of an image builder. What greater ploy than a trip to Vict Nam to see the boys in the front lines, A few pictures of the personable young senator with our brave fighting men would restore the faith of Democracy, at least in Boston, Of course it is important for a Senator to ask questions in the areas he visits so that he can return to foggy bottom with a fresh view-point. Senator Teddy asked a representative of the Agency for International Development what the biggest problem was that he faced in South Viet Nam. The AID man, a certain Richard Kriegal, was not one of those you ask a foolish question I will give a foolish answer poys. He looked the young VIP right in the eye and said, "In the last 45 days we have had 35 groups. Each demands the 25c tour. It takes up my time and and it takes up the province chief's time." The voice, which only a few days before flowed to the deepest recesses of the senate chamber on a flood of tears was almost inaudible but said that senators really didn't expect layish treatment, at which Teddy took off in a chopper, accompanied by a guard of four other choppers, to see how the real fighting men were making out in the jungle. Senator Kennedy should have stood. He was face to face with a man whol had the heart of a Congressional Medal of Honor winner. His big brother once wrote a book about Courage. Richard Kriegal showed the kind of courage few men possess. He gave a politician an honest answer.

Of course, there is no chance that Mr. Kriegal will be rewarded. Indeed his future career in government is not likely to be brilliant; He lacks a sense of diplomacy. On the other hand, maybe he wasn't courageous after all. Maybe he was just fed up to the ears with, VIPs and what could they do about it anyway, send him to Viet Nam? -STAMFORD ADVOCATE

New Test Game Pits TV Viewer Against Admen

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) - Two of the major television networks are turning out self-testing programs in which viewers may participate by answering questions and then compairs their scores with those chalked up in a survey by the network,

CBS had one Tuesday nighta national citizenship test — and NBC has a test on honesty coming along later.

This reporter, however, has developed a test that shows whether the viewer is watching the programs that assorted advertising agencies believe he should be watching.

It's easy to score yourself. For instance, a program laced with commercials showing a man shaving, or counting how many times he used one razor blade or winning a gorgeous girl because he switched to a certain brand of hair oil obviously is designed for male viewing.

It's a woman's show when the commercial demonstrates how to give yourself a permanent wave while riding on water skis, or how to get rid of dishpan hands, and gray hair, or how to clean sinks and floors fast, or get a whiter wash.

The sailor is Gene Kelly, who is eyeing . . .

ABC's "Discovery '65" will Museum of Natural History's Hall of Dinosaurs tomorrow morning at 11:30.

'Icy' Chimp To Retire

One of the more unusual tandem acts in this year's Ice Capades will be splitting up after the season.

Dave Pitts, a graceful, skilled performer, splits his act with Spanky, a mischievous chim-

"Spanky is more than seven years old," Pitts explained, and the older chimpanzees get, the more cantankerous they be-

"Also, it's a matter of weight," Pitts said. "Spanky now weighs 75 pounds, and he'll add another 15 or so to that in a year, which will make him too difficult for me to handle in the lifts and spins and whirling around that we do. So, much as I hate to part with the little guy, I've got to, and while he doesn't know it yet, he's going to start spending his advancing years in some nice comfortable zoo when we finish this season't tour."

For some months now Pitts has been grooming Sparky's replacement a two-year-old product of Nigeria named Junior.

Pitts started training Junior originate from the New York the moment he acquired him last June, and is satisfied that the youngster will be ready to work the show when next season rolls around.

But it's a little rough on me this season," Dave says, "teaching Junior, keeping a never-be-fore-needed watchful eye on Spanky, and, of course, doing the show every night and two matinees a week when we're not traveling. And if anyone says, Well, that's show biz,' I'll mur-

Youth Concert Will Compare Music and Atoms

"Musical Atoms - A Study of Intervals" will be Leonard Bernstein's subject when he conducts and narrates the ninth-season premiere broadeast of the New York Philharmonic Young People's Concerts, Monday evening at 7:30 on

In discussing his topic, Bernstein will draw an analogy between the structure of atoms and music. In the same way as one needs at least two particles to create an atom, two musical notes are required before you can begin to have an "atom of music." The two-note relationship is called an "interval." Horizontal intervals are represented by notes struck one after another (melody) and vertical intervals are found in notes struck simultaneously (harmony), both of which take many forms and are used by a composer to establish the mood and meaning of his work.

To illustrate his program, taped in Philharmonic Hall in New York's Lincoln Center, Bernstein features the first movement of the Symphony No. 4 by Brahms, and the fourth movement from the Symphony No. 4 by Vaughan

Stars to Appear On 'Ice Capades'

Television viewers will have a ringside seat for spectacular ice skating, when CBS presents "Ice Capades of 1966" Wednesday night at 9. Hosting the show will be Arther Godfrey, Liza Minnelli, and singer Roger Miller. The color show will feature:

Aja Zanova, who will do a sweeping routine to "Hello Dolly," was twice world champion figure skater. Born in Czechoslovakia, she became an American citizen after fleeing her homeland.

Tommy Litz, who spins and swoops to "Let Yourself Go" and "A Foggy Day", won the world free-style skating title in 1964. His triple toe loop, performed at the start of his routine, is considered one of the most difficult feats on ice.

Sashi Kuchiki, seen in a "Fire on Ice" dance, learned figure skating by watching films of Liza Minnelli and Cyril Ritchard star in ABC's "The Dangerous Christmas of Red Riding Hood, or, Oh Wolf, Poor Wolf," an original hour-long musical comedy by Jule Styne and Bob Merrill. Also featured is Vic Damone.

'Oh Wolf' Stars Liza, Cyril, Vic

It used to be that the wolf never got the breaks. But in Sunday's special, "The Dangerous Christmas of Red Riding Hood, or Oh Wolf, Poor Wolf," televi-sion viewers will get a new look at the story-through the wolf's eyes.

The one-hour special is an original musical for TV, written by Jule Styne and Bob Merrill, who have teamed to write "Gypsy,," Prefer Blondes," "Gentlemen "Carnival," and "Peter Pan."

Starring in the show will be Liza Minnelli, Cyril Ritchard, Vic Damone, and The Animals.

Miss Minnelli, daughter of Judy Garland, stars as Red Riding Hood. Just barely out of her teens, Miss Minelli has won raves from critics for her "Flora, the Red Menace." Talented at home as well as on stage. Miss Minelli designed some of the costumes she wears in the show.

Cyril Ritchard, currently on Broadway in "The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd," not only stars as Mr. Lone T. Wolf, but appears as a dancing woodsman and finally as a gray-haired grandmother.

Ritchard said he enjoyed doing the role of the dapper, vain, social-climbing wolf because, "We all love to laugh at the person - man or wolf - who thinks he's being elegant when we all know he is a fraud.

The role gives Ritchard several songs, although, he said, 'T sound like a sick walrus when I'm in good voice."

Vic Damone, who plays the singing woodsman, is well known as a recording, television and movie star, as well as a headliner in top night club shows. His best known record was "On the Street Where You Lave".

The Animals, a British rock 'n Roll group, are featured as five leather-jacketed delinquent wolves named Lancelot Galahad, Gawain, Percival and Sam, The group will sing the first rock 'n roll song ever written by Styne and Merrill, "We're Gonna Howl Tonight."

The colorcast will also feature some of the most elebrate costumes and settings yet created for television. Designed by Raoul Pene du Bois, the colorful forest and animal costumes are reminiscent of those of "The Wizard of Oz."

Styne and Merrill will expand the show to full stage length after the telecast, and present it as a musical comedy in London,

"The Battle for the Ia Drang Valley," a report on the fiercest action in Viet Nam so far, will be broadcast Tuesday at 10 p.m. on CBS.

'FBI' Show Gives Viewer Bad Impression

ABC's "FBI," which sports the seal of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and is made with its official blessing, continues to leave a very curious impression of bureau opera-

Sunday night, for instance, the intrepid agents were trying to catch a madman determined to destroy one of our rockets in a misguided effort to call attention to the need for peace,

It was a timely enough theme, but the man was caught almost by chance and at the very last moment. He had already pulled the pin on a hand grenade when he was tackled and a brave agent tossed the explosive in another direction.

The series is supposed to consist of adaptations from real closed cases of the bureau, but after most episodes, a viewer has the impression he has seen another police action adventure and not a very good one.

GT7, Grid Game

To Split Screen

The next Gemini launching is scheduled for Dec. 4, a Saturday, and NBC's present plan is to start its coverage of the 2:30 p.m. EST blast-off at noon.

Then it will move on to a collegiate football game shortly after

1 p.m., but by using special technique, leave a quarter of the screen showing the rocket on its pad. Printed bulletins about the count-down will flow across the bottom of the busy picture. NBC will leave the game for only a few minutes at launch time, and then keep the audience advised of the flight's progress by more printed bulletins unless, of course, there is an emergency of some sort.
