

Ky Election Stand Is Hit By Ribicoff

HARTFORD (AP)—Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., has charged that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam "is trying to duck out of his election commitments."

The senator told a meeting of the Hartford chapter of the United World Federalists Sunday that Ky has indicated "he will not accept the results of elections in South Viet Nam if he doesn't like them."

"It is time," Ribicoff said, "for the United States to recognize the proposed elections as an opportunity as well as a challenge. It is time we commit the United States to the success of these forthcoming elections."

Ribicoff told the 400 persons attending the meeting that the United Nations should be asked to supervise the elections to assure that they be conducted impartially.

Ribicoff said this suggestion has been evaded by the government "with typical State Department bodygymnastics." He said

Girl Killed, Father Fears She's Burglar

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—A high school girl who arose before dawn to quiet the family dog was shot to death in the kitchen today when her father mistook her for a burglar.

Larna Kay Wilson, 18, cried, "Oh, Daddy!" then collapsed and died.

Her father, Jack Wilson, 45, was sobbing beside the body when police arrived.

Wilson, a television repairman, told officers he heard a noise in the kitchen. He got his shotgun, saw a figure silhouetted against the back door, and fired.

Wilson's wife, Dorothy, and two younger daughters were asleep.

Mrs. Wilson said Larna Kay apparently got up to take the dog outside.

South African Gets Life Term For Conspiracy

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—Abram Fischer, former senior attorney who led the defense in the big South African sabotage trial, was sentenced to life imprisonment today for conspiring to commit sabotage.

He could have been given the death sentence on the charge. Life imprisonment in South Africa means just that unless the government reduces the sentence.

Fischer, 59, stood stiffly at attention as Justice W. Boshoff pronounced the sentence.

The prominent lawyer was convicted last Wednesday of 9 of the 16 charges on which he was indicted. He also was fined $168, and given two other sentences of eight years and nine months to run concurrently with the life term.

The most serious charge on which he was convicted was conspiring with banned African nationalist organizations to commit sabotage aimed at bringing about an armed insurrection to overthrow South Africa's white supremacist government.

Defense counsel said Fischer's motive was not criminal and that he had not acted for self advancement. But the state prosecutor charged that Fischer had "dedicated himself to the overthrow of this state by all forms of violence."

Justice Boshoff said in a three-hour opinion that Fischer belonged to South Africa's outlawed Communist party and took part in its activities. Fischer had admitted being a Communist, saying that participation in the party's activities offered the only avenue for action against South Africa's apartheid policy of strict racial segregation.

The trial was one of the most important involving a white man ever held in South Africa. Fischer's defense in the 1963 sabotage trial brought him world prominence. Most of the defendants in that trial were nonwhite opponents of apartheid who were sentenced to life imprisonment. They included nationalist leaders Nelson Mandela and Walter Sisulu.

Fischer jumped bail during a previous trial and was South Africa's most wanted man for nearly a year. Heavily disguised, he remained in the Johannesburg area while police searched the country for him.

Says He'll Hold Power

Ky Announcement Draws New Fire

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky came under attack from within and outside the ruling junta today after his declaration that he expects to hang onto power at least another year.

Informants said some of Ky's fellow generals considered the statement likely to endanger the delicate political balance that has kept them in power despite Buddhist agitation. Ky was reported to have made the declaration without consulting them.

Government censors cut the statement from the Vietnamese language press in an effort to minimize the political repercussions. Nevertheless, it spread by word of mouth through Saigon. Political groups threatened counteraction against the military government.

The strongest reaction was expected from Saigon's influential Buddhist leadership, which has demanded an early return to civilian government.

As the new storm erupted around him, Ky lapsed into silence. He ordered his chauffeur to drive on when newsmen converged on his car for an explanation of his intentions.

One Buddhist leader, Thich Thien Minh, told a crowd of 5,000 persons in Da Nang that the Buddhists would organize another wave of protests if the government backed down on its pledge to hold elections for a national assembly next fall.

Minh, leader of the youth movement of Saigon's Buddhist Institute, is a protégé of the politically powerful monk Thich

Connecticut Valley Study Called for WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate hearing May 20 on his proposal for establishment of a national recreation area in the Connecticut River valley was announced today by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn.

The 10 a.m. session, at which witnesses will be heard and a report on the bill from the Interior Department considered, will be before an interior parks and recreation subcommittee headed by Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev.

Ribicoff, who said he will be the first witness, reported that the Interior Department has recommended a detailed, two-year study of the recreation, conservation and economic potentials of the river valley in order to determine the feasibility of the proposal and recommend specific boundaries.

"I am in general accord with the Interior Department," Ribicoff said. "I agree that a detailed study is necessary and should be made."

Mansfield Proposes Recognizing Mongolia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposed today that the United States recognize Mongolia, a Communist-controlled nation sandwiched between Red China and the Soviet Union in mainland Asia.

This would help ease international tensions, Mansfield said in an interview, and give the United States "a valuable listening post" between the two Communist giants.

Mansfield's proposal came as he endorsed the call by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., for appointment of a "blue ribbon" commission to reassess U.S. policy toward Communist China.

The Kennedy-McGovern suggestions also brought these developments during the week-end.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who testifies before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today, described the commission proposal as "an intriguing idea." But Rusk said for more than a year the executive branch has had a very competent group making an intensive study of these matters. He did not further identify the group.

"They have been in touch with experts outside; they have visited universities and they have searched the literature for possible new ideas," Rusk said on the ABC television-radio program "Issues and Answers."

He also said he has discussed recently with President Johnson "the desirability of systematizing outside advance in the general areas of the world." He added: "I think it is very likely that we shall do this somewhat more systematically than we have done before."

—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was reported actively supporting the proposal to create a commission. Although he was silent about Johnson's

Mrs. Grasso Seeks New Campaign Laws

HARTFORD (AP)—Those money-raising dinners for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., might never have become a subject of controversy under state laws proposed by Secretary of State Ella T. Grasso.

Mrs. Grasso recommended over the weekend that the state require reporting of political contributions and expenditures all year round, rather than just during the six months before an election.

She also put forward a number of other proposals aimed at full and timely disclosure of campaign financing.

According to newspaper columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson, Dodd took in between $100,000 and $200,000 at three dinners in Connecticut which he did not report as taxable income.

The Internal Revenue Service says campaign contributions need not be declared—unless they are turned to personal use.

As associate of Dodd has said the money in question was intended as personal gifts and therefore did not have to be reported to the IRS.

Mrs. Grasso Seeks New Campaign Laws

The columnist's allegations are being investigated by a Senate committee.

Under the law proposed by Mrs. Grasso, it would be necessary for a political figure to clarify what kind of funds were being taken in at a given affair, since if they were to be considered political contributions, they would have to be reported to the state.

Mrs. Grasso sent copies of revised campaign financing laws to the chairmen of the Connecticut Republican and Democratic parties, and the state League of Women Voters.

The proposed legislation, she said, was based on a model drawn up by the National Municipal League.

Under current law, an officeholder or officeholder does not have to report political contributions unless they come in during the six months before an

H-Bomb Set By Peking

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China announced Tuesday it had exploded a device containing "thermonuclear material," indicating it had set off its first hydrogen bomb.

The announcement said the test was conducted Monday somewhere in Western China. Peking previously had disclosed two atomic tests.

"It is a great victory for the three great revolutionary movements in class struggle, the struggle for production and scientific experiment," Radio Peking said.

The announcement said the test was conducted in the air, but whether the device was on a tower or dropped from a plane was not indicated.

In Washington, the Atomic Energy Commission had no immediate comment.

China exploded its first nuclear device on Oct. 16, 1964, and its second May 4, 1965.

The first was believed to have been set off atop a tower at a desert test center in Sinkiang Province, and the second was believed dropped from a plane.

Peking radio, in a Chinese language broadcast monitored here, said the third took place

Reinforced Cong Expected to Hit

An AP News Analysis By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—There is growing belief that the Viet Cong and more than 20,000 recent reinforcements from North Viet Nam will come out of hiding soon and fight.

They have been lying low for weeks. One reason, American military men say, is that the Communists have been critically short of supplies. They have been hurt by the repeated search-and-destroy sweeps by allied ground forces and incessant U.S. air strikes.

The Reds are thought to be regrouping and resupplying to take the initiative with the onset of the monsoon rains, when the weather prevents the Americans from providing ground forces with full-scale air cover and support.

The monsoon season, just beginning, runs into August.

Some military men argue that instead of a single massive offensive, the Communists will make many small-scale attacks. The most probable targets are allied outposts along the Laotian and Cambodian frontiers.

Military sources say that Cambodia is where some of the infiltrating North Vietnamese have joined Viet Cong units and sought sanctuary from American guns. Some branches of the Ho Chi Minh Trail from the north end there.

In recent weeks, however, the United States has ruled out Cambodia as a sanctuary. Artillery and infantrymen have fired across the border when attacked from Cambodia.

To counter this intelligence reports say, the Communists have pulled back into Cambodia about 20 miles. The monsoon drives are expected from these new sanctuaries.

One particularly sensitive spot, long a Viet Cong stronghold, is the French-named C Zone just inside South Viet Nam along the Cambodian border.

American infantrymen have repeatedly swept through this area and destroyed huge caches of supplies but have made only minor contact with the enemy. The giant B52 bombers also have subjected the area to incessant heavy bombing.

Texas Race Sorenson Runs Kennedy Neutral

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The political winds in Texas are blowing in more than one direction, and the fact that President Johnson hails from the big state probably has more than a little to do with their diverse nature.

For example: The 14-million voters who tuned out for Saturday's primary elections gave them overwhelming support to the person and program of Gov. John B. Connally, a conservative Democrat. The President is a long-time personal friend of Connally's.

For example: The primaries also sent two and possibly three Negroes to the state legislature for the first time in the 20th century. The President is in support of the Negro's drive for equality.

For example: As a result of the apparent firm retention by Connally of the state party machinery on Saturday's precinct conventions, there seemingly will be no bitter conservative-liberal inter-necine fight in the party this year. The President is known to favor intraparty harmony, especially in his home state.

The Texas Democratic party has been internally split for several years, but the President generally has managed to stay above the rift. Liberal-labor supporters of Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., have been at OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Phillip C. Sorenson, younger brother of former presidential counsel Theodore Sorenson, makes his bid for the Democratic nomination for governor in Tuesday's Nebraska primary.

The Lincoln attorney won the lieutenant governorship two years ago in his first try for public office.

He is aiming now for the office being vacated by Democrat Frank Morrison who is running for the U.S. Senate.

Sorenson has two primary opponents: Henry Ley, 62, of Wayne, who quit as state banking director to seek the nomination, and state Senator J. W. Burbach, 54, Crofton grain dealer.

On the Republican side, former Gov. Val Peterson, 52, again is seeking the office he held from 1947 to 1953.

Peterson, former federal Civil Defense administrator and ambassador to Denmark, has four opponents including a hard-campaigning newcomer, Norbert T. Tieman, 41, Wausau banker; former State Normal Board President Bruce F. Hagemister, 56, Hemingford; Henry Kuhlmann, 49, former rancher and farmer from Grand Island, and Albert E. BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is maintaining a position of strict neutrality in the competition for the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts this year.

He has to.

The candidates for the nomination, which comes up at the party's state convention June 9-11, include not only an old personal rival, Edward J. McCormack Jr., but also two stalwarts of the Kennedy forces.

The latest entry makes his long-expected announcement today. He is Senate President Maurice A. Donahue of Holyoke, an early Kennedy backer.

Donahue worked for John F. Kennedy in his campaigns for the U.S. Senate, and was one of his floor lieutenants at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles when Kennedy was nominated for the presidency.

And Donahue was a campaigner for Edward M. Kennedy, in 1962 and again in 1964 when the senator was flat on his back in a Boston hospital, his back broken in a plane crash in June of that year.

Kennedy could hardly be expected to take sides between Donahue and Kenneth E. O'Donnell, whose political ties to the late president go back even further.

O'Donnell was White House appointments secretary during the Kennedy administration and

Morse Seeks Hearing of Legal Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk voiced assurance today there will be elections in Viet Nam this September. But Sen. J. W. Fulbright D-Ark., pictured Premier Nguyen Cao Ky as an "irresponsible man" who could hamper free elections.

At a hearing by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Rusk explained and defended the roots of U.S. involvement in Viet Nam—and drew a sharp challenge from Sen. Wayne Morse, an outspoken foe of American involvement in Viet Nam.

Morse's demand that the foreign aid bill be put aside so that he could present international lawyers who, he said, disagree with Rusk's view triggered a brief shouting match between Morse, Fulbright and Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio.

When Fulbright got the situation calmed down again, he asked Rusk about his statement Sunday that reports on Ky telling a news conference he intended to stay in power "at least for another year" were a misrepresentation of his words.

Fulbright noted that news stories on Ky's news conference remarks had been censored from Vietnamese newspapers.

Rusk, referring to a transcript of Ky's press conference, which Rusk acknowledged he wasn't sure was complete, declared that Ky did not say an election for a National Assembly would be postponed.

Rusk, he said Sunday, argued that Ky was saying that an election for a National Assembly will not be held until next year after details, election law and a constitution are worked out.

Rusk said he was simply saying "that some interpretations may have been overdrawn."

"No Future" - One does not always credit former Vice President Nixon with the ultimate in political sagacity.

But when, down in Mississippi the other day, to address a dinner trying to raise funds for the Republican party in that segregationist state, Mr. Nixon said he thought there was "no future in the race issue" for either political party in the South, Mr. Nixon was giving his own hosts in the Deep South a piece of counsel and advice which can be applied, with even greater weight and impact, elsewhere too.

hand in a little deeper, and making more and more of the decisions. But the long range trouble is that doing this because it seems the only way to make things go right is also the way which is most likely to make the big final answer in the end the wrong answer. Every time we are forced to say, in Washington, where the perhaps unending and perhaps dangerous Premier Ky means over in Saigon, we are, on the one hand, perhaps restraining the momentum of Premier Ky's own drive, but, on the other hand, and in the long run, guaranteeing that the day will come when the people of South Vietnam tell us to get out and let them make their own mistakes.

Distortion Seems More Frequent

Once again, this age of ours mirrors itself as a distortion—not because the mirror is one from some fun palace—but because of some very peculiar appearances we ourselves make before it. It has now transpired, down in New York City, that the lawyer who serves as the fraud bureau in the office of State Attorney General has himself been indicted on charges of fraud in which he was trying to use the prestige and power of his office to pull off the same kind of crime he has often fought so valiantly in the news headlines and in his numerous broadcasts in which he warned people against various cheating schemes.

This now makes three members of the staff of this State Attorney General who have been indicted for attempted extortion.

Such a rather heavy concentration of alleged corruption in the ranks of the officials charged with prosecuting corruption crimes and with warning in the mirror we were writing about. It is just the mark of our times that these distortions seem to occur more often than ever before—sometimes, in some respects, so often that it threatens to be the distortion which comes to seem normal, and the normalcy occasional.

Such a rather heavy concentration of alleged corruption in the ranks of the officials charged with prosecuting corruption crimes and with warning in the mirror we were writing about.

Firing Winners

One wonders if the relatively new practice of firing winning coaches or managers, which suddenly became the "camp" or "in" thing to do right after the 1964 World's Series, hasn't just about run its course. As the practice was first introduced, it did have a certain fascinating novelty. Firing losing managers had become being and routine. Why not fire up the game by firing pennant winners for a change?

This proved to be such a lively thing to do in baseball that the practice began to spread to owners of clubs in other sports. And, if the trend were to keep on, there would surely come the day in any sport, professional or amateur, would come to realize that winning too many games could do in baseball the way that losing too many games could do in football, and could therefore be found, in those famous dressing room scenes, imploring his fellow to get out there and fumble and err a little bit for dear old Joe.

This was the way we did seem to be heading. Lately, however, some of the owners who were once so delighted with the headlines sensation they could make by firing winning managers or coaches have been discovering that all they have been really getting out of the process is more headlines and notoriety, and that the real reason for firing them is to get out of the headlines and notoriety, and to accept whatever results it produces.

This new statement from Premier Ky threatens to set the Buddhists off on new demonstrations against him. And, to avoid this danger, we find corrective measures being taken promptly. One of these corrective measures comes from Washington, with Secretary of State Rusk proclaiming, almost as if with authority, that Premier Ky didn't really mean what he seemed to say. The need for corrective action from Washington was so urgent, it can be noted, that word of the correction line wasn't transmitted to everybody in time to prevent Senator Dirksen, who normally chooses to follow the administration direction in Vietnam, from coming out with an interim opinion that perhaps Premier Ky was right in planning to hold on to power for another year. "At any rate," said Senator Dirksen, in an even more daring instance of being himself at least immediately off base, "the Vietnamese are in a better position to decide such a question than we."

We may wish that they were, and are, but what we recognize is that we don't have very much freedom, ourselves, not to be calling the turn on our matters in Vietnam. While Secretary Rusk, in Washington, was interpreting what Premier Ky meant by what he said, some high authority was appearing in emergency fashion over in South Vietnam to compare out of all the Vietnamese newspapers the reports of what Premier Ky had said.

The newspapers of South Vietnam appeared, for the edition in question, with great blank spaces on their front pages where the story of what Premier Ky had said had certainly been hoisted and scheduled to run. What authority do most of us think produced this timely censorship? You begin to run a country a little bit, and then you discover that when you want things to go right and make some you have to keep getting your for a few months after President Johnson took office. With the Kennedy forces split, the gambler at the Democratic state convention can only be Edward J. McCormack, the son of the late Senator. McCormack was the state attorney general for two terms from 1956 through 1962. In 1962 he tried to move up as a candidate for the U.S. Senate, and ran smack into Edward Yarbrough for a "political" victory. He sought it out in the state convention and Kennedy prevailed again.

Kennedy Neutral Texas Race Sorenson Runs

McCormack said he will be prevailed upon by the Kennedy family to run for the U.S. Senate. He will face Sen. John Tower, the only Republican in the current primary. Although the governorship contest holds the center of the stage in the primary, a heated contest appears in the offing for the Senate in the general election.

Michigan Driver Faces 2 Counts

A Michigan driver, sought by state police in a hit and run accident in Bolton, was arrested in Manchester following a high speed chase Saturday night.

State Police report that Joseph N. Hamady, 19, of Farmington, Mich., was involved in an accident on Rt. 44A in Bolton about 11:30 p.m. Saturday. He allegedly struck a car operated by William L. Miller, 49, of RFD 2, Bolton, near the Bolton Lake Home. Neither Miller, nor his wife, Marion, a passenger, were injured.

Manchester police heard a description of the car broadcast by state police when the driver did not stop after the accident. Police say the Hamady car was spotted on E. Middle Tpke. heading west, its front end damaged and smoke pouring from the engine. Police say they gave chase to the car, and it tried to outdistance them, passing a line of five cars on E. Middle Tpke.

The chase finally ended at E. Center and Huntington sts. Hamady is reported to have told police that he was the party who struck a car "in Bolton, or Coventry, or somewhere."

Hamady was arrested by State Police and charged with reckless driving and evading responsibility, and by Manchester Police who charged him with reckless driving. He is scheduled to appear in Manchester Hillton Dr. May 23. He was released under a $100 bond for the Manchester charge.

Negro Vote

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Arthur J. Holland — who made headlines by moving to a racially mixed neighborhood — seeks a new term of office Tuesday in an election in which the Negro vote could be pivotal.

The 67-year-old mayor says he might lose votes among "some white people" who consider him an integrationist, but he insists his record in the key issue and will withstand any "white backlash."

Holland also said he has had some Negro opposition from Republicans in November. They are Barbara Johnson, 20, a Houston lawyer running for the state Senate, and businessman Curtis Graves, 21, of Houston, seeking a state House seat. A Negro attorney, Joe Lockridge, 32, of Dallas faces GOP opposition for the House in November.

Republicans also held primaries Saturday night there were would support him.

Apart from the racial question, campaign issues have included birth control, urban renewal and management of the antiprotest program.

Fols indicates Holland's opponent, Carmen J. Arment, 27, a city councilman the past four years, has made inroads into the Negro and Italian vote.

Holland moved two years ago from an area that bordered a neighborhood that is about half white. Ohio residents are Negro and Italian.

Holland said he bought the house in hope of halting deterioration setting away at much of Trenton, and because his wife, Betty, wanted an old home that could be restored to authentic early American style.

Crash Kills 7 In California

YREKA, Calif. (AP) — A station wagon and an automobile collided here on 20 miles south of Yreka Sunday killing seven persons. All of the dead were 35 years old or more, officers said.

All six persons in the station wagon died on the scene in a ranching and farming country along U. S. route 99. The driver of the car was killed and his wife critically injured.

The California Highway Patrol said the driver of the northbound station wagon apparently lost control after making a right-hand turn, drifted across the road and collided with the automobile whose driver tried to brake and avoid the accident.

Route 99 is a two-lane road at the point of the accident.

The Shasta County sheriff's office would not release the names of dead and injured, pending notification of next of kin.

Reinforced Cong Expected to Hit

U.S. intelligence is reasonably sure that more than 20,000 North Vietnamese have entered North Viet Nam and neighboring Laos and Cambodia since the first of the year.

They filter down the Ho Chi Minh Trail, not as organized units but in small groups of individuals.

U.S. officials say the infiltration rate reached 5,000 in March, about 1,000 more than previous months, and the April figure could have been as high as 7,000.

Some of these infiltrators with scattered Viet Cong regiments, others form up in North Vietnamese units.

In Operation Davy Crockett last week, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division and supporting Vietnamese troops wiped out a mixed battalion of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the 5th Battalion of the Viet Cong's Quang Tam (Determination) Regiment, operating in an eastern coastal area of South Viet Nam.

Communist forces in South Viet Nam and neighboring border areas are estimated at 80,000 "main force" Viet Cong, 20,000 North Vietnamese plus large numbers of peasant-by-day, fighter-by-night irregulars. All told, U.S. sources say, the communists have 200,000 men under arms in one way or another in South Viet Nam and nearby countries.

Why hasn't Ho Chi Minh sent his army — reportedly 500,000 strong — south?

The Communists argue that North Viet Nam is not seeking instant reunification by force, but rather the war here is one of "national liberation" by local forces.

A good guess is that the North who managed 18 boats during doing well enough without Communist regulars to their skill, not payment for their service.

A tropical animal, Oocle often crawled under car hoods for warmth, Vign told police in this Detroit suburb.

Events In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman says the 1964 Atomic Energy Act will have to be amended before the United States can supply more plutonium to the European Atomic Energy Community — Euratom.

Euratom has asked for 1,000 kilograms of plutonium, worth about $45 million, to develop fast neutron reactors that would produce more fuel than they burn. The reactors would be used in nuclear power plants.

It was reported the AEC is studying the request from Euratom members — Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany. If supplied by the United States, the plutonium would be used in the development of a peaceful purpose.

Food Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Planning Association is supporting food production planning similar to that recommended earlier this year by President Johnson in his "Food for Freedom" program.

The NPA warned against proposals to remove all government restraints on farm production and to encourage farmers to go all out in expanding production.

"We believe that the facts will not support" such proposals, the NPA's agriculture committee reported Sunday. "We are concerned that false expectations may lead to unwise changes in farm policies and programs, both at home and abroad, or to unwise long-term investments in agriculture."

Boy Charged With Killing

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A boy charged with killing his father with a knife in the slaying of a Pawtucket High school girl whose body was found in a wooded section of Blackstone Park.

Bernard M. Partridge, 15, of Pawtucket, was arrested Sunday night, several hours after the body of Lynn Robin, 18, was found in a "lover's lane" area of the park.

Partridge said the girl was left in the family car for a date but had never returned to be with Partridge. The girl's father, Paul E. Robin, said the couple had been dating for about six months.

Don't laugh.

A Volkswagen police car may seem like a funny idea to you, but it makes a lot of sense to the city of Scottsboro, Ala.

They wanted a car that could take Police Officer H. L. Wilkerson on parking meter patrol; oil day, 6 days a week, in stop-and-go traffic. Without breaking down. And without breaking the taxpayers' backs.

So, in 1964, they bought Car 3-5-5 a VW with a dome light, siren, and 2-way radio.

That was the year of Scottsboro's only "off" model. The other police cars were the work-a-days to their hooptops. But Car 3-5-5 was worth it.

After a year and a half of continuous use, it had its clutch replaced, and its valves adjusted.

That's all.

Busy Time for Derby Winner, Trainer

Preakness Next

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Trainer Henry Forrest today is busy with the Preakness Stakes. He is preparing today to ship Kausal King, the Kentucky Derby winner, east for the Preakness.

"I thought a little, six-acre place at Brentwood, near my home, more than a year ago, but I spent only one night there since then," Forrest said. "I'm sure that Kausal King's Preakness victory Saturday will be his 20th at Churchill Downs, the 68-year-old native of Covington, Ky., remodeled over his 40 years in racing."

"I started out when I was 12 years old with a horse for J. B. Rippey at the old Lebanon Race Course, near the site of the present race track. Apparently, that was a good omen. Rippey's Wintergreen farm was in front of him at the time, and all but one of the other that day, like Kausal King in the past."

Forrest, a winner with the first colt he ever added for the Derby, gave much of the credit to Jockey Del Carroll said. "The colt just 'wondered,'" Forrest said. "I told him before the race there might be some homes in front of him at the time, but to use his own judgment."

"I did just that," Forrest said. "Almost as pleased as Forrest were some in the camp of Advo. a surprise second finisher in America's most glamorous race. A groom, Albert Foley, predicted the colt would become a horse of the year. With exception of Fleet Stok, all of the colts from the Derby were pronounced in good health. Trainer Larry Sterling said. Fleet Stok was "a little touchy" in the first week after the Derby. Both Fleet Stok and Abe's Hope, the second choice in the Derby, were pronounced in good health. Fleet Stok, Richardson, Sky Guy and Williamson also followed in that order. Trailing the field over the finish line were Bobbie Tragnier, Beau Bob and finish wire, may get some rest.

Busy Week Ahead For Schoolboy Clubs

Area schoolboy athletes face another busy week with no less than 21 contests scheduled between today and Friday, weather permitting. Included are 15 baseball games, two tennis matches, two track meets and a pair of golf matches.

Manchester High's basketball team will play a pair of games today, trying to find some hitters to go with some fine pitching efforts. It is slated to face Windham in the afternoon in Willimantic, then return to Memorial Field Wednesday afternoon to oppose Charley Wren's Wethersfield Eagles.

The Indians are 1-3 so far but kept their last two by one run margin.

Bolton High's Bulldogs are to leave the kennel today for a date with East Hampton and on Thursday entertain Coventry, trying to better their 3-6 record. The Bulldogs (so far only a three-year team), lost previous meetings with both opponents.

Rockville High has a 5-5 mark to date, largely due to the rubber-arm of Joe Kavan, who has a .300 batting average. The Rams entertain Southington tomorrow and visit Woodrow Wilson High of Middletown Friday, both Central Valley Conference titles. Kavan scored victories over both clubs in earlier dates.

Also sporting a 5-3 mark, East Catholic tries to avenge an earlier season defeat (0-2) when they met Penney High tomorrow at their home field. Another home date is set for Friday when the Eagles face Conference opponents Northwood Catholic. That will be the first meeting between the arch rivals.

Wintess Cheney Tech makes its fourth start of the season Wednesday at Lyman Memorial High in Lebanon. This is the first meeting between the two schools since Coach Tom D'Angone's Rangers.

Coventry High, in addition to Thursday's date at Bolton, has a home game scheduled today in Coventry. That makes it 11 records for the two-day meet.
