Band Heard In Concert

By JOHN GRUBER The annual MHS Band Concert, heard last evening in Bailey Auditorium, was notable for the varied solo offerings on the part of its members as well as the work of the Drum Majorettes, captained by Kathy Burke.

The program opened in what we have become accustomed to expecting as the usual manner—a number played in the dark with the majorettes twirling lighted batons to excellent effect and manifest enjoyment of the audience. The group was more subtle, and more imaginative however, in the three interpretative routines they did to numbers from "South Pacific," using special costumes and routines. Incidentally, the music department of the high school will present a complete production of this Broadway classic next month, as announced by Mr. Robert Vater, conductor of the band.

The strictly band numbers, an "Andantino" by Debussy was perhaps the best played, featuring excellent tone colors, imaginative use of woodwinds and horns such as only this French impressionist could do. "Holiday for Winds" and group of Dvorak's "Slavonic Dances" were notable for their sense of style, but the Debussy number was really the most beautiful.

Arthur LeClaire acted as attendant conductor for two numbers, a Concert March by Koeppler and Moussorgsky's brilliant "Hopak," acquitting himself in competent style and eliciting good response from the members of the band.

F. Allyn Hawes provided a real novelty in the matter of solos; he offered the rapid and intricate phrase of "Nola" on an ungainly instrument, the baritone horn, the whole thing coming off very successful.

In more serious vein Michael Johns was heard in a Concert Piece, Op. 94, for French Horn and Piano. This work employed practically the full range of the instrument which has the largest compass of any of the winds and is very difficult to play either in its extreme lower or extreme upper registers. Diann Platt was his accompanist and did a fine job at the piano, so the whole effort was dandy.

James Armstrong and Gerald Cambria were featured in an excerpt from a Suite for Percussion by Brown, titled "4 for Two." Armstrong on tympani and Cambria on snare drum obviously enjoyed themselves, and while the work is not a great one musically, it made a powerful impression.

An crowd pleaser there were Long's "Three Bears" narrated by Bruce Taylor, and a shortened version of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." Other numbers included a "Colonial Rhapsody" by Madden, Vernon Duke's "Autumn in New York," and the marches "Proud Heritage" by Latham, and inevitably Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Balance seemed very good. Whether this was due to the use of an acoustic shell or not would be impossible to say on one hearing. Apparently the effectiveness of the enclosure varied in different parts of the hall, at least to judge by comments of different people in different locations. In any event, it is apparent that data is not the complete and final answer to the acoustical problems of the auditorium.

Business Bodies

NEW OWNER Ernest H. Larson, native Manchesterite who resides at 39 Andor Rd., Wednesday took over ownership-management of the Manchester Plumbing & Supply Co. at 877 Main St. from Fred T. Blish Jr., whose father founded the business just 50 years ago next month.

Larson first came to the firm in 1938 as a stock clerk and, except for his years of service with the Army in World War II climbed the business ladder to the general manager's post when he returned from service in 1952, a position he held with the firm until he bought it.

Fred T. Blish Jr. joined his father's firm in the early teens. He has been active in retailing and has served as chairman of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce in the Manchester American Red Cross Drive in 1952.

He is also a past president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, the Manchester Country Club and the Connecticut Hardware Association, the latter of which he still serves in an advisory capacity. Blish's father was the founder of the F. T. Blish Hardware Co. and the family name has been prominent, statewide, in the hardware industry.

Larson is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves with the 76th Division. He joined the Division in 1965 and was a supply officer for the 418th Regiment prior to being named commanding officer of the 2nd Bn. of the regiment in August 1961.

Larson has more than 20 years of continuous service on active National Guard and Army Reserve status. He is a former commanding officer of the National Guard Co. in Manchester.

During the war he served in the Aleutians and European Theater with the 28th Inf. Div. He was awarded the Combat Infantry Badge and Bronze Star for outstanding military service during World War II.

Blish said that he will stay with the firm for a short period to assist Larson in the ownership transition and familiarize the new owner with the workings of the entire business.

MANAGEMENT CHANGES Robert C. Heavilides of 8 Christopher Dr., Vernon, has been named manager of the Manchester office of Shearson Hammill & Co. at 913 Main St., replacing Edward W. Krasenics who Wednesday took over management of the national wide brokerage firm's office at Sarasota, Fla.

The new manager joined Shearson in June 1963 and was licensed by the New York Stock Exchange to sell mutual funds in Connecticut after completing a training course at the firm's New York offices. In October, Heavilides was named assistant manager under Krasenics and held that position until his managerial post was announced this week.

Krasenics, who resided at 69 Garth Rd. prior to moving to Florida with his family, was the first manager of the Shearson office here when it opened its doors for the first time in February 1967. Prior to that time, he owned and operated the Suburban Realty Co., and was active in town government.

merce, and served as chairman of the residential section of the Manchester Red Cross Drive in 1960, to name a few of his township activities.

Heavilides and Krasenics now both head two of 50 Shearson, of Rogers Corporation of Rogers and Manchester, Thursday left on a two-month business trip to eight Far Eastern countries.

Silverstein will be the only American participating in a four-day seminar in Seoul, Korea, to be attended by 60 leading business executives from 10 Southeast Asian countries. Sponsored by the Indo-Pacific Council of the Comite Internationale de l'Organisation Scientifique (CIOS), the parley is the first of its kind to be held in that country and the initial one to include both Asian and non-Asian discussion leaders.

On his return to this country, Silverstein will lecture at the University of Hawaii. He is expected home from his 15th overseas trip on May 29 after several days in California on company business.

BRIEFS Manchester residents who have joined the Pratt & Whitney Quarter Century Club in recent weeks include Joseph A. Martin of 68 N. Elm St., production foreman (March 14); Stephen R. Grotta of 79 Ansaide Rd., senior experimental engineer (March 17); and Thomas J. Russell of 51 Spruce St., truck operator (March 29).

Richard S. Carpenter, CLU, of 285 Henry St., is one of nine Greater Hartford area life insurance men who have recently earned membership in the Million Dollar Round Table, the life insurance industry's 3,500 member elite international organization of million-dollar-a-year sales producers. He is with Phoenix Mutual of Hartford.

Francis Dickenson, president of the Auto Discount House on Center St., on March 26 donated a television set for educational television use in the classroom of the eighth grade at St. Rose School in East Hartford.

TV Notebook

By DICK KLEINER
NEW YORK (NEA)—Nick Vanoff stopped off in New York to report on the great dog act competition.

Vanoff is producer of the sudden, surprising hit, Hollywood Palace, which stepped in where Jerry Lewis failed to click and made ABC very happy.

He was on his way to Europe to shop for dog acts and other novelty performers. And, he says, between the scouts for Hollywood Palace, International Showtime and the Ed Sullivan Show, it keeps getting harder and harder (and expensive and expensive) to find new variety acts.

In fact, the best way to crash American television these days is to be a smart European dog. You can practically name your own terms—even residual dog biscuits—because the demand is so great.

But back to Nick Vanoff, the ex-dancer, ex-Steve Allen and Perry Como producer. On Hollywood Palace, he heads a team of former New York technicians, most of whom worked together on the Allen and Como shows. Vanoff thinks one reason the show has clicked is because his crew is so experienced.

"I think," Vanoff thinks, "that there was room for another good variety hour. You can tell it's a success because of the studio audience. At first, we had to work hard to corral enough people to fill the seats. But now there's such a demand for seats that we have to hire a band to play on the street and entertain those who are standing around waiting to get in."

Nurse Crosby
Within a few weeks, the cry may go out over a loud speaker in Los Angeles hospital: "Nurse Crosby, wanted in surgery."

That will be nurse Kathryn Grant Crosby, Mrs. Bing.

"I still have to take my state board exams," Kathy says. "And they still may wash me out."

But you can tell that she doesn't really believe that. She has worked too hard too long for this secondary career.

"It's taken me six years to do three years' work," she says. "I wasn't stupid. It was just a question of time, or lack of it. Also, they didn't believe I was sincere about it for a long time. I had to convince them I was. I think they know it now."

As a child, Kathy loved both nursing and acting and it was a tossup which career she would pursue. Her life was made up for her, temporarily at least, when she was an undergraduate at the University of Texas. She got into the drama class, found she liked the work and the people, and stuck with it. The path led her to Hollywood, a minor career and a major marriage. Now she wants to sample both of her interests.

Miss Lord Drops a Spouse

By RUTH E. THOMPSON
"Yes, you can quote me. Splitting with Danny is tantamount to divorce—and you can bet I'm not going to be a wife again. Unless, of course..."

Speaking was slender Marjorie Lord, the darlingest missus since Myrna Loy (whom she resembles) stopped being the bitthe, faithful "Mrs. Thin Man."

"But just the same," she twinkled, "some reporters are really rushing things. After all we haven't finished shooting yet. There are still new episodes coming."

"Why we'll be on the air Monday nights until October with the primary CBS 'Danny Thomas Show,'" (and probably forever with the re-runs daily elsewhere.)

"Now mind you, though there are plenty of things for me to do, I'm not glad to see our series ending. Danny and Sheldon (Sheldon Leonard) give us each such freedom. If we think a scene will play better in a way other than written, we can go ahead and try it." Maggie (no true friend would call her Marjorie) added, "I've learned so much about total concept I'm sure it should reflect in future stage work."

"Why is Danny ending the show in October? Well, there are so many other things for him to do and I guess he wants to wind up this series while its rating and appeal are still tops."

And if she's so understanding about the series coming to a close why is she bitter about wifeliness? She isn't. "It's just that I'm now so identified with the character of Cathy Williams that I don't think either the viewers or I could make so quick a transition to my being somebody else's screen wife."

All right. Then what did she mean about "except..." Is the rumor true that Danny Thomas vignette for his special?

"Oh, You've heard it too. Well, it's just one of those things nobody's sure about yet. Perhaps even Danny himself doesn't know. But if it does work out, then I'd appear in a reprise of my present role."

Which means that she and her real-life husband, Randolph Hale, and Danny and Rosemarie (the real Mrs. Thomas) will never unsmag the image that's confused such worldly types as registration clerks.

"When the show travels—even in Europe—we've really had to argue it out at the desk explaining no, we're not really married and please give us our separate accommodations. And you can just imagine, my poor husband gets some pretty chilly glances when we check into hotels."

It was the juicy wife role in "Anniversary Waltz" (in which

25 Shows Go Limping To Oblivion

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's 1963-64 season has only six or eight weeks to go and the network schedules include at least 25 shows limping toward oblivion.

Some born weaklings, like "The Jerry Lewis Show" on ABC, "Glynis" on CBS and "Harry's Girls" on NBC, expired early and unmourned.

Others, like NBC's "Richard Boone Show," have suffered bravely through chronic script trouble. "Route 66" on CBS flopped after costar George Maharis left the cast.

Several programs are victims of circumstance. NBC's "Espionage," a well-produced, spy series will be dropped because it occupied a Wednesday night niche in competition with two of television's most popular programs, "Beverly Hillsbillies" and "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

ABC's "Arrest And Trial" might have survived almost anywhere — except opposite NBC's "Bonanza." "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters," also on ABC, was designed to appeal to younger viewers—but had too much competition from the well-established Walt Disney programs on NBC.

CBS's "Judy Garland Show" seems to have succumbed to a combination of troubles — "Bonanza" as competition, following Ed Sullivan's variety hour with another 60 minutes of much the same thing, and disagreement among the show's producers on its format.

Since the season started in September, 10 prime time evening network shows have flopped. Many more will soon reach the end of the road. This is a high mortality rate. But, like the unfolding of the first daffodil, it happens every spring.

Burton Talks On the Bard

"Richard Burton and the Bard," an extensive interview with the British actor which explores the unparalleled place in English drama, culture and language held by William Shakespeare on the 400th Anniversary of his birth, will be presented on "ABC News Reports" Thursday from 10:30-11 p.m.

Burton's portrayal of "Hamlet" will open in New York on the same evening as the "ABC News Reports" program.

He will be interviewed by Walter Wager, editor of Playbill, and by ABC News Correspondent Bob Young.

They will discuss the greatness of Shakespeare's plays, and their continued impact. Burton, regarded as one of the great Shakespearean actors of the day, will also discuss how the Bard is being interpreted these days by leading actors.

"ABC News Reports" will also include scenes of Shakespeare Festivals in England; Stratford, Conn., and Stratford, Ontario. And it will show scenes of the April 9 opening night crowds at Broadway's Lunt-Fontanne Theatre, where "Hamlet" begins its run.

NOW ON SUNDAYS
Channel 24, Connecticut's first non-commercial educational television station, will begin broadcasting on Sundays starting tomorrow at 4:30 p.m.

Money, Alas, Is the Root Of Stars in Commercials

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Why do they do it?" Many a television viewer asks the question on seeing distinguished actors making a pitch on a commercial.

The answer appears to be elemental. They do it for money. How else could an actor earn $50,000 for one day's work? Advertisers will pay that much for top names.

Take the example of Edward G. Robinson. He remains one of Hollywood's most employed actors. Yet he can be seen all over the television channels smiling and praising an instant coffee.

"The remuneration was very good, and that is always a consideration. Everything was done with care. Three or four men came out from New York to supervise the filming. A replica of my den was made at a studio complete with some of my paintings.

A Viennese Cinderella Who Hasn't Made the Ball

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's Cinderella story concerns a Viennese architect turned actress of mature years and gentle manner. The only trouble with the story is that Cinderella has not yet made it to the oath.

A fortnight ago the Academy Award nomination were announced, and one of the nominees was Lilla Skala for her role as the vinegary nun in "Lilies of the Field."

She received congratulations at New York's City Center Theater, where she works in the lost and found department. She is still there among the neglected galoshes and forgotten umbrellas, toiling for $1.50 per hour.

Her reaction to the nomination?

"Of course I am thrilled. I did not expect it. I did not even think about it. I have known too many disappointments in my life to count on anything."

What a life it has been. It began in Austria, but don't ask her how long ago.

Lilla longed to act as a girl, but her parents had other ideas. She studied architecture and engineering at Drexel University and graduated with honors. "I was the first woman engineer in Austria," she says proudly.

After her marriage to a hat manufacturer, she appeared with Max Reinhardt and in Austrian films. She came to America after the Hitler takeover, and her acting roles were interspersed with jobs as waitress, saleswoman, babysitter, etc.

She had successful times — featured roles in "Call Me Madam" and "The Diary of Anne Frank" on Broadway and important parts in television. But you gather that there were also long periods of idleness.

Miss Skala was enduring such a period a year and a half ago when she was called about a role in the touring company of "A Far Country."

Meanwhile, she read a newspaper item that Ralph Nelson was casting for a new film to star Sidney Poitier, "Lilies of the Field." She had worked for Nelson on the "I Remember Mama" television series, and she sent him a note that she would like to be in his film.

Faced with the dilemma over a sure job and a nebulous one, Miss Skala did what she always does in times of trial. She prayed.

Nelson came through with the plum role of the mother superior. Did her fortunes change?

"No," she says. "Last year I did one co-starring role in 'The Defenders' and one soap opera. It was my worst year since I had come to America."

But things seem to be picking up. Stanley Kramer has said he wants her for "Ship of Fools." The Oscar night April 13 will bring her more attention. Will she be in Santa Monica for it?

"Only if they send me," she says. "I can't afford it myself."

Comic Hero In 'Petticoat'

For close to 30 of his 53 years Smiley Burnette was a rotund, comic hero of the pistol-and-popcorn set as one of the top 10 money-making Western stars of motion pictures.

Burnette says he has earned some three million dollars through his work in 171 full-length Westerns, 15 serials and four short subjects, in many of them—51 with Gene Autry, 64 with Charley Starrett and seven with Roy Rogers—as a character named Frog Milhouse, a batrachian-voiced side-kick of Autry, Starrett, Rogers or whomever.

But it's never too late for a change, Burnette says, and he is proving it in the non-cactus role of railroad engineer Charlie Pratt, operator of the creaking Hooterville Cannonball, on CBS-TV's "Petticoat Junction" Tuesdays.

Although he has traded his horse and battered Stetson for a wood-burning locomotive and blue-striped engineer's cap, Burnette has little fear that Frog Milhouse will be forgotten completely.

At least 110 of his Western pictures are still running on television stations all over the country, and he is also the star of a transcribed radio series broadcast on more than 250 stations.

Burnette retired from filmmaking soon after the advent of television, but he has kept Frog alive with the syndicated pictures and an exhaustive personal appearance schedule. More than 7,000 shows have taken him to every state but Alaska.

Coming Shows

Pundit Walter Lippman will make his fifth exclusive hour-long appearance on "CBS Reports, Walter Lippman, 1964" Wednesday from 7:30-8:30 p.m.

Hoagy Carmichael's "Johnny Appleseed" suite will be presented on NBC-TV's "Bell Telephone Hour" Tuesday from 10-11 p.m.

Scenes from the acclaimed Metropolitan Opera production of Verdi's "Falstaff" will be presented tomorrow on CBS-TV's "Camera Three" from 11-11:30 a.m.

Body of General MacArthur Reposes in New York Chapel

To Lie in State In U.S. Capitol

NEW YORK (AP)—Flags flew at half staff today as the body of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur reposed in a funeral chapel attired in a simple khaki tropical uniform without any of the medals and ribbons earned in his military lifetime.

At the general's coffin was an honor guard of all the military services. Twenty policemen stood outside while many men and women, on their way to work, paused briefly in front of the funeral home where they knew the body of the Old Soldier reposed.

It was part of the nation's homage to the 84-year-old warrior who died Sunday at 2:39 p.m. at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D.C., after a gallant struggle to survive three operations.

At the chapel today, only the family and close associates could view the body. The casket, the upper portion open half-way, rested on a black-draped catafalque.

Tuesday, at the 7th Regiment Armory on Park Avenue, the casket will remain open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. so the public can pay their last respects to the man who helped make history at St. Mihiel, Bataan, Corregidor, New Guinea, Manila, Tokyo and Inchon.

At noon today, the traditional 19-gun salute for a five-star general booms out over New York harbor from Ft. Jay on Governor's Island, facing the southern tip of Manhattan.

On Wednesday, the body will be returned by train to Washington. From 3:30 that afternoon until noon Thursday it will lie in state in the Capitol rotunda, where so recently the body of the martyred President John F. Kennedy also reposed.

Then, by military plane it will be flown to the naval city of Norfolk, Va., for funeral services in St. Paul's Episcopal church and burial in the MacArthur Memorial nearby. All along the funeral journey there will be the military pageantry reserved for the nation's great.

The general had expressed a wish to be buried in Norfolk, to be buried with his mother, former Mary Pinckney Hardy, was born, reared and married. The city has fashioned, out of a 14-year-old courthouse, a memorial to MacArthur, a museum for his memorabilia, and a mausoleum for his remains.

There are the famous crumpled campaign hat, with its scrambled eggs insignia, and one of the cornucopias that were his trademark.

There, too, above the tomb that will receive him, is this inscription:

"In twenty campaigns, on a hundred battlefields, around a thousand campfires, in long years of peace as well as war, a soldier who tried to do his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

Messages of sorrow at MacArthur's death.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Belgian authorities arrested two physicians today after the death of a baby as Belgium's doctors' strike went into its sixth day.

Workers paraded in Liege protesting that the doctors were falling in their duty to humanity.

The 10,000 striking physicians held fast to their position and claimed they were being victimized financially by changes in Belgium's health insurance system.

Premier Theo Lefevre's coalition Cabinet scheduled a meeting today in a new effort to resolve the deadlock. Their chances of success seemed slim.

In Olen, in northern Belgium, the mayor, who is a physician, and a second doctor were arrested.

CHAPLAIN HILL, N.C. (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, who only 12 days ago touched off an explosive debate on foreign policy, now says "the American people are not now exercising effective control over the military, and neither is the Congress."

The charge by the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a speech Sunday night at the University of North Carolina seemed almost certain to stir another controversy—this time with the Pentagon.

The Arkansas Democrat's March 23 foreign policy speech ricocheted through both halls of Congress, the State Department and the White House. It still is drawing fire in some quarters.

His comments on the military came in a keynote speech to 1964 Carolina Symposium, a five-day series of lectures at the university on the topic "Arms and the Man: National Security and the Aims of a Free Society."

Fulbright said the military establishment has a vested interest in the continuation of the cold war and its high military spending.

He said the "elimination of superfluous defense funds" would encourage spending on domestic programs, and that "the cold war is an excuse, as well as a cause" for high military budgets.

Fulbright's comment about control of the military recalled a statement by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his farewell address as chief executive on Jan. 17, 1961.

Eisenhower warned then of the need to "guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or un-

Nikita Blasts Red Chinese View of War

KAZINCBARCSA, Hungary (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared today only a child or an idiot does not fear war and that people who think like the Red Chinese leaders about "overabundance of brains" is said he thought U.S. President Johnson had similar views to those of the late President John F. Kennedy, which he called reasonable.

"The Chinese leaders say it would not be a bad thing to have a war — one-half of the people in the world would be destroyed and the other would survive," Khrushchev said in a speech to several thousand workers of a chemical plant in this northeastern Hungarian industrial center.

"They say that after some time women again would bear children and mankind would be as before. People who think like that do not show an overabundance of brains, but rather a lack of them."

Khrushchev said he had been accused by the Chinese of being afraid of war.

"I say it is only a child or an idiot who does not fear war," he declared. "If Hitler had known how World War II would end and that he would shoot himself, he probably would not have started the war."

Khrushchev made his remarks after discarding a prepared text.

"The United States is an imperialist country, but its government judges the world situation soberly," he said, and added that President Kennedy's speech at Washington University last summer in which Kennedy demanded a peaceful solution to East-West problems was a reasonable one.

"Some people have criticized me for praising this speech,"

Widow Calls Army Nurse, Gives Thanks Flags at Half-Staff For Dead Warrior

WASHINGTON (AP)—She wore a sweater over her white nurse's uniform against the coolness of the late afternoon. Her eyes were red with fatigue and sadness.

Since March 6, 2nd Lt. Bonnie Ritter had cared for the ailing Gen. Douglas MacArthur as recovery room nurse—and for the past two weeks, there had been little rest.

Now, she and her husband, Capt. Richard Ritter, an Army doctor, were going home. They had just been to Mass in the chapel at Walter Reed General Hospital.

So it was by accident that they became part of the crowd outside the hospital's east wing as the general's widow came out Sunday to begin the trip that would take her husband's body home to New York.

There were only a few minutes to wait before the olive green Army ambulance brought the flag-draped coffin. In those few minutes, Mrs. MacArthur saw the pretty, young nurse in the crowd.

Despite her own sadness, Mrs. MacArthur asked to speak to Bonnie Ritter.

She came forward hesitatingly.

"Had his advice been heeded," she said, "victory would have been ours in Korea. Had his admonitions and warnings about the Southeast Asia war been listened to and acted on, we would not now be faced with the loss of so much of that important part of the world to communism."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, an opponent of Goldwater for the Republican nomination for president, said MacArthur's "brilliant leadership and heroic patriotism were in the highest tradition of this nation."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said MacArthur was "a true giant on the American and world scene—liberator of the Philippines, architect of victory in the Pacific and creator of modern Japan."

"But his greatest legacy is his counsel that there is no substitute for victory in the struggle against world communism," said Nixon, who was in the Philippines, where he had stopped during a world tour.

Tributes also came from two other former presidents: Herbert Hoover, who named MacArthur as one of his "100 Greatest Americans of the 20th Century."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., called MacArthur "one of America's greatest soldiers and one of its finest citizens."

Alignment Plan Trims 16 Towns Off 1st District

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut's first congressional district, comprising 29 towns in Hartford County, would be reduced to 13 cities and towns under a plan being discussed by Democratic and Republican leaders.

Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey and Republican Chairman A. Searle Pinney will resume negotiations this week, probably Wednesday in an effort to reach accord on a congressional redistricting proposal.

The aim is to abolish the present post of congressman at large and divide the state into six districts of nearly equal population.

Since the ideal formula is a population of 425,000 for each district, the present first district with a population of 689,000 would have to be reshaped to transfer more than 200,000 people to another district.

The plan under consideration by political and legislative leaders would:

—Reduce the first district to a population of 422,000 by narrowing the district to 13 communities including Hartford, West Hartford, East Hartford, Manchester, Glastonbury, Wethersfield, Rocky Hill, Newington, Bloomfield, Windsor, South Windsor, East Windsor, and Marlborough.

—Remove from the first district and transfer to a proposed new sixth district Enfield, Suffield, Granby, Hartland, Windsor Locks, Simsbury, Canton, Avon, Farmington, Burlington, Bristol, Plainville, New Britain, Berlin and Southington.

These 16 Hartford County towns along with Waterbury and virtually all Litchfield County would make up the new sixth district, along with New Fairfield, Brookfield and Sherman. The latter three towns are now part of the fourth (Fairfield County) district.

The second district east of the Connecticut River would be unchanged.

The third district in the New Haven region would lose Cheshire, Milford, and Bethany to a revised fifth district. Also added to the fifth would be several towns from the fourth district which now has a population of 653,000. These towns include Stratford, Trumbull, Easton, Redding, Ridgefield, Danbury, Bethel, Newtown, Monroe, and Shelton.

The present fourth district in Fairfield County now comprising more than 20 towns would be reduced to 10 including Bridgeport.

The more than 10 towns that would be lost by the fourth district would be transferred to the revamped fifth district.

Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario (D) is the incumbent first district congressman, and would prepare for the second district.

Bhutan Aide Is Murdered

GANGTOK, Sikkim (AP)—An unknown assassin gunned down Bhutan's Prime Minister Jigme Dorji Sunday night near the frontier of the Little Himalayan kingdom which has become a buffer zone between India and Red China's ambitions.

There was no indication whether personal or political motives lay behind the slaying of the 45-year-old prime minister, who has been described as strongly anti-Communist despite Chinese pressure.

The prime minister's son Pajdor, 20, who is studying law in London, told newsmen there he had no idea who might have wanted his father killed.

Dorji had been reported concerned that the thousands of refugees from Chinese-occupied Tibet in Bhutan might include agents from Peking.

Sketchy reports reaching the neighboring kingdom of Sikkim said Dorji was struck by a single bullet in the back as he sat in a travelers' bungalow in the town of Phuntsholing, near the Indian border.

The assailant fired through an open window.

GOP in Arkansas Hits Rockefeller State House Bid

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Southern Republican leaders are applauding Winthrop Rockefeller's announcement that he will run for governor of Arkansas, but a note of discord appeared in the state GOP.

Party leaders in other Southern states unanimously agreed that Rockefeller's decision, announced Saturday, is an indication of the growing Republican strength in the South.

But the Arkansas Republican chairman, William Spicer of Fort Smith, said barely four

Grieving Japanese Lead World Salute

TOKYO (AP)—A saddened Japan led the world tribute today to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, its war-time conqueror who led it to peace, prosperity and democracy.

A sense of sorrow also swept the Philippines and South Korea, two other Asian nations in whose destinies MacArthur was deeply involved, at the news of his death.

The Japanese government sent the nation's most beloved elder statesman, former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, to represent Japan at MacArthur's funeral.

"I cannot forget the great achievement of the general in rebuilding our nation out of the ashes of defeat," said Yoshida.

"Out of the stringent food shortages, out of the confusion of our political, economic and social systems, and out of the insecurity of men's hearts, MacArthur laid the foundations for a new Japan which became the source of our nation's prosperity today."

In a message to President Johnson, Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda said the Japanese respected MacArthur "not only as a soldier but as a friend." Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako also sent their condolences.

On the streets of Japan, people remembered MacArthur particularly for bringing in huge quantities of food in the immediate postwar months to feed a destitute population.

"I think his occupation policy was right and proper, especially his decision to preserve the imperial household," said commentator Shigeru Araki, 62.

In the Philippines, where MacArthur's wartime pledge "I shall return" gave hope during the Japanese occupation, President Diosdado Macapagal declared a period of national mourning.

"A source of courage in our darkest hour, Gen. MacArthur symbolized the highest degree of American friendship and affection," Macapagal said in a message to Johnson.

"Your loss is our loss. His name is deeply engraved in the hearts of all Filipinos."

The Philippine Senate recessed after unanimously adopting a resolution expressing the nation's grief.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, president of the University of the Philippines, former diplomat and one of MacArthur's wartime aides, said: "For the Philippines, to mention him is nearly to say all in Philippine-American friendship."

MacArthur returned for a sentimental final visit to the Philippines in July 1961, receiving a tumultuous welcome and honorary Philippine citizenship.
