Polled College Students Prefer Nike Site Campus

Dean Frederick Lowe of the Manchester Community College told the executive committee of the college's citizens' advisory council last night that an overwhelming majority of the college's students, polled in recent days, would prefer to attend classes at the Nike Site (Kearney St.) rather than at the present facilities in the high school.

He related figures which show that out of 89 full-time college students who answered the question, 81 would prefer the Nike site, and 15 the high school.

An even greater number, 85, replied that the Nike Site would pose no problem of accessibility or transportation.

Three-quarters of those polled, 75, would prefer to attend 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. classes rather than evening classes, as is now the practice.

An overwhelming majority of 92 students expressed the opinion that "to move to a separate campus, with day and night offerings, would result in increased enrollment."

The poll was taken by Dean Lowe to determine student preferences on a proposal that the town acquire, for educational purposes, the surplus Nike Site at Kearney St.

The executive committee of the college's advisory council will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the high school to discuss the proposal.

Relations Group Meets Next Week The town's Human Relations Commission has scheduled a meeting for next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the hearing room of the Municipal Building to continue its study of juvenile delinquency in Manchester.

Mouseketeers Growing Up,
Annette Sets Wedding Date

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Mouseketeers' Cheryl (Holly) became the bride of sportman-hair Leslie Revoluton this month. Now Annette (Fritchie) will be the bride of her brother, Jack, on Jan. 8.

What's more, Annette reports that all of the original performers of the Mickey Mouse Club are now married—"all except Cheryl and Karen, the two little ones."

Annette, the most successful alumna of the club and the only one remaining under contract to Disney Studios, was busy this week with final details for the wedding and doing her Christmas shopping as well.

"Because I'll be starting another beach picture," she explained, "I'll be in Hawaii before the wedding. But I've picked out the covers for the church—St. Cyril's in Encino. We'll have 700 people there."

"I've just about completed the menu and decorations for the reception that's no small matter, because we're having 800 guests at a sit-down dinner in the grand ballroom of the Beverly Hilton."

"We wanted a smaller wedding, but you know how those things go. It just sort of got out of hand."

The bridegroom is executive for a talent agency firm, General Artists Corp., and one of his clients has been Annette.

"I first met him," she recalled, "when he was managing Frankie Avalon. I was 14 and dating Frankie at the time, but I had a big crush on Jack. To him, of course, I was just a little girl."

But, as Maurice Chevalier sings, little girls grow up in the most enchanting way. Six months ago Jack and Annette were marrying Mouseketeers.

"We keep our professional and personal lives separate," she remarked. "When we meet in the evening, I'll tell him what happened on the set and he'll describe his day. After that, there's no more talk of business."

Annette's career has continued to flourish with her coming under contract to Disney for two films per year with American International Productions of the successful "Beach Party" epic.

Her boss for 11 years, Walt Disney, hasn't seen any of the beach films, she said, but he did make a request when he heard she was doing them.

"Don't wear one of those bikini suits," he said.

"Oh, I wouldn't, Mr. Disney," she replied.

"And I never have," Annette told me. "Why, I wouldn't even wear one in my own beach yard."

The one penny olive, 2 penny deep blue, 2 shilling olive green and 2 shilling magenta are of identical design, the central emblem depicting the treaty between the New Zealand Commissioner and the Samoan Prime Minister. It took place at Yalies, the home of Robert Louis Stevenson.

The Yemen Arab Republic has issued a set of five new stamps to honor the inauguration of the International Airport. The two lower values show a jet plane flying over the airport. Other planes are lined up near the runways. The next higher value depicts a jet flying over Yemen. The highest value is an airmail and features a plane over the airport while another is ready for takeoff. MAKE YOUR BEST PLAY TO DEFEAT BAD BREAKS
By ALBERT SHEINWOLD
Business Columnist
It's tempting to brag about the bad cards you pick up and the bad breaks you run into. If you believe in your bad luck, choose the right play and thus put yourself beyond the reach of bad breaks.

South dealer
Both sides vulnerable
Opening lead Five of Spades
West opened the five of spades and South captured the king with the ace. Needing three tricks in the red suits, South immediately led a low diamond to dummy's king.

West with the ace of diamonds and returned a spade to set up his partner's suit. South then discovered that he could get only two diamond tricks and that he would have to rely on his heart trick.

West promptly took the ace of hearts and the king of clubs to defeat the contract. After winning the first spade, he longed for hard luck stories. "I could have made the hand if diamonds broke normally," he reported, "or against any break odds were 5 to 1 in my favor, but they were 100 to 1 and the cards would still find a way to beat me."

Game Is Cold
Actually, South's game is unbeatable despite the bad breaks. After winning the first spade, he must lead a club to dummy and return a low heart to East (as shown) he can take his ace but cannot safely bid spades. Any shift gives South time to develop diamonds.

South is safe even if East has the ace of hearts. If East steps right up to the ace, South is sure of three heart tricks. He needs nothing more for his contract.

East has the ace of hearts but plays low on the first heart trick. South wins with the king and shifts to diamonds to make sure of two diamond tricks. The third diamond trick, made in tricks he needs for the game. South is sure of game no matter how the red suit break unfolds.

Daily Question
As dealer you hold: Spades, A-Q-J; Hearts, K-Q; Diamonds, 8-7-4; Clubs, A-K-9-4.
What do you say?
Answer: Bid 1 NT, as shown in the diagram. Some experts refuse to bid one no-trump unless they have all four suits stopped, but this creates other bidding problems. Most experts believe in bidding 1 NT with the right hand when this is done.

Ray Holcombe, chairman of the industrial development commission, recommended that the commission be expanded to six members.

He also recommended that six citizen groups be formed as subcommittees with members of the commission as chairmen.

The subcommittees would have various jobs such as billboards, car stickers, booster committee, commercial relations and state and utility relations. By doing this emphasis would be put on the town of South Windsor.

Mayor Egan complimented Holcombe on his report and said he was looking forward to its implementation.

Joseph Carino reported he had met with post office authorities concerning the district for South Windsor. He recommended that a committee be appointed by the town council to discuss the matter with postal authorities. A survey would then have to be taken of residents to find out if the majority was in favor of one district.

It was reported by the public building commission that 25 per cent of the Eli Terry Elemen-

18 Americans Hurt in Saigon Bomb Blast

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A terrorist's bomb demolished a restaurant at the Saigon airport today, wounding 18 Americans and at least four Vietnamese.

One American Air Force officer was badly wounded. He was sitting outside the restaurant in a bus when concrete fragments smashed into it.

The other injured Americans were 11 U.S. airmen, three Army men and three civilians. First reports indicated they were in the area of the restaurant, not in the building, and were only slightly wounded.

The explosion virtually leveled the roof frame of the wooden and concrete restaurant from hangars containing U.S. Air Force jets.

American and Vietnamese security men at first thought the airport was under a Communist mortar attack similar to that which killed four Americans.

British Honduras Colony Just Plain Too Peaceful

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP) — The trouble with this tiny British colony is that it's just too peaceful. Independence is there for the asking, but no one seems in a hurry for it. This deprives the colony of international attention as an "emerging, underdeveloped country."

It has no Communist threat. This disqualifies it for U.S. aid. That, in sum, is how some British Hondurasians see themselves. "We're too well-behaved," says George Price, the premier. "We're not inviting Russia here to build bases and, instead of communism, we preach Christianity. So, everyone takes us for granted."

Price is a good-looking, smooth-talking bachelor of 46 with a huge following among the colony's women. "If he were married he'd have no party," a critic said. Since 1963 Price has bossed this Massachusetts-sized wedge of land jammed in between Guatemala and Mexico on the Caribbean coast. This is Britain's only colony on the North American continent.

Shipwrecked British seamen settled in what is now Belize, the capital. Although Spain several times sacked and destroyed the settlement, she curiously never bothered to occupy the area. Some 20 years after it was first settled, Britain got around to recognizing it as its own. By right of succession, Guatemala now claims the colony. The British, disputing the existence of Spanish sovereignty, are holding the existing boundaries. The Guatemalans say the treaty is not valid. Also by right of colonial succession, Mexico claims the northern — and richer — part of the country, including Belize. But the Mexicans, openly sympathetic with local feeling against Guatemala, have let it be known they'll not press their claims unless there is any serious consideration of Guatemala's pretensions.

Barber Armando Rivera, 30, who also sells candy and soda pop while trimming your hair, says: "No one here takes the Guatemalans seriously. We want no part of them." But a good, hard look at this

Installation from which the gunfire came. Referring to the reconnaissance flights which started last May, McNamara said "these missions will continue as long as required."

Two planes had been lost previously on the reconnaissance missions. In answer to a question, McNamara said there is some evidence that Red Vietnamese infiltration activity has increased with the advance of the dry season in Laos.

McNamara said he had no further details, including information on whether the pilot of the downed plane had been rescued, because he had received the preliminary information only a few minutes before he came to the news conference.

Father McLean Talks on Council

The Rev. Edward J. McLean of the Catholic Library and Information Center of Hartford, spoke on "Vatican II — Understanding the Issues" at a banquet of the Combined Manches Catholic Mothers Chapters last night at Fiano's Restaurant, Bolton. About 100 mothers attended. Father McLean explained the different schemas of the first and second sessions. He told how the revision of the drafts showed the workings of the Holy Spirit and the maturing minds of the 2300 Bishops attending the Council. He stressed the fact that the Church is perfect in its supernatural dimension but is human in its changeable dimensions. Father McLean said that the Church is the living body of Christ and is constantly growing and achieving a deeper insight of its nature.

Father McLean also said that he believes history will record the vote on Collegiality as one of the most important votes taken. He also spoke of the stand taken by His Eminence, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, and Francis Scurro of East Hartford, and three grandchildren. Rockville-Vernon Crisis is Expected With School Space

Dr. Raymond E. Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, said selection last night that "we are in serious trouble" regarding school space next year.

"Every classroom is full," Dr. Ramsdell said, "and we will be 12 to 14 classrooms short next year if automatic promotions occur and classes remain the same size."

In addition," he continued, "there will be about 400 new pupils entering the school system next year."

During discussion with selectmen, Dr. Ramsdell noted that the need for the new junior high school is not a problem of the present year, but of the following year. He said that the need for the new elementary school will be felt in the following year.

"We are trying to find a solution," he said. He did not elaborate.

Dr. Ramsdell and board of education chairman Arthur Calhoun attended the selection meeting to request that a school building committee be appointed to start plans for a new elementary school, proposed for construction on the town-owned Ecker Farm property on Rt. 30 at West Rd.

Dr. Ramsdell suggested that a permanent building committee be appointed. "We now have four school building committees in existence," he said.

Samuel W. Peart, first selectman, replied, "Although the schools are operated on a town-wide basis, it might seem presumptuous now, with consolidation coming in, to appoint a permanent building committee."

Mr. Peart suggested that a long-range school planning committee be set up to deal with future problems of the need for new schools.

Dr. Ramsdell noted that projection figures he made a number of years ago were staying close to his predictions regarding school populations and the need for new schools.

Present school population is 5,693; 5,760 are expected next year, and by 1970 the schools will have 8,297 enrolled.

In addition to the present new junior high school just off the drawing board and the new elementary school requested last night, Dr. Ramsdell indicated that another new elementary school will be needed by 1968 and another addition to Rockville High School will be needed by 1971.

In addition to the school, Dr. Ramsdell requested that an additional building be built to contain the office of the superintendent, heads of special school services, and a basement storage area.

He noted that his office is in Building B, are cramped quarters, and that the present junior high school building committee, after viewing the site, wanted to include administration of their structures, which they could not do because they were not given the authority.

Selectmen agreed that a school and administration building were needed. Peart said that the next steps would be to present the proposal to the board of finance and then present the proposal at a town meeting.

The proposal includes a request that the town match donated funds for the project up to $12,000. Selectmen generally agreed with the plan providing some proof be established that the shell, if built, will be used.

"Music and the arts are as important as athletics," Peart said. He noted that funds are always available for athletic recreation, but music and the arts have trouble being supported. He cited the difficulties encountered by the Town and Country Players, Vernon's Little Theater group, as an example.

In other action, Selectmen signed contracts with Anderson Nichols for a preliminary study of a school which has been neglected for a long period of time—say, six months or more. There is no high voltage on the face of the tube, of course, but it does slowly build up a film of dust which can only be removed from the picture.

If you are average, you probably find time once a week to wash the family bus. It is unlikely, however, that the thought occurs to administer as often to your TV set. The cabinet can use periodic polishing, the glass in front of the picture tube can stand gentle washing and polishing every week, and the face of the big tube will benefit from cleaning if this is a chore which has been neglected for a long period of time—say, six months or more. Bunce Center: A Growing Ten Years

By DOIS BELDEN
 Bunce Center on Olcott St., started in 1954 as a Day Care Center and Recreation area for retarded children, has constantly expanded its program and now directs its efforts toward the aim of the National Association for Retarded Children... "Teach Them to Become Tax Payers, Not Tax Burdens."

Tentative plans for an open house to publicly exhibit the results of its programs and to celebrate the Center's 10th anniversary are being discussed.

In 1962, a small group of parents of retarded children met and formed the Manchester Association for the Help of Retarded Children (MAHRC). They discussed their problems and, after meeting weekly for about 18 months they decided to seek funds to obtain a building where the children could be cared for during part of the day. The building could also be used as a meeting place for the association.

Bunce School, abandoned and ready in need of repairs, was just what the group wanted because of its location and large play area. The three-room structure was found to be basically sound, and was leased to the group by the Town of Manchester, providing all maintenance and repairs were done by MAHRC.

After long hours of work by parents of retarded children and volunteers from civic organizations in Manchester, Bunce Center opened on Oct. 16, 1964. Mothers of retarded children volunteered to serve as instructors for the first group of six children.

Since its 10 years in continuous operation about 200 have passed through the Center's doors. Classes are conducted Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon for pre-school youngsters, and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. for intermediates, which include trainable and trainable people.

Besides its educational and workshop program, Bunce Center offers a full social life for all retarded children and teenagers in Manchester and surrounding towns. A young adult group with about 10 in attendance, meets twice weekly for group socials, and has attended shows at Hartford theaters. Boy Scout, Girl Scout, Cubs and Brownie programs are in full swing, and include not only children at the Center but about 40 from special education classes in Manchester public schools.

As attendance at Bunce increased it became apparent that trained instructors would be needed to replace the volunteers. Mrs. Clifford Sullivan, assisted by Mrs. Robert Parsons, instructs an intermediate class of 14. Mrs. Roy Banks and Mrs. Kenneth Yeoman instruct the nursery class of 15. The administrative and executive staff of the Center is manned by unpaid volunteers.

Transportation for Manchester children is provided by Stewart Johnson of Dillon Sales and Service who donates a new model station wagon, its maintenance, fuel and insurance to the Center. Children from surrounding towns are brought to Bunce in car pools.

A great deal of progress has been made in the intermediate program, which includes some teenagers. Helpful, worthwhile skills are taught including jewelry making, folding inserts and stuffing envelopes for organizations, and folding church bulletins. The group was also taught to attach labels on plastic bags, which were used by a Manchester packing company.

Instructors of the intermediate group strive to help them become self-sufficient and productive. A homemaker's class has recently been started. It includes instruction in cooking and in the use of various appliances, such as washers and dryers. The kitchen is undergoing extensive renovations, and this is why plans for the anniversary open house have been delayed.

A future goal for the intermediate group is to have enough equipment at the Center to provide formal job training and placement. Many in the class, it is believed, would like to be able to take their place successfully in industry in a sheltered rather than competitive environment. One member of the group has already been able to accept a paying job with a Manchester manufacturer.

Sharing in both work and play is one of the major goals of the Center. Bodily development, emotional and social growth, health cleanliness and manual training are other goals of the program. A class of pre-school children participate in a reading program, preparatory to entering a special education class in the public schools.

An Educational Bill of Rights for the Retarded Child, adopted by the board of directors of the National Association for Retarded Children, says, among other things, that "Every American child, including every retarded child, has the right to a program of education and training suited to his particular needs and carried forward in the environment most favorable for him, whether that be the community public schools, the state residential school or his own home."

MAHRC, as a member of the National Association, can well be proud of its work for the retarded at Bunce Center.

MAHRC's budget for 1964-65 is $17,000. It will receive a portion of this from a state grant and from service organizations in Manchester. Community support is needed to raise the $6,000 goal of this year's fund drive. The association as a member of National and State Associations for the Help of Retarded Children, sends approximately 16 per cent of its income to the national association for research and operational activities.

CofC Seeks Public Push For Rt. 6

The long-delayed relocation of Rt. 6 in Manchester is getting a new push this year from the Chamber of Commerce.

More than 50 town industrial and business leaders have been asked to urge Gov. John N. Dempsey to support the relocation project.

Final approval must come from the General Assembly in the form of an appropriation bill. The present estimated cost for the project is about $35 million.

The new Chamber effort is being directed by Allen F. Behrke, chairman of the Rt. 6 relocation committee. A subcommittee of the Chamber's town affairs committee.

Announcing the opening of the campaign, Behrke said that the Chamber now is the time to begin work on Rt. 6.

"It is important to have as many people interested and involved in the relocation of Rt. 6 as possible, so that the state legislature will realize its importance to the community."

"We urge anyone interested in the project to contact the Chamber's town affairs office."

Behrke lists seven reasons for the relocation project of particular importance to Manchester. He says:

1. The volume of through highway traffic using Rt. 6 increases annually. Since the road passes through the center of Manchester, through and local traffic conflict, each causing its own problems.
2. The large and increasing flow of commuter traffic to Hartford beyond has taxed Rt. 6 beyond its present capacity. $300,000 is being spent to the east as still grows.
3. One of the goals of Manchester's downtown renewal project—to make the town a regional shopping center for eastern Connecticut—depends upon the relocation of Rt. 6 to its present location.
4. The eastern portion of the state has not received its share of new highway construction.
5. Although state highway commissioner Howard Ives said in 1957 that the Rt. 6 relocation would be underway by about 1962, there still have not been funds allocated for its construction.
6. There has been an undue hardship on townspeople who own land in the path of the proposed relocation route, and who have been unable to move their houses or sell their property. The least the state can do, Behrke says, is buy the needed space.
7. Since 1967 the estimated cost for the project has multiplied four times, from $9 million to the present $35 million. Further delays will increase prices that much more.

Legal Lines Are Set Forth In Fight Over Bridge Toll

Francis Happeny's trial for evasion of a bridge toll has been reset for Friday, Nov. 27, after Judge Douglas Wright, in East Hartford Circuit Court 12 this morning, approved Defense counsel James Egan's motion for time to file a brief.

Both Atty. Egan and State Prosecutor Eugene Kelly stipulated to the fact that Happeny had been arrested at 9:40 a.m. on Oct. 7, on the Charter Oak Bridge, after refusing to pay the 25-cent toll.

The section specifies that when and if the bonds are required, tolls may be placed in sufficient amount to pay for the maintenance and upkeep of the bridge including the expense of making such collections.

Happeny, 55, of 9 Hazel St., had served notice, upon State Police Commissioner Leo Mulcahy of his intention to evade the toll, and had requested that a state trooper be on hand to make the arrest.

A trooper was there and served Happeny with a summons to appear in East Hartford Circuit Court on Nov. 2. He appears in schedule, pleaded not guilty to the toll, and requested a court trial. The case was continued twice before today.

Book Fair Held At Nathan Hale

Nathan Hale Hall held a book fair in the auditorium, with the proceeds from the sale to be used for the purchase of new books for the school library.

Prior to a brief business meeting, the members listened to talks by Miss Violet Bump, school social worker, and Miss Dorothy Phillips, speech therapist. Both told of their work with local children and outside organizations, and stressed the need for more people to enroll in the two fields.

A motion was passed at the business meeting for donations to Lutz Junior Museum and to Channel 24 Educational TV. The group also voted to again hold a spring fair.

Custodians' Pay Higher Than Bosses

NEW YORK (AP) — New York has been known as a city of big financial operators. But hardly anyone would have expected to find a flock of them sweeping out the little red schoolhouse.

There was even testimony that some custodians apparently were cutting down on service in order to increase their "net" return.

Speaking in defense of the custodians was Harry G. Mundt, president of Local 801 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. The local represents most of the custodians who, in most cases, must pass civil service tests.

Mundt, unpaid as president of the local but a school custodian himself, those last publicly reported pay for a year was $11,500, maintained that there has been no wrongdoing by custodians and that the taxpayers have gotten their full value.

Late last month the union and school administration agreed on new terms.

It provided that no custodian himself would last publicly reported pay for a year was $11,500, maintained that there has been no wrongdoing by custodians and that the taxpayers have gotten their full value.

Of the city's 870 custodians, some 68 were in the $22,000-plus bracket.

How did this situation come about? Long ago the ruling elders of the school system concluded that it would be better to farm out the janitorial job than to set up a large organization within the system to do it.

As a result, custodians became contractors. An individual usually contracted to maintain and keep the schools clean. The money they received was based on the size of the school.

Out of the lump sum they were to hire whatever help was necessary and pay for all equipment and materials to do the job.

Whatever was left over was their own pay.

About a year ago the system came under official scrutiny as the result of newspaper stories on custodians' income.

Coventry Referendum Set Nov. 30

A special town meeting Monday night will vote to schedule a referendum for Nov. 30 to vote on a proposed appropriation of $1,107,500 for an 18-room junior high school.

A petition filed Saturday turned the question over to a referendum instead of last night's town meeting as had been scheduled.

Four items on Monday's agenda were postponed until after the referendum since they are related to the appropriation for the school.

The appropriation would also provide for a storage facility for the Coventry school system that would be constructed near the school. The junior high school would be built on town-owned land at the corner of Rt. 21 and Ripley Hill Rd.

The town's polls will be open on Nov. 30 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

MAKES OWN WAY WACO, TEX. (AP) — Brown-eyed Susan Tom may be the daughter of one of Baylor University's important students of the past, but she's proving that she can be a celebrity by herself.

Her mother was Roberta Keys of the talented Keys quadruplets. Susan has been treasurer of Baylor's freshman class, a member of the Altheim Social Club, one of six outstanding freshmen, campus May queen and a semi-finalist in Glamour magazine's Best-Dressed contest.

Four persons were still hospitalized but none were reported in critical condition. The names of Mrs. Norris Roberts, 43, and her daughter, Barbara, 18, have been taken off the danger list and both were reported in good condition today.

Authorities are still investigating the cause of the blaze. Fire Chief William Mahoney has said the fire definitely was set.

WANTED TO HELP MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy told police he wanted to bring his parents back together so he set his mother's house afire.

Detective Fairies Morgan reported Tuesday that the boy said his father lived in Montgomery, Ala., and his mother lived in Mobile in a house belonging to relatives.

The boy was quoted as saying he thought his mother would have to go to Montgomery if the house burned.

The fire was stopped before much damage was done to the small frame house.

Unusual Celebration For Georgia's Vinson

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Carl Vinson, Georgia's unique contribution to Congress, is at home today. The birthday presents came a day early for the tall, twang-voiced farmer-son whose congressional service spans three generations. His hometown stowed its gratitude to Vinson Tuesday with a parade and a banquet. It was an unprecedented celebration, a parade and a stone marker dedicating a military center to the man who for decades helped shape military history.

Georgia's leaders joined with thousands of Vinson's hometown friends in saluting him for half a century of service—the longest of any House member. President Johnson sent the thanks of a nation.

Characteristically, Vinson controlled his emotions. He said he did not deserve all the praise; he watched the parade, accepted a citation—and then gave a strong-voiced speech reiterating his conviction that the nation must remain strong to deter war.

The tobacco-chewing chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee insisted, an always, on looking to the future.

When Gov. Carl E. Sanders arrived at the luncheon honoring Vinson, the governor loaned over and spoke to the congressman and typically Vinson immediately asked about something that needed to be done at the state hospital here.

The president's telegram said:

"The name of Carl Vinson is a name that has made a difference in the lives of millions of Americans. His outstanding leadership in the House of Representatives has contributed more than words can describe to making and keeping America strong."

"In the words of the Navy he fathered and nurtured so long," Russell said, turning to Vinson, "Well done, admiral! Vinson is credited with a major role in the development of the two-ocean Navy."

Sanders called Vinson "our congressman emeritus."

Then Vinson, standing tall and slightly stooped, his trousers a little baggy and his coat hanging loose, accepted the tribute.

"My cup runneth over," he said.

Bolton Liguori Asks Morra To Board Sessions

Mrs. Phyllis Liguori said this morning that First Selectman Richard Morra can attend any meetings of the board of education she may hold. Liguori said that "board of education policy indicates definitely that the first selectman can attend" all school board meetings whether regular, committee, or executive.

The board of education adopted an addition to its policy at its regular meeting Nov. 9. The meeting gave the chairman power to call a committee meeting without prior authorization by the board itself.

The discussion at the meeting and the ensuing controversy centered on statements that the meetings would probably consist of the whole board and would probably be closed to the public and the press.

Liguori explained his point of view on the proposed meeting this morning. He said, "Such meetings would be held very infrequently and would be an excellent opportunity to explore extreme points of view, all board members knowing that the ultimate would be a board policy arrived at by consensus of opinion by intelligent compromise."

Liguori continued, "It becomes somewhat more difficult for board members to compromise if initially the extreme points of view are not heard. Board members are publicized."

He cited examples where a closed board meeting took place. If the board were discussing "whether or not to include a number of dollars for elementary school library books" or "as was the case the recent meeting, when the board had to decide whether to bow with reference to the operating budget cut. What transpired was an unbridled and unbridled discussion by all board members in the presence of the press and the public. It is a matter of opinion as to the board direction in this matter."

The board met in closed session in September as a sub-committee of the whole after the board of finance made a cut in the education budget request.

Liguori said today that the closed committee meetings would be used primarily for budget discussions but that they would also be used for discussions on policies relating to teaching personnel.

The resignation of Edward Stechow, industrial arts teacher, was formally accepted by the board of education in executive session at its regular meeting Nov. 9. Stechow, who was hired Jan. 11 and started work when the new school opened in September, resigned for personal reasons.

The resignation was not announced at Stechow's request, until a replacement could be found.

Harold Dwyer of Rt. 85 is substituting now in industrial arts. Dwyer has been a substitute teacher in many schools and, according to school board member Walter Waddell, taught shop to him and Douglas Cheney, public building commissioner, chairman in Manchester schools some time ago.

Accidents Bring Three Arrests

A Williamatic truck driver was charged with failure to obey a signal light this morning when he was involved in an accident at E. Center St. and Lenox St. No one was hurt.

Two other arrests and a written warning were issued in three separate accidents occurring between 3 and 7 p.m. yesterday.

Police say today's accident occurred at 7:45 when Arthur McCollum, 40, driving a truck west along E. Center St., drove into a light change. His fatbed truck, owned by the Eastern Dressed Poultry Co. of Williamatic, was then struck on the right side by a car driven by Ruth A. Hanson of 234 Green Rd., who was making a right turn into Center St. from Lenox St. Police estimate that the long overhang over the cab of the truck may have been responsible for McCollum's omission.

The undercarriage and drive shaft of the truck were severely damaged and the hood of the Hanson car was completely crumpled.

McCollum was ordered to appear in Manchester's Circuit Court 12 on Nov. 30.

A Bolton man was charged with evading responsibility in an accident that occurred at 6:40 p.m. on Main St. near Maynas St. yesterday.

According to Patrolman Earl Everett who is still investigating the case, James J. Selbie, 37, allegedly struck the rear of a car heading north on Main St. and left the scene. Court appearance is set for Dec. 7.

Nancy J. Hooper of East Hartford was charged with failure to pass at a safe distance after she ran into the rear of a car driven by Gloria J. M. Leone, RFD 3, Manchester, who was attempting to make a left turn into Center St. from Lenox St. Police estimate that the long overhang over the cab of the truck may have been responsible for McCollum's omission.

The undercarriage and drive shaft of the truck were severely damaged and the hood of the Hanson car was completely crumpled.
