Liquor Stolen In Store Break

Four quarts of whiskey valued at $24 were taken from Vichy Package Store at 20 Biassi St. about 3:30 Sunday morning after the store's plate glass window was smashed, according to police.

A nearby resident heard the noise of the window being broken and informed the store owner, police say.

LOOK FOR NINTH TRICK IN MORE THAN ONE SUIT

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In some hands you may find your ninth trick in more than one suit. Always do so when it costs nothing to try.

Opening lead — King of Spade.

West leads the king of spades, holding the first trick. On the second trick East discards a diamond, and you take your ace. You have eight sure tricks and need one additional trick for the contract.

Since spades and diamonds are hopeless, you must look for the ninth trick in hearts or clubs. Correction. Look for the ninth trick in hearts AND clubs.

First you lead a low club. When West plays low, you try a deep finesse with dummy's nine. The idea is to pass the trick to East. Later you can take the king and ace of clubs, and if all the missing clubs drop dummy's last club will be good.

Returns Diamond

East returns a diamond, and you win in your hand with the jack. Now the time has come to play for the hearts. The club suit keeps.

Lead a low heart. When West plays low, try another deep finesse. This time with the nine of hearts. East wins with the jack and returns another diamond.

Win with the queen of diamonds.

Pupils Will See Cut 'Gondoliers'

Two performances of a comedy, "The Gondoliers," will be presented tomorrow at 8 and 10:15 a.m. in Bailey Auditorium, Manchester High School.

The show is sponsored by the fine arts program of the Manchester PTA Council. Manchester public elementary children from Grades 4, 5 and 6 will be brought to the high school by bus.

Three Manchester boys will appear in the production. They are Robert Gordon III, a Grade 7 student at Bennett Junior High School, and John Lombardo Jr., a Grade 6 student at Kenney St. School, both appearing as page; and Bruce Jugga, a Grade 5 student at Hillingdale, appearing as a gondolier.

The boys are some of members of the Manchester Musical Guild. Robert Gordon III plays "Giuseppe," John Lombardo Jr. plays "Alfonso" and Bruce Jugga plays "Antonio." The grandfather of Robert Gordon III is also well known in Manchester musical circles. He has sung with the Manchester Messiah Chorus and is a member of the newly formed Manchester Civic Chorus.

Help Too Late

COLLINGSVILLE, Illinois (AP)—A woman called the St. Clair National Bank at Ballsville Monday and cried: "This place is on fire. I need someone to get me out of here." Then the phone went dead.

Five hours later, her body was found in the rubble of the United States of America building near Collinsville, which had been destroyed in a multimillion-dollar fire.

She was Charlene Mae Wolford, 35, an employee of the discount store.

The telephone was a direct line to the bank.

The fire broke out shortly before noon opening time. About 30 employees escaped unhurt.

Driver Arrested On Two Counts

Clinton J. Stewart, 22, of Hartford, driving a refuse truck owned by the Sanitary Refuse Co., backed into a car driven by Doris M. Bonino of 26 Oak St. yesterday afternoon, police say. The Bonino car had stopped for a light on Center St. near Broad St. when the accident took place, police report.

Stewart was arrested and charged with improper backing and operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

He is scheduled to appear in court on April 12.

Minor damage was done to both vehicles.

Communist-bloc Countries On Silverstein Schedule

Saul M. Silverstein, chairman of the board of Rogers Corporation, is scheduled to visit five Communist-bloc countries during a two-month trip beginning tomorrow.

Silverstein will be visiting Yugoslavia a second time, but he will be making a first trip into Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Russia. Besides these and seven other European countries, his itinerary includes Turkey and Scandinavia. This will be his 21st foreign journey since 1952.

His time will be divided between business calls on prospective and current Rogers customers and the Council for the Constitution and Declaration of Independence, which he organized originally as the Congressional Recommendation. Percolation tests on the first to be ground water to allow proper drainage. The commission approved the plan for a road which are all on property owned by Lord Barkov, in a Rural Residence zone.

The commission reviewed plans for the previously proposed Woodland Summit and Timber Ridge subdivisions with engineer Everett Gardner.

Town engineer Cogrove questioned the traffic "bottleneck" in the 25-home Woodland Summit addition, where the proposed road would route traffic from the new section into the existing White Circle.

The new road would end in a turn around. The resulting traffic from a total of 75 homes would then have to exit by way of White Circle, which has only one entrance to East Hill.

Gardner said he would speak to the developer and see if an easement for another entrance would then have to exit by way of White Circle, which has only one entrance to East Hill.

Seventeen New Homesites Approved by Plan Board

Two new subdivisions were approved at last night's meeting of the planning and zoning commission, opening the way for thirteen new homes on Dockwood Rd. and four on Bakos Rd.

The thirteen-home development is on property of Harry and Elizabeth Lutz, in a residential zone, along the existing road. The plans were submitted by Al Schindler, a civil engineer.

Percolation tests of the lots, which show whether, septic tanks will function properly, were approved, and town engineer Richard Cogrove has approved the preliminary plans.

The subdivision on Bakos Rd. was reduced to four lots from the original six. The commission's recommendation. Percolation tests on the first to be ground water to allow proper drainage. The commission approved the plan for a road which are all on property owned by Lord Barkov, in a Rural Residence zone.

Police Quiz Students in Prank

Police today were questioning Manchester High School students in an effort to track down the vandals who sprayed blue paint over several sections of the school building during the weekend, causing more than $100 in damage.

Alleged to have been committed by East Hartford high school youths belonging to two fraternities, the act of vandalism came to light when a Hartford newspaper called police after receiving an anonymous tip from a caller who claims he had participated in the "prank" Sunday night.

Investigation showed that several rear sections of the building had been painted with two cans of blue spray paint, in his 4th, and a pregnant wife and her stillborn baby.

Supt. of Buildings and Grounds Theodore Fairbanks, said the vandals used the brick exterior including the shop and pool wings and the south end of the building.

The widely acclaimed movie "The Long Walk Home" will be shown at 8:30 tomorrow night at the school building.

The movie will be preceded by a business meeting of the Holy Name Society at 7:30.

Bulletin Board

The Tolland Grand Jury will meet tonight at 8 in the Grange Hall.

Manchester Evening Herald Tolland, correspondent, Betty Quinlan, tel. 875-2845.

Police Quiz Students in Prank

Police today were questioning Manchester High School students in an effort to track down the vandals who sprayed blue paint over several sections of the school building during the weekend, causing more than $100 in damage.

Alleged to have been committed by East Hartford high school youths belonging to two fraternities, the act of vandalism came to light when a Hartford newspaper called police after receiving an anonymous tip from a caller who claims he had participated in the "prank" Sunday night.

Investigation showed that several rear sections of the building had been painted with two cans of blue spray paint, in his 4th, and a pregnant wife and her stillborn baby.

Supt. of Buildings and Grounds Theodore Fairbanks, said the vandals used the brick exterior including the shop and pool wings and the south end of the building.

The widely acclaimed movie "The Long Walk Home" will be shown at 8:30 tomorrow night at the school building.

The movie will be preceded by a business meeting of the Holy Name Society at 7:30.

Easter Program Heard by Club

About 50 members and guests of the Chamblaine Musical Club attended an Easter program, "Easter Ideas," last night at Trinity Covenant Church.

Cyrus Tompkins was in charge of the program for the meeting.

Guest performers were Miss Rosanne Casale of Hartford, violinist, who played "Madeline"; Mrs. Tompkins, who sang "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked"; O'Hara, and members of the Rhythmic Choir of South Methodist Church.

Club members participating in the program were Mrs. Robert Ingersoll, soprano, who sang "Sighing, Weeping" by Bach; "Was the Tree" by O'Hara, and served as narrator; a vocal trio, Mrs. Russell Vennart, Mrs. Jerry Coro and Mrs. Dale Comp, who sang "All in the April Evening" by Robertson; Mrs. D. Drummond Stewart, contralto, who sang "Through Truth and Light," and Mrs. Charles Lambert, soprano, who sang "In the Sabbath Evening" by Speaks.

Mrs. Tompkins opened the program.

Mr. Weiss' Bonding Proposals

Proposals are that the main portion of General Manager Robert Weiss' budget for his new town— that portion concerning direct appropriations to departments from tax and other normal sources— will be too much too soon, too much too soon, too much too soon.

There seems considerable agreement that the tax rate line can and should be held. General Manager Weiss seems more likely to encounter major controversy on the details of the Capital Improvement Program he has submitted for the consideration of the Board, and if they approve it, for the eventual consideration of the taxpayers themselves.

And we see no way for Manchester to avoid controversy on these recommendations. For Mr. Weiss has, perhaps, unwittingly, challenged a few ingrained Manchester ideas about how various types of public spending should be financed.

That community is ideally fortunate which sets itself up a capital improvement fund, appropriates some tax increase to it every year, and then draws from that fund when various capital expenditures become advisable.

Mr. Weiss, however, in proposing that the town bond itself immediately to the extent of $2,500,000 in order to take care of a wide range of expenditures which he himself, perhaps doubtfully, almost everything it spends for above supplies and salaries.

General Manager Weiss, in the language in which he discusses his proposal, exhibits some awareness of the issue involved, although he had not, perhaps, been briefed on past demonstrations of Manchester sentiment on that issue.

"Fiscal authorities," he writes in his message, "recommend that sound and responsible budgeting should provide for 20 per cent of a budget being devoted to Capital Improvements and debt retirement. Manchester has been budgeting about 10 per cent in these categories.

"In order to catch up with items so urgently required as to create a virtual emergency, it is recommended that funds be raised by a bond issue to get us started. Future requirements, except in the case of large facilities, should be handled on a pay as you go basis."

He wants, in other words, to do this kind of bonding "just this once," if we may translate.

place during the life of the bonds, to build things by bond cost at least one-third as much again, and often one-half as much again as it does to build by cash, and that in some instances the use of bonding means that a town eventually spends twice the amount of money it would have had to spend if it had been able to pay cash.

So the various items included in General Manager Weiss' big $2,500,000 bonding proposal will and should be subjected to individual scrutiny by the Board of Directors and by the taxpayers, to see which are proper for bonding and which had better be delayed until our improving tax situation enables us to finance them out of current tax income.

General Manager Weiss' items include $250,000 for renovation of old school buildings, $250,000 for road reconstruction, $750,000 for storm sewers, $88,000 for engineering, $30,000 for sanitary fill area improvement, $4,000 for cemeteries, $30,000 for plans for an addition to the Municipal Building, $45,000 for a new heating system, more parking and sprinklers at Police Headquarters, $101,000 for a new swimming pool at Robertson, improvements at Globe Hollow and Saulters and reurfacing of Memorial Field tennis courts, $40,000 for air conditioning at Mary Queen Library, $170,000 under title of Case Mountain Acquisition, and $100,000 for doing zoning at yet undetermined location on Union Pond.

With some of these proposed expenditures, there would be a reasonable chance that the things we would be buying would last us at least as long as it would take us to be paying off the bonds and interest for them. For some other items, the chances of that would be dubious.

Back on Nov. 12, 1963, not much more than two years ago, the voters of Manchester had a very clear opportunity to express their opinion as to what projects could be bonded for and what projects ought not to be bonded for.

They went to the polls that day to vote on three proposed bond issues. One, for an addition at Kelsey St. school, was approved by a vote of 3,645 to 2,013.

The second, for an addition at Highland School, was approved by a vote of 3,839 to 1,974. The rest of these two projects totaled $865,000.

The third proposal voted on that day was for the issuance of $450,000 in road bonds, a proposal for which the political party in power campaigned most vigorously.

The vote on the road bonds was against, and the margin was 4,312 to 3,329.

In other words, the same Manchester voters who voted considerably better than three to two in favor of issuing bonds for school additions voted almost four to one against issuing bonds for paying town streets.

We know of no reason why the voters of Manchester should have changed their minds about issuing bonds for such things as the repaving of streets. We would suggest that perhaps considerable change may be found advisable in the list of proposed projects submitted to the voters.

Not Even A Regret The Department of Defense has issued its promised report on the January 7 incident in which a United States Army sergeant shot and killed a young Dominican, Felipe Mateo. The incident took place while United States soldiers, members of the Inter-American Peace Force on the island, were forcing a group of Dominican youths to pick up garbage which had been emptied from garbage cans during a demonstration shortly before. The young Dominican, who had been bending over, raised up slightly—and was shot. The whole sequence was filmed by a Columbia Broadcasting System camera crew and shown to millions of American television viewers.

Immediately afterward, without a formal investigation, Army sources in the Dominican Republic absolved the sergeant—and the Department of Defense in Washington said it saw no reason to investigate. But when CBS showed its film, a storm of protests, including that of Sen. Wayne D. Morse, D-Ore., was raised. The department then reluctantly promised to investigate and report back on the findings. It has now done this.

The report suffers hardly at all from the first shaky, on-the-spot report and completely corroborates the sergeant who fired the fatal bullet. Moreover, the department says it is satisfied that the young Dominican acted in a threatening manner by picking up an object, which the report does not identify. The report adds that a United States private believes the Dominican body lies from the decedent and from other rioters standing in a nearby doorway across the sidewalk. The sergeant fired the fatal shot. "His intent was to protect his soldier by disabling the body."

WASHINGTON — Stymied militarily by American fighting power, the Communist Viet Cong have reverted to the more subtle weapons of harassment and terror.

This is the private assessment by top U.S. policymakers of the chaos today in South Viet Nam. Indeed, they feel that the Buddhist riots accompanied by the Viet Cong's use of the first guns of the spring offensive.

Thus the war may be reverting to an earlier phase, U.S. soldiers and Marines have been destroying the Viet Cong's "main force"—the conventional-style army created for what was to be the mop-up operation in Viet Nam. In view of this, the Communists have chosen to strike at the political vulnerability of the Saigon regime.

Policy-makers here are sure it is far more than coincidence that the crisis stage of the anti-government demonstrations by Buddhists in Saigon last Friday (April 1). Further, one high-ranking official believes the resumption of anti-U.S. demonstrations throughout the world on March 27 was part of the overall strategy.

There is little doubt here that Viet Cong agents are closely involved in the current campaign against the Saigon government. The Viet Cong's government in Hanoi, Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, from command in the Hue and Da Nang areas. Fearing Thi was becoming an autonomous warlord, the Viet Cong overestimated its own ability to bring off the change.

Yet, even if Thi had not been purged, the Buddhists would have found some pretext, or later for a political uprising. Herein lies the basic internal political problem of South Viet Nam.

As one U.S. official believes the Buddhists could be persuaded by reassuring them that (1) they would not be ignored and (2) a Catholic government would not be installed in Saigon.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

The fact that Governor John Dempsey, who is expected to be elected in the November election, is making a play for the New York stock market is a little more than the ordinary naive enthusiasm doesn't alter the fact that the basic reason he makes the play in the way he does is that he is caught in one of those absurd political traps which keep closing on men in public office.

When Governor Dempsey goes down to New York on a special mission to invite the old Connecticut who is head of the Stock Exchange to resolve his tax feud with the Republican mayor of New York to Connecticut, Governor Dempsey is making the routine gesture for the situation.

And when, in addition, he seems to go beyond the routine gesture to the Stock Exchange head fulsome assurance and offer, if he moves his institution to Connecticut, an informal gubernatorial guarantee that Connecticut wouldn't ever think of any tax on stock transactions as wicked, as that being proposed by the Mayor of New York, Governor Dempsey is still, though he may seem silly and extreme, within the limits of the game as it is now being played.

In this game, there is no requirement that anybody be ethical, moral, or responsible when one is on a campaign to entice some enterprise from one political backwater into another. Having in his enticements, seemed to have gone slightly beyond the responsible conduct of a Governor, Governor Dempsey has collected a touch of criticism back home in his own state. Organized labor, for example, is questioning the propriety of offering tax policy, in advance, to any particular element or institution.

But the big law of the trap which snags down on public office is that the situation is that of the political opposition. Suppose Governor Dempsey hadn't gone "all out" with the most dramatic pitch he could manage for the Stock Exchange. Then, of course, we would, sooner or later, have the Communist Republican publicity machine grinding out attacks upon the Democratic Governor for his deplorable and reprehensible failure to capitalize on Connecticut's golden opportunities.

The same mixture of civic go-go with political threat and compulsion is what prevails in divided cities and some intricate warfare with one another in which they try to escape by enticements and bribes, industries from one another.

By law, a town is responsible for the education of the children who live there. No matter what color the children Hartford wishes to have educated in Manchester, the fact remains that Hartford should be totally responsible for the money it costs to give them a public education.

The discussions that are going on in Manchester about the various costs that Manchester will assume are many. We may own a brotherly love, but to feel that we owe one cent in tax money to Hartford is ridiculous.

Let's have someone in authority in Manchester make a statement about the money burden, obvious and hidden, that will be accepted if this project goes through. Not only for the coming year—but as it will enlarge as Hartford envisions more of its problem in future years.

Ky now was solidly entrenched. Despite the deeper personal U.S. commitment to Ky resulting from Honolulu, his fall would not be a disaster—if the military directory still maintained power. Only if the House and State Department, it was agreed there is little the U.S. can do except secretly advise the Ky government. Obviously, we cannot simply take over in Saigon.

Actually, the deeper the U.S. is involved in Viet Nam, the more U.S. officials admit privately that the Vietnamese politician is completely incurable.

Whatever Washington has learned about the way to fight the Viet Cong militarily (and this is a great deal), it is more than a decade old. It is more than a decade old that the Viet Cong helps to become an anti-Viet Nam. The decision to align President Johnson personally with Ky at the Honolulu Conference was not made until it was felt—incoherently, as matters have turned out—that Manchesteer who has adequately programmed for local school education in the past 16 years has been asked to accept into his school system outsiders whose needs have been overlooked far too long under the City of Hartford's decaying approach to education in general. May I remind the reader that our local needs were met in great part by local taxes.

In principle I am not against the busing of children but let the City of Hartford first prove to the surrounding towns that a long range plan including the spending of city taxes for education and busing of Negro students within city limits first be implemented before it appears through a state agency for aid.

Only then should those surrounding towns be willing to establish a cultural exchange of any student between comparable schools in systems. If Hartford desires to bus out at such a time then Manchester can ask the City for permission to bus a like number of students into the City of Hartford.

Earl Yost

HERALD SPORTS EDITOR
Today's Team—
Washington Senators

POMPANO, Fla.—Shooting for a 500 season this year, his third try as manager of the Washington Senators is Gil Hodges. If popularly alone won ball games and pennants, Hodges and the Senators—who haven't finished in the American League's first division since 1946—would romp home first.

Hodges is one of baseball's all-time nice guys. But as Leo Durocher once said, "Nice guys don't win pennants."

Washington won't be a winner, but there is room for improvement and Hodges confidently feels that his club will move up at least another notch in the final standings. The club was ninth in his first season and eighth a year ago.

"I am aiming for a 500 season. We didn't make it by too many games last year. If we had won nine more (with nine extra innings) we would have been 500," the skipper said as he talked about the third base line which the Senators were taking infield practice. Washington wound up with a 70-92 record in '65.

"We'll be a better team because of the experience our young pitchers gained and because of the trades we were able to make."

"Jimmy Ono should take care of the catching situation. He's a major league receiver. We were very lucky to get him in a trade with Baltimore."

In Bird Doghouse
Ono was in Orioles Manager Hank Bauer's doghouse last season and played little, picking up spitballs on the bench and resentment against the manager. In addition to being a good handler of pitchers, Ono hits the long ball.

Reaching the 500 figure shouldn't be a big deal, but any thoughts of a flag flying over D.C. Stadium would require a Herculean task on the part of don't expect anyone to walk all over me, including umpires. I'll argue if I think they made a mistake."

Just then Ed Hurley, the American League umpire forced to retire because of a new league ruling which prohibits umpires from working after reaching the age of 65, passed by.

"That's one guy who knows that I can get hot under the collar," he said. "But he was a good umpire. I'd like to see him back. I don't think there was a stronger umpire in the league."

Indiana-born Hodges knows where his bread is buttered and he isn't going around criticizing men in blue, even those retired.

Punch is expected to be supplied by the outfield trio of Frank Robinson, Don Lock and Jim King. All three get plenty of distance—when they connect. But no one has ever been very consistent.

Savarine Impressive
Defense and pitching are the Senators' biggest hopes of improving. One defender who has caught the fancy of Hodges is Bob Savarine of Darin, former Baltimore handyman.

Washington writers feel that Hodges has instilled confidence in the team, something that has been missing in the past. The defeatist attitude has been eliminated.

"They tell me you'll be a tough manager this season," a New York writer who joined us on the sideline asked.

"I don't expect to change," Hodges said. "I just isn't my nature. But," he cautioned, "I

Repoz Matches Hurricane

Outfielder Hits Three Over Wall

NEW YORK (AP)—Tornadoes swept through Florida Monday, and that wasn't a bad hurricane for the New York Yankees unleashed at Fort Lauderdale.

Repoz, the Yankees' outfielder, walked three home runs as the Yankees outlasted Cleveland 10-4 in one of two games that survived Florida's rainy, windy weather.

In Cuba's first game, Baltimore downed Washington 8-4.

At Mesa, Ariz., Cleveland whipped Los Angeles 7-3 and at Las Vegas, Nev., the Chicago Cubs blanked the Mets 4-0.

Canceled because of the storm were Houston-Pittsburgh; Minnesota-Los Angeles; Boston-New York Mets, and Atlanta-Philadelphia.

Repoz slammed two of his homers off Sammy Ellis, who will open the season for the Yankees against the Mets on Monday at Cincinnati. Repoz tagged Ted Davidson for the third.

Gordy Coleman led the Reds' attack with five runs batted in on a home run and a double. Johnny Edwards also homered for Cincinnati.

New York rallied for its winning run in the ninth inning when Lou Clinton's bases-loaded single delivered the tying and winning runs.

Leon Wagner capped a pair of run-scoring doubles and left-handed ace Sam McDowell struck out seven Dodgers in the fifth inning.

Max Alvis also drove in two runs for the Indians and McDowell, the American League's strikeout king last year, allowed five hits and three runs in six innings.

Ernie Broglio worked the first seven innings and relief specialist Ted Abernathy finished up the Cubs' third game against the Angels. Broglio allowed all the California hits and stretched an eight-inning game to three innings.

Catcher Chris Krueg had a perfect game with four strikeouts and two runs. Billy Williams homered for the Cubs against Angels.

Curt Bleafsky, the American League's Rookie of the Year last season, hammered two home runs and Bob Powell had one as the Orioles defeated Washington.

Powell also drove in two runs with a fifth inning home run. Three Angels and two Yankees.

Terry finished with a 3.69 earned run average, with 54 strikeouts and 23 walks. He gave up 154 hits and 77 runs.

The 10-year American League veteran had his best season last year with the Yankees when he finished with a 3-6 record. The Indians acquired him in a cash-trade deal that sent Pedro Ramirez to New York.

Monumental Worry Again for Dodgers

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Last year at this time the Los Angeles Dodgers' monumental worry about the arthritis left arm of Sandy Koufax would arm to the rigor of pitching in rotation.

The Dodgers found out that the Koufax arm was not the National League pennant. Right now he's having difficulty running so he'll remain a question mark.

"So must the Dodgers' infield experiment. Jim Lefebvre, the right arm of Don Drysdale, will be ready to take their regular turns in the rotation.

And upon that question could rest the chances of the Dodgers to become the first NL pennant winner since the Milwaukee Braves won in 1957 and 1958.

But still the Dodgers' hopes for winning another pennant or even finishing among the top three or four in Koufax and Drysdale.

Best looking young pitcher on the Florida Grapefruit League beat this spring has been Phil Minton of the Washington Senators.

Minton, 23, pitched the first nine innings of a perfect game in 1965 when he blanked a perfect game last year when he struck out eight of the first nine Detroit batters he faced.

But still the Dodgers' hopes for winning another pennant or even finishing among the top three or four in Koufax and Drysdale.

Hull Earns Big Bonus

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull, who makes more money than almost anyone else in hockey, has earned a $2,000 windfall in National Hockey League bonuses for his record-shattering point barrage during the 1965-66 season.

The Chicago superstar, who set all-time NHL marks of 84 goals and 97 points, won the regular season, dropped a late season meeting with the Philadelphia Flyers.

Hull finished 19 points ahead of runner-up Stan Mikita of Montreal's league champions. He will pocket $1,000 for the overall scoring lead and another $1,000 for setting the pace in each half of the 70-game season.

Hull's bonus, $2,000, is the second half of the campaign was matched by Baltimore. Hull will receive the top cash award by virtue of his 29-17 edge in goals over the Montreal captain in the final 35 games.

Hull will get $250 as the runner-up for the second half.

The league will award an extra $1,000 as a result of second place ties in the scoring and goalkeeping races.

Worley and Hodges allowed 173 goals, making the Vezina trophy by a 14-goal margin and earning the $1,000 prize. Chicago also won two goals — Glenn Hall and Dave Dryden.

The Montreal goaltender also will share $200 for posting the best overall record. Hall and Dryden won $200 for leading the Montreal Canadiens.

‘Flame of Hope’ Candles Kennedy Memorial Project

Governor John Dempsey today announced in ceremonies at his executive offices at the State Capitol, that production of John F. Kennedy ‘Flame of Hope’ memorial candles has begun at the Mansfield State Training School.

In simultaneous ceremonies at Washington, D.C., the beginning of a nationwide memorial candle project was announced by the late President Kennedy's two brothers, Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York, and by the U. S. Commissioner of Vocational Rehabilitation.

The workshop for retarded persons at Mansfield is producing candles in the nation selected employment project.

The Kennedy Memorial Candle is a tapered 18-inch white candle designed by Raymond Loewy, the architect appointed by the Kennedy family to design the monument of the grave of President Kennedy at Arlington National Cemetery.

A similar workshop for retarded persons is operating in Manchester under the direction of the Manchester Association for the Help of Retarded Children, and Adaha. Various kinds of production jobs are done for local industry and organizations.

Sixteen boys and girls at the workshop are producing candles. The project and several others will be selected to participate later.

Its primary purpose is to demonstrate the ability of retarded persons to contribute to the nation selected employment project.

Beef Galore

WHITE RIVER, S.D. (AP)—The odds of a beef cow having twin calves are one out of 227. But the figure went berserk on the Fred Ellis ranch near here.

Three Hereford cows gave birth to twins—all on the same day.

The six calves—five bulls and a heifer—were coming along fine, Ellis says.

One of the cows had twin calves nearly died as a result of the early March blizzard that killed hundreds of cattle in South Dakota.

Auto Firms Get Message About Safety WASHINGTON (AP)—The auto industry has told Congress it has “gotten the message” about auto safety, and if given a chance will develop a voluntary, cooperative safety program geared to producing significant improvements in government standards are imposed.

But John S. Bugas, testifying for the nation's largest industry at a Senate subcommittee hearing Tuesday, appealed to Congress to let the industry show what it can do.

Bugas, vice president of Ford Motor Co. and chairman of the Safety Administration Committee of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, voted support for most of President Johnson's highway safety program and added that “we haven't gotten the message of safety before, we've got it now — believe me.”

The car makers have been under increasing fire from critics who contend that not enough stress had been put on safety in designing automobiles.

Part of the highway safety bill would give the secretary of commerce discretionary authority to establish motor vehicle safety standards after two years. It was to that provision Bugas objected.

He argued against vesting in a single person the responsibility for setting standards that affect design, engineering and construction of automobiles.

“The sound way to do this is to have a committee of experts,” he said. “I don't think it's wise to have one man make the decisions.”

“There is no one answer. If there were the problem might be more easily solved,” he said. “I don't think it's wise to have one man make the decisions.”

10 Days Left for Filing

Pre-Deadline Days Chaotic at Cohens Yearly, the bills are put in 10 hectic days left to the income tax returns, home life at the Sheldon S. Cohens is “getting better all the time.”

Cohen is the internal revenue commissioner. “Pressure starts about the end of the year,” says Raymond Cohen, who has striking brown eyes and red hair. “It gradually builds up until April. To spend time together, we run our home in an office. It sounds terrible, but if we didn't we'd be squelched.”
