Meriden Hotel Destroyed By Million Dollar Blaze

MERIDEN (AP)—A one-story annex was also destroyed as a five-story downtown building today in the wake of one of the worst fires in Meriden's history.

Damage was estimated at over $1 million. The building, which used to house the old Winthrop Hotel, had been recently renovated.

Three tenants of the structure were treated for smoke inhalation and shock and the operator of Urban's Department Store, which occupied the first floor, was treated for shock.

The fire broke out in the basement of the building at about 10:30 p. m. and spread rapidly to the upper floors. Firemen arrived at the scene at about 11:30 p. m. and worked for several hours to contain the blaze.

The fire was caused by a gas leak in the basement. The gas had accumulated and then ignited. The fire spread to the upper floors through the elevator shafts and the fire escape.

The building was completely destroyed. The fire department is still working to clear the debris and to remove the bodies of the three people who were killed in the fire.

More Negroes Jailed In Selma Vote Drive

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Sheriff James Clark arrested scores of Negroes today when they staged a right to vote demonstration while their leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., remained in jail.

The Negroes had lined up outside the Dallas County Courthouse and asked to walk with someone on the Voter Registration Board even though the board was not in session.

One of their spokesmen had said before the march began that the demonstration was to seek a way to get the board to remain open more often.

City police arrested King and more than 200 other Negroes Monday when they sought to march to the courthouse in one formation, and charged them with parading without a permit.

Today they allowed the demonstrators to walk unmolested because they moved in small groups.

Public Safety Director Wilson Baker said that did not constitute a parade.

At the courthouse, leaders of the group started in the front door and were told by Clark that the registrars were not in session. He ordered them away and then pushed them back when they refused to move.

Other Negroes joined the line, Clark told them they were interfering with the orderly procedure of Circuit Court which is in the building, and that they would be arrested for contempt of court if they refused to disperse.

New Haven R.R. Faces Loss Abandoning Passengers Will End State Tax Aid

HARTFORD (AP)—The New Haven Railroad, under present State law, will have to give up its tax subsidy from Connecticut if it is allowed to abandon passenger service.

The 1961 law exempts the bankrupt railroad from tax obligations. But it applies only to railroads that offer both freight and passenger service.

The tax subsidy has amounted to more than $1 million a year since 1961.

Asst. State Atty. Gen. Samuel Kanell, who represents the state in legal proceedings involving the railroad, says that the law is clear on that point.

Connecticut officials say, in the only state that gives the New Haven "complete tax forgiveness."

State law, which exempts the railroad from taxes on its property, is set to expire on June 30, 1965. If the railroad does not abandon passenger service by then, it will have to pay taxes on its property.

The railroad is currently operating as a freight-only line. It is considering whether to abandon passenger service entirely.

President Sending Top Adviser For New Conference in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Vietnamese government which only last week suffered another setback in a long series of reverses, is expected to receive a strong U.S. policy move to carry out U.S. policy in South Viet Nam to the north.

However, authorities say they cannot rule out the possibility that the Soviets have some other objective in mind: an increase in military supplies to North Viet Nam could mean an intensification of Red guerrilla fighting in the south since the North Vietnamese send supplies and reinforcements into the south.

U.S. officials reported recently that during 1964 North Viet Nam sent an estimated 10,000 trained soldiers through the jungle trails of Laos into the south to reinforce guerrilla units.

The primary concern of the Johnson administration for months has been to promote the peace process in the south.

Dempsey Reveals Program To 'Keep Connecticut Best'

HARTFORD (AP)—Gov. John N. Dempsey recommended to the 1965 General Assembly today a program calling for greater state aid to education, expanded mental health and mental retardation facilities, and tighter civil rights laws.

In a speech marking the opening of what will be the regular Biennial session for 1965, the Democratic governor also called for more housing for the elderly, aid to the bankrupt New Haven Railroad, and expanded urban renewal, open spaces, and water and air pollution programs.

For the first time in a formal address to the Legislature, the governor went on record in favor of legislation that would make use of the party lever on voting machines optional instead of mandatory. The issue was expected to be one of the more controversial of the session.

Dempsey also asked for a law that would make illegal the possession of liquor by persons under 21 years of age. He proposed an expanded program for driver education.

He advocated the creation of a Department of Correction, and recommended pay increases and the adoption of a code of ethics for state employees.

The governor described his program as one designed to improve the quality of life in Connecticut in the next century, and all through the future.

Dempsey gave the broad outlines of his plans for the next two years of his administration in a 30-minute speech to a joint session of the General Assembly held in the House of Representatives. He will make more specific recommendations in his budget message Feb. 16.

The opening of the regular session was just about one month late because of the special session on legislative reapportionment which adjourned officially only last Friday.

The special session's success in formulating a reapportionment plan approved by the General Assembly would have been elected last November and would have convened for a regular session on Jan. 4. The reapportionment litigation forced cancellation of the General Assembly session.

Dempsey praised the Legislature for its work on reapportionment and said that it now met with the "valuable asset of experience."

Water Companies Seeking to Own Pipe Connection

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut water companies have asked the state to modify rules that would have them own the service connection from the main in the street to the customer's property.

A brief filed with the State Public Utilities Commission by attorneys for the Connecticut Waterworks Association asks that customers pay "excavation costs" for new installations, with the companies bearing all future maintenance and replacement costs.

Replacement of existing installations, with companies paying for future maintenance and replacement.

The association does not object to the PUC proposal that water companies own the service connection, but wants the customer to share the cost.

Strike Meeting

WETHERSFIELD (AP)—Management and labor representatives met today with federal and state mediators in an effort to avert a strike at the Bristol Brass Corp.

Student Pilot Unhurt, Makes Bolton Landing

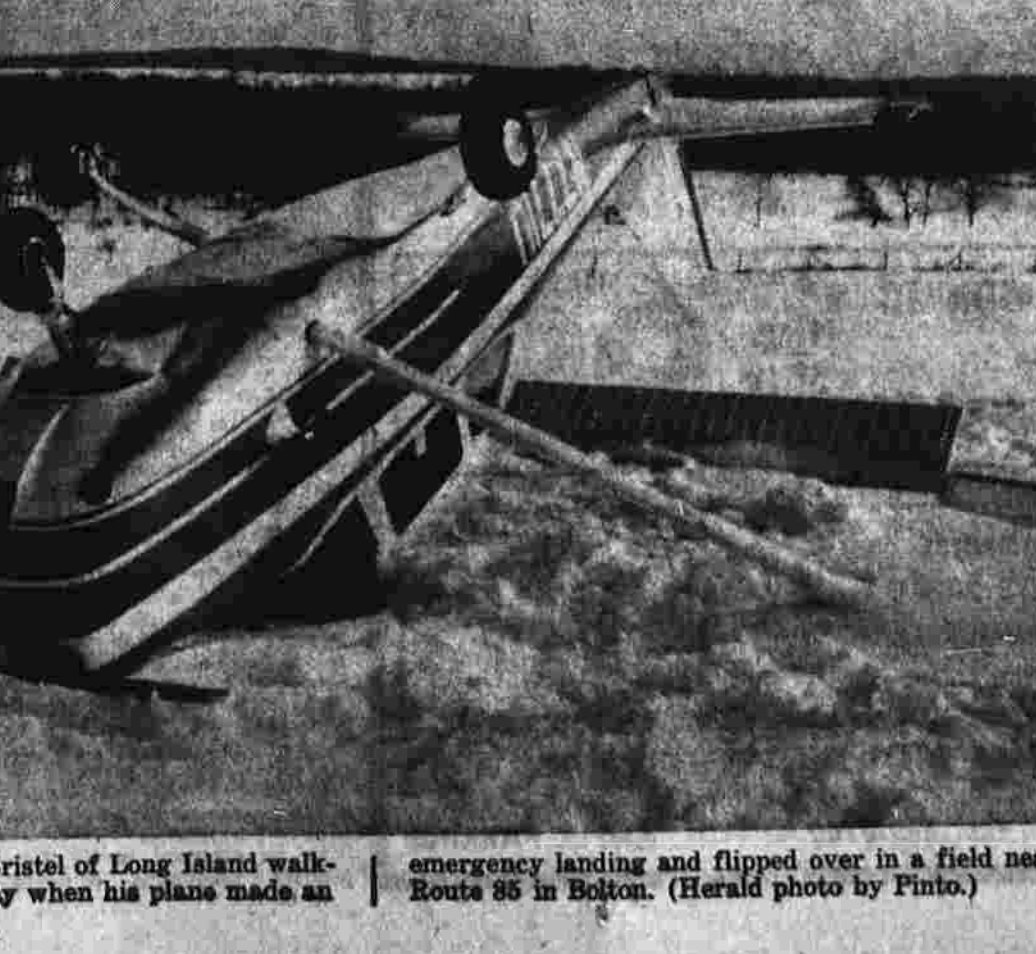

By CLEM YOUNG

A light, single engine airplane dropped out of the sky about 5:15 last night and made a forced landing in a field behind the Bolton Dairy on Rt. 85.

The student pilot, Raymond Bristol, 44, of Bayside, Long Island, N.Y., was unhurt but "substantially damaged," according to authorities. Visible damage includes a broken propeller and bent wing.

Bristol was alone on a flight from Deer Park, L.I., to Albany, N.Y., when he ran into the storm, tried to land at Foughelsville, N.Y., then headed toward Bradley Field. He was being "traded in" to Winham Air port in Williamamit when his fuel ran out and he was forced to land.

New Plan Aired for Keeney Sewer

Developers Would Pay Lion's Share for Sewer

Keeney St. area residents—you may get your trunk sewer for free. The board of directors last night voted to let the existing plans for the sewer trunk into the wastebasket and came up with a new proposal that would pass most of the cost on to land developers.

The contract would be based on the purchase of individual lots on their tracts. In order to make the proposal binding, it will have to be formally agreed upon by Wood and Krzyk, probably the form of a contract.

The additional cost would be paid by the developer, but the contractor would be paid out of the trunk sewer fund. This would run for three years, or until all the money is received.

As discussed previously, the developers would pay their contributions as each building permit for an individual house is issued by the town building department.

DellaFera proposed also that a public utility district be established to serve the Keeney St. area. This would be a separate entity from the town and would be responsible for the sewer system.

The plan requires that each individual who builds a house on a lot in the area contribute a fixed sum of money to the town for each house they build in their planned subdivisions.

The directors last night approved the plan, but it must be approved by the voters in a referendum. The referendum will be held in the next few months.

Beth Hoffman

Miss Beth Hoffman, Beth Hoffman has been the senior school social worker in Manchester since 1958. Recently named to the state project studying mental retardation, Miss Hoffman has been a member of many committees. But the work she does on the only peripheral to her central duty here—helping kids solve their problems. This is what concerns her and this is what she wished to discuss when asked about her daily routine.

On the first three days of the week she sits, she goes to three elementary schools for appointments with parents and children and conferences with teachers and administrators.

"Most of the kids I see are having trouble making the grade in school," she said, "and I'm not sure that the parents are doing their part. The read of a letter to me was elementary school children who were in trouble in the past."

"The other group I see are serious problems. Teachers who are not sure how to handle a child who is being disruptive and not getting along with his classmates. I see a lot of children who are being disruptive and not getting along with his classmates. I see a lot of children who are being disruptive and not getting along with his classmates."

"Our four social workers are not enough to provide the service necessary," she said. "If we could do a concentration on the handicapped through fourth grade, giving the child the face-to-face relationship he needs, the problems would be fewer and of a longer term."

"The other day a boy had a seizure in two days came up and we had to take him to the hospital. He had had the seizure for the last two weeks and hoped to make it again this time."

"Three years ago this boy had been referred to me because he felt that he was a failure and that he couldn't do his work and wasn't as good as his peers. He had reached the point where he couldn't come to school."

"With a one-on-one relationship we began to work on his self-esteem. I called him and he came to school. He was a failure and that he couldn't do his work and wasn't as good as his peers. He had reached the point where he couldn't come to school."

"After that I was convinced that social work was what I wanted. I designed from teaching and returned to B. U. to study for my M. A. in Social Work. I was a failure and that he couldn't do his work and wasn't as good as his peers. He had reached the point where he couldn't come to school."

"I was wrapped up in her work and she was so helpful. Her other hobby is woodwork. She has a beautiful dining room table that she made. She has a beautiful dining room table that she made. She has a beautiful dining room table that she made."

Coast Guard Names Boss At Academy

New Superintendent of the Coast Guard Academy

NEW LONDON (AP)—The new Superintendent of the Coast Guard Academy District in Groton, Conn., is Rear Adm. Chester R. Bender, 50, Commandant of the Ninth Coast Guard District in Cleveland.

Bender's appointment as head of the Academy began July 1. He is replacing Rear Adm. William J. Smith, who will take over Bender's duties in Cleveland.

Bender, a West Virginian, served in the Coast Guard from 1932 and won his command of the Academy in 1954. He was on the staff of the Academy from 1954 to 1961.

Other changes in the Academy include the appointment of Rear Adm. William J. Smith, who will take over Bender's duties in Cleveland.

Shoplifters Work Only Short Hours

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Shoplifters rarely get up early so they'll have a longer day to steal. Department stores report most pilferage occurs between noon and 4 p.m. and comparatively little during morning or evening hours.

Teachers' Unit Seeks Law on Bargaining

Collective bargaining proposal is among those slated to be introduced by the Connecticut State Federation of Teachers (CSFT) at the first meeting of the newly re-convened state legislature, according to the union's local organ, "The Manchester Teacher."

In all, 15 bills are being read, four of them for the first time this year. Some of them, like social security participation for teachers and day-free lunch periods, date back to 1967. The collective bargaining proposal would provide for the following:

The right of teachers to bargain collectively with boards of education through representatives of their own choosing. The means of choosing and certifying the collective bargaining unit.

A definition of the role of the superintendent of schools in the collective bargaining process.

Written agreements between the board and the bargaining unit.

A State Teachers' Appeals Board to mediate and conciliate disputes resulting from a breakdown in collective bargaining.

The presentation of the proposal by the Manchester School Teachers' Association at the first meeting of the newly re-convened state legislature, according to the union's local organ, "The Manchester Teacher."

MOBOW (AP) — A judge and a prosecutor who convicted an innocent journalist on bribery charges have been fired, Pravda reported today.

The Soviet Communist party daily last December angrily interceded on behalf of A. B. Gasboy, a journalist in the town of Armarvir, who was sent to prison on trumped up bribery charges.

Gasboy was said to have offered local party bosses with his exposures of sin and corruption among the party and government elite in Armarvir.

Following the publicity in the case and the prosecutor, L. I. Kuzminykh, was dismissed. A regional judge was dismissed because he failed to review the case, the paper said. A number of officials were reprimanded.

Gasboy has been reinstated in his job on the Armarvir party newspaper, Pravda said.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A Turkish Cypriot family of three died today when their home collapsed after it was hit by a bus driven by a Greek Cypriot. The accident in the hamlet of Koloni in western Cyprus was the latest in a series of Greek and Turkish elements.

The bus and its three passengers were only slightly injured.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A detachment of 2,000 South Korean soldiers headed for South Viet Nam will receive their orders next Friday, according to the Defense Ministry.

Korea's national Assembly approved sending the military advisory group to Viet Nam last week. The force is said to include army, navy and marine corps units.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A Swedish businessman is in jail because he tried to turn over to the Soviet Union American-made electronic material used by Swedish forces.

John Uno Norman, 53, was sentenced to a 10-month prison term Monday after being convicted of attempted espionage.

Swedish officials said they had classified information on electronic material such as microtransmitters, radar material, mines and other weapons. He denied, however, he was going to sell it to the Russians.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The official Chinese National Central News Agency claimed today that anti-Communist guerrilla operations were extended to the interior of the Communist-held China mainland in the second half of last year.

The agency attributed these details to intelligence sources: "The anti-Communist operations placed time-bombs on railways in the Canton area in 25 separate instances. Many railway bridges and level crossings were destroyed."

Six Chinese Communist military depots along the rail line between Canton and Hankow were blown up by bombs.

Railway services between Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces were halted five times by time-bombs.

Guerrillas made four attacks on Communist naval transports in the Yangtze River.

Starling War Going Poorly ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An armed guard, a routing patrol of cleanup men and a special police are part of the telephone company's operations in stalling in downtown Albuquerque.

Moran-Horwath

MRS. JOHN JOSEPH MORAN

Announce Engagements

The marriage of Miss Ann Horwath of Manchester to John Joseph Moran of Amton took place Saturday morning at Concordia Lutheran Church. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Horwath, 254 Parker St. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Clara Leombruno of Amton.

The Rev. Paul Kaiser of Concordia Lutheran Church performed the double ring ceremony. David Almond was officiant.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of mauve-rose designed with ruffled neckline, long tapered sleeves, cummerbund with bow and streamers and full skirt with unpressed pleats. Her fingertip veil of tulle was attached to a beaded pillbox hat. She carried a bouquet of white miniature carnations.

Mrs. Erwin Neumann of Bristol was matron of honor. Miss Meredith Schardt of Manchester was bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in street-length blue-green brocade gowns, styled to match the bride's. They wore matching headpieces and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The bride made up her attendants in addition to her own wedding dress.

Norman Lemieux of Columbia, her best man, is the son of Amton, brother of the bridegroom, was the usher.

Mr. Moran is a senior at the University of Connecticut where he is majoring in electrical engineering. Mrs. Moran received a B.A. from the University of Connecticut. She is a Grade 3 teacher at Verplanck School.

The couple will live in Columbia.

ESLINDOR, Denmark — The world's largest automobile ferry, built by the new Arjuna, is a triple-decker that can carry 400 cars and 1,500 passengers. It is operating between Zealand, largest of the Danish islands, and the island of Funen, 10 nautical miles away.

Mr. Cargio Gaining

WASHINGTON — Air cargo is expected to increase at a rate of more than 20 per cent a year through 1965 and then taper off, industry sources estimate. Even so, growth is forecast at 20 per cent a year for the next 15 years.

Wolves Telling Story

HONOLULU — A brand-new attraction in Waikiki is the Hawaiian Wolf Museum. Sixty-two life-size figures arranged in 18 tableaux tell the history of Hawaii from ancient times through the end of the century.

Grazing a Threat

TOPEKA — Grazing animals are a threat to young hardwood forests. The animals, which damage the trees, are expected to increase at a rate of about 40 acres of woodland pasture to equal the total yield of one acre of open grassland each year for the next 15 years.

Reduction Okayed In Apartment Land

Rockville's alderman, sitting in his role as the city's zoning authority, last night approved a reduction in land requirements for apartments in the redevelopment area.

The move eliminated the possibility that redevelopment would be delayed for about six months.

The action pertained to a request acted upon in 1963 by the city council and the Rockville Planning Commission.

At that time, both boards approved a land reduction requirement that each apartment building in Rockville have 5,000 feet of open space. Last night, the requirement was reduced to 2,000 feet per apartment.

At a public hearing two weeks ago, the planning commission reversed itself and opposed the 2,000-foot minimum requirement. Commission members voted a 3,000-foot land minimum.

Lester Baum, chairman of the Rockville Redevelopment Agency, told aldermen that on the basis of previous actions, approving the 2,000-foot minimum to 12 to developers have been notified, some have presented preliminary plans for apartments in the area, and one developer, Baum said, spent $25,000 for plans.

The land reduction was approved six to three by the board.

The board also approved a zoning change on property owned by Franklin St. owned by Hartmann Enterprises and Farmco, Inc.

The change was requested by Russell Hartmann, owner of a supermarket in the area.

Hartmann told the board that his original plan was to construct an office building on the property, in back of Hartmann's Market. His present plans were to simply use the property and turn it into a parking area. He said his present space was crowded.

A long-standing problem at the Rockville Filtration Plant is apparently solved, plant superintendent Charles Pitkat told aldermen.

Pitkat noted that the plant has long been bothered by a chemical introduced into the sewerage system which disrupted bacterial destruction of waste.

Pitkat reported that samples taken from sewers leading out of the LaPointe building on W. Main St. were analyzed.

Analysis showed a high content of chrome and copper, and confirmation was made at the Research Laboratories at Wesleyan University by State Water Resources Commission.

A run through the LaPointe building revealed a machine that removes excess copper from printed circuits. Pitkat said the machine used a chromic acid solution. The acid and the materials were poured into the sewerage system.

LaPointe officials agreed to repute the drain so the mixture would not enter the sewer.

Pitkat reported he recommended LaPointe officials for cooperation.

A hearing was conducted by aldermen regarding the amending of the city's budget to provide raises for the city officials left out of the initial budget, presented recently at a public hearing.

The move calls for a salary raise for Pitkat of $200 for the period from the start of the city's fiscal year, Nov. 16, to June 31, when the city government will be dissolved for a consolidated town government. His raise was granted.

Samuel Allen, the city's building inspector, was also granted a $15 per week raise, retroactive to Nov. 16.

Selectman John Dalgle, a city resident, told aldermen that he would like to see the filtration plant superintendent, the building inspector and the recreation director that the raises were not necessary. Dalgle continued, "Now the politicians have been at work. We have to keep Charlie (Pitkat) and Sam (Allen) happy. I'm still not opposed to the raises, but they should have been made two weeks ago."

"This is a hell of a way to run a railroad," he said.

The Democratic candidates for Vernon's consolidated government will be introduced at a "Meet the Candidates Cocktail Party" Sunday at the Elks Carriage House from 2 to 6 p.m. The informal gathering is sponsored by the Democratic Women's Club.

Barbara McCauley and Katherine Deane are the area chairmen. Alice Mead will meet the coffee hours; Ruth M. Ventura, publicity; Ida McCauley will be in charge of the refreshments; and Rita DeBella, coordinator.

Bottles on display bottles on display bottles on display. A collection of antique bottles, including a bottle of the late Mrs. Cross Dr. is being exhibited at the Rockville Public Library, among the pieces on display.

ZBA to Meet Tomorrow On 2 Variance Requests

The zoning board of appeals will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the board room of the town office building to act on two requests for variance to the present zoning regulations.

Clarence A. Blaisell of Manchester is requesting permission to convert a house on premises on Cross St. to a four-family home and to use an existing barn as a horse barn, including horse training, stabling and riding academy.

William J. Messinger, president of the Northfields Construction Co. Inc. is requesting a variance in the building line of Lot 61 on Northfield Rd. as measured from the road, from 40 feet to 30 feet in order to safely compensate for an "error."

The request points out that "apparently when the foundation man positioned the footing in the cellar hole of this lot 61, he set one of the other slightly closer to the road than had been planned by our first contractor."

The statement points out that the distance by professional engineering measurement is 39.66 feet, thus the front portion of the shaped house which protrudes from the main body of the house also protrudes over the building line at a point a distance of 6 inches.

Church Officers Named Mrs. Atwood E. Carlson is superintendent of the First Congregational Church School with Jay E. Gordon Sr. as assistant.

Other officers of the church elected at the annual meeting: Miss Grace Y. White, clerk and recording secretary; Mrs. Harriet K. Hunt, treasurer; and Wesley B. Hill, director of the every-member convales with W. Bryan Honeywell and Edward A. Neuman Sr. as assistants.

AMENDMENT SOUGHT HARTFORD DISPATCH—Secretary of State Ella T. Grasso has proposed a constitutional amendment to eliminate literacy tests for new voters.

Mrs. Grasso, calling the requirement "obnoxious," said Monday "many of our citizens can't read and comprehend but can't vote."

The present law reads that a voter applicant "... shall be able to read in the English language any article of the state constitution or any section of the statutes of the state."

The English language requirement is a handicap to foreign-born citizens who are able to read foreign-language newspapers, Mrs. Grasso said.

PHILADELPHIA—The Federal Budget Bureau has ordered a study here of applications of "operations research" techniques on decision-making by federal regulatory agencies.

About $100,000 will be spent on a survey of the Interstate Commerce Commission's rate rulings, made in the hundreds of thousands a year.

The present law reads that a voter applicant "... shall be able to read in the English language any article of the state constitution or any section of the statutes of the state."

The English language requirement is a handicap to foreign-born citizens who are able to read foreign-language newspapers, Mrs. Grasso said.

PHILADELPHIA—The Federal Budget Bureau has ordered a study here of applications of "operations research" techniques on decision-making by federal regulatory agencies.

About $100,000 will be spent on a survey of the Interstate Commerce Commission's rate rulings, made in the hundreds of thousands a year.

AMENDMENT SOUGHT HARTFORD DISPATCH—Secretary of State Ella T. Grasso has proposed a constitutional amendment to eliminate literacy tests for new voters.

Mrs. Grasso, calling the requirement "obnoxious," said Monday "many of our citizens can't read and comprehend but can't vote."
