These 264,000 elderly persons have sufficient income to keep them off the welfare rolls but not enough to handle their medical expenses. There was some expectation that the need for Kerr-Mills would diminish when the Social Security health care program gets under way. But, to the contrary, congressional sponsors of the 1965 Social Security bill and officials of the Health, Education and Welfare — HEW — Department expect Kerr-Mills to expand con-

This will happen, they say, because the Social Security health benefits probably will cover only 50 to 60 per cent of the aged person's medical expenses, and because of provisions in the bill requiring greater benefits under Kerr-Mills. One important side effect of the new program, they point out, will be to leave the states with more money to put into health care for their needy aged since the new program will provide for at least half of their medical needs. HEW officials emphasize that Kerr-Mills so far has not come close to meeting its potential even under the original 1960 law. Seven states still do not participate; and some of those which do, offer only nominal nally enacted it.

No, what the Supreme Court said Monday was that requiring a man to register his political belief and adherence had to be held unconstitutional in an instance where Congress had already defined the act of membership in the particular party in question as a criminal act in itself.

When Congress had done that, as the Court could cite that it had done, then it made the act of registering one of potential self incrimination, which the Constitution protects against with the Fifth Amendment. So the Supreme Court struck down the registration provision. But if the registration provision had stord alone, if it had not exposed the registrant to any direct threat of legal criminal prosecution, conceivably the court might have let it stand. Anyway, the Court didn't say Monday that Congress couldn't have and shouldn't have the power to compel the members of just any one political party among the aundreds of political parties existent in our cities, states, and nation to be the only ones required to come forward and register their party membership as a public document. The Court, on Monday, struck no blow for traditional American liberty. Its unanimity, rather, was one of plous expediency, Yet, of course, the retreat from violence to the traditional American liberty was still being accomplished. One silly way of trying to defeat Communism is off the books. We wouldn't even pass it today. Nobody except a few faithful disciples who are personally reliving the McCarthy nightmares is so sure, today, that Communism is one monolithic, united, infallible master plot about to take us over. For such survivors, of course, this presenty decision of the Supreme Court will be while proof of one of their own faworite contentions, which is that the Communists have already taken over the Supreme Court itself. But for the merican majority, the decision signals a return, although indirect, toward a healthier and more traditional Amer-

Poor Time For A Convention

The other day Barry Goldwater was quoted as saying he had no intention of seeking the Republican nomination for President in 1968. Questioned as to where he thought this reluctance on his part would leave his party situation, he volunteered the opinion that if the Republican National Convention were held now Richard Milhaus Nixon would be the overwhelming choice of its dele-

The Auto Insurance Tab

The strong prospect of more increases in automobile liability insurance rates in Massachusetts has prompted the casualty insurance industry to review the reasons and to emphasize the part motorists themselves play in the determination of such rates. The review, in the words of an industry spokesman shows why the compulsory insurance "is generally higher here than in other statesand inevitably will rise to still higher levels for next year."

The year-to-year premium increases have not added up to the 18 or 20 per cent that the average motorist seems to believe they have in recent years. Actually, while the claim loss cost of insuring Massachusetts private passenger cars have gone up 11.5 per cent since 1962, the compulsory insurance rates have risen just 1.1 per cent in the Part of the claims loss increase is tied to the ballooning incidence of death, injury and destruction that applies almost nationwide. While total registration of all motor vehicles in this state went up 2.7 per cent in 1964, total motoring deaths and injuries zoomed by 12 per cent. Liability rates have gone up sharply during this year in 37 states, and six others have scheduled increases. Some, in fact, have granted two rate increases since last Jan. 1 so that insurance companies can meet the cost of bodily injury or property damage claims, or both The state of Massachusetts, moreover, shows the highest bodily injury claim frequency in the nation, according to statistics gathered in this state by the casualty insurance industry and verified by the Massachusetts Division of Insurance. The Bay State frequency of 7.8 bodily injury liability claims per 100 cars insured ranks as more than twice the average claim frequency of all other states combined. Boston's 18.4 claims per 100 cars is easily the highest of any city in the nation. The loss erecord on private passenger cars in Quincy in 1964 was so bad that the insurance companies paid out $1.02 in claims for every compulsory premium dollar collected from the motorists of that city. Everett's per-passenger vehicle claims payments have jumped so high that city may become a rating ter-

A condition in which the bodily infury accident claim frequency is rising "in combination with an increase in average claim costs," as reported by an industry spokesman, must produce high-er rates. The four, who have prepared a "Statement of Principles," which will guide the council of students from Manchester's three high schools, are: Stephen Penny, 17, senior at Mancheste High, Barry Gooding, 17, senior at Manchester High; Margaret Downes, 16, junior at East Catholic High; and Peter Ferreira, freshman at Cheney Tech.
 The members of the townwide Youth Council will be elected by the student councils of the three schools, possibly in January. There will be 15 members, based on one representative for approximately each 250 stu-dents. Thus, Manchester High will have nine delegates, East Catholic will have four, and Cheney Tech, two.

The council will have a fivefold purpose: 1. To develop better school relationship.

2. To promote inter-school actions Commission in its dealings with problems concerning youth. 4. To bring to the students of Manchester a feeling of involvement with matters concerning them and their town. 5. To create an interest among depend on its breeding, care, and feeding. Our turkeys are fed a special diet, then confined a week or so before they are killed and given a "finish feed" to improve their flavor Such pampering really pays off at your dinner table!

Where to buy the best We honestly believe that you won't find finer quality turkeys

Stop. Shop Bradlees

How big a turkey?

Allow 1 to 11/2 pounds of turkey per person, so you'll have enough for generous Thanksgiving dinner servings, second helpings, and turkey left over for sandwiches, turnovers, hot sliced turkey with gravy, hash, and soup.

Tom, because of its thick, plump breast. But hens seldom weigh more than 13 or 14 pounds, so if you want a larger Frozen or Fresh Killed?

The choice is up to you. We have an outstanding selection of (1) Grade A turkeys from the great Northwest, (2) USDA Grade A White Gem-our own brand turkeys...the fanciest turkeys money can buy...and (3) fresh-killed Cape Cod turkeys direct from the finest farms on the Cape.

A word to the wise: allow enough time to thaw the turkey

Be careful not to pack the dressing in too tightly, or it may burst the skin of the turkey as it expands during roasting. Bake any extra stuffing separately in a foil package or covered casserole, for an hour, representative of the American Field Service to discuss for mation of a local chapter. Representatives of civic and town organizations have been invited to attend the meeting to discuss the possibility of setting up a steering board of adults from the community for the purpose of bringing a foreign student here to study.

Mrs. Janis R. Latham of the gocial Science Department, noted that a foreign student is the responsibility of the community as a whole. The steering comas a whole. The steering com-munity will act as liason be-tween the American Field Ser-vice and the school and will be ponsible for the guest student's housing welfare and for a portion of his support. Mrs. Latham said student leaders as well as members of the faculty and adminstration have been enthusiastic for some time about the possibility of bringing a youngster to study here. She also noted that schools hosting a foreign student become eligible, though not auto-matically, to send one of their own students abroad to live for "It is the tradition in most of

Mrs. Janis R. Latham of the Social Science Department, noted that a foreign student is the responsibility of the community as a whole. The steering com-munity will act as liason be-tween the American Field Ser-vice and the school and will be esponsible for the guest student's housing welfare and for a portion of his support. Latham said student eaders as well as members o time about the possibility of bringing a youngster to study here. She also noted that schools hosting a foreign student become eligible, though not auto-matically, to send one of their own students abroad to live for a year or a summer.

"It is the tradition in most of the surrounding communities to invite a young person from a foreign country to be a member of the student body of the high school each year," Mrs. Lath-

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP) -Remnants of a winter storm that has battered the upper and eastern Great Lakes region will move into New England today. The storm left 7 to 10 inches of snow on the Lake Superior shore of Upper Michigan and up to 4 inches is forecast today for northeast Ohio, western portions of Pennsylvania and New York and extreme Northern New Engand, the U.S. Weather Bureau

Colder air behind the storm center is already moving through Southern New England and was preceded by showers and thundershowers, the bureau said. During the day, temperatures will show a slow but steady fall, reaching lows in the 20s late tonight with even a few teens in the Berkshires. Light showers or snow flurries are likely, especially over Western Connecticut and the cold northwest wind will occasionally gust to as high as 30 to 40 mph, making the air seem especially cold. The center of the cold air is centered over the Dakotas this morning and will move to the mid-Atlantic states Thursday, producing sunny skies, lighter winds and quite cold air, the bureau said.

Five-Day Forecast Temperatures in Connecticut

Thursday through Monday are expected to average much below normal. The coldest being recorded about the beginning of the period and again Saturday The normal high and low during the period in the Hartford area is 49 and 30, in Bridgeport, 51 and 35; and in New Haven, Little or no precipitation is indicated except for snow flurries over the Berkshires at the beginning of the period and over
