Convention 3rd Session Under Way

HARTFORD (AP)—The state constitutional convention holds its third meeting at noon today, and this session, like the first two, is expected to be routine, primarily concerned with matters of internal organization.

Most of the interest in today's and tomorrow's sessions will be provided by the resolutions filed by the delegates.

The convention's primary task is to draft constitutional amendments reappportioning the state legislature in accordance with federal court rulings.

But the delegates are free to raise and consider any other constitutional issues.

The convention's membership was cut to 83 by the death of Democratic mayor James P. Casey of Bristol last week.

The six remaining Democratic delegates from the sixth Congressional District are scheduled to choose Casey's successor at a caucus Thursday at 11 a.m.

Aided Escape

DURHAM (AP)—A 28-year-old Durham woman was arrested by state police Tuesday and accused of helping three girls escape from the Connecticut Valley Hospital a month ago.

Bertha Panchuta was booked on charges of injury or risk of injury to minors and aiding mentally ill persons to escape.

The girls escaped from the state institution in Middletown June 24. They were eventually picked up in Cleveland, Ohio.

Fires Were Set

EAST GRANBY (AP)—Police say that two fires last Monday night in East Granby and Windsor were set by arsonists.

Damage to the 12 acres has been estimated at $27,000.

Governor Fishes

CLONMEL, Ireland (AP)—Gov. John Dempsey of Connecticut went salmon fishing today in the River Sire of his native Tipperary.

While the governor fished, Mrs. Dempsey drove into Lime-lick to buy lace at the Good Shepherd convent.

Sunken Cargo Ship To Be Auctioned Off

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—How do you auction off a ship lying under water? This is the way it will be done today when the Prins Willem V, a 258-foot Dutch ocean-going diesel cargo ship lying at the bottom of Lake Michigan, is auctioned off.

Prospective bidders will assemble at one of Milwaukee's newest and tallest downtown buildings commanding a splendid view of the harbor. The auction will start at 10 a.m.

Experienced divers will be available on request to assist potential buyers.

The Prins Willem V was insured for $5 million. It sank Oct. 14, 1964, after colliding with a towed barge. It is lying on its side in about 75 feet of water four miles east of the Milwaukee harbor entrance. Sporadic efforts have been made to bring the ship to the surface. The ship's sealed cargo was insured for $700,000.

At first it was believed that the highest point of the sunken ship was 31 feet below the surface and thus a hazard to navy

Boy Falls from Wall Re-Implanted Arm Broken

BOSTON (AP)—Everett Knowles, 16, has broken one of the most important right arms in medical history.

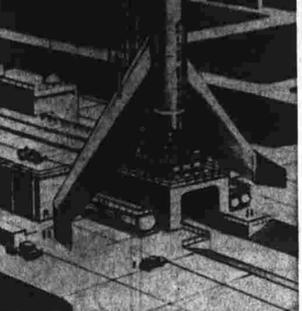

The frisky, freckle-faced teenager, whose arm was cut off more than three years ago by a wheel of a slow work train, was then successfully re-implanted, fell recently from a stone wall—and landed on the still highly sensitive arm.

The Associated Press has learned that the boy was then rushed to the Massachusetts General Hospital where some of the surgeons who performed the original operation re-examined the arm.

They worked late into the night and found that the arm had been broken less than an inch from where it had been torn from his body in the original accident.

It was on May 23, 1962 that the doctors had performed what is believed to be the first operation in which a human limb was successfully re-implanted that

Medicare's Final Vote Later Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill providing a new health-care system for the elderly and other sweeping increases in Social Security comes up for a final Senate vote today, with leaders predicting approval by a margin of at least 3 to 1.

Passage would send the legislation to President Johnson, who has placed a top-priority tag on the measure.

The House passed Tuesday, 807 to 116, the compromise version of legislation embodying the greatest single expansion of Social Security ever voted. The health-care portion ends a generation of effort in Congress to write such a provision into the Social Security System.

The Senate took up the measure Tuesday but held up the final vote until today, so that the bill would be passed by a margin of at least 3 to 1.

Sponsors said they were certain Johnson would sign the bill this month, probably Thursday or Friday, so that the increase in present Social Security benefits can come in September.

The $6.5-billion bill contains broad new health protection available to all 19 million Americans 65 or over as a matter of right and at small cost.

It also increases all present Social Security checks— for retirees, disabled persons and family survivors—by 7 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1. Checks going to 20 million beneficiaries will be increased.

Everyone is guaranteed an increase of at least $4 a month, in individual who has been receiving the present retirement minimum, $40, will get $44. One who has been receiving the maximum, $127, will have his check increased to $135.00. Couples in which the wife also is of retirement age get 50 per cent above the single person's figure in each case.

Governors Asked To Viet Briefing

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—President Johnson is asking the nation's governors to fly to Washington tomorrow for an in depth briefing on the Viet Nam situation.

Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada, who has been invited to chair the briefing, said he is not going to Washington if it appeared that the trip was being made merely to review information the President already has made public.

Sawyer said any announcement of plans would have to come from the White House.

Another governor said he was informed that the meeting had been set for 5 p.m. Thursday at the White House.

Presumably, if enough governors could attend to hold such a briefing, the President would send a White House plane for them.

Democrats attending this 57th annual conference have given unanimous backing to the President's course in Viet Nam. But some Republicans have criticized what they call the President's lack of frankness in disclosing what is going on in Southeast Asia.

The conference arranged to recess today's business sessions to listen to and view the President's televised report to the nation on recent decisions he has made in Viet Nam.

The governors obviously expected the President to announce an enlarged draft of American resources and manpower to balance Communist aggression.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the governors much Tuesday night in carefully screened words at the black-tie dinner that marks the social peak of their annual conference.

Humphrey cautioned the governors that the decisions Johnson will announce at a Washington news conference today will body. Since then there have been several others.

The hospital confirmed today that young Knowles will have to remain hospitalized for several weeks because of the break in a knee injury also suffered in the fall.

Knowles said he and some friends had gone out for the evening and were sitting on a bench on the side of a monument in the hometown of Somerville near Boston, when he slipped and fell.

He said, in an interview, he dropped about 12 feet to the pavement and as he hit thought, "My God, the arm."

"I knew I had hurt it because it couldn't straighten it out any more," Knowles said. "Actually the break was in the humerus, not the arm."

A spokesman for the surgical medical team at the hospital said it now appears that the arm had broken less than an inch from where it had been torn from his body in the original accident.

It was on May 23, 1962 that the doctors had performed what is believed to be the first operation in which a human limb was successfully re-implanted that

Asks U.N. Find Way To Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced today that monthly draft calls will be more than doubled—from 17,000 to 35,000—in order to help increase the U.S. military forces in South Viet Nam from 75,000 to 125,000 men.

Johnson, reporting to the nation on Viet Nam policy today, told a news conference that "additional forces will be needed later and they will be sent."

But he said he has concluded there is no need at this time to mobilize Reserve units or call any National Guard forces to active duty.

"If that necessity should later be indicated," he said, "I will give the matter the most careful consideration, and I will give the country due and adequate notice before acting."

Expressing "American determination in Viet Nam," Johnson said:

"We will not surrender. And we will not retreat."

The news conference was held in the East Room of the White House, and was carried by radio and television.

As he has many times before, the President spoke of eagerness to promote peace in Southeast Asia, and he announced an initial assignment for Arthur J. Goldberg, the new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

"I have directed Ambassador Goldberg to go to New York immediately and to present to the secretary-general a letter from me requesting that all the resources, energy and imagination of the United Nations be directed to find ways to end aggression and bring peace to Viet Nam," Johnson said.

Speaking of his own drawings as President, Johnson said he was looking for a "better, equal opportunity, better housing and improved health."

"And I do not want to see a

New Word

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Republican leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, has contributed a word "Medicare"—to the political vocabulary.

Ford said yesterday Congress should declare "Medicare Day" because it had passed a $7.5-billion health bill with a first subsidy provision and a $6.5-billion Social Security measure which includes health care of the elderly.

Ford called these "Medicare" and "Medicare."

School Building Cost Seen Rising Steadily

HARTFORD (AP)—The per-pupil cost of building new elementary schools in Connecticut has been climbing steadily in the past few years.

Data prepared by the State Education Department revealed today that the average cost of putting up eight new schools completed during the past six months was $1,398 per pupil.

During the previous six month period, when five new schools were completed, the average cost was $1,229 per pupil. Three years ago the cost figure averaged $1,068 per pupil.

The department's Bureau of School Buildings issues data on new school construction in the state semi-annually. The latest report noted the completion of six new secondary schools in addition to the eight elementary schools during the six-month period that ended June 30.

The 14 new schools have a total capacity for 10,467 pupils.

Of the eight elementary schools, two were in Danbury and the others in Enfield, Middletown, Norwich, Stamford, West Haven and Windsor.

The six secondary schools listed were in Bolton, Ludlow, Montville, Rocky Hill, Stamford and East Hartford.

The average cost of the six new schools was $1,946 per pupil.

Five Planes Lost On Missile Strike

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Five U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers were lost on the strikes Tuesday against two North Vietnamese antiaircraft missile sites about 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, U.S. military spokesmen announced today.

The spokesman said three of the F-105 jets were shot down by "conventional ground fire" and two others crashed after colliding near their home base as they returned from the strikes.

Two of the pilots whose planes were shot down were presumed to have been killed or captured, an announcement said, while the third was rescued.

Radio Hanoi claimed that North Vietnamese gunners shot down six U.S. planes Tuesday and said three American pilots were captured.

A U.S. military spokesman reported that another F-105 Thunderchief was shot down Tuesday on a strike against the Cam Do barracks 30 miles west-northwest of Hanoi. The spokesman said no parachute was observed and the pilot was presumed killed.

The Pentagon announced Tuesday that 46 F-105 Thunderchiefs made a low-level attack on the missile sites. The Pentagon said pilots reported one site destroyed and the other damaged.

It was the first attack reported against missile sites since the Soviet Union is presumed to

LBJ Names Fortas To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson today named Abe Fortas—quoted two days ago as saying he wanted no government job "from president on down"—to be a justice of the Supreme Court.

Jackie Observes 36th Birthday With Kennedys

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy observed her 36th birthday today with a quiet celebration with her in-laws at the Kennedy compound of summer home.

On the program was a midday boat trip aboard Marlin, the 25-foot motor yacht owned by her father-in-law, Joseph P. Kennedy, on which the late President John F. Kennedy went boating.

The sailing elder Kennedy has been out on his boat for short trips and lunch aboard almost daily for the last several weeks.

Some of the more than a score of Kennedy grandchildren have been going out with their grandfathers on the boat.

It was the first time since the assassination that the former First Lady celebrated her birthday among her in-laws in Hyannis Port.

Stamps In the News

The Ruyou Islands have issued two new stamps. One honors the new Olympic Athletic Stadium and shows the main grandstand and the infield track. The other stamp is for Philatelic Week. The design shows a three-string musical instrument known as a "maban". It is believed to be about 200 years old and was owned by King Shoko of the Ryukyus.

Lundy Island has issued three new stamps honoring the memory of Sir Winston Churchill. The design portrays a view of the Lundy coastline as a background to the portrait of Sir Winston in his familiar naval cap. Lundy Island stamps have been in regular use since 1929 to cover outgoing mail between the island and the British Post Office.

A Lundy stamp will be affixed to the 20¢ postage stamp of the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The design shows two relatives, a young couple with a child and an elderly man and wife traveling against a high background.

When East Germany was occupied by the Russians in 1945, the section of Poland bordering on Germany was also incorporated. Poland was compensated by being allowed to take over Germany's eastern border.

Many German citizens affected by the transition fled or were expelled by the Polish government. The immigrants, like the ones depicted on this stamp, sought settlement in West Germany.

Jobs Claims Increase by 7%

Unemployment compensation claims filed in Manchester last week rose seasonally by 7 per cent, and the rise was attributed to factory vacation shut-downs.

A total of 736 persons filed claims locally during the week ending July 24, compared with the 686 who filed during the week ending July 27.

Manchester's rise was far below that of the state as a whole, which increased by 20 per cent. The state last week in claims filed with $3.92, and was followed by Hartford with $2.98.

Manchester was in the 16th spot among the state's 20 cities. The week before, it was in the 12th spot.

Nigeria Seeks Phones
LAGOS—Nigeria's communications system has grown from 8,000 to 50,000 telephones since 1948. But 40 per cent are in use near this capital city.

The most valuable stamp in the world appeared recently at the Stanley Gibbons Catalogue Exhibition in London. The stamp is the 1-cent British Guiana Black on Black valued at $75,000.

Fire Department Plans Carnibor This Saturday

The Andover Volunteer Fire Department has just given out last-minute details about its sixteenth annual Carnibor.

The Carnibor will be held on Saturday, August 14, from 6 p.m. to midnight. The main event is a post-competition of the following Saturday.

There will be entertainment for all ages, including games of chance and skill, dancing, and rides for the very young. Refreshments will be available.

Visitor Finds Town Students (Relatively) Quiet, Orderly

It may come as a pleasant shock to parents of students at Bolton Elementary School. The school is relatively quiet and orderly.

Mr. Signe Roming of Broomfield, a suburb of Oslo, Norway, visited the school last spring and reported that she was "astonished to see how polite the children are, and how they obey their teachers."

A teacher herself back in her native land, Mrs. Roming came to Bolton in mid-winter to stay with her daughter, Mrs. Harold Freedom, on Bruny St.

Her daughter is a part-time physical therapist in a Manchester orthopedic surgeon's office. Her daughter's husband, who comes from Broomfield, is a sales engineer for the Lard Division of the General Electric Co.

Chapel OK'd As Library For School

The trustees of the Congregational Church have given permission to use the chapel as the Porter School library.

The library has been in need of a permanent home for several years. It was once housed in the Little White Schoolhouse, but was moved because of the poor heating of the building and set up in the Porter School activity room.

12th Circuit Court Cases

VERNON SESSION
A Vernon man accused of a recent break into the Manchester Shop at Vernon Circle, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with intent to steal. He was fined $50 and costs valued from $50 to $2,000.

The case against George Grover, 26, of Wolcott La., was continued to Aug. 17 pending completion of a pre-sentencing investigation.

Krause is traveling with a Long Island friend, Richard Stone, who is 17. They are using ordinary average-weight bicycles, with no gears.

Krause's father, who operates Ward Music Co. on Hartford Rd., said he hasn't heard where the boys are now, but on July 19 they were in West Liberty, Ky., 85 miles from Lexington.

The son sent him a copy of a Long Liberty weekly which reported the boys had stopped in town for breakfast.

The elder Krause said the youths plan to pedal into North Carolina. A plan was also planned with Stone's father, who will drive them back North.

The boys are carrying knock-out drugs which they plan to spread out on roadside to make the pair estimate the trip is costing $3 a day, mainly for food.

The local youth, a sophomore at Paul Smith's College in New York state, is no stranger to long bicycle jaunts. Last summer he and his friend traveled to New Hampshire and Vermont during a three-week trip.

Despite the long trip, this year's father said he's not worried about the boy's safety. "He's a rugged one," he said.

Young Krause graduated from Manchester High School last year. He plans to become a doctor.

Town Youth Heads South On Bicycle

A 16-year-old Manchester youth is somewhere down South, perhaps Kentucky or North Carolina, pedaling a bicycle.

His name is Richard Krause, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Krause of 27 Walnut St., who left July 1 on a bicycle trip to Lexington, Ky., a trip that covers nearly 2,000 miles.

Krause is traveling with a Long Island friend, Richard Stone, who is 17. They are using ordinary average-weight bicycles, with no gears.

Krause's father, who operates Ward Music Co. on Hartford Rd., said he hasn't heard where the boys are now, but on July 19 they were in West Liberty, Ky., 85 miles from Lexington.

Greek Premier Delays, Seeks Confidence Vote

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier George Athanasiadis has delayed for 24 hours in an effort to mobilize a majority in Parliament for the vote of confidence in his government.

The new premier, named by King Constantine 18 days ago to replace ousted Premier George Papandreu, had been generally expected to go before Parliament Thursday to ask for the confidence vote. But political sources said he now did not plan to make the request until Friday.

After opening formalities and a statement by the new premier, the 300-member Parliament was expected to reconvene on Friday, postponing the confidence vote debate until Monday. The debate could last three or four days.

Low-Fat Popular

WASHINGTON — Weight-conscious consumers are buying more and more low-fat milk, and as a result sales of this dairy new milk product may triple by 1970. In 1965, low-fat milk sales rose 24 per cent over a year before and exceeded sales of regular milk.

Low-fat milk is a new milk product called 2 per cent milk (or its bottled cousin) and is expected to increase faster than sales of whole or skim milk in the next few years.

Conversion to Contacts Takes Time and Patience

NEW YORK (AP) — When I have contacts, I'm not wearing them. I'm just waiting for them to come. I'm just waiting for them to come. I'm just waiting for them to come.

NEW YORK (AP) — A grand jury has indicted a white policeman who shot and killed a Negro ex-convict in a sidewalk struggle.

The grand jury reported Tuesday that patrolman Sheldon Lee Lewis, 34, "acted in a lawful and justifiable manner in deterring a disturbance" against Nelson Erby of himself.

The grand jury, which heard Erby's testimony, found that the facts failed to warrant an indictment.

It made a "no bill" report to court which, in effect, cleared Lewis. Lewis' lawyer, who is also Erby's lawyer, said the grand jury went beyond the scope of its jurisdiction in indicting or not indicting.

The all-white grand jury of 12 men and 4 women also reported that at Lewis' request, it will prepare a full statement explaining its findings.

The presentment will be given to a State Supreme Court justice.

Police have said that Erby grabbed a Liebowitz revolver during the struggle July 18 and shattered the officer's left forearm with a shot.

Witnesses gave several conflicting versions of the shooting, which occurred before more than 100 persons in the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section of the city.

Erby had a record of two felonies and a grand jury indictment for an assault on a policeman in 1963.

The "Congress of Racial Equality" disputed the police version of the killing.

Erby was shot in the back of the head by a policeman named Erby. Erby was shot in the back of the head by a policeman named Erby.

Rock Churches Puzzle

ADDIS ABABA — Hidden in almost imperceptible mountains in Northern Ethiopia are 11 mysterious solid-rock churches. All carved laboriously by hand, they are believed to date back thousands of years to the nature and comic worships of the Queen of Sheba's Axumite kingdom.

A week later he was dead.

Boy Rides Bike Into Car's Rear

Five accidents occurred yesterday involving nine cars and a bicycle, police report.

Brian Casara, 6, of 181 W. Center St. was riding his bicycle down a steep private driveway leading into W. Center St. early last night and couldn't stop, police say. He ran into the rear bumper of a car driven by David DeJohn, 43, Madison.

The boy was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was checked and treated for abrasions and lacerations.

Michelle Peltier of 124 Maple St. was making a right turn from Myrtle St. onto Main St. in the afternoon when she struck the car driven by Francis Gihosky, 28, of 30 Ford St. who was leaving the service station on the corner of Myrtle and Main Sts. to head north on Main St. police report.

Minor damage was done to the cars and there were no injuries, police say. A third car is reported to have been parked in the service station where it blocked the vision of the two drivers.

Lorraine Carter of Hendee Rd., Andover, had stopped for the light at E. Middle Turnpike and Ludlow Rd. heading east, when Nathan Perkins Sr., 51, of Williamstown, reportedly ran into her car's rear and causing extensive damage to both cars yesterday afternoon.

He was watching the light but noticed the car in front of him too late to stop, police said. There were no serious injuries.

Michelle Blais of 101 E. Middle Turnpike was following Ludlow Turnpike, 55, of Stratford last night as he pulled out from Pine St. to head west on Center St., police report. He saw a reflection of the red light for the Arch St. entrance to Center St. and stopped short but her car slid on the wet pavement and ran into his car.

There were no injuries but the cars were badly damaged.

Last, yesterday afternoon Joseph Pflanzmann, 60, of 19 Forest St. had just made a right turn from Forest St. onto Main St. to head north when Dwight Downham III, 31, of 148 Oak St. backed out of a parking stall on Main St. and hit Pflanzmann's car, police report. Minor damage was done to the cars and there were no injuries.

Proliferation

The issue of proliferation of nuclear weapons finds the United States today with two different kinds of policies.

And, without conceding anything in the realm of anti-proliferation, the Russian motives, one has to concede that Russia has a debating right to ask us which policy we really would prefer to take.

Perhaps the truth is that we really want neither.

One of our two policies, anyway, is that of proposing the spread of international treaty guarantees by which other potential builders of nuclear weapons would be good little nations and all some to the good big nations like Russia, the United States, and Britain, and promises to let them be the only nations that have atomic bombs to drop on anybody.

One reason for doubting that we really want this is that there seems very little chance of anybody getting such behavior from the nations which have already exploded their own way into the nuclear club, or who may be on the verge of doing so.

Our second policy, to which we are still committed on paper, is to have even though we seem to have had some enough to stop pushing it a few months ago, is the policy by which we ourselves would take some of our own weapons and place them under the command of some of our allies who have no nuclear weapons of their own and who, they should be allowed to play with, might conceivably give up their ambitions to build nuclear weapons of their own.

This second policy of ours is aimed straight at West Germany. And the fact that we ourselves, recently, have begun to take it a little less seriously than we did when we first proposed it does not prevent the whole picture, West Germany has, in the meantime, grown a little more keen about it. This, in turn, is not necessarily because West Germany wants this arrangement, but that it would get its finger in position of command over some of our bombs. It is because West Germany is armed and ready to use its own nuclear weapons. First, of course, another 20 years has passed between war. Second, the United States itself, during the past 15 of these 20 years, has been leading West Germany back into the ways of rearmament and new militarism, just as it is trying to do with Japan on the other side of the world. Third, West Germany cannot help being jealous of the France of de Gaulle, which has gone ahead and made its own bombs. There is the United States, giving, at the moment, lip service and not much more than lip service, to two policies, one for a treaty to limit the spread of nuclear weapons, the other for a special spread of nuclear weapons, by us, among our own particular allies.

In each a situation, Russia has a clear debating right to demand that if we want to stop proliferation, we stop proliferating.

Unfortunately, such nice debating points seem to have little real importance. The proliferation is already in control, and it is obviously already in quite clear, once and for all, that the sure for mankind's life is not going to be in the purported control of any one particular nation of death, but in the application of law to those particular extensions of politics in which nations attempt to use force to impose their will upon one another.

Nuclear weapons and bazookas are the same, and the use of one in war is just as bad as the use of another. It may seem to have to be so, but it is not the dominant control of some international police force and power, or some, just as it is going to have to be one.

Both we and the Russians are debating, however, with our supposedly clear diplomatic games centered on lesser propositions. The longer we delay in putting our own power and will into subservience to the rules of survival the greater and more certain the chance that some very small escapist will some day have it in his power to change the fate of all civilization, and use it.

Vervain (Concluded?)

One never knows, in this business, how deep and bottomless a chasm one may open when one first touches a certain topic.

But usually the trouble begins when one discusses something without having walked all the way around it at least three times, and then putting it on the sheet for three days to see what else develops, in the world or in the head.

This rule we neglected in our notation, the other day, on the great flowering of vervain in the drought-stricken pastures of 1965. We questioned what it might be which produced such a sudden dominance of this blue-purple bloom in this particular year, and the closest we came to a valid explanation was that it remained a mystery.

That, at least, was in the right category.

By this time—too late—we have been told to realize that when we deal with the plant vervain we are indeed dealing with something in the realm of the occult.

And the sudden prevalence of vervain this year is suddenly explained. It is here because we have a sudden special need for it.

And the properties of vervain which our first discussion did not begin to uncover is that of being a top notch witch-repellent.

One of the first woodcut representations of vervain bears under it the notation: "Vervain and Dill 'Hinder witches from their will.'"

And a sixteenth century authority on herbs wrote, of vervain, "that it is the dining room to be sprinkled with water in which the herbs hath been steeped, it the guests will be the merrier."

What has all this to do with the summer of 1965?

This unusual growth of vervain has been planned and matured in the countryside for our stepping so that we can properly conduct ourselves in protection against the summer re-run of the television program with the witches—Samantha and Endora, we think they are even though we seem to have had some enough to stop pushing it a few months ago, is the policy by which we ourselves would take some of our own weapons and place them under the command of some of our allies who have no nuclear weapons of their own and who, they should be allowed to play with, might conceivably give up their ambitions to build nuclear weapons of their own.

In short, not since the Middle Ages has there been such a need for vervain. Which is, of course, the real final explanation of why there is more of it growing this year than there has been for centuries.

Knocking on our wooden door, keeping two typewriters, keys carefully crossed, and making sure our ancient Salem feather duster is secure in its holder, we hope this closes the topic of vervain for 1965.

Priceless Privacy

Privacy is beyond price. In some parts of the world teeming masses are jammed into slums and ghettos. Countless persons have no idea what it is to be alone or to be free. In addition, in some countries, governments have developed so many diabolical shrewd techniques for watching the private lives of individuals that the people long for release from the omnipresent threat of spying.

In the United States most persons will feel that they can retreat into islands of complete solitude and security, even if it is only for a brief period as they would like. But in America there exists a creeping encroachment upon the private sphere, due primarily to the growth of the technological and welfare society.

The inviolability of one's person, one's home, and one's personal effects is challenged in countless ways.

The United States Supreme Court has tended to respond to violations of privacy by giving the right of privacy greater protection. The court has upheld this right even when it has come into conflict with another's freedom of expression. In that recent case involving Connecticut's birth control law the court upheld the right of marital privacy in a very strong manner.

One of the most flagrant invasions of one's privacy is the use of electronic devices to monitor his conversations. Wire-tapping has long been the subject of controversy. With the development of more sophisticated modern equipment, it presents an even greater threat.

Court has not interpreted the Fourth Amendment provision against unreasonable searches and seizures as prohibiting wiretapping. There is, however, some speculation today that it may reverse itself on this point. Some who agree with Justice Holmes that wiretapping is a "dirty business" would welcome the change.

Others would, on the contrary, pass legislation to restrict wiretapping. It is a means of dealing more effectively with the growing crime wave than the Fourth Amendment provision against unreasonable searches and seizures as prohibiting wiretapping. There is, however, some speculation today that it may reverse itself on this point. Some who agree with Justice Holmes that wiretapping is a "dirty business" would welcome the change.

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans Jr. Robert D. Novak

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The new Washington office of the Republican Governors' Association, announced here on Monday at the annual Governors' Conference, is a good deal more than a mere administrative office.

In fact, the new headquarters in Washington amounts to an unspoken pact between the party's moderate wing, as Gov. Robert Smiley, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said on Monday, the new campaign committee will definitely be trying to "establish a Republican image" well to the left of the 1964 Goldwater campaign image.

Though they may not admit it, some of the Governors expect that Barry Goldwater's Free Book Association (FBA) every time it takes a conservative position on political issues, the Governors campaign committee won't be under any such handicap.

Overtones of this are much in evidence here at this rather dull Republican Conference. At a closed door breakfast for the Republican Governors, Gov. George Romney of Michigan specifically raised the question of how the party would deal with the conservative FBA.

The answer: The Republican Governors would supply the rebuttal.

Since Romney has been named to the key position of chairman of the new policy committee, he should be able to deliver.

When they first started the clandestine campaign to oust Goldwater, many of the Governors hoped that Blais would himself preach a middle-of-the-road ideological doctrine and wrenched the party back into the center.

But with the Governors' Association based in news-hungry Washington, such outrages as the loan of an official party organ's mailing list to a fry-night right wing propaganda group aren't likely to go unreported.

Already some of the Republican Governors here are starting a quiet campaign to prevent the automatic selection of Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, author of "A Choice, Not an Echo: The Gravediggers" and other right wing tracts) to the prominent post of chairman of the Republican Women's Federation. Blais is no less concerned about what Mrs. Schlafly's capture of that job would mean to party moderates and independents in the 1968 Presidential campaign year than the Republican Party.

I think it is time the people of Manchester heard a little more about the group of teen-agers in the age bracket of 14, 15 and 16 years old, who are now giving six weeks of their summer vacation as Volunteers at Camp Kennedy.

Do you have any idea what it is like to take care of a retarded child? It takes a tremendous amount of patience, much love, and kindness, but the children return their love, in full, to these teen-agers, believe me!

Blais' reply was, "Submitted by The Rev. Joseph H. Dudley, Center Congregational Church."

Tollard Danforth Sees Top Issues As Education and Industry

Stuart Danforth, Democratic candidate for reelection, has declared that the "top issues" in the October election are "education and industry."

Danforth said that he has made it his policy to have a leadership in the most crucial areas of the state.

He pointed out that the Republican platform is concerned with the state's economic development.

Danforth said "Where we have the most serious problems is in the area of education and industry."

He continued, "The thousands of dollars that are being poured into the state for education and industry are being wasted."

He continued, "The thousands of dollars that are being poured into the state for education and industry are being wasted."

Events In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service reported today that an estimated 4 million Americans — or 1.5 per cent of the civilian population — have never seen a doctor or dentist.

Most of them are under 15 years of age, and most are non-white, but a few are over 65 years of age.

Health's two declared rivals, Regional Medical Council and Powell, withdrew from the race, the withdrawal came after Health, on a first ballot of Conservative members of the House of Commons, won 10 of the 208 votes cast Tuesday.

The party's new rules required the winner to poll both a majority and 15 per cent more than the runner-up. Although he had the majority, Health lacked the 15 per cent because Manchester polled 103 votes. But the latter bowed out after promising to support the Conservative government.

New trials emerged for Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Laborites, who rule with a majority of only three votes in a 31-vote House of Commons.

His purpose was to accelerate the process of balancing Britain's trade and so maintain the value of the pound sterling. The new program was sure to cause grumbling among the voters.

Health, 46, will make his first real assault on the government as opposition chief next Tuesday.

Up for debate in a Conservative motion deploring the 7 per cent increase in the cost of living since Labor turned the Tories out last October. If the government loses the measure, it will have to resign.

One main target of the Conservative opposition is the new program that plans to lower costs on house mortgages must be deferred. The Labor party made strong impact when it won a campaign last fall with a pledge that it would ease the burden on overseas workers.

Health's victory over Mandelson meant generally that the Tories had chosen a more conservative newspaper.

"The Tories have made the right choice of leader," said the editor of the Daily Express, which has chosen a strong and capable man.

Previous Conservative leaders were chosen in backroom discussions generally. The party's top families has the main voice.

Health is from an unusual mold for the party of the Salts.

Orator Sold Land

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — In 1925 Coral Gables' founder, George Merrick, sent 86 buses to the city to help him build prospective land buyers here.

And when Merrick died, the noted carter, was employed at a reputed $50,000 a year to make daily runs to the Coral Gables' Venetian Park.

NEW YORK — The salaries of senior captains on Interstate 10 are $12,000 a year, according to a report by the House of Representatives.

Japanese $11,200 and the Swiss $11,000. An American line strikes this time, relying on the state law, however, does not become effective until Oct. 1, only three days before the election. In order to set in motion the machinery necessary for election, the town would have to anticipate the power of the state law.

Health Assumes Control Of Conservative Party

LONDON (AP) — Edward Heath took control of Britain's Conservative party today at a critical stage in British politics, signaling a furious onslaught on anti-social Labor government.

Health's two declared rivals, Regional Medical Council and Powell, withdrew from the race, the withdrawal came after Health, on a first ballot of Conservative members of the House of Commons, won 10 of the 208 votes cast Tuesday.

Boy's Bike Taken At Globe Hollow

A boy's bike was stolen from the Globe Hollow area, police reported today.

Karl Kivimäki of 505 Autumn St. says he couldn't find the bike when he was ready to leave the pool. The red and white bike was reported to be worth about $40.

Police are looking for a person to that end if elected in October.

Wacky Mother Role Easy to Miss Russell

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Even wackier than Russell's role as "Auntie Mame" — the actress who played the wackiest mother in movie history, she's the mom of "Dad, Dear Dad, Mamma's Hung in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Bad."

She plays the mother of Bobby Moore, keeps him locked in his room and feeds him the same meal every day — a hamburger well-done with catsup, a glass of milk and a maraschino cherry for dessert. She also takes her dead husband along with her in a coffin wherever she goes.

Life at home with son Lance Burton is not so macabre but just as wacky.

Lance is proud of his mother's name and that of his father, too, producer Freddy Bronson. But Lance wants to make it on his own — with no help from his parents. This has led to some hilarious situations. Once when Lance was attending Hotchkiss School in Connecticut, Rose was invited up for mother's day. She got strict orders not to come at a movie star because Lance had told no one about his famous mother.

"I," recalls Rose, "I borrowed a tuxedo suit from my sister and a big floppy hat. Plus shoes. I wore those big clodhopper walking shoes. It was the most unbecoming look at the movie there. But Lance was pleased."

Lost American May Be Alive; Cong Prisoner

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An unconfirmed report reached Saigon today that Donald Dawson, the American sailor who came to Viet Nam to trace his missing brother, was seen in Viet Cong captivity nearby this month.

Dawson, 25, of Astoria, Calif., came to Viet Nam in January after his older brother, Lt. Danzel L. Dawson, a U.S. Army pilot, was shot down in the jungle in November.

Dawson spent several dangerous months trying to trace his brother. Then, finally believing that he was dead, he determined to find the body.

Lance always gave his mother the signal: "Don't tell her I'm alive." "I would be unable to introduce him."

Mickey Rooney So Happy He Doesn't Mind Alimony

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Gosh, I've been happily married for seven years now. I wonder what's wrong?"

So says Mickey Rooney who has been in divorce court more times than a ballet.

The Mick once said: "The only thing I regret about my life is the alimony."

But now he is so happy that he doesn't even regret the alimony anymore.

Rooney will be 45 on Sept. 23 but he's still Andy Hardy. His energy and enthusiasm are boundless. And so is his talent.

"I'm different now. Barbara and I have four lovely children. I love my family. I love my home. And we go to church every Sunday."

"I believe I have found true happiness."

As for his career, he's riding high. He just finished "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" with Eddie Fisher to bring "Paint Your Wagon" to the screen.

When comes the movie rights to the first of the Lamp-Lowe musical comedy hits.

"I'm also going to star in and direct a Broadway play. I got a book of my life coming out in the fall — and I haven't been in bankruptcy court for a couple of years now," Rooney said.

At that, he glanced at his watch.

His book should be something if he goes into his five marriages in any detail at all.

His first wife was Ava Gardner. She was an unknown contract player at MGM. Mickey as Andy Hardy the biggest box-office star on the lot.

Mars Dead Orb Paper Reports

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Times reported today that Martin's best picture of Mars shows the red planet apparently is a dead orb similar to the moon.

The newspaper said it learned that the pictures — not yet made public — show craters gouged in the surface of the planet but no evidence of canals.

Some astronomers have theorized that canals exist on Mars.

Marvin Mates, Times science editor, wrote: "While no direct evidence of life could be detected, this did not rule out the possibility that plants such as lichens and algae might exist."

Martin's closest pictures were taken at a distance of about 7,000 miles. At that range it is possible life forms might not be detectable in the series of yet-unpublished photos.

"These later pictures, taken under better lighting conditions that cast shadows on the Martian surface, are reported far better than the first photos."

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory in nearby Pasadena had announced Tuesday that at least three more of the Mars photographs recorded in the historic July 14 fly-by would be made public before the weekend.

Mars-4 began last Saturday to replay the tape on which all 21 pictures of Mars were recorded. The return is expected to be completed early next week.

Annual Town Reports

Since its organization last September, the commission has conducted surveys and made recommendations in several town departments.

The commission conducted a survey on the scope and nature of juvenile delinquency in the town. It recommended a number of educational and guidance counselors to bring the town standard up to the level of the state department of education.

A survey was also made on the scope of poverty in town as a step toward the possible application for federal funds for an anti-poverty program.

The commission recommended that better facilities be provided for the Senior Citizens Center and backed the purchase of the former Middle Beth Shalom for use as a center.

The commission also urged Manchester Community College to allow residents 64 and over to attend classes for credit.

In collaboration with student committees and some faculty members, the commission had the foundation for the establishment of a local youth council.

Two commission members went to Selma during the integration marches there and returned with a copy of a letter to the commission from President Johnson lauding his civil rights legislation.

The commission has established a committee to study the relations, problems of the young and problems of the aged.

ENGINEERING The Engineering Division, an arm of the Public Works Department, states in its 1964-65 annual report, "We are particularly proud of the fact that we have our quality emphasis in the construction of cement sidewalks and curbs, sidewalks, as well as under the town's annual maintenance and repair program."

Public Works Director and Town Engineer, James J. Gagnier, says, "Citizens cooperation is being secured in this type of work."

The department performed work for the Zoning Board and Sewer Department during the summer months. The department is engineering, surveying and construction of the Deepwood Drive sanitary sewer, the Manchester Hospital diversion pump station, the Fenwick Sta. water line, the Park St. water line, the Brook St. water line, and the water quality study.

Engineering Division is especially proud of its involvement in the erection of a $7,000 shelter at Camp Keswick. The shelter, built with materials provided by the Construction Division of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, was designed and supervised by personnel from the department.

PLANNING COMMISSION Major changes in the zoning regulations were approved in the past year.

One dealing with group dwelling projects, requires additional parking area and such features as landscaped sitting or play areas in each project. Responsibility for the application review is placed on the commission instead of the board of appeals.

Joseph R. Tamasky, planning director, said in the report that the change in responsibility was made because the board's responsibility is "generally limited to an individual parcel and an individual and unusual hardship." But a review, he said, is "of great significance to the entire community."

Ten zone changes, twice as many as the year before, were approved by the commission. Among them were changes for Pioneer Parkade and the Manchester Packing Co. and for construction of a large convalescent hospital.

Tamasky said the change in regulations reduced the density allowed in the group dwelling projects.

The report noted that the commission increased its activities during the past year, taking almost twice as many hours of testimony as the year before, although the same number of hearings, 10 were held.

group of books being given a heavy work out, the passers control over many books through storage in a locked case.

There are now 85,000 books in the town's three libraries, somewhat short of the 100,000-book goal. Nearly 7,000 books were added this year, but large numbers were withdrawn.

The Westhill Gardens Branch is very popular, says Miss French. Over 1,000 books were borrowed by the elderly in the past year.

Special attention was given to the retarded children with a Christmas Story Room and a loan of the library for those at the Junior Center. Reindeer from the Keeney Annex have visited the library regularly and have received individual attention.

Among the donations to the libraries were books on work with the retarded. Flowers, decorative glass, magazines and books on insurance were other donations.

The Whilton Library underwent some major and minor alterations which have improved its attractiveness considerably.

COLLECTOR OF REVENUE Collection on the 1964 tax reached $4,903,506, exceeding the estimate of the board of directors by $374,343.

Settlement on the Spencer Rubber Products case brought in $41,573 in delinquent taxes. Three other cases pending in court were settled and the amounts cleared.

Sixty-eight liens were placed on real estate delinquents on the 1963 list and 26 liens were released during the past year on previous lists.

April through June, 318 warrants were issued. Collection was made on 96 bills with 9 pending. The collector said most of the bills that remained uncollectible were for persons who had moved out of state.

Hope Back From Trip To Domingo

BOLLYWOOD (AP) — The interval Bob Hope is back from his trip to Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, and the assessment of the morale of American troops on the island: "The morale is as good as ever — the greatest."

The Department of Defense reported that Hope returned to the United States on Tuesday. He was accompanied by his wife, Dorothy, and two children, a son and a daughter. Hope was in Santo Domingo for a week, where he performed in a show for the troops. He also met with the military command and staff, and with the local press. Quintuplets' Happy Parents

Quints Doing Fine

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — New Zealand's day-old Lawson quintuplets are in very good condition, a medical bulletin said today.

The boy and four girls lay in incubators at Auckland's National Women's Hospital as congenitally weak and offers of help arrived for the parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. (Sam) Lawson.

The boy is 12 and a former model. The girls weigh 4 pounds, 3 ounces, 4 ounces, 3 ounces, and 3 ounces, 2 ounces and 3 ounces, 2 ounces.

The birth is an occasion of great joy in which we all share," said Prime Minister Holt.

He said that the Lawson family would see that the children get adequate housing, nursing help and anything else they need.

A grocery firm announced it would give the parents a new car.

Student Writing Stilted English Teacher Complains

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "At that period, one of my general objectives is to come to an understanding of that which was of paramount significance for my given period, and to be able to put that in terms of its causal relationship."

Watkins said: "This poor fellow would know a deer track only if he saw it in Shakespeare, and even then he might not notice it."

"He could not tell the difference between a keroseene lamp, noon advertisement and the moonlight."

Stuffy writing often results, he said, when people think of writing as being above ordinary speaking.

"This is wrong," Watkins said. "It eliminates entirely from writing; it can turn writing into the jargon of a government clerk."

He quoted Mark Twain: "The days and nights Huck Finn spent on the Mississippi river swim by, they did along so quiet and smooth and lovely."

For many, Watkins said, days pass rather than swim, and it would never occur to a student that days may slide.

Tempelhof Field Caled Menace By Communists

BERLIN (AP) — The East German regime claims that Tempelhof Airport in the heart of West Berlin is a menace to persons living around the field, a key terminal in the 1948-49 airlift.

The Communists contend that the main runway is only about 8,500 feet long and that, because of the heavy crowd around it, it is "the leading cause of air accidents."

About 40,000 persons live around Tempelhof, about two-thirds of them Communist. They have since the Allied airlift to the Communist-enclosed city there has been no major accident. Jet services will be introduced at the airport next spring.

The Communist complaint re-emphasized that Tempelhof is a "menace" to the West. Thousands of German citizens have been flown to the West from the airport.

The continuous drone of commercial planes that has made Tempelhof the "biggest" passenger terminal in Europe is a "nuisance" to the West.

"Every flight reminds us that there is still a way in and a way out," one nearby resident remarked.

The Berliners have memories of the long months of the Soviet ground blockade when thousands of Allied flights brought in food for West Berlin's 2.2 million persons. They do not need the monument that stands in the city to remind them of the 74 Allied airmen who were killed in the airlift.

Tempelhof occupies the site of Kaiser Wilhelm II's favorite parade ground. It became central Europe's major air terminal in 1921.

The Allies used it for military planes only toward the end of World War II. A section of the field now is reserved for the U.S. Air Force and there are about 500 military flights a month.

By agreement of the Big Four World War II Allies, air traffic over Berlin is restricted to U.S., British, French and Soviet planes. The three Western Allies each have one commercial airline serving the city along three corridors leading West. Berlin with the Federal Republic of Germany.

The East Germans claim the space over the city is theirs. Heavily armed helicopters with East German markings flew along the city's east-west dividing line, creating a tense scene.

South Windsor School Board Plans Forum, Hears of Registration Lag

The board of education met for a preliminary report on the school board's registration lag. The board is planning a forum to discuss the problem. The board is planning a forum to discuss the problem.

When making payments, taxpayers should include the entire tax bill for the amount due. Brown says. Checks are to be made payable to the Town of South Windsor. A receipted copy will be mailed to the taxpayer.

Swim Lessons Fall
There will be no open registration for the second session of the swimming instruction program given by the recreation department at Veterans Memorial Park.

Recreation Director Sam Brady has announced that because of the large number of pre-registered applicants only those children who are already registered will be admitted to the lessons starting Aug. 2. Children in the class must be at the park at 10 a.m. on that day, Brady said.

State to Buy Site for Road In Buckland

General Manager Richard Martin said yesterday that the construction of an access road to the proposed new Pioneer Petroleum plant in Buckland, and the erection of a water storage tank in the area, is being held up, pending an agreement between the state and John Barnini on a right-of-way.

The 2,000-foot-long Hiss Rd. on land for which the town has already accepted a deed, was to enter the proposed Industrial Park through McNeil St. but state highway officials, two weeks ago, showed preference for access through Denning St.

They said that, with the widening of the Wilbur Cross Highway only a few years away, their plans show that McNeil St. will be torn and that the new road will have to be relocated in the future.

They said that building now with access from Denning St. will avoid relocation and its accompanying expense.

They said that purpose in mind, the state is now negotiating with Barnini to acquire a right-of-way on his land in the vicinity of Denning St. When an agreement on location and price is reached, the state will purchase the property and will turn it over to the town.

Warner pointed out that class sizes had room allotments are being made now for the September opening of school, and that, according to summation figures on hand from the October 1964 census, there are many children who require additional space for Grades 1, and kindergarten.

Families who have moved into town and who plan to enroll children in the school system in September should register as soon as possible, Warner said.

The superintendent office will be open every day from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. for registration.

The board approved Warner's recommendation for hiring a cafeteria supervisor. The supervisor, whose position was included in the school budget, will coordinate the buying, menu planning and serving at all school cafeterias in town.

The board tabled a proposed resolution to the Connecticut Association of Boards of Education until the next meeting, pending further study.

The board set the date of the next meeting as Aug. 11. Warner said he plans to have a report on the lines for the school districts ready.

Warner said he favors seeking open bids for the milk supply for the school systems for the coming year. Noting that the total cost for milk was approximately $35,000 per school year, he said he considers offering a preferential method.

Under the government subsidy program, each serving of milk with a hot lunch carries a four-cent reimbursement from the government, while milk served without a hot lunch carries a three-cent reimbursement.

Air Journey
As Tourist
Exciting (?)

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the little crises today in booking a long international air journey is in tourist or economy class. The money you save barely covers the cost of having your friendly neighborhood caterer straighten the kinks out of your backbones.

As a matter of fact, after making a round-trip economy flight of some 20,000 miles to and from Viet Nam, I have only one suggestion to the air line: replace any member of the crew, except possibly the pilot, with a staff orthopedist or a chiropractor.

Going over wasn't so bad because I didn't know what I was up against. But I had to spend nearly three months in the war zone to get up enough courage to face the trip back.

The air line fellows who make the seating assignments must be either sadists or former airline cannibals. Their goal seems always to wedge a fat man in the middle of the three cramped seats.

Then the fun begins. A typical row is as follows: On the outside seat is a tall man with legs so long he trips up his neighbor several times before one finally tells him he can't leave them in the aisle, so he puts one foot under the seat ahead of him and one under the seat in front of the fat man next to him.

And the passenger by the window, on the other side of the fat man, usually is a talkative middle-aged lady who suffers from claustrophobia and is making her first flight.

She can't stand being crowded and becomes nervous. Every 15 minutes she has to climb over the fat man to go to the comfort room. After 1,000 miles her spiked heels have scraped both his shirt and trousers.

Then the fellow in front leans his seat back and is practically in the fat man's lap. The fat man can no longer read, because there is no room left to hold up a magazine. The lady is asking him if he would get her a life preserver to hold in the aisle so she would feel safer.

The skinny man in the aisle seat has taken up half his foot space. As he slowly numbs into the man next to him, the fat man wonders where his other foot could possibly be. It must be somewhere, but he no longer can feel it.

About then food is served. The hostesses fly back and forth with trays like hardened burglars. The theory is that if enough food is stuffed into the passengers they will go into a coma and quit trying to move around.

By the time his circulation returns to his arms, the fat man's companions have finished their meal. He weakly tries to cut his steak and wrings up with his elbows in the neighbor's plates. He just leaves them soaking up gravy, until the hostesses come to his rescue and take away the trays.

Sleep would be possible if the passenger would cross their legs one way for a half-hour and then, by order of the pilot over the public address system, cross them the other way. But that isn't how it works. After 20 minutes of dozing the passengers have their legs all mixed up. Each row of passengers looks like a three-headed human beast.

But if tourist flights are tough on the paying guests, they are equally hard on the heroic, hard-working hostesses. At the end of one stage of my journey I told one hostess who was leaving: "If you see any girls really feel like a rest."

Oh, our work isn't quite through yet, she said brightly, "we still have to take off our shoes and press the grapes to make the champagne for the return."

No Show Namu Will Try Again
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Namu the no-show got another chance today.

A welcoming ceremony for the sea lion killer whale was scheduled for 8 a.m. Pacific Daylight Time to replace the one which didn't come off Tuesday.

Namu was blissing Namu. Tuesday was no fit morning for men or whale to go through a ceremony.

The poor animal had come 400 miles. He was supposed to be welcomed by Lt. Gov. John Chas. and other dignitaries. Instead he was greeted by lighting and thunder.

After your sister, brother-in-law, mother-in-law, dear old Uncle Nate and rich Aunt Charlotte all say, "NO" ASK US! Matter of fact, when you need money in a hurry, why not come to us in the first place? That's what our new Family Banking Service is here for; to lend you money when you need it...to lend you a helping hand with all your money problems. Another good thing, too; our interest rates are low and your relatives will never know. If you need money now, come in and ask for it! We like to say, "YES."
