This exploit was accomplished, we suppose, with the routine homogenized peanut butter of our day, and offers no real index to the increased effectiveness of attack the storekeeper's wife could have displayed if she had been privileged to use, jarred or loose, real oldfashloned peanut butter with its much higher degree of viscosity. If she could ave clobbered that robber with a taste of real old-fashioned peanut oil he probably wouldn't have been able to escape in the first place, and, in the second place, wouldn't have wanted to.

Meriden taxpayers have just got their 1956 tax bills in the mail. With each bill is a helpful enclosure from the proval of Mayor Shea. It relates to the cently completed revaluation of taxable property in the city and the resulting tax rate. As it stands, it is mis-

The basic tax rate is 25.2 per cent lower than last year, on all real estate." This is the misleading part. We don't know just what that word, "basic" is supposed to mean. The effective tax rate for the inner district in Meriden is really about 15 per cent higher than it was before reassessment, and about 12 per cent higher for the outer district. Figure it this way. Former property evaluations in the city ran at approximately 40 per cent of value. Inner district taxes were set at 51.5 mills. Multiply the two: The effective tax rate mder the old system was 20.6 mills. Present property evaluations are at 60 per cent of value. The present mill rate for inner district taxes is 39.4. Multiply the two, and the present effective tax rate is 23.64. This is 14.7 or prac-

A Prodigal Wants To Return Indonesia, having undergone something of a bloody revolution, is now getting ready to rejoin the United

The United Nations helped Indonesia become a nation, free of Dutch rule, after World War II, and Indonesia became a member of the United Nations in 1950. Fifteen years later, with President Sukarno playing the game of Communist China, Indonesia formally withdrew from the world organization. Now Secretary General Thant has his legal staff busy studying the question of whether Indonesia can simply reenter the United Nations, or must stand for election as if it were an entirely new applicant.

Indonesia's rejoining, if it happens, will repair the worst surface breach the United Nations has suffered in its 21 years of existence. And, of course, it will knock into total limbo the wild Chinese Communist dream of some kind of rival world organization for which Indonesia would have been a highly prized

Perhaps, as the prodigal nation which actually left the fold is preparing to come back, this would be a good time for some others, who may never have moved any such legal distance, to examine the nature of their loval contribution to the world organization. President de Gaulle's repeated sneers have perhaps been just as serious as Indonesia's actual departure. And one is forced to wonder what ever became of the great crusade Ambassador Goldberg was going to lead in the United Nations to have the United Nations concern itself with the problem of Vietnam. Was all that grand excitement back around the first of the year one more instance in which the United States was giving lip service to United Nations principles while it carefully kept the world organization from interfering with its own big power policies? It will be resesuring to have Indonesia
