

Traffic Crisis Eases Off In Strike-Bound New York

The New York City 'rush hour' came early today as this scene on East River Drive shows. At 5:30 a.m. motorists who hoped to get an early start and thus beat the transit strike rush found themselves in a traffic tieup.

Early Start Got Many On the Job

NEW YORK (AP) — The brunt of a two-day-old transit strike hit New York this dreary Monday, threatened for a time to overwhelm Manhattan with automobiles, then eased into a flow described as normal.

Traffic had piled up during the early rush hour and Mayor John V. Lindsay warned he might be forced to close off the city to any more automobiles.

Lindsay, who took office just hours before the bus and subway workers struck New Year's Day, climbed into a police helicopter for a personal inspection of the choked arteries from the foggy, drizzly skies.

Then, like a breaking fever, the crisis passed and traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes reported traffic in Manhattan was "loosening up."

And the mayor lifted his threat. By 8 a.m. Barnes said traffic was about normal, but urged that no additional drivers head for Manhattan.

He predicted there could be continuous traffic jams in Manhattan throughout the day. Traffic actually was lighter than normal on many Manhattan streets. But pedestrian traffic was brisk at many spots, and commuter railroad and bus terminals were clogged.

At one point, more than 1,200 persons were lined up three deep in the rain at a Bronx station waiting to purchase tickets to ride into Manhattan via the New York Central Railroad. The Long Island Rail Road reported a similar crush at its Jamaica, Queens, station.

The Commerce and Industry Association was trying to assess the cost to commerce in this business capital of the world. It had been estimated the strike would cost stores $40 million a day.

Normally, the city's subways carry 9,500 persons a minute into Manhattan during the rush hour.

Barnes attributed the easing of Manhattan's traffic to the fact that drivers headed for work about two hours earlier than usual. This caused early morning tieups, but eased conditions in the midst of the usual rush hour.

New Yorkers didn't feel the full impact of the strike until today because of the holiday weekend.

Lindsay went on radio and television early today to make a last-minute appeal to commuters not to drive into the city.

Many stores and other firms remained closed, their windows darkened along city streets. It was estimated that 10 per cent of retail stores in Manhattan and the Bronx failed to open.

At the Pan American Building, one of the city's largest office structures, a spokesman said a big proportion of the offices was closed, and the number of persons using elevators and corridors was "far below normal."

Hiking throngs formed thick streams on many thoroughfares, as thousands took to foot to get to work. Police said the Brooklyn Bridge was clogged by walking men and women.

"Good for the circulation," Mayor Lindsay remarked, as he made his own 70-block walk to City Hall.

Obviously, hundreds of thousands of workers never made it.

Weiss Takes Oath As Town Manager

"Taking over at the start of a New Year," said Manchester's new General Manager Robert B. Weiss this morning, "is, perhaps, symbolic of a new phase in the growth of Manchester, as well as in my own career, and I look forward to working with the people of this town for many, many years."

His words followed a simple ceremony in his office, when he was sworn in by Deputy Mayor Atty. David Barry. The office was filled with town employees and officials, and his desk was covered with baskets of flowers from well-wishers.

After he was sworn in, Weiss acknowledged the applause of the spectators with a simple, "Thank you very much." He then shook hands with everyone in the room.

He said afterwards, "I was most delighted by the warmth of the greetings of the town employees, and I was gratified by the sight of the many baskets of flowers. They both helped to turn this wet and cloudy day into one of sunshine and clarity."

Weiss, 48, is only the town's third manager since 1947, the year it adopted the council-manager form of government. The first manager, the late George Waddell, served from 1947 until his death, in 1951. Richard Martin, who retired on Saturday, took office in April of 1952.

Manchester's new manager was chosen in November by a unanimous vote of the nine members of the board of directors. He leaves a similar post in Windsor, where he had served for 12½ years as that town's administrative head.

He and Mrs. Weiss will be feted by Manchester's employees and officials on Jan. 12 at a reception and dinner at Cavey's Restaurant.

Inland Steel Hikes Price; U.S. Reacts

NEW YORK (AP) — Inland Steel Co., a major producer of structural steel, joined today a price increase initiated last week by Bethlehem Steel Co.

Inland said its increase was similar to the $5 a ton increase by Bethlehem. In making the announcement, Joseph L. Block, chairman of Inland, said "the impact of this price increase is minor in relation to the average price of all steel."

Block said the increase, therefore, "can hardly be deemed a potential cause of inflation."

Block said the price increase, effective Tuesday, "is rather the result of inflationary forces already let loose and well-evidenced to us by increases in employment costs and the advances in the costs of goods and services we buy."

River Level Lowest Ever

HARTFORD (AP)—The River Forecast Center said today that the Connecticut River at Hartford was at its lowest stage on record in 1965.

The average for the river stage for the 60 years in which records have been kept is 5.8 feet. The average for 1965 was 3.1 feet.

The center said that 1965 was the fifth straight year that the Connecticut River stage at Hartford has been below average. The highest stage of 1965 was 10.6 feet — the lowest annual crest since 1943.

The center reported that the mean annual stage has been below normal for 9 of the past 10 years — an unprecedented number in the records books.

The stage record of the river at Hartford shows runoff conditions in New England's largest river basin, the center said, and is representative of the entire New England-Eastern New York region.

Despite Hanoi Blasts

U.S. Continuing Viet Peace Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two for an end to the war. What was meant by "acknowledge" was not immediately clear. Washington has let it be known that it would be willing to discuss the four points if negotiations got under way.

The North Vietnamese Communist party organ Nhan Dan branded the current U.S. peace moves as "trickery" and said that if any political solution to the Viet Nam war is to be achieved the United States must halt "definitely and unconditionally" all acts of war against the north.

The Hanoi newspaper also said Washington would have to acknowledge the four conditions the Communists have set down for an end to the war. What was meant by "acknowledge" was not immediately clear. Washington has let it be known that it would be willing to discuss the four points if negotiations got under way.

U.S. efforts to get such talks started moved ahead with roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman's arrival in Pakistan for talks with President Mohammed Ayub Khan while G. Mennen Williams carried the American view to African leaders.

As the flurry of American diplomatic activity continued, the hull in the bombings of North Viet Nam targets moved into its 11th day.

The bombing moratorium is viewed as a part of Washington's efforts to establish conditions favorable to the beginning of peace talks with North Viet Nam.

The public reaction from Hanoi was anything but encouraging. Only hours before the party organ Nhan Dan made its denunciations North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh had declared that the Communists would fight until final victory.

U.S. Troops Hunt Viet Cong in Delta

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers slogged through mud and swamp today in their first big invasion of the Mekong Delta, but a large Viet Cong force slipped deeper into the Red sanctuary, eluding their pursuers.

The probe by the 173rd Airborne Brigade, backed by artillery, air strikes and even tanks, began with high hopes of routing the guerrillas from their stronghold.

Although they offered some brisk skirmishes and steady sniper fire at the start of the operation New Year's Day, the Viet Cong withdrew into the marshes in the direction of the Plain of Reeds near the Cambodian frontier.

By this afternoon, there was only occasional contact with the guerrillas. A U.S. spokesman said the 173rd Brigade had killed 111 Viet Cong, captured 7 and detained 502 suspects. Vietnamese troops killed 15 guerrillas in the fighting, their spokesman said.

The U.S. paratroopers had moved westward from Saigon into the sugar and rice fields around Bao Trai, 20 miles from the capital. They captured a large store of rice and other food and some National Liberation Front flags.

After the initial encounters, however, the Viet Cong headed toward the Plain of Reeds, a marshy Communist area on the northern fringe of the Mekong Delta. It has long been considered a Viet Cong infiltration route and base camp.

It was considered doubtful that the heavily armed Americans would attempt to pursue the Reds over terrain unsuited to their equipment.

Although American planes again spared the Communists from attack, U.S. Air Force B-52s bombed jungle targets in Binh Duong Province 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Communists attacked a Vietnamese scout company command post with flamethrowers and grenades 12 miles south of Tuy Hoa, on the central coast. They were beaten off. Ten Reds were reported killed.

A military spokesman said it was the first time the Communists used flamethrowers. The South Vietnamese didn't capture any of them, but they were

Holiday Road Deaths Set Another Record

CHICAGO (AP)—The deaths of 566 persons on the nation's highways during the three-day New Year's weekend set a record for the second straight holiday period.

The record toll passed last New Year's traffic death count of 474 early Sunday. The lowest toll for any New Year's holiday since World War II was 269 during the three-day period of 1949-1950.

The New Year deaths, however, were still far short of the all-time holiday traffic death count of 720 set during the three-day Christmas period.

An Associated Press survey of a non-holiday weekend of the same length as the new year holiday showed 420 deaths in traffic. The survey was made from 6 p.m. Thursday Dec. 9 to midnight Sunday Dec. 12.

The National Safety Council said the final toll for the New Year weekend could reach 600 if the death pace did not slacken. Before the start of the holiday period, the council had estimated between 360 and 440 persons would be killed during the 78 hours between 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday to midnight Sunday.

A safety council statement of the New Year record said "It's clear that the nation can't depend on mere horror to terrify drivers into safe highway behavior."

Safety officials also said that there was little comfort that the New Year's toll was less than the Christmas toll, since fewer persons travel on the year end holiday.

New Year's was the sixth holiday period in recent months to set a national record for traffic deaths.

In addition to Christmas, the 1965 Thanksgiving, Labor Day, Fourth of July and Memorial Day weekends established records for long weekend observances of those holidays.

The Thanksgiving holiday period cost 615 lives, Labor Day 564, July Fourth 551, and Memorial Day 474.

On New Year's Day, Anthony Fishura, 62, of Danbury was fishing through the ice on Hatch Pond in Kent when he fell into the water and drowned.

A 7-year-old Somers boy, Rodney L. Brown, drowned Friday when he fell through the ice on an irrigation pond in Somers. The Vermont fatality was the only one in New England Sunday, despite the hazardous road conditions and heavy holiday traffic. However 26 persons lost their lives in accidents of one kind or another in the six-state area over the long New Year's weekend.

Best Friend?

AMESBURY, Mass. (AP) — Man, watch out for your best friend! David Degullo, 17, has been shot by a pet beagle, Sam.

He took the dog along on a hunting trip Sunday and when he sat down to rest, the dog bounded up to him, stepped on his rifle and it discharged.

Degullo was treated at a hospital for a bullet wound of the right big toe.

The Community College graduated its first class, state sponsorship and the promise of a campus

Manchester's first class of students graduated from the Community College of Connecticut last night. The ceremony, held at the college's temporary campus in the former site of the old East Catholic High School, was a significant event for the town. The college, which has been a subject of much discussion and planning, has now taken a major step towards becoming a permanent fixture in Manchester. The first class consisted of students from various parts of the state, and their graduation marks the beginning of a new era for the college and the town. The college's future is bright, with state sponsorship and the promise of a permanent campus in the heart of Manchester.

Lenczyk Tops Field in Golf Tournament

139 Perform Here New Year's Day

Blessed with unseasonable weather which saw the temperature reach into the lower 60s, the annual New Year's Day Open Golf Tournament at the Manchester Country Club returned to the scene last Saturday after an absence of five years.

While the annual Jan. 1 unique snow was canceled due to snow five straight years, 1961 through 1965, the 1966 show got off the mark as scheduled with 129 players.

Lenczyk, the Newington dentist out of Indian Hill, carded an excellent one-under par 67-68 round to walk off with top honors. It was Lenczyk's second win in the seven New Year's Day tournaments that have been held here and the first that he won outright.

Quill Stricken

NEW YORK (AP)—Michael J. Quill, union president, jailed Tuesday for contempt of court in calling New York's use and subway strike, was taken to a hospital. He is a heart patient.

Quill was carried from the jail to a stretcher and placed in an ambulance.

He had been at the jail just over two hours after his arrest with eight other leaders of two unions for defying a court order forbidding the strike.

Earlier, tanks of oxygen had been delivered to the prison. Puffed when led into the prison, Quill was starkly white when removed on the stretcher for the trip to St. Clare's Hospital.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sheriff's officers arrested Michael J. Quill and eight other leaders of two unions today for contemptuously defying a court order forbidding the strike of this city's subways and buses.

A judge Monday night ordered that they be jailed until they order "in good faith" their 34,000 men back to work.

Quill and his associates waited with packed handbags for an hour after the arrest order took effect at 11 a.m. until the order was served.

Quill deliberately examined the badge of the officer approaching him and, turning toward television cameras, announced: "The sheriff is here and have (sic) properly identified himself."

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, undertook his investigation of the Klan. He was identified as a Klan official in testimony taken in closed session last July and released today. The witness was Robert B. Young, Jr., who also named himself as a Klan official who harassed them.

Swenson replied, "I did."

Swenson was identified by a committee investigator as the grand dragon of the original Ku Klux Klan in the South. He declined to answer all questions, pleading possible self-incrimination.

The Klan's constitution is the fifth Amendment and also the fourth Amendment.

He testified he had no records and has not had any since he was served with the subpoenas.

Swenson refused to reply to questions as to whether he was a member of the Klan, citing constitutional protection against self-incrimination. He was identified in other testimony as grand dragon of the old, original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

When asked whether he had brought records and documents as requested by the committee.
