E. James Cole Jr., of 90 Pitkin St., this year's top-ranking graduate at the University of Connecticut, and Carolyn Lee McNamara, second highest scholar, display degrees after graduation ceremonies yesterday. Cole expects to work with Dr. Frederick A. Streams, assistant professor of zoology, in graduate school. Miss McNamara will study this fall for a Ph.D. in English literature at Stanford University, Stanford, Calif. (Story on page 2.)

Well Traveled

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Arlos Wendland, 20, stuck her monthly bank statement and canceled checks in the glove compartment last week and left her car locked, with the windows rolled up. After the tornado struck, she found the car against a wall with a tree across it. The windows were gone and the glove compartment was open. The State Savings Bank of Topeka got a letter from a farmer living near Stewartsville, about 25 miles east of St. Joseph, Mo., and 90 airline miles from Topeka. Enclosed was one of Miss Wendland's canceled checks.

Pupils Put Small Auto In School

GREENWICH (AP) — What about the chassis of the small foreign car that was found on the second floor of Greenwich High School? School officials have found out that it was the work of nine seniors who hauled the vehicle—complete except for wheels and engine—into the building and used a block and tackle to get it upstairs. The seniors, all boys, have been charged with disorderly conduct and released in the custody of their parents. As school officials tell it, the seniors managed to bring in the chassis through the front door, hoisted it to the balcony of the girl's gymnasium by means of block and tackle, and then dragged it along the hall to the northeast corner of the building. One of the slogans decorating the car reads: "Made by elves in West Germany."

Buddhist Institute Under Virtual Siege

Draft-Aged Protestors Under Arrest

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Government security forces, with orders to give no quarter, laid virtual siege to the Buddhist Institute today. With pistol shots and tear gas charges they choked off dozens of demonstrations after a mob burned three Jeeps and grabbed two submachine guns from American Military Police. Told to arrest draft-aged demonstrators on the spot and send them off to military service, troops and riot police carted away scores. Some were clubbed, kicked and beaten. Four hundred miles away to the north, the chief of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's Buddhist antagonists, Thich Tri Quang, was in the seventh day of an anti-American, antigovernment hunger strike. An aide said his condition was "weakening and very serious." A clandestine Buddhist radio, believed to be in a Hue pagoda, said Quang's heart beat had become irregular.

On the military front, chief interest remained centered on the battle of American and South Vietnamese troops against North Vietnamese regulars on the Kontum plateau of the central highlands. A U.S. spokesman said 466 of the enemy were known dead. The U.S. toll was reported to be less than a tenth that.

On the military front, a spokesman for the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division estimated North Viet Nam's 24th Regiment, from 1,400 to 2,000 men, has lost more than 1,000 killed in a week of fighting in the central highlands. Brig. Gen. Willard Pearson, the brigade commander, told reporters he expects the kill ratio to be 14 to 1 in favor of American and South Vietnamese troops. He said the enemy is "no longer a fighting force."

One of the vehicles destroyed in Saigon was a U.S. Military Police Jeep. It was burned by an angry mob of 3,000 Buddhists. Rangers and riot police beat them back.

Whatever they intended to do with them, the Buddhists within the central Viet Nam pagoda had two 45-caliber submachine guns of U.S. make. Two American MPs left them behind in fleeing the mob that burned their jeep, and youths took the guns to the pagoda.

Perhaps 3,000 to 5,000 Buddhists moved in and out of the pagoda during the day. However, most individual forays amounted to no more than 500 people waving Buddhist banners and attempting to march out along one of the teeming streets. Similar demonstrations were set up in other areas of Saigon and the Chinese quarter, Sholon. (See Page Ten)

Seven Wounded in Chicago In Second Night of Riots

CHICAGO (AP) — Community leaders strove today to bring peace to a Puerto Rican neighborhood where a second night of rioting left seven persons wounded. Hundreds of police poured into the mile-square area on Chicago's Northwest Side at violence. All seven of the wounded were violence that began Sunday Puerto Ricans. Police said one of the leaders in the Spanish-speaking area along Division Street near Humboldt Park said the rioting resulted from police brutality to residents of the neighborhood. Police denied any brutality. Thirty-seven arrests were made Monday night and early today, making a total of 81 seized during the two nights of violence. A sound truck manned by area leaders moved through the neighborhood today appealing to residents to stay off the streets and avoid violence. Democratic and Republican precinct captains taking part in today's statewide primary also were enlisted to plead with residents to help maintain law and order. Large numbers of police patrolled the community as residents eligible to vote went to the polls. Hospital authorities said they had no count of the injured who were treated during Monday night's violence. Looting was reported in some stores in the area, where police ordered stores closed for the night. Glass from broken store windows littered the streets where Puerto Rican youths walked with signs charging police brutality. (See Page Four)

Police Leaders Rap Rules on Questioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Law enforcement officials fired a decision announced by Chief Justice Warren was ruled out of bounds in trials all in-rewriting down strict rules on questioning of suspects whose constitutional rights against possible self-incrimination are not safe-guarded by the police. The ruling split the justices into two camps, and the dissenters fired angry words at the majority. His face visibly flushed, Justice John M. Harlan accused Warren and the four justices convention at Odessa. "We may as well close up shop." (See Page Eleven)

Medicare, What It Means Hospitals Brace for Big Rush

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are some 19 million elderly Americans lined up to take advantage of the provisions of Medicare when it goes into effect July 1. The following first of four articles tells what this will mean to hospitals and hospital facilities throughout the country. BY JOHN BARBOUR Many of the nation's hospitals, some of them already crowded, are braced for an expected increase in elderly patients July 1 when Medicare goes into effect. In a short, elderly Americans will be able to compete for hospital beds on a large scale for the first time — and private patients may find it tougher to get into the hospitals they want in some areas. Across the nation, an Associated Press survey shows doctors are taking hospital administrators that patients 65 and over have been saving up their ailments until the bills could be paid by Medicare. But no one agrees on how large an increase there will be and as yet hard evidence, such as room and bed reservations, is lacking to back up the predictions. To some experts, it harkens to the land rush days of the early West, with more than 10 million elderly Americans on the starting line, ready to dash to the nearest hospital to stake out a bed. To others, the picture includes the nation's medical force operating like a department store sales staff on the crush of oldsters eager for bargain medical services they always wanted but never could afford. Neither picture is true, but both betray some of the emotions still at play about the Medicare program the medical profession long fought. July brings only the first of two Medicare deadlines. On that day hospital insurance begins for all who have signed up, and optional medical insurance becomes effective for those who decided to pay the $36 a year it will cost. So far 17.2 million or 90 per cent of those eligible have signed up for the doctor-bill, medical-service insurance. The second Medicare deadline comes Jan. 1, 1967, when nursing home benefits begin. The immediate problem is (See Page Thirteen)

Cautioned About Scandal Meredith Marchers Move Forward Again

GREENADA, Miss. (AP) — Men and women of the Mississippi civil rights march, after being cautioned to avoid scandalous behavior, stepped out today for another nine miles of walking and more voter registration efforts. The marchers, numbering about 120, mostly Negroes, had bedded down Monday night on a grassy campsite. They slept in revivalist-style tents, sleeping bags, or rolled up blankets. Floyd B. McKissick, a march leader, admonished the group: "Remember! Some men got up in Congress after that and said civil rights people are immoral; that they were doing very personal things in the presence of each other," McKissick said. McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, referred to accusations by segregationist groups after the Alabama march from Selma to Montgomery last year. His talk drew laughs from the crowd, some of whom had been on that march. The Mississippi march, started in Memphis, Tenn., by James H. Meredith June 5, had covered 87 of the 225 miles to their of three and owner of a film shop. "It's one of the days connected with the family and it means a lot to me," Disney said. Why Father's Day? Dads Answer Senator Backing Special Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Is this Father's Day necessary? That question, raised by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., on the floor of the Senate, was answered today by some fathers. The nation's fathers, according to an informal survey, were a house more sharply divided than the Senate, where Long was the only voice to protest the annual resolution to designate the third Sunday in June as Father's Day. The resolution passed Monday and later was seconded by the House without debate. The day, who said the holiday benefited gift-selling merchants more than fathers, asked, "Why is it necessary to have a national Father's Day?" He got an answer in Atlanta from Edward D. Disney, a father of three and owner of a film shop. "It's one of the days connected with the family and it means a lot to me," Disney said. "I don't agree with Sen. Long — not in the least," said Rick Ingersoll of West Los Angeles, Calif., father of three. "My children get a great deal of pleasure from it, and therefore so do I. I'm proud of being a father." Dodd Scores Early Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., won a couple of preliminary arguments today in his $2-million libel suit against columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff denied a motion by the columnist's lawyers that the senator's suit be dismissed on the ground the complaint is too prolix, repetitious and bulky.

The judge disagreed with the columnist's argument that James P. Boyd Jr., disaffected former administrative assistant to Dodd, acted under a compelling legal obligation when he entered the senator's office, removed hundreds of documents and had copied turned over to Pearson and Anderson.

Warren Woods, counsel for Anderson, contended that Dodd committed any felony, and Boyd would have been obliged to tell the district attorney, the FBI or other authorities.

"But that has nothing to do with informing members of the public," Holtzoff said "and after all the press is part of the public." (See Page Ten)

LBJ Signs Coulee Dam Power Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today a bill designed to make Grand Coulee Dam on the Columbia River the largest hydroelectric power project in the world.

The $390-million authorization measure provides for a third power plant that eventually will add 3.6 million kilowatts to the two-million kilowatt capacity of the present installations.

At the same time, Johnson sent Congress a request for $1 million to start construction at once.

At a ceremony in the White House Rose garden, Johnson brought together representatives of Canada, the private and public power industry, members of Congress, and administration officials.

Johnson recalled that his first trip outside the United States after becoming president was to meet with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada to sign a Columbia River treaty providing for construction of three storage dams on the upper reaches of the river. He said the expansion of the Grand Coulee project now getting under way would be impossible without Canadian dam funds that the Canadians will finish them by 1973 and "we want to be ready to use the benefits that are going to flow from those dams."

Production from the new plant is 204. Reservoirs needed, Johnson said. (See Page Ten)

Seek to Avoid Mediation School Board Offers Revised Pay Schedule

The board of education, by a 5-1 vote, last night endorsed a revised teachers' salary schedule for the next year which would increase the total paid the town's 470 teachers by $254,400. The board voted to offer the schedule to the teachers in the all-hopes of avoiding state-level mediation over a dispute on salary and other matters in a proposed contract with the Manchester Education Association.

The schedule is nearly in line with directions given by the state. The board will also be asked to establish a school building program of $250,000 in the next year. The board's directive came when negotiations with the MEA broke down June 6 on salary and contract matters. The MEA maintained the teachers should be granted the $300,000 increase discussed earlier in the year but the board declines budget cuts by the directors made the full increase impossible.

The June 6 meeting broke up with both sides at odds, and the MEA has since petitioned the State Education Commissioner William J. Sanders to mediate the dispute, according to provisions of a new state law. Mediation is set to begin June 27 at 7 p.m. in the commissioner's office.

After considerable discussion last night on the revised pay schedule, Beldon Shaffer, acting board chairman, noted that it was "the best salary adjustment in my three years on the board." By adopting it, he said, the board could deal with the teachers "from a position of strength."

Other members voiced agreement that the schedule was the best offer the board could make in view of its budget constraints. The directors slashed its second $6 million request by $200,000 and approved Friday that the school budget be $10,400,000, rather than beginning teachers.

While keeping the teacher's minimum and step II of the 18 step scale at $9,400 and $9,800, the same as originally proposed, it tops $100 off step III and $100 off the middle.

The maximum, originally set at $8,600, has been decreased by the largest amount—$1,850—for a new top of $6,750. However, Curtis said he could not make a schedule within the budget. He said he would be cutting into the minimum severely. "If we did that, we would no longer remain competitive with other towns for starting teachers," he said.

In other discussion on the upcoming negotiations, the board decided to empower whichever members attend the sessions with the authority to act on its behalf.

Curtis had cautioned them to try to have a majority (6 members) to Schaffer and Campbell, N. Charles Boggioli and Dr. Walter Scharr.

Absent were Mrs. Katherine Bourn, board chairman, Atty. Thomas Bailey and Edward Glenney.

The board's decision for a settlement hand that proposed by Schaffer and Campbell does not jeopardize its position should the salary matter finally go to mediation.

Rottner had asked for an opinion of the town counsel regarding the status of the teachers, many of whom refused this year to sign salary agreements. Also, an upcoming schedule would be to be signed by some or all of the teachers, Rottner wondered, should be their legal obligation? Should they receive pay only under the pre-existing schedule?

Curtis said that while he wanted to get the dispute settled as quickly as possible, he didn't want to see the board do anything that could be construed as "in bad faith."

"I don't see how we can do that," he said. "I feel first of all that we have a tremendous obligation to our present staff. Therefore, I'd favor not adopting a 'hard and fast' schedule, but offering them the revised schedule... which will be something concrete to talk to."

He suggested that if the board took a moderate tone, the teachers might come around to his thinking and drop the request for negotiation.

Stop Teen Drink Problem At Source, Say Officials

Two Manchester officials told a state study group on teen-age drinking yesterday that Manchester's approach to stop the problem at its source before trouble develops.

This involves close cooperation between police and schools. Police Chief James M. Resor and Robert J. Digan, head of the School Attendance Department, told the State Teen-age Alcohol Use Study Commission.

The two were invited to speak by the chairman of the commission, Atty. Gen. Lewis W. Felt, who is director of West Hartford, and he is a national spokesman with Manchester's program.

Resor said he expected that the commission will call a state conference of educators, police, doctors and others in effort to develop a coordinated program to deal with young drinking and teen measures before the year.

The associate minister was born in North Attleboro, Mass., and attended schools there. After graduating from High Point College, N.C., with an A.B. degree, he entered a three-year missionary assignment in Cochabamba, Bolivia. He was assigned to a secondary school and there taught English, coached softball and various other sports, while working in the local churches, performing pastoral duties.

He attended Wesley Seminary in Washington, D.C. while he was assistant pastor of the Brightwood Park Church, an integrated church in Washington, D.C. He was directed last summer, he was responsible for reorganizing the Boy Scouts, serving as a youth director and as a temporary until houses are sold, and did much counseling, teaching, and tutoring with the children and youth of the church.

Wedding

Knox - Yoo
Miss Barbara Jean Yoo of East Hartford and Donald John Knox of Manchester were married Saturday morning, May 21, at St. Peter's Church, Hartford.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Yoo of East Hartford. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Knox of 140 Woodside St., Hartford.

The Rev. William Stack of St. Peter's Church performed the double ring ceremony and was celebrant at the nuptial high mass. Bouquets of white carnations and roses were on the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Edward Yoo of East Hartford. She wore an ankle-length gown of white tulle and lace. Her tulle veil was arranged from a floral headpiece, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Miss Linda Mae Lathrop of Manchester was maid of honor. She wore an ankle-length gown of peacock blue peau de soie, matching floral headpiece with veil, and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

After a motor trip through the town, the couple is living in Andover.

Medicare, What It Means

Hospitals Braced For Patient Rush (Continued from Page One) July 1. Have people saved up their bills to be treated under Medicare? Will there be enough hospital beds to hold them? If you are currently running at 70 per cent of capacity, explained Dr. H. Brewster, executive director of the Hospital Council of Southern California. They could easily handle a 10 per cent increase in patients after July 1 without too many problems.

Boards' Decision On Busing Legal, Mulvey Reports

HARTFORD (AP) — As far as the state of Connecticut is concerned, local school boards are within their rights in authorizing participation in desegregation busing plans, the State Attorney General says. It is abundantly clear that a town board of education has the basic authority to send children to school in another town, said Atty. Gen. Richard J. Mulvey yesterday in an opinion requested by State Education Commissioner William J. Sanders.
