Pitches Well Second Straight Friday but No Decision

McDowell May Be Talking to Self

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam McDowell, who shuts himself in a room before pitching, soon may begin talking to himself.

McDowell went into the room for the second consecutive Friday night before facing the Baltimore Orioles but came out of the game with the same result—no result.

Although he put on another stinging performance, Cleveland's ace left-hander wasn't around at the finish as the Indian edged Baltimore 4-3 in 11 innings.

McDowell, who has been 4-0 since pitching a second straight one-hitter two weeks ago, is expected to pitch Friday night in a game that will be a pitcher's duel.

Warren Staley, who pitched the eighth inning, was not in the game.

trying to fool Wagner. But the ball hit in the dirt for an error, and Wagner scored the winning run.

In other American League games, Minnesota defeated Washington 4-0, California beat Boston 4-1, Detroit edged Chicago 5-4 and New York trimmed Kansas City 4-3.

INDIANS-ORIOLAS—The Orioles beat the Indians 4-3 in 11 innings. The Orioles eventually won 3-1 in the 11th.

That kind of treatment is enough to keep McDowell in his pregame room. He follows that routine because he doesn't like anyone to bother with him before a game.

"I don't want to relax. I want to be nervous and excited," McDowell said. "I deliberately work myself up. I go into a room and shut myself away. I keep going over the hitters, over and over."

NOT RECOUNTING THE MOTION—Giant second baseman Tito Fuentes and shortstop Hal Lanier, are not at all in accord with safe decision signalled by Umpire Tom Gorman. Locker Room Radio Played Part in Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Davenport hit the game-winning homer in the 17th inning and extended San Francisco's winning streak to 12 games, but the Giants probably owe more to a little radio in the dressing room than to his bat.

When Franke, the Giants' manager, revealed the part the radio played after San Francisco's 4-3 victory over New York on Friday night, he said: "Well, listen to this. 'Maye' leg was really better and it got sorer and sorer."

From the time he fell, and when he came up in the seventh I told him to get a hit and I'd send him to bed. "I'm not trying to be a hero or dramatic. We're just trying to help each other. I'm hurting in the dressing room and told him to call it a night."

When we score three runs, I'm underdressed when I hear Hal's (catcher Tom Haller) hit on his knees. So he runs over to his locker, puts his suit back on, comes out and tells me he's playing and goes up to the eighth and hits the homer to tie the game.

"The homer, Maye's 10th of the season and 18th of his career. 'You think they're going to pitch back after they had treated 4-0 after five innings. 'Maye' leg was really better and it got sorer and sorer."

Supreme Court Fight Likely For Milwaukee and Baseball

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves and the National League still face an expansion deadline it says it will ignore.

Creighton J. Eimer, W. R. Miller, who is in charge of the league's expansion program, said today that the league will ignore the deadline if it is not met.

The appeal has not been filed yet, but baseball has vowed to fight the case all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Ball's next step is expected to be either immediate filing of the appeal or a request that the State Supreme Court grant a stay pending the appeal. La Follette said he will wait until Monday to decide if he will file the appeal.

Baseball leaders have said they would like to see the expansion plans not be overturned.

Even Met Fans Were Yawning

Davenport's Homer Sends Everyone Home

NEW YORK (AP)—The San Francisco Giants were having a more trouble emptying Shea Stadium than they were filling it up. Even the Met fans were beginning to yawn.

Then Jim Davenport pitched his magic wand, and everybody in the stadium fell asleep. The largest crowd of the season, 56,660, equipped through the season's longest game Friday night before Davenport's 27th inning home run gave the Giants a 4-1 victory over New York and extended their winning streak to 12.

Willie Maye may have been directly responsible for the huge turnout, a single-game record for the Met park, as he pitched an eighth inning homer was more than a memory when Davenport finally decided the 4 1/2-hour marathon.

CARDS-BRAVES—Jackson drove in three runs with a double and sacrifice fly in the seventh inning. He also scored the winning run in the seventh. He was lifted for a pinch hitter.

Without out in the 17th, he summoned a Dave Silvers pinch-hitter to the left field fence, enabling the Giants to continue an unbeaten run that began April 29.

The victory also kept National League leaders 4 1/2 games ahead of the second place Houston Astros, who topped Philadelphia 10-0 on Jim Yonson's ninth-inning homer and the one-hit

Outstanding Athlete Honor to Miler Rynn

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Freshman Jim Rynn of Kansas emerged today as the outstanding athlete in the Coliseum Relays for his record-breaking victory in the two-mile feature of a meet which produced one world record and two American records.

The 19-year-old Rynn broke the American record for the two-mile run in 8:22.4, a time that was 1.2 seconds faster than the previous record of 9:44.8 set by the late Jim Hines in 1951.

Rynn's victory was a surprise, as he had only competed in a few meets before the relays. He had previously set a personal best of 9:15.0 in a two-mile run in April.

Rynn's coach, Coach Tommie Smith, said that Rynn had been working hard in the gym and on the track. He had been particularly good in the two-mile run, and Smith had decided to enter him in the relays.

Continuing their domination of the Hartford County Conference, East Catholic High rolled to its seventh win—and fourth straight—yesterday afternoon over Northwest Catholic of Hartford at the local level.

The Eagles, 3-0 in conference play, defeated the Panthers 3-0 in a conference game.

Verne Ray Lacina hauled the win for East Catholic as an against one setback. The towering lefty fanned eight, walked one and spaced five hits in going the route.

The winners managed nine hits, the biggest being Steve Connelly's fifth inning triple. Connelly had two hits as did Gary Kinel while Mike Mastala drove in three.

Three-run eruption in the fifth broke the 1-1 tie and led to victory. Five hits, including Connelly's triple, marked the uprising. The Panthers, who were held to one hit up to this time, were held to one hit up to this time.

Ancient Oil Lamp at Temple Beth Shalom

Mrs. George Sandals, co-chairman of the Manchester Israel Bond committee, accepts an ancient clay oil lamp from the site of a settlement in Israel which passed into oblivion centuries ago. The lamp is mounted on a blue velvet base and encased in a clear plastic box for display purposes.

Atty. John Rotner was co-chairman of the Israel Bond Drive. The lamp serves as a token gift from the State of Israel to Temple Beth Shalom for going over the Bonds for Israel Drive quota in Manchester.

Business Bodies

800% INCREASE

A tremendous increase of over 800 per cent in net earnings per share after preferred dividends has been reported by Colonial Board Co. in its summary of earnings report.

Net earnings per share after preferred dividends have risen from 37 cents per share for the first quarter of 1966 which ended March 31, compared to 4 cents per share for the first quarter of 1965. Donald R. Ross, treasurer of the company, says that improvement in production, particularly at the Tennessee plant, and an increase in net sales is responsible for the rise. Net earnings after taxes have risen from $19,619 to $72,174 for the first quarter of 1966 as compared to the same quarter of 1965.

Head Start Worked, Reports Indicate

Four persons closely associated with last summer's initial Head Start program of aid to disadvantaged preschool children teamed up to report to the board of education this week on an evaluation of the program, which from the evidence presented was a resounding success.

Those making the report at the Monday meeting of the board included Mrs. Mary Haskell, director; Mrs. David Kahn, social worker; Mrs. Esther Miner, nurse; and Mrs. Marilyn Tays, program assistant and mother of one of the Head Start children.

The summer program, financed under a grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity, operated for 60 children from low income families for eight weeks during July and August at centers in Nathan Hale, Lincoln and Waddell Schools.

IT was designed to give children lacking exposure to ordinary educational and cultural experiences special help in a nursery school situation — experiences which would make them better able to cope with kindergarten upon entering public school in the fall, Mrs. Haskell told the board.

She said emphasis was placed on developing independence, self-confidence, group consciousness, the ability to communicate and to participate in constructive work and play. The children were exposed to a variety of developmental activities, she said, such as field trips and daily programs of music, dramatic acting and role-playing, story telling and creative play.

Each center employed one teacher, two teacher aides (who were mothers with children enrolled in the program); and in addition, a director, secretary, social worker, nurse, part-time dental hygienist and part-time psychological examiner served all three centers. The cost of the program, the first for which Manchester made application in the "War on Poverty," was just under $10,000.

Evaluation of the children now in kindergarten has shown the program to be "very successful," Mrs. Haskell said. She cited statistics gathered from the children's kindergarten teachers, who graded them on 11 attributes such as acceptance of authority, self-confidence, independence, attitude toward others, coordination, participation in activities, and the like. In all attributes, the majority of the children rated "fair" or "good," the ratings showed. In one category, "attitude toward teacher," none were rated "poor," 18 rated "fair" and 31 rated "good." In each category, the number of children rating "poor" averaged under four, while the number rating "good" averaged about 24.

Head Start teachers fears that the children—many of whom were either withdrawn or aggressive at the outset of the program—might experience serious adjustment problems in kindergarten, did not prove true, Mrs. Haskell noted, as kindergarten teachers reported that more than three-fourths have made fair to good adjustments. Of the 60 children involved, six have since moved from town, three were withdrawn from kindergarten early in the year, and three will repeat kindergarten. The rest will move on to first grade, Mrs. Haskell said, "with reasonable expectations of success."

Other Head Start personnel substantiated the director's views. Mrs. Kahn said the program, from the viewpoint of the children, their families, and the staff "proved to be truly a head start in trust and meeting new adults, peers and experiences without fear. For the very first time, many of the children came into contact with adults who were warm, accepting and non-punishing." Mrs. Miner said the children "responded totally" to the school situation and that she had developed a warm relationship with many of the parents. "I wholly support Head Start," she concluded. Mrs. Tays, a mother assistant, noted the progress made by her son, who had been a discipline problem, "came as a big surprise. His teacher reports his behavior is wonderful in kindergarten," she said. She also commented, "By participating in the program, I have also come to better understand both my son as an individual and my own relationships with him."

All the speakers were agreed that an 8-12 weeks program was not sufficient. Mrs. Haskell noted the Administrative Council's state and federal funds advisory committee has recommended that she submit an application to the OEO for a 30-week program beginning in October for 60 children. The program, to run four days a week through May, would have a total of 120 days — twice the number of Head Start II, which is currently in operation at three centers for 60 children. Originally slated for 8, the number was reduced Mrs. Haskell said, as the program got underway April 11, because 21 failed to qualify under OEO rules for family income limits. At the conclusion of their presentation, the Head Start personnel were congratulated by board member Thomas Bailey, who called their discussion "superb." Atty. Bailey, who several times in recent months has opposed the board's taking on additional federal aid programs, concluded, "I feel we can all totally support this program."

Dr. Walter Schardt, referring to townspeople who sat in on the board's discussion of the controversial desegregation busing proposal but left at its conclusion, noted, "I am sorry they left so hurriedly without hearing this. I can see nothing but good coming from a program like this — and from busing, too."

'Combat' - - Loved But Unnominated

By JOAN OROSEY
NEW YORK (NBA)—As proprietor of the oldest firm dispensing drama on ABC-TV, Vic Morrow is angry, happy, sager and unsure—all at the same time.

He's upset that Combat, a program which consistently maintained a high level of drama, was totally overlooked in nominations for Emmy awards.

"I don't mind that I wasn't nominated as an actor," Morrow said. "I have been nominated in the past. But I was sure the two-part I directed would be nominated. We did everything we could to call attention to the show. All of the regulars chipped in and took out full-page ads."

Jack Hogan, who plays Kirby, is the best supporting actor on television, and he wasn't nominated.

The Combat two-part, which will be repeated the two weeks before the series' fifth season begins, was a stunning piece of drama. It has been ignored by everyone except the viewing public.

"I didn't even hear from the front office about the show. But, oh, the memories while we were making it! The Army had grave doubts about the script when they read it, because it was almost like a rebellion among the troops. They were pleased with the final product, though."

Morrow says he is eagerly awaiting the show's fifth season. "We have a new producer and a new story editor. We are going to be in color, and we have been kicked out of MGM. So now we will film a great deal on location."

Vic is only "unsure" in so far as he expects there may be a few contractual differences between him and the producers. "The last time I was a hold-out," he said, "I was followed by detectives 24 hours a day. I told someone that if we didn't work out our differences, I could go and pitch for the Dodgers."

"After Don Drysdale ended his holdout, he lost his first two games. So this means when I sign, I can give a bad performance in the first two episodes, right? The precedent has been set."

Morrow is a rarity among actors. He is not jealous of his fellow players. On the contrary, he would like to see more stories written around the other characters in the show. He also is upset because Jack Hogan may not be returning as Kirby, the result of another contract dispute.

"Jack's asking for maybe a couple of hundred dollars more and better billing. It seems to me, since we are the oldest firm (established 1952) in the business for ABC, and we are a success, they could give Jack what he wants," Morrow added.

Vic recently returned from a tour of the Orient, where Combat is quite successful.

"In Japan, there was a mob at the airport, and they tore my clothes. I'm not used to that. But in the Philippines, it was very different and very touching. It wasn't for me, but for the show and what we represent as American soldiers. I kept thinking, 'Vic, if you have ever been careful in your life, be careful here and don't mess this up.' I felt a great sense of responsibility to these people."

NEW YORK — The spontaneous wit and irreverent humor characteristic of the distinctively American brand of politics will be depicted in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the White House," Thursday from 8:30-9:30 p.m.

Jack Paar, in his first network television appearance in almost a year, will star in the special, a satirical and musical examination of the U.S. political scene. Tom Lehrer, Elliott Reid, the Plaza 9 Players and the Buster Davis Singers will be featured.

Paar will do a topical monologue on politics, recount anecdotes illustrating the humor of American Presidents and introduce elements of the special.

Lehrer, the piano-playing professor who sings his own compositions, will do two routines, including his impression of California's Sen. George Murphy.

Reid will do a takeoff on a national political convention in which he will portray the various personalities who participate in "this uniquely American sideshow." It will be followed by a film sequence of the 1952 Republican convention when the three-vote Puerto Rican delegation asked to be polled.

With polls playing an increasingly more prominent role in determining future political candidates, the Plaza 9 Players will give their version of a pollster for the Republican Party interviewing a couple about their preferences for the GOP ticket in 1968. Giving the Democrats equally irreverent treatment, the Plaza 9 Players, joined by the entire company, will lead a satirical salute to "The Great Society."

Jack Paar returns to television for a one-hour program Thursday night on the humorous side of politics.

The special also will present candid black and white film sequences of such individualistic leaders as Huey Long, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, President Kennedy and his deft humor at press conferences, Everett Dirksen, Storello LaGuardia, Robert Kennedy and William Buckley.

Humorist Will Rogers will be seen giving his tart appraisals of President Coolidge and the then New York Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt while both were listening to his remarks.

Presidential first ladies will be covered in sequences showing Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt relating a humorous anecdote with her husband the object of the punchline, and Mrs. Bess Truman trying to christen an airplane with an uncooperative champagne bottle.

Adlai Stevenson, whose first remark after losing his first Presidential election was, "A Funny Thing Happened to Me on the Way to the White House," will be shown including his last filmed speech.

A Handy Guide to Rowan and Martin

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rowan smokes cigarettes, Martin chews swizzle sticks.

Martin says he looks "like a small-town bank embezzler hot on his way to Buenos Aires."

Rowan: "I look like a corporation lawyer, hot on his trail."

Despite these dissimilarities, people confuse comedy partners Dan Rowan and Dick Martin "constantly," says Dick.

"He answers to Dan and I to Dick," says Dan Rowan.

There's also a mixup with Martin and Lewis — "My wife answers when she's called Mrs. Lewis."

To add to the confusion, Rowan and Martin are this summer's replacement on NBC television starting June 18 for the other Martin — Dean. There may be further puzzlement in California and Nevada, where Rowan and Martin will be appearing simultaneously in night clubs. Their television shows are pretaped.

This, then, is a handy guide to Rowan and Martin — or, which is who.

Green-eyed Dan Rowan, handsome and substantial-looking, says that in their act "I'm the authority, settled, steady, sober, reasonable, square, indignant at the life he leads."

Dick, who has a Peck's bad boy look and Napoleonic brown hair: "I play the vague, inept lecher, chasing girls, wanting to be White! all through life." Dick was on his fourth wooden swizzle stick, chewing the pointed fruit-stabbers to bits or jointed arcs.

Each partner is 42, a Los Angeles resident and an ex-writer, Dan for Paramount, etc., Dick for "Lux Radio theater," etc. Rowan and his wife have three children; Martin is single.

They teamed as performers nine days after a mutual friend introduced them 18 years ago and have been busy in night clubs and television ever since.

In Washington, after the correspondents' dinner, President Johnson invited them "over to the house for a drink." Cried Dan; "Imagine! The White House! But we had to catch a plane out of town." The President said he'd enjoyed their act.

They find Midwest audiences generally least responsive, "yet St. Louis is good," said Dick. Texans whoop and holler and the supposedly staid British "make you feel like a champion," Dan reported.

Do they associate between appearances? "We play golf now and then," said Dick.

I think it was Dick. Maybe it was Dan.

COMING SHOWS

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating auto safety, will appear on CBS' "Crash Project—The Search for Auto Safety" Friday 10-11 p.m. . . . "UFO: Friend, Foe or Fantasy," a study of unidentified flying objects, will be broadcast on CBS Tuesday 10-11 p.m. . . . Shakespeare's "The Winter's Tale" will be presented in a BBC production on Channel 24 Friday at 8:30. Robert Shaw will star.

Reruns Are Returning As TV's Siesta Starts

NEW YORK (AP) — Television gave viewers with access to three network channels Thursday night a choice among 14 programs. Ten of them were reruns.

Friday there were 16 shows — and 14 were reruns.

The networks are starting their summer siestas—and the viewers who elect to keep their sets turned on are likely to be bored stiff.

For the past couple of seasons, the early evening schedules of all three networks have been filled with programs classified as family shows. That means programs primarily made for children but with just enough extra in them so that parents will stick around, if only for a later program.

Thus, shows like "Batman," "Daniel Boone," "Gidget," and "Gilligan's Island"—all showing repeats Thursday night—may have millions of children and patient adults looking in the first time.

But it is a rare adult who can enjoy Gidget's girlish adventures a second time around without stirring restlessly.

The television system almost requires the viewer to sample network wares when the new shows come on in September and, by the end of October, fatten his choices into viewing habits.

Reruns are not all bad. If you have been watching "CBS Reports" on Tuesday nights, warm weather is a good time to catch up with "The Fugitive," on at the same time. If you have seen all the "I Spy" programs, a few Wednesday nights with Danny Kaye will prove enjoyable.

But all that is in the late evening, reserved for the more adult shows. But even there, older viewers often complain that programs between 10 and 11 are too late for working peo-

Ex-Town Boy In Commercial

The twelve-year-old nephew of two local residents is appearing on the commercials of NBC's "Flipper" show on Saturday evenings.

He is Frank E. Johnson Jr., who was born in Manchester and moved to Hollywood, Fla. with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Johnson, about eight years ago.

The young Frank is a nephew of Florence Johnson and Walter Johnson of 164 Park St.

The youth is doing commercials for a sneakers firm that sponsors the show. The commercials are sometimes seen on WIBC's "Wagner Andy Show."

Miss Johnson says the commercial appearance is Frank's first venture into television. She added that she has been watching "Flipper" regularly since she learned her nephew appears during the show.

Frank Sinatra in "Sinatra: A Man and His Music" repeated Sunday night on NBC.

Ingrid Bergman in "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness" Sunday at 9 p.m. on ABC.

A Critic's Choice Of the Best Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — Panels of judges are now busily viewing programs and performances that are candidates for television Emmy Awards, to be passed out 10 days from now on the annual television program.

Few viewers, including the judges selected by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, see as much television as any TV columnist.

If this columnist were to cast ballots in the 38 categories for excellence in the May 1966 to May 1967 output, the following would be among my choices:

Outstanding comedy series — "The Dick Van Dyke Show" — again.

Outstanding variety series — "The Andy Williams Show" — again.

Outstanding variety special — "The Julie Andrews Show."

Outstanding dramatic series — A toss-up between "I Spy" and "The Fugitive," with the latter probably winning my vote because it has been able to sustain interest over four seasons.

Outstanding single dramatic program — An unenthusiastic vote for "Inherit the Wind," an adaptation of a Broadway play, in a season when dramatic programs were the rarest type of television entertainment.

Outstanding musical program — A tie between "Frank Sinatra: A Man and His Music" and "Color Me Barbra."

Outstanding children's program — "Captain Kangaroo," for consistently over the years maintaining high standards and interesting its audience.

Outstanding single performance by an actor — Cliff Robertson in "The Game," on the Bob Hope Theater.

Outstanding single performance by an actress — Simone Signoret in "A Small Rebellion."

Outstanding performance by an actress in a comedy series — Lucille ball, as usual.

Outstanding performance by an actor in a comedy series — Dick Van Dyke, also as usual.

I would skip the categories for outstanding continuing performances by actors and actresses since television is full of thoroughly professional, well-trained performers whose weekly work often disguises the well-worn character of their material.

In the news and documentary areas, I would give awards to all three networks for their excellent coverage of Pope Paul VI's visit to the United States, Los Angeles' station KTLA's coverage of the Watts riots and David Lowe's "KKK—The Invisible Empire" on "CBS Reports."

The 12-month period adds up to one that was full of workmanlike, well-produced programs but one which, generally, had a production-line quality about it.

I suspect, however, that if any dedicated viewer were to compare the cream of this season's crop with the product of, for instance, 10 years ago, he would find that television is better now than we think.

NBC will have a series of "Sportsman's Holiday" shows, starting June 19, in its Sunday afternoon spot during the warm weather months while "College Bowl" takes a holiday. It will be color film about hunting and fishing.

Crews Strike North Haven P&WA Plant

NORTH HAVEN (AP)—Police arrested six persons as employees of the local plant of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft went on strike today.

Picket lines were set up at the plant after midnight. A crowd of about 1,000 congregated outside the company gates today.

A company spokesman said production at the plant was at a standstill, leaving 7,500 idle. He said the strike was in violation of the contract, which expired at midnight but which was continued on a day-to-day basis pending the outcome of negotiations.

Members of Local 1234 of the United Auto Workers Union, AFL-CIO, ignored the contract extension agreement and set up picket lines as soon as the three-year pact ran out at midnight.

Six persons were arrested and charged with breach of peace as the striking employees blocked the entrance to the plant. At least two automobiles were reported damaged.

A company spokesman said it was the union's job to get the workers back to the job.

He said negotiations would probably not be resumed until they did.

A negotiating session was held at a Hartford hotel yesterday and had been scheduled to resume today.

Ship Strike In Britain Drops Pound

LONDON (AP)—British merchant seamen struck today and within hours the pound sterling weakened on the foreign exchange market.

Union officials, who defied a plea from Prime Minister Harold Wilson to give his government "breathing space" to meet their demands for higher pay, said the strike was "100 per cent effective."

Wilson makes a special address to the nation tonight in an attempt to head off possible panic buying and hoarding of food.

But British housewives showed no immediate signs of alarm over the prospect of food shortages and rising prices that could strangle the economy of the island nation.

"The trend is against sterling," said a spokesman at the foreign exchange market.

The pound slipped to $2.70185 but later moved up and steadied at $2.70165. The Bank of England was believed to have intervened to support the pound. Friday's closing price was $2.70245.

The strike brought an unsettling effect in the London stock market, too, with shipping shares dropping.

Most of Britain's merchant fleet was still at sea and would not be affected until the ships reached port under orders from leaders of the 65,000-member National Union of Seamen.

Mansfield Wants U.S. To Cut Europe Troops

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield proposed today that the United States withdraw all but a token force of U.S. troops from Europe as part of the realignment of North Atlantic Treaty Organization defenses.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview he hopes the Johnson administration will recognize the change in status in Europe and seek some compromise with President Charles de Gaulle in France's scheduled exit July 1 from NATO.

Out of such negotiations, the Montana senator said, could come a sizable reduction in the six American divisions and supporting forces now in Europe.

"In view of the economic rehabilitation of Western Europe and the reduced threat of Russian aggression, I believe it is time for us to insist that the European nations themselves take on the primary military and financial responsibilities for their defense," he said.

In another development, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he expects the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to hold public hearings soon on U.S. policies in Europe.

Church, who recently completed a two-week tour of Europe, said Sunday on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press," these policies need updating. He also suggested that a meeting between President Johnson and De Gaulle would be "very useful."

Pinney Sees Unity In Lupton Cutback

HARTFORD (AP)—The abrupt withdrawal from the field by the militantly conservative Connecticut Republican Citizens Committee has given both opportunity and challenge to the state's "regular" Republican leadership.

Republican State Chairman A. Searle Pinney reacted to the announcement Saturday that the CRCO was drastically reducing the scope of its operations by predicting a strengthened party would result.

"It eliminates what has had been a source of friction in the party," Pinney said. "This should make possible a completely unified effort this year."

The statement released by the Citizens' two top leaders, Executive Director John Lupton of Weston and chairman Gordon W. Reed of Greenwich, said the organization would support the entire Republican ticket this year and would no longer be a financial competitor of the regular Republican Party.

This was a morale booster for Pinney, who bears the principal responsibility for guiding the party in this state election year.

For more than three years, since the Citizens was established in early 1963, the party chairman had been forced to allocate a substantial portion of his time and energy to battling the conservative faction.

When the group announced Saturday it was converting to a "strictly volunteer organization" in the interests of party harmony, Pinney apparently was as surprised as anyone else.

State News Strikers Vote Against Offer By Cyanamid

WALLINGFORD (AP)—Striking employees of the American Cyanamid Co. rejected today a two-year contract offer by the company.

The company's offer was turned down by a vote of 474-1 at a membership meeting of local 438 of the International Chemical Workers Union. The union represents about 740 of the 1,000 employees at the plant, which was struck April 2.

The vote was taken in response to a company demand that the workers be allowed to vote on its offer.

Company officials said that they would not resume negotiations unless such a vote was taken.

The contract offer provided for a 19-cent hourly wage increase over the two-year period, and an additional week's vacation for all employees with more than five years service.

The union is opposed to a two-year contract. It said today's vote was a "vote of confidence for a one-year contract."

Present wages at the plant range from $2.35 to $3.15 an hour.

Pacifist Sentenced
HARTFORD (AP)—Clutching his Bible and steadfastly refusing to consult a lawyer, a youth was sentenced to three years in prison today for evading the draft.

In sentencing Lloyd R. Miller, 20, of Meriden, U.S. District Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal noted if he conducts himself properly in prison he may be freed after serving one-third of the sentence.

The youth was accompanied by his father, Lloyd J. Miller, both carried bibles.

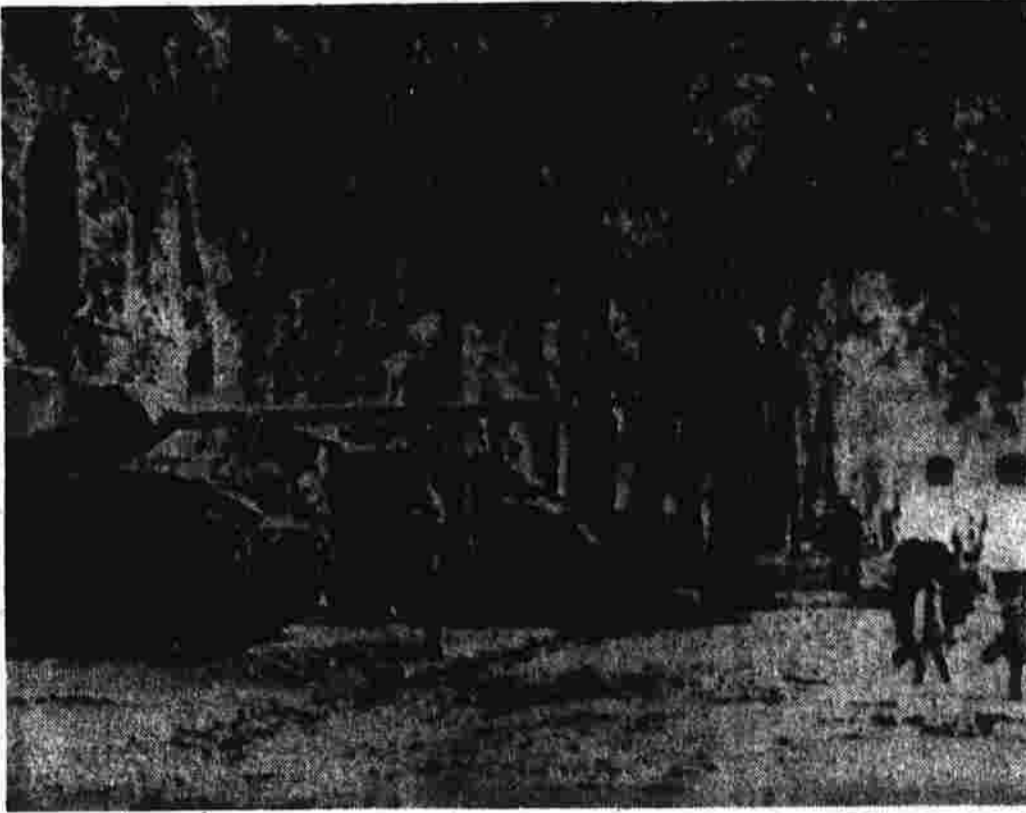

The Millers are not affiliated with any organized religion. They had stated at previous appearances in court, however, that they believe in "the commandments of Heaven" as contained in the Bible.

Boat Safety Stressed
HARTFORD (AP)—The chairman of the Connecticut Boating Safety Commission says "any boat capable of transporting you to deep water should have life preservers."

Bernard W. Chalecki says statistics indicate that in half the drownings involving boats in Connecticut, the victims had no life preservers.

Chalecki noted in an interview that 20 states require a life preserver for every occupant of every boat, but Connecticut is not one of them.

He said the Boating Safety Commission has introduced bills in the legislature which would

Flies Are Late But Plentiful

It's indicative of the kind of confusing spring the state is having this year that the March flies are out in May. Swarms of them.

Nealy Turner, chief entomologist at the state's Agricultural Experiment Station in New Haven, said the flies are more numerous this year than he has ever seen them before—as if they were making up for their tardiness by sending more of their numbers. Turner said he had no explanation for the large swarms this year.

Shore towns, he said, have

Fight Looms In Congress On Finance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration opens today what could be one of the grimmest fights of the Congress — to enact a $4.2-billion financing program that could make the difference between a nearly balanced budget next year and one $6 billion in the red.

The bill comes before the House today with a vote expected Tuesday. It would facilitate the sale of participation shares in pools of loans held by the government. Thus the government could convert such assets into cash for use by its agencies, avoiding the need for appropriations.

The measure has encountered wide opposition. Republicans have called it a budget gimmick to conceal the amount of government spending. Other opponents — including the Farmers Union and the Americans for Democratic Action — say it would cost the taxpayers more in interest than straight Treasury borrowing.

As soon as the financing measure is disposed of, the House is scheduled to start debating another highly controversial piece of legislation to increase minimum wages.

The measure would increase the minimum wage from the present $1.25 an hour to $1.40 next Feb. 1 and $1.60 an hour a year later.

The measure also would extend coverage of the act to 7.2 million additional workers. A major fight is expected on proposed inclusion of farm workers.

The bill's sponsors say they have enough votes for House passage. The Johnson administration has called for improvements in the minimum wage, without spelling out details.

The Senate, with a relatively quiet week in view, is expected to take up a $5-billion National Aeronautics and Space Administration authorization bill.

The Foreign Relations Committee may begin voting on details of a $1.4-billion foreign aid bill which has provided a platform for debate on foreign policy in general. It also is scheduled to consider further proposals for tighter congressional supervision of the Central Intelligence Agency and other intelligence agencies.

LBJ Calls Aides For Viet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson called top military and diplomatic advisers to an afternoon session today to go over the Vietnamese crisis developing over Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's crackdown on Buddhist dissidents.

Ky's action took Washington by surprise. The State Department said there was no advance notification to the United States. The administration ordered American officials to use all possible efforts to bring together the rival South Vietnamese factions.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson would be seeing his ambassador to Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara during the afternoon.

Moyers said he was "sure they will go into the Vietnamese situation."

Actually, Moyers said, the session has been on the books since last Thursday, one of a series involving these key men.

He said that at this point the White House had nothing to say about current internal and political developments in Viet Nam.

Asked what the posture of the United States government is in the light of what is happening in Viet Nam now, Moyers told reporters, "I wouldn't want to characterize it."

Johnson met Sunday afternoon with the same officials on the schedule for today. Moyers said the Sunday session grew out of Johnson's having McNamara in for lunch and the resulting decision to get the latest reports. The President is keeping informed by cable, Moyers said.

Moyers said he was not informed that Johnson has received any message from a top Buddhist leader in Viet Nam.

Asked whether a trip to Viet Nam by Republican Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania was at the President's request, Moyers said he thought it grew out of a presidential meeting with governors several weeks ago at which Johnson voiced a hope the state executives would keep as informed as possible on Viet Nam.

Ky's sudden move against 1st Corps dissidents at Da Nang prompted a near-crisis atmosphere in Washington Sunday as worried administration officials met early in the morning and again a few hours later.

President Johnson called in three of his top advisers, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. Mc-

Space Pair Bone Up, Sky Clear for Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Healthy and eager on the eve of a bold space adventure, Gemini 9's two astronauts boned up on intricate details of their complex assignment today as preparations for Tuesday's launch continued.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan have "the toughest job ever handed an astronaut crew," one official said.

A minor weather threat dissipated today and meteorologists forecast satisfactory conditions at Cape Kennedy and in recovery areas around the world for Tuesday.

Stafford and Cernan are to blast off at 12:39 p.m. EDT, an hour and 36 minutes after the scheduled liftoff of their Agena target rocket.

There had been some concern about a weak "east wave" that had been creeping toward an area 775 miles southeast of Bermuda where the recovery aircraft carrier Wasp will be stationed in the event of an abort.

The space agency said today the storm offered no threat. Stafford and Cernan planned to discuss their flight plan for the final time with project officials. Sunday, they got their final day of rest before their voyage.

In three action-packed days, the Gemini 9 crew plans to catch and latch on to an Agena rocket in the quickest rendezvous ever in space, conduct man's longest orbital walk, and try tricky rendezvous exercises vital to efforts to send men to the moon.

To fly the 70-hour, 40-minute spectacular, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration drew on two well-trained six-footers.

Stafford, 35, a balding, slow-talking native of Oklahoma, is fresh from the pilot's seat of Gemini 6, the hunter craft that rendezvoused with Gemini 7 last December.

Cernan, 32, a Chicago native with rugged features and sandy crew-cut hair, has never taken a space flight. However, he has been handed the world's longest space walk — 2½ hours — during which he'll become a human satellite.

Cernan's promenade around the world, due Wednesday morning, is designed to test how well man reacts to long exposure to weightlessness while dangling from a spacecraft.

A highlight will be his use of a 165-pound back pack, sporty even in science fiction circles, equipped with 12 tiny rockets to propel him where he wants to go. His life will depend on the pack for about an hour as it feeds him oxygen.

Cernan plans to slip up to 140

Gulf Widens, Strife Hurts War Effort

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Buddhist leadership demanded tonight that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime pull its troops out of Da Nang where they have taken control of the city's key centers in an attempt to bring dissident northern provinces back under Saigon's authority.

But the gulf between the North and Saigon appeared to deepen. The new crisis into the war effort against the Communists and threatened plans for civilian elections in the fall.

Buddhists in Saigon announced that "all monks" are ready to die for their cause. Their spokesman, Thien Minh, charged in an emotional speech that "there is a plot to assassinate all Buddhists."

"All monks will sacrifice themselves to strike against the government," he added.

In Da Nang, where an uneasy calm prevailed throughout the day, Buddhist supporters piled firewood in apparent preparation for threatened immolation by monks.

Minh demanded the government withdraw its troops from the North and "find an immediate solution" to restore civilian rule.

In 1963, Buddhists monks set fire to themselves on Saigon's streets to show their dislike of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Diem was ousted in November of that year under strong Buddhist pressure.

Minh said there were eight killed, 22 wounded and 12 arrested in Sunday's Da Nang fighting. There was no official confirmation. Other reports said five were killed.

Minh announced that Buddhists began a protest hunger strike in the Pho Quang pagoda in Da Nang.

In the Buddhist center of Hue, northwest of Da Nang, troops and artillery were reported moved up to oppose any attempt by Ky to move in loyal troops, as he did Sunday against Da Nang insurgents.

In Saigon, Viet Cong terrorists capitalized on the new civil strife by attacking four police points in the capital's suburbs, apparently in a drive to spread the disorders. The capital itself was hit by the first phases of a strike that hit mostly at public transportation and port facilities. It threatened the city's electric power and water supplies.

Ky fired his military commander in the northern provinces, Gen. Ton That Dinh, because he protested the government decision to send troops secretly to Da Nang. Dinh in a broadcast from Hue claimed he had the support of two South Vietnamese army divisions in the area.

Ky's forces were reported in control of Da Nang's City Hall, radio station, market place and other strategic areas. But rebels held out in scattered areas, including the Buddhist pagoda.

As the military junta pressed ahead with efforts to reassert its authority in the north, the United States was reported to have warned the ruling generals that further turmoil and strife could only help the Communists.

ROBUSTELLI GETS POST

NEW YORK (AP)—Andy Robustelli, former defensive end for the Los Angeles Rams and New York Giants of the National Football League, Monday was named coach of the new Brooklyn Dodger team in the Continental League. The announcement was made at a news conference by Jackie Robinson, the team's general manager. Robustelli was with the Giants from 1951 through 1955 and from 1957 through 1964. Last year he served as a television broadcaster for the American Football League games. Robustelli played in eight title games in the NFL.
