DON'T TELL DEACONER — SHEINWOLD YOU KNOW BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you are defending a diamond contract, you don't pay to let declarer in on all of your aces. Keep what you can from him, and he may find a way to go down. Declarer can win a trick if he has a way to go down. Declarer can win a trick if he has a way to go down.

When this hand was played at the top table of a team match, the defense went the same way up to a point. Then declarer was wiser and the defense was cunning.

The opening lead was the queen of hearts, and South held up until the third round. Declarer led a diamond to force out the ace. South discarded a club on the fourth round of hearts. He spade the diamond, discarding another club on dummy's hand.

East overtook dummy and West passed. East kept his hand on the fourth round of hearts. He spade the diamond, discarding another club on dummy's hand.

 "In this life perfected with us, that we may have confidence for the day of judgment... There is no fear in love, but perfect love casts out fear... We love because he first loved us... If any one says, 'I love God,' but does not love his brother who has been born of the truth, that love which he has for God who has not loved him, that is the love of the world, that is the love of the world. He that loves God should love his brother also. If he does not love his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen? He that loves God and his brother whom he has seen, that is the love which the Father has for us, that is the love which God has for us. Wonders of the Universe
Code of Law Vital in Exploring Space
 By DR. I. M. LEVITZ
 Director, The Post-Planetary of the Franklin Institute
 In the short history of space travel, there have already been a number of significant events. At that time the United Nations General Assembly adopted a resolution which provided that the government of the behavior of man in space.
 December also marked the fulfillment of an objective of the UN action plan for outer space, namely, that (1) Exploration and use of outer space shall be carried out for the benefit of all mankind; (2) Celestial bodies and outer space shall be free for exploration and use by all nations; (3) A nation shall undertake international cooperation in space; (4) States should render assistance to astronauts in the event of accident, distress, or emergency landing in territory of a foreign state or on the high seas.
 In this book Mr. Haley explores the reasons for the action of the UN action plan and the first action of self-interest on the part of the UN action plan. He also discusses the principles in an attempt to assemble a set of rules applicable to space. It is highly significant that the UN action plan is not a surprise to this writer because he has been a leader in the UN General Assembly.
 Dr. I. M. Levitz is the Director of the Post-Planetary of the Franklin Institute.

Manchester Auto Parts Reliable
 It has become an accepted fact that Manchester Auto Parts always has the latest in reliable equipment, and as with the purchases of the Van Norman Model 570 Rotary Brush for precision machining of cylinder heads, engine blocks and other surfaces. And, as a result, they have a reputation for precision machining of warped cylinder heads and blocked. You are assured of precision accuracy and proper finish for this in a machine equipped with multiple cutters. They say that seeing is believing, and in order to prove this, why not bring in your cylinder head to be machined by the Van Norman Model 570 Rotary Brush. Take advantage of the fact that they are offering this service for the very first in service to the people of Manchester and vicinity.
 Does your car steer a little harder than it used to? Are the tires wearing evenly, does it corner poorly? It might be due to worn shocks, and it would take but a few minutes to take your shock absorbers checked. Monroe Shocks are the finest, and if your shock absorbers are worn, they will save you from having an accident or undue wear and tear on your car.
 The "dry grinder" apparatus used for precision machining of cylinder heads, engine blocks and other surfaces, with one set-up, pass one cut, while re-grinding for a perfect gear. This is done in less than two minutes from floor to finish. This task on foreign truck heads and heavy-duty truck heads as well as all American motor vehicles. One set-up, one pass, one cut! That's what it takes to resurface the average cylinder head for perfect gas.

behind these portals lies the Magnificent Magic Mirror studio at 757 Main St. with the most modern decor ever to adorn such a hair-styling business firm here. Bob Hope Celebrating Anniversary

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The secret of our marriage," cracked Bob Hope, "is that I'm out of town so much. I write such wonderful postcards."

Bob was at work this week, making a story comedy with Eva Marie Saint for his television series. He does not often reminisce, but this time he seemed to enjoy looking back on his courtship and marriage.

In Dublin's Fair City—An Affectionate View

An affectionate view of Dublin, Ireland, as seen through the eyes and in the words of four of its citizens—a dock worker, a businessman, a titled aristocrat, who runs an orthopedic clinic for handicapped children, and a short story writer—will be presented in "Dublin Through Different Eyes" tomorrow on CBS-TV's "One of a Kind" from 4-5 p.m.

The broadcast has the services of two of the most highly regarded talents now working in the British motion picture industry. The cinematographer is Walter Lassally, who has won kudos for his work on the current motion picture hit "Tom Jones."

Peter Taylor, the production's film editor, worked in that same capacity for the current release "This Sporting Life" and was also film editor for such other hits as "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Summertime" and "Hobson's Choice."

As the film unfolds, following the lives of these four Dubliners from dawn to evening, they will describe, in their own words, their city and their lives. They are dock worker Martin Mitten, businessman John Quinn, who is managing director of a chain of supermarkets, Lady Valerie Goulding, whose major interest is the Central Remedial Clinic which she started some years ago, and writer Mary Lavin, whose work has appeared in The New Yorker and Atlantic Monthly.

'Bell Hour' To Present Show 1,000

An outstanding series will set a record for longevity among musical programs when the "Bell Telephone Hour" presents its 1,000th broadcast on NBC-TV Tuesday from 10-11 p.m.

Participating in the celebration program of song and dance will be Shirley Jones as hostess and singing star, singers Jack Cassidy and Barbara McNair, ballet dancers Maria Tallchief and Nicholas Magallanes and concert pianists Robert, Gaby and Jean Casadesu. Donald Voorhees will conduct the Bell Telephone Orchestra.

This series' distinguished record started in April, 1940, on radio as a half-hour concert program. Voorhees was conductor, a position he has held with distinction ever since then. For 15 years the series brought NBC Radio audiences the finest in musical talent from the opera and concert worlds. In 1958 the familiar theme, the "Bell Waltz," was played on radio for the last time. On Jan. 12, 1959 the "Bell Telephone Hour" started on NBC Television.

Television provided the series with the opportunity for expansion, so that dance and musical comedy features could be included. The program also was expanded from its radio half hour to a full hour on television.

In the radio days, many eminent artists returned often to the series. They included Erita Kreischer, Marian Anderson, Elio Pinza, Oscar Levant, Benny Goodman, Bing Crosby, Dorothy Kirsten and Nelson Eddy among a long list.

On television the series has presented such stars as Harry Belafonte, Leontyne Price, Andres Segovia, Alfred Drake, Mahalia Jackson, Ethel Merman, Ella Fitzgerald and Duke Ellington.

A Nice Way to Go

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The final chapter of "Route 66" approaches: Tod Stiles, fancy-free adventurer, is going to get married on the March 6 show, first of a two-part wind-up.

And then, with his happy bride beside him in his sports car, our hero will ride, in classic style, into the sunset, presumably to live happily ever after. Two weeks later, on March 20, CBS' "Route 66" goes into reruns—old ones, in which George Maharis and Martin Miller were co-stars.

Married if the series had not been canceled. Marriage is not only a nice way to conclude a long-running series, but also provides a handy way to "write out" a character who must disappear when an actor wants to leave the cast. Most recent example was, of course, "Bonanza," whose producer planned to marry off Adam Cartwright when Pernell Roberts wanted to quit the show. When he decided to remain, the lady was jilted—and fast.

Formula Shows Replacing Dramas

NEW YORK (AP)—With the essence fiction for "The Outcast of the 'Show of the Week'" is also distressing by the shift to formula shows.

But the thing that worries some people is that television seems now to have no place for original, quality, dramatic shows.

"The problem, of course, is in the amount of material required for television," noted writer Horton Foote. "There are — what? — 300 plays ailing for Broadway each season. No one expects them all to be good. But there's an idea around that every television drama has got to be good. There's no off Broadway place to experiment, no place to make mistakes."

Brogue Soft, Julie Harris Rehearses 'Little Moon'

NEW YORK — While the winds of February whip down the canyon of Manhattan, Julie Harris fastens a special tie. Patrick's Day gift, a harbinger of Spring, for the television viewers of the nation, as she rehearses her role of Bridget Mary in "Little Moon of Alban."

To be sure, the gift will be a day beyond The Day, for "Little Moon of Alban" will be presented March 18 on NBC-TV's "Hallmark Hall of Fame."

The soft brogue employed by the carrot-haired, slight actress comes so easily to her tongue that she seems to have trouble losing it when she steps away from the play. "Isn't it terrible?" she asks, smiling. "Once I start, I just can't stop."

That Julie Harris has an affinity for a brogue and for the Irish people in general becomes readily apparent when she describes her impressions of Ireland, the setting for the James Costigan drama, "Little Moon of Alban."

"It's the most wonderful place you can imagine, of course, and I know that all its young people have had to go away in order to make a living. But what a pity when you think of having to leave that gentle land for material advantage!"

"I've met those young people after they've been here a while. They're still looking like Brigitte Bardot with their hair all teased up into fancy coils, and they wear make-up. Oh, I know they gain in material wealth, but it's at the expense of such a wonderful quality they have back in Ireland. The sweetness, the lack of artificiality of the folk who live in the old country is beyond belief."

"My husband and I were in Ireland on May," Julie says, "and all the Hawthorne bushes were in bloom along the roadside. May in Ireland is the most wonderful month of the year. They say that all the estates are bought up by American couples, because living there is so pleasant. Would I go there to live? In a minute, if I could. But for the next few years I have a lot of things to do. They have the most marvelous way of saying things, and I

The Perils Of Paneling

By OKTHERA LOWRY

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Rayburn, who guides the progress of NBC's daytime "Match Game" instant game participating in a panel show is not as easy as it looks.

Rayburn, whose broadcasting experience includes announcing, jockeying and acting, says that players and host must not only concentrate on the game at hand but also give the season the lush greenness of the land beyond belief.

"It's a very small island, of course, and I know that all its young people have had to go away in order to make a living. But what a pity when you think of having to leave that gentle land for material advantage!"

"The problem, of course, is in the amount of material required for television," noted writer Horton Foote. "There are — what? — 300 plays ailing for Broadway each season. No one expects them all to be good. But there's an idea around that every television drama has got to be good. There's no off Broadway place to experiment, no place to make mistakes."

'The Farmer's Daughter' Weathers Show's Critics

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Katie made it! "The Farmer's Daughter" has been renewed for the next television season. The oddsmakers said no show starring a woman could succeed in today's television market, unless she could play it for laughs like a "Lucy" or a "Hazel."

Yet "The Farmer's Daughter," starring Inger Stevens, was recently picked up for its second season, having weathered yet another handicap of suffering a midseason switch from Friday to Wednesday night.

"I must admit I'm a little proud that we did it," said the outspoken Swede. "I don't believe anyone really thought that we would last beyond 13 weeks when we first went on the air and very little was done to help us. All of which proves that if you believe in what you're doing and work hard, there is a chance you can succeed."

Inger didn't realize just how successful the series was until she went to St. Paul recently for the winter carnival. She reports that 100,000 people turned out for the torchlight parade, by far the biggest crowd in the carnival's history.

"I visited a lot of children in hospitals, and they all watched the show," she said. "I was amazed."

The question she was asked most often was: Is Katie going to marry the congressman (played by William Windom) for whose sons she is governess?

"I don't know, but I would think so," she said. "After all, they are two intelligent persons and if they don't get married after a year or more, people will talk."

And what about marriage for Inger Stevens, girl bachelor?

"Yes, I want to get married," she said, "but it will take a very intelligent man to put up with my schedule. I have to be up at 5 a.m. to leave for the studio, and I usually don't get home until 8:30 at night. I never have a day off in the series, and when I do, I have to shoot commercials or photographs."

Concert Tribute For Hindemith

"The Genius of Paul Hindemith," a tribute by Leonard Bernstein to the modern German-born composer who recently died at the age of 68, will be presented on the New York Philharmonic Young Peoples Concert tomorrow on CBS-TV from 5-8 p.m.

Feature work on the broadcast, which originates in Philharmonic Hall in New York's Lincoln Center, will be Hindemith's most popular symphony, "Mathis der Maler" drawn from his opera, which had its premiere in 1938. "Mathis der Maler" will be performed in its entirety.

Other works on the Young Peoples Concert will be Hindemith's Concert Music for Strings and Brass (third movement), excerpts from his Kellner Kammermusik (a woodwind quintet) and excerpts from his String Quartet No. 3.

Hindemith, a naturalized United States citizen, died last Dec. 28 in Frankfurt. One of the world's foremost 20th century composers, he was an outstanding theoretician and music educator.
