Marchers in Selma Blocked by Sheriff

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Troopers blocked the opposite end of the street. Sheriff James G. Clark took command of a city street today and blocked about 500 marchers seeking to hold a courthouse memorial service for a slain clergyman. Five abreast, the ranks of white ministers, priests and nuns, followed by Negro students and other white and Negro civil rights leaders, marched from two churches in a Negro housing area. They headed for the courthouse and a memorial service for the Rev. James J. Ray, 38, Boston minister. He died Thursday night of injuries suffered by white men shortly after he took part in a civil rights march. Clark and his khaki-clad possemen and deputies barred marchers before they got past the first street intersections. The marchers disbanded after a short time. But about 50 Negroes and a few white clergy continued a vigil in the street. The vigil began last Wednesday and has continued round-the-clock. Negro leaders requested permission to stage the march in ranks of three, instead of five. But this was rejected by county and city officials. City policemen replaced wooden sawhorses as barricades in front of the vigil. State

Both Parties Support Aid For Schools

HARTFORD (AP) — Leaders of both parties pledged support today for increased state aid to towns for education, including funds earmarked for special programs to assist children from low-income families.

House Speaker J. Tyler Patterson, R-Old Lyme, noted in his testimony before the legislature's Education Committee that the Republican Party platform endorses the principle of special aid for disadvantaged children.

"It is time for something like this," Patterson said. "The GOP, he said, intends 'to the very best of our ability' to fulfill its platform pledge. Patterson said the Republicans also favor boosting the state grants to the towns for general aid to education.

The Democratic administration's spokesman at the hearing, Sen. Fred J. Doocy, D-Wallingford, president pro tempore of the Senate, said the two programs "will strongly reinforce the state's commitment to a public education system of the first quality, offering truly equal opportunities to all Connecticut children."

Although they are subject to change, bills filed by both the Republicans and the administration would provide $10 million for programs for disadvantaged children.

The money would be divided among the towns on the basis of two yardsticks: the number of families in a community with incomes of less than $4,000 would be compared with the number in the state as a whole to determine the local percentage.

"The number of children in a community who are recipients of the state's principal public welfare program, Aid to Dependent Children, would be compared with the total ADC caseload.

By either standard, it is expected the bulk of the money would go to the state's biggest cities with their large concentrations of low-income families. In the field of general aid to the towns for education, the administration is proposing that the existing grants to the towns be increased by $18 per pupil. The total cost of this increase has been figured at $20 million.

Thus, the total the Dempsey administration wants for the two categories of assistance is $30 million. Doocy said the across-the-board increase in the regular per-pupil grants is "clearly warranted by the critical and growing needs of every Connecticut community."

A delegation of more than 70 New Haven residents, who came to the hearing to support the disadvantaged children bills, received personal thanks from the governor during a brief visit in his office.

The group was led by State Rep. Albert R. Webber, D-New Haven, and Mitchell Sviridoff, who heads Community Progress Inc., an organization that is attacking problems of New Haven's low-income groups.

Dempsey told the group that his budget recommendation for $10 million to be spent in the coming biennium to help towns conduct special education programs for disadvantaged children must have broad public support if it is to be enacted by the legislature.

Many people who approve of such proposals somehow fail to let their elected representatives know it, he said.

They Remember

ROME, Ideas of March (AP) — A few nostalgic hearts in modern Rome remembered Julius Caesar on this 18th of March 2,009 years after he was stabbed to death.

As a drippy dawn broke bleakly over the pale marble ghosts of the ruined Roman forum, a few of the faithful slipped up quietly to place little floral offerings at the life-sized bronze statue.

It happens every year on this day. The donors are anonymous. Some skeptics suggest darkly that the city put them there to keep a tourist-attraction tradition.

NYC Censors Lose Appeal In Top Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that a New York tribunal erred in upholding state officials who refused to license the showing of a Danish movie unless two asserted obscene scenes were eliminated.

The Supreme Court wrote no opinion in its action, which applied to a film called, "A Stranger Kicks." The court, however, cited a March 1 decision in a Maryland movie censorship case. In the Maryland case, the court said that state's law did not provide for a quick judicial review of asserted obscenity of films.

The Motion Picture Division of the New York State Education Department had denied a license to Trans-Lux Distributing Corp., owner of U.S. district rights for the Danish movie, Trans-Lux appealed to

Ex-Thug Hit By Five Shots In Bay State

BOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP) — An ex-convict was shot and critically wounded early today in an obvious gangland assassination attempt as he sat in a parked car outside a girl friend's home.

Francis J. Smith, 44, living in Tewksbury since his release from Walpole State Prison last November, was hit by at least five bullets fired at close range.

He was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston where he underwent emergency surgery. His condition was described as "very critical."

Nineteen men have been slain in gangland style in the Greater Boston area since March 11, 1964.

Police said Miss Marilyn Marks, 32, who was seated in the car with Smith, told two men stepped out of the shadows, fired point blank at Smith, then ran away.

Smith was arrested in 1957 to 15 to 18 years in state prison for bombing a funeral director's home in suburban Woburn. Police said then Smith apparently bombed the home in a mistaken belief it was the dwelling of a bigtime bookie.

Smith's long police record included charges of bank robbery and assault with a deadly

Loren Exhibits Esprit d'ecole

TIVERTON, England (AP) — Sphia Loren was at the movies in "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," and the boys at the Blundell School heard she did a striptease.

Thirty of the lads whose parents pay Blundell $1.150 a year to educate them slipped away to the movie house during hours when they should have been at school.

One of the masters spotted them coming out of the cinema palace and told the headmaster. Twenty-one boys admitted to breaking school rules. Their housemasters gave each of them six strokes of the cane.

Punch Swann, one of the masters, had an idea to ease the pain. He invited the Italian film star to attend the school's annual June garden party, which raises money for the education of six African children.

Sphia, making a movie in Yorkshire, promised to attend if she is in England.

"I couldn't let any of those boys down after all that pain they went through," she said. "I was very touched when I read about the poor boys being caned. As your English schoolmasters say, it hurt me more than it hurt them."

University President Wins Discipline Fight

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Clark Kerr was still president of the 65,000-student University of California today after an apparent victory in a showdown with the Board of Regents over student discipline.

The regents appeared still divided on how swiftly and strongly unconfirming students should be disciplined. Kerr, 53, a former labor negotiator who knows the art of dickered, and acting Chancellor Martin Meyerson withdrew their threat of resignations Saturday after a 5 1/2-hour, closed-door emergency session with regents.

The educators, however, left the door open. Their announcement said they had decided to continue "pending further discussions with the Board of Regents."

Presumably these "further discussions" will climax the regular March 25-26 regents' meeting. Peronists Poll Well; Laborites Under Fire

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Peronists and neo-Peronists who believe he should stay in exile in Spain.

This cleavage between the two Peronist factions was expected to help the government in the chamber.

Peron reportedly followed the elections closely at his luxurious exile villa outside Madrid.

Spanish officials expressed doubt, however, that he would make any public statement on the outcome because of his tourist status in Spain. After he tried unsuccessfully to return to Argentina last year, Peron was allowed to go back to Spain on the promise that he would not engage in any political activity on Spanish soil.

England

LONDON (AP) — The British House of Commons is heading into a period of trench warfare. Government and opposition forces are digging in for a war of attrition.

With a majority of less than half a dozen votes, the situation is crucial for Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who was elected last October on an action platform to "get Britain moving again." In six months Wilson has not introduced one bill embodying his major election pledges.

A rent control bill is due for a vote next week, and capital gains and corporation taxes come in next month with the annual budget. But controversial measures to rationalize steel and nationalize vacant building land are believed to

Raid Hits Spot Close To Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — More than 100 U.S. Air Force and Navy planes smashed a North Vietnamese ammunition depot only 100 miles south of Hanoi today. Officials said it may have been the most punishing raid on North Viet Nam to date.

Col Hal I. Price, director of operations for the 2nd Air Division, identified the target as Phu Qui. He said 20 buildings said it was not learned whether the plane crashed because of battle damage. He added it was the only known loss of raid and damage suffered from ground fire was light.

Price said preliminary reports from pilots said there were numerous secondary explosions during what he termed an excellent strike. He said when full reports are in the Phu Qui ammunition depot probably can be referred to in past tense.

The depot is located 100 miles south of Hanoi, 180 miles north of the border and 38 miles from the frontier of Laos. Price said the strike was valuable from a military standpoint because the depots were in a strategic position along the Ho Chi Minh supply trail.

Price said the 30 buildings hit ranged up to 135 feet long and 28 feet wide.

The target area was spread over a square mile and the buildings were widely dispersed. The ammunition depot was ringed with considerable flak. Price said, but an element of surprise was apparently on the side of American raiders.

Price said the attacking force — which came from Southeast Asian bases — used rockets, 20mm cannons and bombs. The aerial strike force was made up of about two-thirds Navy and one-third Air Force. No Vietnamese planes participated.

Price said the Communist aircraft loss during the raid, which started about 2 p.m. and ended at 4 p.m.

The Navy aircraft included A1, A4, F4, F8 planes and the F105 and F106 jets.

U.S. B57 bombers made 23 strikes on suspected Viet Cong positions in two provinces of South Viet Nam. Heavy fighting was reported in various parts of the country.

U.S. spokesman said the raid on Phu Qui was carried out "in view of the continued acts of aggression perpetrated at Hanoi's direction against the South Vietnamese people, the political and economic institutions."

The attack was the sixth strike in the series of raids on North Viet Nam started Feb. 7. It also was the closest to Ho Chi Minh's Communist capital. However, U.S. Navy planes hit one target north of Hanoi last August in the retaliatory raids for North Vietnamese torpedo

Film Stunt Misfires but Stays in Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three movie stunt workers' narrow brush with death in a stunt that went wrong was captured on film and will be kept in the completed motion picture, says director Andrew V. McLaglen.

The accident occurred last Thursday at Indio, Calif., on the location of the film "The Rare Breed," in a scene showing the crackup of a buckboard wagon that was speeding ahead of a stampeding herd of longhorn cattle.

Two women and one man suffered minor injuries and shock, a studio spokesman said. Instead of being thrown clear of the overturning wagon as planned, stunt girls Stephanie Epper and Patty Elder were slammed under the wagon.

They landed in a shallow pit which held a camera. The pit gave the girls space enough to roll out from under the wagon.

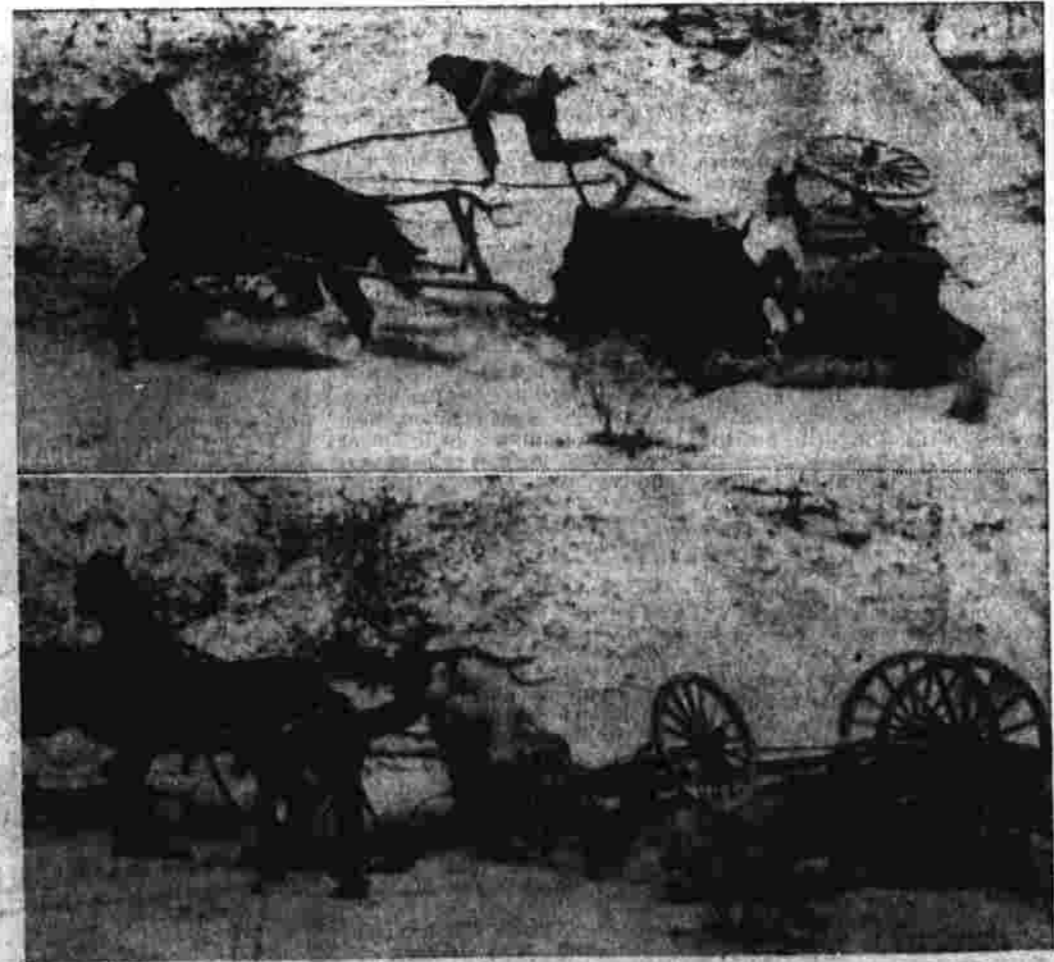

The accident duplicated another recent stunt mishap in which a man was killed, the spokesman said.

Stunt man Hal Needham suffered a wrenched shoulder when he was pulled forward by the two horses he was driving as the wagon cracked up.

McLaglen said he forgot to have the three cameras stopped when the accident occurred, and that though the mishap wasn't in the script, the scene would be preserved in the film.

"I was sure they were killed," said Maureen O'Hara on witnessing the crash. "It's a miracle they weren't."

Costar James Stewart added: "If an accident like that took place on a movie set, they'd all be dead now."

Two stunt girls, Stephanie Epper and Patty Elder, were to have been thrown clear of the buckboard in this scene, but they were pinned underneath it. They escaped serious injury. (AP Photofax.)

Brush Fires, Bicycle on Ice Give Firemen Busy Weekend

The Bolton Fire Department had a very busy weekend, starting at 9:30 Saturday morning and ending yesterday afternoon. The Saturday morning call was a brush fire on Johnson Rd. off Rt. 8 on the property of Charles Zaccaro.

At 9:45 p.m. the department was called to investigate burning embers left unattended at the corner of Hobson and Loomis Rd. on the property of Aldo Pease.

At 9:25 a.m. Sunday Chief Peter Massolini was notified that a boy had fallen through the ice on Notch Pond on a bicycle. The boy had climbed the ice to retrieve his bicycle.

At 1:45 Sunday afternoon the department was called to 95 Plymouth Lane, a student in the University of Connecticut School of Engineering, has been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester.

Chief Massolini reminds residents that this is a very dry time of year and that there should be no outdoor burning without a permit except in an approved incinerator.

Permits may be obtained from the following fire warden: Massolini, on Notch Rd.; Paul Managala, Steeple Crossing Rd.; Hugo Broda and John Gerardi, Birch Mt.; Leslie Harlow, Toland Rd.; George Rose, Bolton Center Rd. and Donald Bedford, Rt. 82.

The Ladies Benevolent Society of Bolton Congregational Church will meet for a potluck supper in the Education Building tomorrow at 6:45.

The regular monthly voter-making session will be held in the Hartford office building offices. The selection will sign bills but the meeting has been postponed so that the selection can attend the wake of Anthony A. Managala, town tax collector for many years.

All members of St. Maurice societies will meet at the John P. Tierney Funeral home to hear the Rev. Fr. Managala, pastor of the church, officiate at the funeral.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. plans to relocate its Manchester district office to the former Bestall Bros. store at E. Center St. near Goodwin St.

The insurance company, with offices now in the Manchester Parkside, plans a 4,700 square foot office in the front portion of the old furniture showroom.

The zoning board of appeals twice denied builder John Baroni a special exception to construct the building, once in July and once in October, although Metropolitan officials cautioned they might move out of town if they could not relocate at the proposed location.

The owner of the motorcycle, Dennis E. Machie, 18, of Hartford, was charged with operating a motor vehicle (motorcycle) without a license and was summoned to appear at the Superior Court on March 22.

NYC Censors Lose Appeal In Top Court

The Supreme Court, contending the state censorship law as applied was an unconstitutional prior restraint on freedom of expression. This is Thompson's second season with the Workshop. He is a makeup artist with the studio, Hartford, and has conducted several clinics and courses in the art of stage makeup.

The state court's main opinion stated that "a filmed presentation of sexual intercourse, whether real or simulated, is just as subject to state prohibition as similar conduct if engaged in on the street."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today Ohio's imposition of a personal property tax on out-of-state insurance companies. The court's decision was announced in a brief order. Justice Hugo Black noted a dissent.

Francis E. Wilson, 25, of 302 W. Center St., was charged with allowing a person under 18 to drive a motor vehicle without insurance, and he was ordered to appear in court on March 29.

Edward G. Gaudet, 62, of 55 Clinton St., was charged with allowing a dog to roam and was summoned to appear in court on March 29.

Robert E. Prentiss, 28, of 212 E. 2nd St., was charged with failure to obey state traffic control on Charter Oak St. he said.

Chris Glenney Dies, On Main St. 55 Years

Christopher Glenney, 52, whose career at Glenney's Men Shop at 789 Main St. covered 55 years at the same location, died suddenly this morning at his home, 78 Porter St. Glenney, a director of the Savings Bank of Manchester and a member of its mortgage committee.

When Mr. Glenney first entered into business in 1910 with Arthur Hultman, the shop was known as Glenney-Hultman. At that time there were two other shops in Manchester that carried men's clothing, House's and one operated by George Smith, which also carried women's clothing.

In 1926 he went into business for himself, running a haberdashery at his home location until the time of his death. His son, Robert, is president of the shop.

A. A. Maneggia Dies; Bolton Tax Collector

Anthony Andrew Maneggia, tax collector for Bolton for 34 years, died suddenly at his home on Rt. 6 early yesterday morning. He was 88 years old.

Mr. Maneggia had succeeded his father as tax collector and took an active interest in town affairs. He was a member of St. Maurice Church, where he was a trustee and member of the Holy Name and Nocturnal Adoration Societies. He was also a member of the Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, Manchester and Bolton Grange.

Mr. Maneggia was born in New York City, the first of eight children of Andrew E. and Jenny V. Casarri Maneggia. His father was in the grocery business in Brooklyn but, deciding that the city was no place to raise children, began to look for a place in the country. He found it in Bolton, where he lived for 15 years, in a colonial house on Rt. 6 now owned by the family.

The family arrived in Bolton in 1870. Mr. Maneggia was born in Bolton on Oct. 1, 1876. He was a member of the Bolton Grange and the Bolton Grange. He was a member of the Bolton Grange and the Bolton Grange.

Events 'In World'

PARIS (AP)—No national political trends emerged in municipal and council elections throughout France Sunday. Voters generally stuck to familiar faces.

In Paris, Marseilles and other places where no one got a clear majority, another ballot will be held Sunday. Voting was held in 37,799 communities for 474,414 municipal councilors.

The Socialist mayor of Marseilles, Gaston Deferre, who has announced he will become President Charles de Gaulle in December, a presidential election was held in a struggle with Gaullists, a Socialist and Communist.

The Gaullists seemed to be in a good position to get control of the Paris city hall but were trailing in Lyon, Marseilles and Nice. A center coalition has controlled the Paris administration since 1958. He became a councilor in 1958, population 2,000,000.

Among those elected was Premier Georges Pompidou, who had never stood for office before. He became a councilor in 1958, population 2,000,000.

Group Rates To Hold Thru 1965 More Families Benefited From Blue Cross In 1964 Than Ever Before

Last year, Connecticut Blue Cross provided greater value for its membership dollar than ever before. And more Connecticut people experienced the security of knowing Blue Cross was there to help pay the bill when hospital care became necessary...

Reimbursement For Care

Reimbursements to hospitals for care rendered to Connecticut Blue Cross members reached a record one-year high of $53,743,723 in 1964, an increase of $5,046,077 over benefits paid in 1963.

Result: Operating Loss

This record payment, plus Blue Cross operating expense, resulted in an operating loss of $2,725,304. Additional income of $1,347,570 from investments of the Blue Cross reserve fund helped to reduce the loss to a net operating deficit of $1,377,734.

Reason: Cost of Care Up

The modern hospital of today has become a community health center providing a vast range of care 24 hours a day.

Utilization Also Up

The use of hospital care facilities by Blue Cross members is on the increase. In addition, total Blue Cross membership continues to increase every year.

Reserves: The Stabilizer

The 1964 deficit was offset by drawing the needed money from the Blue Cross reserve fund. This illustrates the importance of adequate reserves.

Expense: A Record Low

Despite the rising costs of virtually everything, the ratio of Blue Cross operating expense to premium income was reduced in 1964 to 4.2 cents of each membership dollar.

Membership: An Increase

Every year, more people choose Blue Cross to provide protection against the unexpected cost of hospital care.
