Heavy Agenda Faces Board Next Tuesday

A public hearing and action on a proposal to construct a sanitary sewer main in a portion of the Devon-Depwold Dr. area is high on the agenda for the board of directors' meeting Tuesday night.

The proposed project will involve 26 property owners who will be required to assume the entire $77,000 estimated cost.

The proposal, to eliminate sanitary tanks from the area, was presented to the board of directors by Dr. Nicholas A. Marzio, the town's health officer, and has been backed up by a petition signed by a majority of the property owners involved.

The sewer connections will be brought to the property lines, and final hookups will be the responsibility of the home owners.

Action will be taken on two other items up for public hearings. A proposed ordinance establishing a town-sanctioned Human Relations Commission, and a proposed additional appropriation of $1,071 to the board of education for a fund to the Town of Bolton for over-pollution.

Under unfinished business, the board will consider:

Schatzman Critical Of Town CD Setup

Manchester Civil Defense Director John J. Merz has been criticized by the state CD director for "not carrying out the responsibility of a Civil Defense director."

In a letter to General Manager Richard Martin, State Civil Defense Director William J. Schatzman singles out Merz for showing a "lack of interest" in his civil defense post.

The letter charges that Merz has failed to observe his duties. "From what I can learn from good authority," Schatzman says, "the town has not had a mandatory monthly drill test for the past year. As a result, he says, some of the sirens are in poor mechanical condition. The letter also charges that Merz is not keeping the current budget of the town's civil defense program below the previous year's.

Both Martin and the board of directors made considerable effort to keep the current budget below the previous year's.

"I have been advised that the bonds can be refunded for one more year, the town is not required to pay off any of the $60,000 it owes on the new firehouse in this year's budget. As a result, it was financially a safe risk to count on the fire district's fiscal surplus for any repayment required by the current fiscal year."

Merz said that he has approved a $25,000 loan to the fire district from last year's budget in $29,805.49.

Merz also said that he has approved an additional appropriation of $20,000 for the fire district for the purchase of fire trucks.

The board authorized the special audit last December after the regular town audit turned up irregularities in the recreation department's books. As a result of the special audit, the board has authorized the town to sue the state tax commissioner for $100,000 which overruns local fiscal matters.

When the special audit was completed, the board authorized the auditor to report on the supporting funds. Auditor Robert Macri said that he could make no estimate of the cost, but said that the study would take about a month. The report was not submitted until June.

The available funds in the annual budget for both replacement and additional equipment that his request has been out from each year's budget by the board of directors.

Merz says that he was not at the meeting because they were held in a room that he would not be in attending, he said, "since I am not particularly acquainted with radio operations."

There has been no meeting of the Civil Defense council within the last year, Merz said, since there was a special business to transact.

At present, according to Merz, the most pressing problem in town is for radiological monitoring teams—men in gas gear counters in fallout shelters. Yet each time he tries to get interested persons together for training sessions, there is little public response. The shelter program itself is partially complete, but has many interested persons together for training sessions, there is little public response. Sheinwold on Bridge

JUDGE A MAD PLAY BY ABILITY OF PLAYER.

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

National Men's Chess Champion

What is a mad play? Your standards depend on the play as well as on the player. It is enough if the absolute beginner expects far more than this of the experienced player.

South-West vulnerable. Opening lead — Three of hearts.

"This is not a simple hand for the average player to handle correctly," remarks Fred Karpin in his splendid new paperback "Winning Play in Contract Bridge," "but our expert declarer should have fulfilled his contract."

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, ruffed a heart, and drew trumps with the king and queen. South then took the top clubs and gave up a club.

West naturally led a spade and declarer led to lose two spade tricks to East. Down to the next deal.

"I think that you should maintain what you recommend. I don't think you should be so ready to change your mind."

For Sheinwold's 36-page book, see "Winning Play in Contract Bridge," 50 cents to book store, 60 cents to dealer. New York 17, N.Y. Copyright 1963. General Features Corp.

Dangerous Opponent. South should see that West will not take a trick. A spade lead by West would have done the trick. For this reason declarer must develop the club suit without giving the lead to West. The only sure way to do this is to play a low heart from dummy at the East's return of hearts.

East's return does not matter, but suppose he returns a club. South discards a club, thus completing the exchange. He gives up a heart trick but does not lose a club trick. What's more, the heart trick is given up to South's partner (West) who has East's safe opponent.

South draws trumps with the king and queen then cashes the top clubs and ruffs a club. Dummy's last two clubs are good, and South gets a dummy with a trump to discard his two spades on the good clubs.

East can hold declarer to seven tricks only if he catches the king of hearts.

General Assembly Convenes Monday

March 1 would make permanent changes in the state constitution to govern the making of future legislation. A referendum on the proposed changes is to be held no later than April 5. The convention would have the authority to amend, repeal or modify any reappointment plan coming out of the special session. The special session plan would pertain only to the legislature to be elected Nov. 3. The three-judge court ruled last Feb. 10 that Connecticut's 36-member Senate and 294-member House were malapportioned. On March 26 it ordered the House reapportioned on a population basis and the Senate redistricted. Political leaders for the most part were taking a wait and see attitude on the prospects for a reapportionment bill. Dempsey, however, was optimistic. "I have full confidence that the General Assembly will take prompt action to meet this urgent challenge with wisdom and statesmanship," he said. House Speaker J. Tyler Jr. said he was neither optimistic nor pessimistic. He said he would have a better idea of reappointment prospects Monday when legislators gather at the Capitol. "Many of them," he said, "are on vacation and out of touch with developments. The first thing we have to do is bring them up to date. From there we'll see how much unanimity will develop on a reappointment plan." Senate Minority Leader Peter J. Mariani had his doubts: "I don't think we'll get anything done until we've had several sessions of the General Assembly," he said. The governor would be permitted to appoint three delegates as would the chief justice of the state Supreme Court. Errors. The speaker of the House and the majority leader in the Senate would each name two.

Coventry Junior High Unit Spurns Board Plan

Patterson, while not minimizing the importance of the path of a reappointment bill, said even greater difficulties may arise if the enactment of the bill is not completed by the board of education. He said that the board of education has been returned and returned to the board of education by the building committee of the proposed junior high school. Malcolm Erb, chairman of the committee, made the announcement today. Chairman Erb said his school building committee was charged with preparing plans and specifications for a junior high school and that the educational specifications as furnished by the board of education do not accurately reflect the change from the town meeting to the town meeting. The specifications included several renovations to the Coventry High School. The addition to Coventry Grammar School is expected to be completed in time for the opening of school in September, according to Erb, who is also under secretary of the CCR Addition Building Committee. Petition Calls for Review Of Swim Ban at Lake Dam

A petition to reconsider the Bolton Lake Dam as a swimming area is being circulated in town. Originating in the South Rd.-Perimeter Dr. section, the petition reportedly calls for a town meeting on the subject. The dam was officially closed to swimming this spring by the town. The town owns no land on the lake, but leasing property to the town would allow it to take over the dam. A group of private citizens has been organized to study the matter, coming up with a recent suggestion to investigate the building of a pool at the Measwellville residents of the area around the dam and other parts of town are apparently resentful at the fact that it is illegal to swim there they always have. Manchester Evening Herald Bolton correspondent, Clarence J. Moran, said at the time and place of the meeting. Moran said the town would get a much better swimming area for the amount of money it would take to fix up the dam. He said also that there would be a lot more responsibility than the petitioners realized, since a life guard would have to be provided. Moran said he has about the petitioning committee to look into the question of swimming in the lake, but he has done nothing. By BOB BELINDO

Adelma Grenier, 57, of 1000 E. Main St., Coventry, has recently had a book published by J. Van Nostrand Co. Inc., titled "Herb Gardening in Five Seasons." Included in the book are some recipes for variety of food and drink with herbs in their list of ingredients.

Capitaine's Favorite Green Salad, Herb Dressing and Herb and Honey Dressing and Summer Squash Soup are four of the recipes the author has included in the summer diary section of her book.

About the salad, Mrs. Simmons wrote, "Summertime is salad time when the herb garden yields exciting tastes and new flavor combinations. Gather at least three kinds of salad greens for the basic mixture. Red lettuce and oakleaf lettuce, both green and romaine, survive the heat of summer. You can cut red lettuce every week and always have new salad within seven days. Small amounts of kale and spinach leaves, Chinese cabbage and Italian parsley are also good in the mixture. But with all these fine fresh greens you still need iceberg lettuce for crispness. Gather, wash and thoroughly dry them into early morning. These leaves are tiny, cut and tear them into bite-sized pieces. Store in a large plastic bag in the refrigerator until you are ready to use. For this salad, also store, but in three separate bags, six finely grated carrots, one-half bunch cut-up celery and two green peppers, seeded and sliced.

(Ed. note — For those of us without gardens, the well-stocked shelves of the produce department in the supermarkets should provide us with a variety of greens.)

- Capitaine's Favorite Green
- 1 cup clove garlic
- 2 quarts mixed salad greens
- 2 large leaves romaine, (see parsley) chopped
- 1 tablespoon tarragon, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped chives
- 4 leeks
- 1/2 cup salad burnet
- 1/2 cup curly parsley, finely chopped
- 4 California Moslems, pulled apart
- 1 cup Mozzarella cheese, finely cut
- Rub salad bowl with cut garlic. Combine other ingredients, except cheese, and toss together just enough dressing to coat every leaf but avoid dripping mixture. Spread over the alternating rings of chopped carrots, green peppers and celery. Round the cheese in the center. This salad serves about 20.
- Mrs. Simmons added, "When they are in season, I also garnish the bowl with a ring of chilled and sliced tomatoes or tomato wedges sprinkled with minced basil leaves.
- Capitaine's Herb Dressing
- Whip together in a blender or beat with wire whisk until smooth: 2 cups olive oil, 1 two-ounce can anchovies with all oil, three-ounce wedge blue cheese, 1 crushed garlic clove, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 cup freshly ground black pepper, 1/2 cup tarragon vinegar and 1 teaspoon mixed herb blend for salads. Salt to taste. Store in refrigerator for use as needed.
- Herb and Honey Salad Dressing
- Blend well: 1 cup honey, 1/2 cup of chopped chives, salad burnet, basil and parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped tarragon leaves, 2 crushed garlic cloves, 1 teaspoon chopped savory. This makes a thick, green dressing. Spoon over salad of slices of tomatoes and Italian onions arranged on a bed of lettuce and curled parsley. Makes about two cups.
- Summer Squash Soup
- medium size summer squashes
- 3 cups water
- 4 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1/2 cup rosemary
- 1/2 cup thyme
- Salt to taste
- Scrub, cut up, and cook squash in the three cups water until soft. Run through a sieve or food mill. In three-quart kettle, put other ingredients and stir in the pureed squash. Simmer together until celery and onions are soft. Serves 6 to 8.
- For cream of squash soup, run the cooked mix through strainer or blender. Stir in about two cups of cream or milk, to get desired consistency. One can of undiluted cream of celery soup may be substituted for cream or milk. Garnish with parsley or chopped chives.
- Basil and Red Wine. Mrs. Simmons' book includes a diary and discussion for each season for the herb gardener and for MOSCOW (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said today the Soviet Union apparently is sticking to its decision not to pay the $2.5 million it owes for U.N. peacekeeping operations.

Thant said the matter Tuesday and Wednesday with Premier Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. "I did not get the impression that the Soviet government is prepared to change its policy on this matter," Thant said.

He said his talks had covered wide ground — the future of the United Nations, the financial situation, disarmament, Southeast Asia and the Caribbean. "Mr. Khrushchev is sincere in his desire to strengthen the United Nations. He wants to see it develop into an effective instrument for the maintenance of peace. But his approach to the problem is different from that of some other member states," Thant said.

LONDON (AP) — The House of Commons set all night for the longest session in its history. The session lasted 18 hours and 36 minutes, four minutes short of the longest sitting in the past 10 years. Only 12 members were still in the House when it adjourned at 3:08 a.m.

The debate officially was on what to do with public funds set up by George III in 1767. By tradition it is the one occasion when members can talk on any subject they wish.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Nineteen street beggars have died from exposure in this commercial metropolis on the edge of the tropics since a midwinter cold wave began Monday. Temperatures dropped to 46 degrees.

Four deaths have also been attributed to the cold in Rio de Janeiro, 500 miles to the northeast, where the low reading was 61.8 degrees.

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Australia has sent a stiff note to the U.S. government on the Senate's approval of legislation reporting the Australian-American meat agreement.

Informed sources said the note pointed out that cancellation of the agreement would have a potentially serious effect on relations between the United States and Australia.

The sources said the note demanded the U.S. administration that negotiations on agriculture were an integral part of the Kennedy round of talks in Geneva and abrogation of the meat agreement could have widespread repercussions on the success of these negotiations.

The legislation, which now is awaiting action by the House of Representatives, would reduce quotas on imports of beef and other meats to counter a decline in prices of domestic products.

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Hayato Ikeda told the new U.S. high commissioner to the Ryukyu Islands today that Japan has no objection to U.S. military bases on Okinawa because they "are an important element in maintaining world peace."

But both Ikeda and Foreign Minister Kishi said the U.S. should not use the islands as a base for the treatment and defeat.

Annual Report
New Program
Lowers Cost
For Welfare

The cost to the town for welfare services for needy Manchester residents continued to decline during the fiscal year, despite a stable workload.

The decrease in welfare costs is the result of expanding state and Federal welfare programs which relieve the town of the cost of hospitalization, nursing home care and some home medical expenses for the aged.

According to Miss Mary DellaFera, director of welfare of the joint state/Federal aid administered under the Kerr-Mills bill, substantially more generous and less restrictive than any previous welfare medical programs.

As a result of the legislation, the town has assumed during the 1963-64 fiscal year, two years before the cost for welfare home care was about $4,500.

The annual report for the year, involving a total of 163 financial aid cases during the year, involving a total of 486 persons.

Dependent amount expended for assistance was about $40,000. Part of the cost was deferred from payments from clients, part from state aid, part from other town's payment under a reciprocal agreement, and part appropriated from the town's General Fund.

The welfare department requires that clients be able, or alternately that they participate in the town's welfare program. Under the program, able-bodied persons who do not secure private employment work for a town department, and receive credit toward their labor market due to personal characteristics.

"We feel that this program has been highly successful," Miss DellaFera says, "and has accomplished the following: 'Provided work for those unable to compete for employment on the open labor market due to personal characteristics; offered the opportunity to maintain or regain self-respect and to enjoy an appreciation of accomplishment; acquired responsible work habits under capable supervision; kept him occupied when he would be otherwise idle and create community pride; and according to the department's annual report, the town is adequately equipped to provide another kind of assistance — personal counseling services."

The recent population increase (in Manchester) has resulted in a rise in the number of cases in need of counseling. Included in this category are families with domestic problems, the alcoholic, neglected children and the elderly.

"The welfare department can advise those people and, where necessary, urge them to seek help from case work agencies equipped to give more extensive counseling."

But "Community resources, while increased during the past five or six years, are still inadequate to cover the need which continues to grow in this category."

Semester in Florence Thrills Town Student

Last February, Jo-Linda C. Leib of 74 Green Manor Rd. left with 24 other students from 15 American colleges to spend a semester in Italy, studying under a Syracuse University-sponsored plan. Miss Leib, a 1961 graduate of Manchester High School, returned home a few weeks ago, thrilled by her experience, unimpaired by the "world's" artwork and historical monuments, she realized that living in one spot, such as Florence, "was so much more rewarding than merely sightseeing."

Among the memorable experiences she remembers are watching a "Zach" Bear type in Italian, detailing espresso coffee for breakfast, seeing all activities shut down for the day's main meal in the middle of the afternoon, and dating only in the afternoon, and in groups.

Miss Leib attended school in Florence, in a villa purchased and maintained by Syracuse University. Most of her professors were Americans, but the ones who taught her Italian grammar and conversation were native.

She lived with an Italian family as a member of the household, much the same as do the exchange students visiting and studying in this country.

She was also impressed with the well-groomed, little Italian women, and said that most of them make regular visits to their hairdressers, "whose prices seem much more reasonable than ours."

As for the Italian opinion of Americans, Miss Leib said that they consider Americans "very polite," and that they classified the visiting students as "exceptionally intelligent."

Miss Leib, after finishing her semester, spent several weeks sightseeing in Bern, Paris and London, and says that, although she enjoyed seeing the "old

Sen. Engle, 52, Dies, Had Ailment of Brain

(Continued from Page One) Engle was born in 1912 through 1968, and previously as chairman of its subcommittee on irrigation and reclamation. Engle sponsored two supplemental to the Reclamation Act authorizing interest-free loans up to $5 million for small reclamation projects and for the construction of irrigation water distribution facilities.

He was author of the saline water conversion research program authorization enacted in 1961, and a variety of legislation to assist the domestic mining industry.

After a study of military use of public domain land, Engle authored in 1957 the law requiring congressional approval of military land withdrawals exceeding 5,000 acres.

Engle's home is in Red Bluff, Calif. He was married to the former Lucinda Caldwell of San Jose, Calif. and had one daughter by a previous marriage, Truena Engle Childs.

Engle's political career began in 1936 with his election as district attorney of Tehama County, Calif. He was elected to the California State Senate in August 1943 and was elected to fill the seat of the late Sen. Harry Engelhart.

Proposes Teams Tell When They'll Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., proposed today that Congress enact legislation which would require a year's advance notice before professional sports teams could move from one city to another. He is concerned that the Milwaukee Braves of the National Baseball League plan a move to Atlanta. He also said that "the football Cardinals have been contemplating moving to Atlanta and the Kansas City A's also may move."

Red Smith Leads Trio In N.E. Tournament

Three Manchester area golfers led by State Amateur champion Red Smith, began their participation in the New England Amateur competition at Amherst, Mass. Smith fired a 66-hole score of 69-73-141 to take University of Houston team mate Jim Grant. Grant, long amateur in last week's IGO, took the medal with a pair of 69 rounds for 138. In all 11 Connecticut golfers qualified for the tournament. The other two area men are veteran Hank Hilliard Jr. of Manchester who shot 74-75 = 149 and Young Jim Risher of Dunnington Ridge who finished the two-day qualifying with 71-72 = 143.

The Baseball Coach, An Unusual Job

Perhaps you never thought about it—we didn't seriously until recently but the job of coach in the professional baseball team is one of the most unusual in the world of professional sports. McMouey Sinks Phils

NEW YORK (AP)—Phillie relief ace Jack Balderson pitched a perfect game for the Philadelphia Phillies' hard-throwing young left-hander, Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco's slugging first baseman is at bat. Now be careful, whatever you do, don't strike him out. It's liable to lead to trouble. Bennett fanned Cepeda in the second inning of last night's 6-3 victory over Philadelphia and it led to Willie McMouey. For the Phillies, that meant nothing but trouble.

Bouton Keeps Hold Over Hapless Angels

NEW YORK (AP)—

Somehow you've barrelled where you could've found Jim Bouton before the season started. Now he can be found stuffing the Los Angeles Angels into one.
