Typhoid Epidemic Grows, Scotland Resort Isolated

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The growing typhoid epidemic in Aberdeen has turned Scotland's leading resort into a pariah city. The epidemic, which has caused the death of one woman and continues unchecked. The total of identified cases reached 24 today and 30 suspected cases were under observation. Coming at the start of the tourist season, the outbreak is already costing Aberdeen hundreds of thousands of dollars. As a government inquiry sought the cause of the outbreak, Secretary of State for Scotland Michael Noble ordered two brands of corned beef removed from store shelves throughout the country because Aberdeen health officials believed one of them had spread the epidemic. Noble told the House of Commons, however, that there was no positive evidence that the two brands—both South American—were responsible. It had not been established, he said, that corned beef was to blame. But Dr. Ian MacQueen, chief public medical officer of Aberdeen, a city of 185,000 told a news conference: "There is no shadow of doubt that this outbreak started from a tin of corned beef." MacQueen came into conflict again with Noble when he said the infection may have come from 13-year-old tins of beef released from government Food Ministry stocks recently because of a rise in fresh beef prices. Noble said there was no ground for suggesting government stocks were to blame. One theory is that the epidemic began in an Aberdeen market where six-pound tins of beef were sold by the slice and the contaminated slicer used for other meats. MacQueen warned tourists to stay away from Aberdeen until the epidemic is over. Aberdeen residents find it difficult to go elsewhere. People who booked into the Billy Butlin holiday camps for summer vacations have received telegrams canceling their reservations. Aberdonians trying to find accommodations in English resorts are told "sorry, full up." An Aberdeen salesman who went to Dundee to call on a customer was ordered out of the first store he entered. He telephoned other customers and was told by all to stay away. An Aberdeen family who wrote to relatives in Glasgow were told: "Please don't send any more letters until the typhoid has gone. You can phone if you like." Schools for the city's 22,000 children are closed indefinitely. So are swimming pools and dance halls. Social life has come to a virtual halt. Restaurants and bars are open but aren't doing much business. People are seen carrying their own glasses into bars. It is the biggest shutdown other than the...

Advisers Fly Home To Report on Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top diplomatic and military advisers were flying back from Hawaii today to report to President Johnson on recommendations for possible new U.S. military moves in Red-threatened Southeast Asia. Johnson stressed the peace theme in a statement to his staff, saying that the United States should not make war, and we seek peace. "The atmosphere of urgency which enveloped the Laos and Vietnam problems last week as the Communists pressed an offensive in Laos abated with evidence that the Red drive has come to a halt. But no one in Washington knows whether this was only a temporary halt. On another aspect of the Southeast Asian crisis, Johnson announced that he has instructed Undersecretary of State...

Narrow Win Giant Stride In GOP Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater swept to a stunning California victory and a commanding position today in the Republican presidential race. By a narrow margin, the Arizona senator captured a rich bloc of 86 delegates from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in California's showpiece primary Tuesday. Rockefeller captured most of the state's 86 counties, but a decisive surge for Goldwater in late Southern California returns chiefly from Los Angeles, nullified down the contest for the Westerner. Results from 29,800 of 32,885 precincts showed: Goldwater, 59,827; Rockefeller, 68,388. The victory in this last presidential primary before the July 13 GOP National Convention brought Goldwater within striking distance of the 600 votes he'll need for the nomination. He called it a "great step" toward his quest to lead the Republican ticket into the November election. Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary, beat State Controller John Cranston for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate seat held by retiring Democratic Sen. Clair Engle. The Salinger victory dealt a setback to Gov. Edmund G. Brown and other party elements who supported Cranston. It showed, too, the vote-pulling power of the Kennedy family, used heavily by the press secretary to the late President John F. Kennedy. Salinger, 49, former San Francisco newspaper reporter, who won 56.5 percent of the vote, because he's registered in Virginia, will face the Republican. (See Page Ten)

HEALTH STRICKEN LONDON (AP)—Ringo Starr, the Beatles drummer, best friend and collaborator, has his knees today during a photographic session with a doctor. A spokesman for the Beatles said the 40-year-old thought Ringo, 25, should go to a hospital. The Beatles are scheduled to start a European tour Thursday. The tour will go on but Ringo will miss it, the spokesman said. Ringo was stricken at a studio in suburban Richmond. He was hurried to his doctor. GOP UNCOMMITTED HARTFORD (AP)—GOP State Chairman A. Serrano Finney said today that the "closeness" of the California Goldwater-Rockefeller contest means the decision "in the final analysis still rests with the convention at San Francisco next month." He described the California tilt "as interesting and close contest between two highly qualified Republicans." Meanwhile, the Connecticut Goldwater camp here expressed chagrin over "this great personal victory" of Sen. Goldwater in the golden state's delegate primary. But Co-chairman (Mrs.) Helen M. Loy of the Rockefeller headquarters here said the California vote was "no closer" as to produce no momentum for the Arizona senator. "It's another indication of the incoherence of the whole convention potential," she said, "although it gives Goldwater a valuable addition of delegate strength." She said that Rockefeller leadership here is going ahead with plans to bring the New York governor June 12 to push his bid for Connecticut delegates. "But if Goldwater becomes the candidate," Mrs. Loy said, "we hope that the Rockefeller people here will join in unity behind the victor."

Renault Official Says Crash Tests a 'Stunt'

HARTFORD (AP)—Spokesmen for Renault said today that the safety features recommended by the commissioner in a car vs. big car crash tests conducted by State Police Commissioner Leo J. Mulcahy earlier this week today. Vincent Grob, president of the Renault Motor Car Co. termed the tests "a stunt" and said the only thing the tests proved was that "a big heavy object can be directed to hit a small object, the small object can be hurt." He charged that Commission on Highway Safety's complex project and did not study all aspects of the problem. He said such a test could not be conclusive unless the three major factors in accidents were addressed. He listed the factors as drivers, road conditions and the cars involved. "Certainly the promoters of the stunt can't believe that the solution to highway safety is to produce heavier cars," Grob said. Stuart Perkins, general manager of Volkswagen of America, said his company is awaiting "with interest" the scientific results of the tests. He said the tests cannot be expected to be conclusive simply because two cars were crushed into each other. He said he knows of no evidence which would support Commissioner Mulcahy's claim that small cars are more dangerous than standard size cars. A spokesman for Saab Motors, whose U.S. headquarters is located in New Haven, said his company is not at odds with what Commissioner Mulcahy is attempting to accomplish. Ray J. Miller, president of Saab, agreed that small cars can be made safer and skinned.

Tactics Change In Rights Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both sides shifted tactics today in the Senate's civil rights debate. Southerners stood by, saying they were ready to vote on some amendments, while the measure's backers took up the speaking chores. Dixie senators called this a "counter-offensive." But Senate leaders said the change of heart came too late. That all of their bills were centered on the cloture vote set for next Tuesday. If the bill's supporters must the necessary two-thirds vote for cloture, the further debate Saab, agreed that small cars can be made safer and skinned. (See Page Ten)

Andover Uncertainty Of Sponsor Delays Class

During a recent meeting of the recreation commission it was disclosed that the delay in the registration for the Red Cross swimming program was due to the uncertainty of who was to sponsor the program this season.

The Columbia chapter of the American Red Cross and the Andover Lake Property Owners Association have both expressed interest in sponsoring the program.

Mrs. Earl Palmer, commission secretary, reported that on March 11 a letter was sent to the Lake Management Association requesting permission to use the lake and beach for the swimming program to be sponsored by the recreation commission and the Red Cross. On May 14 a reply was received stating that "ALPOA will sponsor the swimming program."

The commission issued a statement saying, "While the Commission is eager for organizations to direct any area of recreation, in this particular instance the Red Cross has the final word and that word has not yet been received."

Food Water Scores California Upset

...anemia acute George Murphy.

Brown, however, won another intraparty squabble. His 154-plate delegation to the Democratic National Convention defeated a rival slate headed by Mayor Samuel W. Totty of Los Angeles.

There were three other delegations.

Goldwater got a handful of delegates in South Dakota, but failed to get Rockefeller's home base, New York State.

There followed the cheering, quip-flying former White House press secretary, hunched on his close connection with the late President Kennedy and won the Democratic nomination in nomination in November. The onetime dancer and film actor, George Murphy.

Three veteran congressmen—two from New York and one from Alabama—failed to survive their primary tests. One Democratic senator—Mike Mansfield of Montana—and John C. Stennis of Mississippi—won re-nomination easily as was expected.

There were plenty of interesting angles in the race between Goldwater and Rockefeller. Through the art vote project, Goldwater was reported through the Texas state primary to have won, without too much trouble.

There was only one thing missing: The actual votes that would secure the victory were supposed to be reported from the area pushed him almost to stay.

The man who won the GOP nomination may have some trouble in California, where he now rounds up 48 of them. In second place is Rockefeller, who won 41 votes to 118 on the strength of Tuesday's New York primary.

But California had to be a bitter blow to Rockefeller. He had picked up steam after his victory in the Oregon primary and had become an important figure of the following of Henry Cabot Lodge.

Although Rockefeller will probably add another 10 to 15 votes Sunday night, the New York State Committee meets next week to determine whether to accept a sweeping reversal for him.

The California presidential race was decided through the night and early morning, with Rockefeller mounting a major comeback. The outcome hinged on Rockefeller's mounting a major comeback to win 218 of the 238 votes that would win the nomination. Rockefeller returned ahead on partial returns Tuesday night.

The Arizona senator claimed victory Tuesday night, but a Columbia Broadcasting System projection shortly after the polls closed that he would win better than his total vote. Rockefeller's margin was narrow. Beyond the tangible prize of his voice-second highest delegate vote, Rockefeller will have a seat on the GOP nominating convention next month—however, a question of what part of defeat would go to Goldwater's chances of trying to seal a first-round nomination with votes from some 238 delegates still to be chosen this month.

The Associated Press tally of delegates already chosen showed Goldwater with 30 first ballot votes, not counting California. In second place, Rockefeller had 218 votes. The strength of Tuesday's New York primary.

In New York 77 delegates favorable to Rockefeller were elected, more than their opposition. He is expected to add another 10 at-large when the caucus for 1964.

Goldwater did pick up one vote in New York when one of his backers won in a district which Rockefeller had not contested. Four uncommitted delegates also were elected without contest. Four uncommitted delegates in 10 districts where Goldwater and Rockefeller had not contested head on, the governor's forces won each batch.

South Dakota Republicans defeated a state of 14 delegates pledged to Goldwater by a 2 to 1 margin. But the nominally uncommitted slate chosen contains at least six delegates favorably committed to Goldwater.

The slip-and-tuck California presidential primary almost overshadowed the race for the Democratic nomination. It was held in San Diego, Calif., and was won by Sen. Clair Engle.

Rep. Charles A. Buckley, a 30-year veteran in the House and chairman of the Public Works Committee, succumbed to the reform candidate of Jonathan A. Ringham, a Yale man and former aide on the U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

Buckley, Democratic leader in the House, had the support of Alty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy while Ringham had backing from Mayor Robert Wagner of New York, among others.

One of Buckley's chief lieutenants, Rep. James C. Healey, who led the anti-communist fight in the House, lost to a Democratic nomination, a fifth term. He was defeated by another reform candidate, candidate James E. Scheuer.

In Alabama Rep. Carl Elliott, a House Rules Committee member, was being led for a sixth term. He secured headed for defeat in the state's Democratic primary.

He was running last in a low-

Sewer Study Tabled, Seen Merger Boost

About 50 persons attending a special town meeting last night voted to table action on a sewer study and to see if a merger with Vernon could be arranged.

Consideration of a sewer study to handle five district sewerage is what was promised at a town meeting in January. At that time, Samuel W. Peart, first selectman, encountered opposition to his proposal that the town pay for an interest-free federal loan of about $80,000 to conduct a sewer study in the rural area.

City residents, fearing financial inequality, voiced opposition to the proposal until Mayor LeVitt, Rockville industrialist and district resident, proposed a sewer authority, a self-governing group that would provide sewers on a self-supporting basis.

Members of the sewer authority would be district residents. LeVitt suggested action on the authority be withheld until after an upcoming vote on consolidation. Only a few scattered "no" votes were registered.

LeVitt's proposal for the sewer authority called for a five-man board who would serve for five-year terms. The members would be unpaid, but would have authority to hire a superintendent, obtain the services of lawyers and engineers, but would work only in the rural fire district.

The authority would not be considered in Rockville sewer considerations without the express consent of the city. Rockville has a sewer system of its own. Members of the sewer authority would be district residents, according to LeVitt's resolution. Discussing the proposal, LeVitt made these points: Any funds that need to be borrowed to conduct surveys and for other expenses should be borrowed by the authority, thereby eliminating the possibility that city residents, already paying for their own sewer system, would not be charged for district sewer costs. Only district residents should serve on a sewer authority, since they may "rule their own destiny" as far as sewers are concerned.

Sales Grow With Uses Of Television

NEW YORK (AP)—A Florida bowler watches television to see whether he or the ball, when swung, will win.

A Philadelphia dental student can study, at long distance, a close-up of an expert drilling a patient's tooth.

Management at New York State Institute in Lincoln Center can see on a screen backstage what's going right or wrong out front.

Makers of closed-circuit television equipment and accessories can rejoice at annual sales now running at $18.6 million a year.

Delighted right along with them is the television industry. The giant Bell System and the hundreds of independent companies find in the growing business a bright new market for sales of their services.

The use of closed-circuit television is spreading. It's found in classrooms, banks, hotels, hospitals, on the launching pads of Cape Kennedy and in movie theaters.

The closed-circuit device in theaters let hordes of Americans watch the Casals-Jenny-Lyon concert and argue about the outcome as heady as did the fans at the ring side. Stores and banks use forms of the closed-circuit to trap hold-up men and innocuous old ladies, check pilfering and make visual records of the face of a check signature as recorded at the central office.

This year some four million students are receiving at least part of their education by closed circuit.

In South Carolina, 170 high schools, 13 colleges, 14 hospitals and 34 elementary schools are on a network using circuit of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co., and 46 independent telephone companies.

Washington County, Maryland, claims the first 1956-57 large scale educational television net work, operated by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

Fire Marshal John W. Bulte was termed the destruction of the Naugatuck Lumber Co., 28 Bridge St., "total and complete," but made no estimate of the financial loss. Unofficial estimates ranged above one million dollars, he said.

The blaze, in Naugatuck's Union City section, drew all of Naugatuck's firefighters, as well as volunteers and regulars from Waterbury, Watertown, Prospect, Middlebury, Beacon Falls and the company fire crew at the Naugatuck Chemical Co.

Although they trained deluge guns on the blazing lumber yard, the most that 60 firemen turned much of their attention to saving other structures nearby.

Naugatuck Fire Chief Dominic DeCarlo said there was no way to stop the flames from their destructive march through the five-acre lumber yard, with its many piles of boards and containers of flammable substances.

A large crowd assembled to see the traces of flames against the sky. From time to time an explosion added to the din.

Sherman Brown, an assistant secretary of the company, said at least five delivery trucks were lost, as well as two boxcars on a company siding.

All of the company's buildings and sheds were leveled within an hour after the first alarm, which was sounded at 2:01 p.m.

The flames burned through electric power lines, knocking out service in a large part of the Union City section until early today. Unable to use a telephone, Mayor Joseph Raykivich sent messengers to find street department workers who were needed to put up traffic barriers.

Police delayed traffic from the 46 around the city. Railroad trains were delayed until it was safe for them to pass.

5th District Deal The Associated Press Republicans in the state's 5th congressional district have been stymied again in their attempt to elect a Republican to the GOP State Central Committee—a selection that has a hearing on who will be the next Republican state chairman.

At a 5th district convention last week, W. Shaffner Conner of Farmington, a supporter of the incumbent GOP State Chairman, A. Benja Pinney, was re-elected to the State Central Committee.

But when it came to choosing the district's woman representative, the delegates came up with an 8-8 tie every time.

In all, they balloted 53 times, trying to settle on either Mrs. Edna Wood of Southport or Mrs. Betty Lou Dorin of Berlin, who are reportedly backers of Pinney and Howard Hausman, respectively.

At last night's session in Berlin, the delegates balloted five more times with the same tie each time. They agreed to meet again next Tuesday.

A motion to recess instead to June 15—two days after the Pinney vs. Hausman battle will be settled at the GOP state convention—failed to pass, 23-18.

Partial Ban on Water Use On in Tank-Served Area

Because the town water department cannot pump water into the Rockledge storage tanks as fast as water users are drawing it, it has curtailed consumption in the area served by the tanks.

With all three pumps working, 540 gallons a minute flow into the 300,000-gallon tank, but that is not enough during the peak hours when Rockledge and Green residents are asked to conserve water.

Lawrence Witkoff, water department superintendent, said the water storage situation in the town's reservoirs is not crucial now, but that another month of dry weather could cause a real problem for town water users.

Plans to add a fourth pump to the system for filling the Rockledge tank are being carried forward and the pump should be installed in three weeks or a month, Witkoff said. It will bring the pumping capacity up from 540 gallons a minute to a little less than 800 a minute.

There are also long-range plans to install an additional tank at Rockledge.

Chance set a club strikeout record by setting down 15 Boston batters, erasing the former record of 14 set by Nolan Ryan.

Chance, who chalked up a one-run game against the Yankees on Monday, was not at all happy to see his team lose to the Red Sox in a 3-2 game.

The major league strikeout record in a nine-inning game is 19, set in 1884, by the American League record and the modern day record is 18.

Hard Hearing?

Would you take a chance on a store clerk fitting your new eyeglasses? Hearing aids must be fitted, too, though many manufacturers cheapen their instruments by leaving out fitting controls, attempting to justify it with the claim that fittings are unnecessary. Government agencies and medical clinics, however, insist on the practice of fitting hearing aids as a regular part of their service to the hard of hearing. Sonotone Hearing Aid Consultants are trained in measurement and fitting techniques. As with glasses, your instrument is tailored to your particular needs. This removes guesswork and is your assurance of the best in better hearing—the first time.
