Bad Judgment BRIDGEPORT (AP)—The president of the University of Bridgeport said today a faculty member showed "judgment" in accepting the chairmanship of a testimonial dinner for one of the nation's top Communists.

Dr. Henry W. Littlefield said, however, that no disciplinary action against the teacher, Dr. Edward L. Parsons, is contemplated.

He is chairman of a dinner to be held tonight in New York City honoring Herbert Aptheker, a leading theoretician among American Communists.

Big Race Over STORRS (AP)—Things were returning to normal today on the campus of the University of Connecticut after the thrills and excitement of the big turtle race Wednesday in the town.

The races Wednesday in the town were a success. The turtle race was won by a turtle named "Big Red."

Details of the three-way merger have yet to be worked out, but relief and cautious optimism followed in the wake of Wednesday's long-awaited decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC ordered the two big railroads to take the New Haven's long suffering commuters under their wings as well as her freight operations. And the government agency rejected a plea by the New Haven for a split-up of all passenger service—a plan which, it was understood, the trustees did not really want granted. What they wanted was for someone—either business or government—to take over the money-losing commuter operation. Thus the New Haven's latest plea for a complete takeover of its passenger service was rejected.

It was in July 1961 that the New Haven went into bankruptcy for the first time in its 140-year history. The railroad was not to emerge until after World War II.

Cloudburst Strikes Dallas; 5 Dead; Hundreds Homeless

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Bob O'Brien, manager of the classified advertising department for the Tucson Daily Citizen and Arizona Daily Star, said today he received this letter: Dear Sir: Now I know what they mean when they talk about the power of the press. Thursday I got a gold watch which I valued highly. Immediately, I inserted an ad in your issue and found column and width. Yesterday I went home and found the watch in the pocket of another suit. God bless your paper.

GM Guilty Of Antitrust Violation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court decided today General Motors Corp. violated the antitrust law by trying to ban sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

Justice Department counsel contended such suits would increase competition at the retail level and thus benefit consumers.

GM attorneys argued the auto giant had to have a dependable dealer organization and said discounting would tend to create price competition.

Justice Abe Fortas delivered the unanimous decision. Fortas said the high tribunal found in today's case "a classic conspiracy in the restraint of trade."

His opinion said there was "joint, collaborative action by dealers, the defendant associations and General Motors to eliminate a class of competitors by terminating business dealings between them and the minority of Chevrolet dealers and to deprive franchise dealers of their freedom to deal through discounters if they so choose."

Portas said that because of the court's finding of a "classic conspiracy in restraint of trade" there was no need to inquire into the franchise system used by General Motors.

Referring to findings by the U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, Fortas said the lower court's conclusion that there was no combination or conspiracy violative of antitrust law was supported by the facts.

His findings include the essentials of a "conspiracy" under the Sherman Act.

"Elimination, by joint collaborative action, of discounters from access to the market is a classic violation" of the Sherman antitrust law, Fortas said.

At GM headquarters in Detroit, officials of the firm declined comment on the decision. They said they had not yet received the decision and that when they did they would have studied it before commenting.

In 1967 a number of Chevrolet dealers in the Los Angeles area began selling cars through discount houses.

The "Big Red One" said at least 30 large caches of rice, salt, cooking oil and clothing were dumped in the Interoceanic Red warehouses along the Rach Beng G River, on the Ho Chi Minh Trail, a complex of border supply lines in the major infiltration routes for men and supplies from North Viet Nam.

Connor later was convicted in a federal court in Baltimore.

Gal Stowaway Found; Sent Home Off Sub

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The British submarine Walrus continued its journey home today with nothing but Her Majesty's sailors aboard—after having dropped off a stowaway teenage girl who said she wanted to visit England because she liked English boys.

The girl, Barbara McVay, 17, of Baltimore, is back with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turso.

The Walrus and two more British subs— the Ostrich and the Opportune— were docked in Baltimore since last Thursday.

NHRR Bridesmaid In New Marriage

NEW HAVEN (AP)—The New Haven Railroad, a bankrupt and unappreciated operation, had new hope today after catching the bouquet in the corporate marriage of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads.

Not only the New Haven's freight operations, harassed by the peculiar disadvantages of a terminal line, but also her debt-ridden passenger service seemed destined to share in the economic rebirth of the big trunk lines.

Details of the three-way merger have yet to be worked out, but relief and cautious optimism followed in the wake of Wednesday's long-awaited decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Rain Falls At Rate of Inch an Hour

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Five persons drowned today when tremendous rains flooded hundreds of persons from their homes in Dallas and a northern suburb, Garland.

One of the victims, drowned in his late-model Cadillac was W. L. Perryman, president of General American Oil Co., an independent oil firm operating in six states and Canada.

Firemen axed through the ceiling back window to free a woman from the automobile which had been swept into a swollen creek, but Perryman drowned.

The body of Dr. Alfred W. Harty, a physician, was found during the morning. Also discovered was the body of Judy Ritchie, 22, an employee of a bank.

One body remained unidentified at a late hour. Robert Buck and his wife, Adrienne, of San Antonio, who moved to Texas recently from East Point, Ga., both drowned when their car was swept from a road into a creek.

Attacks Against Viet Reds Showing 'Renewed Vigor'

U.S. planes continued the war against the Communist North without lull Wednesday, setting off a series of attacks on North Viet Nam's Mu Gia Pass straddling the Laotian border. The planes also destroyed seven trucks. The pass, which links up with the Ho Chi Minh trail, was reported destroyed by 12 B-52 bombers after the first B-52 raid April 12.

The B-52s returned to South Viet Nam this morning, saturating suspected Communist troop concentrations 50 miles southeast of Da Nang. Other U.S. Air Force and Navy planes ranged the country in support of ground operations.

Blood Quota Topped For Second Month

For the second month in a row Manchester's Red Cross blood program has topped its 150-pint quota, with a total of 155 pints collected during yesterday's Bloodmobile visit to Center Congregational Church.

Though 133 persons made donor appointments and only 75 kept them, 97 who waited in helped push the quota over the top, to the delight of Red Cross officials. For several months before the March visit the quota program had failed to meet its quota.

The next Bloodmobile visit will be held at Concordia Lutheran Church Tuesday, May 24, from 1:45 to 8:30 p.m.

Yesterday's success was due to the help of many volunteers. William H. Bayrer of 23 McKinley St., who months after a month help to support the program. Bayrer, an underwriter for Morley Watson and Baldwin Insurance Co. of Hartford, donated a gallon club by donating his 50th pint of blood.

A resident of Manchester since 1950, Bayrer's own personal giving program dates back to 1954. He says he knows of the need for blood through World War II, and decided to become a donor "because I felt it was worthwhile."

He's been giving ever since, donating five or six times each year. And so have a good many others—besides Bayrer there were 19 persons yesterday who became gallon club members.

They included the following: Five Gallons: Sylvester Barnes, Mrs. Harriet Ann Mitchell, Joseph Donahue, Carl Lombardo, Roland Wood, and Thomas Dawkins.

Four Gallons: Mrs. Betty Malores and Mrs. Louise Schreiber.

Two Gallons: Thomas Carpenter, Robert Mortimer, Stanley Gray, and Richard Warner.

Bush on Lawn Hit by Cyclist

A bush on a Woodbridge St. lawn came out the loser when a motorcycle ran into it early yesterday morning.

Police said that the motorcycle operator, Peter W. Rich, 28, of Mansfield, was riding along Woodbridge St. when he was forced off the road by a car that cut in front of him. His motorcycle went up a bank and on the lawn at 808 Woodbridge St., coming to a stop in the bush.

Dirksen Challenges LBJ To Act on Budget Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles W. Dirksen, Republican of Illinois, today challenged President Johnson to act on the $3 billion budget boost he has promised.

"The President should get the job done," Dirksen said. "He has promised to do it, and he should do it now."

Dirksen said he would like to see the President act on the budget boost before the end of the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"If that happens, Dirksen said, it will be a great victory for the Democrats in Congress who have been fighting for it for so long."

Dirksen said he is not going to be deterred in trying to cut back spending down to the level of the fiscal year 1965.

"The Republicans are trying to hold spending down to the level of the fiscal year 1965," Dirksen said. "I would respectfully suggest that the President could be of help in this if he would direct that, in view of Viet Nam war costs, the increases be commensurate with the cost of the war."

Nixon Argues Case Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a new role for Richard M. Nixon and he was a study in intensity.

He wore a black suit and starched collar to argue his first case before the Supreme Court. Thirty-nine times he was interrupted by the justices for questions, and only once did he lose his aplomb.

And then, what apparently was a matter of misdirection, standing about California law, ended with Nixon and Chief Justice Earl Warren, a former California lawyer, who had put the question, smiling.

Off to Nixon's right, in seats reserved for special guests, sat the former vice president's wife, Pat, and their daughters, Patricia and Julie.

He must have read the Life magazine article at issue when it came out in February 1955, he said with a grin, because also when in the same magazine was an article on his trip to Latin America.

Nixon was relaxed by then — he shook hands with opposing lawyer Harold R. Medina, Jr. and said, "Let's get together for lunch some time" — but during the hearing Nixon was at his best.

The court will weigh the two arguments for decision later in the justices to uphold a $50,000 damage award to James J. Hill and he was a study in intensity.

Hill and his family had been held hostage for 19 hours in 1962 case before the Supreme Court, in their home in White Plains, N.Y., by three escaped convicts.

Three years later, the play "The Day After Tomorrow" opened on Broadway and Life listed account of the fictional Hilliard family's ordeal at the hands of escaped convicts with the Hill family's real-life experience.

Newspaper headlines on what had happened to the Hills were reproduced in the magazine.

Seven times, Nixon asked the justices to examine pictures that were printed with the article and when they looked up he said in firm, measured tones: "That didn't happen to the Hills."

To the Hills, who sued under a New York privacy law, "private life was priceless," Nixon said. "At the very least," he added, the article involved "a reckless and wanton disregard" of their right to privacy.

Lawyer Medina, son of the lawyer Harold R. Medina, Jr. who presided at the 1949 trial of 11 Communist leaders, made his argument first.

The court will weigh the two arguments for decision later in the justices to uphold a $50,000 damage award to James J. Hill and he was a study in intensity.

They Almost Danced All Night White House Krag Party Longest Event on Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — They could have danced all night at the White House — and they almost did.

A dinner-dance honoring Denmark's Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag and his actress wife lasted until President Johnson finally quit the dance floor at 3 a.m. today.

It was the longest Johnson party on record — and the springiest.

The guest list of about 150 brought together Hollywood and high society — including comedian Bob Hope and boxing champion Jack Dempsey.

"The best in my life," blonde Mrs. Krag said of the party as she and her husband left at a polite 1 a.m. She had left-tortured with Johnson and danced the Frug with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and watched the Waltz performed by Last Johnson and her fiancée, Patrick J. Nugent.

The result, she said, was terrific. "I learned from your president how to make a party," she added with a smile.

Mrs. Johnson retired at 1:35 a.m., but the President wouldn't quit even when the Lee Evans orchestra played "The Party's Over" five times. The other dancers agreed, greeting this time with cries of "More! More!"

Danish-American friendship got a big boost all around — in champagne toasts and dance-floor good will.

"I can plainly see why everybody loves Denmark," said Humphrey after dancing the Frug with Mrs. Krag, who wore a pink gown of Paris lace made in Copenhagen.

Watching Humphrey on the dance floor, comedian Hope dubbed it, "Minnesota A-Go-Go."

Mrs. Humphrey, who had kept pace with her dancing husband, finally put on her coat and came back to the dance floor to take the vice president home at 2:35 a.m.

But Johnson was still talking and dancing and waving the orchestra on.

Composer Richard Adler, who has produced presidential fund-raising extravaganzas and Broadway hits, looked over the scene and decided: "This is the Greatest Society!"

South Windsor Few Attend Public Hearing On Rt. 5 Industrial Sewers

A proposed sanitary sewer system for the Rt. 5 industrial area, due to be presented to the town at a referendum May 16, was described at a lightly attended public hearing last night.

Richard Reeves, chairman of the town sewer commission, presented the details of the plan to an audience of some 25 citizens.

At the present time, front-foot and front-foot-and-area assessment methods are being considered. The assessment could also be based on the tax evaluation of the property, Reeves commented.

Julio DeLoon, a representative of the consulting firm of James Minges and Associates said the system would be designed from a bond issue, which would be paid off from sewer assessments and from a town tax.

The sewer commission estimates that the project will require a tax increase of 2 1/2 mills the first year, that the town pays on the bonds, decreasing over the 20 years the bonds run.

Some $500,000 will be required from assessments against property the sewers will serve, which will be used to help pay off the bond issue by the town to finance the project.

Reeves said the town plans to request federal aid for the project; such funds could amount to $200,000.

Noting that the initial phase of the system would serve the industrial area of the town, Reeves said the anticipated additional industrial growth realized by the town could pay for the system in ten years.

With a broadened tax base, the town could attract additional industry, Reeves said, and industrial growth would increase from its present 35 per cent of the total annual new construction to over 50 per cent.

Reeves said owners of land in the industrial area have been increasingly active since the plans for the proposed system were announced. Many property owners can now sell their land for industrial purposes, he said.

"Industry located on Rt. 5 has had to give up a considerable amount of land for septic systems up to now," he said.

Any delay in constructing the system will result in additional costs. If approved in the referendum, construction is slated to begin next spring and will be completed in the spring of 1968.

WVCA Speaker

Reservations close Monday noon and may be made with Mrs. Allison Brantner, 5 N. Elm St., or at the YWCA office at the Community Y, 79 N. Main St.

The speaker is a graduate of Welles College and she attended the New York School of Social Work. She is a member of the National Association of Social Workers. She has had a varied background and once taught mathematics at Berea College, was a community worker in Newfoundland, an assistant program director at Henry St. Settlement House, New York City, and girls' program director for the Little Italy Neighborhood House, New York City.

After the 1956 flood Miss Walker developed a recreational program in the Brooklyn section of Waterbury which has since been taken over by the park department.

In addition, nine windows were broken.

Police said the damage, leveled to be the work of teenagers, was done within the last few weeks.

A clothesline in the backyard of the home of Raymond Merrill of 22 Alexander St. was cut during the night, police reported today.

Two teenage boys who tried to get a fire going in a wooded area at the rear of 460 Woodbridge St. yesterday afternoon were frustrated in their efforts when a resident went out and threw sand on the fire. Police said the resident reported the matter to the Mayor's Citizen Advisory Committee of Waterbury.

Vandals Wreck Scouts' Cabin

A Referendum Would Be Worst

The thing that Manchester needs least and the thing that could damage Manchester most—in its effort to reach its decision on the beating issue is a public referendum.

Nothing could prevent such a referendum from being reduced to its simplest terms.

We would be voting black or white. Once we got down to talking such a vote, it wouldn't make very much difference how we divided, or which side won.

All of us would have committed the sin of going into a voting machine to participate in such a decision.

Whatever the division among us happened to tally out, it would leave us unclear.

If those who opposed the beating proposal should ever succeed in forcing the committee into such a vote, there would be only one course of action for Manchester citizens who have some regard for the many attitudes and temperaments of their community. That would be to forget about the beating issue in itself, and accept the referendum in its simplest and ugliest terms.

Then they could either boycott the referendum, and so proclaim their own intentions.

Or they could make it their business to go into the voting machines and vote black, not necessarily because they agreed with the beating proposal, specifically, but because voting black would be the only way to vote and blot out the memory of any such day in Manchester life.

There are times to let the problems of a democratic way of life be handled by elected representatives, and times when specific decisions should be taken directly by the people.

If there should be a public referendum on this problem in Manchester, responsible community leadership would obviously do its very best to keep the debate and the voting focused on the merits and demerits of the beating proposal, in itself.

But we doubt that the debate and the voting would stay up there. We fear they would descend to the lowest elements of ugliness that are in us, and blot out almost all of us, no matter what side we are on, go to the polls under the spell of hate and fear, including hate and fear of each other here in Manchester.

For the good of Manchester, the decision on the beating issue should not be a so-called mass decision, but a decision reached by elected representatives under solemn public spotlight duty to make up their minds on the merits or demerits of the proposal itself, and to give reasons and explanation and logic for their decision which can have a chance of establishing the impression that their vote, whatever they may cast, has been fashioned in the context of the civilized twentieth century, not in some jungle of primitive instincts.

A referendum, whichever way it happened to register a majority opinion on the side of experimental beating of 75 North End of Hartford Negro children into Manchester schools, would be the worst thing that could happen to us.

Alliance "Wise Men" Realign

President Johnson may have thought, from the reception he received in Manchester, that all he would ever need to do in the future for his people's peace and unity would be to spread the benevolence of his personal presence to all the other "good neighbors" we have.

We suspect that good, intelligent hemisphere relations is going to land something more than repeated doses of the President's famous soap-saying.

This happens to be a hemisphere of supposedly independent nations, often mistakenly proud as they are economically weak. They are not necessarily unattractive because they are small, or because they are not Anglo-Saxon, or because they are not necessarily cheap laborers.

although they want and need help from us, their big, rich neighbor, they want it on those terms which seem to them most consistent not only with their own considerations, like their own dignity, but also calculated to do the greatest long range actual good in their countries.

All this is undertaken by the resignation, the other day, the panel of eight economic experts which is supposed to do the planning, advising, and reviewing for development plans under the sponsorship of the Organization of American States.

These eight Latin American experts—called the "wise men" since their panel was established in the original charter of the Alliance for Progress—regimed in protest against what they considered domination of the Alliance by the United States. And the particular direction of domination they deplored and protested was the steady shift away from an original concept of multilateral, truly hemispheric pattern of international cooperation toward a series of bilateral arrangements directly between the United States and individual countries.

One of the members of the resigning group credited the United States with having deliberately and definitely fostered this trend "from multilateralism to bilateralism."

This is the second time in recent days that this trend has been in the news. It is the issue on which Senator Fulbright inaugurated national debate the other day, on which Henry Cabot Lodge had strong opinions, and which he experienced as our Ambassador to the United Nations—and in which various students of our foreign aid problems have been interested. The idea is that our dollars might do much more good abroad, with much less complication and trouble and eventual "Yankee go home" protests, if they were assigned, dispensed and supervised through international agencies instead of through bilateral arrangements in which we always tended to ask some political or military price, and the other nation always afraid that we are asking some such price.

Now the Alliance "For Progress" "wise men" have told us what they think about it. We happen to think both they and the American theorists are right; the trouble still lies with the imagination of Congress, which doesn't manage too much sophistication at home or abroad. Foreign aid often remains, when it comes to some possible Lodge, but it merely a possible version of the port barrel.

As a time when the United States is more and more deeply involved in a shooting war in Viet Nam, with the pressure mounting for all Americans to be patriotic and "close ranks," this re-echoed of the most influential behind-the-scenes powers in the New York Republican party, applying all their persuasion, managed to talk him out of it.

What made their arguments particularly convincing was the fact that these very backstage powers had privately been boasting Javits for Governor. It has been their hope that Rockefeller, his popularity badly sagging, would fight his race for a third term once Javits started his move. They misjudged the Governor.

Javits made his move, but Rockefeller refused to budge. Hence, the party kingmakers told Javits he would not be in the party's best interest if Rockefeller were not opposed for the nomination.

Their reasoning: The state convention would be so packed with delegates who are state patronage employees that Rockefeller would beat Javits. But a Rockefeller convention victory over the popular Javits by the use of strong-arm methods would alienate Javits Republicans and nullify Rockefeller's slim hope of victory in November.

Accordingly, party unity patronage employees that Rockefeller would beat Javits. But a Rockefeller convention victory over the popular Javits by the use of strong-arm methods would alienate Javits Republicans and nullify Rockefeller's slim hope of victory in November.

But, protested Javits, he had a decent chance to beat Rockefeller. The backstage powers had an answer to that. They re-echoed the detailed record of what happened in the California Republican party in 1964.

Sen. William F. Knowland, then enormously popular, crowded Gov. Goodwin Knight for the gubernatorial nomination. The voters reacted strongly against the switch and the Democrats won a landslide. California's Republican party has not recovered to this day.

Javits was impressed by the California analogy. Moreover, in a recent update report, he got the same message from county leaders: we prefer you to Rockefeller but not at the cost of a convention fight.

Consequently, it is virtually certain that Javits will remove himself from speculation for Governor within a week or so and New York's Republicans will swim with Rockefeller.

The First Research Corp. of Miami, Fla., is considering a novel gimmick to prevent any recurrence of the acute embarrassment it inadvertently caused Gov. Haydon Burns of Florida last month.

In the future, political polls taken by First Research may be accompanied by a newspaper authorization, First Research says, privately, it would sue.

When we printed the results, Burns panicked and denied the very existence of the poll. The incident has not helped his campaign.

By A.H.O.

Last week was a bad week in Connecticut for the forces of the Republican far right. Such is the nature of the movement, however, that it seems immune to disappointment, or even, perhaps, deserves a certain masochistic pleasure from its own defeats and frustrations.

It is no ideological classification to state the information that, in the last stages of the struggle for Governor, he became the center of a wild dream of the state's Republican conservative movement. But what happened was that, as normal Republican strength began a moving away from Mariani toward E. Clayton Grogan, the strategists of the conservative wing moved in behind Mariani.

They were, in the last hours of his candidacy, posing as his best and his only true friends. And they probably thought that, if Mariani could be rescued, and brought through to nomination, his inevitable gratitude to them would have enabled them to take over the whole state organization in one simple coup, instead of having to fight primaries anywhere.

If their move toward Mariani and their dream of a coup had any real effect of any kind on the situation, it was merely to speed and solidify the high leadership decision to go for Grogan. The last minute reinforcements guaranteed his defeat.

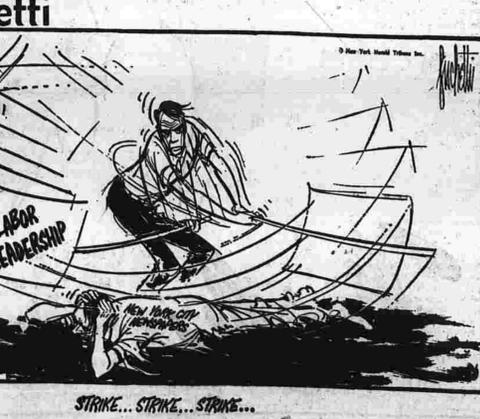

Mariani's relative innocence in all this has since been established—or established up to this time at any rate—by his own resolute refusal to seem to lead any kind of hope or comfort to the instinctive next strategy of the Luptonites which would be, by the right wing book, to try to use Mariani for trouble in the party convention or for third ticket threat in November. For that, apparently, they will have to look for somebody else. One wonders who they could possibly have?

The marriages of Miss Katherine Thomas Shea of Manchester to David Gene Devereaux of Bloomfield were celebrated last Saturday at St. James Church, Chestnut St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Devereaux of Merck, N.Y. The Rev. John J. O'Brien performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Jean MacCarone was organist and soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length gown of pearl de sole, designed with lace bodice. Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was arranged from a headpiece of lace trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses. Miss Lucy Shea of Manchester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of light blue linen trimmed with matching lace; a matching headband with face veil, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and white gladioli.

Peter Bowles of Bloomfield served as best man. Mrs. Shea wore a two-piece dress of royal blue silk and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a mint green suit consisting of a jacket and matching skirt. A reception for the immediate family was held at Cavay's Restaurant. For a motor trip through Canada, Mrs. Devereaux wore a blue flowered suit with white belt and accessories. The couple will reside in Bloomfield.

Mrs. Devereaux is a graduate of Manchester High School and attended Manchester Community College, Meriden, Conn. She is a graduate of Merrick College School and Hamilton College, Utica, N. Y. Vernon Audio-Visual Aids Urged To Strengthen Education

A five-year plan to expand the audio-visual program of the Vernon school system was presented to the board of education by Joseph F. Giorgio, director of audio-visual aids. The program would cost $158,426 for equipment.

Giorgio is the town's first audio-visual specialist. He began work with the school system in September.

After hearing his proposal, the board voted to table the proposal and will appoint a committee to work with him.

Giorgio's report, lengthy and often involved, stresses that an audio-visual program is not a separate entity, but is a very important and necessary part of our complete educational program for children.

"As much as we have always considered the tools of teaching, we must now change our image to include audio-visual materials," Giorgio said.

Giorgio explained his purpose is to add teachers "do a more effective job of presenting their educational objectives."

He proposes to conduct workshops to teach the mechanical operation of equipment; for periodic showing of materials to stimulate interest; and discussion of teaching tools; to encourage teachers of each grade to work together to share experiences and materials; and classroom visits to reveal good and poor teaching techniques.

Giorgio said that the present audio-visual program is not effective because it is only weakly contributing to our major educational purposes.

He listed six weaknesses he found in the audio-visual program, including:

- "The equipment is not owned by the individual schools—throwing the whole program out of balance. Some buildings are better equipped than others. With no provisions for pooling of available equipment for all schools."
- "The method of handling, the use, care and repair of available equipment in each school is different. Some schools have teachers in charge of the audio-visual equipment, but have 'busy principals' doing the distributing."
- "Up to my appointment my agency was providing for the selection, checking and repairing of equipment," Giorgio said.
- "Due to the lack of units and proper darkening facilities in classrooms many teachers do not make enough use of projected materials," he said, and added: "... there were no provisions as regards to teacher training."
- Giorgio presented a plan to overcome the weaknesses he encountered. The solution includes Establishment of organized audio-visual services, and leadership for an instructional materials center with a director to supervise the services at all levels of instruction. Giorgio's plan includes the following expenses during the five year program:
- Darkening systems for elementary and secondary schools to darken 31 classrooms—$52,000.
- Purchase of 25 movie and filmstrip projectors at a cost of more than $25,000.
- Purchase of six record players

Town Minister Moderator at Baptist Parley

The Rev. Alex H. Elieser, pastor of Community Baptist Church, will serve as moderator Saturday at the 177th annual meeting and election of officers of the Hartford Baptist Association at the First Baptist Church, Middletown. The theme of the program is "Mandate to Witness."

There will be speakers, group discussions, and officers will be installed in the afternoon. A report of the study of the Connecticut Baptist Convention and proposed reorganization will be made.

Delegates and visitors from 25 Hartford Baptist Association churches are expected to attend.

South Windsor $2,000 in Scholarship Fund

The South Windsor College Scholarship Organization has announced that it has received $2,000 in the fund drive conducted by the group to date. The amount is double the contributions received last year. "All contributors should be proud of these results," the committee said.

Some gifts are still being received, and the committee hopes those who have not yet contributed will do so in the near future. A total of $500 will be placed in the Farnham Fund, which is a permanent fund planned to someday provide substantial interest to be used to increase the annual scholarship.

The 1966 SWCSF award will total $1,500. This year the South Windsor Educational Association will add the proceeds from its scholarship fund to the annual raised by the committee and the award will be made jointly.

Tiede in Viet Nam Crowded 'Copter Baby's Birthplace

By TOM TIEDE
TUY AN, Viet Nam — (NEA) — The medical helicopter was on a mission of mercy... the evacuation of Vietnamese peasants, each of them ill, to the facilities of a U.S. Army field hospital.

Minutes earlier five patients had been carried aboard. The minutes later six would be carried off.

No, nobody else was hurt, somebody else was born.

"Three people sat on the craft's floor and two others, one a young woman, were stretched out in canvas litter. They were silent and uncomplaining. Nobody seemed in serious condition."

Nonetheless, Stan Teipor, a medic from Nebraska, squeezed around as best he could in the cramped compartment and began examining the assortment of ailments. He looked into eyes, at tongues and into ears. He felt necks, timed pulses and attended to sores.

It was all quite routine. Then, suddenly, the young woman began to moan.

She was black-haired, sharp-featured and in obvious pain. She clutched at the blanket with the hungry holler of a toothless, wriggling, five-pound child.

"Here," Teipor said, "somebody hold it."

"I can't get there," "It's O.K.," "How big is it?" "Here, we're all papa!"

While the spectators grimaced mightily, the medic poked into his aid kit and drew out some clamps. With them he closed off the umbilical cord and handed the youngster to its grateful mother.

"Then he stepped back a bit, wiped his hands on his fatigues, and climbed toward the woman in the stretcher. It was true. The blanket had hidden her condition

Stranded Girl Goes Half-Way Toward Rescuers

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A 75-foot aerial ladder wasn't long enough to reach a 10-year-old girl trapped on a rocky ledge, so the child inched down to where fire department rescuers could reach her.

The girl, identified as Roberta Flaco of 468 Middletown Ave., was rescued Wednesday night at the top of a 100-foot cliff. Fire officials said.

The girl decided to climb down the steep cliff, firemen said, and after descending 20 feet or so, she couldn't move up or down.

The aerial ladder truck arrived at the base of the cliff and fire Lieutenants John H. Tiedeman and Francis Foley climbed to bring the girl to safety.

Later, a policeman asked Roberta whether she would have a pen and engraved that money can't legally be photographed.

The Rev. Roger Palmquist of Wayland, Mass., cartoonist, will present a program. His wife will accompany him on the piano. He is presently working as a special assistant to Charles M. Schulz, creator of the "Peanuts" comic strip. He presents a special program for mothers and daughters in which he discusses gifts mothers may give their daughters, and vice versa.

The supper will be catered by Mrs. Anna Holm.

Mariani Gets Support Wanted or Otherwise

GREENWICH (AP) — Whether he wants it or not, State Sen. Peter P. Mariani of Groton has the support of the Republican Town Committee of Greenwich for the gubernatorial nomination.

Mariani, the state senate minority leader, has given no public support to such moves since GOP State Chairman A. Searle Finney threw his backing to St. Clayton Gengras for the nomination April 18.

"In the last few weeks," First Selectman Lowell P. Wetcker Jr. told the town committee Wednesday night, "it has become painfully clear that whereas Senator Mariani was working for the Republican Party, Mr. Gengras was working for Mr. Gengras."

After listening to Wetcker's criticisms of Gengras and his praise of Mariani, the town committee unanimously adopted a resolution urging Mariani to "be the Republican candidate for governor in 1966."

Wetcker attacked the "consensus" which Finney said he unsuccessfully sought among GOP leaders that Gengras was the best candidate, "but rather a deal at the top."

Wetcker said "the object of the consensus seemed to be an attempt to heal old wounds and old defeats rather than strike out to win new victories."

He noted that Gengras gave $50,000 in 1962 to the campaign of Gov. John Dempsey; that the

Assault Claim Filed by Wells

In an action stemming from an alleged assault March 10 in West Hartford, East Hartford, a Manchester man, David J. Wells Jr. of 14 Newman St., filed a lawsuit against Patricia J. Foley of West Hartford, co-owners with John J. Foley in the restaurant.

Wells claims that he sustained a contusion of the brain, laceration of his right ear, injury to his right shoulder, and injuries to several parts of his person, all caused him to incur many expenses, plus loss of time from his employment.

He charges that the three owners of the restaurant were negligent in permitting Jeremiah Foley to remain on the premises, "a person known to have violent tendencies and disorderly propensities."

He also charges the three owners with failure to provide sufficient employees to maintain proper order and to exercise reasonable care for the safety of his patrons.

Divorce Law Liberalized In New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—New York State, known for years as a hard place to dissolve a marriage legally, has a vastly more liberal divorce law today.

The Legislature approved and Gov. Rockefeller signed Wednesday a bill that adds new grounds to the state's 175-year-old divorce statute. The old law permitted divorce only on the ground of adultery.

It was the first revision of the divorce statute since 1887, when Alexander Hamilton drafted the bill that had defied attempts at change until this year.

The new law, which goes into effect on Sept. 1, 1967, will add the grounds of voluntary separation, abandonment, cruel and inhuman treatment, deviate sexual conduct and imprisonment of a spouse for a crime involving force or violence.

There was only mild dissent against the bill during its discussion in the Senate and Assembly.

Rockefeller, who was divorced in 1960 and later married a divorced woman, put his signature on the measure at Albany County Airport Wednesday night before flying to New York City.

He issued no comment in signing the bill.

On the eve of legislative action on divorce, a Roman Catholic organization denounced the bill on the ground it showed too little concern for the "great evils which divorce creates."

The legislation adds these specific grounds for divorce: 1. Abandonment by a spouse for two years.

2. Cruel or inhuman treatment of such a nature as to endanger the physical or mental well-being of the plaintiff as may be shown by the evidence.

3. Imprisonment of a spouse for at least three years.

4. Homosexual or other deviate sexual conduct.

5. Voluntary separation of a couple who live apart for two years after signing a formal separation agreement drafted by a lawyer and filed with the courts.

6. Deviate sexual conduct of the nature which endangers the physical or mental well-being of the plaintiff as may be shown by the evidence.

7. Imprisonment of a spouse for at least three years.

8. Homosexual or other deviate sexual conduct.

9. Voluntary separation of a couple who live apart for two years after signing a formal separation agreement drafted by a lawyer and filed with the courts.

10. Deviate sexual conduct of the nature which endangers the physical or mental well-being of the plaintiff as may be shown by the evidence.

11. Imprisonment of a spouse for at least three years.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

BY DOBIE BELAND

Springtime brings with it a host of festive events that call for something special in the way of desserts. Mrs. Ronald W. Verrier of 3500 Wood Rd. makes Apricot-Peach Glace Pie for many of the gala events she has at her home. Her recipe is almost as good as it tastes.

Apricot-Peach Glace Pie

1 Pie Crust

1/2 cup vegetable shortening or lard (rounded)

1 cup flour

1 pinch of salt

3 tablespoons cold milk

Blend shortening and flour well and add salt and milk and once again blend well. Form in round ball and roll out thin for one crust. Place in eight-inch pie shell and brush with cream or milk. Bake in 350-degree oven for 20 minutes.

Filling

1 1/2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin

2 tablespoons cold water

1 cup apricot preserves

1/2 cup sherry wine

1 pinch salt

1 No. 2 1/2 can cling peach

Whipped cream

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water and let stand 5 minutes. Put apricot preserves in pan and bring to boil; stir in gelatin until dissolved. Add sherry wine and salt. Cool mixture until it begins to thicken. Drain peach halves well and place in baked pie shell. Cut sides down and overlapping. Gently pour apricot mixture over the peach halves. Refrigerate until apricot filling sets. Garnish with whipped cream.

Mrs. Verrier attended Elm College and received a B.A. degree at Florida State University. Her husband is a senior actuary analyst with the Travelers Insurance Co., Hartford.

Mrs. Verrier and her children, Deborah, 7, Ronald, 6, and Sarah, 16.

A member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Mrs. Verrier will model in a fashion show tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Ball Room at the Hotel Hamilton.

She is a member of the Women's Auxiliary of Manchester Memorial Hospital, and is a member of Latta Junior Museum.

Her hobby is sewing.

MRS. RONALD W. VERRIER

Rosa Restaurant, Woodmont, is co-sponsor of the VFW Loyalty Day Parade on Loyalty Day.

Mrs. Charles Birch of 70 Holmwood St., department president of the VFW Auxiliary and Samuel Oliver of Darien, department commander of the VFW, will be the main attraction at the parade.

The parade will start at 1 p.m. at the intersection of Main and Elm streets and will proceed to the VFW Post 1444 on Main Street.

Loyalty Day is sponsored by the VFW and is supported by an act of Congress and by Presidential proclamation. It is a national day of observance.

The parade will last four hours and will include musical units, many floats and marching units of veterans, fraternal and religious groups, as well as armed forces and civilian units.

Mrs. Birch and her husband will be guests at a distinguished guests luncheon at the Villa East on Main Street.

The Florida citrus crop is coming along fine, but needs rain. So does the whole Northeast—dried by a five-year drought.

Tornadoes ripped through the Tampa, Lakeland and Winter Haven areas of Florida earlier this month, but caused little damage to the fruit.

In Wisconsin, it has been too wet and too cool, slowing pea planting.

A big item in the mounting food bills for months has been meat.

Pork played a major role. Prices reached high levels during the winter when production was down.

As consumers switched to other meats, the prices of the substitutes rose, too. Now pork marketings are near their usual spring peak, and prices have declined.

NEW YORK—Studies cited by the National Association for Retarded Children indicate that up to 1 million children misdiagnosed as mentally retarded actually have normal mental ability. Smoky Burgess Lugs One Tool—His Bat

NEW YORK (AP)—Smoky Burgess, the catcher who could pass for one of those naively movie bartenders, doesn't worry about the tools of ignorance lugged around by most recent players.

Burgess lugs around only one tool—his bat.

And he used it Wednesday delivering a two-run pinch single that helped the Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 victory over Boston.

A burly 30-year-old veteran, Burgess stands 5-foot-8 and weighs 197 pounds—most of it centrally located. He doesn't look the part but he happens to be the most prolific pinch hitter in baseball history. That's why the White Sox let the other guys wear the chain guards and chest protectors.

Everytime Burgess delivers a son and the fifth of his 17-year pinch hit, he adds to his major league career. It helped league record. Wednesday's Sox to their 6th victory in 12 starts.

SMOKY BURGESS

In the only other American League game played Wednesday, Washington blanked New York 2-0 on Mike McCormick's five-hitter. The other games on the schedule were postponed because of rain and cold.

WHITE SOX RED SOX—Chicago broke a 5-5 tie in the seventh inning on two walks and a single by Ron Hansen. Then Burgess stroked his single and while he was chugging down the first base line, Ken Berry scored from third, and Hansen took off from first and raced home with the Sox' third run of the inning.

SENATORS—YANKS—McCormick, who was a $50,000 bonus boy with the New York Giants a decade ago, and won the National League's second crown in 1960, is making a comeback as a Yankee pitcher. The shutout extended McCormick's streak to 21 scoreless innings against the Oakland Bombers who were lost 10-13 of 14 starts.

McCormick developed arm trouble in 1962, was drafted to Baltimore and finally the minors before being sold to the Senators in 1965. At 27, he's making a new career for himself in the American League.

McCormick got the runs he needed when Ken McMillen smacked a two-run double off Downing in the third inning. The hit was one of only three that Downing gave up but it was enough to beat the young left-hander.

Little D Ready to Challenge Big D Sutton Dodger Hope

NEW YORK (AP)—Don (Little D) Sutton looks like he's ready to challenge on Drysdale for the Big D label—both on the mound and at the plate.

A 23-year-old right-hander in only his second year of professional baseball, Sutton emphasized his rapid development Wednesday night when he posted the first complete game of his major league career in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 4-1 victory over Atlanta.

Sutton's place with the Dodgers and his inexperience because of his inexperience under Drysdale and Sandy Kousser was not a problem during spring training. Manager Walt Alton looked at Sutton's minor league record, and then decided to look at the real thing. He hasn't been disappointed.

Joe Morgan stroked three of the seven hits of Ray Westburn and Curt Simmons, and now has a run of six consecutive hits. The league record is 10.

REDS—GIANTS—Pinson, who scored three runs and drove in two, helped the Reds build a 4-0 lead for Bill Pappas. But the Giants moved back into a tie with Willie McCovey hitting a grand slam. McCovey and Willie Brown a solo shot.

The Reds were ahead to stay in the eighth inning when Tony Harper walked and moved around on a sacrifice. Don Drysdale's pitched hit and selected two hits against the Braves and now is 0-1 in the club with six hits in 13 at-bats for a 4.64 average.

ASTROS—GIANTS—Gust showed only a second inning struggle by Tom McCaver until the Cardinals scored in the ninth on two-out doubles by Curt Flood and Tom Carver.

Jim Wynn, however, had provided Gust with more than enough worrying run. Wynn cracked a two-run homer in the first inning, then led off the sixth with a single and came around on an infield out, a wild pitch and Bob Aspromonte's double.

HUNTING and FISHING

SAX WATER FISHING—Good catches of winter flounder and bluefish are being reported from eastern Connecticut with fish from 2 to 30 lb. being taken at The Race, Wethersfield and at Montauk Pt., Groton.

Striped bass angling continues to be popular in the Connecticut River. A few strippers have shown up in the Connecticut River.

White perch are providing good fishing at high tides in Quabbin Lake, Wrentham, Massachusetts, and in the Connecticut River.

Good trout fishing is reported in the Housatonic River (many 2-3 lb. holdovers) and in the Connecticut River. Wrentham, Massachusetts, and in the Connecticut River.

Pitching, Defense Awtul Biggest Bosox Weakness Showing in Early Start

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox' biggest weakness — pitching — is showing in the club's poor start to the American League race. So is the club's weakness in the defense.

The Red Sox employed five pitchers who allowed 11 hits, in dropping an 8-2 decision to the Chicago White Sox Wednesday before a small turnout of 1,078 fans in sunny weather.

While the pitching left much to be desired, Boston outfielders contributed to a pair of runs.

Centerfielder Lenine Green misplayed a line drive which sailed over his head in center for a triple in the third and Tony Conigliaro threw to second on a runner to score from first on a single in Chicago's decisive three-run seventh.

After the game, Conigliaro and shortstop Rico Petrocelli took additional batting practice. Conigliaro hit a few solid line drives, but later became disoriented and tossed his bat some 100 feet into the stands.

Yale Downs UConn Nine In Revenge

Yale, beaten soundly by University of Connecticut athletic forces during the academic year, bounced back to take an 8-6 baseball decision from UConn Wednesday.

Connecticut had taken its first football victory in history from Yale last September, and UConn's basketball game defeated the Bulldogs during the winter.

But Yale basketball standout Ed Goldstone enjoyed a big day at the Storrs baseball park, getting three hits, including a two-run homer that provided the final edge.

Connecticut, which is in last place in the Yankee Conference with a 0-3 mark, made a belated bid to salvage something from the baseball schedule.

But a four-run seventh-inning, including a two-run homer by Bill Flood, wasn't enough.

Yale's season record is 15-1, and UConn has a 3-4 mark, not including the seven straight wins it posted on a southern exhibition trip.

Another pair of baseball teams with undistinguished records met in New London, and Coast Guard got its first win of the regular season, 8-6 over Bridgeport.

The Cadets, ineffectual all season with men on base, carried the day on a series of clutch singles to drive in runs. Richie Hook clouted a homer for the Cadets when the bases were empty.

Another Coast Guard reversal of form came when Bridgeport headed the bases and the Cadets tried to hit two feeble ground balls for outs.

Coast Guard has a 1-4 record, Bridgeport is 4-0.

In other games, Central Connecticut pushed over nine runs in the eighth inning to bury Fairfield, 14-3. Central's record is 7-1, and Fairfield has a mark of 2-4.

New Haven College, which lost one game to St. John's this season, 10-6, hasn't had a problem since.

New Haven whipped Quinnipiac Wednesday 9-0 to bring its record to 14-1. Quinnipiac has won six and lost four.

Today's action is limited to Sacred Heart at Danbury and Hartford at Southern Connecticut. The other teams are readying up for a big Saturday schedule in which 15 teams will be in action.

Twenty-game winner Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals had a 3-0 record against 19 major league first division teams in 1965.

Mets' Banners Waving, One Wonders-How Long?

NEW YORK (AP)—Those fan-loving New York Mets fans who decorate Shea Stadium with scribbled-on bedspreads have not changed their theme for the new season.

The messages on the banners contain the same humorous lines as last year—cross between tongue-in-cheek and a sentimental we-know-you're-foolish-but-we-love-you-anyway.

Before the first ball was pitched in the Mets opener against the Atlanta Braves, one fan drew graffiti with a poster that read, "Wait 'til next year."

Another, borrowing a line from Don Adams of television's "Get Smart," waved a banner reading, "The Mets in '66: Would you believe 66?"

When things got dull at Shea, you take a walk and read banners. Some samples of '66 are:

"To err is human — to forgive is a Mets fan."

"Don't waste water, send me Mets strike force to the showers."

"Mets strike force in the hearts of other Mets."

"Don't waste words about scolding the Braves, just get ahead."

"The rest of the league is just lucky."

"Edmonton in defense of the Mets is no vice."

"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

One word banners also are popular:

"Realist!"

"When?"

"Why?"

"How?"

"Fray."

But behind the "Pray" banner came this one: "We prayed... now what?"

"Don't waste words about scolding the Braves, just get ahead."

"The rest of the league is just lucky."

"Edmonton in defense of the Mets is no vice."

"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Babe Ruth Widow Hurt At Defeats

NEW YORK (AP)—Every time the New York Yankees lose a game and Willie Mays hits a home run, Mrs. Babe Ruth's heart leaps a little.

"I've lived and died with the Yankees," the widow of the greatest baseball slugger of them all said today. "They were the widows when they were alive. I'm a lonely interested fan."

"I'm a lonely interested fan," she said. "I've lived and died with the Yankees, and now I'm a lonely interested fan."

Grant's remarks were in regard to the annual New England Amateur Golf Tournament which will be staged at Ellington, July 28-30.

Boston Eight-Point Favorite to Win NBA Playoff Tonight Celtics Smarting but Determined

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics, smarting but determined, and the rejuvenated Los Angeles Lakers, cocky after two comeback victories, meet tonight for the National Basketball Association championship.

"We'll win it," said Coach Red Auerbach of Boston, who wants to move upstairs full-time as general manager with an eighth straight championship.

"To a man, we know we can win it," said Coach Fred Schaus of Los Angeles, who Lakers seek to become the first team in NBA history to win three straight after dropping behind 3-1 in the best-of-seven series.

The Celtics are rated an overwhelming eight-point favorite in the title showdown despite a 12-11 loss in Boston last Sunday and the Lakers' convincing 123-115 victory in Los Angeles Tuesday.

"We're one team that doesn't suffer from Celtics-itis," Schaus said. "Anything can happen in Boston. We've won three of our last four and now we can do it. I'm sure the Celtics feel as sure as we do. The game should be a honey."

Auerbach, winding up 20 years as a coach, refused to admit the loss in the sixth game at Los Angeles, saying, "We simulate a different story at the Garden," Auerbach said. "I'm sure you can't do it."

With another all-out crowd of 13,000 assured, a close duel appeared certain. The Celtics' fifth game, shattered in the last two games, regrouped in an attempt to stop Elgin Baylor, Jerry West and an unexpected second punch from rookie Gail Goodrich and Rudy LaRusso.

The Celtics, who rebounded from losing their Eastern Division regular season reign by one game to Philadelphia in gaining the NBA title round, are determined to go all the way.

The investigation by the six-member committee, set up to police senatorial ethics after the Harvey and Bobby Baker case, was requested by Dodd.

The committee's statement said its public hearings will be preceded by closed-door hearings to determine which activities of Dodd's relationship with Klein fall within its jurisdiction.

Dodd's use of funds raised at testimonial dinners in his honor also has been questioned. He has denied any improper conduct.

Klein, a retired Army major general who is a registered agent for West German interests, issued a statement in New York Thursday saying he had made contributions to Dodd and others but had never asked for anything in return.

Dodd said in a statement that he was pleased by the committee's announcement that it will hold public hearings.

"These hearings will demonstrate to my own constituents and to the American public not only the malicious intent of the charges against me, but also the systematic theft of documents from my office and the motivations of those who conspired in that theft," he said.

He noted that he had requested the committee to look into the questions made against him in a series of syndicated columns and had offered his full cooperation.

The hearings will be the first held by the Senate Ethics Committee on standards and conduct. They will only be one phase of the committee's investigation into a supposed relationship between Dodd and Klein.

The job situation on the New Haven line has been one of this state's foremost concerns, Dempsey said. He told his regular morning news conference that his first appointment to the Connecticut Transportation Authority was George Cahill, a representative of the rail brotherhood.

SAIGON, South Viet. (AP)—The United States landed more than 4,000 fresh combat troops in Viet Nam today, boosting its total to nearly 250,000 men, but the ground war continued at a low ebb.

Half a dozen major U.S. ground operations in the jungled country have failed to root the Viet Cong out of a few small areas. Their arrival completed a 20 per cent increase in American forces since the start of the year.

US planes ranged over North and South Viet Nam again carrying the war to the Communists. The Viet Cong continued their activity to a few small attacks and terrorism in their pattern in the last few weeks.

Jointly, the Army and the 26th "Tropic Lightning" Division from Hawaii came ashore at Vung Tau, about 40 miles from Saigon. Their arrival completed a 20 per cent increase in American forces since the start of the year.

Knibbling Becomes Top College 'Sport'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—side, N.J., proudly claimed all world records Thursday for Hopkins knibblers and the College of Notre Dame for women is the sport of knibbling.

Dr. H. Gordon Morgan, director of the University of Maryland Institute of Child Health and Human Development, said he was surprised to find that many of the brightest pupils become quite upset by pressure to attend academic classes and often have nightmares because of ulcers, he said.

The keynote speaker at a two-day conference sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education said the pressures come from the children themselves from their family, community or even from teachers.

He said the problem could be solved by teachers who value the achievements of children as individuals and not in comparison with others.

He suggested that before administrators hire teachers they should consider their "love life."

Dr. Morgan explained that what he meant by "love life" was how a person felt about his wife and his children and how he considered his life in their presence.

There was a time when we thought a little bit of neurosis was good," he said, "but research hasn't borne that out."

Student Revolt Plot Uncovered

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The striking students, the report Mexican attorney general's office says, were plotting to overthrow the government.

The attorney general's office said Thursday night that an investigation after the arrest of three Argentines and five Mexicans had uncovered a plot to set up a "Communist-type" government by provoking a crisis among the students and subverting other groups.

Arrests of the eight persons was announced Tuesday after student rioting which resulted in the forced resignation of the national university's rector.

The plot "called for strikes to begin at the university's law school and then spread to other schools in the university," attorney general's report said.

The eight under arrest had confessed at several secret meetings to give moral and financial support to the
