"That's Show Biz"

By Phineas Fiske

According to the dictionary, a Fusilier is a soldier who carries a fusil. And a fusil, in turn, is a light flintlock musket. The members of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers and the Royal Irish Fusiliers don't really carry flintlock muskets these days. They do, however, carry over some of the old musical traditions of the British Army. Their talents will be on display, along with those of the Royal Ulster Rifles, at the Bushnell Memorial in Hartford Tuesday evening.

There will be about 120 members of the three units on parade beginning at 8:30 p. m. in a performance called "Pomp and Ceremony."

The program will include marches fast and slow, band selections featuring well-known Irish airs, marching by massed pipes, fife and drum, and specialty numbers.

Among the specialties is a group of dancers from the Women's Royal Army Corps, featuring performers from Scotland and Ireland.

Also at the Bushnell tonight and tomorrow night is the 19th annual "Festival of Harmony" sponsored by the Hartford Chapter, SPSBQRS.

The SPSBQRS is the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, one of the international all-male choral groups. The group is directed by William Schuman, who has published an album, "Barber Shop Quartet," on the subject of the group.

Friday and Saturday evening of next week at 8:15 p. m. will be a color travelogue film on "Ball, Java and Sumatra" which will be shown at the Bushnell, and personally narrated by Phil Walker.

The University Players of the University of Hartford will stage the British comedy drama, "Billy Liar," on Dec. 3, and at 8:15 p. m. at the Hartford Jewish Community Center, 335 Bloomfield ave., West Hartford.

The play, by Keith Waterhouse and Willis Hall, is the second step in an evolutionary process which began with a novel by Waterhouse and ended with a screen adaptation starring Tom Courtenay. It concerns the "fantasy life" of the son in a provincial North England household, his three romantic attachments, and so on, in a somewhat shockingly conclusion.

Another English play will be honored at another university beginning next week. The University of Connecticut has scheduled a lecture on William Shakespeare, a series of performances of "The Merchant of Venice," a talk on the actor's view of Shakespeare's drama, and a presentation of Elizabethan music, all in honor of the Bard's 400th birthday.

The lecture will be by Dr. G. B. Harrison of the University of Michigan, scheduled for 4:15 p. m. on Thursday at the Von der Meiden Recital Hall.

The lecture will touch upon the play which is to be performed nightly except Sunday.

Members of the Washington School third grade presented a play Wednesday to assembled pupils of the kindergarten through Grade 8.

Entitled "Hiawatha's Childhood," with words by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, the play was directed by Mrs. Marion Upton. The cast included James Hesketh, John Tambling, Linda Spinnato, Leigh Ferguson, Lee Ann Wright, Kim Bushner, James Sheehan, Dana DuFrene and Vanessa Heban.

The Indian maiden singers were Ellen Keiser, Lisa White, Nancy Barlow, and Pamela well. Diane McCarthy, Pamela Hicking, and Collette Goff.

The Indian boys singers were Randy Doughty, Ronald Gankoff, Edward Gado, John Gauzinger, John Markon, Michael Parizeau, Stephen Poulton, Mike Poulton, and Michael Smith, and Roger Stevenson.

The scenery was handled by the Colette Goff, John Markon, and Michael Smith.

Long-Distance Telephone Rates To Be Lowered

WASHINGTON (AP)—You'll soon be able to make a long distance station-to-station telephone call across the continental United States for $1 or less after 8 p. m. and all day Sunday.

And there'll be lower long distance rates between 6 and 8 p. m. daily and all day Saturday.

The Federal Communications Commission announced Wednesday that the Bell System telephone companies would pay for the long distance calls.

A public lecture and poetry reading will be held at the University of Hartford on Dec. 2, 8 p. m. The lecture will be by the poet, John R. Green, and the poetry reading will be by the poet, John R. Green.

Wilson Rejects Tailors' Attempt To Polish Dress

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson—who has been accused of being a sloppy dresser—has rejected an offer by London tailors to advise him how to dress.

Taylor & Cutter, the magazine of Britain's tailoring and clothing trade, said in today's issue: "An approach has been made to Mr. Harold Wilson by the Men's Fashion Council, putting forward the council on matters of style, in fact, to act for the prime minister in the capacity of dress consultants."

The approach has been an answer to a poll by the council last week that the majority of men would like to see the prime minister in a better dress.

Wilson's response was to reject the offer, saying that he would like to be dressed as he pleased.

Brown-Taylor

Miss Marilyn Louise Taylor of Middletown, Mich., became the bride of William Fitzallen Brown Jr. of Auburn, Mich., yesterday at the Presbyterian Church, Mount Pleasant, Mich.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Taylor, 90 Gardner St. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzallen Brown, Michigan.

The Rev. Kenneth Cutler of the Presbyterian Church performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Harriet Collins was the organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of taffeta, decorated with lace-trimmed sash and neckline, long tapered sleeves, a controlled bell skirt and a detachable chapel-length train. Her shoulder veil of illusion was attached to a headbow, and she carried a crescent bouquet of light pink sweetheart roses and ivy.

Miss Suzanne Taylor of Manchester, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a pink satin floor-length sheath with cabbage rose detail at the back and a matching headband with circular veil. She carried a wicker basket containing pink sweetheart roses and ferns.

David Wender of Waterford, Mich., served as best man. Ushers were Thomas Palmer of Columbus, Ohio; John Besser of Manchester; and Frederick Buchheit of Middletown, Mich.

Mrs. Taylor wore a turquoise cocktail sheath of aban-tung with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige brocade dress with green accessories. They both wore corsages of yellow sweetheart roses.

A reception for 125 was held at the Zanders, Mount Pleasant. Mrs. Brown wore a camel walking suit with brown accessories for their wedding trip. The couple will live at 215 Ken Star Dr., Auburn.

MRS. WILLIAM FITZALLEN BROWN JR.

Verplanck Talks Well Attended

Mr. Brown, a graduate of Mount Pleasant High School and Denison University, has done graduate work at the University of Michigan. A member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, he is employed in the Instrument Systems Research Laboratory, Dow Chemical Co. Mrs. Brown, a graduate of Manchester High School and Mount Holyoke College, is employed as a toxicology technician in the Biochemical Research Laboratory, Dow Chemical Co.

Burley Crop First

CANBERRA—Australia has produced its first semicommercial crop of burley tobacco this season—near Ashford in New South Wales. The crop is expected to be used in producing pipe tobacco. Normally about 100,000 pounds of burley is used in this province and is usually imported from Nyasaaland (now Malawi).

Delon Cuts Wide Swath About MGM

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—MGM hasn't seen anything like it in all its 40 years. French star Alain Delon was enjoying his lunch in the studio commissary and pouring himself and his guests drinks from a bottle of champagne—French, but of course. Ostrichers at MGM, most conservative of the studios, blinked in disbelief. Studio workers were not allowed to purchase even beer in the dining room.

"I am sorry," Delon said as he sipped the golden bubbles, "but I cannot drink Coca-Cola with my meals."

The independent Frenchman is the latest of international film stars to come to Hollywood, and he is one of the most willing of emigrants. Many of them travel here to collect big salaries and the prestige of appearing in American films, then hasten back to their tax shelters in the old country.

"How long will I stay?" said Delon. "As long as they want me here. Wherever I work, I am happy to stay. I can adjust to any surroundings. And I must say life in America is very easy to adjust to."

Living in Southern California is very pleasant—if you are a movie star and can afford a house in Beverly Hills. But not everyone is a movie star.

Delon is now making his first Hollywood film, "Once a Thief," in which he costars with Ann-Margret. He has found the filming technique no different from that in Europe. "We are all one big family," he observed. "The only differences are in the amount of money that can be spent and the skill of the technicians."

The end-eyed, exceedingly handsome actor has flattered many a heart, notably those of co-stars Romy Schneider and Jane Fonda. There was consternation among feminine members of the set when he married Natalie Hartshorn earlier this year. He now appears to be a devoted husband and father—a son was born six weeks ago.

"It was born here," Delon pointed out. "Just think—he could be president of the United States. He is a citizen."

And Delon himself? "No, I cannot be president," he replied.

But does he plan to become a citizen? "Oh, I cannot tell now," he remarked. "Supposing I become a citizen and then I find no work here. How would I be received when I go home to France?"

New England Vignettes New Haven Nuns Operating New, Stamp-Provided Auto

BOSTON (AP)—New England nuns posted at the Woodstock school district association met here recently.

The sisters of St. Rose Convent in New Haven, Conn., drive a brand new station wagon because of what one nun termed "the power of a lot and a prayer."

The six sisters connected with St. Rose Church had been driving a 14-year-old model which had been given to them by the parish priest, Father Paul D'Agostino.

Once the sisters were stranded temporarily by a flat tire, when they were inconvenienced by mechanical troubles. When the car caught fire the parish priest decided they'd better do something about it.

A committee to get the sisters a new car was formed and decided to get a new car with trading stamps laid at stores and gas stations.

Robert T. Murphy, committee chairman, said hundreds of youngsters and groups cooperated by saving trading stamps and turning them in to the committee.

Murphy said, "It took 1,285 books with 1,200 stamps to buy to get the car." That figure is a record for the whole thing," Murphy said. "We were lucky the loose stamps people gave us. My tongue felt the straw for six months."

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)

Federal soldiers searched today through the interior city of Goias for a Communist agent accused of involvement in a Communist-backed plot against the Brazilian government.

Army Col. Carlos Meira de Mattos, captain of Goias State, and dep. Gov. Marcelo Borges, the war ministry said he was the center of a "subversive force, point." Mattos was named temporary administrator.

The Brazilian Congress has 60 days in which to ratify the action of Borges 30 days ago that stored to office.

Borges was carried from the palace on the shoulders of supporters and disappeared after being taken to a safe house and await the decision of Congress.

The governor had obtained a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court prohibiting his arrest.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Chen Yi, Communist Chinese foreign minister, arrived in Jakarta today to meet Indonesian leaders for talks with Indonesian officials.

Chen Yi's arrival became known only two hours before his plane landed.

In a brief airport statement, he said he came on "a mission of friendship." He recalled that the 26,474 total for the corresponding period last year.

No Immediate Cut In Portsmouth Crew

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—Secretary said that employment Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has assured two senators there will be no reduction in the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard's work force for the next three or four years.

"In letters to Democratic Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre of New Hampshire and Edmund Muskie of Maine released Thursday, McNamara said current employment levels will remain stable during that period except for fluctuations due to normal adjustments."

The yard, which currently employs 7,274 persons, is to be phased out over the next 10 years.

In his letter to Muskie, the

UConn Campus Student Cost For Year Averages $1,575

STORRS—The average undergraduate at the University of Connecticut needs about $1,575 to finance a year's study on campus, according to a survey just completed by the UConn Student Aid Office.

Peter V. Jodanis Jr., student aid counselor, indicated that the student cost of living jumped by $300 since the last similar survey was conducted in 1961. Married students and commuters were not included in the survey, which was taken among a random sample of the 8,100 full-time undergraduate here.

Jodanis disclosed that the students are spending about $1,025 for fixed cost items such as books, room and board, and incidental fees. The

Drug Industry Kiwanis Topic

Joseph B. Powers of Vernon, a representative of Smith, Kline & French Laboratories, Philadelphia pharmaceutical firm, will speak to Kiwanis Club members Tuesday at the club's luncheon meeting at the Manchester Country Club.

His talk is entitled "Miracles in the Making." He plans to describe the role of the drug industry in the struggle for better health and to tell of such gains as the disappearance of the "quarantine" sign which used to be commonplace on doorways of American homes.

"Two new members will be inducted at the meeting."

Shirley MacLaine Involved In Indian Smuggling Affair

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—It is now in London. She said she was all those guns that got me," message from a Bhutanese official warned her last Sunday that "real trouble is brewing."

Miss MacLaine said she and a party of six decided to leave at once for India. They tried to take with them K. S. Bhalla, an Indian working as Lhendup Dorji's private secretary.

But the border guards wouldn't let Bhalla through, even when Miss MacLaine tried to emphasize that she was Dorji's guest.

"Lhendup Dorji's orders no longer hold good in Bhutan," she was told.

Miss MacLaine said that she made an unsuccessful attempt to get Bhalla out, disguised as the chauffeur of her luggage

Witnesses Watch Woman's Watch

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two men and a woman entered a store and moved a muscle as they stood in front of a 30-year-old Pacific Palisades woman with a wrench, the victim told police.

Corene Griffin suffered numerous cuts and bruises and had to have six stitches taken in a head wound. After she escaped she demanded of the bystanders: "Why?"

"I thought it was a private matter, maybe a husband and wife fight," the woman witness said. "How were we to know what it was all about?"

Mrs. Griffin said she left an opera in Shrine Auditorium late Wednesday night because she didn't feel well. She went to her car parked under a street light in a service station near

29 from N.E. Aboard Shalom

NEW YORK (AP)—There were 29 New Englanders on vacation aboard the Israeli liner Shalom, and most said they had turned in for the night when it collided with a tanker.

Some had to be awakened to learn of the collision early Thursday that cut in half a Norwegian tanker, the Stolt Dagali, about three hours after the Shalom sailed.

Samuel Goldstein of Framingham commented, "I didn't know a thing until my wife woke me up."

Dr. H.I. Saperstein of Malden said, "I was looking out the

Dances Tonight At Rec Centers

The recreation department announces that the regular Friday night dances for Junior high students will be held at the Community Y and the West Side recreation center tonight.

These dances will be under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Neil and Robert Pariseau at the West Side Center; Mrs. Florence Kiefer and Donald Cowles at the Community Y from 7:30 to 9:30.

Any boy or girl attending local schools may attend these dances. Participants are required to be recreation members.

Opera Strike

ROME (AP)—Employees of opera and concert theaters throughout Italy started a three-day strike today, forcing postponement of the Rome Opera House season.

A second strike, scheduled for Dec. 5-7, may postpone the opening night of Milan's La Scala season.

Four unions said the walkout was called to back demands for pay increases and new contract provisions.

Train Truck Collision

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—Two women passengers were killed and 47 other persons injured tonight when a six-coach rush-hour commuter train traveling through fog smashed into a garage truck and derailed.

A second six-coach train crashed into the truck minutes later, and also derailed.

All the casualties were on the first train, which was traveling on the main north-south line of Japan's northern island of Hokkaido.

Police said the driver and another occupant of the truck tried desperately to warn the oncoming train with flares after their vehicle stalled on a crossing on the outskirts of Sapporo, but the warning apparently was not seen because of the fog.

Sec. Ball Heads for Paris Talks with Atlantic Allies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball flies to Paris tonight to talk there and in London with European leaders and U.S. officials on economic and military problems confronting the Atlantic allies.

Key topics for Ball's conference are expected to be the financial policies of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and the U.S. plan for a multilateral nuclear force, jointly owned and managed by the various NATO countries.

The undersecretary's trip comes in the wake of a severe British financial crisis revolving about Wilson's attempt to bolster the pound sterling and improve his nation's international payments standing.

Ball is expected to meet with U.S. officials in London on Sunday and Monday and will meet with British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker and probably with Wilson.

Ball expects to be in London on Sunday and Monday and will meet with British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker and probably with Wilson.

Before heading for London, Ball confers in Paris Saturday primarily with U.S. officials and representatives at NATO headquarters to assess the impact of the British government's policies and the extent of disintegration centering around De Gaulle.

Following his conferences in London Ball will return to Paris for an allied economic conference and discussions with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

President Nears End of Holiday

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, nearing the end of an extended holiday at his ranch home, had no announced appointments today.

Johnson and wife Lady Bird spent Thanksgiving in seclusion, so far as newsmen were able to determine.

Malcolm Kilduff, acting White House press secretary, furnished little information about the First Family's holiday activities.

Kilduff said the President worked during the morning and afternoon quietly with Mrs. Johnson. At some point during the evening, it was understood, the Johnsons were joined by their two daughters, Lynda, 20, and

Rain Aids Wells, Eases Drought

HARTFORD (AP) — The rain storm that began late Wednesday and ended early Thursday afternoon eased Connecticut's drought slightly, said weathermen.

The rains brought some relief especially to 300,000 people who have wells that need replenishing. There are some 100,000 wells in the state.

Geologist William E. Wilson said it is hoped more rains will come to raise the water level before the ground freezes. Wilson is the geologist in charge of the U. S. Geological Survey at Middletown.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Bradley Field recorded 9.1 inches of rain during the storm. Weather bureau officials said a storm with several inches of soaking rain is needed to end the drought.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

Police say a motorist shot and wounded a man who yelled at him and also an eight-year-old boy playing nearby. Police are still searching for the motorist.

Detectives said that John Whitney, 38, yelled at a motorist Thursday who nearly ran him down.

The detectives said the motorist stopped, cursed at Whitney, and then opened fire, hitting Whitney three times. A fourth shot hit Ronald Thomas, playing about 40 feet away. Whitney was hospitalized in serious condition. The boy was treated and released.

Ribbons, Bows, Paper Christmas Wrapping $180 Million Boom

By DON OAKLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-cent package of plain tissue paper, a ball of red string, a few sticks: These were the humble requirements for wrapping gifts in the days of Christmas Past — and the not so distant past.

According to the gift wrapping industry, the average family will spend nearly $200 on presents this Christmas and from $5 to $10 to wrap them and the them up, using enough ribbon to circle the earth 100 times.

Understandably, Christmas is the season for wrapping manufacturers to be jolly. The total gift wrapping sales figure of $200 million last year was four times higher than 15 years previously, and Christmas accounted for more than 80 per cent of it.

There is really nothing new about the desire to make the outside of a gift as attractive as what's inside. It is one of mankind's oldest sentiments. In ancient China, it is recorded that tokens were carried in paper slings.

Throughout most of human history, however, fancy wrapping has been a prerogative of the rich. In 19th-century France, gifts were offered in ornate porcelain "friendship boxes," which are now collectors' items. The English wrapped their presents in fine silk and woolsens. In Europe in the 18th and 19th centuries, famed craftsmen devoted their skills to making jewel-encrusted gift boxes.

Today, modern technology and mass production — and, not least of all, marketing techniques — have revolutionized the wrapping industry and brought elegance within the reach of everyone.

Expensive-looking multicolor papers; exotic embossed foils; fancy silk and rayon ribbons; ready-made, self-sticking bows and thousands of other embellishments are available everywhere — including drug stores, supermarkets and even gasoline stations.

One of those who helps engineer this revolution is Joseph Katz, president of the largest of a half-dozen major manufacturers of gift wrap materials (Paceraft Corp.). At the end of World War II, just discharged from the service, Katz put together $10,000 and two printing presses to turn out his first order of Christmas paper for the 1946 season.

That first order was for $75. Last year, his company earned $18 million.

Today, America leads the world in the manufacture of package wrappings. Partly it's the availability of wood pulp, ink dyes, machinery and skilled labor. But Katz advances another very important reason: "Only in America can millions of dollars be poured into a product that will go up in smoke the day after Christmas."

Americans are becoming more and more conscious of how packages are wrapped, both those they give and those they receive. Some findings of an industry survey:

1. Ninety-nine per cent of all gift wrap materials are purchased by women (though half of all men wrap some of the gifts some of the time).
2. Most people prefer to wrap their own gifts (only one in every 10 Christmas shoppers pays for gift wrapping in a store).
3. Women prefer red, green and gold in that order. Men are partial to foil papers, favoring metallic gold and silver.
4. Only 4 per cent of gift recipients save the wrappings — and it's for sentimental reasons, not for reuse.

State's Voting Official Now

HARTFORD (AP) — President Johnson carried Connecticut by 435,273 votes Nov. 3, the official canvass of the state vote is revealed.

Johnson, in leading a Democratic sweep of the state, polled 829,292 votes to Sen. Barry Goldwater's 389,996.

Secretary of State Ellis T. Grasso, Comptroller Raymond S. Thatcher and Treasurer Gerald A. Lamb, members of the State Board of Canvassers, reported the official results Wednesday.

The official returns in the other election contests in the state follow:

U. S. Senate: Thomas J. Dodd, D, 781,008; John D. Lodge, R, 426,939. Plurality: 354,069.

Congressman, First District: Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, D, Hartford, 141,310 to 80,854 for

Related Crashes Leave Four Dead

PORT DOUGER, Iowa (AP) — Two carloads of Fort Dodge teenagers crashed up in separate accidents Thursday night leaving four dead and 10 injured.

Injured in one car which ran through a dead end intersection were Frederick Joseph Wickman, the driver, Tony Bandura and Russell White, each 17. Three boys with them were hospitalized.

An hour after this accident a car containing six boys and two girls rolled off U.S. Highway 20 about nine miles east of Fort Dodge. Terry Taylor, 17, was killed and four other boys in this car were taken to the Fort Dodge Lutheran Hospital. The girls and another boy were treated and released.

Double Tragedy
 Two basic, far-reaching tragedies lie underneath the surface horrors of what goes on in the Congo.
 First, the United Nations has been brusquely displaced as the representative of law and order in the heart of Africa.
 Second, the hatred and distrust of the white colonial, including the missionary, has, in one section of the Congo at least, been revived to something as primitive as it ever was in the darkest past.
 In place of the United Nations in the Congo, we now have a rivalry of big power interventions. Some of these interventions are masked better than others; both we and the Communists have obviously, all along, had agents working there, the appearance of plans, however, is something that can't be masked, except under plea of humanitarian purposes.
 So what role and becomes dominant in the Congo is no longer a matter of what happens among the Congolese themselves under the effort of United Nations surveillance to be neutral.
 What happens in the Congo from now on is going to depend upon which outside force, that of the West represented by the United States and Belgium, or that of the East, represented by Communist agents and propaganda and perhaps increasing actual supplies from now on, has the greater success in pursuing its way with the native political structure.
 In short, the very same power politics was for this heart of Africa which earlier United Nations intervention was designed to prevent and did find it now going to be fought out after all.
 Originally, the United Nations moved into the Congo in order to bring its own symbolism of law and order, and non-exploitation, the famous vacuum which power politics abhors. But now, with the United Nations gone, outside power is being rushed and sucked and drawn into the situation. Each side will be content, no doubt, if the other will cease and desist from this effort to fill the vacuum. But which side will now withdraw first and trust the other to follow?
 The second basic tragedy which has now been allowed to develop in the Congo is the new and horrible translation of issues into colors, the black and the white. To emphasize and reestablish such a line in Africa would be the normal propaganda line of the Communist. But in the Congo their effort revived the perverse and poisonous asset of the folly of Moses' Tabernacle when after the United States had sponsored his return to power, began his recruitment of white mercenary soldiers to use in his own war for mastery inside his own country. It was his action in hiring white soldiers to fight his battles against his own countrymen which helped to trigger and inspire the action of the rebels in seizing upon white residents of the Congo as hostages, a policy which hardened and turned to savagery when the threat to use additional white soldiers, these outside from Belgium, in American planes, was first posed and then carried through.
 If the fates are kind, and statesmen manage views and policies more fundamental and far-seeing than those demonstrated in the past few weeks, both these basic tragedies in the Congo, both he softened and diminished and eased out of the picture, and the Congo may escape the full horror of the fate of being a battleground between the power politics of the East and that of the West. A battleground between black and white.
 But, to take a frightened look at the worst, what could also happen is that more of the same could now begin to spread all through Africa.

That Unsinkable Fleet
 We seem to have a State Department which can't be pulled, pushed or blasted from the proposals to share our nuclear power vicariously and indirectly with Germany through the device of a special NATO nuclear fleet.
 Funds being invested in it; politicians proclaim it unwise, President de Gaulle repudiates it from the right; nobody on the continent has ever been eager for it except that Washington policy has always supposed that Germany would be delighted to get back in the military big time, even by just sharing fingers on the tricer.

 The other day, the Christian Democratic party of West Germany offered Washington a way out. It issued an announcement saying that it had decided not to exert any immediate pressure for inclusion of Germany in such control of nuclear armaments. This offered Washington a chance to slow down on what seemed a losing proposition anyway, and let it wither out in some policy limbo. This, many agreed, would be the best thing that could happen.

At this point, the State Department announced that it was not being deterred by West Germany's pretense of not being in a hurry, and was going ahead with the NATO nuclear fleet proposal anyway.
 The next development with regard to this proposal for nuclear-trigger sharing came in an extended speech by the prime minister Harold Wilson of Britain. It seemed to most of his hearers, and to most correspondents, that he tore the proposition apart scornfully, and proclaimed, almost point-blank, that Britain was not going to take part in any process of putting the German finger on nuclear arms.

With nobody on the continent for it, with Germany proclaiming its own willingness to hold off and delay with de Gaulle fighting it tooth and nail, and with Britain's new prime minister making a speech loaded with criticism of it, one might think Washington could reach some conclusion of its own that perhaps, just like some members of Congress have said, the proposal for a nuclear fleet for NATO is almost certain to stimulate new dignity in NATO rather than heal the differences which already exist.

But the State Department, this time with wistfully unofficial interpretations of what Prime Minister Wilson meant, is back on the old, sagging beam. It thinks he really wants the proposal, and attacks it so savagely merely to impress his domestic politicians. The question remains: whom is the State Department trying to impress with its loyalty to a policy it ought to be glad to consider a dead duck?

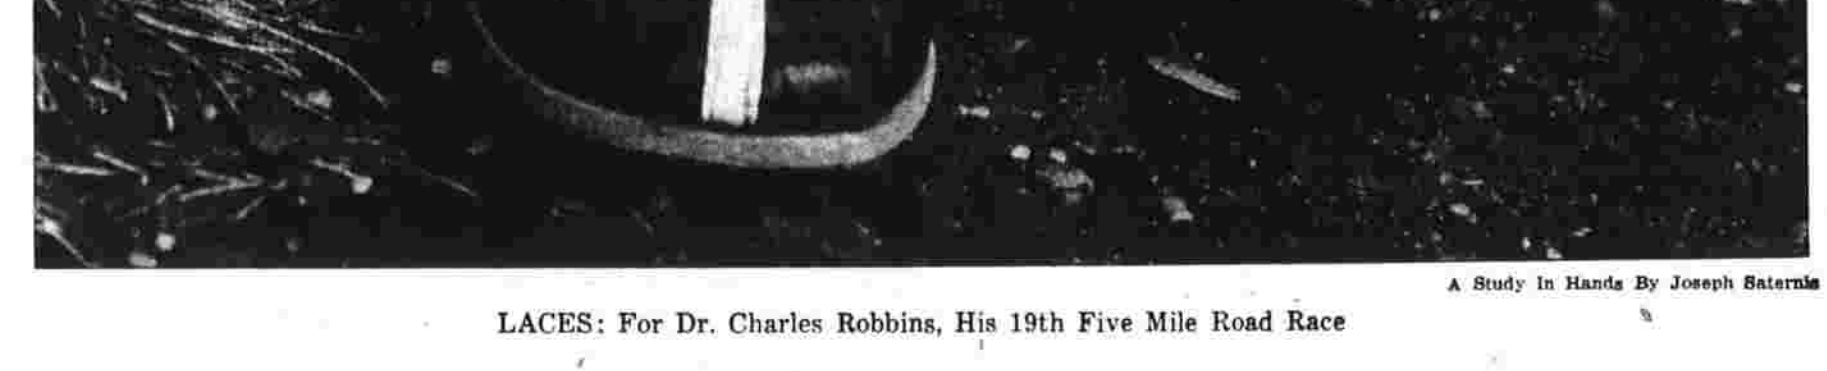

Honest Men Flunk
 Finally, a professional critic of the polygraph, or lie detector, has discovered what anybody who specializes in watching people's eyes could have announced long ago.
 The kern liar, the villain, the crook, the spy makes the best possible candidate for passing the lie detector examination.
 What Dr. Stefan T. Posony of Stanford University's Hoover Institution has reported to a Congressional investigation is that the lie detector has not only proved ineffective, but has even proved a boomerang for the Central Intelligence Agency and other government agencies trying to select reliable people.
 "This is so because the strong, astute, American, conscientious, patriotic, virile types an intelligence agency wants all tend to be shy and troubled when they are asked delicate questions. Laxy hums, parasites, sexual deviants, spongers, confidence men, and Communist agents, on the other hand, always have the sure, ready answer to the most embarrassing questions.
 In fact, reports Dr. Posony, the lie detector is quite likely to give a positive result to anybody trying to get past our security, constituting, in itself, a liability for us rather than a safeguard."
 It is even possible to suggest, although Dr. Posony doesn't go that far, that the lie detector might be considered valuable only if one reversed its readings and its findings, so that the individual who flunked it miserably would be passed with highest honors.
 None of this is news to those who have already discovered the law of the eye.
 The honest man shifts his eyes when he is telling the truth, a conviction which he keeps a steady, unconvincing gaze as he tells his lie.
 For the utmost in reliability, then, find a man who flunks the lie detector and whose eyes never meet yours.

Open Space Law Under Fire
 It long has been the position here that anything which reasonably could be done to preserve our open spaces, forest land and farm lands against the inroads of urban expansion should be done.
 It was with this view in mind that an endorsement in principle was given Sec. 107 of the General Statutes. This is the measure which has as its aim the preservation of open lands near urban centers, to maintain rural atmosphere and to protect potential food-producing sources. It would accomplish this objective through taxing land used for farming, watershed or the like on a lower scale than land being subdivided or otherwise utilized for development.
 Now this idea comes under attack, not because of the idea, behind it but because of alleged abuses of its provisions.
 Killington sources have charged that land developers have resorted to the device of getting "forest tax relief" to which they are not entitled. If these charges are substantiated some swift changes should be made and the proper taxing correctives applied.
 The law, obviously, was not intended to prevent avenues to undeserved tax relief.
 It was—and is intended to encourage fairly large land holders to keep their property in a natural, undeveloped state.
 Connecticut, a state that rapidly becomes more and more urbanized, needs protection of this sort. It should continue to have it available for the worthy land owner. Meanwhile, however, loopholes should be closed and abuses stamped out.—NEW HAVEN REGISTER

Behind Report Cards—The Computer

By ROBERT KELPATRICK

When board of education members met at the data processing center in the basement of the Magnet Junior High School last Monday, they found the tabulating director, Paul Juttner, in the midst of preparing the report cards that were handed out to students Wednesday.

The board had come down to observe the possibilities of expanding the center, whose programs now number, besides report cards, payroll, student scheduling, student master cards, attendance and town school census.

But they quickly became involved in the present program report cards.

In older days, five years ago, teachers, secretaries, and even vice principals and the superintendent of schools worked many hours during the report card cycle. Now they share this burden with a data processing machine. Last year parents feared their children are being graded by a machine. Juttner explained that the marks are still calculated by the teachers.

Now, instead of writing the mark on a card which the student took around from class to class, the teacher receives a set of "mark sense" cards put in order by class and arranged alphabetically.

This particular chore of arranging about 22,000 cards one for each course taken by each student, is swiftly done by a machine called an interpreter. Teachers insert the grades with a special graphic pencil and return all the cards to the center where they are fed into a magnetic sense reproducing machine. Juttner explained that each graphic mark is read by the machine and a corresponding punch made next to it.

The machine also acts as an editor, checking for omissions and improperly placed marks or double marks. It does not check the fairness of the grade.

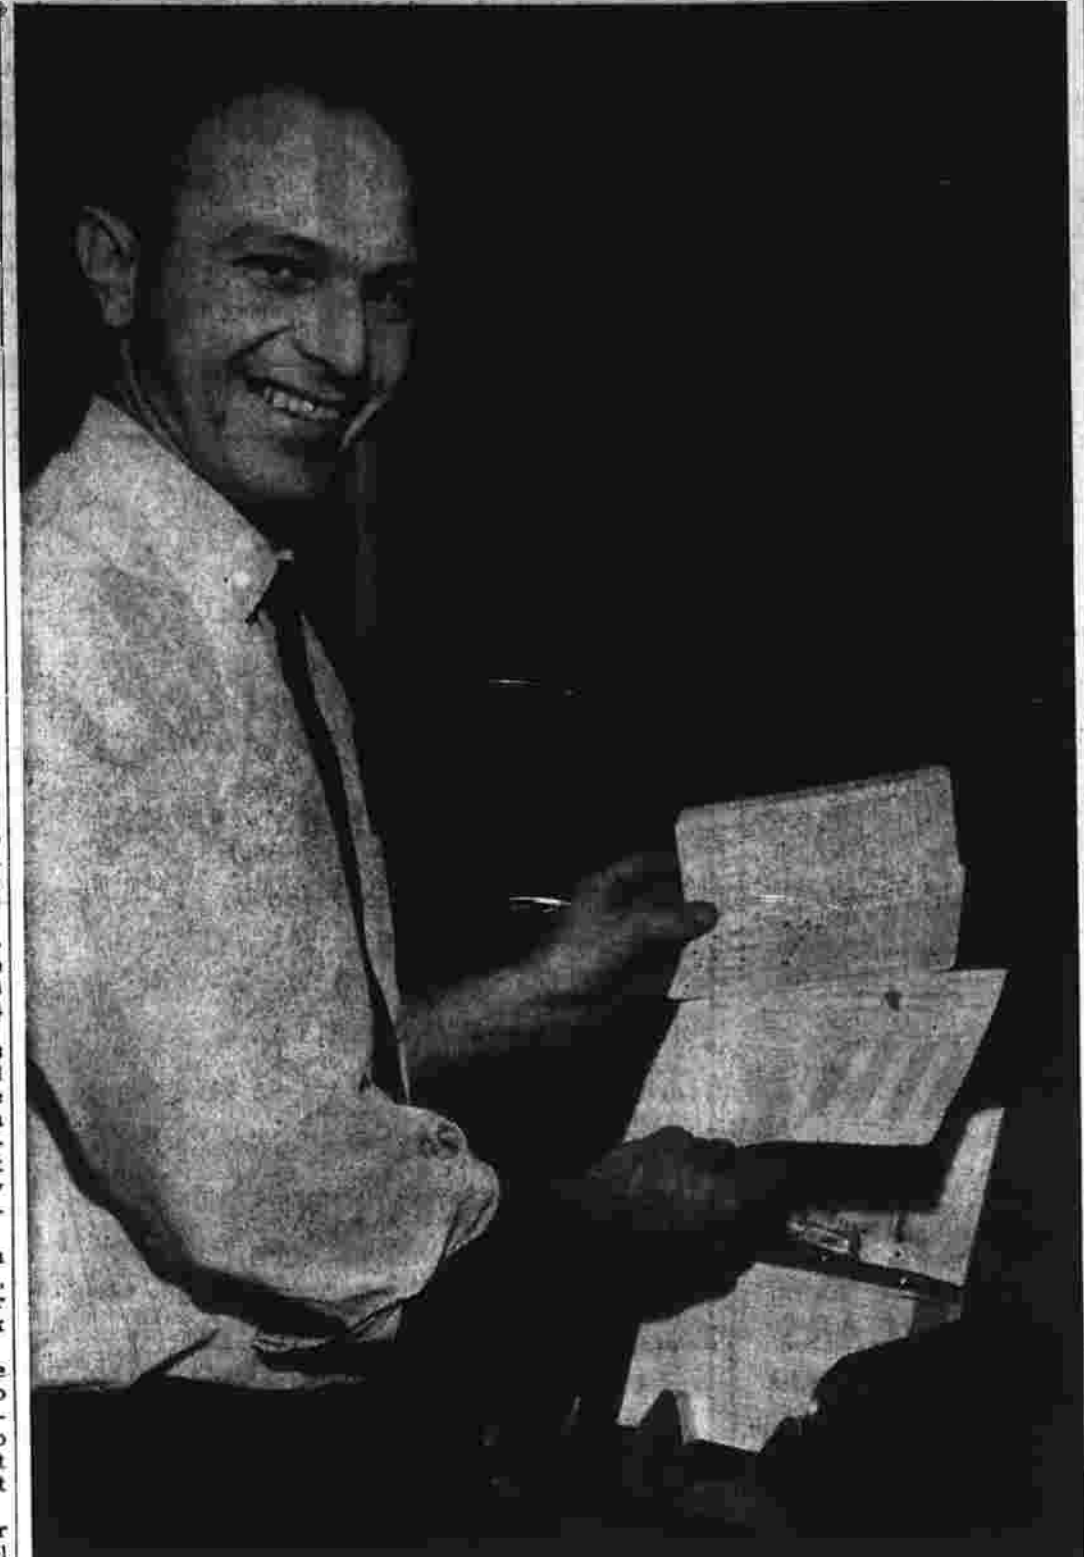

Still another unit, called the accounting machine, comes into play now. It prints a verification list which is sent back to the teachers who recheck just to insure that the machine isn't doing its own marking.

After verification, Juttner and Blaine Miller, high school vice principal in charge of data processing, take the mark sense cards, plus earlier compiled attendance cards and student information cards to the NEEDED office in Cambridge, Mass.

This they did last Friday. Miller must present to make corrections in case a mistake is found. There was only one this time, Juttner said.

NEEDED is New England Education Data Systems, a project financed by the Ford Foundation to assist and coordinate regional data processing centers throughout New England.

NEEDED has a computer, an expensive instrument, and it takes care of the most important phase of the operation—transferring the combined data from the mark sense cards, attendance cards, and student information cards onto the report cards that are eventually given out to the students. Actually, the report cards are no longer really cards; they are sheets of this paper. No longer do parents have to sign the re-

Tabulating director Paul Juttner shows the before and after of the report card cycle. The teacher marks the student's grade on the top card, which is then fed into the reproducing machine below. The card comes out with the grade punched into it. A computer in Cambridge, Mass., transfers the grade on the card and other information onto the larger report sheet which today brought the bad or good news to students at Manchester High School and Benet and Hing Junior High Schools. Trees Must Be Free of Gypsy Moth

Make sure the holly doesn't harbor gypsy moth eggs, the U.S. Department of Agriculture warned today in its annual reminder to shippers of Christmas trees and other holiday greens.

Christmas greenery in areas under federal quarantine for gypsy moths must be inspected and certified free of gypsy moth eggs before it can be shipped out. Present quarantines apply to Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, most of New Hampshire and Vermont, and parts of Maine and New York.

Leaf-eating gypsy moth caterpillars each year devour foliage in infested areas and are capable of defoliating entire forests. One or two successive defoliations of a hardwood tree may kill it.

This year, the insect pests defoliated more than 250,000 acres of forest, an increase of 75,000 acres over the acreage defoliated in 1963. Most of this year's damage hit Connecticut (188,000 acres) and New York (67,000 acres).

The season for shipping Christmas greens starts right after the egg-laying season for gypsy moths. The fuzzy, buff-colored egg clusters adhere to logs and fallen branches as well as to live trees and shrubs. Once past the quarantine barrier, they could start new gypsy moth infestations anywhere forest, fruit and shade tree grow.

Dealers can get trees and other greens inspected and certified free of gypsy moth at leading points with little delay. Federal and state plant pest inspectors in the quarantine areas will supply, on request, details about quarantine regulations and inspection schedules at leading points.

These inspectors can be contacted by telephone or through post offices, agents of common carriers, county agricultural agents, or foresters.

Pepper Exports Drop

BOMBAY—Exports of black pepper from India, the world's largest producer, during 1963 totaled $1.7 million, 13.4 million below the record 1962 level. Exports to the Soviet bloc increased nearly 28 per cent, to 19.2 million pounds. United States buying dropped to nearly one-third of the 1962 level.

In practice, could never be used to 100 per cent of their capacity since it was impossible to keep them running all the time. This, he noted, was a human imperfection.

Juttner hopes to be able to consolidate and to perfect the present programs before adding more. He stressed the huge amount of planning that necessarily takes place before a program can be put into operation. It is this planning and consolidating that Juttner does when he is not actually operating the data processing unit.

He listed personnel records, inventories, and accounts payable as some of the areas planned as future programs.

These are all educational programs, but the school system is preparing itself to share the center with the town.

General Manager Richard Martin had already appointed a representative to investigate and recommend means of future cooperation involving other town agencies.

This onetime industrial arts classroom has changed radically since the units were brought from their old home at the high school last June. But, it is still a classroom—a data processing arts classroom used twice a week by the community college for a programming course.

Ferris Will Receive Top DeMolay Honor

The Legion of Honor, highest award of the Order of DeMolay, will be conferred on Chester M. Ferris, 32 Gerard St., tomorrow night at 8:15 at the Masonic Temple. Ferris has been active in DeMolay work as a member and adviser since 1954 when he was initiated into John Mather Chapter of Manchester. He held the office of master counselor in 1955 after filling several lesser chairs and on many committees.

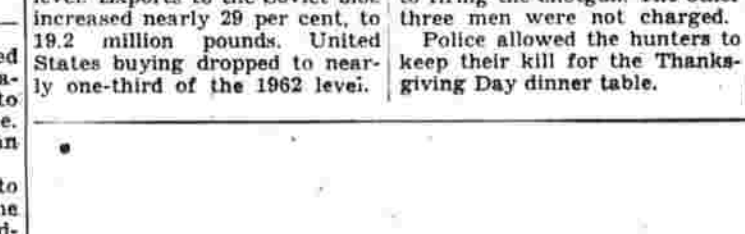

He continued to serve the local group as scribe in 1945 and 1946 and also served as an adviser for several years. He became "dad" of the chapter in 1957, serving until 1960.

He previously received the order's Degree of Chevalier, second only to the Legion of Honor, and was also the recipient of the Whitthrop Buck Medal, presented by Lovell Lodge of Masons of Hartford, for distinguished DeMolay service. That award is named for the past grand master of Masons in Connecticut.

The Legion of Honor is conferred on a Senior DeMolay in recognition of outstanding adult leadership in some field of activity that serves God, country or humanity. Nominees not only are considered until announced but their acceptance has been made by the International Supreme DeMolay Council. It requires a unanimous vote of the members of this council for acceptance.

Ferris spends many hours counseling not only members of the local chapters but DeMolay through the state, particularly those in Area C of the state advisory board. During the last year he was instrumental in reorganizing the state DeMolay structure, including the division of the state into the present three areas.

In addition to his work with the DeMolay group, Ferris has served the community in the following capacities: Precinct air raid warden during World War II; lay leader of South Methodist Church as well as a member of that church's Men's Club and nominating committee; member of the American Society for Metals, Hartford Chapter; past chairman and past secretary of the Connecticut Valley Society for Nondestructive Testing; His Masonic affiliation includes membership in Manchester Lodge, a charter member of Friendship Lodge, U.D. and Chester M. Ferris membership in Delta Chapter, R.A.M. He is married to the former Miriam Truth. They have three children, Neil, Lynn and Bob. He is employed as a supervisor in the Materials Engineering Department of Pratt and Whitney Aircraft.

Two Arrested On Gun Count

Two Hartford men were arrested last Wednesday morning on a pre-Thankingsgiving Day violation of a town ordinance after they reportedly shot a partridge with a 22 gauge shotgun in a town and pit of Tolland Park.

George E. Papanahario, 26, and Diogoras J. Evangelinos, 38, were charged with violating the ordinance which is contained in Manchester's Circuit Court 12 on Dec. 14.

Sgt. Walter Ferguson and Patrolman Richard Rand investigated and made arrests after hearing shots being fired in the turnpike area. They came across five men, one carrying a dead partridge which was allegedly shot by Papanahario. The two men charged admitted to firing the shotgun. The other three men were released.

Police allowed the hunters to keep their kill for the Thanksgiving Day dinner table.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Susan Anne Haverer of Manchester to Edward I. Wagner of East Hartford has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Haverer, 99 Overlook Dr.

Her fiancé is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, East Hartford.

Miss Haverer is a graduate of Manchester High School. Mr. Wagner, a graduate of Glastonbury High School, attends St. Thomas More Prep School, Colchester. He plans to major in agriculture at the University of Connecticut.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Rockville-Vernon Parking Regulations Are Set For Yule Parade Tomorrow

Police Chief George Trapp announced that traffic and parking regulations for the Yule Parade tomorrow will be as follows:

The parade will begin at 11 a.m. at E. Main St. down W. Main St., Union St. and south on Maple St. where it will disband.

Chief Trapp announced that all traffic on the parade route will be shut off at 10:30 a.m. and that there will be no parking on the south side of West Main St. from Market St. to the cross walk near the W.T. Grant store; no parking on the south side of Union St. from West Main St. to the end of the Union Church property.

No parking regulations will be enforced on: Both sides of East Main St. from Grove to Ann St.; Grove St. from West Main St. to Laurel St.; Brooklyn St. from E. Main St. to Cedar St. and Maple St. both sides, between Union and West Main St.

Detours during the parade are: Grove St. traffic northbound to Laurel St. to High or Brooklyn St., Vernon Ave., West Main St., northbound and eastbound; West St., West Main St., Vernon Ave., Brooklyn St., Laurel St., to Grove St.

East Main St., westbound: Lawrence, Prospect, Park St., School St., Prospect St., T-4 City Shopping Plaza, East Main St.

Westbound: eastbound: West Rd. (Rt. 3), Charter Rd., Davis Ave., Prospect St., Park St., School St., Prospect St., T-4 City Shopping Plaza, East Main St.

Tavern Break Reported

Rockville police report that about 155 in change and several bottles of liquor were stolen during the night from a tavern on Market St.

There was no forced entry, which led police to surmise that the thief remained in the bar until night. The stolen liquor was collected this morning by owner Julio DeFazio.

Vernon police arrested Charles W. Hiasny, 34 of Ellington, following a two-car accident yesterday afternoon on the intersection of Rt. 83 and Windersville Rd.

According to police, Hiasny, entering Rt. 83, collided with a vehicle operated by Spenzie Vakhak, 69, of the Rockville Hotel. Vakhak received a cut lip and teeth injuries and was admitted to Rockville City Hospital. Both cars were badly damaged and had to be towed from the scene.

Edwin R. Carlson arrested Hiasny and charged him with failure to grant right of way at an intersection. Hiasny will appear in Circuit Court 12, Rockville, Dec. 15.

Arno Groot, 18, of Maxwell Dr., was arrested at 2:30 yesterday afternoon and charged with making unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle. Groot was spotted on Rt. 82 by Police Officer Arret. Arret was made by Lt. Carlson and court date was set for Dec. 29.

BERRY'S WORLD

Ruth Millet

Ever since the term "little old ladies in tennis shoes" became a part of our political language I've been looking and looking for just one little old lady in tennis shoes. And you know something, I haven't found one yet.

Oh, I've met a number of women in their seventies and eighties—plenty old enough to be little old ladies, if they had a mind to be.

But somehow the term little old lady just doesn't apply to all of the older women I know. The ones who cross my path wear their age with a nonchalance that is downright fascinating.

They always seem to be busy—just going on a trip or returning from one, entertaining or being entertained, working in their gardens, keeping up with public affairs, doing volunteer work, pinning buttons on a young homemaker who is bogged down in some family crisis.

Though they've lived a goodly number of years, these older women don't seem in any way like little old ladies. They are—and as for those "tennis shoes" little old ladies are supposed to be—

Buschmann Wins Five Miler in Record Field

Time Second Best, Keefe Runner-Up

By EARL YOST
HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

Applying the proper strategy and following his pre-race formula, research chemist Ralph Buschmann of Anover, Mass., added his name to the list of winners in the annual Five Mile Road Race in Manchester. The University of Massachusetts graduates, running under the colors of the Spartan A.C. of Brockton, Mass., covered the 28th edition of the Thanksgiving morning sports spectacle which registered but had to withdraw because of a sore heat.

Best performance by a Manchester resident was turned in by 17-year-old Larry Seretto, State Class B schoolboy cross-country champion from East Catholic High School, who was second, Damon, Norris and Kent accounting for the first three.

Buschmann, who was making his third appearance in the Silk Top Gun race, started at the 1000 yard mark, 140 of whom finished, on an overcast, unseasonably warm November morning. Temperatures were in the high 50s and between 10,000 and 12,000 spectators lined the course to watch the thin-skinned schoolboys, colleges and club runners. Ten minutes after the start, the lead group was broken up. Another record was set when 197 runners registered, but there were 20 "no shows".

Buschmann, who had won the 20-kilometer championship, the former Central Connecticut College race was a good 120 yards behind Buschmann, Keefe, former New England Interscholastic mile, two-mile and cross-country champion for two years, never could overtake the long-striding Bay State and had to settle for second place. The Derby runner, who in practice teaching in Weymouth, just matched his 1960 record, the last time he competed here—showing with a second place.

Perennial third placer, Larry Damon of the Boston A.A. was third for the fourth straight time in four appearances in the Five Miler. The tall slender former University of Vermont ace has been an Olympian for the last three years in 1962, 1963 and 1964—as a skier.

Running out the top 10 was George Conroy of the Central Connecticut A.A. fourth in 24:22. The Flying Physician was 53rd and the biggest ovation in the race was given to Larry Seretto, 17-year-old junior from Brockton, Mass., High and the Boston A.A., fifth. Ray Crothers, 1963 and 1964 National Cross-Country Champion, was seventh. Art Dulong, New England Interscholastic cross-country champion from Randolph, Mass., eighth. Bob Crombie, the Australian from Boston, ninth. The University of South Carolina, was ninth and Reg Kent, another high school lad from Lawrence, Mass., and the Boston A.A. was 10th.

Norris is the son of Fred Norris, former England Olympian.

WINNER RALPH BUSCHMAN

SECOND - JIMMY KEEFE

Skein by Buschmann Reaches 14 Straight

Most Important Triumph Scored by Ex-UMass Star

By EARL YOST

"This is the most important victory I have ever scored," an elated Ralph Buschmann said shortly after he picked out his first place award for winning the Five Mile Road Race yesterday. "I have won National Championships since 1962, but nothing rivals this before today," he added.

Buschmann took the lead from Conroy, just before reaching the top of "Heartbreak Hill" in Highland St., and held it the rest of the way, enjoying a margin of anywhere from 100 to 150 yards during the final two miles.

Crowd favorites included Doc Robbins, making his 19th appearance in the 20 years that he has been running consecutively since being revived in 1943 and the biggest ovation in the race was given to Larry Seretto, 17-year-old junior from Brockton, Mass., High and the Boston A.A., fifth. Ray Crothers, 1963 and 1964 National Cross-Country Champion, was seventh. Art Dulong, New England Interscholastic cross-country champion from Randolph, Mass., eighth. Bob Crombie, the Australian from Boston, ninth. The University of South Carolina, was ninth and Reg Kent, another high school lad from Lawrence, Mass., and the Boston A.A. was 10th.

Norris is the son of Fred Norris, former England Olympian.

Seretto Places 13th

Youngsters Do Well, Three with Top 10

By EARL YOST

Schoolboys had a field day in the 28th annual Five Mile Road Race yesterday morning. Three of the first 10 finishers were schoolboys—all from Massachusetts—and the first Manchester lad to break the tape was East Catholic High's Larry Seretto.

Little Edmund Norris, 17-year-old son of Ed Norris, one-time member of England's Olympic team, had an excellent closing 24:45 in gaining fifth place. The 5-6, 115-pounder from Brockton, Mass., High, showed his heels to 136 other competitors in the field of 141 starters.

Another defensive stand was made by Seretto, who placed 13th and then tried for the 10th place. He was held back by the Rebels, never letting them penetrate deeper than the 10th place. The help of Alubicki, Mike Leach and Peter Benson the Eagles placed 13th and 14th.

Manchester Coach Paul Phinney was a contestant for the 11th straight year—and came in 68th.

Another Kelley Norris' performance was the best by a high school runner since Little Johnny Kelley, a senior at Bulkeley High in New London, placed third in 1949 while competing for the New London Olympic Club. Norris was 18th in 1963 in his maiden appearance in the Five Miler.

The 13th berth credited to Seretto is the finest showing by a local schoolboy since Pete Croce scored a fifth in 1955. The latter, before winning a berth on the 1950 United States Olympic team, won the Five Miler in 1958.

All in all, it was a great day for the schoolboys and youngsters, especially those among the first 10 who were watching in future years. Norris has all the earmarks of developing into another local star.

Philadelphia Bound

Bill Griffin of 30 Henry St. school traffic officer at the center, will witness the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia Saturday.

DEADLOCK—Tied for 53rd place were Doc Robbins, left, and Bob Brozowski, UConn freshman. Actually, Brozowski was well ahead of Robbins until he neared the finish line. The youngster waited for the physician and crossed the line together. "I knew someone would be taking Robbins' picture and I wanted to get into it," he explained. And he did, as recorded above by The Herald's Sincich (left).

East Shuts Out South 12-0, Wins Area Catholic Crown

Baviera, Roberts Get Touchdowns

By JOHN GOLDEN

Despite pouring rains and a sizeable East Catholic's Eagles finished off their first full-fledged varsity football game with a winning 12-0 record by dumping traditional rival South Catholic 12-0 before 8,000 drenched spectators at their Thanksgiving Day finale. South's Rebels finished their first season 0-7-1 as a result of the loss.

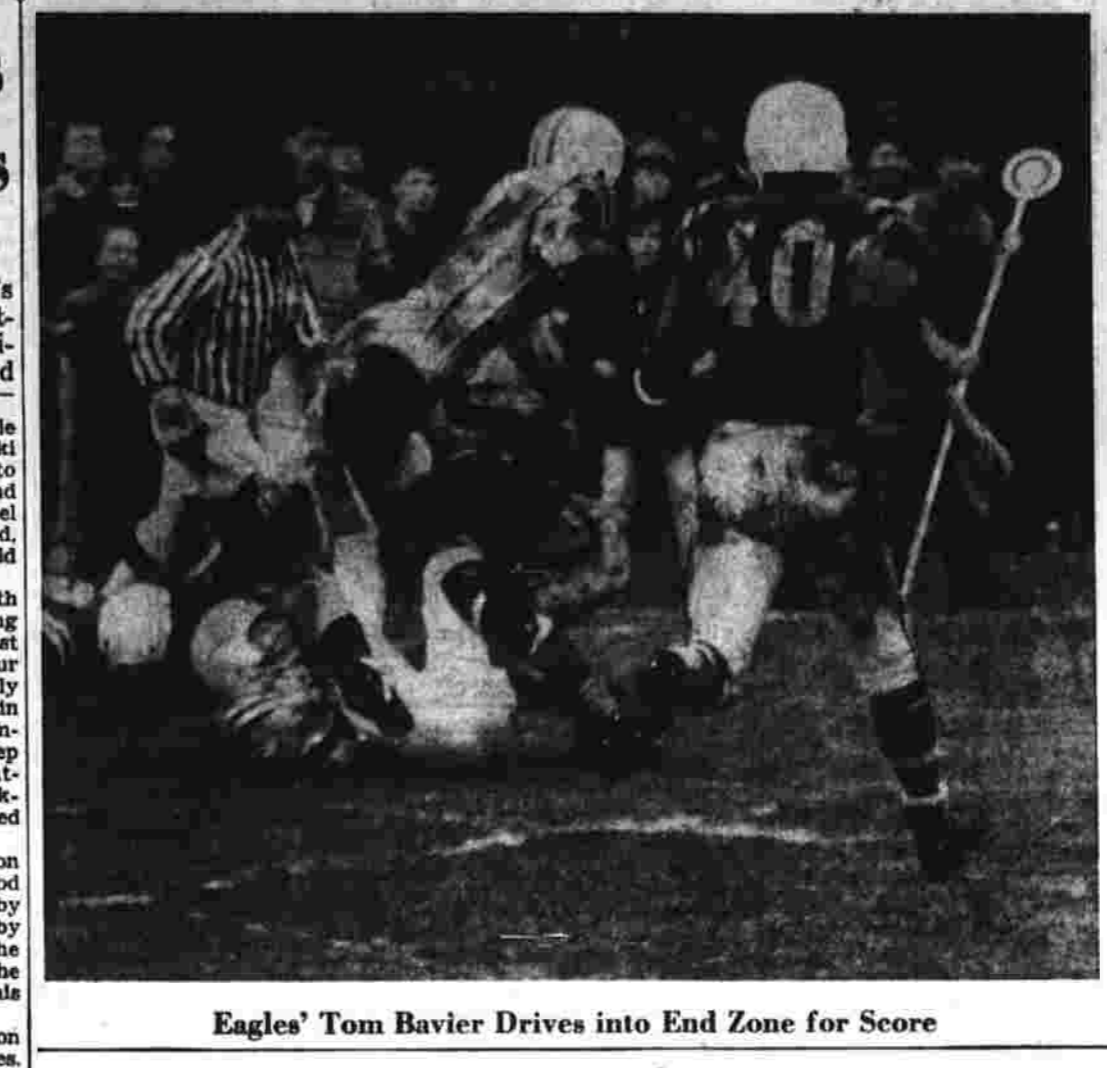

The final victory gave the Eagles the distinction of being the top area Catholic school and gave East second place in the area. South Catholic's record was 1-2-1, having been beaten in Hartford County Conference 22, East Catholic 12-0, and New Britain and Penney of East Hartford.

The usual running punch southerner in the mud, the Eagles took to the air for 178 yards passing as opposed to 168 rushing for a total of 346.

South's deepest penetration came in the third period when Tom Bayer drove into the end zone for a touchdown. Bayer's drive was aided by a fumble on the part of South's defense. Bayer's drive was aided by a fumble on the part of South's defense.

Tom Bayer was the towering offensive standout with 173 yards, 83 rushing and 126 on pass plays. Tom McCarthy held up South's best air attack with 83 yards passing as opposed to 168 rushing for a total of 346.

Windham Grabs First Half Lead, 20-6, Holds on to Defeat Indians in Finale

By PAUL PILKONIS

Windham High School's football team held on to a 20-6 lead in the first half to defeat the Indians in the finale of the Thanksgiving Day football season.

Windham's offense was led by Tom Bayer, who drove into the end zone for a touchdown in the first quarter. The Indians' defense was led by Mike Mainik, who intercepted a pass in the second quarter.

The game was played in pouring rain at the Windham High School stadium. The Indians' record was 1-2-1, while Windham's record was 1-2-1.

Manchester's sole tally was recorded in the closing minutes of the second period when the Indians moved 68 yards in 11 plays. Bud Lundgren fell on the ball in the end zone, giving the Indians their only touchdown.

Waste No Time

Windham wasted no time in getting on the scoring. Jim Wood took the opening kickoff at his own 10-yard line and raced 85 yards, down to the 10-yard line. Capitalizing on this ideal opportunity, Carl threw another touchdown pass on the first play from scrimmage, this one to Bill Wojcik. A two-point conversion rounded out the Windham scoring.

Neither team was able to cross the goal line in the final half, with Manchester stopping Windham's most serious threat, the Whippets, to relinquish the ball on downs at the Indians' 15. In an effort to move

Bruins in Scrapy Showing And Top New York Rangers

BOSTON (AP)—With a trio of young rookies scrambling for jobs and some veterans in danger of being asked to make room for them, the Boston Bruins put on one of their scappiest shows of the year at Boston Garden Thursday night.

Coach Milt Schmidt, though slated over the 6-1 victory against New York, is waiting for the results of a weekend road trip before making up his mind on the newcomers.

The Bruins play at Montreal Saturday night and at Chicago Sunday. Monday is "cut down" day when Schmidt will make up his mind whom to keep or send down.

On Thursday night's performance, Schmidt will have a difficult decision to make on his squad. Rookie Wayne Rize and Bill Kullis showed well in the game. Wayne Rize was the only rookie to score a goal and some veterans in danger of being asked to make room for them, the Boston Bruins put on one of their scappiest shows of the year at Boston Garden Thursday night.

Quebec Checks Hockey League Slide

The Quebec Aces picked the right spot to snap their three-game losing streak in a 4-3 victory over the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night in the West Coast.

The Aces trimmed the Rochester Americans 4-3 Thursday night in the first season meeting of the AHL's division leaders. Quebec needed the victory to keep pace with the leading Baltimore for the last spot in the East.

Wayne Gendron led the Aces' attack with two goals and Ed Hoekstra's penalty shot capped a decisive, three-goal second period.

A crowd of 6,007 largest at Rochester this season, saw Skip Sobotka and Gendron drill first-period goals that put the Pittsburgh 9-1 lead. Referee Bill Friday called it put the Aces in front to stay.

Bolton Parents Aid Is Sought In School Group Formation

Mrs. R. F. Dimock, a member of the organization committee for a junior-senior high school parent-teacher group, is seeking parents to return questionnaires to the group.

Mrs. Dimock said yesterday that even though some parents object to the form of organization proposed by the committee, the questionnaires should be returned to the school so that the committee will get a better indication of the school's needs.

A proposal for a new organization, the "School Activity Council" was presented at a meeting called by the organization committee on Tuesday, Nov. 23.

The committee is seeking parents to return questionnaires to the group. Mrs. Dimock said that she has received many replies and that the group is making progress.

Mariner 4 Takes Off, Early Maneuvers OK

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Mariner 4 rocketed into space today as the flight control center reported it apparently executed early maneuvers successfully on the start of an intended 7½-month journey to Mars.

The electronic explorer, which represents the United States' last chance for a close look at Mars for two years, was scheduled to fly across 275 million miles of space before passing within 8,600 miles of Mars next July 14.

During a 30-minute encounter, Mariner 4 soars past Mars into orbit about the sun, a camera started Mariner 4 on its way, blasting off from Cape Kennedy exactly on schedule...

Although preliminary data indicated early phases of the launching were successful, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said several hours would be required to determine whether the craft was on a precise course...

A critical hurdle was cleared five minutes, 22 seconds, after launching when a protective metal shroud separated from the spacecraft...

Structural failure of a shroud made of weaker material ruined the Mariner 3 launching to Mars earlier this month.

The control center hit the Mariner 4 with the protective covering this afternoon.

Officials reported that the spacecraft separated from its launch platform and that the flight appeared normal at that time. A tracking station at the Indian Ocean reported receiving signals from the Mariner 4 within 8,600 miles of Mars next July 14.

A spokesman said definite information was expected late this afternoon.

After shroud ejection, the Agena second stage propelled into orbit 115 miles above the earth as a flying launch platform. Forty-two minutes after launching, when Agena was in a desired position above the Indian Ocean, it restarted its engine and boosted Mariner 4 into space.

Jury Finds Cigarettes Safe to Use

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Federal court jury has found that cigarettes are safe and wholesome for human consumption.

The verdict, reached Friday night after two hours of deliberation, ended a lawsuit filed by the American Tobacco Co. for $1.5 million, contending that the cigarettes caused lung cancer.

A previous trial jury decided the cigarettes were safe and wholesome for human consumption.

Police Seek Escapee from Osborn Farm

SOMERS (AP)—State police are searching for an inmate of the Osborn Prison Farm, one of two prisoners who escaped Friday.

Richard Ware, 21, of Bridgeport, was the prisoner still at large. Authorities said he walked away from a construction detail.

A state prison inmate, Richard Buckley, 21, of Bridgeport, was picked up by guards in woods behind the prison after he fled an outside work detail.

Buckley was imprisoned in May 1963 on a one and one-half year term for a conviction of robbery with a firearm.

Ware, serving a two to six year term for breaking and entering, was convicted in November 1962 and was transferred to the minimum security prison farm in New Britain.

The escapes, within an hour of each other, apparently were unrelated, state police said. Neither man was armed.

Truck Driver Killed GREENWICH (AP)—A driver operating a tractor-trailer owned by a Greenboro, N. C., firm was injured fatally in an accident on an exit ramp of the Connecticut Turnpike.

State police identified the driver as Eugene Terry, of Clinton, S. C. The driver was killed after the truck landed in a drainage ditch, died of crushed chest.

Terry said the driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel just before the accident.

Navy Plane Crash Kills 12 Crewmen

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—Twelve Navy fliers died Friday when an anti-submarine patrol plane crashed into a mountain near the tip of Cape Newenham, 200 miles northwest of Kodiak.

The wreckage of the burned plane and bodies of crew strewn over about 500 feet of mountainside. The group was led by Maj. Curtis Grupe, commander of the Cape Newenham Air Station, Central Naval Air Station, Wash., was stationed at Kodiak on rotating duty.

The crash was four miles west of the military air base. The plane hit about 200 feet below the crest of the mountain, 800 feet above the sea.

The two-engine P-2V Neptune from Whidbey Island Naval Air Station was on a routine coastal patrol when it crashed at the time of the crash visibility at the Air Force radar site was said to be 100 miles.

The search group had to descend a 1,000 foot cliff to reach the wreckage and bodies. The Navy withheld identification of the victims.

Moscow Bar Accepts Only Western Cash

MOSCOW (AP)—The night-cap set in Moscow has finally found a bar that stays open after midnight. But you need dollars or some other "hard" Western currency to get a drink.

The cap set in Moscow has finally found a bar that stays open after midnight. But you need dollars or some other "hard" Western currency to get a drink.

But the bar's practice of buying liquor in the West with dollars and selling it here for rubles apparently was causing a drain on Russia's precious supply of hard currency needed to buy goods in the West.

Suddenly the new cafe closed. When it reopened the policy was strictly Western money for drinks.

Events In State Special 'Hot Line' Available for Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI will have his own "hot line" to keep contact with the Vatican while he is in Bombay attending the International Eucharistic Congress next week.

The actual center of Church power will shift with the pontiff to India, but in case something urgent arises, technicians have set up direct telecommunication lines between the Vatican and the residence of Valerian Cardinal Gracias, archbishop of Bombay, with whom the Pope will stay.

Vatican sources said the line to Bombay will be manned around the clock, but do not anticipate any emergency requiring its use.

The security problem will be complicated by the vast crowds pouring into the city for the congress opening today.

The congress—a public demonstration of faith and an act of thanksgiving—is being held before a massive altar built in the heart of Bombay.

Congress officials said 31 rubashops, 38 bishops and hundreds of other Church officials from all over the world have already arrived in the Indian city.

The American ship Steel Voyager docked at Bombay with a shipment of wheat the assignment, it had taken off in June for the New Jersey coast. Nineteen crewmen from the tanker died.

Still a mystery were details of the collision between the two ships early Thanksgiving Day in the New Jersey coast.

The tanker's bow Towed to Port

NEW YORK (AP)—A tug towed the severed bow of the tanker Steel Voyager to Gray's Reef today. Sixteen of her crew returned home to Norway by air. And damage to the tanker was assessed.
