Many, people in the West seem still not to understand sufficiently what huntilations China—the State and the people—underwent at the hands of their forebears in the 100 years after the Optum War. The scramble for China was barbarque even by our definition, and still more by the definition of the Chasse. The Chinese yearned for the day when their empire would be re-

" China's crime is, of course, that i China's crime is, of course, that it was required and revived by Communists. It can be argued that the world (sichuding, the United States) might have done much worse, Suppose that the resultance had been brought about by crude hatistalism as in Japan and Germany (not by speak of Britain and Prance of few centuries ago). China's Marxism is a restrain as well as an incentive to action. Its leaders certainly proclaim the doctrine of world revolution, and pride themselves on their support of "liberation" struggles by oppressed peoples. That is presumably what Mr. Mediamare means when he take of their "programme of global conquest." If so, we need not be too worlded. Little -more than three months remain in which to achieve a pre-election calm. The Dominican economy grows worse each day. In brief, Uncle Sam's Caribbean headache throbs as badly as ever.

The present crisis grew out of Garcia-Godoy's plan to calm the supercharged almosphere by exiling both leftist revolutionment leaders and rightist mill-nery leaders and rightist mill-tary chiefs.

But Navy Commodore Francisco J. Rivers. Caminero, the Armed Forces Minister, balked.

He finelly extraoted a deal from Garcia-Godoy: R Rivers.

Caminero left, no more military leaders would have to go. What's more, political neophyte Garcia-Godoy (a businessman by pro-fession) did what no ward-heel-

Garcia-Godoy's attempted compromise triggered a general strike and renewed violence from Communist elements. So the President flip-flopped and agreed in a speech last week to crack down against every-body—right and left, U.S. officials were hopeful that Garcia-Godoy was about to take charge.

for its nuclear bombs. At present it for its nuclear bombs. At present it has no long-range offensive weapons. All the more reason for making good use of the time that remains. No one can prevent the Chinese from having the weapons if they are determined. And the surest way of making their determination seem justified is to persist in the present policy of ostracions and hostility. It may be that the Chinese no longer want normal relations; the United States will then be food, as in Victuam, with the nonishment of having left things too late. But with China as with Victuam, if constructive polices now seem beyond its reach, it can at least refrain from taking steps that make things booms.—
