Our Minnesotan Caesar

During the 1964 presidential campaign, many members of the voting public acknowledged two fears. One fear, which they succeeded in expressing at the polls, was the fear that Barry Goldwater, if elected President, might lead us into extreme commitments in Vietnam. The other fear, which they had to submerge because they had no clear voting opportunity to do anything about it, was their fear of the possibility of one Hubert Humphrey in the Presidency.

Their election concern ever what Goldwater might do if he became President has since been succeeded by their essary concern with the spectacle of Lyndon Johnson out-Goldwatering Gold-

One can be sure that Vice Presiden Humphrey does not value such prospects because he is boylshly thrilled by and eager for the power involved.

It is just that we do have the power, and that no one else is doing the job. The possibility that one reason somebody else is not doing the job is that the United States does not admit the United Nations to situations in which it feels tts own power interests are involved does not, apparently, occur to the Vice

Or, if it occurs, it yields to the wonderful feeling of being Vice President of the world's greatest power, shifting out of its half world hesitancy and ielicacy into a frankly acknowledged full, whole world role.

Some of us, however, may still cling to a few presently old-fashioned ideas. We may see the highest and finest lestiny open to our country that of becoming first among equals, and the first servant of all mankind rather than one more of its attempted first masters. There are certain delicate ironies included in the story of the story of the American pacifists who got to Saigon in the course of their protest against American involvement in the war in

First, of course, there was the fact that, whatever else they may think of their own government at Washington, that government had somehow allowed them to make their way to South Vietnam for their obvious purpose of telling the people of South Vietnam that there were Americans who did not support the official policy of the United States in that country.

Second, there was a strange cry of protest which issued from one of the pacifists as they were being trundled away by South Vietnamese police on their way to being expelled from the country.

Not nudity, but oddity, is the enemy. And not how a thing looks, in itself, but how everybody else looks, that is

All these rather basic insights are offered us by examination of the news from Trumansburg, N. Y., where the Board of Education has suspended three girls, 15, 14, and 12 years old, for appearing in school wearing "granny Granny dresses are long and loose down to the ankles, and terribly modest, and very pretty, if one goes for the age of daguerreotypes. And who in an age which has no hesitancy aping the flappers of the twenties, can think of any real reason for not going back to a time when the effort, at least, was to make things seem gracious and graceful and charming?

Yet the granny dresses, as they have than the tight slacks, the short shorts, the long hair, or any of the other assistinces modern youth devises in its wistful effort to shock its elders.

There is no compliment to these girls, or to their mother, for the total decency of the granny dress, for its total modesty, for its common sense features. No indeed. It could be the most beautiful, sensible, attractive way ever styled for high school girls to dress, and yet, if it didn't happen to look like everything else, it would be outlawed. We make this argument in order to make the point, no more. That could be the truth. In actuality, the granny dresses look like rather silly, tastelessly designed

Two-Year College Growth

Token recognition, at least, has been given by the Ford Foundation to a pressing need of higher education, one that is already proving a stumbling block to the community college move-ment across the nation. This is the need for faculty people who are both qualified in their fields and appreciaive of the role of the community col-

With the requirement for such personnel estimated at about 100,000 over the next 10 years, Ford Foundation training grants of $765,000 over five years may not have a dramatic effect. The investment could prove highly productive, however, since a pilot program is involved. Part of the amount will go to the University of Tennessee, for a program to train teachers in the liberal arts and sciences in two-year colleges; and part to the Junior College District of St. Louis, Mo., to develop a training program for teachers in two-year techinstitutes. Both grants emphasize practical training and intensive prepuration in subject matter for prospective teachers. The participating institu-

They enroll more than 1.1 million students for degree credit, or nearly one-fifth of all matriculants in higher education." The degree-credit enrollment has been grow-

The House of Commons also ermitted television for the first ime in history. The cameras showed the three-century-old ceremony of a royal official snown as Black Rod knocking to summon the Commons to the Lords. By tradition, the door of the Commons was slammed in his face to emphasize the supre-macy of the Commons.

The televising was regarded as a test for possible televising of debating sessions in the chamber. Some members complained about the heat of the lights. The British Broadcasting Corp. explained they were about three times brighter than usually needed because color film was being made for newsreels.

Mrs. Arthur Hutchinson, left, of 52 Oak St. last night was presented with a certificate from the National Grange and 60-year pin in recognition of 60 years of continuous membership in the Grange. Miss Charlotte Hutchins, past master of Manchester Grange and chairman of the State Grange youth committee, made the presentation. The certificate read that Mrs. Hutchinson was "a loyal patron who has devoted three score years to the service of the order and mankind." Since joining Manchester Grange April 4, 1906, Mrs. Hutchinson has held many offices. She is a seventh degree member of the Grange. (Herald photo by

Section IV. Enforcement and Service of Notice and Orders

1. The Building Inspector and/or his authorized agent is hereby given the power and authority to enforce the provisions of this ordinance.

2. Whenever the Building Inspector and/or his authorized agent determines that there are reasonable grounds to believe that there has been a violation of any provision of this ordinance or of any rule or regulation adopted pursuant thereto, he shall give notice of such alleged violation to the person or persons responsible therefor, as hereinafter provided. Such notice shall (a) Be in writing;(b) Include a statement of the reasons why it is being (c) Allow a reasonable time for the doing of any act (d) Be served upon the owner or his agent, or the ocupant as the case may require: Provided, that such notice shall deemed to be properly served upon such owner or agent, or pon such occupant, if a copy thereof is served upon him per onally; or if a copy thereof is sent by certified mail to his last known address; or if a copy thereof is posted in a conspicuous place in or about the dwelling affected by the notice; or if he is served with such notice by any other method authorized or required by the laws of this State; and

(e) Contain an outline of remedial action which, if taken, will effect compliance with the provisions of this ordinance and with rules and regulations adopted pursuant thereto.

3. The Building Inspector is hereby authorized to make and o adopt such written rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance, provided, that such rules and regulations shall not be in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance. The Building Inspector shall file a certified copy of all such rules and regulations which he may adopt with the Town Clerk of Andover and publish same n a newspaper having a general circulation in the Town of Andover before such rules and regulations become effective. Such rules and regulations shall have the same force and effect as the provisions of this ordinance, and the penalty for violation thereof shall be the same as the penalty for violation of the provisions of this ordinance, as hereinafter provided

Section V. Violations and Penalties 1. Any person who shall violate any provision of this ordinance may, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than Ten ($10) Dollars or more than One Hundred ($100) Dollars, and each day's failure to comply with any such provision Section VI. Conflict of Ordinances and Effect of Partial In any case where a provision of this ordinance is found to be in conflict with a provision of any zoning, building, fire, safety, health ordinance code of the Town of Andover or State Statute existing on the effective date of this ordinance, the pro-vision which establishes the higher standard for the promotion and protection of the health and safety of the people shall pre vail. In any case where a provision of this ordinance is found to be in conflict with a provision of any other ordinance or code of nance which establishes a lower standard for the promotion and protection of the health and safety of the people, the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed to prevail, and such other ordinances or codes are hereby declared to be repealed to the extent that they may be found in conflict with this ordinance. 2. If any section, subsection, paragraph, sentence, claus or phrase of this ordinance should be declared invalid for any reason whatsoever, such decision shall not affect the remaining portions of this ordinance, which shall remain in full force and effect; and to this extent the provisions of this ordinance are hereby declared to be severable.

Section VII. Effective Date.

1. This ordinance shall be effective upon adoption.

2. This ordinance shall not apply to any dwelling, dwelling unit or portion thereof, rented at the time of the adoption of this ordinance, but no alteration thereof shall be allowed and no such dwelling, dwelling unit or portion thereof, conform with the provisions of this ordinance.
