Sailor Facing Murder Charge

NEW LONDON (AP)—Eldridge V. Felder, 29, a sailor on the nuclear submarine Casimir Pulaski, was scheduled for arraignment today in Circuit Court on a murder charge.

Police arrested Felder early Sunday. They said he pulled a pistol and shot Thomas Patterson, 29, of New London in the head following an argument. A medical examiner said Patterson was struck with one bullet over the left eye.

Patterson, married and the father of eight children, was a native of Savannah, Ga. His wife said he recently retired from the Navy and was working as a machinist at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at Groton.

Felder's home was in Birmingham, Ala., police said. They said he is a quartermaster 2-c on the polaris-missile submarine.

Faces NAACP Pickets

MERIDEN (AP)—Mayor William T. Shea may be the object of picketing by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People unless he activates a Human Rights Commission that he suggested.

In a letter to Shea Saturday, the NAACP said its members would picket City Hall Friday unless members were appointed to the commission by then. The commission was created at Shea's suggestion by the city council a year ago.

Wreckage Not Sub

PARIS (AP)—The French Navy Ministry said today that the wreckage found by a diver in Long Island Sound could not be the ill-fated French submarine Surcouf.

Commenting on reports from Hartford, Conn., that a marine salvage expert had found the Surcouf wreckage, the ministry said that the French submarine had been lost off Panama, not Long Island.

Sees Crime Rise

BRIDGEPORT (AP)—"Crime in this country is increasing at an astounding rate," Attorney Nicholas deB. Katzenbach told a University of Bridgeport audience.

Speaking at commencement exercises at the university Sunday, Katzenbach said two aspects of the growth in the crime rate "bother me" most.

Luci Graduates, LBJ Is Speaker

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson told what he called the concerned, committed younger generation today he believes in debate on the nation's policies in time of danger, but said he would not proceed on the course he believes is right, regardless of criticism.

The President hit this central theme in a commencement address to the graduating class at the National Cathedral School for Girls. His daughter, Luci, 17, was one of the graduates at the private school.

Johnson in his prepared address told young Americans to use their talents to help in the struggle of the world's poor to create a better life. He said this is a moral commitment.

Poor Drivers Blamed For Road Death Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Traffic deaths for a three-day Memorial Day holiday have pushed to a record high for the second year in a row and the National Safety Council said the blame rests "largely on incompetent and irresponsible driving."

"More and more must be done to improve the nation's driving skills," said Howard Pyle, council president.

Pyle said reports on highway traffic accidents throughout the weekend showed that mistakes in driving judgment posed the major problem.

He said this record bears out the findings in a recent nationwide drivers test in which a very high percentage of the participants failed to qualify as safe drivers.

Several multiple-death accidents helped swell the national total to 460— for the period from 8 p.m. local time Friday to Monday midnight.

The old record of 431 traffic fatalities was set in 1964.

Five Area People Accident Victims

Five persons from this area lost their lives in highway accidents over the three-day Memorial Day weekend.

Three Manchester residents were killed Saturday in a crash on the Wilbur Cross Highway in East Hartford. An Amston youth died Sunday from injuries he received a few hours earlier when his car struck a tree on Rt. 85 in Hebron and split in two and a young Rockville man was killed Sunday when his car struck a telephone pole on Orcuttville Rd. in Stafford.

They were among 11 persons killed in holiday road mishaps in Connecticut.

The Manchester victims were Mrs. Olive M. Ray, 43, of 33 Lyness St., her 14-year-old son, Thomas, and Mrs. Maria Sheer, 61, of 187 Spring St.

The Amston youth was Paul Lunt, 18, and the Rockville man was Jack E. Pirtel, 20, of 9 Walnut St.

The East Hartford accident occurred when an eastbound trailer truck crossed the esplanade east of the Forbes St. exit forcing one westbound auto off the road and hitting two others.

Mrs. Ray was driving one of the cars hit. She and her son died in the wreckage. Her body was pinned in the car for three hours.

Mrs. Sheer was thrown out of the car driven by her husband, Peter Sheer, when he swerved to avoid a collision with the truck. She was killed by the wheels of an oncoming automobile.

The driver of the other car which struck Mrs. Sheer after she was thrown from the highway was driven by Leo Lemeling, 49, of South Norwalk. He was not arrested.

The driver of the truck, John C. Stratton of Mattawamkeag, Maine, was presented in circuit court at East Hartford this

No Ties, No Dinner

GRANBY (AP)—Granby's selectmen have rejected an invitation to a formal dinner.

They and other town officials in the vicinity of Bradley Field were invited by the 905th Troop Carrier Group to attend an awards banquet June 12 at Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh, N.Y.

The selectmen said two members of the board would attend, but when official invitations were received, they contained the notation the dinner will be "black tie." The original Granby delegates said they did not have formal dinner dress. A quick canvass revealed none of the selectmen owned dinner jackets. Since "no one had a thing to wear," the selectmen declined the invitation with regrets.

Party Chiefs In Harmony On Two Bills

HARTFORD (AP)—The inevitable task of reaching bi-partisan compromises on major bills began on a hopeful note Monday as leaders of both parties agreed on an omnibus court bill and a measure strengthening the state Civil Rights commission.

The leaders had already been in substantial agreement on the court measure and had expressed accord on the principles of the civil rights commission measure.

They indicated that they would begin work today on a compromise capital bonding program.

And House Speaker J. Tyler Patterson said Republicans would have "something to say" today about measures to aid the bankrupt New Haven Railroad.

Patterson said the only major aspect of the omnibus court bill that had not already been worked out by Monday was establishment of a "chain of command" in the state's court system.

Republicans and Democrats differ in their civil rights commission measures as to how the commission should go about obtaining injunctions to prevent the sale or rental of housing in cases of alleged discrimination.

Under the agreement reached Monday, any three of the 11 commissioners would be able to seek an injunction from a circuit court judge. If the judge grants the injunction, the case would come under the jurisdiction of the court.

Patterson said the leaders have not yet decided how a landlord would be able to appeal a ruling against him in a housing discrimination case.

He said that although further negotiations were needed on this point, "I don't think there's any great problem about this legislation."

The omnibus court bill, which has already been introduced in the General Assembly, calls for the appointment of 11 new judges.

One of the new judges would be a sixth State Supreme Court Justice who would also be chief administrator of the entire state judicial system.

Under the agreement the chief administrator, who would be under the general jurisdiction of the chief justice, would appoint the chief judge of the Circuit Court for a two-year term.

Patterson said that although

Dempsey Reveals Plan For Aiding New Haven

Special Fund From Taxes Is Planned

HARTFORD (AP)—Gov. John N. Dempsey announced today an administration program for providing financial aid to the New Haven Railroad on a continuing basis.

Under the plan, one-fifth of the public service taxes collected annually would be set aside for a special fund.

These taxes amounted to about $22.4 million for the last fiscal year, which means that some $4 million to $5 million a year would be available to aid the railroad.

State Finance Commissioner George Conkling said part or all of this amount could be used if necessary to finance bonding up to a maximum of some $80 million.

But Conkling said this was unlikely to happen unless the state was to buy or refurbish railroad equipment, in which case, he said, the purchases would be made in the name of the state.

The cash or the bonding authority would be made available to the Connecticut Transportation Authority through the State Bonding Commission.

The administration's new program is incorporated in a bill ready to be submitted to the General Assembly.

It was presented to the leaders of both parties last Friday by the governor, but Republican leaders asked for time to study the proposals over the long Memorial Day Holiday weekend.

House Speaker J. Tyler Patterson said the Republicans will have to think the bill over some more before taking a position.

One thing that worries them at the moment, he said, is the "substantial delegation of power to an administrative agency."

Patterson said Republicans also will have to weigh the proposal to earmark a portion of public service taxes for railroad aid. By a large margin, he said, these taxes come from utility companies such as the telephone company.

A more logical source for taxes to aid the railroad, he said, might be highway taxes. It is generally conceded that construction of the superhighways has played a major role in bringing the railroad to its present condition, he said.

Under the existing law, the CTA has the power to issue up to $5 million in bonds to aid the railroad. It has, also, $1 million in cash.

If the new bill is enacted, these authorizations and allocations would be repealed and the CTA would operate under the new program.

This would allow the State Bond Commission, on request of the CTA, to authorize the necessary bonds or expenditures.

Detailed Exams For Astronauts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, their physical conditions honed to a fine edge for their four-day space spectacular, were given detailed examinations today by their doctor.

The doctor already has said McDivitt is in better shape than many football players, and White a shade sharper than his partner.

Of White, who plans to emerge from the spacecraft during flight 135 miles above the earth, the doctor said: "He is in tip-top shape. He could run the mile, fight a 10-round boxing match, swim 10 miles. You name it. He can do it."

The medical examinations began right after breakfast and were to continue into early afternoon. They were necessary to provide data for comparison with that gathered during and after the flight of the Gemini 4.

The countdown begins Wednesday for a Thursday morning launch of the two-man spacecraft on the nation's longest and most spectacular space journey yet.

Christopher C. Kraft, Project Gemini director, planned an all-afternoon session with the astronauts, their doctor, the people who have bailed the spacecraft and its Titan 2 booster rocket.

U.S. Planes Blast Viet Arms Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Air Force and Navy planes hammered the Hoi An ammunition depot, roads, ferries, patrol boats and bridges in six separate raids on North Viet Nam today. Two Navy F8 Crusader jets were lost. The pilot of one crashed to death. The other was rescued at sea.

South of the border, a Viet Cong band ambushed a government convoy in the central highlands and two U.S. Army advisers were reported killed and a third wounded.

The Red guerrillas struck the convoy on the Pleiku-Le Thanh Road, 220 miles north of Saigon and about 100 miles southwest of the Quang Ngai Province area where an estimated 600 Viet Cong and more than 500 government troops were engaged in heavy fighting at the weekend. Two Americans, a captain and a sergeant, had been killed in that fighting.

Today's losses increased the toll of American combat dead in Viet Nam to 396. A military spokesman said at least six Americans were wounded in scattered ground and air actions during the past two days.

One of the Navy Crusaders was shot down by anti-aircraft fire during a 10-plane attack on the railroad yard at Vinh, about 160 miles south of Hanoi. The pilot bailed out over the sea, a spokesman said, and was picked up in good condition about 10 minutes later by a rescue plane.

The fatal crash occurred while four Skyhawk jets, flying with four Skyhawk jets, were attacking the Dong Phuong Tuong Highway Bridge 70 miles south of Hanoi.

Explosion Rocks Japanese Mine, 200 Entombed

TOKYO (AP)—A gas explosion rocked the Yamano coal mine on Japan's southern island of Kyushu today. Nine hours later more than 200 persons remained entombed.

Japanese news reports said 24 bodies had been recovered. The National Police Agency had reported two dead. Police on the scene had not yet established an official death count.

Revising earlier figures, the police said 552 persons were inside the mine's No. 1 pit when the blast ripped through it at 12:40 p.m. The agency said 290 persons escaped uninjured, and another 21 injured were brought out. Five were hurt seriously.

Police said the blast occurred 196 feet from the pit entrance. Rescue workers cautiously

The state treasurer was notified by the DEP and asked to stop payment on the checks.

Foulds, 83, Dead; Drowning Victim

William Foulds, 83, 123 Boulder Rd., chairman of the board of the Colonial Board Co., and the son of the co-founder of the original Lydall & Foulds Paper Co., died in a drowning accident near his vacation home at Old Forge, N. Y., Sunday.

Foulds' body was found Sunday afternoon floating under an overturned boat in which he had gone fishing earlier in the day. Mrs. Foulds had asked a neighbor to look for her husband when he did not return on time from his fishing.

The Herkimer (N.Y.) County coroner issued the accidental drowning verdict Monday.

The Fouldses had gone to their home at Fourth Lake, Old Forge, on May 20, for a vacation. They had planned to return this week.

Foulds was born and raised in Manchester, the son of William Foulds Sr. and Carrie Straw Foulds, both deceased. The senior Foulds had come to the United States from Great Britain in the 19th Century, and was a merchant in Manchester before organizing Lydall & Foulds in 1887.

After attending Manchester schools, Foulds went to Morgan Lake School, a military academy in New York, and then joined Lydall & Foulds as a sales representative.

The Colonial Board Co., a sister company to Lydall & Foulds, was formed in 1913.

WILLIAM FOULDS

Foulds' father was president of both firms, and Foulds soon became secretary and assistant treasurer.

When the senior Foulds died in 1941, Foulds became president.

Because the vehicle which went out of control on the Wilbur Cross Highway near the Purcell St. exit in East Hartford last Saturday was one of those tractor-trailer behemoths, it is doubtful that even the presence of any kind of divider on the highway center separates would have prevented the tragedy that followed.

THE BASIC BIG MISTAKE
One thing should be set straight about what seems to be the unusual number of tragic accidents in the war in Vietnam. The reason the number may seem to be unusually high is that we read and hear about them—or at least about most of them.

As we said, events are beginning to take shape and patterns are emerging. It is for us commentators, too, that we should be able to get our bearings.

There is, of course, one cure. That is to get rid of war, by making world law against it and enforcing such world law by international police action.

The really great tragedy in Vietnam is that all that goes on there contributes nothing to the possible outlawing of war as an instrument of human and national policy.

By the way, the other day, to check up on the status and whereabouts of two old friends—two bills we watched on their very deathbed at the close of the 1968 session.

There was only one slight flaw in the bill. That was a stop-watch split second late. Not only did the Senate clock stop at 11:59 p.m. on June 1, 1968, but it also stopped at 11:59 p.m. on June 1, 1968.

There is, of course, one cure. That is to get rid of war, by making world law against it and enforcing such world law by international police action.

Coventry School Construction Plans Awaited at Meeting Tonight

A recommendation of the kind of school building needed to take care of Coventry's educational needs for the next five years is expected to be made today when the advisory group of the Board of Education meets at Coventry Grammar School at 7:30 p.m.

The group will discuss the question of building a new middle school or remodeling Coventry Grammar School to accommodate Grades 6 and 7 of town children.

A new elementary school of 25 to 30 rooms would be needed if it is decided to remodel the existing school building, reports Owen S. Trask, publicity chairman of the Advisory Group.

Sub-committee reports accepted by the over-all study group include those on fiscal ability, survey of space and utilization, administrative, storage, and school costs.

A report of the curriculum and scheduling sub-committee presented to the advisory group provided considerable discussion with most recent recommendations made, including social study requirements increased to three units, and four years of a second language to the present schedule. The present procedure to encourage maximum usefulness and review policy of assigning study hall.

Six Crashes Said Minor

The three-day holiday weekend produced only six relatively minor motor vehicle accidents in Manchester. There were no injuries and only one vehicle was damaged.

An East Hartford motorist saw his car towed from the scene of an accident in the middle of Saturday night's brief down-pour. The accident occurred about 8 on Center St. near Roosevelt St.

According to police, the motorist, James J. Robinson, 56, was readbound on Center St. when he collided with a west-bound vehicle making a left turn. This car, operated by Dennis R. Naume, 18, of 3 Walnut St., received moderate front end damage. A passenger in the Robinson car, Miss Ann Horton, was taken to the emergency room of Manchester Memorial Hospital for observation and was discharged.

Police issued court summonses for failure to drive a reasonable distance apart, in two separate cases of rear end collisions, both minor.

Joseph A. Goulet, 54, of 229 Hilliard St., was arrested after he ran into the rear of a car stopped for a right turn into a driveway on Broad St. near Oliver Rd. John Wicks, 47, of 50 Union St., was the operator of the car struck. The time of the accident was 3 yesterday afternoon.

The day concluded with cocktails, dinner and dancing at DePasquale's Restaurant, Newton. It was at this time that the Poullets were presented with a keepsake scroll entitled "Remember." Each child had written a reflection on their childhood which was enclosed in the scroll and read at the dinner. The couple also received a treasure purse of $1,000 from their family to be applied toward an artesian well. Friends and relatives from Canada, New Hampshire, Maine, and this area attended.

Hebron Date Changed For Program

The food distribution date in the Federal foods program has been changed to the last Tuesday each month from 8 to 5 p.m. The June distribution day is June 22.

Officers elected to serve on the newly formed Hebron Historical Society are Frederick J. Wythe, president; John Hahn, vice president; Mrs. John Alton, secretary; William Driscoll, treasurer; and Ernest Birk, Craig Rowley, and Edward A. Smith, directors.

Something at least has already been accomplished in the preservation of old landmarks of the town, including the repair and upkeep of the old Burrows Hill schoolhouse, the repair and preservation of the Hope Valley Methodist Church, the old town hall, threatened with demolition, but now used in many ways to serve the interests of the old old Ballou house at Gay City, and so on.
