On the next to the last day of April, we were surprised by the first violet. Thursday was the day April relaxed, and decided, at long last, and almost too late, to feel like April as well as look like April. The clouds had been soft and wistful all month long. The sun had begun to catch yellow here and there, on lawn and bush. The green had made sporadic advances, under the stimulus of showers which were all too light and intermittent.

But not until Thursday had it really felt like April in the blood, or in the land either, we should judge, and therefore it was completely natural coincidence that the first relaxed, questing sauntering - in - the - warmth steps one should take should bring one's foot to the spot where, there having been nothing at all twenty-four hours before, there now stood, more proud than shy,

But at least, so far as we could observe, the viole had Thursday all to Itself. And that is what each of the thousand miracles and wonders and beauties of each and every spring should have—a whole day to itself, in its own spot in the landscape and the promise, and in the appreciation of mortals lucky enough to be born into a world where things like this can hap-

East Catholic High to a 6-0 shutout over the Black Knights of Penney High. LaGace's third straight win upped East's mark to 6-0 forethe season. Bob Morey was tagged the loser.

LaGace pitched a perfect game for the first three innings striking out the first five batters he faced, and a walk in the fourth left him with a no-hitter as a going concern until Tony Quintiliani finally picked up a single in the top of the fifth for Penney's only hit. In the six innings he pitched. LaGace fanned 11 batters while walking ony one. Frank Kinel relieved the southpaw in the top of the seventh and finished up. East scored two runs in the second inning as Dennis Lynch walked and came in when La-Gace drilled a ground rule triple into left center. LaGace then Totals

Three more tallies appeared in the third as Tom Bavier walked and went to third on a double by Joe Alubicki. Clean up batter Lynch then stepped to the plate and drove the season's first home run over the fence in center to pick up three rb's. Mike Masjuk set up the final run in the fourth when he tripled and soored on a single by Mike Leach.

LaGace monopolized the limelight in batting as well, going two for three while Lynch was one for one.

A Few Good Nights
Scott says he has never been totally satisfied with any of his film performances, "Sometimes I'm appalled, sometimes I'm surprised, but I'm never happy. There's a lack of control in film, where you are at the mercy of mechanics. This, I realize, is the bargain you make when you do film.

"But on the stage, when you play a role six or eight months, you have a few good nights where there is an awareness and an edge. Things are tuned right and everyone is on the same wave length. These nights are very precious, like a magnificent love affair. But like all lave affairs, the next night it all goes awry. Also, like a love affair, there is great hate involved. But not in film. You can't see film, and you can't hate what you can't see."

'Buzzard Roost' Sandwich-The Birthplaces of the Stars

NEW YORK—A fascinating of eross-section of American folklore is represented by the birthplaces of some of the person-alities who appear regularly on CBS

The Alabama home town of The Alabama home town of Jim Nabors, tar of "Gomer Pyle — USMC," for instance, is Sylacasga, a musical-sounding Indian name meaning "buzzard roost." From the local quarries has come stone for the U.S. Supreme Court Building and the Presidential Palace in Ha-Ted Mack, host of Original Amateur Hour," was born in Greeley, Colo. Settled in 1870, the town was an out-growth of Union Colony, a cooperative enterprise conceived by Horace Greeley, New York Tribune editor who knew early that the West was worth go-

Dr. George Crothers, host of
"Lamp Unto My Feet," comes from Fort Morgan, Colo., which began as a station and military post on the Overland Trail during the California gold rush. It was named for its first commander, Col. C. A. Morgan The high school has a large col-lection of Indian relics.

From Sandwich, Ill., comes Hugh (Lumpy) Brannum, the Mr. Green Jeans of "Captain Kangaroo." The town was so named by emigrants from Sandwich, Mass., which had been named after Sandwich, Websher City, Iowa, home town of Don MacLaughlin of "As the World Turns," is a fit subject for historical speculation. Does it honor the memory of Noah or Daniel? Neither! Settled in 1850 by Wilson C. Brewer, it was named six years later for the operator of a regional stage line. There was a Noah Webster who built the first permanent residence at nearby Ames, Iowa, but he had nothing to do with dictionaries, Cherryvale, Kansas, where Vivian Vance of 'The Lucy Show" was born, was so named by a railroad which laid out the town site "in a broad valley of wonderful fertility."

There wasn't a cherry tree in sight but the name was attracto emigrants from the

Edgar Buchanan, who plays Uncle Joe in "Potticeat Junc-tion" on the CBS Television Network, comes from Humans-ville, Mo., about which there is no historical mystery at all. It was started in 1830 by James G. Human, a wanderer from South Carolina

Owatonna, Minn., where E. G. Marshall of "The Defenders" was born, takes its name from a very crooked little river, but the Indian word means "straight."

Coming Shows

Three stories by Guy deMau-passant on bachelors are dram-atized on Channel 24 Friday at 8 p.m. and repeated the follow-ing Sunday at 8 p.m.

Dean Rusk, U.S. Secretary of State, and Barry M. Goldwater, 1964 GOP presidential candidate, join Sir Alec-Douglas Home, former British Prime Minister and a prominent French spokesman in a live translantic discussion via Early Bird on CBS' 'Town Meeting of the World' Monday, probably between 1 and 2 p.m., repeated by video tape 10-11 p.m.

NBC's "Today" show will originate live in Europe via Early Bird satellite Monday from 7-9 a.m. The program will present TV pickups from Lon-don, Paris, Rome, Italy and The Hague and Amsterdam in The Netherlands.

FINDS WORK

NEW YORK (AP) — James

Franciscus lost his Englishteaching job with the termination of NBC's "Mr. Novak," but he did not remain unemployed for long. He is already at work as the guest star in a "Bob Hope Theatre" show, playing a convict released from prison to act as a wartime secret agent a real change of pace.
