Third Term Romney Goal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan announced as expected today for a third term —one that could propel him to Republican presidential nomination in 1968.

This came only hours after sources close to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the New York Republican leader had made a firm commitment to back Romney for the GOP nomination which twice escaped Rockefeller.

The term would be four years under a new state constitution which Romney helped write. Romney's first two terms, which broke 14 years of statehouse rule by Democrats, were for two years each.

Romney has no announced Republican opposition and the filing deadline is less than three weeks away. Zolton Ferency, Democratic state chairman, is expected to be his November general election opposition.

While a Romney boost came from New York, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., whom Romney appointed earlier this month, got one at home. Griffin's lone remaining GOP opponent, Deane Baker, a Grand Rapids businessman, withdrew.

Political intimates said Rockefeller's private understanding with Romney went far beyond the limited indication of support he gave in a speech at Garden City, N.Y., Monday night.

Rockefeller has turned over to the Romney camp his confidential files and lists of political and financial backers from the 1964 presidential effort. He also promised to use his own personal contacts in Romney's behalf, an Albany associate said.

"We would never have given him this kind of material unless we had a clear, deep commitment," a close political advisor to Rockefeller said.

He said Rockefeller was unable to issue an outright endorsement of Romney because of problems involving the status of U.S. Sen. Jacbob K. Javits.

Javits hopes to run for vice president on a ticket headed by Romney and has asked to be accord "favorite-son" presidential status by the New York

Shot in Head, Bolton Youth Is Critical

Richard Hammond, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hammond of Lyman Rd., Bolton, shot himself in the forehead with a 22-caliber rifle in his bedroom about 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

He was taken by ambulance to Manchester Memorial Hospital and immediately on to St. Francis Hospital. The hospital said today that he is in the intensive care unit with a critical head wound.

Police have been unable to talk to the boy and cannot say whether the shooting was accidental.

The boy, a freshman at Bolton Junior-Senior High School, is an avid hunter and holds a National Rifle Association Safe Shooter badge.

Mrs. Hammond was in the house at the time of the shooting and discovered her son lying on the floor of his bedroom.

The investigation is being conducted by Resident Trooper Robert Peterson and Sgt. Michael Griffin of Troop K, Colchester.

FBI Tells High Court Agents Eavesdropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has sent an unprecedented memorandum to the Supreme Court admitting that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents secretly eavesdropped on conversations between a lawyer and his client — a former associate of Bobby Baker.

The client, Washington public relations man Fred B. Black Jr., later was convicted of income tax evasion. But in the memorandum, Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall said Black should be given a court hearing.

Marshall's memorandum to the high court, sent Tuesday, indicated that the FBI apparently acted on its own when it "installed a listening device" in Black's hotel suite in Washington three years ago.

The memorandum said that neither the Justice Department attorneys who prosecuted Black nor "any other attorney of the Department of Justice" — including Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach — knew about the electronic snooping.

Black now is fighting his 1964 tax conviction and has asked the Supreme Court for the second time to review his conviction. The court denied Black's first request for review May 2.

He and Baker, former Senate Democratic secretary who has been indicted on a number of federal charges, were associated in a Washington vending machine business.

In his memorandum, Mar-

Explorer 32 Off in Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Explorer 32, America's newest orbiting chemical laboratory, lifted into orbit today to begin mapping uncharted regions of earth's upper atmosphere.

The 402-pound atmospheric explorer blasted off at 10 a.m. on the tip of a Delta rocket. Its launch is the first of the busiest seven-day launch schedules in Cape Kennedy history.

"We appear to have a normal flight," a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said.

The $1.8-million satellite, three feet in diameter, was built to beam back data on the concentration and distribution of charged hydrogen, helium, nitrogen and oxygen atoms.

This information is useful in learning how to communicate through outer space.

Explorer also is designed to study short-term disturbances in the upper atmosphere caused by solar storms, which send charged particles streaking from the sun and interrupt radio earth's ionosphere as a mirror to reflect signals.

It was first scheduled to blast off May 11, but has been postponed three times by mechanical difficulties and once because of a conflict with another satellite launch.

The space agency today also plans to roll the first version of a 36-story Saturn 5 moon rocket to the launch pad. The event occurs on the fifth anniversary of the day the late President John F. Kennedy set the goal to

Coast Guard Fails to Find Rowboat Puffin

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—A Coast Guard search has failed to find any trace of the rowboat Puffin and its two-man crew.

John Hoare, 26, and David Johnstone, 34, left Virginia Beach Saturday in the 16-foot craft to row the 3,000 miles to England. They hoped to make the trip in 80 days.

On Monday, however, they were spotted 30 miles off the Virginia Coast, about 100 miles behind schedule, and Tuesday, a Navy pilot reported he saw Puffin about 12 miles east of Virginia Beach, near the Coast Guard Chesapeake light station.

The Coast Guard search was called off and a spokesman said it was assumed that Hoare and Johnston had headed back to shore and might already have landed.

Station WVEC-TV of Hampton reported it had been in contact with a fishing vessel which said the rowers turned back to sea after receiving from the vessel what they considered a favorable weather report.

Johnson's Backer Wins in Oregon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert B. Duncan, strong backer of Johnson administration Viet Nam war policies, won Oregon's Democratic senatorial nomination going away in a primary contest where the war was the sole major issue.

But the lopsided count for Duncan over peace candidate Howard Morgan failed to muffle opposition talk of voters uneasiness about the Asia war.

In the general election, Duncan faces Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, also a critic of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, who likewise won Senate nomination by a wide margin.

And Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat and probably the most vocal opponent of that policy, saw the outcome as a portent of victory for his views.

In a statement, based on 6 o'clock figures, Morse said the incomplete count of the combined vote of Republicans and Democrats "indicates strongly that the Johnson administration will be repudiated on the Viet Nam war issued by a substantial majority of the voters of my state."

Morse, who has said that if Duncan won he would vote for Hatfield, added:

"Although Duncan is winning the Democratic primary, the combined vote for Gov. Hatfield and Howard Morgan predicts the election of Hatfield to the Senate in November.

"I am satisfied that by November the American people in state after state will stop President Johnson's ballots in Viet Nam with ballots in the United States. A continued escalation by the United States of the immoral and illegal war in Viet Nam is a sin against humanity."

There was no immediate comment from the White House.

Voters rendered their judgments in primary elections in Florida, Oklahoma and Kentucky, too. The most startling decision in the balloting was Miami Mayor Robert King High's rematch triumph over Florida Gov. Haydon Burns.

High's upset climaxed a bitter runoff campaign which produced Burns charges that the short, red-haired mayor was the candidate of a Negro bloc, and a protege of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

High said he was campaigning for integrity in government, and accused Burns—who overwhelmed him two years ago

Girl Hansom Drivers Receive No 'Neighs'

NEW YORK (AP) — Susanna Davy and Toni Rhoades are two of the unlikeliest members of the Central Park carriage trade that a nag could imagine. They talk to horses.

The attractive young ladies are working as drivers of the lanoin-like hacks that transport sightseers around the park.

While the reins on these rigs are traditionally handled by men, there have been no complaints thus far about the feminine invasion — either from the horses or the men.

Miss Rhoades, 19, a Barnard College freshman, has been driving a four-wheeled Victoria for a little over a week.

She got the job because she has the habit of talking to horses. The last time she stopped to chat the horse's owner happened to be Fred Birkner, her present employer.

"I told Mr. Birkner I love horses and that I used to ride roadster horses in Virginia," she said. She intends to work through the summer after going home to Charlottesville for a visit at the end of the term.

Pink-cheeked Susanna Davy is the veteran of the two, having driven for Birkner about seven months. The 20-year-old English girl grew up on a farm in the north of England and has been driving "all my life."

"I've been with animals and

Terryville Boy Safe; Police Kill Kidnaper

Lad Freed, Case Ended In 3 Hours

BRISTOL (AP)—A man grabbed a school-bound boy from a bus stop today after other children had eluded him, held the child for about three hours and then was killed by a posse of officers.

While encircled in a wooded area, the man wounded a policeman.

He was finally shot several times after surrendering the boy in a swap for a quart of water.

The youngster, Michael Albee, 7, apparently suffered no ill effects from his ordeal.

His father, Donald Albee, said the brown-haired first-grader was not crying when set free.

Police said the abductor, Albert Bunn, 33, a water company employe, was apparently deranged.

Michael's mother said her son was snatched up by Bunn as he waited with other children for the school bus, seven doors from the Albee home.

"He tried to pick up two girls first," she said, "but they saw him and ran. But then he went for Michael, who had his back to him."

The father said Michael quoted Bunn as saying "Let's go for a ride. It won't be a long one."

Bunn drove to a country road on the outskirts of this industrial city and stopped first at a home before leading Michael into the woods, his father said.

State police and officers from several town and city departments arrived soon after. They knew Bunn was the man they were after, they said, because his auto license number had been taken.

Policeman Joseph Nocera of Bristol was hit in the midsection by a blast from Bunn's shotgun.

Saigon Buddhist Leaders Bow to Mayor's Decision

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Hundreds of antigovernment demonstrators scattered before riot police and paratroopers in Saigon today after the mayor banned a threatened Buddhist protest "march of peace." The Buddhist leadership bowed to the ban.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's crackdown on his opponents also paid dividends elsewhere. The commander of the rebellious 1st Army Division in Hue said his affirmation Tuesday of loyalty to Ky also included the thousands of troops under him.

Brig. Gen. Ftan Xuan Nhuan told Associated Press correspondent Bob Gassaway in Hue that his men had returned to their posts and were no longer helping armed youths of the Buddhist struggle movement man roadblocks in the northern city.

The U.S. vice consul in Hue, James R. Bullington of Chattanooga, Tenn., said Nhuan was considering "appropriate action" on the barricades which were erected last week to stop any troops that Ky might send into the city.

Deputy Premier Lt Gen. Nguyen Huu Co reported in Da Nang that two top military leaders in the revolt there had surrendered to the government and were flown to Saigon for interrogation. He identified them as Lt. Col. Dam Quang Yue and Maj. Ton That Trang, both commanders of rebel troops in the Tinh Hoi pagoda, which fell Monday.

Several persons were injured and a number of Buddhist monks and nuns were arrested in Saigon as police moved on the demonstrators with tear gas in one of the heaviest downpours of the year.

The paratroops set up positions on streets to the market. Many units were armed with machine guns.

Ky's opponents demonstrated peacefully in three other cities, including the northern Buddhist stronghold of Hue, while government supporters rallied in another.

Although the political crisis kept many government troops out of the field, a government spokesman said Vietnamese soldiers killed 86 Viet Cong in five ground actions Thursday, including a heavy Communist attack on the central coast base

U.S. Senator Speaks To Lone Graduate

VALLEY, Wyo. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., spoke before 76 persons in a one-room school Tuesday night — but his address was directed to one student, Janice Pingua, the lone graduate of the elementary school.

The 65-year-old senator told his audience that it is up to Americans such as 14-year-old Janice to "rekindle the fires of national pride and integrity which have made America, one of the youngest, and absolutely the greatest nation that history has recorded."

Simpson's speech came at the end of a 2,500-mile airplane trip and 50-mile drive over a dirt road that winds down the Shoshone River valley in northwestern Wyoming. Simpson's Robcat ranch is 15 miles from the ranch owned by Janice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Pingua.

The audience that crowded into the school gave Simpson, no stranger, an ovation at the start of his 20-minute speech, and interrupted him frequently with applause.

Simpson has announced he will not seek re-election.

Janice, her brown eyes sparkling with excitement, sat near her teacher, Ethel Skibby, who lives at the school. Janice's parents eat nearby.

Simpson said there was a changing spirit in America.

"The marvelous courage and patriotism evidenced in such expressions as 'I have not yet begun to fight' have given way to 'I will not begin to fight,'" he said, adding: "Thank God this is still a minority in America."

Janice spent most of the day with the senator, who called her a "real ranch gal." He told his audience "if you don't believe me, you ought to see her ride like an Indian."

FBI RAID GETS 16

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents arrested 16 men and sought four more today in a nationwide crackdown on interstate telephone transmission of gambling information, Director J. Edgar Hoover said the men, seized in nine states from coast to coast, used an electronic device known as a "blue box" to avoid billing for long-distance telephone calls. They thus avoided one of the check points of law enforcement officers checking on gambling — extensive long-distance telephone bills.

CELLER DISAGREES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., wound up House hearings on the administration's civil rights bill today and disagreed with the contention of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., that it has no chance of passage this year. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said Tuesday the bill may well be "on the hook until next year" because of opposition to its open housing provision.

State Policy Is Implored Against Segregated Schools

HARTFORD (AP)—The executive committee of the Connecticut Council on Human Rights urged the state today, in the wake of a pioneer conference on civil rights and public education, to "promulgate a clear statement of policy indicating the educational undesirability of racially imbalanced schools."

"A consultant on school desegregation should be added to the staff of the State Department of Education," the committee said, "to work directly with towns and cities . . .

"As a final minimum step, the State Department of Education should between now and the convening of the 1967 General Assembly consult with the State Commission on Civil Rights, locals boards of education, and public officials and citizens' organizations to ascertain the need for state legislation on school desegregation," the committee said.

The committee hailed Tuesday's conference as "a positive step" and said it was encouraged to note that State Education Commissioner William Sanders "has apparently started to see integrated education as essential to quality education."

"However, much remains to be done by the commissioner and the State Board of Education," the committee said, "to provide effective leadership, clear-cut policies and guidelines for eliminating every trace of de facto segregation in Connecticut public schools."

Sanders was criticized during the civil rights conference by June Shagaloff, education director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Speaking during a workshop session in the afternoon, Miss Shagaloff quoted Sanders as saying in a statement that it was just as important to concentrate on quality education as to "concentrate on solutions of racial imbalance."

The two can not be separated, she said, adding: "One approach over the other is what, in the South, is called 'separate but equal' facilities . . ."

Sanders said in his closing address at the conference that some "artificial mixing" of pupils was "desirable where possible — to break down interracial fears and misunderstandings."

Sanders said "there is every reason to be hopeful that adequately supported artificial mixing — once it has been tried — will grow rapidly."

Among the other speakers at the conference in Hamden were civil rights leader Bayard Rustin and David S. Seeley, assistant commissioner for equal educational opportunities in the U.S. Office of Education.

Rustin, who organized the March on Washington in 1964, said the United States is "in the process of a revolution which it refuses to recognize."

The neighborhood school, he said, "is done, finished. If it is not done, it should be buried alive."

Rustin advocated the establishment of "educational parks" to replace neighborhood schools.

Seeley stressed the need for abolishing segregation, especially in the public schools.

Some, he said, have "underestimated the difficulty of school desegregation."

"We are deluding ourselves," Seeley said, "if we believe that we have made any more than the barest beginning in solving the racial problems in our schools, whether they be Southern or Northern."

Stamps In the News

By SYD KRONISH

HOW TIMES have changed. Twenty-five years ago the Nazis in Germany were persecuting the Jews. Today a new stamp issued by West Germany honors the Jewish Community Center Building in West Berlin. The stamp is part of the "New Berlin" series of six stamps depicting local buildings. The Community Center stamp is 30 pfennig. Also issued in this set is 60 pfennig showing the new Europa Center. The next three in the series will feature the University of Technology, Radio Tower and Planetarium with the Wilhelm-Forester Observatory.

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced plans for the issuance of three additional U. S. commemorative postage stamps during this year.

The stamps will salute the 75th anniversary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the 20th anniversary of the U. S. Savings Bond program, and the Great River Road (a highway system linking Canada with the Gulf of Mexico on either side of the Mississippi River).

All will be 5-cent stamps. Designs and dates will be reported in this column as soon as they are received. These three new stamps will bring to 16 the number of commemoratives for 1966.

Another report from the postmaster general's office reveals the design of the new international airmail post card. The 11-cent card will be issued May 27 with first - day ceremonies in Washington in conjunction with the Sixth International Philatelic Exhibition.

This will be the first international airmail post card ever issued by the U.S. It is also the first to be printed in duotone, a lithographic process by which inks are blended for rich tones.

The stamp itself is based on the symbol of the Commerce Department's U.S. Travel Service. To the left of an American Flag is a white panel in which appears in blue a map of the country. Across the bottom in blue is "Visit the U.S.A."

Four photographs on the left of the card itself are indicative of the widely varying attractions awaiting the tourist from abroad — the New York skyline, the shorelins of Miami Beach, a view of Mt. Rainier and an Indian on horseback.

Collectors desiring first - day cancellations may submit orders to the Postmaster, Washington, D.C 20013, including name and address, with zip number and remittance to cover the cost of the card — 11 cents each. The envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First-Day Covers 11-cent International Airmail Post Card." Orders must be postmarked no later than May 27.

Canada has issued a new 5-cent stamp honoring the 300th anniversary of LaSalle's arrival in the New World. The stamp bears a vignette profile of LaSalle superimposed on a ship and symbols of his career as an explorer and colonist.

COURTESY ORDERED

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Acting Police Commissioner George M. Gelston has told his men to be courteous and avoid racial or ethnic references in addressing the public, or turn in their badges.

Gelston passed the word in a general order Tuesday saying "the dignity and professional status" of the police department is at stake.

"All citizens will be addressed by the appropriate title of Mr., Mrs. or Miss, and . . .no epithets will be used," he said.

"Any member of the department who feels he cannot abide by the above should submit his resignation," Gelston added.

BRIDGE PLAYERS BUY ON THE DOG

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In a certain kind of hand bridge players remind me of a dog that tries to open a door by jumping at it. This merely serves to close the door instead of opening it.

Opening lead—King of Hearts.

West opened the king of hearts, and East had to win with the ace. East promptly returned the king of diamonds. Mind you, East didn't bark or yelp, but his play was very canine.

South refused the first diamond trick but took the next. Declarer drew three rounds of trumps and led the nine of clubs for a finesse. East could take the king of clubs, but that was the end of the defenses.

South was sure to regain the lead no matter what East returned. Declarer then got rid of his hearts on dummy's good clubs.

Needs Entry

East should see that he can take a heart, a diamond and a club and he has to keep West out. Then South draws trumps and tries the club finesse.

East takes the king of clubs and leads another low diamond. West thus gains the lead with his ten of diamonds and cashes a heart trick to defeat the contract. "Played like a man!" West then says to his partner.

What if South has the ace-ten of diamonds instead of the ace-three? Then South cannot be beaten, and East's defense gives up 30 points for an overtrick.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one club, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades, 6-3?; Hearts, A; Diamonds, K-Q-J-4-3; Clubs, K-7-4-3.

What do you way?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. The hand is not quite worth a jump to two diamonds. Change the king of diamonds to the ace, and you might make the jump response.

Officers Beaten, Crowd Laughs At Plea for Aid

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — Two police officers confronted a hostile, jeering crowd at the P. T. Barnum housing project Thursday night and wound up with cuts and bruises.

Det. Sgt. Alexander Wicek and Det. Robert Cafferty tried to break up a fight, police said, but wound up in a fight themselves.

Ronald Lee Dunn, 16, fought the officers when they tried to apprehend him, police said, and Wicek and Cafferty had to wrestle Dunn to the ground and sit on him.

They asked the crowd to summon additional policemen, but the crowd, which was estimated at over 100 persons, only laughed at them, police said.

Finally, Patrolmen Lafayette White and Leonard Zargo happened to drive by, saw the commotion, and assisted Wicek and Cafferty.

It was the second night in a row that Bridgeport police had been injured. On Monday night, Patrolmen David Roberts was knocked unconscious with a piece of pipe at Father Panik Village, another housing project.

Nineteen-year-old Jesser Alvarado was charged Tuesday with aggravated assault in connection with the attack on Roberts.

Dunn was held in lieu of $2,000 bond on charges of assault and resisting arrest.

Witness Claims Drug Defendant Never Left Shop

Miller is accused of doing business in Stratford on those days with Joseph (Mike) Caron, confessed courier for an international heroin smuggling ring.

But Mrs. Atecla Giannoni, a good-looking blonde who used to work in Miller's Milford beauty salon, says the defendant was in the shop all day, both days.

"He was in the shop all week," Mrs. Giannoni testified at Miller's conspiracy trial in U.S. District Court Tuesday, "from morning to night."

"Who opened the shop in the morning?" asked Percy Foreman, Miller's lawyer.

"Jimmy did," said Mrs. Giannoni.

"Who closed it at night?"

"Jimmy did."

Caron has testified that he met Miller at a motel in the nearby town of Stratford on those days and delivered a load of heroin to him.

Caron has also testified he made another delivery to Miller Sept. 21, 1963.

Under cross-examination by U.S. Atty. Jon O. Newman, Mrs. Giannoni conceded that she did not have Miller in view all day long, but said, "I don't believe he ever left the shop."

Mrs. Giannoni, who now has her own beauty shop, explained that Miller's wife, Helen, was in the hospital and Miller had to take over her appointments,

Wondering how to cut up that rhubarb for pie? Unless the recipe states otherwise, you'll be safe in slicing the stalks crosswise into ½-inch pieces. Another hint, never peel pink or red rhubarb.

When a salad dressing calls for a couple of tablespoons of Roquefort cheese, you can dispense with measuring and use a 1¼-ounce wedge. These wedges come individually wrapped in foil and may be bought singly.

The fresh, crisp look of WHITE SHOES will turn the fashion tide in your favor. Come to GUSTAFSON'S SHOE STORE, 705 Main Street, for "Airstep" summer shoes so light and flexible, so cool and soft, with the fit and freedom you love.

Company coming? To give that tossed green salad epicurean flavor, cook a package or frozen artichoke hearts according to package directions, then chill. Toss the artichoke hearts along with the greens and French dressing — at serving time, of course.

Some cooks like to add a teaspoon of lemon juice to raspberry flavored gelatin (four-serving size) when they are making up the gelatin with water as the package directs.

To keep a ham slice from curling while it is under the broiler, snip the fat around the edge at about 1-inch intervals. You can use your kitchen scissors to make these gashes.

Canned green chili peppers may be found in some large supermarkets and in specialty food shops. So if the chilis are called for in a recipe you want to try, be on the look for them!

A little vinegar and ammonia mixed with water and poured into a spray-type bottle makes a fine window washing solution if you don't have a regular cleaner handy.

To keep white collars and cuffs sparkling white, dip a small tooth brush in a bleach solution and rub over the white parts of dresses and blouses before laundering. Sometimes when cream is served with coffee at a party, there's cream leftover in the refrigerator. You can foil the cut worm which so often destroys your choice plants in the spring garden. This villian must wrap around a tender plant to cut it off. Get a couple of dried weed stalks, not too large and stick them down in the soil around your plant. The cutworm may try wrapping himself around weed stalks, but he cannot cut through the stalks and therefore does not get to your plant. Later, when the plant is too large to be cut, it is simple to remove the weed stalks.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., added that the committee wants to gather all the information it can before starting the hearings. There were other indications the committee would announce early next week that a few days when the hearings would begin, although no hearings are expected before Congress returns from its Memorial Day recess.

School Board Discusses Town Poll on Busing Plan

The board of education last night discussed a proposal that it poll townspeople to get an idea of community response to the Hartford busing plan. It reached no conclusion, however.

A board - sponsored public opinion poll was proposed last week by board member W. Lindsey Booth after the board had voted to enter negotiations to take part in the busing plan.

Member Harry Anderson reminded the board at its meeting last night of Booth's proposal, but suggested that a survey already conducted by the Citizens Information League is as good as any referendum and "gave a pretty good indication of what public opinion is."

The results of the survey included 901 returns, with 790 persons opposed to 111 affirmative.

Anderson expressed concern about the children who may come into town in an adverse climate."

Board member James Arnold said he feels the survey does not indicate a majority opinion. The responses represent only 12 per cent of the town's voters, he said.

Anderson replied that the figures denote enough of a trend.

Mrs. Jane Romeyn, chairman of the board, commented that most of the communications received by board members and by Charles Warner, superintendent of schools, had mentioned specific objections to the plan.

Mrs. Romeyn said most of the objections were covered by the 14 conditions the board set as prerequisities for town participation.

Both said that the board sought to answer the objections by voting to take part in the plan only after having adopted the 14 conditions.

To let the opinion of the townspeople guide the board before the details were arrived at would be letting the people make a decision based only on emotion, Booth said. Now that the 14-points have been adopted a sampling of opinion would be beneficial, he said.

"Regardless of the conditions, if the town is against the plan, I do not think it should be implemented,

"If even 50 per cent of the town is against it, I would not want us to be a sample town, since such an atmosphere would prejudice any test experiment and would not be representative," Booth said.

Mrs. Romeyn noted that the board had made its decision in good faith, and, if accepted by the Hartford board, a contract would be "locked at, probably favorably."

Warner said it is the duty of the board to include programs, after due deliberation, that it feels would be beneficial to the school system.

The board last night also voted to ask the PTA council to assist in preparing plans for the inclusion of Hartford children in the school system.

The motion made by Anderson, after discussion of the possible poll.

Warner commented that assistance would be very beneficial. Richard Kelley asked if the board would vote on a busing contract before it becomes final. Mrs. Romeyn said it would.

Anderson said that the figures denote enough of a trend.

Hebron

Folks Buzz About Landmark

A quiet to-do started out in Hebron center area Monday morning. It was buzzed about that work had started on changes in the old Hendrick Hissell place by the new owner, whose name has not been publicly announced, but who is said to be a teacher in the Regional High School.

The street, Rt. 85, was crowded with cars, probably 100, and almost distorting traffic. People were seen leaving the house with articles of furniture, such as tables, which they had apparently bought, at a sale, to clear the house of unwanted pieces, by the new owner.

The Hissell house has been a landmark of the town, probably dating back to the early 1800s. It is a large, two story house, the location being a few rods south of the First Congregational Church, on Rte. 6-A, and a small distance farther south from St. Peter's Church, Rte. 85.

H. Asa Hissell and family were the last descendants of the original owners, before it was sold to Benjamin Kasenau and family, who now plan to live in Colchester.

Residents here are all agog as to what the new owner plans to do regarding changes to be made in this old historic house.

Camp Funds

The local Salvation Army is planning a mail campaign this year to raise funds. The plan is to send a boy and a girl from Hebron to the Salvation Army's Nathan Hale Camp in Coventry.

Application for the camp program should be made to Mrs. Henry Kirkham or Mrs. D. Everett Stone before June 3.

Teacher Checks

Resident State Trooper Andrews reports that for several weeks his check zones have been operated on Rts. 6A and 85 and London Rd., causing several arrests on speeding charges. He plans to continue this course, to curb speeding.

Attend Church

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ellis greeted church goers at the Gilead church on May 15. On last Sunday, Leon Gardiner and Kenneth Ellis were the handshakers.

The young Korean orphan sponsored by the Pilgrim Fellowship and the Gilead and Hebron Women's Fellowships, is 8 years old. likes ball games, and the Hebron women have sent him a baseball and glove. He would like to hear from our children. His address is Kim Eung Kie, adoption No. 46685, Seoul, Korea, (International P.O. Box 1278). Packages should be marked "Unsolicited gift."

New Teachers

District school superintendent Aram Darmarjian has been authorized by the town board of education to issue contracts to the following new teachers for next year: Miss Katherine McLaughlin, who graduates in June from Central Connecticut State College, to teach kindergarten, at a salary of $5,400; Miss Mary-Lynn Sinkaitis of Ansonia Lake, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan with four years experience in Hartford schools and who will complete work toward her master's degree this summer at the University of Connecticut, to teach Grade 4 at a salary of $6,700; Mrs. Nancy Belcher, a graduate of the UConn who taught one year in Groton and has completed the intensive program for college graduates at Willimantic State College, at a salary of $6,400.

St. Peter's Notes

The flowers on the alter of St. Peter's Episcopal Church Sunday were given by Mr. and Mrs. John Sibum of Shadowmark, Hebron, in memory of Miss Clarissa L. Pendleton.

The summer schedule of services will begin the first Sunday in July, and continue through Labor Day weekend.

The coffee hour has resumed at the church, starting Sunday, and will continue through June, served by the church women.

St. Peter's women will sponsor a food sale on June 4 and 5.

Flowers, Finally

Flowers, held back for some time by a cold and lagging spring, suggesting another "1800-and-froze-to-death" winter on its way again, have now burst out in full glory, dogwood, flowering quince, blue and white violets, red and white lilacs, bushes so red they might be the turning bushes of the Scriptures. They finally came.

Hogs in Research

MINNEAPOLIS — Miniature white hogs are being developed by scientists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration for use as research animals. Hogs are physiologically much like humans.

These animals, only about one - third the size of normal hogs, were first bred at the Hormel Institute of the University of Minnesota, starting with various wild and semi-domesticated strains.

They may help researchers learn more about hog nutrition, physiology and biochemistry. And they offer meat on a way to increase income by raising research animals for investigators at many research, testing and assaying laboratories.

No Short Skirts

OXFORD, England (AP) —The girls at Oxford have been ordered not to wear the currently fashionable short, short skirts under their academic gowns during examinations.

Said Dean Mary Proudfoot of Somerville, the women's college:

"Short skirts are rather fun. But the girls would look incongruous in academic dress with skirts halfway up their thighs. This skirts might also take the men's minds off their exams."

Auto Workers To Swap Ideas

DETROIT (AP) — Automobile Workers Union members from five continents meet here next week to exchange information and try to weld a united contract-bargaining front.

Bank Bandit Gets Surprise In Cash Bag

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The bank bandit got his paper bag filled with money Tuesday and escaped in a blue gas of a tear gas bomb concealed to resemble a stack of $5 bills.

He fled with some $1,600 in cash, but police found the automobile believed used as the getaway car. Tear gas was detected and in around the car in a downtown parking lot.

The FBI, a few hours later, issued a federal warrant for Harold Avinger of Columbia, a former resident of the Charleston area who had owned the car.

He was still at large today.

W.E. Wood, vice president of the bank, said the tear gas bomb concealed in the roll of bills was one of "various types of protective devices" the bank has. He said it is manufactured by a private firm.

Discoverer Was 21

LONDON—Humphrey Davey, the discoverer of "laughing gas," was only 21 and a pharmacist's apprentice when he found the unusual properties of nitrous oxide. Although he prepared the compound of two nitrogen atoms and one of oxygen in 1799, it was many years until the idea of using laughing gas as an anesthetic occurred to scientists.

Jordan photo

The Cathedral of Mary Our Queen, Baltimore, Md., was the scene of the Saturday noon wedding of Miss Joan E. Custer of Baltimore, formerly of Manchester, to John Terence Jordan of Baltimore.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Custer of St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of Manchester, and granddaughter of Mrs. Catherine McCluskey of 48½ Winter St., Manchester, a guest at the wedding.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of white silk shantung, designed with scooped neckline, empire waist, Venise lace sleeves and bodice, and chapel length train attached at the waist. Her fingertip veil of illusion was arranged from a bow of Venise lace and shantung, and she carried a cascade bouquet of roses and ivy.

Miss Susan Curtis of St. Petersburg, Fla., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ronnie Elwell of Washington, D. C.; Miss Elizabeth Gunther of Boston, Mass., and Miss Mary McManus of London, England.

They were dressed alike in floor-length gowns of Chinese green linen, fashioned with empire waists, scooped necklines, bell sleeves and small bows on the shoulders. They wore matching linen headbows with veils.

Paul Jordan of Kingsville, Md. served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Paul Custer of St. Petersburg, brother of the bride; Dr. Paul Mullan and Peter Scall, both of Baltimoré.

A reception was held at Endowood Gardens, Baltimore. For a plane trip to San Juan, Puerto Rico, and St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Mrs. Jordan wore a navy blue and red suit, with navy blue and red accessories. The couple will live at 2803 Erdman Ave. Baltimore, after June 8.

Mrs. Jordan attended elementary schools in Manchester and graduated from Boca Clegs High School, Guifport, Fla. She is a graduate of Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing, Baltimore, where she has been head nurse in neurosurgery two years. She is a member of the faculty of the University of Maryland School of Nursing. Mr. Jordan is a graduate of Loyola High School and Loyola College, both in Baltimore, and a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, where he is a graduate student. He is a pharmacologist at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. He is a captain in the Air Force Reserves.

'Right' Name

ALPENA, Mich. (AP) — Mayor Walter Weinkauf was drawing a name from 3,000 entries in a contest Tuesday when a photographer looked up from his camera and said:

"See that you pull out a poor family with eight or nine kids."

Weinkauf drew the name of Marie Deno.

Mrs. Deno not only is the mother of nine, but she is the wife of the man with the camera, Eugene (Skeets) Deno, general news editor of The Alpena News.

The prize: a free, five-minute shopping spree by the family in a supermarket.

Mrs. Deno quoted her husband as telling the mayor before the contest drawing, "We could clean the store out with my family. Why don't you pull out mine?"

In Memoriam

In loving memory of David George, who passed away May 25, 1965.

I cannot say and will not say
That he is dead. He is just away...
With a cheery smile and a wave
Of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be since he lingers there.
And you, oh you who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and the glad return,
Think of him faring on as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same, I say,
He is not dead, he is just away.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Stanley W. Smyth who passed away May 25, 1965.

It seems so strange that those we love
Are not within our sight,
And those we love the best
Are just the ones God calls away.

Omar Upset Over Oscar To 'Music'

PARIS (AP) — "How could they do that — give the Oscar to 'The Sound Of Music'!" Omar Sharif wanted to know.

The Egyptian actor played the title role in "Doctor Zhivago," which lost the Academy Award race to the sunny musical. But he claimed there was no sour-grape attitude in his reaction.

"The Oscar should have gone to 'Doctor Zhivago' or 'The Spy Who Came In From the Cold' or any other film that had artistic merit," he said. "But not to a purely popular concoction."

Surprisingly, Sharif concurred with the Academy's failure to nominate him as best actor, although "Doctor Zhivago" received a flock of other nominations.

"It would have been a gross injustice because the role was too passive," he said.

Sharif, who was nominated as best supporting actor for "Lawrence Of Arabia," doesn't fret about such things as awards. He is too busy pursuing his career as one of the most popular, if lowest paid, stars of the international film market.

Lowest paid?

"That's right," he said. "I'm still operating under the contract I signed for 'Lawrence Of Arabia.' Yes, I could no doubt hold out for better terms. But I signed a contract, and that is that. I will live by it."

He insisted that he is earning $30,000 for his current film, "The Night Of the Generals," in which he plays an anti-Nazi officer. He probably could demand 10 times that amount for such a prestigious film as a free lancer.

"I made $14,000 for 18 weeks' work in 'Genghis Khan,'" he said with a trace of bitterness. "I don't mind making films like 'Night Of the Generals' and 'Doctor Zhivago' for little money. But my career cannot afford more than two 'Genghis Khans.'"

Lest you shed any tears for Omar the Deal Maker, it should be added that he lives in a luxury apartment on the Avenue Foch, supports his estranged wife at the Hotel George V, and now is racing his own horses at French race tracks. These endeavors are aided by the fact that he has paid no income tax in his home country, Egypt.

"But the racing is not expensive," he said. "The French have the richest races in the world; $4,000 is a small stake here. And it is cheap to maintain a horse — no more than $130 a month."

Whenever Omar is not on call for "Night Of the Generals," he can be found at the race track. The way he describes it, he can't afford not to own race horses, such are the benefits thereof.

After three more pictures, Sharif will start earning salaries commensurate with his worth. That may well prove a boon to the French racing industry, such an enthusiast is he.

Fluid Warns Fish

TUEBINGEN, Germany — Most fresh-water fish secrete a kind of warning fluid that can alarm an entire shoal and send it darting away from a danger area, Dr. Wolfgang Pfeiffer has found. He has made extensive studies at the Zoological Institute of the University of Tuebingen.

New Car Due

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II today confirmed reports that Lincoln-Mercury Division will market a new specialty car, the Cougar, in its 1967 line.

Ford and Arjay Miller, Ford president, disclosed details of the plan.

They said the Cougar "will fill a separate niche in the specialty car market" and added, "It follows the specialty car themes of the Thunderbird and Mustang, fitting into a large market between them."

Ford said the new car "will offer more flair and sophistication than the present Mustang. It will be about nine inches longer and three inches wider and will be more roomy, more luxurious and will sell for more money."

Third Term Romney Goal

GOP as a device to further his ambitions.

Rockefeller, who has ruled himself out as a presidential possibility, has also lobbed Javits as a favorite son for vice president, but the senator protested there was no such thing. He insisted the "vice" should be dropped.

Since Javits is to be the presidential favorite son, at least nominally, Rockefeller felt he could onstndorse Romney directly, the Rockefeller aide said.

Noting the presence of Romney and Javits at the Golden City dinner, Rockefeller said it was "nice to have them here together" and added that, "I find a growing feeling among Republicans that it might be nice to have them together in the future."

Observers had expected for months that Romney would go for a third term, although in late 1965 he tried to stir speculation he might seek the U.S. Senate seat open in Michigan this year.

Romney, 58, was mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate as soon as he overturned 14 years of Democratic statehouse rule in 1962.

His stock for the 1968 presidential race soared when he won re-election in 1964 by 384,000 votes despite a million-vote Johnson landslide in Michigan.

Romney, however, calls all talk of 1968 premature, saying that Republicans must first stage a comeback in 1966 from the Democratic landslide of 1964.

Lad Freed, Case Ended In 3 Hours

His condition was reported later as satisfactory.

Police, using a powered megaphone, kept urging the man to come out and give himself up, or set the boy free.

Bunn answered numerous times, refusing to give up. But finally, Albee said, he called out "You bring me up a quart of water and I'll give you the boy."

The boy also had been shouting to the posse.

"I can't come out!" he cried. "I'll be shot!"

Wilfred Morin, known to Bunn, was chosen to be the intermediary in the swap.

"Willie, you come up alone," Bunn called.

Morin started up into the woods, carrying the water and calling to Bunn to reveal where he was.

A short time later, Morin and the youngster came back out. Albee said he and the youngster had been reunited only a few moments when he heard a shot and then a police officer's shout: "All right! Close in!"

A Nov. 19 wedding is planned.

Turn-on Fine For Water Under Study

The board of directors, on June 7, will consider a recommendation from the town water department, which may involve $100 or less a year.

That is the revenue that may be collected from charging $5 for turning the water back on for the 20 customers — among more than 7,000 town water users — whose water is turned off in an average year, for nonpayment of water bills.

The board, on May 3, was asked to approve the $5 charge, but tabled its action and asked General Manager Robert Weiss to come up with figures, showing how many connections were disconnected in an average year.

Water Superintendent Lawrence Wittkofske who compiled the requested report, stated that the shutoffs involve the same people who repeatedly fail to pay their water bills.

The $5 charge, he said, would not solve the entire problem, nor would it be a money-making proposition. It might, he said, move some people to pay their bills before the water is turned off.

Wittkofske said that two men and a one time lobbed Javits as a favorite son for vice president, but the senator protested there was no such thing. He insisted the "vice" should be dropped.

Since Javits is to be the presidential favorite son, at least nominally, Rockefeller felt he could onstndorse Romney directly, the Rockefeller aide said.

Saigon Buddhist Leaders Bow to Mayor's Decision failed to dislodge the outnumbered defenders.

While fighting remained at a low level generally, the U.S. Command disclosed a new sweep operation by the U.S. 173th Airborne Division and the Royal Australian Regiment in the jungles 40 miles southeast of Saigon. So far, 20 Viet Cong have been killed in the nine-day operation.

American forces reported killing 29 Viet Cong in two other continuing operations.

U.S. jets flew 24 missions against North Viet Nam, including an attack on the Red River Valley rail line to Red China. The number of missions was again far below the average before the monsoon rains curbed the air war against the North.

The U.S. military command had ordered all Americans off Saigon's streets this afternoon in anticipation of trouble during the scheduled march from the Buddhist Institute, focal point of past disorders.

Some 2,000 Buddhist followers tried to crash through the barbed wire around the institute, but were driven off by a police tear gas barrage.

Saigon's Mayor Van Van Cua banned the demonstration and ordered his police to pick up any monks on the streets for identification at city hall. Leaders of the Buddhist Institute agreed to this procedure, saying they had authorized no demonstrations today.

As monsoon rains drenched the capital's streets, helmeted, khaki-clad police broke up crowds of monks, youth groups, students and frolicking youngsters at the central market, the U.S. Joint Public Affairs office and at an American Army billet.

Police waded into knee-deep water to chase off some of the youngsters, many acting as if they were enjoying a romp in the rain.

Earlier, riot police scattered 200 students staging a noisy antigovernment, anti-American protest outside Saigon University's pharmacy building. Blaming the United States for Ky's suppression of the rebellion in Da Nang Monday, the students waved a placard saying "Wild Americans must stop their inhuman actions."

The students fled when police fired into the air and hurled tear gas grenades at them.

In Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, 8,000 persons marched peacefully from a pagoda into the heart of the old imperial capital to denounce the ruling junta and the United States for supporting it.

Fifty students went to the U.S. Consulate to deliver a letter calling on President Johnson to withdraw his support of the Ky regime "so that we may go on cooperating with the Americans to bring this war against the Communists to a victorious end."

After delivering the letter the students sat on a curb and began a 24-hour hunger strike. Police blocked off the street but made no move against the students.

GOP Plans 'Round-up' June 25

The Republican Town Committee will hold a dinner-dance June 25 at the Community Hall. Although the affair is being called "Republican Round-Up," tickets are available to anyone, regardless of political preference, from members of the town committee.

Music will be provided by the Chackmates, a combo composed of local high school youths. The group has played at other GOP affairs.

A speaker will be announced later.

Mrs. Norman Tedford is chairman. Her committee will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the home of Dan Rattazzi.

At the first meeting of the new chapter of the National Honor Society last week, Nanda Rattazzi was elected president; Diane Tedford, vice president; Patricia Smith, secretary and Brenda Goodwin, treasurer.

Since there are only four charter members, all are officers. The four discussed fund-raising projects.

The annual Grade 6 visit to the high school has been set tentatively for June 6. Students are bused to the school during school hours for a tour of the building, to get a preview of what to expect next fall.

Baseball Results

In baseball this week, the pony league Ansaldi team has suffered two defeats: To Columbia on Monday and to Andover on a field last night. The Bolton Lake Hotel team is scheduled to play Coventry tomorrow and Ansaldi will play Columbia again Friday, both games at home.

In the junior league, Fiano beat Bolton Dairy 17-10 Monday, with Bob Henry pitching and hitting the only home run. M & M Oil will play White Glass tonight and Fiano will play M & M Oil Friday.

In the minor league, Crockett defeated G & H Paving last night. Cavanaugh Garage will play G & H Paving tomorrow.

Show-Cause Hearing Set Next Month

The show-cause hearing between Democratic selectman Stuart Danforth and Republican First Selectman Carmelo Zanghi has been listed on the docket to be called June 1 in County Superior Court, before Judge Alva Loiselle.

The hearing, sought by Danforth, was originally scheduled for April 29, but was continued after a conference between Judge Loiselle and the attorneys representing Zanghi and Danforth.

Loiselle explained that due to other committments he was unable to render a decision at that time.

Danforth is seeking a writ of mandamus against Zanghi to force him to grant Danforth his "full legal rights as selectman," and to "grant him free access to town records including the selectmen's files."

A writ of mandamus is an order issued by the court requiring a town official to perform the duties legally required of him.

Atty. Edwin Lavitt was retained by Danforth and the Democratic Town Committee in March. Town Counsel Robert King is representing Zanghi in the action.

Zanghi and Republican Selectman Frank Kalas introduced and passed a motion giving the custody of the selectmen's files to the first selectman at last week's meeting of the board of selectmen. Danforth voted against the motion.

Zanghi has maintained he alone is responsible for the files. He had offered to go over them with Danforth, which they did one afternoon in March. Danforth claims, however, this does not constitute "free access to the files."

181 Million Checked

WASHINGTON — Customs Bureau agents checked more than 181 million persons entering the United States last year. Most of the traffic, of course, was coming across the Canadian and Mexican borders, as is evident from the fact that 95 per cent of the customs clearances were of persons using autos or walking.

The Board Conducted Itself Well

Until Monday night's unanimous vote of the Board of Education we Manchester people had been, quite selfishly, more concerned with how we were going to meet the challenge posed by the busing proposal than we were with what it might mean to the Negro children involved.

We, and not the children, were the first ones on trial. It was with us, and our reactions to the first tangible approach of the great social and economic issue of our times, that the great experiment was being made. All of us could feel that the good name and character of our community was at stake.

It had begun to be sensed that this community's main answer was affirmative even before the Board of Education met and voted Monday night. But the dignity and unanimity of its action confirmed the unofficial community verdict, and Manchester had passed the first part of its test.

For this fortunate result, many people deserve credit. The Board of Education conducted itself, and its examination of the issue, in the highest possible democratic traditions. Various groups and individuals found themselves stirred and drawn to courageous action and commitment. The whole community engaged in a discussion so open and free and exhaustive that various arguments began to sink or rise on the basis of their own content and what they inevitably reflected of the instincts of the hearts and minds making them.

It was, therefore, good experience for the community. And it was a necessary experience, for the issue it presented thus sharply to us for our first real time is an issue which is going to keep on coming toward us, and living with us, and demanding that we live with it, until this whole country, North as well as South, has learned to look and live beyond the color of skin.

For the future, let us now shift our main concern to the relative handful of Hartford children who, if all goes well, will be going to school in Manchester during the next two years. Most of us will never have any reason to notice they are even here. But to some of the rest of us, as teachers, as parents of children in the schools involved, or as possible sideline contributors to the atmosphere surrounding the experiment, the program will provide an opportunity of the kind Americans never really flunk, once they have acknowledged a challenge and accepted responsibility.

Let us hope that we in Manchester can somehow do a little something positive toward building the world of tomorrow, and let us hope that, as a result of our experience in deciding this present issue, our hearts and minds are a little wider open to other possibilities and necessities which are going to keep approaching the human family everywhere.

Hess Could Have A Point

Rudolf Hess' lawyer is appealing for the immediate release of his client, and one would almost say that he would be a somewhat defiant lawyer if he weren't trying something just like that about now.

For the law under which Hitler's Deputy Fuhrer was sentenced as a war criminal was a law devised by Britain, France, Russia and the United States, and its main point was that an individual had some higher responsibility than just following orders in any situation where he thought his country might be planning or prosecuting a war which was not just.

As Herr Hess' lawyer points out, Britain and France planned and executed a stroke of war against Egypt in 1956, and, although the United Nations succeeded in stopping them, nobody in France or Britain was ever prosecuted as a war criminal.

And as Hess' lawyer might also point out, there is now in the United States courts at least one case of a young American who, refusing to enter his country's armed services, has thought up the legal contention that he has read the Nuremberg laws and doesn't want to violate them by taking orders from his country to get ready to fight in a war which he considers unjust and illegal.

When this interesting point was first offered in court the presiding American judge refused even to entertain it, acting as if there were no such things as laws at Nuremberg, or, if there were, they applied only to defeated Germans and never to anybody else.

Conceivably the United States Supreme Court, which loaned to the war criminal trials in Germany the Justice who helped write what was proclaimed to be new world law there, may find itself unable, in all conscience, to dismiss the question out of hand. If, upon examining the Nuremberg laws against war crimes, the United States Supreme Court should hold that they could possibly apply to Americans who obeyed orders their conscience told them to resist, then it could be assumed that there is some legal right for Herr Hess to be kept in jail for the remainder of his term. But if it is held that the Nuremberg laws never did, and never will, apply to anybody except the Nazis, then they are not laws at all, and the Hess appeal for freedom should be considered to have excellent legal standing.

Hubert's Pep Talk

Just about everybody, it seems, has been taking a shot at Vice President Hubert Humphrey because, on that television program about the Russian national sports program, he tried to give us Americans a big pep talk about how we should get in there and work harder at developing free society athletes who could save us from the "humiliation" of being defeated in international competitions by the state-managed performers from Russia.

The criticism of Hubert seemed to assume that he was doing two things, first attaching too much importance to gold medals, and, second, urging us into some imitation of the Russians.

But nobody, that we have read, has criticized either the Vice President or the program for what would seem to constitute their greatest sin against the intelligence and factual knowledge of their viewers. This was their bland assumption that the Russian system is all black professionalism while the American system is all lily white amateurism.

There is no doubt that there is vastly more professionalism in Russian "amateur" athletics than in ours. And the Russians are very direct about it; the state pampers—if the training rigors and necessities of the first rank athlete can ever be described in such a term—its future medal-winning possibilities. They are put in schools where they can be sure to develop their physical talent; they are given jobs which won't interfere with their athletic specialty.

But there is also some degree of that sort of thing in the United States even if, in this country, it is not done with official government money or by official government agencies. Here, too, athletes with great potential frequently have the planned good luck of winding up where they can get the right kind of coaching; here schools and jobs are sometimes available that harmonize with their particular athletic prowess; here too the super athlete does not really have to worry where his next meal is coming from. And here too, as one can guess from studying the seven-or-before-their-time faces of some of the athletes being brought to stardom at younger and younger ages, having an athletic talent can be a grim and serious and demanding business, just as it is for Russians.

So there were really three things Hubert and the program he was on might have avoided, if they were following the highest rules of international sportsmanship. They might have pretended that winning doesn't mean quite that much; they might have refrained from suggesting that the United States needs to win quite that badly; above all they might have got along without reaching for that alibi in which they seemed to claim that the only reason we lose is because of our spotless purity. We are better than all that on the field; not quite that perfect in the way we field our talent.

John Q Loses One

"I have come to the conclusion," said Mrs. John, seizing the initiative after an especially good dinner, "that my weekly allotment for running this domicile and providing you with meals such as the one you just polished off is way out of line."

Sensing that this trend of conversation was going to hit him where it hurt most—in the pocketbook — John Q straightened up in his easy chair.

"How's that?" he asked.

"Because we in Connecticut now have the highest per capita income in the country, that's why," she replied.

"I read it in the newspaper. The average is up to $150 a year to $3,390.

"So . . ." John said.

"So, my household allowance is the same as it was a year ago, but your per capita income is up $150 and my per capita income is up $150 and that's $300 a year or approximately $6 a week."

"Oh brother," breathed John. "Lord Keynes should hear this one. That's averages they are talking about. . . "

"And besides that," persisted Mrs. John, "there's the matter of inflation."

Sensing an evening of agitation ahead and mentally bidding farewell to that new set of golf clubs for which he had been squirreling away a few dollars a week, John ran up the white flag.

"To simplify the whole business, I'll concede," he said. "Six bucks a week it is but believe me, it hurts."

Turning back to his newspaper, he muttered to the world at large, "President of the press is okay. But printing this stuff about per capita income is too much. . . ." — BRISTOL PRESS

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

OAKLAWN, Ill. —In these rock-ribbed Republican south suburbs of Chicago, a revolt is in full force against the dead hand of Bourbonism that has been destroying the Republican party in Illinois.

The revolt against the regular party chieftains here, who like the Bourbons of ancient France remember everything and learn nothing, is limited to just one seat in the State Legislature. It is an attempt to elect a suburban housewife named Marjorie Pebworth, an able and intelligent incumbent marked for purge by the Bourbons and now running for re-election as an insurgent.

Yet, her race has more than parochial interest, if only for the tacit support she has from big name Illinois Republicans — including Charles H. Percy, candidate for the U. S. Senate and nemesis of the Bourbons. Moreover, the underlying dynamic of Mrs. Pebworth's insurgency are by no means limited to Illinois.

The problems here is common to all states that, like Illinois, once were rural and Republican but now are urbanized and Democratic. In the old days, a handful of party workers controlled the party and won elections. Today, while still controlling the party, they no longer win elections statewide.

But the statewide decline for Illinois Republicanism was of little concern to the Bourbons in these south suburbs (Republican by a margin of 4 to 1). For them, party politics was a closed society strictly limited to the few. In Worth Township (population: 100,000), only 9,000 Republicans voted in the 1964 primary.

What changed all this was the 1964 election, when all candidates for the State House of Representatives ran at-large because of the failure to reapportion the Legislature. Percy and other state party leaders signed up a "blue-ribbon" slate to head the ticket of at-large candidates. One of the state's candidates was Earl Eisenhower, the former President's brother. Another was Marjorie Pebworth.

A lobbyist in the State Capital and later state president for the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Pebworth was a respected statewide figure. But to the township committeemen, she had a fatal flaw: she was new to party politics. She was not one of them.

That she ran seventh out of 112 Republican legislative candidates in the 1964 at-large election did not impress the Bourbons in her home district. Still playing discredited backlash politics, they were furious when, as a state representative, she introduced and supported legislation to bar racial discrimination in housing.

Their chance for revenge came when the legislature reapportioned itself. Mrs. Pebworth announced her candidacy in a new south suburban district, but the district's four Republican township committeemen purged her in a secret meeting. Instead the party endorsement went to a former police magistrate who ran 107th out of the 112 candidates in the at-large election of 1964.

That decision last Feb. 19 might have ended Mrs. Pebworth's political career. In Republican districts, endorsement is tantamount to nomination which is tantamount to election. Insurgency is forbidden.

But Mrs. Pebworth refused to accept that fact. After rejecting a bid from Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner to switch parties, she carefully checked with many party leaders: Percy; Cook County (Chicago) Chairman Timothy Sheehan; Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, the district's conservative but practical Congressman. They could not open the tacit support she has from big name Illinois Republicans — including Charles H. Percy, candidate for the U. S. Senate and nemesis of the Bourbons. Moreover, the underlying dynamic of Mrs. Pebworth's insurgency are by no means limited to Illinois.

A Thought for Today

Let us recover the Christian Faith. We need it as never before, and we need it clear and simple and in portable size.

Recently I saw a tiny Bible on display. It was in one of our Manchester banks, showing microfilm techniques; and there were 1,245 pages, all gathered together in a space no larger than a small coin. If we could only carry the whole Bible and its message, and its wisdom, in our mental pockets!

We can carry a good deal of it. If we know a good deal of it. What a shame that we say, "I'm too old to memorize anything!" or, "I never could memorize, it just goes in one ear and out the other!" This is simply not so, for most people; in fact we do memorize things that we want to know, such as the names of our grandchildren and the phone numbers of our friends.

You can memorize the Twenty-third Psalm, and the One Hundred Thirty-Ninth, and John Three Sixteen and Romans Eight, if you really want to and are willing to give it the time.

'Very Much Appreciated'

To the Police Department,

We had an emergency, a death in the family, in Pittsfield, Mass., in which we could not get in touch with a person who had gone to Manchester for a funeral. Not being able to reach her by phone we contacted the Manchester Police Department, and within 10 minutes after we placed our call we received a return call from our party there. We would like to thank them publicly as it was very much appreciated.

Thank You,

'Support Overwhelming'

To the Editor,

A decision has been rendered, a decision we must all accept.

The concern remains — the children. Let us all make every effort to succeed in this experiment so that the children involved will have two fine years in our Manchester school system. This is most important if the dangers of such a busing program, so clearly expressed by Dr. O'Neill and other experts, is to be avoided or at least lessened.

Those of us who are sincerely interested in the well being of our fellow man must strive to assist in every way possible to bring this end.

In conclusion I want to thank The Herald for printing my opinions, state my respect for those who opposed my opinions, and my heart felt thanks for those who called, wrote and even visited me in support of my opinions. Your support was overwhelming.

Sincerely
Paul C. Kaiser

'Bouquets to Order'

To the Editor,

In all of the confusion, charges and countercharges concerning the busing problem in Manchester, proper attention and commendation were not forthcoming concerning the recent sixth grade concerts at the high school. Bouquets are in order for Miss Martha White, Mrs. Geraldine Mazzeo, and Mrs. Mary Watters for a thoroughly enjoyable evening. The skillful blending of some 400 sixth grade voices performing for a near capacity audience must have been a thrilling experience for the participants and is certainly a wonderful example of an imaginative elementary school music curriculum.

Shades' Board Knows

To the Editor,

How long has it been since the effort to protect oneself against governmental waste and extravagances, and political blundering, has constituted a memice to our "democratic way of government"?

On the night of May 17 as we have been told, General Manager Robert Weiss accused the so-called "Shadow Board" of Manchester, of engaging in the kind of "repetitive" and "destructive" criticism of the town Board of Directors that is "inhibiting positive action" by the Board, and "destroying" our local "democratic way of government".

It seems to me that Democratic Town Committee Chairman Ted Cummings who finds much satisfaction in boasting of the "accomplishments" of our local Democratic party is not in agreement with him.

Inasmuch as he (the Manager) has found it convenient to openly attack the so-called "Shadow Board", it might be well to review the record he has written since he became our General Manager almost five months ago. I will list his "accomplishments" as I know them.

(1) His recommendation that we should try to bring additional industry to Manchester so that we might broaden our tax base. If I remember correctly that kind of recommendation was made by our first General Manager Mr. George H. Waddell away back in the year 1950, some 16 years ago. We have heard it many times since then.

(2) His presentation to the town Board of Directors of the kind of tentative budget for the 1966-67 fiscal year, which as far as our individual town departments were concerned (with the exception of the Public Works Dept.), did not agree with his pre-budget assurances.

(3) His complete willingness to lease town owned Globe Hollow golf course properties to the Manchester Country Club for a period of 25 years at a yearly rental fee which will as time goes by, represent no more than a one or two percent return on the value of those properties.

(4) His recommendation that no appropriation be made to our 1966-1967 Capital Improvement Reserve Fund; a kind of recommendation which would to a very large degree forbid the making of any such improvement on the pay-as-you-go basis.

(5) His willingness to involve the Town of Manchester in a 20 year term bond and one half million dollar capital improvement program, which would cost the town an additional $980,000 (approximate) in interest and other charges, and bring the total cost to just about $2,800,000.

(6) His willingness to provide the enormous sum of $170,000 (25 per cent of the total proposed cost), as the Town's share toward the purchase of 273 acres of Lookout or Case Mountain properties for "open space purposes," an amount which in itself is almost 8 times the amount of their present assessed value for tax purposes.

(7) His whole - hearted support of the proposed $16,600,000 South End Redevelopment Program, despite the fact that such program will cost about $13,364,800 more than the program that was planned some two and one half years ago; despite the fact that the present program will raise the Town of Manchester's share from $420,400 to $2,676,000 without including the tremendous amount of money it will be compelled to return to the State of Connecticut because of its increased tax revenues, and despite the fact that neither he nor anyone else can guarantee a satisfactory end result of such venture.

These "accomplishments" leave me wondering (1) if he let the League of Women Voters with any better knowledge of the kind of "work" agreement he has with the town, that he and the Board of Directors which hired him have left all the rest of us, and (2) if he told the League why he and the town Board of Directors left it up to a member of the so-called "Shadow Board" and to Mr. Joseph Dyer, Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity in Hartford to try to assist the local Department of Education in its effort to compel full payment for the education of Hartford children in our local schools.

Unlike those who are able to exert so much influence on the General Manager and the Board of Directors, and who issue their directives from their own private desks and the tables of their own "Boards of Strategy," the members of the so-called "Shadow Board" have always made it their practice to operate in the open where they can be seen and heard when they challenge the policies and the practices of our politically motivated and muchina controlled Boards of Directors.

The office of General Manager has as far as I know, always commanded a large amount of public respect. I am now wondering if General Manager Weiss earned even an additional small amount of that kind of "commodity" when he tried to put the blame for the failures of our local Board of Directors on the doorsteps of the members of the "Shadow Board."

Dr. A. B. Moren

Editor's Note: In proportion of fact and fancy, statistics and leprechaun, this letter may be taken as typical of Shadow Board logic and presentation at its very best.

'A Breed of Man'

To the Editor,

I wonder if, as Mr. Nathan so eloquently quotes that "a man of Mr. Kaiser's background, ability and reputation" should objection to the busing plan for have the audacity to voice his Manchester, when so many others of Mr. Kaiser's profession and other professionals have already stated their support for a plan which Manchester was destined for, regardless of the majority of the peoples' wishes, I would say theirs was a safe and secure support within the professional community.

It is very refreshing to know that there are still men in the professional circles of the ability, background and reputation of Mr. Kaiser that any opposition party or group needs to adequately express their views, if the people are not to be rubber stamps for those in state and federal governments, who do not have the audacity to stop and say no this is not the answer.

The above is in support of a breed of man, whom has much to lose and risks condemnation for the right to dissent.

Gen. Taylor's View

Simple Issues Involved In U.S. Viet Nam Stand

EDITOR'S NOTE — The conflict in Viet Nam frequently has been called "the confusing war." Why is the United States there? What are its commitments to the Saigon government. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor has been intimately involved in the Viet Nam question, as U.S. ambassador to the country, as adviser to two presidents, and defender of administration policies there. The following article gives his unofficial personal assessment of the situation.

By GEN. MAXWELL TAYLOR
Written for Associated Press

There is an impression very generally held about the country that the situation in South Viet Nam is so confused that the average citizen can hardly be expected to understand the rights and wrongs of it. This short article undertakes to demonstrate the contrary in minimum words — that in spite of their seeming complexity, the issues in the United States involvement in South Viet Nam are simple, clear and readily explained.

We are involved in South Viet Nam today because the independence of that country is being threatened by the subversive aggression conducted by the Communist leadership in North Viet Nam. Since 1954, that leadership has had the purpose of imposing Communist domination upon the South Vietnamese people against the will of the vast majority.

Our purpose, as expressed by President Johnson, is simple and direct: "Our objective is the independence of South Viet Nam and its freedom from attack. We want nothing for ourselves — only that the people of South Viet Nam be allowed to guide their own country in their own way."

In danger of being overwhelmed, the South Vietnamese people through their government have repeatedly requested the aid of the United States and we have, repeatedly responded affirmatively to these requests. We have don so for three valid reasons.

The first is our traditional attitude in opposition to aggression and colonization, whether imperialist or Communist, and our historic support of the right of self-determination for all nations.

Beyond this motivationm we have a second reason in the fact that the United States is formally committed to assisting South Viet Nam under the terms of the SEATO treaty passed by the Senate in February 1955 by a vote of 82-1.

Finally, we have felt ourselves obliged to assist South Viet Nam out of consideration of the worldwide consequences to ourselves and to the free world of a Communist success in South Viet Nam. Thus, our principles, our pledged word and our self-interest all have impelled us to take the course of action which we are following.

Actuated by these motives, we have undertaken to cause Hanoi to cease the aggression which it is conducting against South Viet Nam and thus to allow a restoration of peace and stability in South Viet Nam and Southeast Asia. To bring the Communist leaders to this change of behavior, it has been essential to increase our combat effectiveness in the ground fighting in South Viet Nam against the Viet Cong guerrillas and the infiltrated units of the North Vietnamese army.

GEN. MAXWELL TAYLOR

We are achieving this increase by developing to a maximum the strength of the armed forces and police of South Viet Nam and by adding thereto progressive increments of United States ground troops. To reduce the flow of reinforcements and men and equipment coming from North Viet Nam to support the guerrilla war, we are using our air power and that of the South Vietnamese against military targets north of the 17th Parallel.

While these military actions have been taking place, we have been doing everything possible to improve the stability and effectiveness of the government in Saigon and in the provinces and to defend the economy of the country against the growing threat of inflation.

Finally, while all these activities go on, we are continuously engaged in a search for a peaceful solution through honorable negotiation. In combination, these activities — military, political, economic and diplomatic — are designed to convince the leaders in Hanoi that their own interest to change their ways.

Our success in pursuing these lines of action has been uneven. On the military front, thanks to the growing effectiveness of our United States ground and air forces we have seized the initiative and are imposing very heavy casualties on the Viet Cong guerrillas and on the infiltrated regular army units of North Viet Nam. The general military situation is quite favorable although the enemy continues to bring in reinforcements.

In March and April, we passed through a period of re-newed political turbulence marked by the antigovernment activities of an opposition group in the Hue-Da Nang area, composed of the Tri Quang clique of the Buddhists, the supporters of Gen. Thi — whose relief from command of the I Corps triggered the demonstrations — and the traditional dissidents in Hue-Da Nang who regularly oppose any government in Saigon. These antigovernment activities have ended in an apparent compromise, based on the a constitutional convention in holding of general elections for the next few months. The forecast is for continuing political activity and unrest during the summer and fall as South Viet Nam, in the midst of war, strives to lay the foundations of constitutional government.

On the economic front, the evidence of inflation is increasing but the situation is receiving intensive treatment from the responsible Vietnamese and United States economists, recently assisted by Representatives of the International Monetary Fund.

On the diplomatic front, there is still no indication from the Communist side of a serious desire to open peace negotiations. Actually, it is premature to expect negotiations until the Communist leaders have a compelling incentive to seek a prompt, peaceful settlement. Until they are convinced of the necessity for peace, there is the risk of a repetition of the prolonged, fruitless wrangling at Panmunjom, which lasted two years before we got a Korean armistice. That experience reminds us that the initiation of negotiations with the Communists does not necessarily mean that peace is just around the corner.

In the meantime, no one has suggested a better strategy than the one described above if we are to retain our basic objective of an independent South Viet Nam, free from attack. All other alternatives which have been suggested have serious objection. A deliberate pull-out on the part of the United States is unthinkable and fortunately receives little support even from the sharpest critics of our present policy.

A holding strategy has been proposed, under the terms of which our forces would give up the offensive and pass to the static defense of certain fortified bases or enclaves. Such deliberate passivity on our part would surrender large blocs of the civilian population to Viet Cong domination, would destroy the morale of the government and people of South Viet Nam, and would forego any hope of final success.

It would take the pressure off the Hanoi leaders and would remove any incentive for them to come to a conference table in a mood to negotiate a just settlement. The American troops themselves would not accept for long such an inglorious posture; neither would our people who sooner or later would say as some voices sometimes do even now: "Let's end it or get out." In the inability to end it, a sit-out would soon result in a pull-out.

The third alternative which has been suggested is the all-out use of our military strength perhaps giving Hanoi and Peking an ultimatum to lay off South Viet Nam, followed by unlimited air attacks if they do not comply. This course runs a maximum risk of major war with Red China and furthermore destroys prematurely the excises will take place. evolutionary process in North Vietnamese government in Hanoi whose collaboration may be useful in the ultimate restoration of peace and stability in Southeast Asia.

The south alternative is to try to turn over the Viet Nam problem to the United Nations. Unfortunately, the United Nations does not want this problem, and could not cope with it if it were accepted. Finally, Hanoi and Peking will have absolutely nothing to do with the United Nations and will accept no participation by that body in any settlement.

We know of no other alternatives than those discussed above. Hence, we are left with the present course of action. In continuing to pursue it, we can and must do better on all fronts, military, political, economic and diplomatic — persevering with patience and determination. We are engaged in a test of our national character. If we fail this test, we will soon face harder ones with greatly diminished chances of success and at greatly increased costs. Thus, we need to unite in President Johnson's pledge: "We will not grow tired. We will not be defeated. We will not withdraw, either openly or under the cloak of a meaningless agreement."

Manchester: Past Places, People

In the years following the Civil War, Memorial Day exercises were sponsored jointly by Drake Post No. 4 Grand Army of the Republic and a citizen's committee. Drake Post received its charter March 23, 1867 and at one time had a membership numbering seventy-eight.

The Memorial Day observance of 1887 on the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of the Post was typical of the kind of exercises held throughout the State. Exercises were held in Cheney Hall following which there was a parade to "monument grounds" in Center Park.

The committees in charge of arrangements were for Drake Post No. 4 Commander Maro S. Chapman, C.H. Owen, O.H. Merrill, Amos Lay, and Lucius

Ralph Cone

Pinney, for the Town, H.G. Cheney, Ralph Cone and W.W. Cowles.

The exercises at Cheney Hall included music, service by Drake Post No. 4, an address by the Rev. E.P. Parker of Hartford, more music and the Benediction.

According to instructions of the Parade Marshal C.H. Owen, the parade was formed in front of Cheney Hall in the following order: (1) Marshal and aids, mounted; (2) the So. Manchester Drum Corps; (3) Co. G 1st Regiment Conn. National Guard, Capt. John Hickey commanding; (4) Drake Post No. 4 GAR led by Commander Chapman, and (5) carriages with the orator of the day, clergymen, selectmen and other town officers. Citizens who wished to join the parade were asked to fall in at the rear of the procession. Others were asked to keep off the parade route as the authorities had granted right of way to the GAR.

Maro S. Chapman

The line of march was up "Maple Ave." to Main St. and up Main St. to Monument Grounds. Following the exercises there, the return to Cheney Hall was down Main St. to "Oak Ave.", thence to Elm St. and down Elm to the Hall. The exercises at Monument Grounds consisted of music, Decoration Service by Drake Post No. 4 and more music.

Decoration of soldier's graves at the different cemeteries was performed by detachments from Drake Post during the day. The Post depended on public contributions of flowers for this purpose. The public was asked to leave their contributions at Cheney Hall, the depot in No. Manchester, and the Owen residence in Buckland. It was suggested that the flowers be arranged in bouquets, wreaths, crosses, etc.

In the year 1887 membership in Drake Post No. 4 had increased to eighty-six. The officers for the Post were Post Commander Maro S. Chapman, 12th Conn. Volunteers, South Manchester; Senior Vice-Commander Henry Barrows, 10th Conn. Volunteers North Manchester; Junior Vice-Commander Warren Gammons, 12th Conn. Volunteers, Talcottville; Representative John Loomis, 1st Conn. Light Battery, South Manchester and Alternate Representative Henry E. Thompson, 10th Missouri Volunteers, South Manchester. Records show the post owned six muskets, and the records of the post were complete and up-to-date. One dollar was charged for each muster in, and the per capita tax was twenty-five cents. The Post had expended Forty-Five Dollars for charity and the Relief Fund and a balance of $567.91. Prospects for the future were considered good.

Manchester selectmen who participated in the Memorial Day exercises were Trisha Williams, C. W. Cowles and C. D. Parsons.

Following is an account of the Memorial Day of 1887 as published in the Manchester Herald.

"Memorial Day dawned with a cloudy sky and every promise of a rainy day. But at noon the clouds parted and the afternoon was delightfully cool and pleasant. A recent rain had laid the dust and the streets were in good condition for the procession. The Memorial Services in Cheney's Hall were attended by an audience not so large as in former years but more orderly owing to the enforcement of the rule forbidding children to enter the hall unless accompanied by an adult. The flute and drum band was stationed in the gallery and performed while the veterans and Company G marched in and took reserved seats in front. The stage was tastily decorated with floral emblems which were afterwards borne to the monument. The Center Church choir sang an anthem and the officers of Drake Post read the memorial service of the order. Commander M. S. Chapman then introduced the orator of the day, Rev. Dr. E. P. Parker of Hartford. His address was a scholarly production and was closely followed to its close when it was warmly applauded. It is The Herald's custom to print the Memorial address in full each year; it is omitted this year at the speaker's urgent request.

The Soldiers' Monument, a memorial to the Civil War veterans, as it looked when erected, with the Congregational Church built in 1879 in background.

The procession formed expeditiously under the efficient marshalship of Maj. C. H. Owen who was assisted by a corps of competent mounted aids. A feature of the procession was "Company X," a uniformed squad of boys under the leadership of Master Harry Whitney. From the youthful captain with his sword to the flaxen haired youngsters in the ranks, they bore themselves with military precision. The touching decorative service at the monument was conducted by the veterans in the presence of a large assemblage.

School Board Asks Town Back Its Budget Request

The board of education is asking in an open letter that the citizens of Coventry "reject the $1,120,000 operating budget proposed by the board of finance" for the 1966-67 year, and instead support its "recommendation that it be increased to $1,161,000 originally requested."

Townspeople will be asked to vote on the budget at a town meeting tomorrow night at 8 p.m. at the high school.

The school board is asking that townspeople make an effort to attend "so that the decision (of the meeting) will be a true indication of the educational program the town wants."

The meeting's decision "will affect the educational program and services provided by the Coventry schools," the board says.

"The issue will be whether to accept the budget as proposed by the board of finance, which is $41,000 below the minimum the board of education feels is necessary to maintain the present educational program.

"This $41,000 represents approximately 1¾ mills, and, if approved, would mean a total mill rate of 51.6, instead of the 50 mills proposed by the finance board."

Because "Almost 80 per cent of the total school budget is already committed through salary negotiations and written contracts to teaching and administrative personnel," the letter says "the remaining areas must bear the impact" if the budget is cut.

"Practicality further limits these areas," the board says.

"It would be extremely uneconomical, for instance, to decrease maintenance expenditures.

"One suggestion considered and unanimously rejected by this board was an increase in class size. This proposal was rejected because it would represent an across-the-board cut in quality of all courses.

"The basic subject programs should not suffer. Therefore, the board of education would be forced to decide which other programs, such as driver education, elementary music and art, sports, field trips, summer school transportation and extra curricular activities, as well as supplies and equipment, it could afford to retain."

The board also states that, "Because of the changeover to the uniform fiscal year recommended by the board of finance and adopted by the town, this year's budget must be financed by the same Grand List as last year.

"Normally, a four-to six-per cent increase in the Grand List provides sufficient funds for about a two-mill budget increase without any change in the mill rate."

"In cutting the school budget, the board of finance is, in effect, asking the board of education to finance the changeover to the uniform fiscal year," the board claims.

It is not clear whether the town meeting can legally increase a budget presented to it for action by the finance board. The town counsel refused to comment to The Herald on the situation unless an official opinion was asked.

If the budget can not be increased, then the only move open to the town may be to reject the proposal completely, sending it back to the finance board to modify for presentation to another town meeting.

Events in Capital

Financial Squeeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $330-billion debt ceiling, although the highest ever, could force the Treasury Department into a financial squeeze during the next fiscal year if all its chips don't fall into line.

That is the belief today of some officials who feel the ceiling voted Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee eliminated most of the built-in headroom they allowed for contingencies.

The department requested a $332-billion temporary debt ceiling for fiscal 1967 which begins July 1, up from the present temporary limit of $328 billion.

The $332-billion figure would give the Treasury about $3 billion headroom. Officials feel this would permit more efficient management of the debt if the added authorization was not needed for contingencies.

Minimum Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House wades into a stack of controversial amendments today as it moves toward expected passage of a bill to raise the federal minimum wage and broaden its coverage.

Supporters face a strenuous task in retaining the bill's full proposed new coverage of 7.2 million workers, including farm workers and employes of hotels, hospitals and restaurants.

They should have less difficulty in raising the present $1.25 an hour wage to $1.40, but a major effort is being planned to delay the effective date of the top rate from 1968, as proposed in the bill, to 1970.

During four hours of debate Tuesday there was widespread agreement that wages of the nation's lowest paid workers should be raised — at least to the $3,000-a-year regarded as the level of poverty in other federal programs. A wage of $1.40 would produce an annual income of $3,200.

Rights Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People told the Supreme Court today its very survival — and that of the entire civil rights movement — may have been imperiled by a recent decision to let an $86,700 Georgia picketing judgment stand.

Asking the justices to reconsider the case, the NAACP said the high court's action opened the door to damage suits which could "harass, impoverish and eventually paralyze" the organization.

The Supreme Court dismissed without explanation April 27 an NAACP appeal from a Georgia ruling that the national association can be held liable for picketing ordered by its Savannah branch.

The 5-4 ruling produced a curious dissent by Justice William O. Douglas, who warned that "juries might run pell-mell" to destroy "unpopular groups" like the NAACP.

The NAACP had argued that it had no control over the picketing of a Savannah grocery store whose owner sued it, the local branch and local offices

Hearings Ending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Judiciary subcommittee hopes to complete its hearings on the administration's civil rights bill today, but the legislation may have a cloudy future.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has been able to provide crucial Republican votes in past civil rights battles, suggested Tuesday that the 1966 measure might well be "put on the hook until next year."

Dirksen told a news conference this would give Congress more time to study the constitutionality of the measure's open housing provision and its section designed to prevent discrimination in the selection of state and federal juries.

The Illinois Republican stood firm on the position he previously had taken that the proposed ban on racial or religious discrimination in the sale or rental of housing is "absolutely unconstitutional."

Republican leaders in the House, however, have indicated they do not share Dirksen's views.

— of cronyism, and patronage that cost millions of dollars.

In other major races:

—Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky won renomination without serious opposition. John Young Brown, a college classmate, former congressman and Senate rival 20 years ago, easily won the Democratic senate nomination.

—Preston Moore of Oklahoma City, former national American Legion commander blunted the comeback bid of former Gov. Raymond Gary and won the Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma. State Sen. Dewey Bartlett of Tulsa won the Republican gubernatorial nomination over John N. Happy Camp.

—Republican Pat J. Patterson outdistanced Don Kinkaid, who had solicited John Birch Society backing, for the nomination to challenge Oklahoma's Democratic Sen. Fred R. Harris in November.

—Former Rep. M. G. Snyder of Kentucky was nominated for the house from the newly designed 4th District, topping two rivals in a race that renewed the Republican split of 1964. Snyder, a conservative, fought for the cause of Barry Goldwater two years ago and lost his House seat in the Democratic landslide. Moderate and liberal Republicans, in power in the Louisville area, lined up against Snyder, calling him an extremist. Snyder won easily. He faces State Sen. John Mooney of Covington in November.

—Secretary of State Tom McCall won the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Oregon; State Treasurer Robert Straub was the Democratic choice.

Red Dots if Wrong

Cars Damaged In Lane Shift

Two cars received minor damage last night when one driver hit his brakes after the other driver began moving into his lane on W. Middle Tpke.

Police said Paul L. Senyk, 31, of East Hartford signaled and began moving into the left lane as he approached the 1-84 overpass but failed to see a car in that lane operated by Jonathan C. Kramer, 16, of West Hartford.

29th Man Dies Gangland Style

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — A 26-year-old man, driving alone in his car, was shot and killed today by a volley of shots fired from another car in what police called another of Greater Boston's gangland slayings.

Police identified the dead man as Cornelius Hughes of Malden. They said his brother, Stephen, was wounded by shots in an attempted slaying in March.

The killing raises to 29 the number of deaths in Greater Boston's gang violence that began in March 1964.

Veterans Sought For Ceremonies Memorial Day

Mrs. Ernest Carini, Girl Scout neighborhood chairman, has announced that the Cadette Troop will ask local veterans listed in the records of the town clerk to participate in the Memorial Day Services planned this year.

"The veterans," she said, "must come out and participate. This is their day. It is disgraceful to have none of them show. What does Memorial Day mean without the veterans?"

Raymond Lyman, a World War I veteran, has been responsible for years to purchase and place flags on all veterans' graves in town. This year he has been assisted by the junior Scout troop.

Ceremonies will begin at 10 a.m. from Yeomans Hall. Participants are asked to be at the hall by 9:30 a.m. The Rifle Squad will fire a volley over the graves after the services.

The Cadette Troop is planning a trip to Block Island from July 11 to 15. The troop will hold a food sale Monday at Yeomans Hall from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. to raise funds for the trip. Anyone interested in donating food may contact Mrs. Carini. The girls hope to raise $100. At present, 25 girls have registered for the trip.

Mrs. Carini, who launched a very successful "Kite Derby" in March, says the girls will study wild life on the island for badges.

Also, Gary McGurdy, new house and garage on Pine St.; Karl Kolle, new house at Lake and Erdoni Rds.; Harvey Collins, two permits for houses on Doubleday Rd.

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A flash fire sent girls scurrying from their beds when flames broke out in their dormitory at Kent State University early today.

University officials said an orderly evacuation from the $1.1-million Verder Hall prevented any injury to its 307 occupants, including three counselors.

Schultheis Elected President of Lutz

Walter Schultheis was elected president of the Lutz Junior Museum Monday night at the annual meeting of museum members, held at Carey's Restaurant. He succeeds Dr. Philip E. Sumner, who has served since May 1964.

Officers and trustees were elected during the dinner meeting and members were given a sneak preview of a film on the growth of the museum and on its services.

Officers who will serve with Schultheis are Atty. Joseph Conti, vice president; Adam Rhodes, treasurer and Mrs. Robert Beach, secretary.

New trustees elected were N. William Knight, Francis Della Fera, Mrs. James Bordevich and Dr. Paul Norman. Present trustees whose terms were expiring were re-elected to new 3-year terms. Atty. William Fitzgerald was elected to fill the remainder of the term of Robert Murdock, which expires next year. Murdock is moving from town.

The color movie was produced and directed by Knight, with a narrative written by Thomas McPartland of McPartland-Bidwell, an advertising agency. Entitled "When You Toss a Pebble," it interpreted the work done by the museum in stimulating the interest of youngsters and thus broadening their horizons. The museum plans to use it as a means of explaining its goals and its operation.

In his review of progress during his term, Dr. Sumner spoke of the development of the Oak Grove Nature Preserve and of plans to construct a building there, where nature classes can be held. He also mentions "Project Outdoors," an educational program involving federal funds. He said an application has been submitted for a planning grant, and that word about it should be received by July.

Madeline McAvley, director of the museum, told the group that more and more school teachers are making use of the museum's services, and that the growth of the museum has been steady over the years.

Noting that two student teachers had been assigned to the museum for training, she said she can foresee the day when there will be four to six such student teachers there at one time.

Mayor Francis Mahoney, a guest of the museum members, expressed appreciation for the work done by them and assured them the town board of directors would give serious consideration to their request for water and sewer services at the proposed Oak Grove building. To provide both would cost an estimated $9,000.

Schultheis becomes Lutz president after having been involved in the museum for the past five years, three years as a trustee and the last two years as vice president. He is a member of the open spaces subcommittee of the Chamber of Commerce and was active for several years in the Manchester Jaycees.

A native of Syracuse, N.Y., Schultheis has lived in Manchester since 1952. He is a systems planner with the Hartford Electric Light Company. He is married to the former Sydney Weaver of Riverside, Conn., who last month was named volunteer of the year by the Lutz Volunteer League for her work with art classes. The couple has three boys and live at 91 Robert Rd.

PTA Lists Workshops For June 1

The agenda for the Manchester PTA Council's school of instruction has been announced by Mrs. Richard F. Taylor Jr., secretary.

The workshop will be held June 2 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Highland Park School and will give instruction in various phases of PTA work for new officers and committee members in Districts I and II.

The workshops and their leaders are as follows: Instruction for presidents and vice presidents (including parliamentary procedure) Mrs. Roy C. Fosberg, a state vice president and member of the state executive committee; treasurers, George Dickie, Manchester; membership, Mrs. J. C. Durocher, a member of the state board; council delegates, Mrs. Keith Merrill, Manchester.

Also, programs, by Mrs. Taylor; ways and means, Mrs. John Lombardo, Manchester; room mothers, hospitality and refreshments, Mrs. Harold Wareham, Manchester; secretaries and publicity, Mrs. Charles Utting, Manchester; and legislature, Lloyd Berry, Manchester.

The workshop this year is fortunate to have directors from the state PTA with first-hand experience in their fields, according to Mrs. Taylor. Mrs. Fosberg, of Hartford, has been a PTA member 26 years, has served as state legislative chairman, and has been on the state board since 1961.

Mrs. Durocher, of East Hartford, has served on the state board of managers for several years, has been director of District III, was the 1964 state convention chairman, and last year served as state membership chairman.

Registration for the workshop will be at 7:15 p.m. Eugene Montany, local council president, will welcome the delegates and introduce workshop leaders.

The state convention report will be given by Mrs. Maurice Wiley of Manchester, who has been Buckley School PTA president, president of the Manchester council, a director of District II, and who is currently a state vice president in charge of Northeast Regional.

Mrs. Taylor, secretary of the Manchester Council, is also the new state program chairman. She has served as Buckley president for two years.

At 9 p.m., following the individual sessions, there will be a general meeting to discuss the workshops. Refreshments will be served.

Vote Officials Plan Workshop

Manchester's two registrars of voters, Republican Frederick Peck, and Democrat Edward Moriarty, will attend a one-day session of the state Registrars of Voters Association tomorrow at the Hotel Statler, Hartford.

Also planning to attend is Herbert Denslow, deputy Democratic registrar.

The morning portion of the session will be devoted to a business meeting. In the afternoon, representatives of the secretary of state's office will discuss problems relating to election laws and to the conduct of the fall elections.

See If you can remember what you paid for the last pair of quality tailored Dacron-Worsted slacks you bought at a store that offered free alteration service. Not Dacron-RAYON. Dacron-WORSTED. Chances are it was a lot more than $7.88.

Probably at least five dollars more.

Donations of Blood Fall to 120 Pints

Blood donors who made appointments but did not keep them were a major factor in the failure of Manchester's Red Cross Blood Program to meet its 150-pint quota during yesterday's Bloodmobile visit at Concordia Lutheran Church. A total of 120 pints was collected.

While 136 persons made appointments, only 80 actually kept them; however, 60 who walked in saved the monthly program from disaster. Altogether, 140 appeared, but 20 persons were deferred for minor physical reasons.

The Bloodmobile's June visit is scheduled for Temple Beth Sholom June 28, from 1:45 to 6:30 p.m.

Several regular donors became Gallon Club members, topped by Richard J. Bagge Sr., who in giving his 48th pint, completed his 6th gallon. Others included William Matushak, Ralph Swanson and Robert Franklin, 3 gallons; William E. Hill, Mrs. Hazel Azeltine and William Carter, 2 gallons; and Richard J. Double Shower Held for Couple

Miss Alice Neil of 400 E. Center St. and Thomas Whitney of Bridgeport were feted Saturday at a Jack and Jill shower at the Community Y, 79 N. Main St. Mrs. Robert Neil of Bolton, niece of the bride-elect, was hostess. About 75 relatives and friends from Westerly, R.I., Danielson, Andover, Hartford and Manchester attended the party.

Miss Neil is a graduate of Manchester High School and is retiring after being a secretary 25 years at Aetna Fire of Hartford. Whitney is a retired Army major who served in the Pacific and European campaigns.

The couple will be married June 11 in Bridgeport and live in a newly constructed home on Grand Bahama Island, B.W.I.

Duties Divided

NEW YORK — Only two-fifths of U.S. psychiatrists work full-time in private practice, a survey shows. Almost half work part-time or full-time for government or private organizations, and others spend part of their time teaching or in administration or research.

Zone Shifts, Fee Schedule Before TPC

The Town Planning Commission, on June 6, will conduct three public hearings—two for changes and the third for setting up a new fee schedule in connection with applications which require public hearings.

Paul P. Fiano is requesting a change to Business Zone II for all or part of a 19-acre parcel off Hills St. and Hillstown Rd. at the East Hartford town line and now in Rural Residence Zone.

Stanley Bray is requesting a change to Business Zone II for a parcel of approximately an acre, now in Residence Zone AA and Rural Residence Zone. The parcel is off W. Center St., west of the housing for the elderly and east of a parcel owned by Alexander Jarvis, recently rezoned to Business II.

The proposed fee schedule for applications is $3 per lot for a subdivision request, with a $25 minimum; $25 for a zone change request and $25 for a special permit request.

The only charge made at present is $2 per lot for a subdivision application. No fees are charged for zone change or special permit applications.

The public hearings will be held at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Stocks in Brief

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market weathered a slow decline today and began to recover from it early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .3 at 328.9 with industrials off .3, rails unchanged and utilities off .3.

The decline followed three straight days of advance and brokers said that profit taking by traders was in order. The list gave ground stubbornly, however, and as prices refused to stage a hasty retreat more buyers came into the market.

Several of the airlines, electronics, aerospace issues and nonferrous metals converted minus into plus signs.

The mood of the market, though cautious, was not nervous as it had been on some of the hectic sessions of recent weeks.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .27 at 988.14, having recovered from a loss of 3.06.

The 12 per cent decline in the sale of new cars reported for the mid-May period was a background factor but the n ewsdid not seem to have much impact.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

William Bezzette, 24, of South Rd., Rockville, and his brother, Ronald, 25, of Monson, Mass., were charged with breach of peace by assault, resisting arrest, and intoxication. They were unable to post bonds of $250 each and are being held in jail. Their cases were continued to the Stafford Springs court session.

EAST HARTFORD SESSION

Charges of negligent homicide and driving while under the influence of intoxicants against Mahlon L. Tillotson, 28, of 83 Lawler Rd., Vernon, were dismissed.

Tillotson was arrested after the car he was driving hit and killed a pedestrian, Henry A. Voisin, as Voisin was crossing Rt. 84 just east of the Bulkley Bridge in East Hartford in the early evening on Feb. 9.

Atty. Peter H. Blum of Hartford asked for a dismissal on grounds that the coroner's investigation and report showed that Tillotson was driving with reasonable speed, that there was no negligence on his part, and that he was not under the influence of intoxicants at the time of the accident.

Judge Harold M. Missal entered the ruling for dismissal.

Action Set June 7 On Whiton Wing

The board of directors last night viewed the preliminary plans for a proposed $292,000 addition to Whiton Memorial Library and then agreed to take possible action on the proposal on June 7.

That date, at a regular meeting, it will consider authorizing the appointment of an architect and the liquidation of holdings of the Whiton Trust Fund, to pay for the construction.

If an architect is chosen he probably will be Joseph Hirsch of New Britain, who drew the preliminary plans.

Hirsch said last night that, two months ago, he received a verbal commitment from the Library Board, from General Manager Robert Weise and from Director of Public Works Walter Fuss that if and when money is authorized and an architect is chosen, he would be that architect.

In the meantime, he was authorized to draw the preliminary plans at a fee to be included in the overall architectural fee. He said that he understood that, in the event the proposed construction is not authorized, he will receive no fee for the preliminary plans.

The cost of the proposed renovation and additions would come from the Whiton Trust Fund, which has a market value today of about $270,000, and from federal funds, available for library construction. The latter source would pay from 26 to 33 per cent of the overall cost.

The Whiton Memorial Library was opened in 1932 and had been built with funds left in the will of the late Dr. Francis Henry Whiton, who died in 1922.

Library Board Chairman William Buckley disclosed last night that, in 1938, the surplus left in the Whiton Trust Fund had a market value of $40,000. In June, 1965, he said, the market value had soared to $340,000, but, in the past year, has dropped to $270,000.

He said that the board of directors must determine whether the Fund, invested in Aetna and Traveler's stock, should be liquidated, before it drops further, or whether it should be kept intact, in anticipation of a rise.

Buckley explained that the Whiton Trust Fund is restricted for library construction and renovation in the North End only and that it is a building fund and not an endowment fund.

He said that, spending it on Whiton Library additions and renovations would mean fulfillment of its intent.

The proposed addition, of 9,068 square feet, Hirsch said, would give the North End Library approximately the same workable space as contained in the Mary Cheney Library.

The estimated $292,000 cost, he said, would include additions, alterations, complete air-conditioning, furnishings, architects' fees and contingencies.

Of the overall 9,068 square feet of additions, 3,268 square feet would be added to the basement, 4,000 to the first floor, and 1,800 to a new mezzanine.

Entrance to the library would be from the parking lot, at the west of the building, and a new facade would be constructed at the north of the building, to give an attractive appearance when the relocated N. Main St. is completed and parallels it.

Hirsch said that the proposed plans include a new children's room, movable equipment for rationing space as needed, and provision for expansion over the next 20 years.

He said that he needs only two months to prepare workable plans and bid specifications.

Nurse Scholarship Group Entertain Future Nurses

Miss Patricia Morse of 43 Ashland St. looks over pamphlets on a career in nursing with Dr. Edward L. Besser, center, and William McBride, at the last night at a dinner meeting for 19 seniors of Manchester and East Catholic High Schools at Luther Hall. Emanuel Lutheran Church. The event was sponsored by the Manchester Student Nurse Scholarship Fund Committee for girls planning a career in nursing. McBride is a founder and advisor of the group which, through their efforts during the past 12 years, has provided many nurses for Manchester Memorial Hospital. A total of 50 girls have been assisted with nursing careers since 1954. Permanent members of the scholarship committee include members of the board of trustees, medical staff and nurses association; and Eleven new registered nurses will join the staff of Manchester Hospital this fall, all who have been aided by the scholarship committee. After the dinner a film was shown on "Nurses Training." Members of Lydia Circle of Emanuel Church prepared and served the dinner. (Herald Photo by Saternis)

Tax Rate Up 5 Mills To 38.5 Next Year

A 38.5-mill tax rate for the 1966-67 fiscal year was set by the town council last night. The figure represents a five-mill increase over the present rate of 33.5 mills.

The council also approved two additional budget appropriations one to cover a deficit in the board of education account of $29,800, and the other a sum of $8,000 —an amount equal to about one mill —to be placed in an account to pay for nonrecurring capital improvements.

Both appropriations will be financed from the 1966-67 fiscal year tax levy.

In addition to the two appropriations, this tax levy will finance a board of education budget of $2,617,430, set by the council on April 20, and a general government budget and debt retirement costs of $1,470,-921.87, approved by the council May 18.

The total amount to be financed is $4,201,151.87. Estimated indirect revenues from sources other than town taxes are estimated at $974,488.59. Most of that sum, $740,907, is in education grants.

That leaves $3,226,718.28 to be raised by taxes.

The current Grand List sets the valuation of taxable property in town at $82,885,175. That means that each mill on the tax rate will produce about $83,-885 in tax income, and 38.5 mills will produce about $3,229,977. Some of that amount will not be collectable, and some more may be needed for tax adjustments.

Mayor James Throwe noted last night that the town charter requires that the council take into account deficits or surplus es, in setting the tax rate.

In 1965, Mayor Throwe said, the council took advantage of a surplus available from previous years when it set the present 33.5 mill rate.

However, the mayor continued, this year there is no surplus; at the same time, there is a deficit in the board of education account.

School Deficit

The deficit was not run up solely in the 1965-66 fiscal year, but was carried over from previous years, the mayor said. He asked Superintendent of Schools Charles Warner to explain the deficit.

Warner said that, upon coming to South Windsor in July or 1964, he "inherited some $16,000 worth of bills. The deficit was reduced by $3,500 during the 1964-65 school year and the total carried over to the current year was approximately $12,000.

During the current year, Warner said, additional expenses were incurred that were not anticipated at the time the 1965-66 budget was adopted, amounting to $29,000. The expenses were mainly in the transportation account, due in part to the inclusion of public kindergarten in the system requiring additional buses at the noon hour.

In order to alleviate the problems encountered with the late arrival in the afternoon of some students due to transportation.

Four additional buses were also contracted, at a cost of some $24,000, to alleviate late afternoon trips home.

By stringent economies, the debt was reduced to $17,000 this year, which, added to the $12,500 deficit from last year, makes up the $29,800 total, Warner said.

This year's $17,000 deficit is not solely attributable to the inclusion of the kindergarten classes, he said.

Mayor Throwe questioned if any change in the amount of the deficit was anticipated. He referred to a letter from the board to the council, dated May 11, which stated that, "to the best of our knowledge," the total deficit to June 30 was $29,800.

Warner replied that no change was evident.

Noting that the board had been beset by unusual problems, the mayor said the inclusion of the kindergartens in 1964 and the early opening of the Orchard Hill School in 1963 had not been anticipated during budget deliberations those years.

"In this instance, it would seem that, in order to enjoy better fiscal responsibility, the board has a duty to come to the town council at the time a deficit occurs and not at the end of the fiscal year, so that the council can consider this in the proper light," the mayor said.

He also commented that the board had approved hiring of a business manager, a position not included in the budget approved April 20. Mayor Throwe said he would not like to see this as a deficit item in the future.

The mayor noted that, "when a problem occurs, the council would like to be advised of it, and not after it has occurred."

Warner asked whether the council was advised by the board in 1964 of the deficit at that time. While some funds were appropriated to cover a portion of the deficit at the time, a balance did remain.

Councilman D. P. Cavanaugh said he agreed with the comments on the unanticipated transportation fees, and noted that he could not impute any criticism of the board.

The council has made it clear that it is up to the board to spend the appropriated funds as it sees fit, he said, noting that the board has kept within its budget except for the deficits mentioned.

Councilman Howard Fitts called for more communications between the school board and the council, to promote awareness of each others problems, and noted that such communications could have eased the situation during the fiscal year.

Capital Improvements

Discussing the appropriation of $8,000 for the capital improvements fund, Mayor Throwe said the town's capital goals and improvements committee had recommended an appropriation equal to one mill be set aside each year for the fund.

Under the committee's plan, an additional half-mill would be added to the fund each year, to eventually reach three mills per year by 1971.

The funds are set aside in a special account, and the interest accrued added in, to provide money for capital expenditures such as roads, schools, town buildings and other projects.

Noting that, when the town sets funds aside in advance, bonding costs and interest charges are saved, the mayor said these costs can amount to as much as 40 per cent of the cost of the project over the life of a twenty year bond. Such a plan also saves future taxpayers from paying the past bills.

He also commented that such a plan, although laudatory, is difficult.

Cavanaugh said he felt it unrealistic to think that the fund can be built up to the point where it could be used to pay for a large capital expenditure, but he spoke in favor of the appropriation from the standpoint that it would serve to "even off the tax rate."

Deputy Mayor Umberto Del-Mastro, commenting on the mill rate, said the mill rate last year would have had to be 36 mills, if the $50,000 in surplus fund had not been used.

Commenting that the coming fiscal year appropriation is "not actually a five-mill increase," Del Mastro said the surplus plus was used last year and this year "we must pay the consequence."

Mayor Throwe concluded by saying that, during the coming year, the problems of the past are being surmounted. He noted the recent change in the fiscal year was aided by surplus funds, and that the town was aided by surplus funds the year property was revalued.

Despite the increase of $6 million dollars in the Grand List this year, the mayor said the council was still not able to "come anywhere near keeping the tax rate near last year's."

"The increases that have been made that resulted in a 38.5 mill rate would be agreed with the council," he said. He commended the council for its work going through the board of education budget, the town government budget, and other budget items.

The mayor noted that substantial cuts were made in many areas that the council felt laudable, but that it felt the town could not afford them. He noted that these cuts had amounted to $200,000, or just under 3 mills.

Strike Settled By 'Phone Union

BOSTON (AP) — The New England Telephone Co. and the International Brotherhood of Telephone Workers have settled a strike by 15,000 installers and repairmen.

Except for IBTW members in greater Boston, striking employees in the five affected states — all New England except Connecticut — were required to report for work shifts today under terms of the settlement.

The 1,100 members of Local 2 in Greater Boston, who participated May 13 in a walkout that was not authorized by the IBTW, had their return postponed until Thursday morning.

The settlement specifies that both the company and the IBTW will remain free to prosecute claims they have filed against each other.

Both have filed unfair labor practice charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

Sweet Corn Now Sweeter

By ALLEN AND SHEILA SWENSON
NEA Garden Specialists

New sweet corn is a treat you'll want to try this year. Plant breeders have created improved varieties that produce abundantly and retain high sugar content longer for tastier eating.

Plan now to try some sweet corn this year, even in limited space, with succe...ion planting and using several varieties. Succession extends the sweet corn season right through the winter.

Here are some top varieties. Golden Cross Bantam, Iochief, Ioana, Spincross and Cornell's Gold Rush are all excellent. Check seed catalogs as you plan your garden to select early, mid- and late - season varieties or use succession planting every three weeks to keep supplies coming.

Pre-sprout corn seed after all danger of frost has passed and soil has become thoroughly warm. Make rows 2½ to 3 feet apart, set seeds 6 to 8 inches apart. Proper spacing depends on your cultivating methods, whether by hoe or power.

Remember that corn should be planted in blocks of at least four rows side-by-side to insure proper pollination. One packet normally plants four rows, each 25 feet long.

Pre-sprout extra seed in simple. Husk, swash, blanch according to freezer instructions and pop into bags or freezer containers. Preparing in the husk risks flavor loss.

Funds Restored to Budget For Treatment Plant Work

The board of representatives met last night, the second of three meetings scheduled this week to reduce an 8.5 mill increase in the town's tax rate. On Monday night, the board eliminated about $53,000 from the budget.

Last night, however, instead of reducing the budget, the board voted to restore $20,000 of a $50,000 item for repairs to the sewage treatment plant.

The $50,000 was an estimate on needed repairs to the plant. The item was eliminated earlier this month, but restored last night when representatives discussed the State Water Resources Commission order that the sewage treatment plant be put in efficient working order. Representatives estimated $2,500 for the equipment to reserve fund and a $1,200 item for purchase of a Ph meter because the meter is included in the $20,000 item. Town fathers added $1,000 for raising the furnace at the plant when Mayor Thomas J. McCusker reported that engineers conducting a survey of the plants needs urged the action.

A controversy over the pay of Richard "Bill" Smith was resolved last night when the board voted to give Joslin a $500 pay raise and approved a $1,000 salary increase for Andrew Tricarico, public works director.

The board by-passed action on a budget item of $91,000 for town - wide refuse collections. Presently, $96,000 is earmarked for refuse collections for district I, (Rockville), but this amount is returnable to the town because residents getting the service must pay a users charge. If town-wide collections are approved, the cost of the service would be included in the tax rate.

Mayor McCusker noted that the cost to taxpayers for private collections is no greater than the cost for a town-sponsored collection.

Two members of the board noted that, under the present proposal, only residences would receive the weekly town - wide collection, eliminating collections from stores and industry. They asked if the plan would not be considered a special use which, under the charter, would require a users charge instead of including the cost in the tax rate.

The plan was tabled and the matter turned over to town counsel for an opinion.

Correction

The board of representatives on Monday night eliminated a $7,500 budget item for a reserve fund to purchase a fire truck for District II. It was mistakenly reported in The Herald Tuesday that the fund remained intact.

Rep. Thomas C. Carruthers, recommending a paid fire chief Monday night, was incorrectly quoted in another proposal. His idea about paid firemen is that they would work days, supplemented by volunteers who would handle calls on nights and weekends.

Auto Makers Argue Over Sales Report

Optimists were cheered that the 243,407 sales posted May 11-20 ran about 50,000 cars ahead of the early May totals.

Others noted that the latest total lagged about 3,000 units behind the corresponding 10 days of last year. It also marked the fourth time in the last five 10-day periods that sales figures trailed those of a year ago.

The sales pattern was the same at all four auto companies.

General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors all sold more cars than they did in the opening 10 days of this month when sales dipped sharply. Each sold fewer cars than in May 11-20 1965.

Sales for calendar 1966 through May 20 totaled 3,681,096 new cars, about 1 per cent or 32, 578 cars ahead of the 1965 pace.

May's - auto production quota of about 800,000 cars appeared within reach. It would mark the second biggest May in automotive history, second only to the 837,701 cars built in that month last year.

Dealer inventory, the total of cars in dealer hands or en route to them, passed the 1.6 million mark for the first time. At present sales rates, auto industry leaders appeared convinced the model cleanup could be achieved with a minimum of difficulty.

Winnie-the-Pooh Rewrite Aimed at Young Readers

For 42 years—since the late A.A. Milne wrote the-first Winnie the Pooh books—many literate persons have been under the impression that Milne wrote for children.

In fact, he wrote with one particular child in mind, his son, Christopher Robin Milne.

Now 45, Christopher Milne says: "I was 6 when the first book came out. I had no trouble understanding it."

Responsible for the rewrite is a British publishing company, Young World Products. It is bringing out eight Pooh books—six of them rewrites—to "provide an opportunity for the mass market to meet Winnie the Pooh."

The new editions will be, officially, books from the film in which Walt Disney made Winnie a movie star.

Rosemary Garland, a children's author who is doing the rewrite on Pooh, said:

"I think that Milne's very adult. Many of his Poohisms are a very sophisticated form of humor like abridging Milne's sentences."

The rewriting cuts the original by 90 per cent, according to Peter Belbin, a director of the publishing firm.

For example, Milne's story about piglet covers eight full pages of text taking up several thousand words. The abridged edition tells the story in 28 pages, but each page has only 20-40 words beneath a large illustration.

Tolland County

Democrats Asked to Back More State Aid to Schools

The Democratic State Platform Committee heard pleas for increased aid to education at a hearing last night at the Vernon administration building. The hearing was the only one to be scheduled by the state party organization for residents in the Tolland County area.

Mrs. Maurice Willey of Manchester, spokesman for the state PTA, told the public hearing that substantial state aid should support required kindergartens in every town.

Smaller towns spend more than 80 per cent of their budgets on schools, leaving too little for other expenditures, said Stephen Loyzim of Coventry.

He urged that state educational aid be distributed on the basis of an equalized grand list. A technical school is needed in Tolland County, he said.

John Burokas of Tolland proposed that state grants take into consideration the number of students in a classroom with a bonus for towns meeting maximum requirements. He also suggested standardized building and money for towns.

Democratic support for the Connecticut Education Association's programs was sought by Mahlon Hayden of Mansfield, who said teachers should have a voice in determining certification standards, and that standards should be raised.

Monroe Palmer of Ellington called for legislation to protect hospital workers.

Other suggestions were for a code of ethics for political campaign financing, a state lottery, industry contributions to bedroom towns of their employes, more regional development programs and free legal advice for persons over 65.

After frying or broiling bacon be sure to drain it on brown paper or paper toweling.

Hard Goods Watched for Price Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—In jittery days the public joints business in watching more closely the signs that have gained a reputation for foretelling good days or bad ahead. And right now some are pointing to caution. But most still seem to say that good times could last for quite a spell.

One of the economic tea leaves that is being studied at the moment in the highly important one of new orders for durable goods.

The bad news is that they turned down in April after months of steady advances. The good news is that, since shipments also dropped in April, the backlog of unfilled orders rose—meaning that there's plenty of activity assured for most durable goods makers for weeks and even months ahead.

Further reassurance to optimists can be found in last year's performance of the durable good orders as a directionpointer. In 1965 orders turned down on three occasions, only to recover quickly and climb to new highs.

And a pause now in new orders might be welcomed by government economists because it could relieve pressure for higher prices of some industrial materials that have been getting in tighter supply. It was the long rise in new orders and backlogs that get much of the blame for price hikes in recent months in metals and other factory supplies.

The reputation of durable goods orders as a signpost in future economic trends is built on this: Along with some other indicators, orders usually turn up before business in general does, or turn down while business activity continues high and the public is unaware of a coming change in the wind.

How new orders for durables held up in May will be watched closely. In April they dropped to a seasonally adjusted $23.9 billion from the record $24.6 billion in March. But durable shipments declined also, so that the order backlog rose by $1.1 billion to $87.7 billion at the end of April. Even if new orders continue sluggish, the backlog means busy days ahead for many factories.

April was the 26th consecutive month that new durable goods orders topped shipments. And manufacturers have been investing their shipments. So far this year average monthly shipments have been $3 billion higher than in the like period of 1965. But new orders grew so fast in the first three months of this year that the spread between orders and shipments is the biggest since the middle of 1956.

Unfilled orders are now equal to about 3½ months' shipments. A year ago it was three months.

High as is the total of orders still on the books—$87.7 billion—in backlog still has a long way to go to reach the $78.8 billion of November 1952, when the Korean War buildup was at its peak. At that time the backlog equaled seven months of shipments from 1952's smaller factories.

Makers of durable goods continue to expand and modernize their plants, so that their ability to increase shipments grows. And this year they expect to increase factory capacity by 8 per cent.

It is against that background that business studies the figures on new orders. Will the April turndown be only temporary? Or will the backlog of orders start to shrink, too? And how soon?

If only a temporary bobble is in store, business needn't batten down the hatches—fair weather would be still ahead.

Area Weather

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP) — Cloudiness will thicken this morning with some light rain spreading into Connecticut this afternoon at the U.S. Weather Bureau says.

Temperatures will be cooler than Tuesday's and will probably reach only into the 70s.

The high pressure system that brought the warm weather has moved out to sea and a return flow of warm, moist air from the south will settle over the state today.

Light rain and drizzle has been moving steadily up the coast. Even though a deck of cloudiness and rain covers the mid-Atlantic states, there is no organized storm system associated with this latest outbreak of cool, damp weather.

The rain will last most of tonight and taper off by morning with cloudiness and just a few sprinkles remaining Thursday. Five day forecast.

Temperatures in Connecticut Thursday through Monday are expected to average a little above normal inland and near normal along the coast.

At this time normal high and low temperatures at Hartford are 77 and 51, at Bridgeport 72 and 50, and at New Haven 71 and 51.

Precipitation may total between one-quarter and one-half inch as showers, mainly during

at First National Stores

Most business people feel this way about their customers, but at First National, we work a little harder to prove it.

What do we mean when we say, at First National, You come first? Just this. We take extra care with every thing we sell. Take our own "Yor" Garden canned vegetables. We select quality vegetables that surpass even the superb standards for Grade "A" canned vegetables set by the United States Government.

And our FIRST CHOICE MEATS. Butchers always say you can tell a good store by its ground beef. We grind ours several times a day to insure freshness . . . and do it in spotlessly-clean grinders . . . the way you would in your own kitchen.

When a hen lays an egg, it's usually Grade "A". But will it be Grade "A" when it reaches your family table? It will — if you bought it at First National. At First National, we're fussy about egg freshness. When you don't take eggs from our shelves, we do! And we date our egg boxes so you can check freshness yourself. Know a better way to be sure?

This is the spirit and attitude of all our friendly First National folks, too.

Because they like their work and know their jobs a little better, they are more eager to serve you.

Won't you give us the chance to show you how — in so many ways — You come first at First National Stores!

Negro Emmy Winner Wants to Be Teacher

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Cosby, the first Negro to star in a television series, has won an Emmy award for his performance—another first. But he says that what he'd really like to do is teach school and own "a farm full of horses and kids."

Cosby, a 28-year-old comedian turned actor for the weekly series, "I Spy," received a standing ovation as he accepted his Emmy, an award he said came as no surprise.

"I was the sentimental favorite—I'm a Negro," he said in an interview after the awards ceremony.

But the award bothered Cosby too, because it didn't also go to his costar in the series, Robert Culp.

"To tell you the truth," Cosby said, "when I started out, I didn't know what it was all about until Bob sat down and taught me. He was the first one to write a script with me doing any acting.

"When I got up to get that award, I couldn't help but look back and my mom, say what I really felt about Bob. You can't finish off a relay race in first place and not look back to the guy who handed you the baton."

Cosby's beginnings were in Philadelphia, and it is there he wants to return some day to teach school in a lower-class neighborhood and ride horses in the country with his wife, Camille, and "a farm full of kids."

He thinks maybe he can do some good by righting mistakes that were made with him, "Like not laying it on the line with a kid—the whole truth, man—what it's all about."

"I didn't get the nitty gritty until I was 22 with no high school diploma, out of the service, and too ashamed to go back home and live off my mother.

"So I took a test and got my diploma and went to Temple University. But I left there too. People told me I was funny. They laughed at me, so I became a comedian."

"A Bill Cosby today is an important thing, but I don't want any kids to think they can goof it all up then catch up when they're 22," he said.

"I want to go back and tell them myself that it's not the right way to do it."

Cosby was interrupted by a telephone call from actor Sidney Poitier who was calling his congratulations, and Cosby joked with him like a man who enjoys the business he's in.

In fact, he says he isn't about to give it up now, even for a farm and a teaching job.

"There are other things I'd like to do besides television," he said, "but I'd be foolish to say I'm only here for quick money so I can get out.

"I intend to be a wealthy young man some day soon, but I'm not rushing. Right now I like me just like I am—an all-around winner."

Art in Hospitals

BALTIMORE — A private corporation here has distributed more than 2,000 works of art for display in hospitals since 1957. In many of the 32 hospitals taking part in the statewide program, patients are allowed to select art to be hung in their rooms.

$25,000 GRANT RECEIVED

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The American Schizophrenia Foundation has awarded a $25,000 grant to Dr. Francis J. Braceland of the Institute of Living, Hartford, Conn.

The grant for further development and research on biological aspects of schizophrenia, a mental disease, was the largest of five grants totaling $40,000 announced Tuesday by the foundation.

People In The News

Neil Theobald

NEW YORK (AP) — A model, who last month was mauled by a lion while posing with the animal, posed again Tuesday — alone.

Neil Theobald, 21, sat in a wheelchair as she left a hospital where she underwent plastic surgery on her left leg.

The lion attacked Miss Theobald April 8 during a publicity stunt at the National Auto Show.

Sophia Loren

NEW YORK (AP) — Sophia Loren may be a fiery entrant on the screen and a sex symbol in the minds of millions, but she is "a very simple Neapolitan girl" at heart.

That's what she told reporters Tuesday when she arrived to attend a dinner at the Museum of Modern Art, where she is feared in an exhibition of photographs.

When a reporter suggested that she might be an unusually pretty Neapolitan girl, she offered a reply that may start a Manhattan skampede to Italy.

"Thank you," she said. "But maybe you have never been in Naples."

Paul Newman

Mayor Lindsay

He is going to fly to and from his City Hall office and Gracie Mansion, the mayor's official residence.

A helicopter pad is being built just off the grounds of the mansion along the East River and should be finished within a month.

Lindsay will then be able to fly from home to the Wall Street heliport near City Hall, cutting his traveling time from about 40 to 16 minutes.

Women's Club Holds Dinner

About 140 members of the Women's Club of Manchester attended a dinner - meeting Monday at Glastonbury Hills Country Club.

Floral centerpieces were judged by prizes. Mrs. John Gerard won first place for an arrangement of lilacs, tulips and wisteria placed in a large, deep ruby goblet. Mrs. Raymond Badger won second place for an arrangement of white pinx, tulips and bleeding hearts, and Mrs. George Nicodowski won third place for a centerpiece of parrot tulips and lilacs.

Organ music was played before and during the dinner by John Mahoney of Manchester. "The Village Charmers," a female barbershop-style quartet from Mountain Laurel Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., presented a program after the dinner. Mrs. Louis Champeau was program chairman for the event.

The program for the coming year was announced as follows: September, Dessert Bridge and Fashion Show; October, Sybil Leek, Witchcraft; November, Mrs. Robert Richard, Holiday Decorations; December, Miss Kathleen Nelson of the Wadsworth Atheneum; - January, Men's Night; February, Robert Jones, Contemporary Sounds of Music; March, Barbara Warren Sturz, Theatre-goer; April, Prof. Carmen Donnarumma and May, tentatively scheduled for a theater party.

It was also announced that the Women's Club had donated $25 each to the Senior Citizen's Club, Instructors of the Handicapped, American Field Service and Kennedy Day Camp.

Committee chairmen and officers were introduced by Mrs. Gerard, president.

Measles Danger Cut

WASHINGTON — Since the licensing of measles vaccine in 1963, cases of measles have dropped from 385,000 that year to 208,000 reported in 1965. In this interval, some 23 million doses of vaccine have been given in the United States.

Fancy Tags Now Put on All Ailments

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you losing social status in your community because your friends and neighbors have more interesting diseases than you do?

Take stock of yourself. A good self - inventory may reveal you are one of the lucky ones.

Chances are that for years you have been harboring some fascinating ailments you never even knew of—maladies which are bound to win the respect of your crowd.

For example, let us investigate your fears. Psychiatry now has a high-sounding name for practically ever fear in the human catalog of error.

No doubt, like many people, you feel that you aren't being promoted on your job fast enough. Put yourself down as a victim of taphephobia, the fear of being buried alive.

On the other hand, perhaps you worry because your boss is throwing more chores your way than you feel you can handle. Clearly you are suffering from hyperergyophobia, the fear of responsibility.

Does your bartender habitually put too much lemon juice in your daiquiries? Let him know that you're an acerophobiac, one who fears sourness. If his martinis are too wet, tell him you're a lifelong hygrophobiac, one who fears moisture.

Millions of straphanging subway riders endure stasibasiphobia, the fear of having to stand up, and the condition probably is incurable— as there never have been and never will be enough seats on the subway.

Two ailments which might help improve children but which few have today are meatigophobia, fear of flogging, and rhabdophobia, fear of the rod.

Do you hate anything which disturbs the daily routine of your life? man, you're a triple-winner. You've come down with neophobia, fear of anything new; kainotophobia, fear of novelty; and kainophobia, fear of change.

Don't apologize any more, if you find many modern novels unreadable and most modern art meaningless. It isn't your fault. You've just got symbolophobia, the fear of symbolism.

Practically none of us can stand the thought of growing old. That's because—since youth worship is so widespread—we are gnawed by chronophobia, the fear of time.

If you live in a dread of constant borrowers, just yourself among the haytephobes, those who fear being touched.

If you're a wife and think your husband is telling fibs about having to stay late at the office, you've got a bad case of mythophobia, the fear of myths.

Maybe civilization upsets you so much that you can't think of anything that doesn't frighten you. Well, you've got the big-package deal disease—pantophobia, the fear of everything.

Columnists, of course, aren't spared from the general panic. Their occupational disease is the most terrifying of all—graphophobia, the fear of writing.

Charge Dropped In Bridgeport

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — A charge of being an "habitual fender" has been withdrawn by the state in the case of Ernest N. White of Norwalk, who was convicted of rape last Friday.

The withdrawal of the charge was announced in Superior Court Tuesday after Judge Raymond J. Devlin rejected defense motions to set aside the verdicts in last week's trial of the 36-year-old White.

He had been convicted of raping a nurse in Bridgeport, and assaulting another woman in Fairfield.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Devlin. The maximum possible sentence on the two charges is 21 years imprisonment.

Hubs in Australia

MELBOURNE — Australia's principal commercial centers, Melbourne and Sydney, contain about 40 per cent of the country's 11.5 million population and the headquarters of most of the major companies. The majority of factories are situated nearby.

PLANE LANDS O.K.

STRATFORD (AP) — A hydraulic system leak in an Allegheny Airlines twin-engine Convair caused the plane to return to Bridgeport Municipal Airport a few minutes after takeoff Tuesday.

The leak, in a landing gear system was discovered, and the plane landed without difficulty. Eight passengers were aboard the flight.

President Stays and Stays

LBJ Parties Really Swing

And, lately, dinners, receptions and dances at the White House are lasting longer and longer.

The choicest ingredient of any White House party is, of course, the President. Everyone who comes wants to meet him — and his wife — and go home and tell the folks about it.

At a party the President encourages his young daughters — and his guests from diplomats to secretaries — to swing out on the polished East Room floor in the frenetic frug, swim, monkey or the hitch-hiker.

He's even loosened up White House secretaries; Bill D. Moyers and Elizabeth Carpenter, to do the frug together. And there's one staff version known as "the LBJ" because it includes some of Johnson's characteristic gestures, like pointing the finger and holding the phone to his year.

At a recent dinner dance given in honor of Denmark's Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag and his blonde actress wife, Helle Virkner, Johnson summoned daughter Luci and told her to get a walzuz going.

When the band swung into the booming beat of "Downtown," 16-year-old Luci and her fiance, Pat Nugent, did just that, and the President led the applauding spectators from the sidelines.

A lot of careful planning goes into White House parties — and the President is first to give credit to his wife and her hard-working social secretary, Bess Abell, tall, attractive blonde daughter of a former Kentucky governor and senator, Earle G. Clemens.

Lately, they've included a number of stars from the Hollywood and New York theatrical set to add to the glamor. But it's Johnson's own expansive hosting that really keeps things alive.

But, he can be indefatigable on the dance floor, often keeping up a marathon pace that brings beads of perspiration to his forehead.

Bachelor military aides from every branch of the service get special White House party duty. And the President gives them orders to keep the ladies dancing.

Often, he gives orders to the dance bands to play short segments so that he can change partners frequently and he's a master at that art.

There's hardly a lady that doesn't get a turn on the dance floor with him.

Mrs. Johnson keeps an eagle eye on her husband and pops up to rescue him anytime she thinks he's too surrounded by reporters or spends too much time with some favored guest.

"He usually goes along with her.

Protocol once prescribed that guests stayed until the President left a party. But that idea has long been a thing of the past. Visiting heads of state and V.I.P. visitors in the White House usually leave long before President Johnson tires of the fun.

He smilingly sees them to the front door — the imposing north portico — offers a friendly farewell — and goes back to the dancing. Sometimes the President even outlasts his wife, who is a devoted dancer hostess.

The times that he has departed early, his party has just slipped away, too.

And, if he has any secret formula for the success of these events, a close associate says:

Saigon Free Translation 'Shapes Up' U.S. Visitors

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — If fair rattles a lonely American to pick up the morning paper and learn the New York Mets won a "nightrap."

You are informed, for example, that the new Miss U.S.A., Marta Judith Remmert, was happy when she "wope up" the morning after winning the title.

It seems that the city's typesetters, long accustomed to French, have not yet reached a working agreement with English.

Then there was an intriguing story about a German woman who ran a string of shops specializing in sex information. Years ago, the story said, she delivered planes to the "putt-putt waffe."

After that they can go to a "modern and tranquil" hotel. It is fairly near a nightclub with "peasant hostesses."

Any soldier whose kids are having trouble at home would be attracted to the ad for an agency asking if he is interested "in adapting a child."

Graduates of President John F. Kennedy's favorite university would be cheered to learn that it has offered an honorary degree to President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines. The headline says "Marcos to get degree from Harvard."

Luci Baines Johnson and her forthcoming wedding also are in the news. Seems the wedding will be a smashing success because Luci wants it "Hittway."

Oh yes, the Mets won that nightrap by a score of 7-3, they lost the first game to San Francisco 5-0. They were playing "baseball."

Map Changes Pending, Guina Gets New Name

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) —This little British colony on South America's northeast coast will force a revision on world maps after it becomes independent Thursday. It will change its name to Guyana.

Still another revision will be necessary Sept. 30—this one on the ever-changing map of Africa. Bechuanaland, a British territory, will become independent and change its name to Botswana.

Since the end of World War II there have been many revisions in the names of countries and former colonies.

For example, in 1960 alone, France unleashed its African territories and thus gave birth to 14 new nations, some with new names: the Central African Republic, Gabon, Senegal, Malagasy, The Congo Republic, Chad, Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Upper Volta, Mauritania, Niger, Cameroon, Mali and Togo.

Africa has changed rapidly throughout the decade. In 1964, the former colonies of Tanganyika and Zanzibar merged and became Tanzania, telescoping the old names.

Earlier the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, a condominium, became plain Sudan. The United Nations trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi split and became the independent nations of Rwanda and Burundi.

The Central African Federation embraced the old British colonies of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland until 1963. Then Nyasaland broke away and became Malawi; Southern Rhodesia became just Rhodesia, and Northern Rhodesia became Zambia.

In 1957 Africa's old Gold Coast became Ghana, a name going back to an old, powerful realm or city that reigned over the area from the 4th to 15th century.

After the shooting had stopped in World War II, the first new name for the map came in Southeast Asia: a man named Sukarno and other rebels in the 3,000-mile archipelago called the Dutch East Indies proclaimed the independent republic of Indonesia Aug. 17, 1945.

Siam became Thailand in 1945. French Indochina broke up into Cambodia, Laos and North and South Viet Nam in 1954. On Sept. 9, 1963 Malaysia was formed of the old British colonies of Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo. Singapore left a party. But that idea

Education Board Acts On Faculty Positions

The board of education at its Monday session accepted "with regret" the resignations of two veteran teachers who will retire in June with a combined total of 57 years of service in the Manchester school system.

In other matters relating to personnel, the board accepted eight more resignations, made eight appointments, and granted three leaves of absence.

The retirees are Miss Evelyn Palmer, kindergarten teacher at Waddell School, who has taught here 34 years; and Mrs. Doris Lund, Manchester High School social studies teacher, with 23 years in the town schools.

The board voted to send letters to both thanking them for their long service.

Other resignations accepted included: Miss Martha Lord, and Richard H. Rudolph, both currently on leaves of absence; Miss Roberta Dick, Manchester High School French teacher; Miss Sharon Walworth, recently appointed to teach English at MHS, who has accepted a position elsewhere; Mrs. Lois Aurand, MHS homemaking instructor; Mrs. Elizabeth Gilman, Grade 4, Nathan Hale; Miss Carol Leamy, Grade 2, Manchester Green; and Mrs. Patricia Trymbiuk, Grade 2 at Keeney.

Leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Janet McGarity, Bowers, Grade 2, for maternity; Miss Louise Tracey, Bowers, Grade 1 (no reason given); and Sheldon Zoln, Bennet Junior High, who will attend classes full time for a master's degree.

Appointments are as follows: Mrs. Carolyn Becker, 52, of Manchester, to teach biology at Manchester High, Step 2 of the 6th year schedule. She has a BS from Byrn Mawr and an MA plus a 6th year advanced certificate from the University of Hartford.

Mrs. Marlane G. McKenzie, 35, of Manchester, to be an elementary art teacher, Step 3 of the bachelor's schedule. She has a BS from Skidmore College.

Miss Alberta Neumann, 24, of East Hartford, to teach English at Illing Junior High, Step 2 of the bachelor's schedule. She holds a BS from the University of Hartford.

Mrs. Priscilla W. Myers, 24, of Danielson, to teach home economics at Manchester High, Step 4 of the bachelor's schedule. She is a BS graduate of the University of Rhode Island.

Miss Melinda J. Werther, 24, of Meriden, to teach Latin and English at Bennet Junior High, Step 4 of the bachelor's schedule. She has a BA degree from the University of Connecticut.

Ronald Propp to continue teaching English at Manchester High School, Step 5 of the bachelor's schedule. He had resigned to accept another position, but now plans to stay at MHS.

John Carlson, 26, of Manchester to teach Grade 4 at Highland Park, Step 2 of the bachelor's schedule. He holds a bachelor of music degree from the University of Hartford.

Miss Valerie Anne DuPont, 22, of Springfield, Mass., to teach Grade 3 at South School, Step 2 of the bachelor's schedule. She is a BA graduate of Our Lady of the Elms.

In Black Case

FBI Tells High Court Agents Eavesdropped

shall said the bugging, which took place between February and April 1963, "was unrelated to the tax evasion case."

But he added: "The listening device was in operation from approximately two months before until approximately one month after the evidence was presented to the grand jury and the indictment was returned.

"During that time the monitoring agents overheard, among other conversations, exchanges between petitioner and the attorney who was the representing him in connection with the tax evasion charges on which he has been convicted."

Marshall said although the Justice Department is convinced "the recording of conversations had no effect upon his conviction or the fairness of his trial, we have no doubt that in the circumstances (Black) is entitled to a judicial determination."

Marshall emphasized the entire case against Black was based on investigation by the IRS and not the FBI, but added that Black should be allowed to raise the question in U.S. District Court whether any other conversations overheard by the agents "furnished any leads or evidence in his case."

Possibly indicating FBI practice in reporting to its parent Justice Department, Marshall said while the justice prosecutor had access to FBI reports summarizing the bugged information, "these reports did not disclose the manner in which the information had been obtained or that such information reflected discussions between petitioner and counsel."

A Justice Department spokesman said since last July — at the explicit order of President Johnson — electronic snooping has been confined to national security cases and may be conducted only with the attorney general's approval.

Johnson's position was stated after a Senate subcommittee revealed unauthorized tapping of telephone wires by investigators of the Internal Revenue Service.

I BELIEVE:
"Senior Citizens" are very important.
We know "Senior Citizens" of our communities use more than 3½ times more drugs than most.
We know that Senior Citizens must watch their pennies . . . and FAMILY DRUG prices, devised for persons on limited budgets, can mean a great deal in savings for everyone.
Governor Dempsey has proclaimed the month of May as "Senior Citizen Month." He further stated Connecticut's elderly are "deserving of every possible assistance."

Good Defense, Good Hitting, Good Pitching

Red Sox Overpower Twins

Actually, those are the words of Billy Herman, whose Boston Red Sox are only 1½ games and four days removed from the American League cellar.

But Herman's Red Sox are streaking. They stormed to their sixth straight victory Tuesday night, whipping Minnesota Twins 11-2 with a 16-hit barrage that included homers by Carl Yastrzemski, Joe Foy and Tony Conigliaro, plus four doubles.

In addition to the lusty hitting, Boston had the good pitching, by Jose Santiago and Dick Radatz, and the good defense, a zero in the error column.

At the other end of the ladder front-runner Cleveland, with a second-place Detroit split a doubleheader Tuesday night. The Tigers won the opener 7-6 on Don Wert's eighth-inning single, while the Indians took the second game 3-2 as Luis Tiant pitched his fourth shutout of the year.

CARL YASTRZEMSKI

Also in the AL—California beat the Yankees 4-2 with a four-run fifth inning, Baltimore downed the Chicago White Sox 6-4 behind the key hitting of Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell, and Don Lock's two-run pinch homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth lifted Washington over the Athletics 2-1.

INDIANS-TIGERS—

Tiant, whose four victories have all been shutouts, blanked the Tigers on four hits in the second game at Detroit. Chuck Hinton singled across an unearned run against loser Hank Aguirre in the fifth and Leon Wagner homered for Cleveland's second run in the eighth.

The Tigers, down 5-0 in the opener, came back and eventually settled it in the eighth when Wert singled in Ray Oyler. Norm Cash hit two homers for Detroit and Jim Northrup one. Rocky Colavito, Duke Sims and Fred Whitfield homered for Cleveland.

ANGELS-YANKS—

Joe Adcock's bases-loaded double climaxed the Angels' winning rally against the Yanks. Trailing 2-0 going into the fifth, California got its four runs off rookie reliever Dooley Womack on a walk, Womack's field error, Willie Smith's pinch double, a Fielder's choice and Adcock's two-run hit.

ORIOLES-WHITE SOX—

Brooks Robinson drove in three runs with a homer and a single, while Powell's single sent across Baltimore's clinching run against the drooping White Sox, who've lost eight of their last nine.

SENATORS-A's—

Washington, limited to four hits by Chuck Dobson and Wyatt through eight innings, got a lift when Dick Nen led off the last of the ninth with a walk. Wyatt struck out the next two Senators, but Lock then banged his homer into the bullpen in left field.

Would Be 'Pleased'

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox say they would be "pleased" to play in the proposed Boston stadium under a minimum lease of 20 years.

The club thus outlined its position Tuesday night in a statement by Richard O'Connell, executive vice president and general manager.

"We wish to say that the time when the stadium would be ready and ready for us is of the greatest importance to us," the statement said.

"The design and location of the stadium are also matters of immediate concern."

The Boston Stadium Authority is expected to file a bill in the Legislature this week, asking the state to pledge its credit to a $97 million bond issue.

The state would make any interest payments that cannot be covered from income.

Boston Having Ball In Long Win Streak

BOSTON (AP) — Are the Boston Red Sox for real? For a ninth-place ball club, they're having a ball in riding their longest winning streak since June, 1963.

Often maligned as swingers off the field, the Red Sox swung 3-for-5 their sixth straight victory by belting Minnesota's defending American League champions 11-2 Tuesday night with a mighty 16-hit assault.

The victim, who won 97 of 32 meetings with Boston en route to the pennant last year, jumped off to a 2-0 first inning lead by enlisting half of their six hits. Then they were buried in shooting their fifth straight defeat.

After spotting Minnesota two runs, the Red Sox rebounded in their half of the first, mauling losing pitcher Camilo Pascual for four runs. Pascual now is 5-3.

Jim Gosger beat out a bunt and Carl Yastrzemski followed with his sixth homer. Scott singled and Tony Conigliaro cracked his fifth homer.

The Red Sox added three more runs and shelled Pascual in the second. Boston collected three more runs in the fourth. Gosger hit a two-run homer, his first of the season, off reliever Jim Perry, and scored once in the fourth.

Mets Lose, Westrum 'Out' In 'Night' at Astrodome

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houston Astro reliever Claude Raymond pitched a one-hitter in 5 1-3 innings, the New York Mets put five men on the mound and still couldn't stop them. Wes Westrum was sent to the showers before the Astros finished on top 5-3 Tuesday night.

The Astros, who now boast a 31-22 record against their expansion twins, started with Robin Roberts, but the veteran righthander allowed seven hits and three runs, and Raymond took over in the fourth.

Lefthander Ed Kranepool and Ron Swoboda opened the Mets and the start of the fourth inning with singles. Then John Stephenson, pinch hitting for Jerry Grote, singled, forcing out Swoboda at second. But Al Lopez pinch hit for Gerry Arrigo and cracked a double to left-center, scoring two runs and reducing the Houston lead to the final 5-3 margin.

Dodgers' Mr. Clutch Shifts Gears Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Mr. Clutch has shifted gears again and the Los Angeles Dodgers are driving.

Ron Fairly, the Dodgers' unsung delivery man, rapped an eighth inning home run Tuesday night that made the difference in a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia, the fifth victory in the last six games for the world champions.

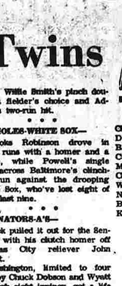
Fairly has hit four of his five 1966 homers in his last five games, helping the Dodgers stay within range of first-place San Francisco in the National League race.

Three weeks ago, however, the versatile red-head was struggling to brake a batting slid while the Dodgers, after dropping three straight to the Giants, were at a standstill.

Fairly, a .270 lifetime hitter, had gone 4-for-36 and was hitting a miserable .203.

Tuesday night's homer sent LA in front 3-1 but turned out to be the winning run as Philadelphia scored in the ninth against Ron Perranoski. Perranoski, who came on for winner Don Sutton in the eighth, had not allowed a run in his previous 11 appearances.

Elsewhere, the Giants



RON FAIRLY

whipped Pittsburgh 5-2, Cincinnati blasted Atlanta 8-2, Houston beat New York 5-3 and Chicago blanked St. Louis 2-0.

GIANTS-PIRATES—

A seventh-inning single by pitcher Gaylord Perry touched off the Giants' winning three-run rally against Pittsburgh. Tom Haller singled in the first run, Willie Mays delivered the second with a sacrifice fly and Willie McCovey capped the rally with his fifth homer. Mays' RBI was his first since May 12.

REDS-BRAVES—

The Reds struck for seven runs in the sixth inning and put away Atlanta behind the six-hit pitching of winner Joey Jay, 5-2, and Bill McCool.

Tommy Helms, who cracked four hits for the night, triggered the big inning with a single and finished it off with a run-scoring single. Tim Pyziwich singled in two runs and John Edwards doubled across two more as the Reds sent 11 men to the plate and collected half of their 16 hits in the sixth.

ASTROS-METS—

The Astros scored four runs in the first inning — three on Jim Gentile's bases-loaded double — and held off the Mets on Chuck Raymond's five-hit relief pitching over the last 5 1-3 innings. Rusty Staub knocked in the other Houston run with a double and single.

CUBS- CARDS—

Glenn Beckert doubled in the sixth inning at St. Louis, and Randy Hundley hit a sacrifice fly, then drove in the Cubs' second run with a seventh inning single.

Yankees Worried Over Ford's Arm

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitey Ford's failure to bounce back from an arm ailment was of more concern to Ralph Houk today than the end of the New York Yankees' five-game winning streak.

The Yankees resume the Los Angels 4-2 Tuesday night at the Stadium.

Ford, who had missed several pitching turns because of a sore left elbow started the game but retired after one inning. He said his elbow and forearm still felt tender.

Dooley Womack, who replaced Ford, nursed a 2-0 lead into the fifth inning, when his own misplay helped the Angels push over all four of their runs.

After walking Paul Schaal, the rookie right-hander covered first base on Bob Rodgers' tap to Joe Pepitone but missed the bag for an error. Willie Smith's pinch hit double, another walk, Jim Fregosi's infield roller and Joe Adcock's two-run double completed the decisive rally.

Roger Maris drove in both Yankee runs with his third homer and a sacrifice fly, but California reliever George Brunet slammed the door over the last five innings.

The loss was the fourth for the Yanks in 15 games under Houk.

The Scoreboard

REC SOFTBALL

Four hits in four at bat Jim McAuley paced the Walnut Barbers to a rousing 22-4 decision over the Genus last night at Robertson Park.

The Barbers tallied enough runs in the first inning—five—to win but didn't stop there. After a six-run second, the Walnuts caught their breath and proceeded to score 10 times in the fourth frame in registering the rout.

CHURCH SOFTBALL

Trailing by three runs going into the seventh inning, the Savings Bank of Manchester rallied for four runs and posted a 9-8 decision over Mesic Express last night at Mt. Nebo to maintain its perfect record.

Hero for the Bankers was Bill Brown. Hitless in his first two times at bat, Brown drove in what proved to be the winning run in the seventh.

Lee Meyer and Bill Nivison each had three hits for the Bankers and Ron Nivison added a pair, including a home run in the sixth inning. Dave Solomonson collected three safeties for Mesic and Jim Taylor, John McPartland and Ron Puckett added two bingles each.

Qualifying Play Ends For Open Golf Event

NEW YORK (AP)—Big Bill Collins of Purchase, N. Y., the club pro at Briar Burn Country Club, shot a solid, three-under-par 139 in local qualifying for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament—but he isn't at all sure he'll try the big test in San Francisco.

Collins, a 6-foot-3, 215-pounder, was five strokes better than the No. 2 man in the qualifying in New York's suburban Westchester County Tuesday, but he was far from satisfied.

"I'm not doing anything real well," he said. "If I'm not playing any better than this, I'm certainly not going to tee it up on a course as tough as Olympic Club.

He, and all the other local qualifiers, still have one more major hurdle to clear, however, before reaching the field for the San Francisco's Olympic Club June 16-19.

Two days of local qualifying rounds ended Tuesday with 70 more pros and amateurs joining the 406 who qualified Monday. These survivors of an original field of 2,437 now go into sectional qualifying, either June 6 or 7, where the field will be trimmed to 128. All qualifying is over 36 holes.

They join 28 players — including most of the top names on the pro tour — who are exempt from all qualifying for one reason or another. That final field of 151 will compete at San Francisco.

A field of 48 others were exempt from local qualifying, but must play in sectional tournaments.

The final local qualifying was held Tuesday at Westchester, Long Island, Atlanta, Houston and San Francisco. Qualifying rounds in 57 other locations were held Monday.

Club pro Roane Puett of Austin, Tex., had the best round of the day, carding a six-under-par 138, leading the seven qualifiers at Houston.

Hawaii this year will have a state baseball tournament sanctioned by the National Baseball Congress for the first time in about 15 years.

Norman's moved out into an early 3-0 lead and then had to hold on for their dear lives in eking out a 4-3 decision over Pagani's Caterers last night at the Verplanck Field.

Billy Lodge bested Jimmy Wilson in a find mound duel. The winner scattered four hits.

Pacing Norman's with the stick was Bill Sbrinzes with two hits while Bob Gorman and Lodge also flashed. Scott Kelley's single and double paced Pagani's.

Golfers Near Crown In CCIL, Win Pair

Sparked by Gary Wigren's eagle on the par four 18th hole at Pequabuck yesterday afternoon, Manchester High's golf team swept both Bristol Central High and Windham High of Willimantic by 4-1 scores. The twin triumph upped the Indians undefeated record to 14, all in the CCIL, and assured Coach Larry Perry's crew of no worse than a tie for 1966 laurels.

Co-Captain Bob Hamilton again paced the locals with a fine 38-36—74. Jim Blair carded a 39-38—77 as did Wigren, 39-38—77, while Jimmy Down fired a 41-38—79. With all four players in the 70s, the winning total of 307 was excellent.

Medalist laurels went to Bud Schamback of Windham with a 71.

The final regular season matches are slated Thursday afternoon in Meriden against Maloney High and Wethersfield High.

Conference Title at Stake Friday Afternoon

Eagles Rally, Top Xavier, 3-2

Coming from behind to win, East Catholic High's baseball team won its second game within 24 hours yesterday afternoon in Middletown with a 3-2 thriller over Xavier High. The game, originally scheduled for 1, was moved back because of exams. East now sports a 10-4 log with one game remaining, that a big one Friday in West Hartford against Northwest Catholic High with the Hartford County Conference at stake.

Fresh from a 12-0 triumph over Aquinas High of New Britain on Monday, Coach Don Burns' Eagles had to pull out all the stops to beat back the challenge of Xavier.

Effectively blanked over the first four innings by Don Tripp's four-hit barring, East found it in the third and of a 2-0 score, one a third frame homer by Mike Mickowski.

Tripp finally got on the scoreboard in the fifth when Rick Harvey's double and Gary Kinsel's single set up two runs to knot the count.

Winning pitcher Rick Roberts came in for the victory in the sixth inning. He doubled in the sixth inning, stole third and scored on Bob Mickelson's single-to-center squeeze bunt. Roberts has now won four of five decisions. He was relieved in the sixth by ace Ray LaSalce who finished up, retiring the side on strikes in both the last two innings while allowing one hit. Roberts was touched for six blows. He fanned seven and walked one batter.

HUNTING and FISHING

GAME OR PAN?

Many fishermen feel pan fish aren't "game fish," particularly when they have come home from a trip exhausted, frustrated and empty-handed.

While most panfish are hardly known for their sophisticated dining habits, the fishing authorities at Mercury outboards feel their accommodating ways deserve a bit more respect than is ordinarily accorded this group of fishes.

Panfish probably got their title because of skillet-sized proportions. And, while the average sunfish and crappie meet such specifications, walleye and trout often get lumped into the same category, depending on the locality and their dimensions. A host of others also qualify, with the flat-sided species gaining most prominence, or degradation, as it may be.

Despite such labels, these frequently maligned fish have attracted a devoted following who learned through experience that panfishing offers both personal challenge and almost certain results even when regular "pickin's" are slim.

Panfishing is enjoyable panfishing lies in tackle and techniques. A two-pounder on feathery-weight gear will provide all the sport of more prestigous fish on ordinary rigs.

Methods adopted from flycasting purists or top-water bass addicts will work equally well. When a sudden strike on a four-inch-long bass lure produces a five-inch bream, it's time to give credit to the "sporting" qualities of these fish.

The next time you are ignored by your favorite species switch over to panfish for action, and take home a mess of good eating as a welcome bonus.

Seven Rookie Car Drivers Ready to Crack Big Time

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Seven rookie drivers — considered veterans outside Indianapolis — will crack the big time in the 50th 500-mile classic May 30.

"You're nobody until you've run this joint," said Mel Kenyon of Davenport, Iowa. "It really makes you a somebody."

The last time a rookie hit the winner's circle at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was 1927 when George Souders of Lafayette, Ind., piloted a Duesenberg at 97-plus miles per hour.

Two first-timers this season, Graham Hill of London and Jackie Stewart of Dunbarton, Scotland, are leading drivers on the World Grand Prix circuit.

Besides these and Kenyon, the rookies are Gary Congdon, Garden Grove, Calif.; Cale Yarborough, Charlotte, N.C.; Carl Williams, Kansas City, Mo., and Larry Dickson, Marietta, Ohio.

Stewart, 26, is the hottest driver on the international circuit. Last Sunday he won the season's first Grand Prix race at Monaco and during the first practice runs at the 2½-mile layout of eight events to capture the Tasman Championship to become New Zealand's hero.

Stewart, who drives a Lola-Ford, lives 100 miles from Scot Jimmy Clark, who captured the 1965 world road racing crown and is the defending champion at Indianapolis.

At Indianapolis this month, he has been the pace-setter, pushing his Brabham-Brawner-Ford to the official Speedway records of 165.899 m.p.h. for four laps and 166.328 for one lap.

His car refashioner, Clint Brawner of Phoenix, Ariz., was honored Tuesday night as the top mechanic at Indianapolis.

Jimmy Clark, who will start next to Andretti in the front row, placed second his first time out in 1963 and last year won the 500 laurels easily.

Young Boy, Big Balloon Help Greet New Country

No Swimming

ROME (AP)—Swimming was banned along some of Rome's most popular beaches today as crude oil drifted ashore from the damaged Belgian tanker Fina Norvege. The tanker's hull was ripped on shoals off Bizerte, Tunisia, on May 17.

Wind and currents started spreading a layer of oil several inches thick over the beaches of Marinella, Santa Severa and Fregene, along 25 miles of coast north of Rome.

Aerial observers reported the oil was drifting south and threatened to coat 25 more miles of beach from Ostia to Anzio.

Guyana Independant

Lights, Colorful Flag Greet Newest Country

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — Floodlights lit up the midnight sky last night and 50,000 Guyanese cheered as the five-colored flag of Guyana went up in place of the Union Jack, signaling independence for another British colony.

The joyous outburst came after a solemn moment in Queen Elizabeth Park when the British flag was lowered in darkness while bands played "God Save The Queen."

A few persons near the press box shouted, "Down! Down for good!"

Then the lights blazed on, and the bands switched to "Green Land of Guyana" as the new national banner was hoisted. Prime Minister Forbes Burnham wept.

Former Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan, Marxist foe of Burnham, appeared at the ceremony and to general surprise embraced his successor.

Jagan told newsmen: "I have come, as I promised, to honor Independence."

Jagan and his People's Progressive Party are boycotting all ceremonies aside from the flag raising and the opening of the first independent Parliament. His Chicago-born wife, Janet, refused to attend the ceremony Wednesday night.

Burnham's image burned on a fireworks screen at the park after a spectacular display of pyrotechnics.

Georgetown, which appeared sleepy earlier this week, came alive with thousands jamming the streets, dancing, cheering, and drinking rum.

Steel bands and calypso singers entertained in major night spots. The holiday was expected to run through the weekend and Monday, which is a religious day.

Flag raising ceremonies took place simultaneously in every town and village of the new nation on the northern coast of South America. They marked the end of 385 years of British, Dutch and French rule.

President Johnson sent "congratulations on the historic event joining the people of Guyana with their friends in the hemisphere and around the world." Lincoln Gordon, assistant secretary of state for Latin

Mike Cheered

BRISTOL (AP)—Michael Albee walked to the school bus stop this morning with his father.

When he arrived at the end of Hoye Street, from where he was abducted yesterday and held hostage for more than three hours, the six-year-old first grader was cheered by his schoolmates.

"Yeah! Michael! yeah! Michael!" they cheered.

"Mike strutted right up to them and was asked a hundred questions," said his father. "He was a hero."

Rowboat Seen, Only Needs Wind

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — There's nothing wrong with the Navy's newest rowboat except that it's easy.

That was the word Wednesday from the Coast Guard cutter Conifer concerning the 15-foot rowboat in which two English journalists set out last Saturday to cross the Atlantic Ocean.

Gemini Crew Studies; Saturn Shift Pleases

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With their Atlas target booster rocket cleared for launching, the Gemini 9 astronauts today made extensive preparations for next Tuesday's second attempt at a rendezvous and space walk mission.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan decided to skip a flight rehearsal to devote several hours to study of a revised flight plan for their three-day orbital journey.

The Gemini 9 backup team, Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., participated in the full-scale rehearsal, suiting up and climbing into the spacecraft atop a Titan 2 rocket.

A Surveyor moonship was moved to a launch paid today to be mated with an Atlas-Centaur booster. The camera-carrying Surveyor is scheduled for launching Monday toward a soft-landing on the lunar surface.

Stafford and Cernan had their original flight postponed May 17 when an Atlas hurling an Agena target satellite toward orbit suffered engine failure and the $13-million rocket fell into the Atlantic.

A review board Wednesday reported the trouble was caused by an electrical short in a hydraulic valve system valve.

"It essentially was a quality problem — unique in the Atlas," said Charles A. Mathews, Gemini program manager.

Officials said the Atlas that is to boost Gemini 9's substitute target satellite successfully has passed the new tests.

The substitute Agena was not available for the quick two week reschedule. So a smaller, less sophisticated satellite was placed atop the Atlas. It is called an Augmented Target Docking Adapter.

The Atlas is to hoist the ATDA at 11 a.m. (EDT) Tuesday, with the astronauts to follow at 12:30 p.m. aboard a Titan 2 rocket.

Stafford and Cernan will attempt to catch and dock with the ATDA after a four hour chase.

Because of the ATDA, the flight plan was reshuffled. The satellite has no engine so the astronauts will not be able to maneuver their craft with the Agena propulsion as planned.

For part of the time he will propel himself about on the end of a 150-foot tether line with a rocket powered back pack.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Space Agency was pleased today with the transfer of the first test version of the Saturn 5 man-to-the-moon rocket to the launch pad. But it wasn't too happy with the extremely high orbit achieved by the Explorer 32 satellite.

Viet Troops Move In To Protect Americans

(AP Photofax)

Buddhist monks lead funeral procession through Hue, South Viet Nam, for Vietnamese army officer killed by American helicopter gunner. The procession later turned into an anti-American demonstration at a pagoda.

US Building In Hue Hit By Buddhists

HUE, South Viet Nam (AP)—A battalion of 1st Division Vietnamese troops moved into Hue tonight to protect the U.S. consulate and other American buildings in the wake of a mob attack on the U.S. Information Agency building.

The Vietnamese 1st Division has headquarters in Hue, a Buddhist stronghold in opposition to the military government. The division commander, Brig. Gen. Phan Xuan Nhuan, has declared all his men are loyal to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's regime.

There had been no government troops in Hue, where anti-American demonstrators attacked the U.S. Information Agency office earlier in the day, set fire to the building and burned books, shelves and tables. The building was closed. No Americans were injured.

The battalion of 500 government troops carried full battle gear when they arrived in Hue aboard army trucks shortly after 9 p.m.

After the student attack on the USIA building, rumors spread that the students would march on the consulate tonight or Friday.

The largest deployment of protecting troops was at the consulate. One company of about 125 men was detailed to the U.S. Military Assistance Command compound. American military advisers assigned in Hue to work with South Vietnamese army live in the compound.

The soldiers protecting the consulate also were assigned to

President Asks Revision In Campaign Finance Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to modernize laws covering political campaign financing and set up a system under which millions more people might get a $100 income tax deduction for political contributions.

Johnson also proposed:

That all candidates and all committees submitting candidates for federal office be required to report every contribution and every expense item above $100.

That members of Senate and House be required to report on outside income, from such things as speeches, consultant or legal fees, or any sources other than from investments.

Administration officials estimated the tax break on contributions would cost the government perhaps $50 million in a presidential election year and perhaps $30 million in other years.

Officials said it was aimed largely at about 36 million persons who are mostly in the lower income tax brackets.

The administration wants to make the new system effective at the start of next year and officials said they thought they had reason for hope and confidence that Congress will go along.

The President sent Congress a proposed bill to carry out the new plan along with a letter to the Senate president and House speaker calling for displacing the seeds of cynicism with "public confidence in the elective process."

"There is no higher duty of democratic government than to insure that confidence," he said. Laws dealing with campaign financing, he said, were too narrow in scope when they were passed, are obsolete, and have failed.

"They are more loophole than law," he said, "they invite evasion and circumvention. They must be revised."

For the individual the Johnson proposals would mean that he could get a tax deduction of any political contribution, or a series of them, up to $100. This deduction would be in addition to any itemized deductions or the standard deduction on the income tax forms.

The new law would go far beyond the present statutes by applying many provisions to state and local elections as well as to primaries. Johnson said the exemption of primaries in present law is a major defect.

"In many cases," he noted, "primary contests are decisive. In most cases, they are financially burdensome."

As Johnson put it:

"The present $5,000 limit could no longer be evaded by putting the maximum amount into different pockets in the same suit."

Existing ceilings on total expenditures by candidates for public office would be repealed — the limits are $25,000 on senatorial candidates and the $5,000 on House candidates.

Under existing law, national political committees can raise and spend no more than $3 million in any one year — but there is no limit on the number of such committees and the law doesn't apply to a committee active only in one state.

Sen. Javits Selected as No. 1 Father

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., today was named "1966 Father of the Year."

The honor of the senator from the National Fathers Day Committee was disclosed along with Father's Day selections in various fields of endeavor.

Named Stage Father of the year was Alan King, now starring on Broadway in "The Impossible Years." Eddie Albert was chosen Screen Father of the Year and Tom Harmon, former Michigan football player and now a broadcaster, was named Father of the Year in Sports.

In music, the award went to pianist Victor Borge, and the author of the Year is Irving Stone, author of "Lust for Life" and various historical novels.

The committee also selected Fess Parker, star of "The Daniel Boone" series, as Television Father of the Year and named as its "Worker Father of the Year" Ralph M. DiGirolomo of Tyrone, Pa., a pattern marker at the Reliance Manufacturing Co.

Javits called the designation "an awesome responsibility."

"But since it is well-known that fathers are made, not born, I feel it is only fair that any

Diehard Summer Ski Fans Ride to Top of the Slope

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N.H. (AP) — Happy days are here again, the lazy suntanners ski season opens Memorial Day weekend.

For a few enchanted weeks it will be possible to ride—repeat ride — to perfect skiing atop this highest peak in the northeast.

The last 10-foot snowdrift on the eight-mile road to the summit was plowed through a few days ago.

"The east snow field is in fine shape, we should have good skiing for at least three weeks" reported Sam Appleton of nearby Gorham after several last inclusses.

Betty Thornburg of Burlington, N.C., also tried the slopes and reported the feminine viewpoint: "Imagine, delightful sunburning on a snowfield!"

Shorts are the usual ski wear for both sexes.

Betty found the sun hotter than back home in North Carolina and learned in a few minutes what every high altitude skier must realize. The sun reflecting from glittering white snowfields burns you from all directions. Suntan lotions are as essential as ski boots.

With upwards of 50 feet of snow left in Tuckerman Ravine on the side of Mt. Washington, never-say-die skiers should be schussing and spilling until 4th of July this year.

However, it is a rugged 2½ mile hike to the Tuckerman snow bowl whereas the snow field on the east side of the 6,288-foot summit is only a few steps from the auto road.

This is the brief season when experienced skiers and mountaineers can enjoy a New England version of a Swiss Alps holiday.

Suntan lotion is as important as ski boots as these summer ski enthusiasts rest before finishing a trip down the east snowfield at Mount Washington, N. H. The sun's rays at this altitude, reflecting from the white ground cover, make sunburn a real danger. (AP Photofax)

The secret is to ride the auto road to the summit and ski the east snow field in the morning.

Around noon skiers continue their run to the bottom of the snow field, then hike across bare spots on the alpine garden above the tree line to the top of Tuckerman Ravine or Hillman's Highway.

The highway isn't exactly a turnpike. It is the nickname for a gully named after a Dartmouth coach and it is so steep it is like skiing down the side of a white cliff.

Skiers choosing Tuckerman Ravine should start down early in the afternoon before the steep walls are in shadow and the snow starts to harden on the surface. It can be a spectacular 1000-foot headover-heels tumble to the bottom.

Dodd Asks Reduction In Suit Allegations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., moved today to telescope the charges and called for a trial by July of his libel suit against columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

The action came as taking of pretrial depositions was started. Dodd said in a statement that his attorneys had amended his $5-million suit to reduce from 14 to four the allegations against the columnists.

He said his attorneys had asked for assignment of the suit to a single federal judge and a speedup in the pretrial proceedings so they can be completed by June.

Dodd said his attorney, John F. Sonnett, had filed an affidavit with the court that "protracted pretrial proceedings in the suit would subject Sen. Dodd to continued assault in Pearson's column."

In the suit, the Connecticut Democrat accuses the columnists of falsely picturing him as unfit to be a senator, as an agent of foreign interests, as interfering with the award of government contracts in return for bribes, and as unlawfully diverting campaign funds for his own use.

First on the list of witnesses to be questioned was James P. Boyd Jr., a former aide to Dodd. The senator's lawyers say there was a conspiracy under which former Dodd employes were moved documents from the senator's files and made them available to the columnists.

The pretrial statement taking is expected to continue for weeks. The questioning is taking place in lawyers' offices and, under a ruling by U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff, newsmen are not permitted to be present.

'GOP CAN WIN'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Any ticket the Republicans nominate in 1968 can win if present trends continue," Richard M. Nixon said today. Talking with newsmen as he arrived on Capitol Hill for a luncheon, the former vice president repeated his criticism of tactics being used in Viet Nam, but said "I believe the greatest political danger to the Johnson administration is its failure to deal with economic problems.

$70,000 HOLDUP

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — Three gunmen wearing halloween masks and a third having a black bandanna, held up the crew of an armored truck today and fled with a $70,000 payroll. Police said the men drove on to the lawn of the General Radio Corp. in a white car, jumped out and shouted "Hold it," as the guards started into the plant with the money. One of the men carried a sawed-off shotgun but no shots were fired. Several of the 900 persons who had entered the plant at the start of the business day witnessed the holdup. They alerted the telephone switchboard operator, who called police.

U.S. Turncoat In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Korean War turncoat Clarence Adams arrived in Hong Kong today, leaving only two of 21 self-exiled former American prisoners of war in Communist China.

Adams, from Memphis, Tenn., crossed the Lowu border bridge 23 miles north of the city with his Chinese wife and their children, Louis, 3, and Della, 4.

The consulate had been expecting Adams since the Chinese notified the Hong Kong Red Cross he would cross the border May 9. But Adams told newsmen he had not planned to leave China until this week.
