Death Threat Alters Barry Flight Plans

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A telephoned death threat Wednesday caused a change in plans in the plane flight of Sen. Barry Goldwater back to Washington. A caller told the Springfield Police Department that Goldwater would be shot between 3:30 and 4 p.m. The GOP presidential candidate's plane, due to Washington at that time, switched destinations. It landed at Dulles International Airport instead of at National Airport and a waiting limousine took Goldwater to the Illinois home.

Rockville-Vernon City Zoning Board Eyes Heavy Session

Appeals members are giving themselves for what may turn out to be their longest session Tuesday.

Eight appeals will be heard by the board, and William A. Schmalz, chairman, said the agenda is the largest he can remember.

Several of the appeals may draw dissenters, including one application from the Gulf Oil Company to reopen a gasoline station on Grove St.

The station, built more than six years ago, has opened and closed several times. Residents in the area have opposed its opening a number of times.

Controversy may also accompany an application of Nicholas Sacara of 11 Bellevue Ave. who has asked permission to construct a four-family apartment house at 83 Progress Ave.

Residents of the area recently mobilized to effectively oppose an application for an apartment house complex proposed by Klingenstein Developments Norman Chase.

Another potentially controversial application is that of Orin and Merrill Miles of 37 Wilbur St., who have asked permission for a use of 37 Wilbur St. The area in question is zoned industrial, but a large number of homes have been built in the vicinity and is considered a residential area by those living there.

A hardship claim which was submitted by Herbert E. Pletzer, 206 South St., who is appealing a decision made by the

12th Circuit Court Cases

MANCHESTER SESSION
Stanley Paul Novak, 16, of 388 Oakland St., Wapping, 20, was given 180 days at the State Jail at Hartford after Judge Benedict Holden ordered a revocation of probation against the youth on Nov. 25, 1963, by leaving the state without permission of the probation officer.

Judge Edward Hamill set the probation in the November session of court after Novak had pleaded guilty to a breach of peace charge and was fined $100 and given 180 days in jail, suspended. The charge stemmed from a man of 20, on Maple Street School, Grades 4, 5 and 6, and Cynthia Pratt, Sykes Junior High School, Grade 7, beat the address in the site of Rockville Sunoco Service Station.

Judges were Mrs. Gail Stephenson, Mrs. Erica Pilver and Mrs. Catherine Palmer.

Entertainment was furnished by the "County Magician" and refreshments were served featuring a huge cake decorated with a World's Fair theme. The cake was baked by Mrs. Henry Novgrad.

A variance for the use of the library, was in charge of the party, held Tuesday, which was divided into the summer reading program.

There is no easy answer to the bridge problem which has been plaguing the town since the late 1950s. The problem is the result of a combination of factors, including the fact that the town is a small, rural community with a limited tax base. The town's income is derived primarily from property taxes, and the town's expenses are high, particularly in the area of education and public safety.

The town's financial situation is further complicated by the fact that the town is a part of a larger, more densely populated area. This means that the town is competing for resources with other towns in the area, and it is often at a disadvantage.

The town's leaders are aware of the problem and are working to find a solution. However, it is clear that there is no easy answer to the problem. The town will need to find a way to increase its tax base and to reduce its expenses if it is to survive in the long run.

ALTY. HAROLD GARRITY, who appeared for a motion to continue the violation charge until Sept. 14, when Novak is scheduled to appear in the court charged with violence charge.

Novak and Vincent J. Quinn, 31, of 100 Main St., were arrested Tuesday on court warrants charging each with robbery. They are accused of robbing the apartment of Robert Venant of 358 Garden St. on July 20 and taking a wallet containing $500. Both have posted bonds in this case.

Atty. Garrity told Judge Holden that he thought Novak should be available for investigation of the latest and more serious charge.

Prosecution Officer Henry Borowski told the judge that the charges against Novak and Quinn are not comparable. "I find from this report a violation of probation, but while I appreciate the defense counsel's plea, I hereby revoke probation against the defendant, as set by Judge Hamill, for 180 days in jail, be put in effect."

John J. Brainard, 27, of 1 Main St., arrested this morning by Patrolman Thomas Gramham on a charge of violation of probation (stemming from a recent drinking conviction), was returned to jail for 30 days.

"This session of Congress," he said, "has enacted more national legislation than any other session of this century or the next."

He emphasized that the record of the 86th Congress was written by votes from both parties.

All the top congressional Democrats were on hand. But only Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the GOP whip, was present to represent the Republican hierarchy.

A temporary stage was set up on the lawn for the Broadway-style show produced especially for the occasion. In quick tempo, the professional cast socked out campaign songs of history from "Tyler and Tippecanoe" to "I Like Ike."

One number was interrupted by a burst of spontaneous applause, when the singers and dancers came forward with Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign anthem, "Happy Days Are Here Again."

There was another emotional interruption, during Johnson's talk. That was when the President expressed the wish that the late President John F. Kennedy could have been present to thank the legislators "for helping see that his dreams came true."

Johnson himself said "thank you" for congressional passage of a string of Kennedy-initiated measures: the civil rights law, the biggest tax cut in history, hospital and education legislation. He also mentioned passage of his own "war on poverty" program.

The President said the record of the 86th Congress shows that "there has been this year no stalemate in our system, no deadlock in our democracy."

He said he and the Congress have not been locked in battle but backed arm-in-arm in working for the people we serve together.

Arias Called U.S. Choice In Honduras Democratic Convention Committee Leaders

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Among Honduran politicians the current race for the only political party with a definite presidential candidate in the next election is the State Department.

The Honduran choice is supposed to be Jorge Busso Arias, minister of economy under deceased President Ramon Villeda Morales.

His more pro-American than the United Fruit Co., remarked a law school undergraduate attending to the U.S.-owned banana operation.

The military topped Villeda Morales last Oct. 3. Prospects for a genuine presidential election seem bleak at the moment.

At the public hearing in question there was, on all sides, something of a scholarly discussion to disclose the complexities of the various reorganization systems being discussed.

One of these simplifications seemed to come down to this: that under the plan most heavily favored by one of the parties, the plan actually suggested through a vote electing Villeda Morales president, this setting the precedent the army-backed Mr. Joseph would be former.

The Liberal party remains the most powerful political force in the country.

As politicians see it, the problem is how to hold off a spurious assembly election, or make the final round another just under the Liberal leadership.

One compromise formula gets some attention called the "Bingham" formula, which would support a coalition cabinet of Liberal and Nationalist candidates.

Since the mother of three — Jonathan, Scott and Shelley — has involved herself in a variety of civic activities plus state and national committees on mental health, civil rights, children and youth, she has been named co-chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

On the way she served as secretary to Sen. Ernest Gruening, and was active in his Senatorial campaigns and two gubernatorial. In 1962 she was chosen the first chairman of the Western State Civil Liberties Committee.

"Politics is a disease," she says with a laugh. "I'm a patient, but I'm not a doctor." "You certainly work in politics for love, nothing else."

Now, she says, "It has become a status symbol in Phoenix to work in politics — that is, for Sen. Goldwater. But it's stimulating Democratic women to get to work too."

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

We wouldn't like to begin to say that the practical work of the Connecticut Yankee is the most important thing in the reorganization process. But any member of the public who is disinterested and who may be through the Judiciary Committee's public hearing on proposals for redistributing the Connecticut House of Representatives away from that hearing with at least the beginning of an education into difficulties and considerations which can never be reflected in headlines or be turned into interesting, understandable exposition.

All the public hearing in question there was, on all sides, something of a scholarly discussion to disclose the complexities of the various reorganization systems being discussed.

Occasionally, one of these complexities would get complicated down to the point where there could be some general grasp of it.

One of these simplifications seemed to come down to this: that under the plan most heavily favored by one of the parties, the plan actually suggested through a vote electing Villeda Morales president, this setting the precedent the army-backed Mr. Joseph would be former.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—The letters on one side of the door leading into suite 3021 of the Pan American Building reads, "Park Agency, Inc. Licensed Real Estate Brokers."

It is funny about a name like that. Even when it is just put on a door that looks like all the other doors in a building, it stops you.

So now Robert Kennedy, who once sat in a hotel suite and talked about whether his brother should take a man named Johnson as Vice President, brings his future into New York. This is a State Democratic Convention on Sept. 1, which is supposed to nominate a candidate for Senator, but this will be merely for the record.

On one phone call yesterday, Smith was arranging a reception for delegates after the convention was over.

This thing of calling him a carpenter is silly. It is Smith who is saying, "I went to school in Riverside. He is to be in Washington when President Johnson signs the anti-poverty bill. I get to Washington. Wagner is going to fly all night and show up without much

A Thought for Today

"Lo, I am with you always, to the close of the age." — St. Matt. 28:20. No false aid, nor mythic lore. No treatment of words and words. No dead of strangled years. — Of the Johnson could be. But warm, sweet, tender, even yet. A present help is he; And faith hath still its Olivet, and love its Galilee. — John Greenleaf Whittier. Submitted by The Rev. Francis C. Hawes, Minister of Christian Education.

To the Editor: We can all look forward to the Board of Directors if the Democratic are re-elected to the newly elected. I may openly let this one time over the years, hurts our people in doing so. Francis J. Happony, 221 School St.

To the Editor: I will say as I take a good look at the lists of candidates for the Board of Directors which have been endorsed by both of our local political parties, I should, regardless of which party wins the October election, expect no change of any kind in our local government.

If I vote, and I say this with a big, I will do so by the flip of a coin knowing that politics is a game, and that the dominant factor in it is local government, and that I will be the loser no matter which side of the coin comes up.

Dr. A. B. Moran.

25 Years Ago Republican, nominated as a candidate for one of the board of education vacancies. In 1900 he was elected and attended Globe Holiday Day and participated in games and various amusements donated by various stores.

10 Years Ago Announcement made that Manchester has contributed 4,000 plus of blood in past four years of Red Cross Blood Program in Connecticut.

As all one can observe, at this prospect, is that it is an unappealing thing that the two political parties should ever let themselves divide on the issue both must help each other to continue to be two political parties in one country called the United States.

The Corner Of Dirty Looks

If you happen to be engaged in the process of coming through the Center from over North, and you suddenly feel, as you park parked for a green arrow, a host of dirty looks boring into the back of your head, or coming sideways from the driver of some car which suddenly seems out around you and takes the green arrow he wants—if this complicated thing happens, the explanation is relatively simple.

You got in the wrong line for the wrong green arrow.

You wanted to go right, toward downtown or toward East Hartford, but you came up enough on the left to trap behind yourself cars which wanted to go left.

Or you wanted to go left, but somehow drifted to the right, thus hitting back cars which wanted to go to the right.

It has become, thanks to the complex geometry of traffic systems which worked it all out, the "Corner of Dirty Looks."

One reason it is very easy for you to get in the wrong position is that there isn't really room for a clear separation of two lines of traffic in front of the traffic light which cycles red, green arrow to the right and then green arrow to the left. The reason there isn't enough room for two distinct lanes of traffic on what used to be one of the broadest, roomiest corners at the center of any town is that the composite of the traffic signals which designed the present system, unable to resist an opportunity to deprive patrons of the town's central Post Office of a chance to park and enter the business, built the sidewalk in front of the post office so far out into the street there is hardly room for cars to pass any more, let alone form two lanes when they come into the Center from the North.

It was perhaps inevitable that so much modern scientific traffic wisdom should, now and then, produce a very human result, followed by dirty looks. The other day, perhaps, a brief word of comfort to any motorist who find themselves trapped out of taking the green arrow to the right and more or less forced to change the direction and head downtown or to Hartford by way of Spruce St. and Hartford Road.

That may be a long way around, but at least it means one less passage of traffic through the center of downtown Manchester created at the Center by modern traffic genius.

We refer to that witching moment in which the light gives simultaneous green to traffic from the North and to head down Main St. and traffic from the West planning to go out East Center or over North. So many hundred times a day, every day, are we simultaneously aware from both directions for the exact same spot where the routes mentioned intersect, and so far, except for an occasional out of state car which doesn't realize the traffic from the North and West made legal at the Center in Manchester, there has hardly ever been a crash, and, as yet, no death.

So, anybody ahead of you has blundered you out of your green arrow to the right, soften that dirty look. The big bug may have saved your life. And if, on the other hand, you have the experience of coming to the center and finding everything in order for your smooth passage under the green arrow to the right, don't be so overcome by the amount of good fortune that you forget to be willing to be the chicken when somebody else with a good green light comes zooming straight at you.

Some day the genius who designed all this will try to go through it, and that will serve him right.

Domestic Redistricting

"It's time," pronounced John Q. "for a little domestic redistricting. I am prepared to file my petition with the secretary of state."

"How's that?" asked Mrs. John. "Domestic redistricting?" "Like the City of Bristol did. Like the General Assembly is doing. Home re-arranging a glibly party dividing along the issue, which is pushing the label of anti-fair housing toward the Republican party, which finds itself unable to do anything to change the label above it away, and which is leaving the label of pro-fair housing to the Democrats, who cleave to it as if no Democrat ever experienced a moment in which the right of private property seemed one of the most precious of all American rights.

An Unappealing Division

Talk of either putting the civil rights issue into this fall's campaigning or keeping it out is ridiculous. The issue is going to be in the campaign, more openly in some sections of the nation than in others, but in the campaign to some extent almost everywhere.

Whether the appearance of the issue is veiled or open, whispered or shouted, a potentially very tragic political division on the issue seems likely to take place.

This division threatens to label the Republican party—imagine such a thing for the party which first arose as the foe of slavery—as the enemy of civil rights, and the Democratic party—imagine such an angle role for a party which includes the hitherto entrenched political machines of the Deep South—as the champion of civil rights.

This has been hailed, by some, as the presidential campaign of the clear choice, not an echo.

What a tragedy it will be, however, if the parties drift so far apart on the civil rights issue they ever seem to offer the voters of this country a clear choice on that issue!

Even while we say that would be a horrible tragedy, sign multiply that it is developing, not merely in the party conventions and their handling of civil rights planks, and not merely in any possible compromise of the direction of candidates to the civil rights cause, but at the precinct or grass root level of American life, where people and parties gravitate in one direction or another in response to their own elemental instincts.

"The question of 'backlash,' or possible reaction to what some people consider the big city street excesses of the civil rights movement, is one of these questions likely to produce a reaction in which emotion, instinct, and intellect are all mixed in mysterious proportions so that even the individual himself may not know how he is finally going to feel or vote about it.

In California, and perhaps in other states, there is going to be a sharp division at the polls this fall on the so-called open housing issue. California now has a law, passed in the legislature last year, which forbids discrimination on religious or racial grounds in the rental or sale of housing. There is no law before the voters of California a proposed amendment to the state constitution which would circumvent and negate the fair housing law by establishing the clear right of any property owner to refuse to sell or rent his own property as he himself might please, without answering to anybody.

This amendment poses, from one side, as the fair housing law poses from the other, the basic question of whether an American can any longer be master of his own house, or must surrender some great portion of his private property rights to somebody's idea of a more important social good.

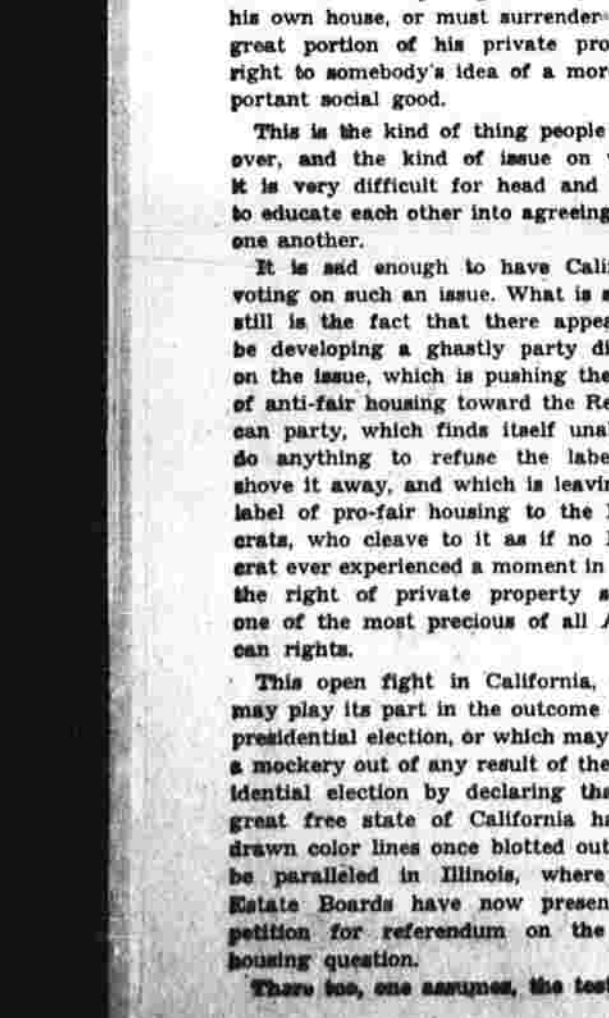

This is the kind of thing people fight over, and the kind of issue on which it is very difficult for head and heart to educate each other into agreeing with one another.

It is sad enough to have California voting on such an issue. What is sadder still is the fact that there appears to be developing a glibly party dividing along the issue, which is pushing the label of anti-fair housing toward the Republican party, which finds itself unable to do anything to change the label above it away, and which is leaving the label of pro-fair housing to the Democrats, who cleave to it as if no Democrat ever experienced a moment in which the right of private property seemed one of the most precious of all American rights.

This open fight in California, which may play its part in the outcome of the presidential election, or which may make a mockery out of any result of the presidential election by declaring that the great free state of California has reversion color lines once blotted out, may be paralleled in Illinois, where Real Estate Boards have now presented a petition for referendum on the open housing question.

There, too, one senses, the fact, if it is not a fact, that the two political parties should ever let themselves divide on the issue both must help each other to continue to be two political parties in one country called the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has urged Senate rejection of a bill which would increase veterans' pension payments by an estimated $7.6 billion the first year.

Philip A. Hughes, assistant director of the Budget Bureau, told the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday the estimate is likely to be low and that enactment of the bill "would be inconsistent with the objectives of the administration."

Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason Jr. said he went along with the administration position on the measure.

Representatives of veterans organizations testified they considered the measure modest and urged its passage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three American space authorities figure the Soviet Union may be ready to launch another "space spectrometer."

Dr. C. Stark Draper, president of the International Academy of Astronautics, told a news conference Wednesday there are strong indications the Russians will attempt a major launching before or during the astronautics congress Sept. 12 in Warsaw, Poland.

Dr. M. B. Koenec, director of technology and human research for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, predicted a launching "within the next small number of days."

Andrew G. Haley, academy general counsel, said he had been alerted by a British source the Russians would "come out with something spectacular" just before the Warsaw meeting.

None of the three would speculate on the possible nature of the rumored launching.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved Wednesday a two-year extension of the food for peace program and cleared a $7-billion-plus appropriation to finance the welfare and labor departments and several smaller agencies.

The food for peace bill, authorizing disposal of nearly $50 billion worth of farm surpluses, now goes to the House, which is considering a companion bill.

The $7,000,000,000 appropriation goes to a Senate-House conference.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A reduction in government interest rates to 1963 levels would boost the economy and give the federal government $27 billion over the next seven years, a group headed by economist Leon H. Keyserling said Wednesday.

The report by the Conference on Economic Progress, a non-profit organization, also proposed closer supervision by Congress over the Federal Reserve Board. It demanded the board for a substantial rate increase on government securities over the past 14 years.

The group said the administration's policy of high interest rates on short-term borrowing and low rates on long-term securities had failed to stem the flow of dollars abroad, where interest rates are higher. It said the recent tax cut had failed to reduce unemployment.

Urban Challenge Big

WASHINGTON — With the doubling of the urban population of the United States by the year 2000, the nation will have to provide homes and all facilities for urban enjoyment and employment in that period equal to all that have been built so far, officials estimate.

Doctors Consult by Radio In 'Operation Hippocrates'

By BAHIL C. RAFFERTY

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Sixteen doctors in Omaha are participating in a radio-aided medical consultation service for the local Red Cross chapter, intercepted the distress call and made a "phone patch" to the home of Dr. Lynn Thompson another hour. Dr. Bach was on the air with his own radio, and together the two doctors diagnosed the man's illness and prescribed medication from the ship's well-stocked sick bay.

Dr. Bach says what followed was Tinley's idea and Tinley says it was Dr. Bach's idea. But by July, the plans were completed and ham operators began reaching Omaha doctors for consultation by radio.

The most important step was enlisting the help of the International Traffic Network, a group of amateur radio operators who relay messages between the Americas. It operates daily at 2830 kilocycles.

Philip J. Craig, Hollywood, Fla., real estate man, KCRV, lined up other net control stations including KNAKA, KJEFPP in Mexico City, and K2LW, Balboa Heights, Calif.

Some, asking them to listen for calls from remote and less popular stations.

If the Latin-American station doesn't have enough power to break into the chatter of the more powerful stations, net control does it for him.

Existence of this net was one of the principal reasons the Omaha radio net was set up. The net has a neighborly gesture would work. Another reason is that many doctors in Latin America practice in remote areas where consultations are hard to come by and radio is the chief source of communication with the outside.

"Lots of times it's mostly for moral support," says Dr. Bach of the consultations. "But when you're having trouble today you can't wait for a ship to get the word."

Most of the Latin-American operators and doctors as well as the net are in Spanish. Dr. Bach, who speaks fluent Japanese, is planning to take up Spanish.

Amateur radio logbooks are filled with reports of doctors who have responded to radio emergencies via radio, but organizers of "Operation Hippocrates" say it represents another first attempt to provide daily doctor-to-doctor consultation service by radio.

From 7 to 7:15 a.m. every day except Sunday an Omaha ham operator, manning a station powerful enough to reach any where in the Americas, stands by to handle emergency medical traffic by radio.

So far, 10 Omaha doctors have agreed to accept these emergency calls whenever their specialties are involved. These include general surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, internal medicine, heart, dermatology, arthroscopic surgery, eye, ear, nose and throat, pediatrics, and general practice.

These doctors draw on the facilities of two Omaha medical colleges, a widely known medical library and an expanding complex of research centers.

"We have hopes of being able to call any doctor in Omaha," says Dr. Stanley Bach, the orthopedist and one of the prime movers in the project.

The idea for "Operation Hippocrates" grew out of a medical emergency in April involving a tanker five days out of Caracas with a seriously ill first mate.

Hugh Tinley, a property management executive who developed a disaster radio service for the local Red Cross chapter, intercepted the distress call and made a "phone patch" to the home of Dr. Lynn Thompson another hour. Dr. Bach was on the air with his own radio, and together the two doctors diagnosed the man's illness and prescribed medication from the ship's well-stocked sick bay.

LONDON (AP) — A Los Angeles psychiatrist says the increasing U.S. divorce rate may be caused by easier divorce procedures, rather than a rise in unhappy marriages.

Prof. Norman Brill told the first international congress of social psychiatry, that many people used poor excuses when seeking divorce.

He claimed that interfering mothers-in-law, money problems, nagging, drinking and sexual incompatibility were danger signals, but not the basic causes of divorce. He said immaturity at the time of marriage played a big role.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican authorities have arrested seven union leaders in an effort to halt a mushrooming strike which has halted 6,000 drivers of public transport in this capital city.

The Federation of Christian Workers had called a strike of workers in the stores and factories of Santo Domingo, the second largest city. The strike started Monday and has spread to stores, factories and the city's transport system.

The strike started as a protest against a government measure which almost doubles employer and employee contributions to social security funds. The transport drivers are striking because of an increase in gasoline taxes.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet doorbells are under attack. Even when not ringing, they use up all the power that can be generated by a normal hydroelectric station, a reader writes in Izvestia, the government paper.

The reader said that he has discovered that all Soviet doorbells are equipped with tiny transformers which constantly use power.

The writer said he has complained to the government, but was told the design cannot be altered.

BERLIN (AP) — A West German man, with a Communist Party card, was shot dead by a Communist East German soldier in a heart attack shortly after the bus left Munich and headed for the East, German border.

Mrs. Bakke said nothing, apparently fearing trouble at Communist checkpoints.

When the bus arrived at the border Wednesday, Mrs. Bakke told the Communists her husband was not feeling well. They only glanced at his identity card and did not attempt to question him.

Mrs. Bakke told the driver her husband was dead after the bus reached West Berlin and other passengers had left the bus.

Shriner Cruise May Be Sellout

Omar Shrine Club directors last night heard a report from the Block Island Cruise committee that indicated reservations for the cruise are going very fast and a sellout is expected. More than 400 tickets have been reserved, and the limit is 500. The cruise is Sunday, Sept. 13, from Point Judith, R. I. to Block Island. It is being arranged from Manchester to Point Judith, and return. Co-chairman Russell Prindle and Thomas Ferguson said all arrangements are complete at Ballard's Inn on Block Island.

Mrs. Ross Head Of Housing Unit

Mrs. Mary D. Ross Tuesday night was chosen the new chairman of the Manchester Housing Authority (MHA). She succeeds John E. Cronin, whose out-of-town business activities have kept him from attending all meetings. Mrs. Ross, who is vice chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, has been a member of the MHA since September 1964. In July, she was appointed to her third year term, and served as the authority's vice chairman. Theodore A. Brindamore, also a Democrat, was chosen to fill

Democrats See Avoidance Of Platform Rights Battle

executive director of the platform committee, still lagged the writing of a civil rights plank as the most difficult task of the group.

The committee completed three days of hearings in Washington Wednesday and were to start taking additional testimony here this afternoon with Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, Secretary of Welfare and Pensions, and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The hearings are to be concluded Friday and the committee hopes to finish its drafting work late Saturday or early Sunday.

Kennedy testified Wednesday that what is needed in the platform is "not so much a promise to seek new civil rights laws as a promise to generate the spirit of determination in which our country can and will solve its racial problems."

Pierre Pelham, an Alabama delegate, asked if he meant that no new civil rights legislation is necessary now. "That is correct," Kennedy replied.

The attorney general also called for "a clear reaffirmation of our belief that lawless disregard for the rights of others is wrong when it is used to deny civil rights and that it is wrong when it is used to obtain civil rights."

At the same time he said outbursts of racial violence often have deep causes and "the causes will not go away simply because we may put more policemen on the street or write a platform affirming respect for the law."

"We must continue to work, as we have worked, to eliminate the frustrations that create the outbursts," Kennedy said.

This theme was elaborated through the statements of Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Martin Luther King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; and James Farmer, executive director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Folman later told a reporter he was pleased Kennedy had not asked for any new civil rights legislation. This sentiment was echoed by other Southerners on the platform committee. David McConnell of North Carolina, Robert R. Richardson of Georgia, Nancy McLeod of South Carolina, Mrs. Carey Salzman of Louisiana and Mrs. McLeod, the South Carolina Democratic chairman, said there now appears to be "a very and Barbara Coleman, who will assist the convention staff, as a member of the Young Democrats of America. Miss Coleman will leave for Atlantic City tomorrow, to attend the pre-convention meeting of the National Young Democrats Club, scheduled for tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Powell, who was chosen by the 4th Senatorial District, as one of its three delegates to the National Convention, will leave with his family on Saturday for New York City, where he will first take in the N.Y. Mets-Chicago Cubs baseball game. His family will then return to Manchester and Powell will go on to Atlantic City. Of Connecticut's 36 delegates, 18 were elected by the 16 Senatorial Districts and 18 were chosen from among the state's Democratic office holders and nominees.

ARE YOU IN or out of HOT WATER?

Just 9 1/2¢ a day for fuel can get you out of trouble!

If you live in a typical house, you could easily run out of hot water several times a week.

Now you can have all the hot water you need at one time for only 9 1/2¢ a day. Think of it—only 9 1/2¢ a day!

Yes, thanks to Mobilheat—and an oil-fired hot water heater of correct capacity—you and your family can take care of all their washing needs at one time.

Mobilheat can do the family wash. It can do the dishes at the same time Junior takes his bath, and you enjoy a shower.

Don't delay—phone us today. Find out how easy it is to switch to a Mobilheat-water heater.

Replies Vary For Political Pulse-Taker

By BELMAN MORIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Some years ago, in a Broadway musical, they sang a song called "Leaves My Pulch Alone," or words to that effect.

It added, polk, pollster, market researchers and those who attempt to measure trends and discover what people are thinking about. This course includes newspaper reporters.

In every presidential election year, I try my hand at political pulse-taking. You have some interesting experiences, and frequently they recall that song.

For example, the elderly gentleman in Springfield, Mass., in 1956. He was the soul of courtesy when he answered the doorbell. I explained that I would like to hear his opinions about candidates, issues, etc. His Yankee features froze.

"That, sir, is an invasion of privacy," he said. "Why, I wouldn't even tell my wife what I think about 'the man in the street.' Now, you get off my porch or I'll see the dog on you."

Another time, in Passaic, N.J., a housewife made a deal with me. "I have some work to do upstairs," she said. "You will sit here and watch Junior, I'll talk to you."

So I watched Junior for about 15 minutes until she returned. It was a very rewarding interview.

No, she hadn't voted in the previous presidential election. Too young. No, she didn't know how she would vote this time "because I don't know what my husband thinks."

But it doesn't always work that way. In Dallas, Tex., I questioned a man about his preferences. When he left the room, his wife whispered, "He says he's going to vote for Eisenhower, but don't you believe him."

"Why not?" I asked.

"He always votes opposite to the way he votes. He said you that so that I'd vote for Stevenson. But he isn't fooling me. He will vote for Eisenhower and I'll vote for Eisenhower," she said.

Another time, I stood outside a factory gate in Connecticut hoping to catch the pulse of some workers. Presently one emerged. I buttonholed him.

"Listen, Mac," he said, not unpleasantly, "I had a fight with my wife this morning. I've just had another fight with the boss. Now I've got a date with a bottle of beer and I don't feel like talking to nobody about nothing."

Frequently, when a candidate tours a factory, I stay some distance behind and then ask the men who have just shaken his hand, what they think of him. Typical replies in Detroit: — "He's all right."

"Seems like a nice fella." "I don't trust none of 'em."

How would you count these in your poll?

In Racine, Wis., during the 1960 presidential primary, I asked some numbers at random and tried telephoning. Results — a little girl who said "Mommy and Daddy weren't home, a man who talked volubly but with such a heavy accent I couldn't understand a word of what he said, and a woman who said, "Both my husband and I have been doctoring — what ever that meant — and I haven't paid much attention to the election."

Another method is to stand near the cash register in a supermarket to take pulses. I tried that in San Diego, Calif., one time. One woman with a perambulator full of groceries was delighted to answer questions. The line backed up behind her. Some other women grew impatient and began to make remarks such as "the nerve of some people," etc. Miss looked at them and said, with cross-grained scorn: "They're the kind that believe in the United Nations and giving aid to Tito."

Phils Nurse Six-Game Lead, Redlegs, Giants Welts

NEW YORK (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies were nursing a six-game lead today in the National League pennant race.

The San Francisco Giants and Cincinnati Reds were nursing welts.

The Phillies built their lead over second-place San Francisco to the biggest of the season by whipping the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, yesterday after the Reds handed the Giants their fourth straight loss, 1-0, in the biggest baseball battle of the season.

The Reds-Giants game was still in the top of the first inning when Cincinnati's Frank Robinson was hit on the left arm by a Ron Herbel pitch. Robinson started toward the Reds' dugout but was restrained by umpire Bill Harsanyi. Cincinnati's shortstop Jim Davenport grabbed Herbel's arm as both benches emptied.

The umpires had to step in only a few minutes later when Robinson started from first base toward Herbel. And later, when Robinson was struck at second base on a double play, he and Davenport had a few words.

"I know when I'm getting thrown at," said an angered Robinson after the game.

"He was yelling things at me I can't even repeat," Robinson said.

Reds' starter Bob Purkey was hit by a John Peregryn pitch in the fourth inning, bringing a warning from Philadelphia and an automatic five-game suspension for Peregryn. Purkey, hitting Jim Hart in the fifth, was hit by a pitch in between. Robinson tied two homers and Chio Ruiz collected four hits in support.

Purkey brought his record to 7-7, allowing the Giants only two runs in the ninth. He was a grounder after Hal Lanier doubled.

PHILLIES-CUBS—The Phillies got the job done in the eighth inning, overcoming a 3-1 deficit with a five-run explosion. Clay Dierkoppe and Tony Taylor triggered the rally with singles before Vern Law struck out the Cubs' first baseman, Billy Williams, and Ron Santo, who earlier hit his 24th home run.

METS-PITTSBURGH—The Mets won their fourth straight game, overcoming a 3-1 deficit with a five-run explosion in the eighth inning. Vern Law struck out the Cubs' first baseman, Billy Williams, and Ron Santo, who earlier hit his 24th home run.

Trickle Troubles Affecting Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The scoring with a sacrifice fly by Demeter and Norm Cash, Demeter's pinch single drove in the tie-breaking run against the Angels in the seventh inning. Cash added a two-run homer in the eighth. Jim Fregan had tied the game 2-2 with a homer in the Angels' seventh.

RED OX-BOHEMS—The Orioles also experienced difficulty with their leading batters. In their case it was a couple of bunts that rolled off. They came off the bat of Boston rookie, Tony Horton in the 10th inning with Carl Yastrzemski at first. After he failed to sacrifice, Horton slammed a double into left field with the winning run.

Baltimore's lead in the eighth inning was overturned by Jerry Adair's first and John Peregryn's first. The hit broke the Orioles' earlier lead. Peregryn, as did Boog Powell, tied the game.

INDIANS—Vic Davallo drove in three runs and Joe Acac two for the Indians. Daveillo's RBI came on a third-inning single with the bases loaded. The hit broke a 2-2 tie. Horton was the hero, putting the Indians ahead 3-2 in the fourth.

TIGERS—Angel's sole possession of fourth place behind Detroit.

Standouts with Moriarty's

Outstanding for Moriarty's all season in winning the Hartford Twilight Baseball League were Pete Sala and Wally Widholm, two ex-minor leaguers. Sala won the most valuable player award while winning 10 of 11 games. Widholm was one of the top hitters and the No. 1 catcher. Both will be with the locals Saturday afternoon at 5 at Mt. Nebo against the Tri-All Stars.

Horton Delivers For Ailing Stuart

BOSTON (AP)—Dick Stuart had a pain in the neck. If Hank Bauer had heard about it he might have bought old slingers for the balm in Boston.

Stuart's pain was Chicago's gain as young Tony Horton, in his first start, pitched a 10-2 victory over the Red Sox. Horton's high top to short. One of his two doubles rescued Ed Bronson in the next inning.

Both throwing Stu Miller, fourth Oriole singer, lobbed his way out of a base-loaded jam in the eighth and handled Boston with ease until he was lifted for Radatz.

For Radatz it was his 61st appearance in 121 games, and his 11th win against seven losses.

Crafty Harvey Haddix jammed the 19-year-old rookie twice and both times Horton fouled the pitches off.

With two strikes Haddix made one too good and Horton rified it into the left field corner. It bounded away from John Powell and "Yaz" beat the relay to the plate.

Right-hander Earl Wilson kept Baltimore at bay for his six and two thirds innings stint. Wilson allowed just two balls to be hit out of the infield but both were hit way out—home runs by Ed Brannon and Jim Fregan. Orosko. They also were the only hits Wilson yielded.

Baltimore used five pitchers including starters Steve Barber and Dave McNally as Bauer pulled out all the stops in an effort to hold a game and a half.

Dick Radatz surrendered just three hits in four and in two innings but one was a long triple to center by Jerry Adair that hit Baltimore's young star, Rookie Dalton Jones, beating almost 300 against Baltimore. Rookie Dalton Jones, batting first with two strikes, scored the only run in the seventh, when he saw the Sox jump to a 3-1 lead.

Can't Count Yanks Out - Lopez

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox have a new ace in the hole, a young pitcher named Lopez. Lopez, 23, is a former minor league pitcher who has been in the White Sox rotation for several weeks.

Lopez, who has a 4-1 record, pitched a 6-3 victory over the Yankees on Tuesday night. He pitched six innings, allowing only one run and striking out seven batters.

Lopez's performance was a surprise, as he had only a few starts in the minors. He has a strong fastball and a good curveball.

Manager Alvin Karpis said Lopez is a "real find" and that he has a lot of potential. He said Lopez is a "real pitcher" and that he has a "real arm."

Scoreboard Goes Off Prematurely for Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox had a disappointing night as they lost to the Yankees, 4-3, in 10 innings. The Sox were leading 3-2 in the eighth inning, but the Yankees scored two runs in the ninth to win the game.

The Sox were led by pitcher Dick Radatz, who pitched six innings and allowed three runs. The Yankees were led by pitcher Dick Radatz, who pitched six innings and allowed three runs.

Managerial Switch

The replacement of Ralph Houk, a solid but colorless baseball manager with Yogi Berra, an equally sound manager but one of the most colorful in the sport, was not a surprising thing. The Yankees had been getting worse and worse. Finally, the move was made to counter the popular appeal of the upstart New York Mets and their No. 1 drawing card, delightful old Casey Stengel.

So too did the Yankees acquire an official song, distributed free to cab drivers and schedule a series of "suburban night" games starting at 8 P.M.

All were arranged to give the American League champs a new "image" (and to pull in more dollars).

But the Yankees' new manager, Ralph Houk, was not a surprise. He had been getting worse and worse. Finally, the move was made to counter the popular appeal of the upstart New York Mets and their No. 1 drawing card, delightful old Casey Stengel.

Odd Scheduling

The schedule-maker or makers for the American League (and the National too) have been getting worse and worse. Two-day and even one-day series, bunching together games between two teams and a quick ending to season series, have become a fact of life.

This season is worst yet. Can you imagine three contending teams (Baltimore, Chicago and New York) not meeting after Aug. 20? And the season doesn't end until Oct. 4.

But the Eastern League has quite the opposite situation. Springfield is currently in a three-way flag fight with Elmira and Reading. And who closes out the season with a four-game set at Pynchon Park?

None other than the Reading Red Sox. If these two teams continue to stay fairly close, the league championship might well rest on the final series. And don't think that won't help the attendance.

This, of course, couldn't be forecast prior to the start of the season. But ending several different series in mid-August could have and should have been prevented.

Come to think of it, if the American League owners let sloppy scheduling like that go unnoticed, they deserve to have the noise and fuss of an election.

Operational Problems

Surging New York Mets After Own Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Fresh from shattering one team record after another—the longest winning streak in the team's history—the Mets, already mathematically eliminated from the National League pennant race, defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 yesterday for their fourth straight victory. The club's only longer winning streak was five in May 1953.

New York rested today and will get a chance for the record-breaking streak against the Chicago Cubs.

Tracy Stallard went the distance against the Pirates, marking his 21st straight victory. The hit powered the Mets to their first victory over Law after four losses. It also completed a three-game sweep of the Pirates, who before the series had a 31-3 season margin over New York.

For Radatz it was his 61st appearance in 121 games, and his 11th win against seven losses.

Crafty Harvey Haddix jammed the 19-year-old rookie twice and both times Horton fouled the pitches off.

With two strikes Haddix made one too good and Horton rified it into the left field corner. It bounded away from John Powell and "Yaz" beat the relay to the plate.

Eastern Lead Shared As Springfield Loses

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The Elmira Pioneers were fifth in the Eastern League late in June, and just a couple of weeks ago they were eight games from the top.

Since then, they've won nine of their last 10 games and 18 of their last 20, including a doubleheader sweep last night over Reading, 7-4 and 7-1. So where are they today?

The twin victory last night coupled with Springfield's 4-3 win over the Pioneers moved the Pioneers into a first place tie with Springfield. A pretty good climb.

In the other action, Springfield defeated York, 5-2. The Pioneers collected 23 hits in the two seven-inning games, including a two-run homer by Lloyd Fourqurean and a two-run homer by Lloyd Fourqurean. Fourqurean was a key blow, coming after Reading had pulled to within a run of Elmira on a grand slam homer by Dick Germon. Delgado (2-0) got the victory in relief, while John Boyle (6-9) was charged with the loss.

Phil Baritz's three-run double in the third inning of the nightcap was all Home Stealers (8-7) needed to win the second game. Bill MacLeod (7-0) was the loser.

Tom Lee (1-1) gave up only two hits in pitching Charleston to victory over York as Dennis McGraw's (3-4) outlasted Barry Moore (1-1). Both starters Matt Gaysell (16-7) in the first inning and three more in the third before Cliff Smith came to the rescue.

Williamport made it three straight over York as Dennis McGraw's (3-4) outlasted Barry Moore (1-1). Both starters Matt Gaysell (16-7) in the first inning and three more in the third before Cliff Smith came to the rescue.

Tonight's Game: Charleston at Springfield, 7:45.

Moriarty's Tie In Loop Finale

Singles by Pat Matrella and Tom Petke, plus Leo McNamara's double, gave the Hartford Twilight Baseball League season finale a 2-1 tie between the Hartford Twilight League and the Elmira Pioneers.

Pat Matrella's double in the seventh and eventually a 2-2 eighth-inning tie game. Moriarty's victory over Law after four losses. It also completed a three-game sweep of the Pirates, who before the series had a 31-3 season margin over New York.

New Hampshire Triumphs In Legion Region Tourney

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—New Hampshire will represent New England in the American Legion World Series at Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 12 Monday.

Henry Swenson Post No. 3 of Manchester took the Region I championship in its home grounds yesterday, beating the Elmira Pioneers, 4-2, in the final game of the tournament. Swenson Post No. 293 of East Longmeadow, Mass., 3-1.

The victory came on Dick Powers' two-run single in the first inning. Hillis in all previous tournament games. Powers slugged the single to right-center, scoring Darrell Buck and Mark Toigo. Toigo batted in the first with a sharp double to left.

The Bay Staters scored their only tally in the seventh, when Tom Nolan walked, advanced to third and scored yesterday.

Messner in Line For Starter Role

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Max Messner, the newest member of the New York Giants of the National Football League, has been named starter for the left linebacker slot by Coach Allie Sherman for Saturday night's exhibition game against the Washington Redskins.

Messner, 26, a fifth-year pro, was obtained yesterday.

Scores Hole-in-One

Neil Seale scored his first hole-in-one at the Manchester Country Club, using the par 3, 137-yard No. 9 hole. He was 7 feet from the hole while in a "Connecticut" position. He was the sixth ace registered at the club this season.

Managerial Switch

The replacement of Ralph Houk, a solid but colorless baseball manager with Yogi Berra, an equally sound manager but one of the most colorful in the sport, was not a surprising thing. The Yankees had been getting worse and worse. Finally, the move was made to counter the popular appeal of the upstart New York Mets and their No. 1 drawing card, delightful old Casey Stengel.

So too did the Yankees acquire an official song, distributed free to cab drivers and schedule a series of "suburban night" games starting at 8 P.M.

All were arranged to give the American League champs a new "image" (and to pull in more dollars).
