surprised if the AFL and NFL champions met every year or two every year.

For the present, the suggestion that the Chargers are likely to provide nothing more than an unmemorable debate in their relations with the NFL is clear evidence that the Chargers were ready for something substantially better than Boston.

Gain 610 Yards—San Diego's Keith Lincoln, in the greatest performance ever given by an AFL running back, made 300 yards as a runner, 125 more as a passer, and 20 as a punter. That gave him the astounding total of 610 yards in a single game and made him almost the unanimous choice for the game's outstanding player.

From asked about the possibility of a title game between the AFL and NFL champions, the coach said: "I wouldn't surprise me if it came in the next few years within a year or two. And it wouldn't surprise me if it came in the next few years."

AAU Agrees To Meeting With NCAA

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union, long at odds over control and sanctioning of the nation's amateur athletes, have taken a major step toward easing their strained relations.

The AAU, through President Jay Bryant, and the NCAA, through Executive Director Don Hall, agreed Sunday to meet with the U.S. Olympic Committee to discuss their differences.

The meeting is part of a series of four federations sponsored by the U.S. Olympic Committee to gain a bigger voice in the control of the country's teams to international sports.
