HARTFORD (AP)—Republican legislative leaders threw their full support today behind a bill that would raise the Connecticut Transportation Authority's borrowing power from $2 million to $5 million.

Hep. Louis J. Padula of Norwalk, majority leader in the House, told a public hearing before the Finance Committee that "another financial booster shot" might be needed for the CTA before the General Assembly adjourns.

Padula said that the New Haven Railroad is "in a moribund state."

"Unless bold and determined action is taken immediately on state and national levels, the chances for its recovery are poor," Padula said.

The GOP leader specifically supported a bill sponsored by the Democratic administration to beef up the CTA's bonding authorization.

The CTA was created by the 1963 General Assembly and at that time was given a $1 million cash appropriation, which is still unused, and a $1 million bonding authorization. Greater bonding power is needed to permit the state to participate with New York in a proposal

Federal Judge Invokes Ban On Huge Civil Rights March

SELMIA, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge banned a massive right-to-vote march by Negroes and white clergymen today while civil rights leaders met to decide their strategy in Alabama's mounting racial conflict.

Despite the court ban against the march to the state capital, some Negro youth leaders threatened to lead the 50-mile highway trek. The first attempted march Sunday ended in a bloody melee when state troopers clubbed marchers and then fired tear gas at them.

Several thousand Negroes thronged around the steps of a church here while Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., commanding the huge voter campaign, met with advisers.

Five hundred state troopers roiled into this racial battleground and stood by at an armory. The commanding general of the Alabama National Guard arrived and said his troops were on normal alert.

The court ban against the march was issued at Montgomery by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., who set a hearing for Thursday morning.

A Negro youth leader, John Lewis, left his hospital bed and went to Brown Chapel A.M.E. church, focal point of the drive, and vowed defiance of the judge's order—but later said a decision would have to be made by the local strategy board.

"We have just constitutional right to march," he shouted to the mass of Negroes and a large number of white clergymen from throughout the nation.

Alabama-born, national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was injured in Sunday's attempted march.

"This is just another example of the federal court violating the rights of the people," Lewis said. James Farmer, head of the Congress of Racial Equality, said he was disappointed in the order. He said he would be in the march if it came off.

Driving by the church earlier was Maj. Gen. Alfred C. Harrison, commander of the Alabama National Guard, who said his men were ready if needed.

The federal judge, requested by Negroes to bar police interference, said he needed an opportunity "to make a judicial determination as to the respective rights of the parties in this case."

Johnson's ruling came in response to a petition filed Monday by three Negro leaders in the voter drive. They had asked for an injunction against police interference with their march.

Neither state nor local authorities had filed any pleading before the federal judge.

"This court does not see from the complaint any justification for issuing a temporary restraining order without notice to the defendants and without a hearing," Johnson said.

"There will be no irreparable harm if the plaintiffs will await

Viet Cong Recruits Given Bad Beating

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Some 800 Viet Cong recruits, directed from North Viet Nam and all armed with fine weapons, smashed confidently at the mountain outpost of Kannak early Monday and got one of the worst beatings Communist forces in the area have had in months.

Government officers claimed at least 100 of the enemy were killed. This news was confirmed by Viet Cong bodies today around the hill perimeter of the camp, and they probably were mangled more.

The Communist troops fought hard, overrunning two small outposts a few hundred yards away. They had some of the best infantry weapons made by Communist China, including rocketless cannon and the new Chinese armor-piercing rocket launcher.

But the Viet Cong troops were green, and they were facing some of the toughest veterans in Viet Nam.

Most of the enemy dead appeared to have been in their late teens or early twenties.

Twenty-two bodies were strewn close together in a patch of open ground in front of a government machine-gun bunker that cut them all down.

Bodies were about 400 irregular mountain troops, their families and nine American Special Forces men.

As the men fought, their wounded ammunition magazines, unopened money shells and dressed wounds.

Kannak is a key post astride strategic Mang Yang Pass 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

Thirty-three of the defenders were taken prisoner.

Neither the unit president, David J. McDonald, nor the industry's chief negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper, were present.

A spokesman for the union said talks were merely beginning where they left off when they were suspended last January because of the union's election campaign.

James Griffin, USW director for the Youngstown, Ohio, district, said, "I am hopeful settlement will be reached by May 1."

The union is free to strike on that date. It has three times refused to extend the deadline.

That leaves only 31 days for the union to reach agreement with 11 major steel producers on contract demands, including such issues as "dignity on the job" and total job security.

The union says the 31 days provide plenty of time.

Some 100 union negotiators met Monday for last-minute instructions from President David J. McDonald.

Later, McDonald declined to make a statement.

A steelworkers spokesman said McDonald made a "passing and matter of fact" reference to extending the contract deadline.

The spokesman quoted McDonald as saying that such a decision could be made only by the union's 170-member wage policy

Events In State LBJ Denounces Brutality Against Negroes in Selma

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson deplored today police brutality against Negroes in Selma, Ala., and called on Negro and white leaders there to approach this tense situation with calmness, reasonableness and respect for law and order.

Johnson in a statement, also announced he has directed the Justice Department to act as a "friend of the court" in seeking a ruling that would permit Negroes to "exercise their right to walk from Selma to Montgomery in order to focus attention on their efforts to secure the right to register and vote."

Press secretary George E. Reedy made it clear that Johnson wanted civil rights leaders to obey any court order banning such a march, however. An order banning the march was issued by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. in Selma.

Johnson also disclosed that he will submit to Congress next week a special message designed to "make it possible for every citizen to vote."

Johnson, in referring to Sunday's violence in Selma, said, "I am certain Americans everywhere join in deploring the violence with which a number of Negro citizens of Alabama were treated when they sought to dramatize their deep and sincere interest in attaining the precious right to vote."

Johnson said that "ever since the events of Sunday afternoon the administration has been in close touch with the situation, and has made every effort to prevent a repetition."

Reedy said the president's plan for leaders to be calm, reasonable and show respect for law and order had been conveyed to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the Selma demonstration. He did not say how the views of the Selma demonstrators were:

Johnson phrased his appeal in these words:

"I urge all who are in position of influencing the conduct of others to approach this tense situation with calmness, reasonableness and respect for law and order."

Before issuing the statement, Johnson had talked over the Selma situation with Democratic congressional leaders.

House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts told reporters that "every effort is being made to be stopped there and didn't elaborate. Then he added:

"There is a profound appreciation of the acuteness of the Selma situation. It is a matter of national concern. It is a matter of national concern. It is a matter of national concern."

Eleven youthful demonstrators—most of whom were in their late teens—were arrested.

"The President," he said, "is in touch with Mr. (Atty. Gen.) Katzenbach and other leaders and is following developments on an hour by hour basis." Katzenbach has said the federal government has "a limited authority and a limited capacity to act" in the situation.

McCormack repeated what he had said previously about the violence in Selma Sunday when state troopers broke up a Negro march on the state capital, Montgomery. He called it "a disgraceful exhibition of arbitrary police justice."

The Justice Department, demonstrators resumed their sit-in outside the office of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

Town Sits and Waits For Ice Cover to Go

MISSOURI VALLEY, Iowa (AP)—At the police radio microphone in City Hall, Mayor H. R. Watson hoists his feet on a desk and munches a sandwich.

"Sit still and wait. That's all we can do," says the mayor, a wry cat owner who sports polished cowboy boots and a cattleman's hat.

Outside, traffic splashes between banked-up piles of ice. Green dump trucks rumble by on their way to the dikes.

Garage owner Ray Smith has started to pump the water from his basement. But, like more than 1,000 others forced from their homes by floods, he isn't hurrying to move back in.

"I've rented another house for a month," he says. "I'm staying until the ice is gone."

Builders have packed back the deep layer of ice from the street by Smith's home and water runs eight inches deep. In the next block, streets are locked tight with ice between uninhabited houses whose occu-

Protests Discrimination 'That Just Isn't Fair,' Says Woman Scientist

NEW YORK (AP)—If you think it's all roses and recognition for women in science, you should hear a prominent Harvard bacteriologist tell it.

Dr. Ruth B. Kunitz writes in the winter issue of the Harvard Medical Alumni Bulletin that women in the United States have been victims of both prejudice and discrimination; the women in science more so than others.

Married and the mother of two children, Dr. Kunitz says she enjoys being a woman, but resents "not being offered the same opportunities men have."

The more highly accomplished women scientists, she maintains, the greater the resentment, and from her own sex.

"If she has a sprinkling of Harvardian traits, her male colleagues are flirtatious," Dr. Kunitz says. "If she looks like a benevolent moon, they are

Dynamite Found

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP)—Four sticks of dynamite, without wires or detonator caps attached, were found in a men's rosin waste basket in the main terminal building at Bradley Field early today.

State Police said they were investigating the incident.

The dynamite, they said, could have come from one of several construction sites in the nearby area.

11 Companies Resume Steel Negotiations

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union resumed labor negotiations today with 11 major companies in basic steel.

Neither the union president, David J. McDonald, nor the industry's chief negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper, were present.

A spokesman for the union said talks were merely beginning where they left off when they were suspended last January because of the union's election campaign.

James Griffin, USW director for the Youngstown, Ohio, district, said, "I am hopeful settlement will be reached by May 1."

Court Voids Dempsey Veto

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut's highest court says Gov. John N. Dempsey lacked constitutional power to veto three sections of general legislation included in the budget bill by Republicans in the 1963 General Assembly.

The State Supreme Court errors also ruled, however, that one of the controversial sections was in itself unconstitutional.

The tribunal stated further in its opinion Monday that the inclusion of general legislation in an appropriations act was in violation of the state statute even though there was no constitutional bar against it.

The five-man court's unanimous decision, written by Chief Justice John Hamilton King, represents a partial victory for GOP legislators in a battle with the Democratic administration over budgetary procedure.

In the person of House Speaker J. Tyler, the Republicans brought legal actions against administration officials to uphold budget provisions forced through the politically divided legislature two years ago. They appealed Superior Court decisions in favor of the defendants.

At the bottom of the controversy was a running battle between Republicans and Democrats during the 1963 session of the legislature as to whether the state would and the two-year fiscal period on June 30, 1963, with a deficit or a surplus.

Two years before, the governor predicted that the state would end the biennium with a $22 million deficit because of budget cuts by House Republicans. Instead, the state ended the biennium with a $4.1 million surplus.

In 1963, the Republican-controlled house forced the administration to accept a GOP appropriations bill. This slashed the Governor's budget by some $30 million and eliminated some $60 million in tax increases proposed by the administration.

A third section directed the state comptroller to include in the revenue for the fiscal year ending on June 30, 1963, revenue

The New Math Locally, II Arrays Replace Rote For Verplanck Class

ROBERT MELPATRICK
The new math program being used in the Verplanck school is definitely not what fourth graders at that school are doing these days. The memorizing of multiplication tables has given way to a more modern method.

Of one of the pupils in Mrs. Joan Rogers' new math pilot project, she said: "I know 9 times 8 equals 56. I know 8 times 8 equals 64. I know 7 times 8 equals 56. I know 6 times 8 equals 48. I know 5 times 8 equals 40. I know 4 times 8 equals 32. I know 3 times 8 equals 24. I know 2 times 8 equals 16. I know 1 times 8 equals 8."

She said that she had made a list of all the numbers from 1 to 100 and had written down all the multiplication facts. She said that she had also written down all the division facts. She said that she had also written down all the addition and subtraction facts. She said that she had also written down all the facts about the number system.

BOY SCOUT Notes and News

Troop 119
Boy Scout Troop 119 of Connecticut Lutheran Church recently spent the weekend at the camp of the U.S. Navy at the Air Base at Quonset Point, Rhode Island.

A comprehensive tour started Saturday morning and ended Sunday afternoon. Highlights of the visit included a tour of the U.S. Navy aircraft carrier, a visit with Air-anti-Submarine Squadron 14 and a tour of air operations at the base.

For evening activities, the boys chose to make use of the giant indoor swimming pool at the base. On Sunday morning the troop made formation with the Marine Band and the United States Marine Band. Scouts attended a Catholic Mass or Protestant service at the chapel on the base. After the pool meal at the mess hall, the boys left for the Municipal Building hearing room.

The proposed reclassification plan would upgrade the pay for certain individuals and categories of employees, but not for other individuals and categories. Town employees have expressed interest in the plan, since it apparently discriminates without justification against some employees or classes of employees.

The plan, for example, increases the pay scale for some department heads but not for other employees who have been with the town more than 10 years and a half—but leaves never clerical help on a lower pay scale, apparently permanently.

Nor has there apparently been any effort to explain the plan to the employees who it will affect.

The plan was prepared by General Manager Richard Marzullo's office—not by the newly appointed town personnel officer, who was ostensibly hired to handle the reclassification plan.

Because of the apparent resistance to the plan, the directors are reportedly ready to table the reclassification proposal and turn the job over to an outside agency. It might also be done by the manager eventually appointed to replace Marzullo, who plans to resign this year.

If town employees are to be affected differently by the reclassification plan, an outside agency could do the job without arousing suspicions of favoritism, some directors feel.

The directors will also consider redefining the town personnel officer's position.

Water and sewer problems on the agenda include:

1. A sanitary sewer trunk line for the Koenig St. area.
2. A sanitary sewer trunk line from the Green area to the Olcott St. treatment plant.
3. A sanitary sewer trunk line running over its designed capacity.
4. Studies of the quantity and quality of the water available in the town water system, and recommendations for improvement.

Wage Plan On Agenda

A plan to reclassify some town employees on a new pay scale will be among six items before the town board of directors at an interim meeting tonight.

The plan, which has aroused considerable dissatisfaction among some town employees, is reportedly due to be adopted by the directors.

Also on the agenda for tonight's session are discussions of new personnel rules and a variety of water and sewer subjects.

The meeting is set for 8 at the Municipal Building hearing room.

School Budget Approved, Up $404,000

It will cost Vernon residents an additional $404,000 for the school year next year. The increase brings the 1965-66 school budget to $2,400,000. The school board's budget totaled $2,000,000.

The proposed budget sailed by the school board at its meeting last night. The meeting was held at the school building on the Lake Street Elementary School.

Board member Frank DeTolla, chairman of the budget committee, told the board that 90 percent of the budget will go to pay salaries and fringe benefits for employees of the school system.

DeTolla noted that about 30 new staff members will be hired by the school system in September. Presently, there are 5,270 students enrolled in Vernon schools.

During a discussion of the budget, Dr. Raymond J. DeTolla, superintendent of schools, said he is below the state average. The state average is currently $1,000 per pupil.

William Smith, a member of the board, said that it will be six or seven years at our present financial expansion before we reach the present state cost-per-student.

Dr. Ramadell indicated that the budget presented last night might be a compromise budget. He said that additional preparations for an annual school budget will be made.

Town Water System, II Study Shows Ways To Increase Supply

(Editor's note: This article is the second of a two-part series outlining a study of water quantity available to the town water department's customers. The first part dealt with the town's present and anticipated water needs; this article proposes ways to meet those needs.)

By PHINEAS FISKE
Within the next few years, Manchester must make a significant effort to increase the availability of its town water supply.

Although the overall capacity of the town's water supply is sufficient through about 1980, the amount of water available at any one time is not sufficient to meet demands that occur during the peak demand hours of peak demand.

The most pressing need identified by the study is for improvements to the water supply system to increase the amount of water available at any one time to meet demands that occur during the peak demand hours of peak demand.

Plans presented for the need for increasing the amount of water available at any one time to meet demands that occur during the peak demand hours of peak demand.

The total capacity of the system eventually must also be increased to keep up with population increases and high-capacity water consumption, sometime around 1980.

A detailed report of the study, as outlined in the water quantity study, was presented to the town's water department last week.

In response to these needs, the report recommends: 1. The most pressing requirement is to bring the system up to par to increase water resources to serve the high areas.

The increase should be achieved, the report says, by enlarging the capacity of the pump feeding the Rockledge storage tank, or increasing the available storage facilities.

The town is already studying the possibility of increasing pump capacity. The pump must be able to handle water at a rate capable of meeting peak hourly demands (over 10 million gallons per day) and to meet fire underwriters' standards, the report says.

If pumping is impossible, additional storage should be provided. The estimated maximum cost for the project is $300,000.

Improvements recommended to bolster the low area water supply system are: 1. To increase the yield from the Park St. well; 2. To increase the yield from the Park St. well; 3. To increase the yield from the Park St. well.

To increase the pumping capacity of the Cooper Hill filter plant to 8 million gallons per day at an estimated cost of $250,000.

The plant treats water from the Globe Hollow reservoir; its filter beds have a capacity of 2 million gallons per day but the pumps which push water through can only handle water at the rate of 1.1 million gallons per day.

Increasing the pump capacity would boost the rate at which water could be introduced into the low area system by 2 million gallons per day.

In addition, the filter beds could be expanded to up to the rate another million gallons per day. The separate water quality recommendations that the filters at the Cooper Hill plant be rebuilt.

To construct a new detention reservoir to store additional water, at a cost of about $400,000.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
(Advance) The coastal towns of Old Orchard Beach, Maine, where sewage on a scale of 100 million gallons a day has taken action to combat the problem and no bill has been passed to clean up the water.

But serious water pollution remains a problem in much of New England.

The extent and nature of programs to correct pollution vary greatly from state to state.

Massachusetts state officials say they have been trying to clean up the Merrimack River since 1960.

The three northern states, with more forest land and less pollution, have adopted programs of clean-up in the Merrimack River since 1960.

White House press secretary George E. Bostwick made this announcement today. He said Johnson had been spending about a month of his time on foreign affairs lately.

The principal problem now is Vietnam. Diplomats consider that all of Johnson's travel plans for this year are in doubt, if not actually suspended.

The State of the Union message Jan. 6, Johnson said he hoped to go to Latin America and visit Europe during the year. Subsequently the president said he would go to the Soviet Union.

But he also pointed out that diplomatic problems in Latin America might have been an additional reason in delaying plans for a trip there.

Martin Gets Rec Budget

General Manager Richard Martin last night reviewed the list of 43 departmental budget requests for the 1965-66 fiscal year — that of the combined park and rec department.

He took the $255,122 request under advisement and said that he will review the pay scale for part-time rec employees before he releases his own recommended figures.

Martin replied that the budget was not set, and would be subject to review by both himself and the board of directors. He made it plain, however, that the part-time positions are filled each year, "if not by the

For this, too, a list of locations of Manchester relics will be valuable and interesting to the present and future generations of Manchester residents.
