Constitutional Vote In State Tomorrow

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut voters decide Tuesday whether to accept or reject the recommendations of the Constitutional Convention of 1965.

More than 1.3 million citizens are eligible to vote "yes" or "no" on each of two proposals on the ballot.

Proposal One modernizes the state's 1818 constitution and provides for the establishment of a General Assembly on the basis of the "one man, one vote" principle enunciated by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Proposal number two revises the section of the constitution dealing with eminent domain. It would require any public agency to prove the "necessity" of taking any property by condemnation.

Proposal number one is being opposed by a relatively small, but vocal group of citizens who oppose the abolition of the state's unit system of representation under which each of the 169 towns had at least one representative in the House of Representatives.

But a controversy over Proposal two grew to such proportions that it overshadowed the major business of the convention as incorporated in proposal one.

The proposal found prestigious groups and individuals opposite sides of the fence.

The polls everywhere will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. Voting machines are in use everywhere.

Liquor stores and drinking places will not be required to close.

Although well over a million voters are eligible to go to the polls, the turnout was expected to be relatively small.

Estimates varied, but few observers expected a vote of more than 30 per cent and most expected less.

The Democratic and Republican parties and the League of Women Voters were in the forefront of the drive for the adoption of Proposal one.

The league took no position on proposal two. The positions of the political parties were somewhat ambiguous. They did not oppose proposal two officially, but they focused all their efforts on advocating adoption of proposal one.

Gov. John N. Dempsey, a Democrat, however, officially went on record against proposal two.

Among the leading proponents of the controversial proposal was Meade Alcorn, the GOP floor leader at the constitutional convention and former national chairman of the Republican party.

Among the major organizations favoring the proposal was the Connecticut Bar Association.

Major opposition of both proposals came from The Committee of 1,000 led by John Lupton of Weston and Joseph A. Flanzler of Willimantic.

In a final statement issued over the weekend Flanzler called again for a "no" vote.

He urged Connecticut voters to "oppose this intrusion of the courts upon our basic constitutional rights of self-government."

Four Killed In Weekend Auto Crashes

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Two young women in a small foreign car were killed Sunday night in a collision on the Wilbur Cross Parkway in New Haven, boosting the highway death toll to four on an icy weekend in Connecticut.

Killed at New Haven were Miss Linda Reed, 24, of West Haven and Miss Julianne Ducey of Hamden.

In Durham Saturday, Sidney H. Nelson, 56, of East Haven was killed when his panel truck skidded on Route 17, hit a telephone pole, and collided with another truck.

Earlier Saturday, Miss Arlene Galtcomb, 20, of Avon was killed when her car skidded off Route 179 in Burlington and flipped over.

Stamps Stolen

DARIEN (AP)—The theft of $66,000 worth of stamps from the Darien Post Office was "definitely a professional job," said Postal Inspector Robert W. DeLong Sunday.

The thieves, who also made off with about $1,000 cash, "must have had the place scouted pretty well," DeLong said.

Although the stolen stamps can't be redeemed, they can be peddled for a high percentage of their face value, the inspector said.

'GRASS ROOTS' RELIGION

NEW HAVEN (AP)—The ecumenical movement is not a matter of doctrinal compromise but of "understanding one another, respecting the conscientious religious beliefs of one another," Richard Cardinal Cushing said Sunday.

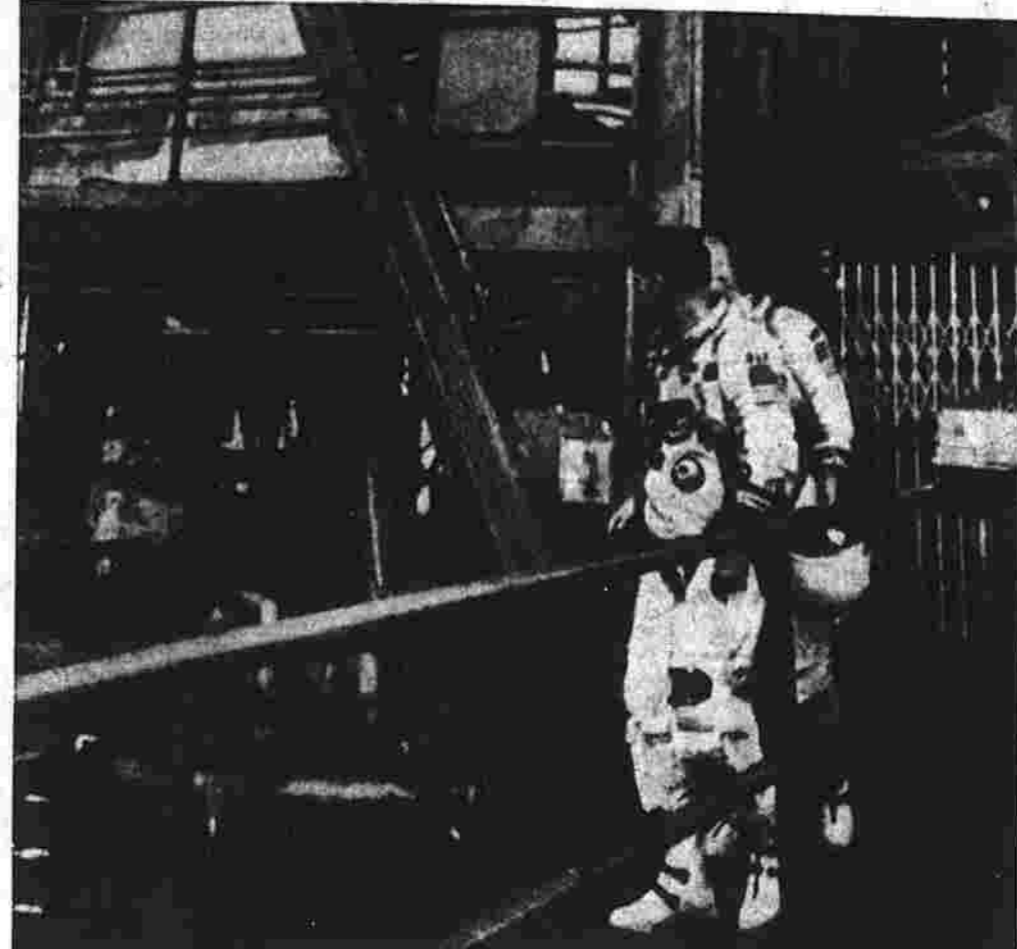

The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, speaking in a Protestant church, said that what church leaders must do is "get down to the ordinary people and convince them we're not trying to change their religious beliefs, but to understand and love one another."

HOME DESTROYED

DERBY (AP)—A Derby family escaped unharmed today as fire destroyed their 12-room home on Seymour Avenue.

Mrs. Simon Harak and two of her daughters were taken down fire department ladders from the second floor. Her husband and three other Harak children managed to get out safely.

Gemini 7 Crew Fine; Eager for Company

Wednesday New Date For Launch

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) —The Gemini 7 astronauts, still vigorous and mentally alert in the ninth day of the marathon space voyage, hurried on toward more endurance records today and looked forward eagerly to a Wednesday rendezvous with Gemini 6.

Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. have shown no evidence of weariness despite the long, grinding exposure to their strange world of space, Dr. D. Owen Coons, a flight surgeon, said today.

"They wake up sharp," he said, "respond quickly to ground commands, and make no errors in copying information relayed to them from earth stations."

"They knew what they had to do, and they are going to do it. We expect them to be as good to the end."

Gemini 7 entered its 134th orbit at 11:35 a.m. EST. Borman, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Lovell, a Navy commander, overcame one problem that had plagued them from the beginning but picked up another during the night.

A red light had flicked on and off for days, presumably indicating a loss of pressure in one of the fuel cells.

Sunday night, flight director John D. Hodge of the team working the overnight shift, suggested that Borman turn on a cross-over valve, which

Dislodged Plug Stalled Launch

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Man's first rendezvous in space was thwarted Sunday when an electric plug no bigger than a transistor radio fell out of Gemini 6.

The plug normally is yanked out by a lanyard as the rocket lifts off its launch pad. Its job is to tell a computer the vehicle is on its way.

At exactly 1.6 seconds after ignition started in the vehicle that was to carry Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford into space, the plug came out of the booster.

It started the clocks and told the computer that Gemini 6 was on its way.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders approved a resolution today advising party members to reject membership "in any radical or extremist organization."

The measure did not name the John Birch Society. The Republican Coordinating Committee acted swiftly to endorse the stand of National Chairman Ray C. Bliss.

MEETING DELAYED UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations announced today a one-day postponement of a meeting of the Security Council on Kenya's demand for mandatory sanctions to crush the Rhodesian rebellion.

The meeting, set for 4 p.m. today, was rescheduled for 3 p.m. Tuesday. Kenya chief delegate Burudi Nabwera said Kenya wanted an economic blockade of Rhodesia "and, failing that, military action."

He said the council should "make it impossible for anything to go in or out" of here.

Rain and Snow Cover New England States

BOSTON (AP)—Heavy snowfall trumpeted the approach of winter in northern New England today but rising temperatures brought rain to lowlands and southern sections.

Between 2 and 6 inches of snow fell in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont and more was expected tonight.

From two to four inches of snow fell in Connecticut yesterday, making some roads slippery and causing some school closings today in Litchfield County. The snow changed to sleet and freezing rain and then to rain during the night.

Continued rain is forecast in Connecticut today with clearing tonight and sunny skies expected tomorrow.

The Weather Bureau said Maine could expect between 4 and 6 inches before the storm tapers off tomorrow.

In Vermont, 4 inches were recorded in Bennington, 5 in Montpelier and 6 in Newport. Ski resort owners could see holiday season profit in the storm. Mt. Snow with only a light base so far this year reported 5-7 inches.

New Hampshire had about 3 inches and ski sections such as Pinkham Notch reported an additional inch.

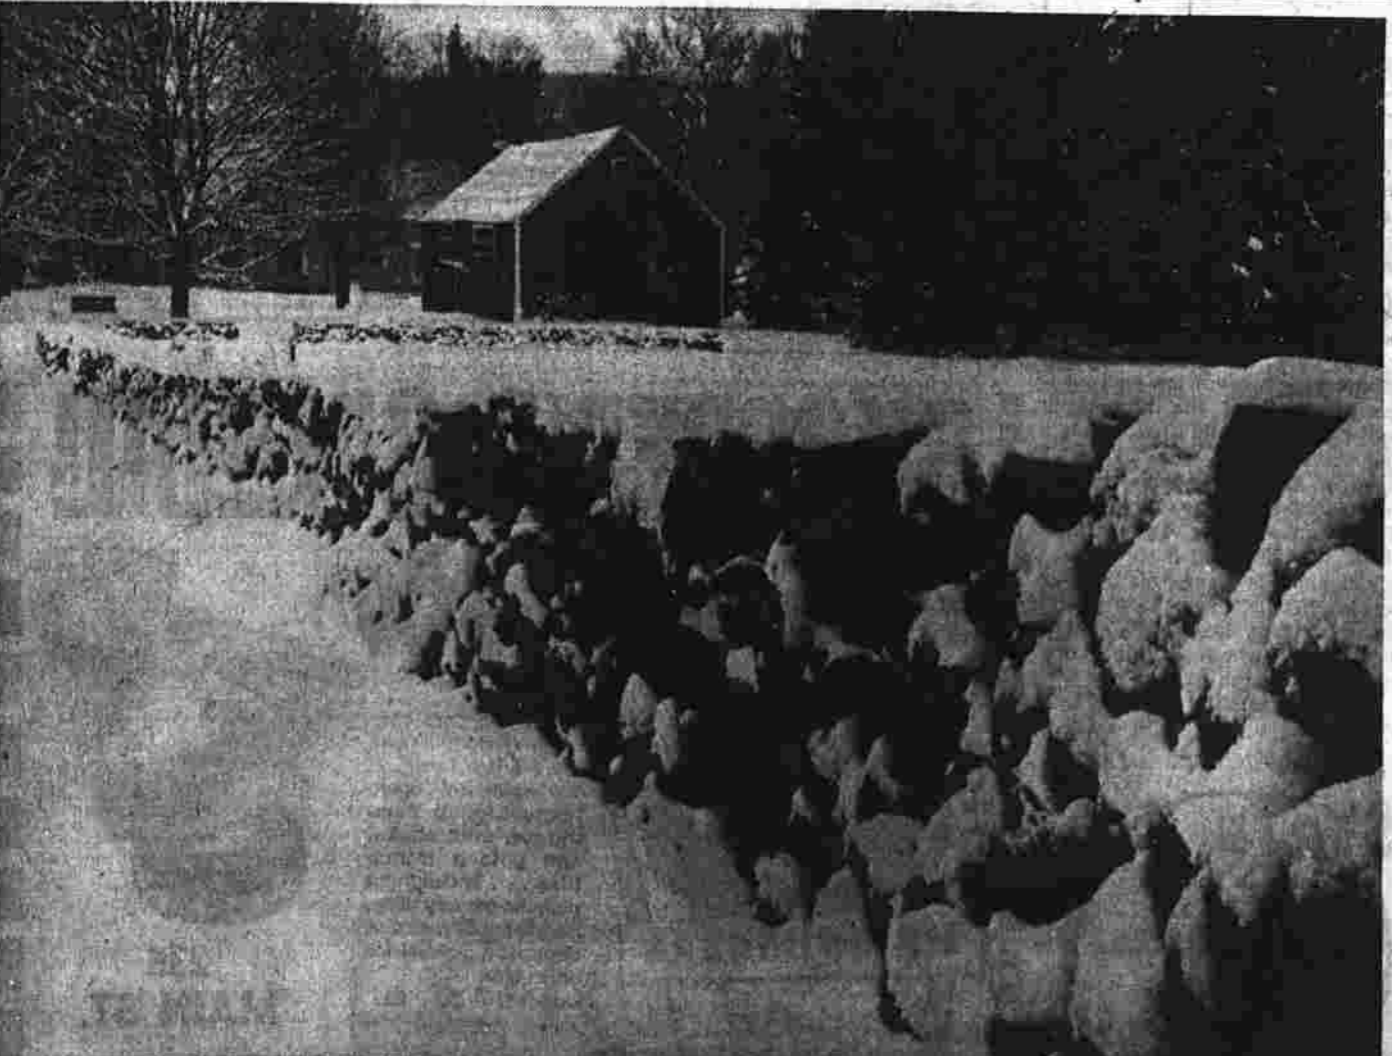

Sleet and freezing rain came with the storm in most sections Sunday night and brought peril to motorists. Massachusetts, which had about an inch of precipitation, reduced maximum speed on the Turnpike from 65 to 40 m.p.h.

Temperatures rose into the 20s during the night and changed the snow to rain in southern states, saving the taxpayers thousands of dollars.

A blanket of wintry weather — snow, rain, sleet and fog — stretched across the continent today.

A sleet storm paralyzed portions of the Dakotas and western Minnesota, knocking out telephone communications and isolating some communities without power.

Yesterday's snow storm—first of the season—left this wintry look along Bamforth Road in Vernon. Although stormy weather continued through today, warmer temperatures turned snow to rain and some of the white cover has disappeared.

Da Nang Battle Dwindles, 1,000 VC Believed Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A task force of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops, teamed against the Viet Cong in a five-day battle south of Da Nang, estimated today ground and air strikes have killed about 1,000 of the enemy. Action was dwindling.

Marine patrols, moving through hills in the Que Son sector, found a guerrilla training area and some warehouses full of gray and black cloth, obviously designed for manufacture of the flimsy pajamas many Viet Cong use as uniforms.

The sector, aptly if unimaginatively dubbed by the Marines as "Death Valley," is now secure, officers reported.

The Leathernecks said they have killed 124 Viet Cong, captured 28, detained 190 suspects and that 300 more were slain by air strikes in their target zone.

Vietnamese officers said their rifle units killed 240 on the ground, 180 died under air strikes in their area and 150 were killed by artillery fire.

Vietnamese casualties early in the fight were described as heavy. The Marines said their toll was light.

The North Viet Nam Communist government differed at least on the opening stages of the battle. Radio Hanoi said the Viet Cong inflicted 1,050 casualties, including 20 Americans killed, wounded or captured, on the combined force Dec. 8-9.

Hanoi's official paper, Nhan Dan, called it a "serious defeat" which led to replacement Saturday of Marine Brig. Gen. Melvin Henderson by Brig. Gen. Jonas M. Platt. In Da Nang, senior Marine officers said Henderson was in fact ill and that was the only reasons for the change in command.

Major ground fighting elsewhere also ebbed. U.S. briefing officers said the Viet Cong may be pulling back to their jungle hideouts to recover.

With partially clearing skies, U.S. warplanes resumed raids on North Viet Nam after a two-day lull blamed on bad weather.

Air Force F105 Thunderchief and F4C Phantom jets blasted two bridges northeast of Dien Bien Phu, set a five-building military complex in the same area aflame and cratered the approaches to another bridge on a main highway, 130 miles northwest of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

Navy pilots claimed another bridge, two storage areas and four anti-aircraft sites 14 miles northwest of the coastal town of Dong Hoi, he added.

In the battle area south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops hunted a Viet Cong regiment on the sixth day of Operation Harvest Moon but the foe refused to show himself.

Since the fighting began around a valley 20 miles south of Da Nang, the Leathernecks counted 198 Viet Cong killed, 76 captured and 287 suspects detained, Marine spokesmen said. Officers regarded the lull

Carrier Is Home From War

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Independence came home from war today to an emotional welcome that bespoke pride in her mission and offered solace for her losses.

She tied up in the rain and fog at her naval base pier minus 18 men and 16 planes that had sailed with her to Viet Nam waters seven months ago.

Thousands of wives, children and parents streamed aboard the big ship for a just before Christmas reunion. And the joy of the ship's return all but blanketed out the near tragedy that struck Sunday when a ruptured fuel tank of a plane leaving the carrier for its shore base spewed a sheet of flame along the flight deck.

Just before the families boarded the ship, official welcome was extended by naval, state and city officials who had handed aboard the carrier in Hampton Roads in helicopters.

The Navy Unit Commendation was presented to the ship and her crew by Vice Adm. Waldemar F. A. Wendt, deputy commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, for exceptionally meritorious service during her five months of combat operations in the South China Sea.

Wendt presented the Legion of Merit to the ship's skipper, Capt. John E. Kennedy, for his role during combat operations in Southeast Asia.

The official ceremony was held on a starboard deck edge elevator above the thousands of people who stood on the rain-swept pier.

Many carried homemade welcome signs and others had store-bought signs. A Navy band and two high school bands played lively music.

High Court Won't Review Prayer Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review a ban on the voluntary recital of nursery-type prayers by public school students.

Parents of 21 New York City school children had asked the court to rule the simple non-denominational and nonsectarian prayers constitutional under the First Amendment guarantee of freedom of religion.

They appealed to the court after the U.S. Circuit Court in New York reversed a lower federal judge and upheld the ban the school principal had put on the voluntary prayers.

The parents, members of five different faiths, argued that voluntary prayers are materially different from bible reading programs and required recitation of official school prayers ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court under the First Amendment prohibition against establishment of religion.

In the case at hand, the parents said, the state is intruding into the field of religion with the primary purpose of barring its free exercise.

"The effect of this practice," they said, "destroys the parent's right to have the child feel that God is with him the whole day long as well as the parent's right to have the child develop religious beliefs and religious expression."

The Supreme Court's refusal to act on the case was an

6 Dead, 15 Hurt In Bus Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Three Greyhound buses crashed in separate accidents in New York State and Florida, killing six persons and injuring at least 15. A bus en route to New Orleans rolled over Sunday on rain-soaked U.S. 21 near Pensacola, Fla., killing the driver and three of his 22 passengers.

At Tampa, Fla., a Greyhound bus and another vehicle collided today on State Road 574, killing one person. It was not known immediately if the victim was a bus passenger.

Fenders, Poles and Signs Victims of Storm Crashes

Skidding and sliding cars tangled in 20 accidents over the stormy weekend and left behind a collection of bent fenders and battered poles and roadside signs.

Six persons were injured, most of them not seriously. Only one of them, David A. Day, 22, of Vernon, remains in hospital. He suffered a fractured jaw and a lip laceration which required six sutures.

Manuel J. Gagnier, 20, of Vernon, was injured at the scene of a head-on collision with a car driven by Joy Tully, 15, of South Windsor, on the highway.

The others injured, all treated at the hospital emergency room, and then discharged, are: Joy Tully, 15, of South Windsor, lacerated leg and question head injury. X-rays were negative.

Peter Romanowski, 20, East Hartford, lacerated lip and tongue.

David Zubrow, 10, of 19 Parakee Rd., question of a head injury. X-rays negative.

Daniel Lagace, 18, of 209 Hilliard St., contusions of the head.

Philip Lagace, 209 Hilliard St., lacerated scalp and contusions of the nose.

In the highway encounters, cars hit four utility poles, a highway fence post, a picket fence, and a roadside sign.

Here is a brief description of each of the accidents that occurred on Saturday:

11:20 a.m. E. Center St. east of Pitkin St. Ten-year-old David Zubrow dashed across E. Center St. into the path of a car driven by William Walsh, 53, of Andover. He was struck and given first aid at the scene by Dr. Howard Lockwood, 47, of Vernon, nearby missed hitting the boy as he rolled on the street after the impact.

12:15 p.m. Mountain and North Rds. Cars driven by George B. Bush, 63, of Center St., and Fred P. Leonard, 47, of 73 Mountain Rd., collided in the intersection. Leonard was warned for failure to grant the right of way.

12:45 p.m. Center St. west of Broad St. A car driven by Michael Boudouciak, 30, of Thompsonville, was struck by one driven by David S. Hall, 18, of 45 Morse Rd. Boudouciak stepped to turn into driveway, but changed his mind because of oncoming traffic. He tried to pull back into the travel lane when the accident happened.

1 p.m. St. James St. near Clark. Cars driven by Leo Blanchette, 49, of 15 Fernalde Rd., and Winifred McLaughlin, of Rockville, collided when Blanchette's car skidded as he rounded the turn from Park St. to St. James.

1 p.m. Church and Locust St. Cars driven by Robert J. Vandewort, 18, of 56 Ardmore Rd., and Raymond A. Johnson, 47, of 233 Church St., collided when both skidded as they tried to stop.

1:12 p.m. Vernon St. James D. Murray, 20, of 262 Ferriswood Rd., shifted into second gear and applied the brakes when he reached the top of a hill while driving north on Vernon St. The wheels locked and he skidded into a picket fence at the home of Edward C. Lynch, 325 Vernon St.

3 p.m. New State Rd. north of Hilliard St. Francis F. Gallagher, 22, of Rockville, driving south on New State Rd., skidded off the road and struck a utility pole.

3:24 p.m. Bush Hill Rd. west of Keeney St. Edward W. Shea, 35, of 508 Bush Hill Rd., started to turn into his driveway, skidded and struck a utility pole.

2:35 p.m. Chestnut St. west of Garden St. Michael Allan Marco, 20, of Rockville, skidded off the road and hit a no parking sign.

3 p.m. Wells St. Michael J. Courneau, 18, of 44 Wells St., skidded and struck a utility pole.

4 p.m. Summit St. north of Henry St. A car driven by

Rhams District Band to Perform Christmas Music

The Rhams High School band, directed by Robert Glover, will present "A Musical Christmas" at the school auditorium Thursday evening at 8. Tickets are available at a special family rate as well as at adult and student prices.

School members Tuesday, vegetable beef stew.

A 1962 Rhams graduate, Harold Wayne, has been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," a publication which lists outstanding students throughout the country.

Miss Wythe was nominated by the faculty of the University of East Hartford, where she is enrolled in the Hart College of Music. She was chosen on the basis of her participation and leadership in school affairs. Student denials included in the listing must have a quality point average of 2.8 or better for four years in college.

Miss Wythe is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, an honorary music society, and of the Music Educators National Conference and the Hart Chorale. She will graduate in June. Besides attending Hart College during the week, Miss Wythe is giving private music lessons at Rhams on Saturdays, including instruction in flute and piano.

17.5 Million Hunt

NEW YORK — The average hunter spends 15 days in the field each year. There has been an 80 per cent increase in the number of hunters in the past 20 years. About 77.5 million men and women were in the field sometime during 1965.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials report that window breakage has been cut in half at nine Washington schools landscaped through Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's beautification program.

Walter Washington, executive director of the National Capital Housing Authority and a member of Mrs. Johnson's beautification committee, said Friday that as a result 82 more district schools want to get in on the program.

"We are finding," Washington said, "that the whole beautification program has a dimension far beyond planting." He said that school children who have helped to landscape their schools care more about taking care of them.

Window breakage last year cost $19,320 in the District of Columbia schools.

A Board of Education committee has approved plans for a new $4.3-million high school in Northwest Washington. Sup. Carl F. Hansen said he would study a proposal that it be made windproof to cut down breakage.

Power Increased

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan's military power has increased seven-fold during the last 12 months, Premier Wasfi Teli says.

"We have become so powerful that it is we who will decide where and when the battle with Israel should take place," he told a rally Sunday on the Jordan River's west bank.

He told his audience, most of them Israeli Jordanian armistice line "in a knife pointed toward the throats of the Arabs."

To Be Republic

LOBATSKI, Bechuanaland (AP) — Bechuanaland in southern Africa, will become a republic within the British Commonwealth next September, Prime Minister Serete Khama said today.

Cattle ranching is the backbone of the economy of Bechuanaland, a 220,000-square-mile territory on the north-western border of South Africa.

According to the last census the territory has slightly more than 3,000 whites and nearly 300,000 nonwhites.

British Farms Small

LONDON — Seventy-five per cent of Great Britain's farms produce only about 30 per cent of the nation's total agricultural output, and two thirds of these farms' crops are produced on 20 to 125 acres. New programs are being proposed to aid the country's 60,900 small farms.

30 NEW INSPECTORS

HARTFORD (AP) — About 20 Department of Motor Vehicle Inspectors will be sworn in as state police Monday at the Hartford State Police Troop.

The inspectors will be given the power to make arrests for other than motor vehicle violations.

Events in World

Moscow Visit
MOSCOW (AP) — Col. Hozart Boudiennine arrived in Moscow today on his first visit to a foreign country since he overthrew Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella last June.

Boudiennine came to discuss continuance of Soviet aid to Algeria. A number of economic officials accompanied him.

The Soviet Union equipped the Algerian armed forces and began a number of economic aid projects while Ben Bella was in power.

The Kremlin obviously has not been pleased by the anti-Communist policies Boudiennine has pursued. But the substantial Soviet aid has continued.

Bolton High School Scheduling Talks Continue Tonight

The board of education will continue a discussion of alternative proposals for scheduling classes at the high school next year at its regular meeting at 8 o'clock at the high school library.

At a special meeting Thursday, the board reviewed a report of the school administration which demonstrated that, even with an increase in class size, the space problem at the school will be critical next fall unless a cafeteria-auditorium is added.

The addition would provide study-hall room and a room for music classes as well as a cafeteria and assembly space. Specifications for the addition were sent to the public building commission last month. The four members of the school board present at last week's meeting discussed the need for the addition, but decided to postpone any announcement until the full board meets tonight.

A new seven-room elementary school has already been given top priority among the town's building needs by the board. Second priority has been shared by the cafeteria-auditorium and proposed renovations, or renovations and all-purpose room addition to the present elementary school.

Also on the agenda, tonight will be 1949-50 high school schedules as it relates to personnel; construction of a board of education office, and the annual fall teachers' reception.

Superintendent Philip Ligouri will report on accidents, the school enumeration, and the proposed Tolland-Windsor Regional Center for auxiliary services to schools and communities.

New business includes the establishment of procedures for teachers' salary negotiations; waiver of policy with respect to residency of students; discussion of proposed request for student activity accounts, and the 1949-50 salary schedules for non-certified personnel.

Fire Chief Paul Managinn and Deputy Chief Norman Harlow and 12 members of the fire department went through the Junior-senior high school during their drill Wednesday.

Santa's Workshop

There are only six more days left to visit Santa at his workshop in Center Square Park. He will talk to children from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and from 4 to 8:30 and 8 to 8 p.m. on week days. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

The New York bus was bound for Albany and New York City, today when it struck a tree six miles east of Troy.

The driver, Allen E. Miller, 48, of Winokill, N.Y., was killed, and 22 passengers were injured. Only two of the passengers required hospitalization—Barbara Dych, 39, of New York, and the car, Robert Bruce Riser, 41, of White Plains, N.Y., both reported in serious condition at Samaritan Hospital in Troy.

Five of the other 19 passengers aboard the Pennsylvania bus were injured critically.

6 Dead, 15 Hurt In Bus Crashes

The Ladies benevolent society of Bolton Congregational Church will have a Christmas program tomorrow, entitled "Christmas Customs Around the World." The evening will begin with a potluck supper at 6:45. Those planning to attend the supper should call Mrs. William Sitzer, the program chairman, at 8:15. There will be an exchange of grab bag gifts, and those attending should bring cookies to be packed for a convalescent home.

Malcolm Lambert of Bolton Center Rd. has opened an office for general insurance on Rt. 6 and 4A. He formerly worked at home. He is sharing a building with realtor Lawrence Piano. Lambert met with a minor accident last week as a result of extra-curricular activities. He broke his wrist playing football with neighboring children. It is not known whether he was insured against this risk.

South Windsor Polling Rules, Hours Set; Election Officials Chosen

Registrars of voters Clair B. Griffin and Robert B. Gordon have announced that voters must vote at polling stations recorded on the registry list at 10 o'clock on October 13, 1948, at tomorrow's referendum.

All resident electors registered before Nov. 2, of this year are eligible.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. District 1 electors will vote at the Pleasant Valley Elementary School gymnasium. District 2, the high school library.

Republican Mrs. Arline Bidwell will be the moderator for District 2 and Mr. Gordon for District 1. Deputy Registrar Mrs. Mary Kehoe will also be at District 2.

The total of eligible voters in District 1 is 2,006; in District 2, it is 1,862.

Mrs. Grizter, Democratic registrar, has announced Democratic poll workers: Tony Benedict, Kipholson, 860 Avery St., was elected to a three-year term on the board. He is president of the cooperative.

Movie Serial Revival Big in Philadelphia

Philadelphia (AP) — To applied together and run in a single showing.

Most of Philadelphia's patrons are college students. To them, the period costumes, the heavy acting and propaganda against the Japanese — at war with the United States when the serial was made — are good for laughs.

One young woman was laughing as she emerged from the theater. "Those ears of his. They're hysterical. And those looks! He wears. There's a hole in the knee."

Many movie theaters around the country, including one in Philadelphia, are reviving the popular movie serials, the kind with the cliff-hanging ending on each sequence — so that you'd have to come back next Saturday. But instead of running week by week, now they're much more likely to prove a boon to lawyers and an increase in the general cost to the taxpayers of many public projects. And if it merely adds to the cost of public projects that will be a relatively small harm from it. If Manchester remembers the experience it has already had with its North End renewal project, it would have to guess that had Proposition 2 been in the Constitution, even the very first moves in this project would have been held up indefinitely.

There are those who assure that no vital harm will be done that subsequent legislation by the General Assembly can, if Proposition 2 is adopted, keep it from being an expensive obstructive force.

There is at least, on Proposition 2, room for intelligent debate and difference of opinion. But the proponent's guess seems to be that it is likely to do much more harm than good. It is no necessity, and if the principle and practice it involves should ever seem advisable to Connecticut public opinion, the same ends could be attempted, with much less risk, by simple legislative enactments.

Nobody Can List 20 Worse
 It is revealed, by the latest Nielsen ratings, that one of the television networks has resumed the top Nielsen position it once held, but relinquished temporarily at the opening of the new season. The third network has, in the latest ratings, slipped a little.

We find it difficult to imagine anything which could possibly have less significance. We cannot see how it could possibly matter less.

And the top argument we present in support of the idea that nothing could possibly be less important and significant is a list of the so-called entertainments which came out as the top 20 in the latest Nielsen rating.

They are, in order:
 "Bonanza," "Gomer Pyle," "Lucy Show," "Walt Disney," "Andy Griffith," "Beverly Hillsbillies," "Hogan's Heroes," "Get Smart," "Gilligan's Island," "My Three Sons," "Branded," "Red Skelton," "Bevitched," "Daniel Brando," "Ringing Broads," "Circus Special," "Dick Van Dyke," "The Munsters," "The Virginian," "Green Acres," and "Lassie."

Who anybody could possibly get excited over the relative ranking of these sad package of state talents, state plots, state situations, state directing, and state acting defies the imagination. One can imagine a partial kind of word that might be said about one or two of these entries.

But it would be a lot easier, and closer to the truth, to say that all 20 of them could be wiped off the screen forever without causing one single genuine sense of loss in the viewer world.

The Proposed Constitution
 The proposed new Constitution Committee people will be voting on tomorrow—Proposition 1 on the machine—Is a sound, valuable, and necessary instrument for Connecticut's future.

It is necessary because without it—or some subsequent substitute for it—Connecticut's legislative arm of government would continue to be without constitutional footing. There has to be put back in the Connecticut Constitution, somehow, either by adoption of this present document or some similar future document or by adoption of amendment, that provision for the setting up and election of a General Assembly which the federal courts have knocked out in its 1818 form.

This present proposal accomplishes that necessary. In addition, it provides what everyone hopes can be a firm future system for that periodic legislative reapportionment Connecticut was never able to manage in the past, although its State Senate had long been desperately in need of it.

Beyond its accomplishment of that service which is necessary—ensconcing the state's legislative branch back in the state Constitution—the document being voted on tomorrow has sound and valuable attractions of its own. It puts the principle of increased home rule for local government back in the Connecticut Constitution. It provides a Constitutional protection hitherto denied it. And, although the release of the Connecticut voter from the tyranny of the rigid party lever, which forces anybody who wants to split a ticket to vote first, then unvote, and then to vote again, should have been accomplished long ago and by other means, the new Constitution has been made the vehicle for that good reform.

The arguments against this Constitution have been appealing in their malice, but frivolous in their would-be trespass on the good sense of Connecticut people. Not one opponent of the new Constitution has been able to picture any kind of course for Connecticut to pursue in the event of rejection of this Constitution tomorrow. But the answer to what would happen in the event of rejection tomorrow would be that the same responsible people who have fashioned this effort to put Connecticut's Constitutional house in order would have to pick up the pieces and try to start all over again.

If the product being offered were questionable, if it had obvious weaknesses, or even if there could be calculated that there would be any particular service to the position point of view if this Constitution were rejected, there would be at least some justification for some degree of hesitancy among Connecticut's voters tomorrow. But the opposition is pointless and it is dead end. And it itself has no substitute for the defeat it would like to inflict on the new Constitution tomorrow.

Connecticut should vote yes, and end its long reapportionment agony, and get on with its future.

Proposition 2
 Proposition 2 on the voting machines tomorrow, which the Constitutional Convention itself found so controversial it did not choose to risk trying it to the fate of the main new Constitution, is still controversial. It is a proposition which was never given a public hearing by the Constitutional Convention. It was so maneuvered into a Convention Committee report that it never had to receive a two-thirds vote of the Convention in its own right, and in the one floor test it did encounter it did fail to gain any such two-thirds vote.

The proposition itself is based on the inference that governments and public authorities make a habitual practice of going around condemning and taking, by the eminent domain process, land they don't really "need." And it proposes to cure this imagined governmental habit by writing it into the Constitution that the state or city or town or public authority must bear the burden for proving the "necessity" of its proposed taking.

This proposal which poses as a wall-thrower Robin Hood defender of the rights of the little people of Connecticut is LANSING, Mich.—A bulletin board suddenly appeared last week in the rear of the Democratic-controlled Michigan House of Representatives, a weapon of psychological warfare aimed at the heart of George W. Romney's hopes for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Without overt criticism, the Democratic bulletin board tersely records Romney's out-of-state speaking engagements for the current week plus the cumulative total of days the Governor has been outside Michigan this year (74 according to the latest calculation).

Michigan Democrats have come to know Romney well. After three years as Governor, his skin is as thin as ever and easily pierced by any implication he is shirking his duties as Governor.

Romney was personally perturbed by the bulletin board. He immediately fired off a two-page statement explaining those 74 days away from the job (most of them for Republican party activity). Moreover, to the dismay of his friends, he was unwilling to begin necessary preparations for a long, hard Presidential campaign was re-informed.

To be sure, the essential prerequisite for Romney's Presidential prospects is re-election to a second term as Governor in 1966—by a large margin and preferably pulling in some other statewide Republican winners (which he did not do in 1962 or 1964). Fulfilling these requirements means Romney necessarily will be led down to Michigan much of next year.

But while Romney is tied down by the Michigan Legislature, his friends are busy in the primary states where Romney must challenge and defeat Nixon in order to win the nomination.

This simply is not happening, and the party is in jeopardy by the effect of needing from Michigan Democrats—is not likely to happen.

In fact, Romney is about to end completely his jaunts outside Michigan. Apart from a speech to a Kansas fund-raising dinner next month (at the specific request of Kansas Gov. William Avey), Romney has no non-Michigan party functions on his calendar.

Worse yet, from the standpoint of Romney's friends, he won't even discuss the Presidency with them. Intensely religious, Romney still talks in copy-book maxims—and believes them. Even before Democratic state legislators started goading him, Romney privately insisted to friends that the best way to run for President was in advance political planning right now. The fact that he obviously yearns for the White House makes no difference.

Without any help from Romney, however, a few minor steps are being taken:

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Each year at this time, people loosen and become warm and the tides of life become gentle and carry them through a very nice life of a man who has spent his life going directly against the current. And these days that are now on us, days reserved for such things as cheer and good will, will become the critical days in his life. For a Christmas present, Robert J. Allen usually needs a lenient ball boyman. Something seems to make him do things at this time of year. Things like the phone call he and his good friend, Margaret Allen, tried to put through to Nina Kirshenbeim at four o'clock in the morning a few years ago. Oh, this is not a story. It happened and it did as much as anything else to make the Christmas season rough for Robert J. Allen.

"That Kirshenbeim," Robert J. Allen said at four o'clock in the morning, "who does he think he is?"

"I'd like to tell him something," Margaret Allen said.

"Get him on the telephone," Robert J. Allen said. "They got telephones in Russia."

Margaret Allen thought it was a great idea. She dialed the operator and said she wanted to make an overseas call. She was given the overseas operator and she gave the name of the party she wanted to talk to and the country and then the operator, taking it down mechanically, said, "Do you have an address for the gentleman?"

"Of course," Margaret Allen said. "The Kremlin."

"Oh, I see," the operator said. She now was awake, she asked Margaret Allen to wait for a few moments and then a voice came on the line and said, "Hello" to Margaret Allen.

"Kirshenbeim, you're a bum," Margaret Allen said.

"Excuse me, m'am, this is a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation," the voice said.

With this, Margaret Allen began to scream that the government was tapping her telephone. Then Robert J. Allen grabbed the phone from her.

"Big shot spy!" he shouted.

Many hours, and many phone calls later, the FBI stepped out of the case and the local police came in. Only the gentle current of Christmas, and the fact that Allen fell asleep in the middle of questioning and could not be awakened, saved the situation. This how it always goes. The

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Republicans grapple today with the question of what—if anything—to do about the John Birch Society.

If they don't formally repudiate the conservative outfit, one party official said, it will be accused of equivocation. The show-down comes at the session of the 28-member Republican Coordinating Committee, created to draft party policy. Barry Goldwater, a key man in the controversy over how to handle the Birch Society, questioned to draft party policy. Mahoney Critical Of Taylor Blasts

Mayor Francis Mahoney has accused Director Harold Taylor of not being fair and of playing politics, when he (Taylor) questioned what right Mahoney had to authorize the use of a town car for incoming General Manager Robert E. Weiss.

The new manager will assume his local post on Jan. 15, but will continue to reside in Windsor for at least six months, to permit his two sons to complete their school terms at their present school.

Mahoney said, "I would remind Taylor that he agreed that a car would be furnished, and I would be only too happy to give Director Taylor the privilege of leasing, at this time, a complete statement on the oral agreements which were made to the new manager, as there were no written agreements to persuade him to come to Manchester."

He continued, "There is nothing to hide — it was all strictly business, and it was agreed to by all the directors."

In conclusion, Mahoney said, "I believe in a good minority and in its freedom to politically gain a point with the electorate, but let it be a fair one."

Taylor, in his Friday letter to Mahoney, had written, "As the records show, the vote of the board to hire Mr. Weiss was unanimous. My criticism in no way affects my decision pertaining to his retention. I am,

Soviet Changes Tuck Away Threats to Current Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Changes in the Soviet leadership have reaffirmed the growing power of Communist party leaders, administration experts believe.

The changes announced during a three-day Supreme Soviet session in Moscow, will hardly affect U.S.-Soviet relations which at the same time reached a new low for recent years, the experts feel.

Both Anastas I. Mikoyan, when he resigned Thursday as Soviet chief of state, and Brezhnev, when he nominated Nikolai V. Podgorny as Mikoyan's successor, made their moves in the Central Committee of the Communist party.

As for the individual changes, there are the findings of the experts:

Mikoyan, the old Bolshevik, retired with full honors. His resignation was expected, since he recently passed his 70th birthday and was known to have been ill since an operation two years ago.

Podgorny is regarded as being a loser. He appears to be,

Roof-Top Theft

OLAND, N. H. (AP) — Thieves tore a hole in the roof of a store during the weekend and escaped with full valued at $100,000, police said.

All of the furs were taken from a vault used to store furs for customers, police said.

It was not immediately determined whether the loss was insured, police said. Store manager Morris Marcus discovered the theft.

Gov. Dempsey and co-chairman Janet Rush share the happiness and excitement of a handicapped youngster as he accepts a present from Santa Claus. (Herald photo by Saterian.)

Dempsey Cites IOH For Dedicated Work

"The IOH is a true example of what our young people can do when they put their minds to it," said Gov. John Dempsey yesterday afternoon at Manchester High School, "and that's why I'm here—to pay tribute, on behalf of all of the people of the state, to a devoted and while projects which the state dedicated group of teen-agers, alone cannot possibly provide.

"To this fine group of individuals who do so much good for the handicapped, I am proud to say that you very often quick to criticize our much for inviting me, and I seldom praise them enough."

The IOH program, which is now conducted each Sunday afternoon in the Manchester High School pool, the 70 instructors are from Manchester and East Catholic High Schools, plus one from the Oxford School in West Hartford.

The 96 students, all from area towns, include 25 from the Mansfield State Training School, James Mello, director of physical activities at Mansfield, delivered the Christmas message, saying, "We who are concerned with the handicapped youngsters can claim exception to the rule, 'You only get what you give.'"

"These children," he said, "have the inherent power within themselves to initiate into other people qualities far beyond their normal capacity to understand and do."

"And it is in this message of Christmas which I echo," he concluded, "as you give of love, you yourselves are given more love and happiness to go on with."

The Christmas program was emceed by Erik Johnson, last year's IOH president. It included the Manchester High School Round Table Singers; the Travelers Chorus, a group of male employees of the Hartford insurance company; the Nine Lighters, a three-girl singing and instrumental group from East Catholic High; and organists James McKay and Theodore Fairbank.

The season in the cafeteria had its own Christmas tree, Santa Claus, and gifts for all of the handicapped children, and refreshments for everyone. The gifts were furnished by the instructors, with at least one package for each of their students. The refreshments were supplied by the IOH, the parents, and by the Vernon Junior Women's Club.

And so, a highly successful Christmas party, with Miss Janet Rush and Mark Oskaman the co-chairmen, was concluded, to the theme, "Wherever two or three are gathered in my name—there I stand amongst you!"

Masons Seat J. L. VonDeck

John L. VonDeck Jr. was installed as the second working full master of Friendship Lodge of Masons Saturday night in the Masonic Temple before an audience of 135. He was installed by his father, John L. VonDeck, a past master of Manchester Lodge of Masons and a charter member of Friendship Lodge.

The installing marshal was James W. Maher, a past master of Manchester Lodge, who noted that he also had participated in the installation of the new master's father.

Organic was James W. McKay of Manchester Lodge and the soloist was York Strangfeld, who belongs to both lodges.

Seated in the East was Right Worshipful Merle Tapley of South Windsor, a charter member of Friendship Lodge and also the grand junior steward of the Grand Lodge of Connecticut.

Charter master of Friendship Lodge, Christopher W. Totem, passed to VonDeck the duties of several lodge during the installation ceremony.

The new master received several gifts from his officers, relatives and friends in attendance, among them the gavel with which he will conduct his lodge, from his wife, June VonDeck paid tribute to the Masonic guidance his father had provided him. He introduced his wife and two children, his mother, his twin brothers and his sisters, Mr. and Mrs. David Webster of Wapping.

Senior Warden Raymond Bogue served as chairman of the installation program and introduced several speakers.

Bringing greetings from their organizations were William Sandberg and Frank Gelsler, master and senior warden, respectively, of Manchester Lodge of Masons; Thomas F. Ferguson, first vice president of the Omar Shrine Club; Arne Stenrod, high priest of Delta Chapter, R.A.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Hayner Davidson, worthy patron and matron of Temple Chapter, O.E.S.; Grady Pearson, V.M.W. and his wife, June VonDeck noted organist Merle Tapley, who took his Masonic degree, at his wedding, at his installation of George Washington, Andrew Jackson Lodge.

A social hour with refreshments followed the ceremonies.

Savings Bank Opens South Windsor Branch

Passbook No. 1 in the new South Windsor branch of the Savings Bank of Manchester was presented this morning by Mayor James Thross to the chairman of the bank board and associate justice of the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors, with her at the branch opening are Everett J. Lavey, bank president left, and C. Silmore Watkins, present bank board chairman. Judge Shea pioneered the idea of the branch and played an active part in its planning. Bank directors and officers attended the opening when Mayor James Thross of South Windsor cut the ribbon. The branch is in the new Sullivan Ave. Shopping Center, and is the bank's third branch. Another branch in the Burnside area of East Hartford will open in the spring. (Herald photo by Pinco)

Wielding the same silver trowel that had been donated by Cheney Bros. for the cornerstone-laying of the present church edifice in 1896, Father John Delaney, pastor of St. Bridget, spreads mortar on the cornerstone of the parish's new school. The Most Rev. Henry J. O'Brien, Archbishop of Hartford, who applied the first touch of mortar, then blessed the stone. (Herald photo by O'Hara.)

Archbishop Dedicates St. Bridget's School

The first few shades of dusk drawn about the snow-dusted scene were as a whispered parting to a day no longer; even the encroaching darkness mentioned it, softening the geometrical angles of her stone and wood facade while it sealed her first full day of service.

Inside, as the daylight dwindled, the Most Rev. Henry J. O'Brien was calling the accomplishment "a tribute to the spirit of understanding and generosity of all the parishioners of St. Bridget" in his very first address following a benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Soon, the words of the day and the more than 600 parishioners and visitors valed in the early falling night.

The ceremony began with the blessing of the crucifix and the cornerstones under the protection of a canopy of clouds, a respite from an almost day-long shower of snow. St. Patrick's Pipe Band of Manchester supplied an even cadence to the movement of the priests in the procession, coming from all points of the archdiocese.

The Rev. Augustine Gussani, confraternity director for the archdiocese, then delivered the dedication address, devoted to an examination of Catholic education in today's streamlined world, education which must define a "road to holiness through a world of action."

"We cannot separate our philosophy of religion from our day-to-day activities and social life," he stressed, "goodness and charity must be the whole end of life." He stated that the goal of Catholic education was the discovery by each individual of himself, "not only learning about oneself, but also accepting oneself for what one is."

Among the many greetings of welcome to the new school was a letter from Gov. John Dempsey who stated: "Without these two elements—a desire to learn and a desire to teach—there can be no school, but when they are present we do not have a school, even if classes were to be conducted under open skies. It will be of much help to them and to their teachers, but I repeat that the building is itself only a tool."

The long-awaited parish school will not welcome its first formal classes until the fall of 1966, but ethical instructions will start immediately for almost 800 students. The Sisters of Mercy will take up residence in the convent in August of next year.

To the faithful of St. Bridget Parish, the Rev. John Delaney gave his thanks in behalf of himself and the Rev. Dennis Hussey and the Rev. Robert Kean, curates of the parish, for a "very grateful and humble heart" and in "my esteem for our devoted people these past few years."

Wielding the same silver trowel that had been donated by Cheney Bros. for the cornerstone-laying of the present church edifice in 1896, Father John Delaney, pastor of St. Bridget, presides over the ceremony of the parish's new school. The Most Rev. Henry J. O'Brien, Archbishop of Hartford, who applied the first touch of mortar, then blessed the stone. (Herald photo by O'Brien.)

Archbishop Dedicates St. Bridget's School

The first few shades of dusk drawn about the snow-dusted scene were as a whispered parting to a day of light and prayer. The school of St. Bridget was a virgin no longer; even the encroaching darkness mentioned in softening the geometrical facade of her stone and wood facade while it sealed her first full day of service.

Inside, as the daylight dwindled, the Most Rev. Henry J. O'Brien was calling the accomplishment "a tribute to the spirit of understanding and generosity of all the parishioners of St. Bridget" in his very brief address following a Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Soon, the words of the day and the more than 600 parishioners and visitors valedictorian in the early falling night.

The ceremony began with the blessing of the crucifix and the cornerstones under a still and golden canopy of clouds, a respite from an almost day-long shower of snow. St. Bridget's Pipe Band of Manchester supplied an even cadence to the movement of the many priests in the procession, coming from all points of the archdiocese.

The Rev. Augustine Gusaan, confraternity director for the archdiocese, then delivered the dedication address, devoted to an examination of Catholic education in today's streamlined world, education which must do the "trick" to holiness through a world of action.

"We cannot separate our philosophy of religion from our day-to-day activities and social life," he stressed, "goodness and charity must be the whole end of life." He stated that the goal of Catholic education was the discovery by each individual of himself, "not only learning about oneself, but also accepting oneself for what one is."

Among the many greetings of welcome to the new school was a letter from Gov. John Dempsey who stated: "Without these two elements—a desire to learn and a desire to teach—there can be no school, but when they are present we do not have a school, even if classes were to be conducted under open skies. It will be of much help to them and to their teachers, but I repeat that the building is itself only a tool."

The long-awaited parish school will not welcome its first formal classes until the fall of 1966, but cathetical instructions will start immediately for almost 800 students. The Sisters of Mercy will take up residence in the convent in August of next year.

To the faithful of St. Bridget Parish, the Rev. John Delaney gave his thanks in behalf of himself and the Rev. Dennis Hussey and the Rev. Robert Keen, curates of the parish, for a "very grateful and humble heart" and in "my earnest hope" that his devoted people those past ten years.

Tree Lighting, Carol Singing, Mark Season

The Andover Garden Club will light the Christmas tree and the Community Club sing the carols at 7 p.m. Dec. 18 when the two groups again combine talents to give townspeople an introduction to the Christmas holidays at the Public Library.

After the carol sing, Community Club members will meet at the Congregational Church parking lot, board Mr. Sheehan's truck, and continue singing throughout the town. Afterwards they will convene at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Flinchbaugh on Birch Dr. for refreshments.

Another Garden Club Christmas activity is a "Trim Your Doorway" contest. Any home owner may enter by placing his name on the poster at the Center Market before Dec. 21. Detailed information may be secured from Mrs. Winston O. Abbott or Mrs. Francis Mullen. Judges will be Mrs. Eunice Guay, Mrs. Mary Louche, and Gordon MacDonald.

Retirement Assistance The League of Women Voters will set up a referendum headquarters tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Howard Robert, Rt. 6. Anyone needing voting information or transportation to the town office building will be able to call. The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Officials List Poll Workers

Election workers in the second district for tomorrow's referendum on the revised state Constitution are listed by Mrs. Gertrude A. Haves, registrar, and Mrs. Frances Aho, deputy registrar.

The polls, which will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., will be in the North Coventry firehouse, on Rt. 31.

Arthur J. Vinton will be machine mechanic; Mrs. Esther S. M. Olsen, moderator; Mrs. Rachel Lillibridge and Mrs. Arline Sargent, official checkers; Mrs. Alice Bumpus, Mrs. Ruth Hill, Mrs. Donald Matthews and Mrs. Helen Whitmer, challengers; Emory Hill, Harold Jencus and Mrs. Paul Kinyburg, in charge of cleaning the classrooms Saturday will be Mrs. Anthony Malucci and Mrs. G. Richard Messier.

Madeline Girl Scout Troop 6071 is making Christmas gifts for patients at Natchaug Hospital in Mansfield, which the girls will deliver.

Four new voters were made Saturday, all in the first district. One affiliated with the Democratic party and three remained unaffiliated. One unaffiliated voter enrolled as a Democrat.

The next voter-making session will be from 8 to 8 p.m. Jan. 12 at the registrar's room in the Town Office Building.

The registrar will correct their party enrollment lists from 6 to 8 p.m. Jan. 4. Those in the first district will work in the registrar's room and those in the second district in the North Coventry firehouse, provided it is available at that time.

Lions Dinner The Lions Club has a joint dinner and Christmas party with the Manchester Lions at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Coventry Grange Hall on Rt. 44A, instead of a meeting at the Nathan Hale Hotel. Foreign students at the University of Connecticut will be guests. The dinner will be prepared and served by the home economics committee of the Grange. Members should bring their gifts to go to the Mansfield State Training School and Hospital for its Christmas program.

Adult Courses A course on four conversational books and their dramatic arrangements have been added to the adult study program being sponsored in the spring by the Coventry Grammar School PTA.

The books to be discussed will be "Catcher in the Rye," by J. D. Salinger; "Rabbit-Proof Fin," Mark Twain; "Lord of the Flies," William Golding, and "Miss Lonelyhearts," Nathaniel West.

Discussion leaders will be Miss Polly Hephner, Hamilton Nelson, William Taylor and Bradford Wright, all of the Coventry High School staff.

Adults who would like a detailed description of the courses being offered may get one by contacting Mrs. William Loder of Merrow Rd.

The forms must be returned to her by Dec. 22 to allow time to schedule courses in which sufficient interest is shown.

4-H Dog Obedience The Coventry Pathfinders Dog Obedience 4-H Club has elected Linda Hill as president; Mary French, vice president; Jean Brownowitz, secretary; Nancy Hasky, treasurer; Priscilla Hitt, reporter; Linda Brownowitz is junior leader; Mrs. Sol Brownowitz and Mrs. Clara Hasky, leaders. The club meets at 7 p.m. Monday at the Church Community House. Others enrolled are Bruce Hatt, John Newman and Cathy Brownowitz.

Rotary Club Thomas G. Waller has charge of entertainment for the Rotary Club dinner meeting at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday in the First Congregational Church vestry, Community Center.

New members of the Nathan Hale Community Center Inc. are Raymond Schmidt, an associate member, and Mrs. John Stewart Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, modern, added a string of four which stemmed from their particular conditions, their problems. In our modern society many fears come from sound factors, including trying to get the most for our money when we buy. And it is wonderful to find a business firm that tries to operate by the Golden Rule. May we serve you? Dillion Sales Inc., 142 East Center Street, Manchester, Phone 648-2424.

INCREASE YOUR EARNING POWER
 AT PRATT & WHITNEY AIRCRAFT

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft can offer both experienced and inexperienced people unusually good opportunities to earn more money. Experienced people have the chance to further develop their abilities and to make good use of their skills to get ahead. Inexperienced people can earn good wages while they learn valuable trade skills through on-the-job training and a variety of approved courses. Starting wages are excellent (PLUS good overtime) and P&W offers good advancement potential, liberal life insurance and a fine retirement plan.

Consider these advantages and join the hundreds of people who have both experienced and inexperienced people... that are being hired every week at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft.
