CAMP KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration pushed ahead with plans for the 14-day Gemini 7 flight today while engineering detectives sought the cause of the failure of the Agena rocket that wrecked the Gemini 6 mission.

There also was some second guessing on whether the modified Agena should have been fired for the first time on a mission as important as Gemini 6. However, additional failures an intended chase across the sky by astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford. They had planned to catch manned lunar landing program and hook onto the Agena in a vital rehearsal for later manned moon flights.

The Gemini 7 is not fitted for a rendezvous mission. Its interior is filled with equipment to sustain the lives of the astronauts over the long journey.

Their launching was called off when the Agena apparently exploded or broke apart 6 minutes 30 seconds after launching. It is a sweet spacecraft, save it for me," commented a disappointed Schirra.

"We'll have a better go at it next time," said Stafford.

"Next time" will be at least four months off, possibly six.

Legal Minds Help Correct Constitution

HARTFORD (AP)—Some of the keenest legal minds in the state spent the final day of Monday afternoon rewording and punctuating the proposed new state constitution.

It was hoped that the work of codifying the constitution would be completed after today's session. One member of the Rules Committee of the constitutional convention indicated, however, that the work will not be finished until the final document, as submitted to the people, is perfect in language and punctuation in order to insure its clear intention.

The Constitution was formally completed last week by the convention, but the work of deleting redundant words and phrases, correcting grammar, and fixing punctuation was left to the lawyers and language experts.

PUC OKs Merger Of Public Utilities

HARTFORD (AP)—The State Public Utilities Commission has promised to keep a watchful eye on a proposed interstate utility combine to see if increased efficiency results in lower rates.

The PUC approved the merger of three utilities into a single firm called Northeastern Utilities.

The applicants for permission to merge are the Connecticut Light & Power Co., the Hartford Electric Light Co., and the Western Massachusetts Companies.

Together, the three firms have more than one million customers. CLAP and HELCO have some gas customers as well as electrical customers.

Consolidated assets of Northeastern Utilities would exceed $800 million and gross revenues, according to past performance of the three merging firms, would be over $228 million annually.

The PUC conceded the companies' claim that merger would make for more efficient operation, but it noted that while CLAP and HELCO are boosting their dividends, three are no "hard plans" for lower rates.

"In our opinion," the PUC said, "the savings of the applicants' proposal should be passed on to rate payers as well as to shareholders."

The commission promised to "scrutinize most carefully the future operations of these Connecticut companies to insure the rate payer receives a proper consideration from increased efficiency of operations."

When the PUC conducted a hearing on the proposed merger Oct. 7, company officers said they anticipated a 40 per cent decline in production costs by 1980, but could not say when rates might be reduced.

"I hope to come soon to this commission with rate reduction proposals," one company official said.

The merger must also be approved by federal agencies.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States proposed today that the United Nations turn over to the 17-nation U.S. and Soviet draft treaties aimed at halting the spread of nuclear weapons.

But the U.S. move met with immediate objection from the Soviet Union, which declared that the proposal would only delay agreement on a treaty.

The Soviet delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told the committee that the treaty should be worked out at the current General Assembly session.

He said that to lose the issue back to Geneva would only create "a vicious circle" of shuttle between New York and Geneva.

He told the committee no compromise is possible on the issue of West German access to nuclear weapons through a multilateral nuclear force or any other scheme.

The United States declared that it believes that differences will stand in the way of agreement on drawing up a treaty "can and must be resolved."

Talks Avert Walkout at Brand-Rex

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A strike began in Waterbury, a strike was postponed in Williamstown and the Connecticut Co. bus strike showed no signs of stopping Monday.

In Waterbury, 650 members of the Teamsters union walked off their production jobs at the Vickers, Inc. plant.

In Williamstown, an 11th hour agreement averted a walkout of 400 Brand-Rex employees scheduled for midnight at the American Enka subsidiary.

At Waterbury, negotiations for the Connecticut Co. and the striking bus drivers union met for the first time since the walkout began Oct. 12 and "no substantial progress" was reported after the 8-hour session.

State Labor Commissioner Renato E. Ricciardi said that "while the parties still appear antagonistic, many ideas were exchanged and some new approaches explored."

Another session was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

The Teamsters' strike in Waterbury was the latest tactic in a series of maneuvers by the union since it won a bargaining election at Vickers last June. The union called several one-

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II today honored the Beatles at Buckingham Palace today by pinning the insignia of the Order of the British Empire over their heads.

"She's great," they chorused after the ceremony.

Admitting they were nervous, John Lennon said: "But she was so very sweet, and she put us completely at our ease."

The four Beatles—Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr—entered the great gilded throne room, standing on a dais dressed in apricot-colored silk dresses.

The queen looked at the four boys with a big smile.

At a signal from an usher, they bowed their heads; they took four paces forward, halted before her, and bowed again.

"Mr. George Harrison, the lord chamberlain who stood beside the queen, George, who wore a blue suit and a bearing such as 'you've blue shirt, smiled nervously.

"Mr. John Lennon," said the lord chamberlain, "he wore a black suit and white shirt, as did the other two Beatles. Then the others were called.

Touring Lawmakers Targets of Snipers

CAN THO, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong snipers fired at the schedule for the visiting U.S. lawmakers today as helicopters were preparing to land them at a special forces camp in the Mekong River delta.

None of the helicopters was hit and no one was injured. The four visitors said they did not notice the sniper fire although they heard and saw armed helicopters escorting them attack the snipers.

The incident occurred less than two miles from the Cambodian border in Kien Phong Province, about 50 miles west of Can Tho.

The other lawmakers were Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Reps. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, and John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

The congressional party was approaching the special forces camp at Cai Cai with newsmen in four helicopters escorted by three armed helicopters. A pilot aboard one of the gunships estimated there were four or five rounds of sniper fire.

When the firing began, the armed helicopters swooped down and made five passes firing rockets while the other helicopters hovered overhead.

Vernon Middle School Plan Voted For Town School System

The Vernon board of education last night formally adopted the middle-school plan of the town's educational system.

The "middle-school" plan will not go into effect immediately, however. The schools will be used as space becomes available.

Under the "middle-school" plan, elementary school children in kindergarten through Grade 4; a "middle-school" would house a fifth through eighth graders, and a high school would house ninth through twelfth graders. The town is now on a modified 6-3-3 system, with elementary schools housing kindergarten through Grade 6, junior high schools Grade 7, 8, and senior high school Grade 10 through 12.

As a step toward the future, the board also voted last night to adopt a temporary organization for next year that begins to approximate the "middle-school" plan. The plan would house children in the grades from kindergarten to Grade 5, with the exception of the Maple Street and Vernon Elementary schools. Fifth graders from these two school districts will go to the new junior high school, to be finished next year. The new junior high will house the five rooms of fifth graders, and all of the towns sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

All town ninth graders will attend school at the Sykes building, which will be known as the Rockville High School Annex. The curriculum will be coordinated with the high school curriculum.

The Rockville High School will house students in Grades 10 through 12.

By adopting this interim organization pattern, and by introducing other modifications next year, the administration will slip into the "middle-school" plan.

Vernon School Board Asks Town To Equip Sykes Addition

The board of education last night urged the town of Vernon to equip a proposed addition to the Sykes School in Rockville, on the understanding that by doing so it will make it possible for the school board to finance a larger structure.

The board said the reason for its recommendation was the need for the additional classroom space. A three-story addition would provide, as opposed to a less expensive, two-story addition.

The cost of equipping the building was estimated at about $50,000; the three-story structure would cost about $345,000. The cost of equipping the building would be about $100,000.

The latter addition would provide five classrooms more than the two-story construction.

John S. Mason, chairman of the school building's trustees, told the school board last night trustees cannot build and equip the addition without the town's contribution of the cost of the building.

The fund contains about $600,000, he said. A two-story addition would cost about $200,000, and a three-story addition about $400,000. The interest on the present $600,000 is about $15,000 a year, from which about $12,000 is paid annually in maintenance and upkeep, not including salaries. If the fund were cut in half, the income would also be halved, and would be insufficient to cover the school's operating costs.

Mason asked that, if the town wants a three-story addition, it take over the cost of equipping the building. The town would pay the architect's fees, and relieve the trustees of maintenance and upkeep costs for a set number of years (the mentioned ten years as a possible example).

If the town took over those costs, he said, it would trim the cost of the structure to about $200,000, and would reduce operating costs to an amount within the fund's income would cover.

He suggested the fund would continue to pay fixed costs of about $12,000 and the school system take over operating costs of about $8,000.

Dr. Raymond E. Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, told the board Mayor Thomas J. McConner for the town board of representatives would go along with equipping the building. He recommended the school board go on record as supporting Mayor's proposal. Member Arthur Callahan noted that the town probably would be legally barred from paying architect's fees, and that part of Mason's suggestion.

After considerable discussion, the form of the motion, action was taken, and the motion was adopted by a 10-0 vote.

Draining Pond To End Today

With the draining of this Pond expected to be completed today, the next step in determining what can be done to clean it up will be undertaken this week by General Manager Richard E. Martin and Public Works Director Walter Fusa.

The two town officials will take samples of the accumulated sediment at three points: at the mouth of Lyall Brook, in Union Pond, and at a point of the downstream Hooksett Brook.

When the samples are taken and analyzed, Martin and Fusa will decide on one of three methods for removal, all of which will result in sending the accumulation down the Hooksett Brook, perhaps with the aid of air compressors; (1) breaking it up with heavy equipment; (2) dredging the entire bed; (3) draining it away with water.

The present drainage and inspection project, the first since 1960, was precipitated by a $500,000 signature petition, submitted on Oct. 5 to the board of directors and requesting that "something be done to eliminate the stench from the North End."

Tavern Owner Has Car Stolen

Masaro told police he had parked the red car with keys in a nearby service station on Center St. and was returning to the tavern when he discovered the car was missing.

Meeting Slated On School Plan

The first public airing of the Harvard Report on schools for Hartford, Section II, "Metropolitan Plan," will take place on Tuesday, Nov. 9, 8 p.m. in the Moses Fox Lounge of the G. Fox and Co. building, Hartford, at a dinner meeting arranged by the Service Bureau for Women's organization.

Dr. Vincent Conroy of Hartford will speak about enrollment trends, size and composition of school population, and possibilities for broadening educational opportunities through citizen cooperation. He will also discuss how schools can solve urban problems and why surrounding towns, such as Manchester, have been included in a city plan for Hartford.

Persons interested in attending the meeting should secure reservations from the service bureau no later than 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 1.

Film Narrator

Robert C. Hermsen, photographer, lecturer and artist, will narrate two films about Vene-suelan wild life Thursday in the Manchester High School auditorium, the first in this year's Audubon lectures - film series sponsored by Lutz Junior Museum.

"Nature's Wonderful Creations," planned especially for children, will be presented in the afternoon at 3:30. An adult counterpart, "The Reach of the Purple Flowers," will be shown at 8 p.m. In order to make these two films, Hermsen lived in the great basin of the Orinoco, in the plains and the jungles, filming the activities of such creatures as a four-inch kingfisher, a tree-dwelling ant eater and the capuchin monkey.

Both films are open to the public with museum members being admitted free of charge.

Machell Attends Collector Confab

Ernest R. Machell, the town's tax collector, will be one of the 100 public officials from around the state attending a tax collectors' conference at the University of Connecticut Nov. 2.

Electronic data processing will be highlighted in the day-long session, which is sponsored jointly by the UConn Institute of Public Service and the Tax Collector's Association of Connecticut.
