Report From Cantho Correspondent Neil Sheehan in New York Times has just reported or conditions at a civilian hospital located at Cantho, in the Mekong Delta, 80 miles There, he wrote, "are to be found the unreported casualties of this war—the Vienamese men, women and children who get in the way of bombs, mines and bullets unleashed by both sides . . . Its overcrowded wards mirror the agony of Vietnamese masses who live in a part of life. "About 500 civilians, most of then erdinary peasants, enter this hospital ach month with wounds of every convable variety. They are not listed in e battle statistics published in Hanol, Baigon or Washington as evidence of alleged military successes. "These," Correspondent Sheehan con-inued, "are the Vietnamese both sides cploit but neither consults. Since there nothing to be gained by boasting of e wounds inflicted on them, they are officially ignored.

"Yet just as United States Air Force ghter-bombers often hit peasant vilages instead of Vietcong encampments, so do guerrilla mines blow up civillan "The hospital has only two ambulances ind no helicopters. Most of the wounded nust make their way to Cantho as best hey can . . . The result of this lack of ansportation . . . is that almost all of ne wounds are at least 12 hours old . . . ecause of this, almost all of the ounds are infected, and many of the atients are in deep shock.

"No attempt is made to ascertain which side inflicted the wounds and the argeons who remove shrapnel or bullets re too busy to ask such questions. "A recent visitor found two women ving side by side on the same narrow ron cot in the women's surgical ward. ne had been shot in the chest when elicopters strafed the rice paddy where ne was working. The other had received ad wounds from mortar fragments then the Vietcong shelled her hamlet . . . "About 300 of the 500 casualties each onth require major surgery. The gravewounded, who might be saved by rapid vacuation, apparently never reach the ospital but die along the way . . . "The hospital cannot care for severe surn cases and grave head wounds-there are about two patients with serious naalm burns each week-and these must evacuated to Saigon by ambulance. he surgeons suspect that some of the vere head cases die from the long, umpy trip, but the United States and Vietnamese military have refused to arry these civilians in their aircraft. We are tempted to say that just this huch limited and localized evidence of what seems to be inevitable in war ought be enough to stir the conscience and ourage of mankind to abolish the thing. his is evidence and reason enough, It also seems, in its particular context, n explanation of what some of the Budthist leaders are talking about when they my that what their country wants and seeds most of all is a deliverance from the ravages of the opposing forces, each else watched, as human beings everywhere, more and more, seem to stand immobilized and watch trouble and violence they do not choose to admit to their own lives.

That was around noon on Sunday About 2:30 the next morning, the same heroic John Dennis was arrested by two Brooklyn patrolmen who saw him inside the office of a service station. He had entered the office through a rear window; he put up a hard fight when the patrolmen took him.

From hero to alleged criminal, in 15 hours, might seem to be a business of shocking contrasts, of virtue being cancelled out by vice, or of two conflicting sides of the same personality-a Jekyll and Hyde situation. But we are all probably beginning to take such naive dualistic explanations. We are, instead, quite likely to assume that the quality which made John Dennis leap down the bank, snatch the boy from the railroad tracks, tear off his burning clothes, and rush him to the nearest hospital was also the same qualty which led him to break in the service station window and engage in his alleged course of burglary. We may even get from our analysis of this a kind of backhanded compliment, after all, to all those people who, in so many situations, have failed to go to the help of other human beings in trouble. Maybe those who don't help other people don't abuse other people either. Maybe those who refuse to get involved are, by the same token and the same instincts, also those who don't go around pushing other people around. Maybe there's a thin something to be said in favor of those people who merely sit around and wait for somebody else to be the hero. We don't know. We only suggest that maybe the story of John Dennis, who had it in him to be hero and breaker and enterer inside of 15 hours, has reopened the half for the human side of a man to come into public recognition, and sometimes the ultimate revelation is something worth waiting for. It is indeed a very pleasant thing to read that Napoleon Bonaparte, in addition to being a master of the science of battle and a patron of legal codes and of the arts, was also human enough to be known, among those who really knew him best, as an "inveterate pincher" of people he liked best and of those parts

As the revelation finally comes to us no secret is made of the fact that Napoleon was more likely to pinch Nor is there, for that matter, any special designation of any particular area which Napoleon would have been likely to consider most suitable for the reception of a pinch. We can assume that Napoleon used his imagination, and then use ours.

.There is a difference, of course, between the pinch of a great man and When a great man pinches, it is no impertinent annoyance or furtive attempt at flirtation, but a mark of affectionate interest, a condescending royal curiosity, and, if it is then repeated, an accolade comparable to that of being knighted or raised to the peerage in more ancient days. Not everybody can be pinched by Napoleon. But there are still some good fourneymen pinchers in operation, whose attention, once elicited by the turn of some fair cheek, can still be a ritual of some distinction.

New Haven's Newest Park Public enjoyment of one of the City's finest acquisitions in recent years draws near as the Board of Park Commissioners drafts preliminary plans for limited use of Edgerton Park on Whitney Avenue at the Hamden boundary. The plan is to open the City's newest and best-landscaped park on July 1.

The park officials are using good judgment in restricting action sports there while promoting what they call the "sedentary" value of this former estate The public will be admitted free from noon to sunset to enjoy the extensive landscaping and floral displays, unequaled anywhere in any partk in the East. The desire of those who know the possibilities of Edgerton Park to have it opened to the public will soon be satis-fied. The basic features should remain unchanged. It is a major asset as it is parking may be necessary. As a deserved tribute to the donor, the park

How did our serviceman earn all these gold stars?

KEEPING HEATING COSTS DOWN

We have our own servicemen. Not everyone does. Our men are interested in making your furnace perform at its highest efficiency and lowest cost because then you'll keep buying oil from us. Remember, three out of four furnaces waste fuel. Thanks to Mobil Technical Research our men have the latest facts on how to make your furnace the one-in-four that keeps heating costs at a minimum. There's a big difference in distributors. Let one of our servicemen earn another gold star by showing you how hig that difference can be.

Two Winning Gasoline Stations

). Lloyd Hobron, chairman of the Service Station Beautification Project presents awards to Robert Gorman, owner of Gorman Brothers Service Station at 770 Main St., and to Ralph L. Stence of the Tumpike Texaco, Inc. at 270 W. Middle Tpke. The two stations were winners in the service station beautification contest sponsored by the City Beautiful Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Gorman was selected winner in the independent service station category, and Stence was winner in the leased station category. The conest was based upon the efforts of service stations to clean-up and plant-up the stations during the spring of this year, with special emphasis on the May clean-up campaign conducted by the City Beautiful Committee. Stations receiving honorable mention were: Mo-Cann Texaco Service Station at 630 Center St., Wyman Oil Co. Heating Contractors Speak

Experienced heating contractors choose gas heat for their own homes. That's why you find so many who are outspoken about the advantages of heating with gas. For instance...

Mr. ABE LAPPEN' says: 66 We have heated our homes other ways but have found gas heating perfect for our new home. R's tops for economy and cleanliness. With practically no service, and loads of hot water with our gas water heater. We think it's great. 99

HARTFORD GAS is so sure that you, too, will like gas heat, that we make this unconditional guarantee: if you are not COMPLETELY SATISFIED with it in every respect, we'll remove the equipment and refund every penny you've paid on it.

See for yourself why 75,000 people in Greater Hartford enjoy automatic gas heating. It's the clean, economical, quiet and dependable way to heat your home. Start now to save on fuel costs, furnace cleaning, and repair bills.
