Refuse Group Sets Meeting

The four-town Northeast Refuse Disposal District (NRDD), consisting of Manchester, Vernon, South Windsor and Bolton, will meet at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in the Municipal Building Hearing Room to decide its future course of action.

The NRDD, a paper organization with no financing power, failed to endorse legislation which would have granted it those powers and its March meeting was adjourned with the district's organization in jeopardy.

The vote to endorse the legislation, now before the State Assembly, failed to pass when five of Manchester's six delegates voted "no." Francis D'Almeida, the town's sixth delegate, voted with the representatives of the other three towns for endorsement.

The five local delegates objected to the bonding clause, which would have given the district autonomous power to finance operations up to a $4 million limit. They insisted that financing should be permitted only after a referendum vote in each of the four member towns.

A public hearing on the proposed legislation before the State Assembly's Cities and Towns Committee, Reps. Steve Cavanaugh and Atty. Paul Groobert, Town Council Irving Aronson and Chamber of Commerce vice president Bruce Walden all urged approval of the measure.

Comsat Satellite Orbiting Earth

By HOWARD BENEDICT AP Aerospace Writer CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The pioneering Early Bird communications satellite raced today toward an outpost where it is to become a switchboard for the first public utility spawned by the space age.

The first satellite designed for commercial use was injected into an elliptical orbit ranging from 800 to 22,800 miles. In mid-morning Thursday, a ground signal is to ignite a motor aboard the satellite to shift it into a circular path in which both high and low points would be about 22,800 miles.

Ground controllers then are to fire small gas jets aboard the satellite for a week to nudge it gingerly toward its stationary position. The launching was the first venture into space for Comsat, a new federal agency created by the Communications Act of 1962. The utility plans to have a global space communications network by 1970.

If successful, Early Bird will open a new era in the history of communications. For the first time, the public will be able to call the same time British policy at a time when American and Soviet labor negotiators and North Viet Nam are slowly closing the conflict in Southeast Asia.

Circuit Court of Connecticut Police, Records, Tickets

In addition to the well-known organization of troops throughout the state, such as Troop G, stationed at the Westport barracks, there are special units attached to State Police headquarters in Hartford.

These special units roam the state assigned to whatever location their services appear to be most needed. A unit of roadblocks is dispatched from headquarters in Hartford to operate in the western part of the state while another unit covers the eastern portion of the state. Each unit has sufficient personnel to set up several roadblocks, each team consisting of a radar operator and the "chaser" driver. Different unannounced locations are selected on a daily basis upon assignment by the state.

Another special unit originating in Hartford is the vice squad, best known for surprise raids in conjunction with local police and the prosecutor's office upon such familiar places as bookies, policy players, and purveyors of obscene literature.

Close coordination between the state vice squad, local police and the prosecutor's office often makes the difference between a successful prosecution and the criminal prosecution resulting from the raid.

that which is sent to the proper court so that a file may be made up. The accused may sign this original, promising to appear in court on the specified date, and for the average non-serious violation thus avoids the posting of a bond.

The first page when completed, contains the name, address, age, license number of the operator, the type of motor vehicle involved, marker number, the charge against the operator with the section of the Connecticut Statutes applicable to the charge, the name of the arresting officer, and the hour, date and location of the court where the case will be handled.

The next three pages are duplicate copies of the first page.

The second page which is colored green is sent along to court for the prosecutor's file along with the original white first page. On the back of each of these pages is a space for the officer's notes for testifying in court.

The third page is a yellow page that remains in the officer's possession and which contains a note for testifying in court. Usually the officer upon the day returns this third yellow page into the police file.

The fourth page goes to the arrested party. Of a durable cardboard nature, it contains all the information written down by the officer on this fourth page in a space where the officer can write the amount of fine to be levied through a Violations Bureau payment, if the violation is one in which the Violations Bureau can accept a payment.

Germs Drop Hopes

FRANKFURT — Before World War II Germany was using 125,000 tractors, 315,000 oxen and 1,972,000 cows for plowing and sowing. Only 50,000 tractors were being used for farm and forestry work. Now only 100,000 tractors, 20,000 oxen and 335,000 cows are being used for farm work.

If an officer either loses a Uniform Traffic Ticket, makes a mistake in writing one, and has to use another, or for mutation or any other reason is not able to return his Uniform Traffic Ticket to court, the rules require that he file a sworn affidavit (writes state under oath) as to what happened to the ticket. With this rigid system of accountability, the number of Uniform Traffic Tickets not returned to court has been almost nil.

The uniform traffic ticket itself is made up of four pages. The first page is the white original which is sent to the proper court so that a file may be made up. The accused may sign this original, promising to appear in court on the specified date, and for the average non-serious violation thus avoids the posting of a bond.

ANGOLA, April 7 (AP) — Portugal has crushed the Organization of African Unity's bid to end white rule in Africa.

The rebel forces of Holden Roberto, calling himself president of the Angolan People's Revolutionary Government, had been driven back across the Angolan border into the Congo.

Angolans, black and white, are back tending their coffee crops and expelling a bumper harvest.

Roberto, an Angolan of the rebel's standing, February 1961, in March, 1961, with one of the most savage massacres of modern Africa. Hundreds of Angolans, including their wives and children, were hacked to death, brutally mutilated or burned to death.

Both blacks and whites fell before Roberto's fanatical followers. Who is held responsible for the violence is one in which the United Nations has been unable to mediate.

The organization of African Unity made Roberto's war its own as soon as it was founded in 1961. But the promised financial and military help failed to materialize.

Meanwhile, Portuguese troops, both black and white, armed camp laced with strong-point, landing strips and road networks. The rebels were driven deeper into the forest west of Carnation. There, the rebels were and casualties, but only a major military effort can force the rebels out of the forest.

It is unlikely that any such major effort could be mounted in the Congo of Premier Moise Tshombe.

Meantime, Portugal's military headquarters for the operations of Portuguese troops in the country's first attempt to link the two full-time military air.

Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were chosen backup crew for the flight. Grissom, a mission in the Gemini program. It is expected before Carnation.

This was a tip-off arrangement for which Grissom and Young were primary crewmen, Schirra and Stafford the backup duo. That mission was completed March 23.

Schirra said if he couldn't be first to fly in the two-man program, he wanted to do something nobody else had done — join up in the space the Gemini spacecraft and an unmanned Agena rocket.

The procedure will be necessary for a landing on the moon and also for the trip back to earth after lunar exploration.

Schirra is the oldest astronaut to have grasped the point made as hurrying his chances to be one of the first men on the moon.

He expressed hope the rendezvous and docking mission would give him an inside track to be one of the first lunar explorers.

The scheduled space traveler, who orbited the earth six times Oct. 3, 1961, said the thought of mission would stand him in good stead for future flights and that it was "the first step to the moon."

Pair Selected For Space Link

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, 34, were named the primary crew Monday for the country's first attempt to link the two full-time military air.

Cinderella in Cape

BERLIN — Nearly a Million copies of "Grimm's Fairy Tales" have been sold in more than 50 languages. In Africa the witch's house in "Hansel and Gretel" is not made of cake.

Robocho Vas has found that the building of new villages with an average population of 2,000.

The district now is dotted with 20 new villages where the government plans to provide a school, a church, an administrative building, a house for the chief and houses for the teachers and a nurse station are at different stages of completion and 85 more have been started.

Robocho Vas boasts that 18,000 African children are in primary schools in his district and he is gradually overcoming the African discrimination to take girls out of the fields and send them to school.

He says 1,876 family heads received more than $1,000 for their coffee crop last year.

"If they don't have money, it's because they don't want to work," the governor said.

He is stringing barbed wire around a few farms, building observation towers in the forests and spotting new defense posts.

In Luanda, the capital, there is a new viceroy. In 1964, the building stands, troubled. The brick factory has been unable to meet the demand, officials say. New factories are going up.

New copper ore deposits have been found in southern Angola. The most of the ore is being built and the ports of Lobito and Moçimboa expanded to handle exports. German Krupp interests are putting $40 million into the ore mining operation.

The ore deposits at Chasingo, to be mined by the Companhia da Mina de Lobito are very high grade and operations are just starting. The project involves building a town for 30,000.

Not Manufacturers Alone

Monday night's budget hearing provided something of a counterpoint to the rest of Manchester life when it suggested that only the town's manufacturers are likely to be hard pressed by any renewed upward movement of the tax.

The manufacturers may be vocal, but there is not the worst hardship in the Manchester tax situation.

The true hardship is that of ordinary Manchester people trying to be able to afford to live in Manchester.

From their point of view, one man can be stated as if it ought to be an absolute mandate upon all public officials.

From the point of view of ordinary people, the climb in Manchester spending and tax rate has reached the level where no truly conscientious public policy can continue adding even a fraction of a mill to the burden.

The law which sound public policy ought to lay down, no matter what the natural spending or the organized pressure against it, is that any increase in Manchester's total spending, from this which can be added only through natural growth increases in the grand list and through gradual reduction of the cost-by-bonded indebtedness the town now carries.

This is never going to be pleasant to do or easy to do. It is hardest of all to do, of course, in a non-election year, when the voters are not supposed to count.

Last year, in an election year, the present political control of the Board of Directors did almost succeed in holding the line, and we congratulated it for its performance.

This year, even if no election is forthcoming, the line should be held again, and rigidly.

And this is not only the kind of assurance Manchester industry needs as it weighs its future in this town. It is also something every ordinary resident of Manchester also needs and deserves.

Faces To Hate

One infallible indication of how close we may be to the brink of war—close, at least, in the estimation of picture editors—is always provided by what happens to the faces of the enemy.

What has happened in the last few weeks has been that the face of the Vietcong guerrillas in Vietnam suddenly became more ugly, more brutal, more fierce, more frightening, as well as much dirtier.

The Vietcong guerrillas are still, as they have been all along, of the same stock and from the same village, many of them, as the soldiers in the South Vietnamese army who execute some of the guerrillas they catch.

It is now a frightening, terrible face, not like the clean, friendly, honest faces of the Vietnamese on our side.

The last great change of facial expression in the news came at the time of the Chinese Revolution, when some Chinese remained handsome and pleasant-faced, no matter what weapons they were holding, while some other Chinese, of similar breeding, but of an opposite political side, suddenly photographed as if they had been made up by Hollywood villains.

pare them with the honest, shining, likeable faces among at our side today. Sides do change. What never changes is the way picture selection and editing tries to adjust itself to what it thinks the nation's mood of the historical moment ought to be.

We are supposed, in these past few weeks, to have found it a little easier to hate the Vietcong, because they have ugly, villainous faces. Now is this such ugly, villainous faces, or is this anything to do with a sophisticated pretense of immunity. It works. It works with us all, and if you don't think so, try and remember what image of the enemy you carried with you through previous wars.

There is one lesson we have been taught over and over again in this age of rapidly advancing scientific knowledge. It is that the book on anything is seldom completely closed. Some of the most firmly regarded scientific conclusions of our time have had to be amended; the new discoveries are sometimes only half-true in half the territory they are supposed to cover. Heretofore they decaying influence are always being discovered in situations where we thought we already knew the names and habits of all the players; the safest scientific rule there is bids us to refrain from one-sided total conclusions and pronouncements.

So the discovery that there are still a few doctors who resist the overwhelming consensus of the day—the effect that cigarettes cause cancer—is somehow reassuring, both in its testimony that there still exists some independence and, and dividuality of opinion and judgment, and in its testimony that in the obvious conclusions of the majority.

Somewhere along the trail, we learn to be suspicious of all things in which there is complete unanimity, and sometimes, we suspect, some of us rebel against unanimity just because we know that the only real difference is between everything to be so conclusively one way. When a few doctors stray from the herd, we get willing, once again, to try to live by the tenets and advice of the majority.

Not even the doctors who don't swear by any causal relationship between smoking and cancer will testify that smoking helps health in general or lungs in particular. The only real difference is between the assumption of certain disaster if one lifts a cigarette and a calm acknowledgment that he who lifts a cigarette is choosing his own private gamble, for which nobody can really set the odds, between a certain amount of satisfaction and an unknown degree of retribution.

Show, even though one view now has the great, overwhelming majority, and the other only a minority so narrow that it hardly makes the headlines, our bet is that the consensus 10 years from now will be saying that cigarette smoking, of and by itself, was never quite the complete culprit.

School Financing

Every year the Board of Education prepares its school budget. This budget is submitted to the Board of Finance, after taking into consideration the proposed budgets of the other departments in the town and its ability to pay approves the amount of money it believes to be reasonable for the schools to spend on education. Despite the belief of various pressure groups, the amount of money available steadily increased and seems to be both liberal and generous, especially in this area.

There are those who are not satisfied. They would like the Board of Education to have the right to levy education taxes without any outside control. A bill is now before the Legislature which would give each town the right to determine for itself whether it wants to retain the present system or give total power to the Board of Education.

On first consideration it might seem reasonable that the Board of Education should be completely free. Certainly individual board members are generally devoted to the cause of education and a better community. They give hundreds of hours to the community without remuneration and often without the acclaim of the public. The least they should have is financial freedom to accomplish their goals.

Unfortunately, Boards tend to forget responsibility which its individual members would never forget. Boards of Education have a habit of spending more and then after receiving a handsome budget increase over the preceding year they receive a $700 a year pay raise and claim $1,000 raise. It doesn't matter if the Legislature has cut the Board of Education in unhappy. Even in Darien the top cost school system in the state there are board members who are restive because they have to bother clearing their lunch tickets with the Board of Finance.

This is not because board members are irresponsible, but because in their interest they tend to forget that education, important as it is, is only one aspect of city life. In addition to their devoted interest, they are pressured constantly by groups with special interests.

It would seem that since education is a function of the state, a statewide regulation is proper concerning finances. The present law has worked well for many years. It should be retained, as a protection for Board of Education members.

STAMFORD ADVOCATE

Testimony From The Minority

It is interesting—and also reassuring, we think—that the tobacco industry has been able to round up a few respectable doctors and medical scientists to appear before the Senate Commerce Committee and testify that they do not, of their own knowledge and investigation, accept the existence of any hard and fast causal relationship between cigarette smoking and cancer.

If there is one lesson we have been taught over and over again in this age of rapidly advancing scientific knowledge, it is that the book on anything is seldom completely closed. Some of the most firmly regarded scientific conclusions of our time have had to be amended; the new discoveries are sometimes only half-true in half the territory they are supposed to cover.

WASHINGTON — Although the Medicare bill won't finally become law until some time this summer, its birth date really was March 2, 1965. In a closed-door session of the House Ways and Means Committee that day, the complications that helped stall Medicare for a decade were worked out through in one master stroke by chairman Wilbur Mills of Searcy, Ark. That stroke instantly transformed Mills from the hobgoblin of the old-age lobby to its benefactor.

And with good reason. Although not generally realized, it was in Congress, the Mills bill is infinitely superior to the administration's and provides benefits that the old-age lobby didn't even request—thereby averting struggles over expanded benefits for the next few years.

Moore's Job Pick Targets For Bombers

By MALCOLM BROWNE SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — At a big desk cluttered with top secret documents sits a man with penetrating blue eyes, a jutting jaw, and the job of translating American policy into destruction in North Viet Nam.

The desk belongs to Maj. Joseph H. Moore, 50, commander of U.S. Air Force operations in Viet Nam and Thailand. It is Moore's job to see to it that the increasingly intense air force bombings of North Viet Nam knock out without going beyond the limited objectives spelled out in U.S. policy.

It is an exciting job requiring infinite attention to detail. Moore speaks with a soft South Carolina drawl and makes his plans deliberately and carefully. He probably knows the business of flying and bombing better than any man in Viet Nam. On Dec. 11, 1959, Moore was a graduate of the U.S. Air Force school of record of 1,216 miles an hour to win the coveted Bendis Trophy.

He was flying an Air Force F-100 fighter-bomber. He again played an important part in Moore's job.

During an Air Force raid on a North Vietnamese bridge, two Soviet-built MIG fighters suddenly swooped out of the haze and led the lead F-100s were hit. Both crashed and set the bridge on fire.

"I don't feel very good about this," Moore said grimly. Moore regards himself as a technician rather than a strategist. Orders for the raids and the types of targets chosen are the work of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Moore's job is to carry out the orders.

He has never been heard to comment on raids. Asked about recent criticism in some quarters of the raids he directed in North Viet Nam, Moore said: "It is our government's policy. We use the primary arms of our government's policy. If our government decides it is in the best interests of our nation to use one tactic or another, we are prepared and ready."

Moore took up his job in South Viet Nam on Jan. 31, 1964, but he was no newcomer to war in Southeast Asia.

In 1941, he commanded the 30th Pursuit Squadron of F-40 fighters at Clark Air Base in the Philippines when the Japanese came and ground operations began. The F-40s, badly outclassed by Japanese fighters, were shot down or bombed on the ground.

With his planes gone, Moore organized his squadron as the 71st Provisional Infantry Battalion, and he led the ground unit's landing in 1942.

Moore's wife, the former Viet Littlejohn, was evacuated two months ago with other families of American government and military personnel on orders from President Johnson. She moved to Honolulu.

Moore's only son, Air Force Capt. Joseph D. Moore, is in the U.S. Air Force at Hahnemann Base, at Tucson, Ariz. He has four children.

Moore is largely deaf in his left ear. He has occasionally accompanied air strikes in South Viet Nam, but not in the strike planes. He works seven days a week at his command post.

"The type of activity here is a type we might be faced with for some time to come," Moore says. "It's different from anything before, certainly different from World War II or Korea."

"One of our biggest problems is finding our targets. When the Viet Cong mass out in the open, they make good targets. But they don't do this very often. The whole air effort is going to increase. Air strikes have made a big difference in Viet Nam morale. On our side, morale is a lot better and we have intelligence that on the other side, morale has been badly hurt."

"It is a question of keeping on the pressure with careful, controlled planning, and it's extremely interesting."

ing. Why, yesterday this Powers was seen nice enough to mention the matter of allowing my column to run to another writer in town so the writer would feel comfortable about Powers' benevolence towards the newspaper business.

For one hour and 40 minutes, the time in which the newspaper makes or breaks itself with the top product of the day, a politician for printers stood and gave his people what he called information. In the editorial room, where they put their paper out, the best instructions you ever are going to get consist of two or three clipped sentences from somebody who is busy and in charge. But under the system by which a newspaper is produced, the most important stories going on in the world cannot get onto the street until they have passed through the heads of employees who are not connected with the information process.

Walter Lippmann can get lost. Ted Smith can get lost. The paper still comes out. But it does not come out without the printers. They are the only cogs on the street in the rain, and Bertram Powers is the driver.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 7, the 77th day of 1965.

Today's highlight in history, on this date in 1788, a band of 47 men, most of them veterans of the Revolution, stopped ashore at what was to be Madison, Ohio. They immediately wrote a set of laws and called it a tree. It established the first formally organized government in what was then the Northwest.

Car Buyers Rush Season

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analysis

NEW YORK (AP)—Car buyers have jumped the gun on the arrival of real spring weather and thereby will be well as well as possibly laying low an old-fashioned habit of buying a new car.

They used to wait until spring to rush to buy. But this March, when the weather most places was anything but springlike, dealers sold more American-made autos than in any other month in history.

The home-based industry also made more cars than in any previous month. Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. auto giants started shipping Canadian-made cars here.

And European producers say the market here for their models is expanding fast — maybe not up yet to the record of sales set in 1963 for foreign cars, but better than in 1964 and 1963 when the market was recovering from the 1960 dip.

The economy in general is getting a big boost from all this eagerness of Americans to buy new cars.

The stimulant goes far beyond the car makers themselves, to their workers, dealers, repairmen, to the many suppliers of car production lines, and to the suppliers of those who make parts.

The stimulant is felt by the tire makers, the gasoline sellers, the insurers of auto insurance, the roadside restaurants and motels. In time this year's buying spree will enrich those who will have to make still more highways to accommodate the fast growing horde of cars crowding today's roads.

How much all this adds up to for the economy in general can only be estimated. But makers of just one model, Ford's spunky Mustang, say that in its first year of production its sales of more than 400,000 have had this impact on the economy.

Retail values has topped a billion dollars. Sales have reached $200 million in wholesale financing volume and $500 million in retail financing volume, with insurance premiums on the new cars amounting to more than $64 million.

The maker has spent $24 million with some 700 outside supplier companies for components, and provided jobs for about 18,000 Ford employees. How many others are employed by dealers and supplier companies because of the new car can only be guessed.

Production started March 10, 1964, in Dearborn, Mich., and has since spread to San Jose, Calif., and Muskegon, Mich.

The new car also had its impact on Santa Claus' business. In November and December sales of a foot-pedal toy car called the adult Mustang by 80,000 units to $8,000.

All this is only a small part of what the entire car industry is doing for the economy. Sales of all makes in the first three months of 1965 were a record 2,388,787, up 18 per cent from a year ago. Production in March alone was a record 802,549 cars, compared with 723,225 in March 1964.

That is one reason that steel mills and other metal makers are booming, that rubber, glass, plastic firms are prospering, and the record car sales mean that the economic stimulant from servicing them is only starting for many business firms in communities across the nation.

Connecticut Life Cites State FBI

Who and what is the FBI Agent in Connecticut? Although relatively little known or publicized, the FBI maintains an active organization in the state which does more than just pin up "Wanted" posters in municipal buildings.

Connecticut Life, Saturday in The Herald, investigates the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Care of the aged is getting a lot more attention than it used to, here and throughout the nation, as the percentage of people over 65 grows each year. Until recently, pioneering research and treatment had been going on practically unnoticed for 30 years at the Masonic Home and Hospital in Wallingford.

Fred Fromm, psychiatrist, treatment to speech therapy to revolutionary medical discoveries, the story of the Mason's dedication to the "right to live" offered an example for treatment of old age.

The Connecticut Life cover story features a daring high school theatrical group in Westport, whose star in the production of Peter Pan will use Mary Martin's original flying apparatus.

This month's map in the statewide news magazine shows where the open spaces are as Connecticut's building boom booms. Great hospitals, the regular current state features Connecticut people doing unusual things.

Giraffes for Rhinos

PRETORIA — Here's South African-style trading. Fourteen rhinos caught in the Tumbuka Park are being moved to a new home in Zululand's Umfolozi Reserve, where the rhino has been extinct nearly 50 years. They are being exchanged for rhinos so the National Parks Board has received 50 rhinos in exchange for 14 giraffes.

Columbia Bill Expected To Restore Budget Cut

The board of education has been informed that the recent budgetary cut in rural superintendents of schools will very likely be restored through the introduction of a bill in the legislature.

Ernest Nybakken, chief of the Bureau of Rural Services, and Victor MacDonell, president of the Connecticut Association of Boards of Education (CABE), discussed the board for its proposed restoration of the CABE. The two expressed appreciation for the vote of confidence in the present rural superintending program.

The board in a lengthy session Monday night, heard G. A. L. representatives, the Rev. George Evans, Mrs. Alice Vera, and Miss Madeline D'Esopo explain the board's carrying on the service which ends in September. The group gave one approximate budget for the town decide to bear the expense of the school and whether it Columbia joins other towns. Both budgets were detailed in an earlier column. The board will discuss the proposals at its May meeting.

The board accepted with regret the resignations of Mrs. Susan Stearns, Mrs. Geraldine Hanna and Miss Nancy Goff, all for personal reasons. The board has decided to remain firm on salary decisions which had been questioned by the teachers association. The teachers had requested a change to a minimum of $2,100 and a maximum of $7,500 with the first six steps remaining at $200 each and the last six at $300. The board will stay with a minimum of $2,000 and a maximum of $7,500 with the first two steps at $200 and the next four at $300 and the rest at $300.

The board authorized the superintendent to issue contracts and salary agreements. Sgt. Myron Collette told the board that he will withdraw from the present art program with Columbia and will join Marlborough instead. He added that he hoped to share the art program with Bolton on a schedule of three days for Columbia and two for Bolton.

Principal George Patroze was authorized to accept the low bid of J. L. Hammett Co. for next year's general supplies. Patroze also told the board the part-time clerical applicants are narrowed down to three, all of whom will appear before the board in May. The principal also attended an orientation meeting held to discuss coordinating the "mid-grade" in town with those in Wilburham. He said those attending, including Wilkinson and the parochial school in Wilburham discussed the co-relation of Grades 6, 7 and 8 in courses of study, instructional supplies and programs. There will be two more such meetings before the end of the year.

Yorty Wins LA Contest For Mayor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Edmund W. Yorty won the election handily in Tuesday's municipal primary, beating back the challenge of a strongly waged campaign by Rep. James Roosevelt.

Yorty, 63, swamped Roosevelt and six other candidates in gaining a second term as chief executive of the nation's third largest city. Yorty issued a victory statement in which he congratulated himself on his second year in office.

Miss Kathleen Ryan, a graduate of Manchester High School and presently a sophomore at the University of Chicago, has been selected to spend her junior year studying in India.

Miss Ryan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ryan of 79 Vernon St., survived a wedding out process in the national competition sponsored by the University of Wisconsin College Year in India Program. She will receive $2,000 (plus $12,500) to cover travel and other expenses incurred during the year.

To prepare her verbally, the University of Wisconsin will be giving Miss Ryan to Madison for a summer of intensive language study concentrating on Hindi or Telugu. She will then fly to India, enroll in an Indian University affiliated with the program, and begin an independent field work program in cooperation with university.

Things Like Stealing Eggs Can Lose Viet Nam Friends

By HORST FAAS
DOC HOA, Viet Nam (AP)—The Vietnamese soldier ran from the thatched-roof house with his helmet full of freshly laid eggs.

He grimaced as he broke one into his mouth. "I've told you time and again not to do that," shouted his battalion commander, Capt. Di, of the 2nd Battalion, 4th Regiment. The captain, beside himself with rage, pulled the frightened soldier by the shoulder, and slapped him.

"Now," he continued loudly so that many other troops around could hear him. "He pointed to 12 women being herded from holes here they had hidden from earlier bombardments. 'If I were one of those women I would become a Viet Cong now,' Di said with feeling. 'They won't remember the leaflets we drop asking them to come over to our side. They will only remember what our soldiers have done to them.'"

Extended Forecast
WINDSOR LOCKS (AP)—Five day forecast: Temperatures in Connecticut Thursday through Monday are expected to average 2 to 5 degrees above normal. Little day to day change except turning warmer at the end of the period. Some normal high and low temperatures are Hartford 57 and 30, New Haven 54 and 27. Precipitation may total 1/2 to 1 inch occurring as showers and even offer advanced degree in cooperation with universities.

NEW YORK — Employers in the United States spend about $17 billion a year for employee training. This equals one-third of the total laid out on all public and private education. Some firms maintain training centers where they build their whole future on that one egg.

But Eyes Wander to Models Wives of Kiwanians Hosted at Luncheon

By DORIS BELDING
Spring and summer fashions from Burton's were enthusiastically received, especially by Kiwanis members, yesterday at a Ladies Day luncheon at the Manchester Country Club. The event marked the 50th anniversary of Kiwanis International and 41st anniversary of the Manchester club. About 45 members and 40 ladies were present. The Rev. Allen H. Egan, pastor of the Community Baptist Church, gave the invocation.

Arthur A. Knoff, chairman of the program, said, "This is the first time in 41 years that Manchester Kiwanians have dared let their wives see what went on at their weekly luncheon meetings." The ladies are usually entertained at annual dinner-dances.

The chairman also introduced Jack Engell, lieutenant governor of District 1 East, and suggested that the ladies and visiting Kiwanians stand and identify themselves.

Honor plaques were given to Charles Burr for 35 years of membership, and Fredrick Warner and Edgar Clarke, both members, by Warren Howland, president of the Manchester Kiwanis Club. Mr. Burr was presented with a 50th anniversary medallion.

Fashions were shown by models from Burton's during the luncheon. Miss Barbara Harris, fashion coordinator of the Main St. store, was the commentator. A variety of styles from sportswear to beachwear were included in the show. Fur coats, sportswear, and dresses were featured, some with large industrial zipper details. The "London" or "Mod" look, inspired by off-beat, moderns of London, was seen in day-time frocks with bell sleeves, like waistlines and Chelsea collars, a notched style of collar shown on low necklines. "Dolly" fashions, influenced by the hit Broadway show, had a feminine approach to styling with ruffles evident on necklines and wrists and soft lines. Double-breasted, a favorite of the past two seasons, still remains a must for the well-dressed woman, whether for her stay-at-home activities or for traveling, where they are favored for their fresh, untripped look under all circumstances. The male members of the audience were looser in the appreciation of the fashions than the ladies, especially during the showing of beach fashions and swimwear. The commentator introduced this group by calling it "A new look in beach fashions, designed to pop eyeballs." Her best beachwear records for the season.

CAPCC Supports Education Bill

The legislative committee of the Connecticut Association for Public Community Colleges (CAPCC) met yesterday and passed a resolution supporting the study commission bill establishing a state system of higher education.

The committee, reported Manchester Community College Secretary placed particular emphasis on a strong regional council to assist in governing community colleges.

In backing a strong regional council when the education committee of the General Assembly holds a public hearing on the bill.

A hearing held last month on other community college bills elicited strong backing for the concept of community colleges and for state support in their operation and establishment.

More Food Graded

WASHINGTON — Consumers as well as processors were able to buy more food by grade last year than ever before. In 1964 the Department of Agriculture either graded or supervised the grading of half the butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk produced in the nation, more than half the beef, half the lamb, more than half the ready-to-cook poultry, one-fifth of the eggs, three-fourths of the frozen fruit and vegetables, and one-fourth of the canned fruits and vegetables.

WASHINGTON — There are 10 to 11 Smiths per thousand persons in the United States.

New Voter Session

A 6 to 8 voter-making session is scheduled for tonight in the town clerk's office in the Municipal Building.

Eligible applicants must be at least 21 years of age, residents of Manchester for at least six months and United States citizens.

Naturalized citizens will be required to show documentary proof of their citizenship.

Road Sweeping Begun by Town

With the award of a contract to the Hartford Sweeping Service for the rental of a street sweeper and operator to augment the highway department's two street sweeping units, Manchester's annual town-wide spring cleaning has begun.

Highway Supv. Ernest Turck said today that he is presiding over a mid-May completion of a cleanup of sand and debris accumulated during the winter.

After the initial concentrated job has been completed, town crews will follow a normal and routine operation of street cleaning.

Hartford Sweeping Service was hired under a contract calling for payments of $220 daily, $800 weekly, or $2,200 monthly, whichever plan fits in with the work done.

In addition, the contract specifies an initial cost of $230 to sweep the town-owned parking lots, plus $125 per month thereafter.

The charges are identical to those paid to the same company last spring.

Turck has issued a reminder to car owners to keep their vehicles off the streets as much as possible from now until their streets have been swept so as not to impede the cleanup.

South Windsor School Budget Cuts Leave Kindergartens Uncertain

The board of education has announced that with the removal of $150,000 from its budget it cannot commit itself to public kindergartens at this time.

The board stated that "having carefully considered the council's recommendation, the board of education feels that the school budget, as submitted, represents the best efforts of the board to accommodate the reasonable needs of the school system in the financial ability of the town."

The board said it could, therefore, not recommend to the council that the school budget be cut, even if failure to cut it would necessitate additional taxes.

The board also said that in order to secure properly qualified kindergarten teachers, it anticipated they would have to be contracted prior to May 15.

The board listed the items that would in all probability be eliminated or adjusted to accomplish the $150,000 reduction.

The charges are identical to those paid to the same company last spring.

Turck has issued a reminder to car owners to keep their vehicles off the streets as much as possible from now until their streets have been swept so as not to impede the cleanup.

Comic's Life Is Lonely

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedy acts are among the world's most lonely people.

"You can't tell a joke if you're selfish. It just won't come out right."

Here are his likes and dislikes:

"I like the color of yellow, the memory of the smell of tar paper. It has a nostalgia to it. I like green, and all kinds of people, orange blossoms, very spicy foods, kids golf, eating houses, and riding with police patrol cars at night on emergency calls."

"I hate eating alone, answering mail — it's the curse of the whole world — inefficiency in anything, women in politics and late being fat. I weigh 200 pounds, but I run all the way from 180 to 247 pounds."

Buddy and his wife and three children live in a New Jersey house he bought from the estate of a gangster.

He also is justly proud of his skill at pistol shooting, for which he has won dozens of trophies.

"There are some that are better than me," he admitted. "I guess I'm out of practice."

Through one, then quit.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Lorraine B. Johnson called it a "feast" after being given a prize Tuesday night of an exhibition of "three centuries of American painting" at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

The First Lady was conducted through the exhibit of about 800 paintings and sculptures of American artists by museum officials.

KENNETH KEATING

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating defeated last November by Robert F. Kennedy, an opponent of his, returned to the law practice. He also said he did not expect to run for any office, including mayor of New York City.

"I will maintain my interest in politics," Keating said.

Oxford Don Wins Point And Divorce

LONDON (AP) — Suspecting his pretty American-born wife of having an affair with another man, an Oxford professor won his point by what a divorce court judge described as brilliant deduction.

When music expert John Bergsgal, 56, saw his wife's car parked near an Oxford post office, he surmised that she was sending a telegram. In Britain, telegrams are sent through the post office.

After Sonora Bergsgal, 30, left the post office, her husband went inside and searched the wastebasket.

There he discovered a crumpled letter, addressed to his wife by Dr. Frank Harrison, 59, another Oxford faculty member, who was then at Princeton, N.J.

"My wonderful, my dearest love; this letter should be studied with stars and lights and sent to Oxford by intercontinental rocket. I am so excited, so happy. You are my life and so much more than now. Now you are coming, we shall have our parade for always," the letter said.

Bets on Bear

LEAVENWORTH, Wash. (AP) — Georgeus George is back poking through the garbage again, and Lorna Dickson before making big money in night clubs, television and films, got $5 for his first job at a bus when it was working as a bus boy in the Catskills and filled in for a comic who didn't show up," he recalled. "That same night I had to sleep in the fields."

Largely self-taught, Hackett stepped into his current role without taking either acting or singing lessons.

"You can't afford to get scared," he said. "After all, Broadway is just the amateur night of the world. The scary thing is that when you do your best, the next time you have to 'brush it'."

Buddy is sometimes humpbacked, noisy, always shrewdly self-assured. That's not the outside. Inside he is like a wise, best little empty Dumpty who is bewildered by the nonsense and blind cruelty of a big world. There is no knife in his hand.

FATHER KILLED

WESTPORT (AP) — James L. Allen, 46, of Williamsburg, Va., was killed by his 7-year-old son, James Jr., was seriously injured in an auto accident on Tuesday night. State police said Allen's car went out of control and struck a highway fence post. Allen, returning to Virginia from Boston, state police said.

Keep Turkey Cool

WASHINGTON (AP) — Department of Agriculture food specialists warn against thawing turkeys at room temperature. Instead, they advise doing it in the refrigerator, taking one to two days for birds under 18 pounds and two to three days for larger turkeys. And they say the right cooking temperature is 325 degrees.

Taste Grows For Steaks From Hippo

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE KAPATORO, Uganda (AP) — Nearly every week herds of Africans from this tiny town trot into the game parks of western Uganda, seek out the hippo game warden and hand him a note which reads "Please supply four hippos on Friday."

It sounds like a weighty order but while traders bring at the foothills of Uganda's snow-capped equatorial peaks, known as the Mountains of the Moon, are increasing their orders every month, as more Africans develop a taste for hippo meat and the possibility of an export market increases.

Hippo plunge around in muddy conditions in Uganda's game parks. Thinning their herds has been in progress for four years.

The great hulking animals, which weigh anything up to two tons each, have been breeding for many years and are now too many for the game parks to accommodate them. Hippos need plenty of water and mud to protect them from Africa's tropical heat.

Each hippo is estimated to eat 600 pounds of fodder daily, mostly bushes, trees and small trees, leaving little food for other animals.

While the African has found something new to supplement his traditional maize and corn diet, while businessmen are looking for a new export, hippo meat is also being processed which will provide them with 2,000 cans of succulent meat.

Gama warden Nicholas Ross says African hunters have shown interest in hippo meat since 1950. He says that hippo meat is very comparable to prime beefsteak. He has experienced no ill effects from giving hippo meat in place of beef steak.

They were completely satisfied with the hippo meat. But Uganda's game parks are still overstocked with at least 10,000 hippos, and the game warden is trying to find sufficient food for each animal.

The meat is then sold to African butchers who retail it to the public. Much of the hippo meat is dried or smoked before being packed for export.

Traders say $66 for each animal. The meat is then sold to African butchers who retail it to the public. Much of the hippo meat is dried or smoked before being packed for export.

Yet the strange controversy rages in Parliament, the market place over whether to go on accepting the aid from the United States.

Some leading figures in Prime Minister Levi Obusoro's ruling Congress party have joined the campaign. Mrs. Yvonne Obusoro, sister of the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, has said: "If we wait for the next food crisis and the great ships sailing to bring relief to us, we shall be a broken people."

Mrs. Padilla's fears of a "broken people" focus on a major argument against U.S. food assistance. India's aid will be hulled into a dependent food assistance. India's aid will be hulled into a dependent food assistance.

Other critical themes are that the United States aid endangers India's non-alignment, and that buying U.S. wheat for Indian rupees is what happens when the timing out process is completed and the Indian rupee is out of his supply of cheap meat. Most of the aid is used to buy the aid, the Africans will engage in a multiple poisoning war.

Masters Champion Must Master Greens

Nicklaus 4-1 Choice, 93 To Perform

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Most of the top contenders here for the Masters Golf Tournament starting Thursday feel the championship will be won on the greens.

Jack Nicklaus, the long-hitting bomber and the 4-1 choice in the international field, said he doesn't agree entirely. "You still got to get there," said the 25-year-old hunky from Columbus, Ohio, today.

Nicklaus, a nonwinner this year, served notice Tuesday that he appears fit and ready to break into the winner's circle. He unleashed a five-under-par 47 for the par 36-37, 6-hole par-3 first round at the club layout on a hot and sunny afternoon.

The 5-foot-11, 200-pounder closed out a round that included eight birdies and three bogeys by holing out a 40-foot chip from the fringe back to the green.

"It was a good round," said Nicklaus. "I didn't know I was sloppy."

He was Nicklaus' first four of the course since he left to spend the weekend with his family in Palm Beach, Fla. He had whipped the course five times last week with rounds of 68, 69, 68, 68 and 70.

"I left because I didn't want to stay here too long and get sick," said the smiling and jovial 1963 Masters king. "I preferred to play on my game last week before the crowd and so I wouldn't be bothered. I practiced before and after each round."

Asked to name five chief contenders, Nicklaus pondered and then named defending champion Arnold Palmer, South African Gary Player, Australian Bruce Crampton, and New Zealand's Les Brierley.

Palmer, who expressed concern over his driving and putting, picked Nicklaus, Doug Sanders, Devin Caplan and Lema Carreras as his most trouble.

The defending king and recent-time winner of the 6-1 second choice behind Nicklaus for the four-day 72-hole tournament, Lema, Carreras and Player are bracketed at 8-1 in the informal odds.

Rifle Leaders

Elected to lead the Manchester High Rifle team in defense next year of the State Championship are Juniors Stephen Fenny and John Genta. The election took place at the break-up meeting of the squad.

Both boys scored well this season for coach Tony Allario and much is expected from them next year.

NYU Assistant Named Vermont Basketball Coach

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—The University of Vermont has named a new basketball coach to succeed the retired John "Pussy" Evans.

Arthur Locke, a 29-year-old assistant at New York University, was named to the post Tuesday. Locke coached at NYU for three years after his 1962 graduation.

Evans retired from active coaching at the end of the past season.

Combination of Veterans, Rookies Mound Corps Strong With Rockville Nine

By PETE ZANARDI
Aiming at the Class B tournament, Rockville High opens the 1965 baseball season Tuesday, April 13, against Ellington High at home with a strong combination of veterans and promising new talent. Last season the Rams, riddled with injuries and academic problems, completed an 11-3 record and lost in the regional playoffs to East Catholic.

"With 11 lettersmen returning from last year's team, we're looking forward to a strong season this year," says Coach Ron Kosach. "Pitching should be the strong point with Jim Marcello, Alan Pitts and Ken Foy ready to go for the mound."

The Trinity grad and former San Francisco Giant farmhand Marcello is looking toward Martello to regain his 1963 form. Injured most of last year, he saw action in only four games. As a sophomore, Marcello mowed up an 11-2 record with 126 strikeouts and only 23 walks in the area.

Thunder, Lightning Pair Strike in NHL

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Hull of Chicago and Toronto's Dave Keon, a thunder-and-lightning pair of National Hockey League shooting stars, have struck new life into their teams' sagging Stanley Cup fortunes.

Lears backs against the wall in the semifinal playoff series against Detroit and Montreal, respectively, came through with clutch home-ice victories Tuesday night.

Hull, the Hawks' blood dynamo, fired two goals in a 2-1 victory over the Red Wings. Keon, the Leafs' flash, beat Montreal 2-1 with an assisted goal in sudden-death overtime, Chicago and Toronto still trail, two games to one, in the best-of-seven series but will have the home-ice advantage again for Thursday's fourth game.

Keon's dramatic tally marred Hull's goal as Toronto's outstanding playoff debut for the season.

Best Weather in Years

After nine ventures into Florida to get an on-the-spot report from the Grapefruit League, one can look back on the 1965 trip as the best ever, thanks to the weather. The Florida Chamber of Commerce never put together any better weeks. The lowest temperature got for 14 of the 15 days was 60 degrees, the highest being 87 on two occasions. The lone under 50 degree day was a comfortable 52.

Twenty-one exhibition games in 15 days was the schedule, this being made possible by viewing 15 day games and six under the arc lights at these various points. West Palm Beach, Miami, St. Petersburg and Clearwater.

It rained just once, during the night and there wasn't a drop of rain on any of the days. Not a minute was lost to weather, as was the case in the past. Things have a way of evening up.

Not too many years ago, a top coat and gloves was necessary wearing apparel to try and keep warm as well as rain gear.

It was tough to come home to snow, sleet and below freezing temperatures, but all good things have their ups and downs. Vacation?

It's hard to convince anyone, except managers and owners, of the one who counts, that the annual winter of Florida is a great time to visit. In the middle of March for two weeks is work. I went to Florida in the middle of March for two weeks is work. I went to Florida in the middle of March for two weeks is work.

Product of an Italian neighborhood, Sam Carilli has always liked people. This has been a big asset in his everyday life since the time he first donned the gloves and fought all comers.

Yanks Picked to Win Sixth Straight Pennant

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—This obviously is the year to pick the New York Yankees to lose. They have won five straight pennants. Nobody has won six. Al Lopez, Chicago's eternal optimist, says Baltimore, not New York, is the team to bet.

Tommy Lasorda, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, says the Yankees are the team to bet. "They have won five straight pennants. Nobody has won six. Al Lopez, Chicago's eternal optimist, says Baltimore, not New York, is the team to bet."

Ranked Tops

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP)—College sports again chose the nation's top athletes in 1964 and picked Jim Murray, sports columnist of the Los Angeles Times, as the top sports writer.

North Carolina's Dave Morris was named the nation's top basketball player. Jerry Greer, junior forward from Windsor, will head the mound staff. Jerry last year had a 3-1 record. Bill Cooper, another returning pitcher can lead the backstop.

Will Gentry, Associated Press sports writer, received the 1964 Martin & Rosal Award for writing on sportsman's sports. In this case, tennis. He has covered Davis Cup competition 11 of the past 12 years, in addition to the Olympic Games and major golf tournaments all over the world.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Ging both a lengthy trial at the position. The success of Lemmie Green also made it easy for Herman to decide on the Thomas switch. Green got the big blow for the Red Sox yesterday in a losing game. He slammed his fourth home run of the spring over the left field fence with two men aboard.

Baltimore, happy about the spring form of rookie Paul Blair, center fielder, has decided to keep Blair. Blair has been playing first base since he was traded to Baltimore from the Cleveland Indians.

Seven Lettermen Return To Strong UHartford Nine

Seven lettermen return to the four-year pre-season practice sessions. Buy outdoor drills are expected during the few days before the opening of Springfield College on April 9 in regular season play.

Coach Roger Wickman said, "I'm just a little bit better and some pleasant surprises. We can count on a good year. Wickman said.

Two key players are the key-players of the team. Coach Doug Keiser, second baseman and captain of the Hawks, has had a 3-1 record. Bill Cooper, another returning pitcher can lead the backstop.

Homer Paces Dodgers to 2-0 Win Against Yankees

Don Drysdale Double Hero

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Drysdale, who had traveled this route before, was getting nowhere fast again. You'd think a guy would learn that batting his skull against the stone wall that is the Los Angeles Dodger attack gets you nothing but a headache. But Drysdale... well, some guys just don't learn.

The lanky Dodger right-hander couldn't forget the six losses he was singled out last season when the Dodgers failed to get him a single run. But Drysdale paced out to the mound just the same Tuesday night. He throttled the New York Yankees for five innings.

The Braves belted 13 innings before being shut out by Washington 2-1. Chicago's Jim Rivalto and Sandy Alomar and scored the winning run in the 12th when he drilled and then raced home on Sandy Alomar's throwing error.

Rhodes aimed Philadelphia's Rookie of the Year last season, homered and doubled as the Phillies ripped Kansas City 8-1. In other games, Houston beat Mississippi 2-1. San Francisco clipped the Los Angeles Angels 6-2. Detroit edged Cincinnati 2-1. St. Louis felled Baltimore.

The seven-hitter was Drysdale's fifth victory against the Yankees in the first complete-game victory for the Dodger staff. Sandy Kousser lost two rungs going per- formance earlier.

Please don't ask us to sell you just one

We say this for your own good. With a set of rain tires on your car, you'll be able to stop 30% shorter on a rain-slicked road than you could when your car was new.

On a wet curve: 50% more skid resistance. Even two on your rear wheels will make a marked difference. But if you buy only one, you're doing yourself and the rain tire an injustice. Because the tire on the opposite wheel won't give you the same kind of traction. And if you should stop suddenly on a wet, treacherous surface and the car on one side of the car grips better than the tire on the other, you're liable to swerve.

Having a set of rain tires on your car makes a lot of sense even when it isn't raining. Because on a dry road, you will have even better control in passing or cornering than you had when you were new.

The Rain Tire (U.S. Royal Laredo) starts as low as $20.95* Through Sat. Only $1 off on 2nd tire.

U.S. Royal. It's quiet and smooth, it's original, it's a many-uses. The price of the rain tire is as reassuring as the tire itself: about the same price as any other leading maker's first-line tire. The official name of the rain tire is the "U.S. Royal Laredo." None guaranteed without cost. So don't give our salesman a hard time if the tire he brings out says Laredo. Give him a hard time if it doesn't. And please, for your own sake, make sure he brings out at least two.

He was a leading hitter for Kosach as a starter last season. He will be helped by sophomore Dave Lorenz, up from the JV.

The telecast, originating at the hot corner, Utility man Jim Clark is the leading candidate for the shortstop position and will play all the infield positions and has proved to be a valuable man to have on the team. Senior Ted Stawicki, who handled the hot corner last season, may be moved to a spot in the infield to utilize his potent bat. Don Schaeffer, a sophomore up from the JV, gives Kosach plenty of depth throughout the infield.

Top Hitter Mark: Mark Bucher, the leading batter last season with a .366 mark leads an impressive list of outfielders. The senior possesses a good power and has proved both quick and strong of arm defensively. Sophomore Peter Xelias has caught Kosach's eye and probably has won the leftfield job this season. He played on the JV last year.

Water Storage Rises in March

Water storage in the town's four reservoirs rose approximately 44.5 million gallons in March, bringing the combined storage to within 6 million gallons of full capacity, according to a report issued today by Water Superintendent Lawrence Wittkofski.

The 4th Senatorial District, which is in Middlesex County and therefore within the 1st Congressional District, will be represented at tonight's Constitutional Convention.

Porter, Howard R. Roaring Brook and Globe Harmon Reservoirs contained about 433 million gallons on April 1 against a normal capacity of 473 million gallons.

Wittkofski reported that local rainfall for the month of March totaled 4.19 inches, an average of 3.78 inches making a total of 119 inches below the 10.35 average for the three-month period starting Jan. 1.

He said that, with no melted snow runoff expected, the area would need some substantial rainfall to bring all reservoirs up to capacity and to avert repeat of the partial water ban declared last summer.

Chamber Favors Relaxing Laws On Youth Work

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce is backing the state bill dealing with the extension of the ten-hour working hours from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m., as now allowed, to 11:30 p.m., as proposed, and is opposing a fourth bill which would place a 9 p.m. working curfew on teenagers.

In favor of Senate Bill 1002 and House Bills 2395 and 2396 the chamber lists the following reasons for recommending passage.

1. The greater opportunity for teen-age employment would help stem delinquency problems.

2. The resulting supplemental income would help families in the low income group.

3. Businesses, such as restaurants, sandwich shops, etc., which are dependent upon part-time teen-age help, would be aided since adult help for this kind of service is virtually unavailable.

4. Since the bills require that the State Department of Labor would be to issue special permits to extend its services on a statewide basis.

Bar Asks End To Debt Pooling

HARTFORD (AP)—The Connecticut Bar Association and others today urged the General Assembly to outlaw the business of debt pooling.

Speakers for the debt pooling business said the services were a needed one and that the state should license and regulate the business rather than ban it.

Bill dealing with the business was heard by a subcommittee of the legislature's General Law Committee.

Frederick U. Conard Jr., representing the Connecticut Bar Association, said the business was not being conducted in the public interest.

He said there has been no demonstrated public need for the business and that the state would only be "digging" it by setting up licensing and regulations for it.
