

Malcolm to Form Own Muslim Unit

NEW YORK (AP) — Malcolm X, outspoken Black Muslim advocate of racial separation, has defected from the parent organization to form his own mosque to promote "active self-defense against white supremacists in all parts of the country."

Malcolm told The Associated Press: "I am still a Muslim. I intend to work on my own among America's 22 million non-Muslim Negroes to convert them from non-violence to active self-defense against white supremacists in all parts of the country."

"I want it clearly understood that my advice to all Muslims is that they stay in the nation of Islam under the spiritual guidance of the honorable Elijah Muhammad."

"It is not my desire to encourage them to follow me."

Malcolm once was considered heir apparent to Muhammad, who makes his headquarters in Chicago. He was head of the sect's New York City mosque and the group's leading spokesman.

Noted for his bitter verbal attacks on white people, Malcolm was suspended by Muhammad last November after he said in a speech that President John F. Kennedy's death was a case of "the chickens coming home to roost."

Commenting on his suspension, Malcolm said, "I have reached the conclusion that I can best spread Mr. Muhammad's message by staying out of the nation of Islam and continuing to work on my own."

He said he will call a news conference this week to announce his plans.

Malcolm said that in forming his new Muslim group he will accept invitations to speak to civil rights groups.

"I shall tell them what a real revolution means — the French Revolution, the American Revolution, Algeria, to name a few. There can be no revolution without bloodshed, and it is non-negotiable."

Libel Verdict Rejected by High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously threw out today a $500,000 libel judgment awarded a Montgomery, Ala., city official in a suit against The New York Times and four Negro ministers.

And, in so doing, the court laid down a constitutional standard that a public official may not recover damages for a defamatory falsehood relating to his official conduct without a showing of actual malice, of knowledge the statement was false or reckless disregard of whether or not it was false.

Justice William J. Brennan wrote the opinion on the court's decision. While the decision was unanimous, three justices said it did not go far enough.

Justices Hugo L. Black and Arthur J. Goldberg, in separate concurring opinions, expressed regret that the court did not lay down a doctrine of unconditional freedom of the public and press to criticize official conduct.

Justice William O. Douglas said that he agreed with both concurring opinions.

The suit was based on publication of an advertisement in the Times of March 28, 1960. The advertisement had statements critical of the handling of racial demonstrations in Montgomery.

L. E. Sullivan, police commissioner of Montgomery, won the award in the Circuit Court of Montgomery County with a contention that several paragraphs in the advertisement would be taken as reflecting on him.

An organization called "The Committee to Defend Martin Luther King and the Struggle for Freedom in the South" placed the advertisement. It solicited funds for the defense of King, Negro minister and civil rights leader who was then under charges of falsifying his income tax returns.

Dempsey Ready To Call Session If Views Jibe

HARTFORD (AP) — If Republicans and Democrats agree on a plan, Gov. John N. Dempsey says he would not hesitate to call the General Assembly into special session to act on congressional redistricting. The weekend development found favor with at least one Republican legislative leader, Rep. Louis Padula of Norwalk, House majority leader, said an assembly session on congressional redistricting might prove fruitful.

Padula said he would be willing to talk with Democratic leaders as soon as possible to see if there are grounds for agreement. He added there appeared to be a meeting of the minds among Republicans and Democrats on the question of congressional redistricting.

The Governor made the suggestion in a letter Saturday to Republican State Chairman A. Searle Pinney.

He told Pinney that if Republicans and Democrats could get together on a plan to correct congressional districting inequities "I would act swiftly to call a special session of the General Assembly to consider this matter alone."

But Dempsey slammed the door on a Pinney proposal that a special session consider state senate redistricting in addition to congressional redistricting while avoiding the question of House reapportionment.

Pinney said Republicans will appeal a federal court decision that the House's system of apportionment on a unit, or town, basis is unconstitutional.

As a result, Republicans have refused to consider a special session that would take up the state of the House.

Dempsey said the GOP plan to consider state Senate and Congressional districting was "piecemeal."

Towns Join Suit

NEW HAVEN (AP) — The small towns of Franklin and Salem asked federal court permission today to intervene in Connecticut legislative reapportionment case.

A brief was filed in U.S. district court in behalf of both towns and first selectmen Anthony Carboni of Franklin and Elmer P. Chappell of Salem.

The towns asked permission to intervene as defendants in the suit. In addition, the towns asked postponement of a scheduled March 16 hearing, at which counsel for various parties in the case are to argue about proposed reapportionment.

The court ruled Feb. 19 that both chambers of the Connecticut General Assembly must be parties to the suit.

Shea Tries to Bar Darwin Confession

By A. J. CHEMAISI

Defense attorney for Roy F. Darwin, accused of strangling a Bolton teen-age girl Sept. 18, today started a long expected fight to keep two alleged confessions from being admitted into the first degree murder trial at Tolland County Superior Court.

Defense Atty. John F. Shea promptly objected when the state tried to introduce the alleged confessions into the trial now heading into its third week. He said there was no proof that the alleged confessions were made voluntarily, and said they were obtained in violation of the state's constitution.

Defense action came just a half hour after the trial began following a three day recess.

Before the special hearing to determine if the alleged confessions would be admitted, Dr. Abraham Stolman, a toxicologist, testified that he found blood on the front seat of Darwin's car.

He also said that dog hairs found on the victim's dress had the same characteristics as dog hairs found on the front seat of Darwin's car.

Darwin is accused of forcing 17-year-old Hope Rothwell into his car on Reservoir Rd., Vernon, on Sept. 18, and bringing her to a lover's lane off Dockers Rd. in Tolland.

There, police say, he strangled her after she resisted an attack. Both Darwin and Miss Rothwell had attended a 4-H committee meeting that night in Rockville.

The jury of seven men and five women heard arguments on the admissibility of the alleged confessions. Judge Alva P. Loiselle told the jurors that they might have to return to the jury room the rest of the court day.

Tolland County Coroner Bernard J. Ackerman, called to the witness stand by special assistant State's Atty. Etalo G. Gnutt, said Darwin arrived with three attorneys on Dec. 5 after he had been subpoenaed to an inquest on the murder.

Cypriots Ignore Truce Units, Use Mortars, Armor

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Warring Greek and Turkish Cypriots fought with mortars, automatic weapons and armored bulldozers today at Ktima in western Cyprus. They ignored U.N. and British truce force attempts to halt the fighting.

Fires started by shelling raged unchecked in the area. Greek Cypriot authorities said one member of their security forces was killed. There was no report on Turkish casualties, but the British army said five Turkish Cypriot hostages were killed in a nearby town.

British sources said both sides appeared well-armed and well-disciplined. The conflict broke out at dawn, ending a brief truce that followed skirmishes and near riots at Ktima over the weekend.

Greek Cypriot forces claimed they had driven the Turks back from front line positions at the edge of the Turkish quarter, a warren of twisting, narrow streets jammed with small shops and living quarters.

Seeks Laws In Message To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called on the nation today to mobilize and upgrade its manpower skills in a major effort to wipe out grimly persistent unemployment.

"Overcoming that unemployment is the greatest immediate manpower challenge before us," Johnson said in asking Congress for a broad range of legislation to create jobs and train workers.

The federal government cannot do the job alone, Johnson said in his annual manpower report to Congress.

Calling on business, labor and state and local governments to cooperate in creating an "active manpower policy," the President said: "These programs will take hold and succeed only when we become determined that nothing is to take priority over people."

Johnson's report was accompanied by Labor Department statistics emphasizing the plight of the poorly educated worker in an increasingly technical economy, and the alarmingly high rate of youths who can't find work.

"What is at stake is whether a free democratic economy can attain well-being for the less fortunate as well as the more fortunate of its people," Johnson said, "and whether it can make population growth and technological advance fruitful for all rather than fatal for some."

Johnson's message was underscored by latest government figures showing that 800,000 new jobs in February did nothing to dent the nation's 4.5 million jobless total.

The reason is the steadily growing flow of new workers into the labor market, particularly youths. Automated machinery that shrinks job opportunities also plays a part.

Johnson announced "two new major administrative actions" to study the impact of automation, and "to start a continuing top-level assessment of the relation of the government's programs and our country's manpower assets and needs."

He asked Congress to enact pending legislation dealing with unemployment.

Write-Ins Seen Key To Primary Outcome

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A cloud of indecision which could have a telling effect on the choice of the Republican presidential nominee hung heavily today over the outcome of Tuesday's New Hampshire Primary.

There was widespread evidence that a significant number of Republicans who will go to the polls to mark one of the more complex ballots in presidential preference primary history still are debating their choice.

This highlighted an invitation for upsets in a contest which Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., once was supposed to win handily in a battle with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Though Rockefeller and Goldwater seemed likely to pace the field of five official and two write-in entries, parliamentarians thought that Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, might come up to challenge them.

Lodge and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 presidential nominee, were represented in write-in campaigns. If these were successful in gaining a substantial share of the nearly 100,000 Republican votes expected, it could project them forcefully into the presidential nomination contest.

Nixon predicted Sunday night that the total write-in vote will be unprecedented for both parties. He declined to predict the result for either party or how many votes he will receive.

For Goldwater, the conservative, and Rockefeller, the moderate, there was the psychological need to win this contest, their first outing. Both vowed to continue their quest for nomination in victory or defeat.

Both looked to the June 2 California primary as the payoff derby after running this preliminary heat.

Drop Sought In Draft Age To Aid Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will ask Congress to lower the draft age from 18 to 17 to give his war on poverty a chance to aid needy youngsters a year earlier, an official source reported today.

These subjects for the war on poverty, the source said, will be the $20,000 each year who fall the Army's general classification test. They will be given a chance to enter special work schools where they will take special education and vocational courses.

This is a key provision in the message on poverty, expected to go to Congress today or Tuesday.

Searching for a practical approach to the problem of school dropouts, the task force assisting Sargent Shriver, head of the war on poverty, decided the draft was the ideal screening device to pinpoint young men who need extra help.

All youngsters must take a general psychological and intelligence test when they register for the draft at 18.

There are some 500,000 youngsters each year who fail this test, the high official source said. "You know if they fail this test, they're probably going to fail any test, and they are probably not going to be able to hold down any decent job."

If Selective Service hadn't existed, we probably would have had to create it. It's perfect for our purpose. This gives us names and addresses of persons who need help.

Originally, the source said, Shriver wanted to lower the draft age to 16, but technical problems made this impossible. He added, "that lowering it to 17 gives us a year's head start."

STATE TEAM LOSSES

The defeat marked the second year in a row that the New Britain, Conn., team had come into the tournament undefeated only to lose in the first round. Last year, Athens (Ga.) College pulled a 72-71 upset. The Blue Devils entered the tournament with a 35-9 record. Kenny Sampson led St. Mary's with 27 points. John Pazzari was high for Connecticut State with 20.

U.S. MILITARY ADVISERS

U.S. military advisers have been urging more action in the delta against the guerrillas, who have been making government forces there in recent months.

Khanh's battle plan was similar to a plan outlined for McNamara by the former ruling junta during his visit last week.

It occurred a few minutes after the helicopter was shot down.

McNamara did not interrupt his tour. He spoke at three widely scattered places in the delta, each time praising McNamara, who seized power Jan. 30 in a bloodless coup.

This was McNamara's second day of his visit to this war-torn Southeast Asian nation. After briefings Sunday in Saigon, he took off this morning for a firsthand look at the countryside where Communist Viet Cong guerrillas have been waging successful warfare in the last four months.

How Would You Vote?

The best way for any of us to do our duty as citizens is to vote in the primary election on March 23.

It would be a shame if we did not. For the primary election is the only one in which we can elect our own representatives.

'No-Knock' And 'Stop-And-Frisk'

Over in New York State the Legislature has passed two "major crime bills," one called the "no-knock" and the other the "stop-and-frisk" bill, and both endorsed by all kinds of police authorities, district attorneys, sheriffs, and also the State Council of Churches.

One bill would enable a police officer, with a search warrant, to enter the building or room containing the object of his search without knocking first.

The other bill would clarify the right of a policeman to stop anybody anywhere, demand identification and search the person for weapons whenever he "reasonably" suspects that person of crime.

The support for both bills rested on the argument that, with crime increasing four times as fast as the population itself, the police and the prosecutors need to have their hands and their powers strengthened.

The fact that a lot of good people have no trouble supporting such legislation, all on the ground that the important thing is to achieve dominance for authority over crime, is a sad reflection on the state of our society.

It is not as if to give much attention to the inevitable argument that perhaps the lawyers who protest against such laws are thinking of their own potential criminal clients, or the civil liberties specialists who also protest against such laws are up to the eyes in the law.

The New York State Bar Association opposed these two bills on the ground that they probably violate both the 4th and the 14th Amendments to the Federal Constitution.

And the Association feared this might open the way to the establishment of police state methods and police state results in this country.

Normally, when the words police state are used, the connotation in our minds is foreign. We have such respect and affection for our own American political system that it never occurs to us that their uniforms could some day be filled with means instead of just reassurance and protection.

Inside Report

Something Being Whispered? It doesn't make sense, of course. It doesn't make sense at all.

Dallas is really just another American city. It happens to become the first major American city to welcome the visit of an American President with a giant newspaper advertisement which questions his loyalty to the American way of life, or to split in the face of an American ambassador to the United Nations.

It is just a little local color. It happens to be a telephone conversation they have had in the last few weeks. But other New Hampshire Democrats believe that Carter impressed on Governor Brown the real majority of the city's people.

It happens to be the first city to provide the spectacle of murder on national television. The assassination of a dramatic piece of luck, arising from an unpredictable act of circumstance.

When, the other day, this same city also offered the nation the first televised jail break in history, with dramatic corridor scenes which almost suggested that they and the previous actual murder sequences last November had been staged by the same school of directing.

When the happened even we began to wonder if some new brand of civilization, when the and order, or disorder, isn't being whelped in Dallas after all.

Hills Green, Rivers Clean Pittsburgh has the possibility and opportunity of adopting with pride a motto similar to that of the Japanese city of Kyoto: "Hills green, rivers clean."

This is the conclusion reached in a study titled "Urban River Renewal: Its Opportunity and Challenge," published by Addison-Rising, Inc., as one of its 40-part series of reports on urban river development.

The study calls for creating a dramatic new aesthetic image of Pittsburgh through the development and conservation of the steep slope areas which are the city's natural heritage.

It suggests that the urban river development program should have psychological and economic effects equaling those that have already been brought about through smoke control.

And, perhaps every statesman who wants a job of any kind and who finds the greening spreading this rumor about himself makes frantic haste to deny it.

And then come deny, of course, somebody is going to come out in favor of something like that and mean it, and he is surprised how much of the world agrees with him, after all.

After that, the greening will spread rumors to the effect that so and so is harboring a secret design to get hold of some of the United Nations army or air force or navy and turn it back in some individual nation.

Word About Florence Jones To the Editor, In past years Florence Jones of Columbia has from time to time through your newspaper called for old Christmas cards, pictures, letters, old pieces of costume jewelry, etc. for use in her work with handicapped children.

After a month's stay in the hospital she has recently been moved to the State Convalescent Home in Colchester, and wishes her friends to know that while she will be glad to hear from them, she will still fulfill her notice by unable to receive or take care of any packages.

Sincerely yours, I. G. Slat.

As for Attorney General Kennedy, there is no evidence that he has sought in any way to influence the write-in for him. The Kennedy write-in, in fact, had its origin with a megalomaniac Manchester, N. H., politician named Robert Shans who took out newspaper ads. Shans was never part of the old Kennedy organization in New Hampshire.

These old Kennedy hands suspect his real purpose is to add to the number of votes which are cast for Robert Kennedy but of Robert Shans. This view, it may be said, is shared by President Johnson's own political officials.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is climbing higher and higher in the esteem of President Johnson, and one reason is a noticeable decline of Dean Rusk as Presidential intimate.

Achson, the witty politician who was Secretary of State under Harry Truman, has been one of the inner circles of presidential advisers ever since Mr. Johnson's halcyon days in the Senate.

There were frequent telephone calls to Achson from the White House in the last few weeks of the Johnson Presidency. These have tapered off.

Agquinas Despite Deep Freeze

Reach Semifinals In 36-22 Victory

Surviving an injury to one of his key players and the deepest freeze in this side of Nome, East Catholic High's talented Eagles walloped St. Thomas Aquinas Saturday, 38-22, at Rockville and advanced to the semifinals of the C.I.A.C. Class B Basketball Tournament. East is paired with strong Wilton Tech in the quarter final game on Saturday night at 7:15 at Yale's Payne Whitney Gym.

An overload crowd of 1,200 (some were turned away) saw the Eagles advance to the first round in the third quarter and then beat the game wide open by outscoring their New Britain rivals, 21-6, over the final eight minutes to completely rout the Saints' early slow defense.

Leading the Eagles comeback was sophomore forward Ray LaGace who carried 15 points and made five-point field goals in the third quarter and then hit the game winning shot by outscoring their New Britain rivals, 21-6, over the final eight minutes to completely rout the Saints' early slow defense.

In the quarter, clinching their second win in three games this season against St. Thomas. "They didn't really play a good game," a happy Don Burns announced after a ride on court on the shoulders of his players. "LaGace finally played the way he's capable of. He's been bothered by a sore ankle for a long time and tonight was the first time since New Britain game he's been in top shape."

Tom Gaultier, coach of the Saints, decried his slow down though. "At the start of the second half we missed two shots. If we'd made them, we'd have had a five-point lead. But they (East) would have come out of their tight zone defense to get the ball once they came out, we could have used our regular offense."

"Taking advantage of East's erratic shooting and Paul Walcott's shooting on the strength of the game, St. Thomas built a lead over the last eight minutes. Eight of their points came on four jump shots by Partesano."

Walcott, who started the game at the start of the second quarter but the Saints continued their possession play, making the game a close one. They made it 14-12 at the half as LaGace hit a pair of jump shots.

"They resumed at the same thing again," Gaultier said. "I would say that we had a lead over the last eight minutes. Eight of their points came on four jump shots by Partesano."

Rally by Coventry Tops Avon, 50-49

Seemingly out of contention after blowing a five-point lead and falling behind in the final seconds of play, Coventry rallied on a clutch shooting of top scorer George Eberle and nipped Avon, 50-49, Saturday at Central Connecticut College. Coventry's victory was the first since the Class C C.I.A.C. Basketball Tournament. The Patriots, competing in only their third varsity season, will oppose Woodbury Wednesday night at 7:45 at Yale's Payne Whitney Gym.

Dave Ware hit from underneath and hit the game winning shot by outscoring their New Britain rivals, 21-6, over the final eight minutes to completely rout the Saints' early slow defense.

Hawks Lead by Two Points With Showdown Coming Up
