Khrushchev Seen Accepting Schism

By William L. Ryan
Nikita Khrushchev seems about ready to admit that the Soviet-Chinese split is unbridgeable in the foreseeable future, and that a splintered Communist world is inevitable.
Khrushchev concedes there is an estrangement not only between the Chinese and Soviet Communist parties, but also between the Peking and Moscow governments.
Khrushchev leaves it up to the Chinese whether there will be a move toward reconciliation. Displaying little hope that there will be, he virtually apologizes to the rest of the Communist world for the current state of affairs.
Khrushchev's remarks, interpolated in Friday's speech about the East German-Soviet friendship treaty, indicated a profound weariness with the whole Chinese affair. They seemed the words of a man caught in an impossible squeeze between the pressures in the Soviet Union for economic advancement and the pressures of world communism for more aggressive expansion.
If there is no reconciliation, Khrushchev seems to say, it will not be his fault but Peking's.
"One should not," says Khrushchev, "allow the spread of ideological differences to inter-governmental relations, since this ultimately weakens the position of world socialism and plays into the hands of imperialism."
"We believe that even today the road is not closed for the normalization of Soviet-Chinese relations, including governmental relations. All that is required is good will and awareness of one's supreme duty to one's people, to the entire revolutionary movement. Our party will constantly guide itself by this principle."
It seems likely Moscow considers Red China effectively outside the Soviet bloc of nations. The Soviet newspaper Izvestia recently quoted Marshal Chen Yi, Red China's foreign minister, as describing China as a "nonaligned country." Izvestia added that "politically speaking, this means Chen Yi no longer considers China part of the world socialist (Communist) bloc."

Korean Says Martial Law To End Soon

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Red forces, poised north of the demilitarized zone in divided Korea, began "significant military moves" during the recent student demonstrations in the south says President Chung Hee Park.
"All enemy aircraft were grounded as far back as May 25 and troop reinforcements were brought up in some areas," Park said.
"We don't know for sure whether they meant to regroup for combat, or just prepared because of the instability in South Korea."
The United Nations command said "no comment" when informed of Park's remarks in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press on Friday.
A state of war still exists between North and South Korea and the Communists are believed to have about 500,000 troops north of the demilitarized zone.
Park said there can be no solution to the country's whopping 2.5 million unemployment until South Korea is stable enough to encourage economic investment.
Japan has promised $500 million for South Korea once the two nations establish diplomatic relations.
Student demonstrators had charged that Park was selling out to the Japanese too cheaply. Later they demanded that his government leave office.
Martial law and press censorship, ordered in Seoul nine days ago, will be lifted "as soon as practicable," Park said.
"However, we have not yet arrested all of the leaders" of the student demonstrations which led to the detention of an estimated 500 persons.
Park said he wished the journalists of his country would become "through their writing, the vanguard of order, cooperation and progress," rather than sham journalists lending their hand to evils of destruction, disturbance and retrogression.
About 12 newsmen were picked up for questioning during the disturbances. Some reportedly still are held.
In addition to the demonstrations by a student minority, Park blamed "persistent opposition" by radical opposition elements for his country's latest crisis.
"I find it difficult to think that the students' opposition to the conference (with Japan) resulted from a correct assessment of the long-range interest of the nation and the situation at home and abroad, or that it resulted from an independent exercise of reason and judgment based on accurate knowledge of the negotiations," Park said.
Park listed as another reason for the student unrest "a tendency to resort to demonstrations as a means to settle problems, a tendency which has been widespread since April 19, 1960 (the student revolt that threw Dr. Syngman Rhee as president) and various social conditions that resulted from revolutions occurring in rapid succession."
He blamed his own government for "shortcomings in public relations efforts to enlighten the people concerning the Korean-Japan talks."
He blamed the people for being "impatient over the ef-

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island keynoted the Connecticut Republican state convention which opened last night and stated his support for Gov. Scranton as presidential nominee.

Senate Contest Overshadowed

HARTFORD (AP)—The glare of the national political spotlight turned sharply today on a Connecticut Republican state convention already beset with its own homegrown tensions. The delegates were electrified by the announcement late last night the Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton would fly in this afternoon and try to capture delegates to the GOP national convention. The agreement was that Scranton would be allowed to address the convention, but only after completion of all business, including the selection of delegates for the national convention. However, it seemed likely that Scranton would arrive well before completion of the agenda. His supporters were hoping that the delegates would insist that he be brought before them immediately instead of cooling his heels in the wings.
John Hurley of Rocky Hill, who today took on the title of national coordinator of Scranton campaign activities, said he would meet the candidate at the airport and bring him directly to the convention hall.
Hurley said he arranged the visit because he felt it was a good idea to bring Scranton back to his native state to capitalize quickly on his announcement yesterday that he was at last entering the contest for the GOP presidential nomination. Scranton was born in Madison, Pa.
The Scranton visit pushed into the background one of the convention's other main items of business — the picking of a nominee for the Senate.
Although there was a challenger in the field — Eugene Scallie of Glastonbury — the nomination seemed safely sewed up by former Gov. John Lodge of Westport.
The Scranton people among the delegates received a shock in the arms when the Pennsylvania governor abandoned his former position of waiting for a draft and said he was entering the race for all he was worth. Although there was a pre-convention agreement that four of the 16 Connecticut delegates to the GOP national convention would be earmarked for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Scranton announcement touched off rumors that there would be attempts to whittle down the Goldwater strength.
However, Republican State Chairman A. Searle Pinney said he would stand by the agreement he had made with the Goldwater forces.
"I am committed to the position of four delegates for Goldwater."

Negroes Visit Cuba, Ask U.S. Overthrow

HAVANA (AP)—Destruction of the U.S. government is advocated by four Negro students among 78 Americans visiting Cuba in defiance of State Department restrictions.
A statement denouncing the "North American racist government" was issued by the four students in Havana. It called for the overthrow of the United States government as the biggest farce in history and must be destroyed.
Six others in the group which arrived Friday by way of Prague, Czechoslovakia, are Negroes.
A 23-year-old New Yorker, Ed Lemansky, identified himself as the group's leader and a Communist.
He distributed a statement declaring: "We have different reasons for coming to Cuba, but we are united in our opposition to our government's efforts to prevent United States citizens from traveling to Cuba."
The four Negroes identified themselves as Ernest Allen, 21, Oakland, Calif., a student at the University of California at Berkeley; Luke Tripp, 23, Detroit, student at Wayne State; Charles Berrard, 24, Los Angeles student at Los Angeles City College; and Ron Bedford, 26, St. Louis architectural draftsman.
The 73 circumvented U.S. restrictions on Cuban travel by obtaining passports to Europe, flying to Paris and Prague before flying to Havana.
Lemansky said members were from the United States and Puerto Rico.
The Americans, 49 men and 23 women, planned a two-month stay in Cuba.
In Washington, the State Department said "only" the learned the group was en route to Cuba and notified U.S. embassies in Paris and Prague. But the word was too late for the embassies to reach the students and warn them of the consequences of a visit to Cuba, officials said.
A warm greeting was staged for the Americans by representatives of the Cuban Foreign Ministry and student Communist leaders. Flowers were presented to every American.
Lemansky told newsmen the trip was arranged by the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba.

Whites Stage Marches in Negro Area

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—A new twist in this city's racial strife — whites marching through a Negro neighborhood — moved authorities to seek renewal today of a ban on night marches.
More than 300 whites walked into the Negro section Friday night and were greeted by signs reading: "Welcome. Peace and brotherhood to you."
About 50 Negroes at one corner applauded as the whites left the district. Some said, "Hurry back."
"We whipped them right there," said one Negro man. "They encountered no violence."
But Florida Atty. Gen. James Kynes said marches by either integrationists or segregationists contribute to "a clear and present danger."
He asked U.S. District Judge Bryan Simpson to reconsider his order striking down a police ban on night marches. A hearing was scheduled at Jacksonville today.
Dr. Martin Luther King, arrested and jailed at a sit-in on Thursday, moved to the Duval County jail at Jacksonville Friday night. He was to be a witness at the hearing in Jacksonville today.
He blamed the people for being "impatient over the ef-

Scranton Aftermath Goldwater Forces Seen Holding Firm

By LARRY OSIUS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton's sudden decision to challenge Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination stirred — if not electrified — party leaders across the country.
But many, including foes of Goldwater, wondered if the governor's move wasn't too late.
In essence they asked, "Where was Scranton earlier?"
And a Rockefeller supporter remarked tartly, "Scranton and others like him sat on their hands too long."
There was certainly no sign in an Associated Press survey of party leaders of any break in the ranks of Goldwater backers after Scranton's announcement Friday.
Those who cheered the governor's leap into the race were previously uncommitted or were backing candidates other than Goldwater.
Typical of those who have been supporting Goldwater was Tennessee GOP chairman Harry Carbaugh who said, "I personally am standing foursquare with Goldwater. It appears to me that a group in the Republican party feels that they want to control the nomination and have talked Gov. Scranton into becoming an active candidate."
"This last minute effort to deny Goldwater the nomination I feel is ill-timed."
Michigan officials, on the other hand, welcomed Scranton's announcement. State party chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. said, "It creates a genuine open convention. I think it's a strengthening thing to the party." And national committeeman John B. Martin hailed Scranton as "one of our most able and attractive political figures today."
Gov. George Romney, who flirted with the idea of running, said Michigan's 48-vote convention delegation will remain uncommitted. But he left no doubt he would consider Scranton an acceptable presidential nominee.
New York Assembly Speaker Joseph Carlino, a supporter of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, called Scranton's statement excellent but added, "This in no way will change my position or the position of the New York delegation to continue in support of Gov. Rockefeller."
Gov. Mark Hatfield, chairman of the Oregon delegation committed to Rockefeller on the first ballot, welcomed Scranton's announcement "because it will give us a more vigorous campaign."

Staff Charts 5-Week Tour For Scranton

DALTON, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, expressing determination "to go all over this nation to win the Republican presidential nomination," set out today to capture Connecticut's 16 convention delegates.
Scranton's staff, whipping together a campaign organization only a few hours after the 46-year-old governor entered the race to "give our party a choice," arranged a speaking engagement for him at the Connecticut state GOP convention at Hartford.
Regarded as a political moderate, Scranton dropped his reluctant candidate posture Friday to oppose Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona at the GOP national convention in San Francisco next month.
After his surprise declaration at the Maryland GOP convention, Scranton flew home and called together top aides and advisors to map his strategy. The outlook was for a whirlwind tour over the next five weeks.
"I am determined to go all over this nation to win the nomination," Scranton said.
"We'll do a terrific job and take this country by storm."
The governor outlined general campaign principles to his staff then he and his wife, Mary, retired about 9:30 p.m. Aides, however, worked well into the morning drafting a speech for Hartford and lining up other engagements.
Scranton's staff didn't start from scratch, though.
During the months he was saying he would accept only a sincere draft, his closest aides and Republican state chairman Craig Truax were busy building support at every level for the day their man would decide to fight.
Truax declined to say who would manage the campaign.
"You can just say that Scranton will run his own campaign, although those of us around him

Erhard Ends Visit to U.S., Unalarmed by Red Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard goes home tonight after agreeing with President Johnson that the West need not worry about the Soviet-East German friendship treaty.
The pact the U.S.S.R. and her satellite signed in Moscow Friday aroused sharp interest in Washington but created no new crisis, German sources declared.
In fact, State Department experts were inclined to regard the treaty as a defeat for Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader and chief of state.
He is understood to have asked for a separate "peace treaty" — which the West firmly opposes — and got instead a pact with a lofty title but little substance.
Friday night at a dinner in the White House rose garden, Johnson and Erhard exchanged champagne toasts to continuing friendship, deepening understanding and cooperation.
After his meeting with Johnson six months ago at the LBJ ranch, Erhard said some people preferred to their accord as a honeymoon that would fade.
"I think the honeymoon is over now," Erhard said. "We have reached the state of marriage, but based on trust, on faithfulness."
Johnson declared there can be no lasting peace in Europe until Germany is united "in peace and freedom." But he said the United States and her allies "shall work to open new avenues of trade and we shall work to build new bridges of ideas toward the East, to improve relations, to lessen tension, to enhance the prospects of all of us living in this world with peace."
As for the Soviet-East German treaty, Erhard said there is nothing alarming in it, but he asked for vigilance and reconfirmation of the Western position.
A communique issued at the White House by Johnson and Erhard Friday gave this reconfirmation, in unmistakable terms. The treaty, it said, does

Veteran Campaigner, Mrs. Scranton Ready

DALTON, Pa. (AP) — "Try to imagine your husband on the first day of a campaign for the presidency of the United States, and you'll know how I feel," says Mrs. William W. Scranton about her husband's entry into the race Friday.
"The flip-flops in your stomach are really something," she said.
The pretty mother of four, at her husband's side throughout his two previous successful bids for office, is sure to be with the Pennsylvania governor as he goes all out to try to win the Republican presidential nomination.
She turned up at Baltimore, where he announced his candidacy Friday, sporting her favorite campaign pin, although she had held up a flight eight minutes to get it.
"She wore the pin, a silver medallion saying, 'I'm Mary Scranton, Bill's wife,'" through-

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he welcomes the entry of Gov. William W. Scranton into the contest for the Republican presidential nomination, but he declined to commit himself when four Pennsylvania legislators asked him to endorse the governor. It was a busy day Friday for Eisenhower as he also met here with Maxwell M. Rabb of New York, a former White House aide and now national chairman of the campaign committee of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.
CONFIDENT ON RIGHTS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Senate floor manager for the civil rights bill, said today there is an excellent chance the House will accept the version the Senate is working on. "And I am confident," Humphrey said in an interview, "there will be no further changes of any substance."

The Burning Lawns

The story of the burning lawns in the neighborhood of the city which he got tired of caring for the grass is not without echo in Manchester, or indeed, in any suburb containing a lawn. Out there they say he violated a compact which requires homeowners to keep their lawns in a "good and husband-like manner." What they say here, and elsewhere in suburbia is that there is an unwritten compact which requires everybody to devote all his leisure time to the battle against crabgrass.

Just One Man's Opinion

Just one man's opinion but isn't the air getting a little stuffy on the controversial Recreation Department audit? With all kinds of pressure being brought against the superintendent of recreation, to resign, this corner feels that the finger is being pointed at the wrong man. It seems to this scribe that the real source of the trouble is the immediate superior of the Rec boss who has allowed the current conditions to go on for years without even raising an eyebrow.

The Recreation Department matters should be cleared up as soon as possible. It has already run more than its course without any real answer. It's high time the politicians got the ball by the horns and get down to brass tacks. The longer the Recreation Department and its audit program in Manchester will be hurt.

Balls 'n' Strikes

Strong-armed right-hander Tom Kelley is 2-0 with a 1.00 ERA in his first start for the Eastern League since being traded down by Cleveland. The Manchester pitcher will be in Springfield July 3-7 when the locals play the annual spot game at Fenwick Park. Kelley is expected to draw at least 100 fans to the game. Kelley's ERA is .000 in 10 1/3 innings pitched in 1964. Kelley is expected to draw at least 100 fans to the game. Kelley's ERA is .000 in 10 1/3 innings pitched in 1964.

End of the Line

Consolidated Western University posted an all-time high by winning 71.4 per cent of their contests during the 1963-64 season. Westway's spring track season was a success. The school's track team won 10 of 11 meets. The school's track team won 10 of 11 meets.

Rumor Mart

Headlines in Monday night at midnight for player trades in the major and farm can look forward to a few more in the days ahead. Rumor mart at Fenwick Park last week claimed the New York Yankees are ready to trade Roger Maris to the Boston Red Sox. The deal was obvious that Mickey Vernon's effectiveness was limited to hitting left and right-handed pitchers. Boston Bullpen Throws More Lead on Route Going Forward

BOSTON (AP) — Grinning Dick Radatz leaned over the crowd strutting behind the Sox hero Dave Morehead and shouted: "The bullpen thanks you, but it's the pitcher who's doing the work."

The latter and manager John F. Kennedy don't see eye to eye on most matters, including the bullpen. Kennedy is a fan of the bullpen, but Morehead is a fan of the pitcher.

Morehead came through with a strong complete game performance and gave the Sox a 3-0 victory over the Yankees.

Police Arrests

Mrs. Ann M. Cooper of Wapping early yesterday afternoon was cited for failure to grant the right of way at an intersection. The citation followed a police investigation of a two-car head-on collision yesterday morning at Vernon and W. Vernon Sts. which sent Mrs. Cooper and two others to Manchester Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries. She was summoned to appear in Circuit Court 12, Manchester, June 29.

Francis B. Barnett, 16, of Eastbury, late last night on Main St. was arrested for driving a motor vehicle with a defective horn. The charge followed a police investigation of a racing incident involving motorists Barnett and Edward Legault of Rockville. Both were given written warnings for speeding. Barnett was summoned to appear in court here June 29.

Steven Sasa, 16, of 507 Vernon St., early today was charged with improper use of license and a companion motorist William Malkenson, 17, of 99 Scott Dr., was cited for driving without an operator's license. Both arrests followed a routine motor vehicle check at Summit St. and E. Middle Tpke. When stopped, Malkenson was asked for his license by police. Sasa, a passenger in the car, reportedly handed Malkenson his (Sasa's) license. The driver was unable to answer police questions as to the date of birth and name on the license. He admitted to taking the Sasa license, police said. Both youths were summoned to appear in court here on June 29.

John B. McNeill, 19, of 5 Lawton Rd., early today was arrested for an oversight violation of failure to obey a stop sign. The violation occurred at Green Rd. and N. Elm St. McNeill was summoned to appear in Manchester's Circuit Court 12 this session June 29.

Town Given Paving Sum Of $85,888

Manchester has been allocated $85,888 in state funds for highway construction aid for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The grant, approximately the same as was allocated for the current fiscal year, is apportioned under the state's General Statutes on a formula based on the number of improved and unimproved roads in town.

Manchester is listed as having 152.5 miles of improved roads and one mile of unimproved roads.

The grant will be incorporated with funds voted for road repair by the town's board of directors, and will be spent to pay for a program being formulated by Town Engineer Walter Puss.

Total state funds allocated for highway construction in the 169 towns of the state amounts to just under $10 million for the fiscal year 1964-65.

The total allocation is based on the presence of 12,399 miles of improved roads and 1,208 miles of unimproved roads under the jurisdiction of the separate towns.

Ray Strickland Off for Fiddler Contest Monday

Raymond Strickland of 25 Moore St., will leave from Bradley Field Monday at midnight for Weiser, Idaho, where he will compete in the June 17-20 Old Time Fiddlers' Contest.

Strickland, who has been playing the fiddle since he was 12 years old, hopes to wrest the "Fiddlin' Championship" from the grasp of westerners, and to bring it east for the first time in the competition's history.

First prize is worth $500 and a trophy, plus fame to the winner.

Democrats Gain In Registration

Yesterday's three-hour party enrollment session held from 5 to 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building, resulted in a net gain of 16 town voters for the Democrats and a loss of 8 for the Republicans.

Of 8 unaffiliated voters, seven signed up as Democrats and only one as Republican.

In addition, 13 Republicans switched to the Democratic party, while 4 Democrats became Republicans.

At the town's last party enrollment session, held in January, only two voters appeared, and counterbalanced each other on a switch.

Dr. Caldwell Re-elected Cancer Society President

Dr. David M. Caldwell Jr. of 158 Boulder Rd. was re-elected president of the Manchester Branch of the American Cancer Society at the annual meeting held recently at the branch office.

Also elected to serve with Dr. Caldwell are Dr. Douglas J. Roberts, first vice president; Atty. Charles N. Crockett, second vice president; Mrs. J. Harold Benson, secretary; Mrs. Charles Libert, chairman of volunteers, and Everett Moore, campaign treasurer.

Dr. Frederick Becker will be the medical advisory chairman; William H. Sleith, crusade advisory chairman; Mrs. John P. Cheney Jr., public education chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, service chairman, and Mrs. Harold Wareham, public information chairman.

Newly elected to the board of trustees are Mrs. George Perry of Wapping, Mrs. Edward Carroll of Willington, Mrs. Fred Dooley of South Windsor, George Chase of Rockville, and Joseph Garman, William Boles, Mrs. John Labda, Mrs. Daniel Mosler, Pierre Drapeau, Dr. Edward Sulick and Dr. Philip Sumner, all of Manchester.

Atty. Crockett reported that in the area served by the Manchester Branch of the society, which includes Bolton, Broad Brook, North Coventry, South Windsor, Warehouse Point, Ellington, Tolland, Vernon, Somers, Stafford, Union and Willington as well as Manchester, $2,432 was spent since last September to help 116 cancer patients to pay for treatments, drugs, homemakers, speech therapy and to purchase special equipment.

Thirty patients were given 320 trips to clinics and hospitals for treatments; 27 patients were given 11,365 free dressings and 46 patients were loaned equipment such as wheelchairs, beds, walkers and commodes. In all, 138 cancer patients in the area were served in some way by the Manchester office. It was also noted that the Manchester Public Health Nurses Association made 363 visits to cancer patients which were paid for by the society.

A total of $10,342.72 was collected in the Manchester Crusade for 1964; the goal was $11,500. For the entire area, $20,467 has been collected toward a quota of $26,000.

After the business meeting Dr. Robert Karns, a radiologist at Manchester Memorial Hospital, spoke on recent X-ray advancements in cancer detection. The annual event closed with a buffet.

TV Notebook

By JOAN CROSSY
 NEW YORK (NEA) — Bill Bixby was having a late breakfast of tomato juice, milk, coffee, melon, eggs, link sausages, French fries, and rye toast which he requested "burnt and buttered."
 "Ever since I got to New York," he laughed, "I have been ordering my normal breakfast. But every time I do, the waitress says, 'Yes, sir,' and starts to go away when I get to the coffee. I have to keep calling her back so she can get the full order."
 Bixby, the costar of CBS-TV's comedy hit My Favorite Martian may have some problems with waitresses, but he had solved the mystery of getting fast service from New York cab drivers.

Bill Bixby

"I estimate the cost of a metered ride, then pay the driver in advance, adding at least 50 cents to the figure. Then I tell the driver he can keep what is left. The guy today made about 80 whooshing me through traffic."
 Bill, who has been acting for several years without major recognition, is considered one of the finds of the past season. He is attractive, with a fine comedy sense and the ability to switch from a slapstick scene to a poignant one without jarring the viewer. His present career is the result of a childhood pronouncement.

Shows in the Garage
 "When I was about 8, I said, 'Mommy, I want to be an actor.' And she said, 'Of course, dear.' So I put on shows in the garage with my cousin. He was smaller, so he pulled the curtain. My parents were very indulgent and they came to the performances. To a child, this was a great accolade."
 Bill continued performing, mostly in the musical comedy field, through high school and college, the University of California at Berkeley. After college and military service, he decided to move to Los Angeles and give himself five years to try for an acting career.
 "I decided I would rather try to be an actor and fall than to apologize to myself the rest of my life for not trying."

 Bill's break came when he was working as a lifeguard at the swimming pool of a Hollywood hotel.

"I was the pool manager, and it gave me a chance to study, and go on job interviews. A lot of Detroit advertising agency men stayed at the hotel. One day one of them asked me if I ever modeled. I told him to forget it. He said it wasn't really modeling, but sort of posing. I said, 'You really do mean model, don't you?' He said, 'Yes, but it pays $100 for three hours' work.' So for the next two years I modeled."
 A Comet, No Star
 Bill went to Detroit where he also acted in industrial films. "It was a great place to learn. If I made a mistake on camera—and I did—it wasn't seen by people who could ruin me. And the work supported me darn well. When I went back to Hollywood to study—and boy, did I study—I had enough money to live on, and I had the basic tools of my trade."

The word "star" embarrasses Bill—"I may be a small comet," he grants—and his good fortune amazes him.

Molly Bee--Farewell to Pigtails

By RUTH E. THOMPSON
 "Look, I figured if Jack Benny remembered for a whole year that he'd promised to have me on his show, I was that honored I wasn't going to let anything interfere with my going on!"

Molly Bee

That's how Molly Bee ruled out what by then would have been a more lucrative offer.

"I just love Jack Benny, anyhow," sparkled the sock singing blonde who's as quick with a quip as any of the big-league comedy fellows, (most of whom she's known since she was in pig-tails).

Matter of fact pig-tails was the gimmick Jack Benny used . . . he was setting the stage for a visit from a youngster, when on slinked the 23-year-old glamour bundle that is the current Molly.

"Bob Hope did something like that to—on our first camp tour," and something like 20,000 guys weif-whistled naturally . . . because she's as good to look at as she is talented.

Luckily, her energy seems to breed more energy. Because her schedule causes calmer heads to shake. Only Hope seems to drive himself harder.

Item — Molly Bee (who's been signed for next season, too) joined the ABC "Jimmy Dean Show" this year and brought the added fillip that only a hip pretty gal can. That meant commuting in from Hollywood or wherever she happened to be.

And "wherever" could be anywhere . . . because Molly has been doing the college-show tour with Bob Hope. "That season keep going as long as the schools do. June. Audiences? Never less than 4,000, I'd say."

In between she guests on other major shows as time allows. In addition to Benny, there's Ed Sullivan, then off to San Francisco to visit Ernie Ford. ("Started appearing with him at 13.")

Then there are movies (she's made several), hit records (she's had more than her share), and state fairs.

"I've been everywhere except home to Hollywood," mock-moaned the current bombshell "and I've got a new house. I won't let anybody work on my room until I get there to supervise. I did manage to get the bed last time. It will be lovely when I get it finished — if I ever do. White and gold furniture, white curtains and blue velvet accent."

 "Mom's living there at least. So's most of the rest of the family."
 Rest of the family?
 "Well, we're all so crazy about my brother's baby son

... that he's practically a permanent fixture. Do you know we took him out in evening clothes last time I was home! Saw a little tuxedo in a window that would just fit a six-month-old so I bought it and he wore it!"
 Molly's used to thinking of "family." She became the breadwinner at eleven when her father died. (Brother Bob is two years older, Joe two years younger. And Bee has been shortened from Beachboard).
 As a youngster, first in Oklahoma, then in Tucson she'd loved dancing school, appearing in public and finally belting out a song. She was 10 when a Tucson disc jockey first put her on the air.

By 18 she was nationally known on TV and with her first hit-record under her belt ("I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus"). "I wish every girl who starts show business young could be lucky enough to run into a Cliffie Stone," she muses.

What advice would she give? "Cliffie's kind of advice. Don't try to grow up too fast in appearance. Don't try to look older. Very easy on the make-up, simple on the clothes, later she can do what she likes with the wardrobe." Which is what the impish Molly does.

"I don't think they'll ever get over me at the Plaza. They frown at a mink coat over Capri pants."

CASEY LOVE TRIANGLE

Screen star Stella Stevens makes an infrequent television appearance along with New York stage star Ben Piazza when they appear with Vincent Edwards in a love triangle on ABC-TV's "Ben Casey" for the opening of the fall season in September. The love triangle will run through five separate episodes.

ASTAIRE MUSICAL

Fred Astaire will star in his first TV musical comedy, "Think Pretty," a full-hour colorcast to be scheduled next season on NBC-TV's "Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theatre." Barrie Chase will co-star in the musical book show.

An Oriental Fairy Tale: Yankee Queen in Sikkim

NEW YORK—A wholly true story that has the ring of an Oriental fairy tale, "Sikkim and Its Yankee Queen" will be presented by NBC News as a full-hour color television special Wednesday 9-10 p.m.
 The 24-year-old queen of the tiny Himalayan kingdom is the former Hope Cooke of New York, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y. King Palden Thondup of Sikkim, Queen Hope and Princess Pema Todeun Yaphi-Pheunkang, the King's sister, will narrate the program.
 Karasik headed the five-man

NBC News crew that spent seven weeks last Winter filming the program in Sikkim. During their stay the then reigning monarch Sir Tashi Namgyal, died. His spectacular funeral in the capital city of Gangtok will be shown in the TV program. The present king succeeded his father as head of state last December.

During the program the queen talks of her life in Sikkim and her hopes for its future, the king visits a small village, and the princess visits a tent-camp and hospital serving hundreds of Tibetan refugees.

One sequence portrays the importance of the Buddhist religion in the life of the people; another shows the harvesting and preparing of the herb cardamon, a leading cash crop and export, and another depicts a day in the life of the queen.

Tradition decrees that Sikkimese princes must find their consorts among Tibetan nobility. Prince Thondup chose instead an American college girl. Hope Cooke met her future husband in 1959 while she was living in a hotel in Darjeeling, a resort in the foothills of the Himalayas.

In 1963 Hope Cooke's wedding to Prince Thondup, a widower 17 years her senior and with three children, was widely reported. She was the first American girl to wed royalty since Grace Kelly married Prince Ranier in 1956. Last February the queen gave birth to a son.

ABC Last Minute Changes Appealing to Youngsters

NEW YORK (AP)—Although the three major television networks have been proclaiming for some time that their fall schedules were "locked up," somebody at ABC has kept the key.

In a sudden change of plans Monday, ABC announced it would drop its Saturday evening "Hootenanny" folk-song program and replace it with "The Outer Limits," a science fiction drama series that has done pretty well this season.

The move undoubtedly is popular with the "Outer Limits" people, because it had been pitted next season opposite both "The Beverly Hillbillies" and "The Dick Van Dyke Show," two CBS programs which are among the most popular shows on the channels.

Into that tough Wednesday evening spot dominated by the CBS comedy shows, ABC has placed a new musical show—designed primarily to appeal to teen-agers—called "Shindig," followed by "Mickey," a situation comedy starring Mickey Rooney, pulled out of its Friday night lineup. Mickey's replacement will be a comedy series called "Valentine's Day," starring Tony Franciosa.

The shifts do little to change the general complexion of next season's Saturday night programming. "Outer Limits" at 7:30 p.m. (Eastern time) has a strong appeal to the young audience as does NBC's pair of new comedy shows at the same time: "Flipper," which has a domesticated dolphin for a star, followed by a cartoon series about croak-voiced Mr. Magoo. That will leave adults of all ages in the great audience with a choice between Jackie Gleason's variety hour, a good book or a night on the town.

I'm a Hack — Carl Reiner

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'm a hack doing hack work. But to other hacks, I'm a good writer." That is Carl Reiner's analysis of his talents. Majority opinion in Hollywood does not concur. Reiner, onetime second banana to Sid Caesar, has emerged in recent years as the most versatile and successful writer in town.

His status was confirmed at the Television Academy awards, when "The Dick Van Dyke Show," Reiner's creation, took top honors with five Emmies. His first screenplay, "The Thrill of It All," was a top money-maker of 1963.

Reiner also wrote a novel, "Enter Laughing," which was converted into a Broadway hit. Add to this his television and record dates with the "2,000-year-old Man"—Mel Brooks—plus hosting the weekly "Celebrity Quiz" on CBS.

"Look, I've got a way with comedy," he says. "I've got the kind of a mind that if you drop a situation into it, I can come up with a scene that will play and get laughs."

He was especially happy with Dick's selection over four dramatic actors as best series actor. "I'm glad people finally realized the worth of a comedian-actor," he said. "It doesn't happen often; Chaplin never won an Oscar, nor has Cary Grant. Yet what they do is just as difficult as dramatic acting, or more so."

Reiner, a normally buoyant man, has only one concern for the Van Dyke Show at the moment:

"We're on top. And no matter who you are, that's when they start to carp and snipe at you. I've told the whole gang to get ready for it. Next year they'll be aiming for us."

Coming Shows

A scene from the "Polles Bergers," currently visiting New York, will be telecast on CBS-TV's "The Ed Sullivan Show" tomorrow from 8-9 p.m.

"High Adventure with Lowell Thomas," selected rebroadcasts of global adventures led by Lowell Thomas, begin Tuesday on CBS-TV from 8-9 p.m.

Channel 24 starts a series titled "Antiques" Monday at 10 p.m. with famous collections of china.

Carol Burnett, Marion Lorne and Allen Funt return to CBS-TV's "The Garry Moore Show" Tuesday from 10-11 p.m.

Lillian Gish makes an infrequent television appearance to-night in "Stowaway" on CBS-TV's "The Defenders" from 8:30-9:30.

Dawnyne Hickman of "Dobie Gillis" stars in "Hey, Teacher," the premiere presentation of CBS-TV's "Vacation Playhouse" Monday from 8:30-9 p.m.

Denison Kitchel, Sen. Barry Goldwater's campaign manager, appears on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" tomorrow from 6-8:30 p.m.

Court Backs Man Who Pleaded 5th

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the Constitution's Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination applies in state as well as federal proceedings.

Ruling on the petition of a Connecticut man convicted of gambling charges, the high court stated:

"We hold that the (Constitution's) 14th Amendment guaranteed the petitioner the protection of the 5th Amendment's privilege of self-incrimination." Justice William J. Brennan, delivering the court's majority opinion, declared that, under applicable federal standards, the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors erred in holding that the petitioner's claim of privilege against self-incrimination was not properly invoked.

The Supreme Court's vote was 5-4.

A dissenting opinion, by Justice Byron R. White, in which Justice Potter Stewart joined, declared that "the 5th Amendment safeguards an important complex of values, but it is difficult for me to perceive how these values are served by the court's holding."

The contempt conviction against William Malloy of Windsor resulted from a gambling raid and subsequent events in Hartford in 1959 and early 60's.

The case dated back to 1959 when Malloy was arrested by Hartford police. He pleaded guilty to pool-selling, a misdemeanor, and was sentenced to one year in jail and fined $500.

His sentence was suspended after 90 days and he was placed on probation for two years.

Some 16 months after he first pleaded, Malloy was ordered to testify before a referee appointed by the Superior Court of Hartford County in a gambling investigation. He was asked a number of questions relating to his own arrest and conviction.

He refused to answer any of them on grounds that they might have incriminated him.

The Superior Court judge him to be in contempt and committed him to prison until he was willing to answer the questions. This action was sustained by the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors, which held that the fifth amendment's privilege against self-incrimination could not be used by a witness in a state proceeding and that the 14th amendment extended no privilege to him.

Report He'll Quit Denied by Lodge

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge today termed "totally untrue" a Washington report that he was resigning within 30 days.

"There is no truth at all in that," Lodge said through a spokesman.

Lodge repeatedly has denied similar reports in the past.

On one recent occasion he said "I am not resigning but I don't plan to stay here the rest of my life, either."

The New York Times had reported that Lodge had asked to be relieved within 30 days for reasons of health. The White House in Washington said President Johnson had received no letter of resignation.

The Columbia Broadcasting System reported from Saigon that Lodge said the report he had submitted his resignation was "totally untrue."

The American Broadcasting Co. said Lodge, talking Sunday night in Saigon with ABC correspondent Charles P. Arnot, denied published reports that he was returning to the United States before the Republican National Convention. Lodge made no mention in the taped interview about resigning, an ABC spokesman said.

Lodge, 51, won New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary on write-in votes and now has 48 delegates who say they will vote for him on the first ballot at the Republican National Convention opening in San Francisco July 13.

Lodge's son, George Cabot Lodge, reported Sunday that he had informed the ambassador on Friday that the draft Lodge movement was supporting Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who entered the GOP presidential race that day.

"My father sent me a telegram saying he was delighted by the decision to support Scranton. He said, 'Please tell Gov. Scranton how happy I am,'" the younger Lodge reported.

The AP survey of the 1,238 delegates already chosen showed this first ballot lineup based on primary election commitments, instructions, pledges and stated preference:

- Goldwater 619
- Nelson A. Rockefeller 127
- Scranton 113
- Henry Cabot Lodge 46
- Margaret Chase Smith 15
- Richard M. Nixon 13
- Favorita sons 25
- Uncommitted 212

Barry Delegate Votes Nearing Magic Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is expected to corral 56 delegate votes in Texas Tuesday and, by current count, push past the magic total needed to win the Republican presidential nomination.

But not all of this first ballot strength is irrevocably bound to the Arizona senator, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania will be hawking the country this week, trying to pick off some of the delegates now in the senator's column.

Since Scranton launched his drive for the nomination last Friday, however, he has gained little more than a score of votes — and only one of the delegates who lined up behind the governor was for Goldwater earlier.

The senator's total meanwhile ballooned to 619 by Associated Press tally. He needs 685 for nomination and is favored to win all of the 56 votes to be designated in Texas and most if not all of the 14 to be assigned in Montana Friday and Saturday.

Those two conventions wind up the delegate selection process for the Republican National Convention opening July 13 in San Francisco.

The AP survey of the 1,238 delegates already chosen showed this first ballot lineup based on primary election commitments, instructions, pledges and stated preference:

- Goldwater 619
- Nelson A. Rockefeller 127
- Scranton 113
- Henry Cabot Lodge 46
- Margaret Chase Smith 15
- Richard M. Nixon 13
- Favorita sons 25
- Uncommitted 212

Scranton and Pennsylvania State Chairman Craig C. Truax claim that only 50 of Goldwater's votes are from legally bound delegates. "There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," Scranton said.

Replies to a spot check of delegates following Scranton's announcement showed no headlong rush away from Goldwater, however.

He lost one delegate in Georgia who now claims to be uncommitted. One Goldwater supporter in Pennsylvania said he is now backing Scranton.

Balanced against this, Goldwater picked up support from 14 previously uncommitted delegates — two in Missouri, three in Florida, eight in Kentucky and one in West Virginia.

There also were a few shifts from previously uncommitted delegates to Scranton's banner, notably four in North Dakota.

Goldwater backers across the nation contended the senator's delegates would stand fast.

Typical was Jack Toews of Seattle, who said of the Washington delegation: "We will have 32 absolutely solid and probably all 4, they still have to come back and live in this state."

$54 Million Expense For West War Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — Re-ent Army-Air Force war games in the Far West cost $54 million and were the most costly since World War II, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told this was the price tag on Desert Strike, a two-week mock war in which some 100,000 Army troops and Air Force units duelled over Nevada, California, Arizona and Nevada last month.

The Defense Department said it originally had calculated the exercise would cost $60.1 million, but that various economies had sliced about $6 million from that estimate.

By comparison, "Exercise Big Lift" last fall cost $20 million. In this operation, the 16,000 men of an armored division were flown 5,000 miles from Texas to Germany and returned after maneuvers near the Iron Curtain.

The Pentagon said "the major contributing factor to the cost of joint exercise Desert Strike was the commercial transportation of the armored units and their heavy equipment to and from the exercise area."

Two armored divisions — the 1st and 2nd — were moved by train from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the three-state battleground. Armored divisions have about 3,750 vehicles, including 364 tanks and 880 personnel carriers.

Also involved in Desert Strike were an armored brigade of the California National Guard and a tank battalion from Ft. Campbell, Ky., in Air Force planes, the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division came from Colorado and various smaller Army and Air Force units were drawn from as far away as the East Coast.

The cost of moving Army forces by commercial means, where this was done, was estimated at $27.9 million.

Asked why Desert Strike was considered worth the outlay of funds, the Pentagon cited these reasons, among others:

"It is the first time since World War II that we have been able to get two armored divisions into an exercise maneuver area in the United States where they could operate as freely as required for proper armor field training.

"The exercise also gave us a chance to simulate realistically the employment of tactical

Radishes Grow to Music Dig Beatles, Opera Star

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Radishes dig to Beatle music around the house day after day.

Beatles or not, though, he finally conceded his daughter had proved something with her experiment.

Here is what she did: She planted four large trays with radish seeds last December and kept the trays near a sunny window inside the house. They all grew in the same type soil and got the same amount of water and sunshine.

However, when the plants had grown about three quarters of an inch above the soil, Lynn started playing music to three of the trays.

Each in turn would be placed on the living room floor in front of the phonograph loudspeaker and get 45 minutes daily of Beatles, Pons or Dvorak's "New World Symphony." The fourth tray of radishes got no music.

Her father, Stefan Boshkov, an 11th grade professor of mining engineering, was inclined to laugh off the experiment. But he does laugh about having to

State GOP Gains Look of Harmony

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut Republicans set out today to translate their new unity into results at the polls.

The GOP has gone into its weekend internal strife that threatened to sap the strength needed for the fall election campaigns.

But, out of the lively convention came settlements of the party's major controversies and something new for the state GOP these days — an apparent spirit of harmony.

These things were accomplished at the convention: John Lodge of Westport, former governor and former ambassador to Spain, was nominated to run for the U.S. Senate.

A. Searle Pinney was re-elected party chairman by the State Central Committee. Taking the wind out of the sails of an opposing faction led by Edwin H. May Jr.

A dispute over delegates to the national convention was resolved of the apparent satisfaction of the conservative and liberal wings of the party. U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater will get four Connecticut votes and the others 12 are expected to go to Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

It was Scranton who gave the convention a big time aura and made it front page news throughout the nation.

After announcing for the GOP presidential nomination in Baltimore Friday, he flew to Hartford Saturday.

He vigorously attacked Goldwater, blaming the front runner for "havoc that has spread across the national landscape."

"The Republican party wonders how it will make clear to the American people," Scranton said, "that it does not oppose social security, the United Nations, human rights and a sane nuclear policy."

Senators confident on rights bill vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders drive this week for passage of the civil rights bill, and so confident are they of victory, they already are turning their attention to other major administration legislation.

A tremendous pileup of House-approved measures is awaiting Senate action once the civil rights bill is passed.

All sides, including the Southern Democrats who have fought the bill since March 9, concede it will pass this week, with Wednesday or Thursday considered the most likely day.

Sen. Barry Goldwater will vote against the measure unless it is materially revised, his campaign manager said Sunday night. Denison Kitchel said Goldwater, Arizona Republican presidential nomination, objects to the bill's provisions on public accommodation and private employment practices. No revisions are likely on these provisions.

Kitchel said on the NBC radio-television interview program

Court Asks Equality by Population

HARTFORD (AP) — Both Houses of Connecticut's General Assembly apparently will have to be re-apportioned according to districts of nearly equal population.

This appeared almost certain to top state legal experts today as a result of the high court ruling in an Alabama case.

Atty. General Harold M. Mulvey said that it would appear to him that the decision would mean that both the State Senate and House of Representatives must be revamped on a population basis.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared today the legislative apportionment system of New York State is unconstitutional.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the opinion which referred to the court's decision earlier in the day in three cases from Alabama.

Warren repeated in the New York case that the Constitution's equal protection clause requires that seats in both houses of the legislature must be apportioned substantially on a population basis.

He then stated: "Neither house of the New York Legislature, under the state constitutional formulas and the implementing statutory provisions, is presently or when reapportioned on the basis of 1960 census figures, will be apportioned sufficiently on a population basis to be constitutionally sustainable."

Warren said in his 21-page opinion that the Supreme Court had examined state formulas in a minute fashion "in order to point out that, as a result of following these provisions, the weight of the votes of those living in populous areas is necessarily substantially diluted in effect."

Warren asserted, "New York's constitutional formulas relating to legislative apportionment demonstrably include a built-in bias against voters living in the state's more populous counties."

He added that "the legislative representation accorded to the urban and suburban areas becomes proportionately less as the population of those areas increases."

The New York State ruling was given on a challenge of the state's apportionment formulas by radio station WJCA of New York City, its president, R.
