Mississippi, Florida Sites of Race Riots

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — A small Negro neighborhood and other Negroes and whites exchanged gunfire Tuesday night remained closed to outsiders today.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Price said the area was closed to the press and other outsiders. Price said it was uncertain how long the restriction would last. First reports were that the off-limits restriction would be lifted at daylight today.

"We're not going to have any more of this shooting on either side," said Price.

The gun battle erupted here as civil rights leaders in Mississippi, an employer of a glove factory, was wounded during an exchange of gunfire with the Freedom Democratic Party headquarters.

Stuart was treated for back, neck and shoulder wounds in a hospital here and sent home.

The highway patrol moved in and blocked off a three or four block area.

"No one's going in or coming out until daylight," said Inspector Raymond King.

Letimer said Stuart's ear was hit by both bullets and he was shot. He said he thought Stuart was alone at the time.

Negroes inside the Freedom Democratic headquarters relayed a report to their offices that three carloads of whites drove up and began firing at them. They said they returned the fire.

N. J. Warden Is Jailed on Perjury Count

NEW YORK (AP) — Warden Henry B. McFarland of Hudson County, N.J., was sentenced Wednesday to six months in prison for perjury by Federal Judge Thomas F. Conahan.

On a second count of perjury, Judge Conahan sentenced the 70-year-old warden to 28 months in jail and fined him $1,000, but suspended the jail term.

McFarland could have received a maximum of 10 years in prison and has been fined $1,000.

McFarland received the sentence as he was being taken to the state prison for a hearing on a charge that he had lied about his activities while in Jersey City where McFarland had been warden for 28 years.

The perjury stemmed from his testimony before a federal grand jury investigating the granting of special privileges to the inmates of the jail in Jersey City where McFarland had been warden for 28 years.

Am. U.S. Atty. General J. Parsons in his memorandum to the jury, described the warden as "old handshaker" who sat at the door of the jail during visit days and accepted two or three dollars from inmates and relatives of inmates.

Family Race

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Wichita man has filed for the Republican nomination for the same legislative seat being sought by his son, a Democrat.

"I suppose it creates an odd-looking situation," said Bruce B. Madden, the father. "But the filly was entirely independent."

Madden's son, Robert, 21, filed for the Democratic nomination early in May. He did not know of his father's intentions.

"At times our beliefs have differed, but I respect him for his beliefs, and he respects me for mine," Robert said.

Hershey Hits Lottery as Draft Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today it is an illusion to believe that a lottery method could solve problems of the system of drafting youths for military service.

He said the greatest weakness of such a system would be "the substitution of chance for judgment."

Hershey was the first witness as the House Armed Services Committee opened hearings on how the Selective Service System is operating. Committee Chairman L. Mendell Rivers, D-S.C., has described Selective Service as an "unpleasant fact of life that can not be wished away."

Both Rivers and Hershey had prepared statements to read at the opening hearing which started before a standing-room-only crowd liberally sprinkled with college students.

Rivers, in his opening remarks, raised the possibility of lowering the upper limit of direct draft liability from the present 26. Men who get deferments now remain liable for service up to 35 but few over 26 get called.

"I believe it most pertinent for the committee to explore the possibility of reducing the percentage of direct draft liability during peacetime to an age substantially lower than 26," Rivers said. (See Page Two)

Boyd Testifies

Dodd's Germany Trip Was Made for Klein

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's former administrative assistant swore today that the senator's trip to Germany was to help Chicago public relations man Julius Klein.

James P. Boyd Jr. was the first witness as the bipartisan Senate Ethics Committee began taking public testimony in its investigation of misconduct charges against Dodd, a Connecticut Democrat.

A trip Dodd made to Germany in April 1964 has been described by the committee as "an ethical element" in the current phase of its probe — the senator's relationship with Klein, a registered agent for West German interests.

Boyd testified that before the senator made the trip, Klein had advised him that he and his wife had been "boistered" and had his "image refurbished."

2 U.S. Planes Lost During Viet Dogfight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Navy pilot flying a jet fighter crippled by enemy fire and running critically low on fuel shot down a Communist MIG17 jet over North Viet Nam Tuesday.

One other MIG was damaged and possibly destroyed as four Navy F8 Crusaders and four MIGs tangled 65 miles northwest of Hanoi. But the MIGs shot down one Crusader, and ground the other. Down a Navy photo-reconnaissance plane in the same area.

The aerial battle began when four MIGs engaged four sweeping F8 Crusaders from the carrier Hancock, covering an attack by other U.S. jets on a highway bridge.

The Crusaders were electing over the pilot of the reconnaissance plane — also a Crusader — who had bailed out after being hit by gunfire.

The odds turned quickly in favor of the Communists when one of the Crusaders took a hit from the ground in the tail section. The pilot joined in the fight until his fuel ran low, then limped back to the Hancock with an ailing Crusader.

Through outnumbered, one of the two remaining Crusaders caught a MIG with his own cannon and other pilots saw it spinning to the ground.

Then, two MIGs got on the tail of one of the Crusaders and one MIG scored a hit. The American pilot was parachuting.

Stone Age Village Uncovered in Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A French-Syrian archaeological expedition has discovered an 8,000-year-old village telling much about the critical period when man changed from a nomadic hunter to a settled farmer.

This development was the great turning point which set mankind on the course of civilized progress, Henri de Contenson, French expert on prehistoric archeology, said today. He heads the joint expedition.

Archaeologists long have been trying to uncover information about this period, he said in an interview.

The village — the best preserved settlement of its time uncovered in the Middle East — was found beneath a deserted hill called Tel Ramad, 16 miles southwest of Damascus. It was the outcome of annual excavations which began in 1963, Contenson said.

Excavations at three sites on the hill revealed a colony from the late Stone Age, dating back to 8,000 B.C. He said. Approximate area of the village is 200,000 square feet.

The finds indicate that it was 85 centuries ago when man began to take up permanent residence, raise crops, lead a communal life, develop religious tendencies and start trading, Contenson said.

Man's first permanent home was a hut built of dried mud and straw and roughly circular in shape. Later, Contenson said, a two-story house was built. Mrs. Benda, said in an hour or two after his mother notified police at 8:18 p.m. Monday that he had failed to return home.

A large party of searchers found him 24 hours later in a salt marsh which youngsters frequently use as a play area.

Near the body were found the T-shirt and an ice pick, or similar weapon, Dr. Gilman said, and also had been beaten.

He was slain within an hour or two after his mother notified police at 8:18 p.m. Monday that he had failed to return home.

Boy, 5, Slain; Body Found in N.J. Salt Marsh

UNION BEACH, N.J. (AP) — The body of a slain 5-year-old boy was found Tuesday night in a salt marsh only yards from where a similar discovery was made 2 1/2 years ago.

The victim was Paul Benda, son of Shirley Benda.

The boy died of a heart ailment, according to Dr. C. Malcolm B. Gilman. The boy had been established at least five times with an ice pick, or similar weapon, Dr. Gilman said, and also had been beaten.

He was slain within an hour or two after his mother notified police at 8:18 p.m. Monday that he had failed to return home.

Manchester: Past Places, People

When the bells ring out from the battle of Bunker Hill Independence on the afternoon of July 4, Manchester residents look back to the site of the War for Independence on the little community of Orford horseback; once on a winter March, then a part of East Hartford became the separate town of Manchester.

News of the battle at Lexington and Concord in April, 1775, came to Connecticut speedily, and many soldiers were sent to the front. A system of couriers on horseback was already in operation to carry the news to the Continental Congress and to convey resolutions passed by the Continental Congress to the people of the colonies in Boston, where the series of taxes imposed by the British Parliament had been adamantly opposed in the Boston Tea Party.

Answer Lexington Alarm From a village of an estimated one hundred voters, twenty-five volunteers from the Parish went to Cambridge in response to the Lexington Alarm. They were under the leadership of Capt. Timothy Cheney; James Bellows, Ocas Bidwell, Ocas Bissell, Samuel Bryant, Timothy Bryant, David Buckland, Elisha Buckland, and Matthew Cadwell. Jeddiah Darling Jr., Nathaniel Dewey, Abielther Evans, Samuel Evans, Simon Gaines, Solomon Gilman, David Goodrich, Alexander Keeney Jr., Theodore Keeney, Josiah Loomis, Joseph McKee, Robert McKee, Joseph Olcott Jr., Richard Pitkin, Joseph Steadman and Ephraim Webster.

Some of these volunteers stayed in the Continental Army for more than the few weeks of the original campaign. It is known to have served later as: Ocas Bissell Jr., Daniel Bissell, Elisha Bissell, Benjamin Leverett Bissell, Benjamin Brown, Ebenezer Bryant, Ebenezer Bryant, George Bryant, John David, David Evans, Moses Evans, John Evans, White Evans, John Joseph Hollister, John Holmes, Abiel Keeney, Isaac Keeney, Richard Keeney, Benjamin Keeney, Abiel Keeney, Daniel Keeney, Nathaniel McKee, Robert McKee Jr., Andrus Millard, Nathaniel Olcott, Joseph Phillips, Justus Reed, Nehemiah Riley, John Spencer, Adams Symonds, Jesse Whitbert, Jonathan Webster and William Wilson.

Individuals served valiantly. The varied experiences of some families and individuals was reported in a feature story written by Mrs. Thomas J. Lewis in the Manchester Evening Herald for Nov. 4, 1958.

Capt. Ocas Bissell and five sons served in the Revolution. Chaplain Bissell had taken part for nine years in the Revolutionary army. Although he served almost six times in the Revolutionary army, although he suffered imprisonment for two years on each of two different occasions, he lived to be ninety-three years old. His son Ocas answered the call to arms against the Colonies, Lexington Alarm. Son Russell stayed in the regular army of the Revolutionary War and became a captain, and later a major. Daniel became a brigadier general in the regular army and served on the western frontier. English died on the ship in New York. Leverett served in his father's company and for nine years in the Revolutionary War.

Capt. Timothy Cheney of the 9th Company in the 10th Regiment of militia had three sons, one of whom was a fairly low townsmen as officers under him: Richard Pitkin, Nathaniel Olcott and Simon Gaines. Richard Pitkin Jr. thought too young to enlist, drove an ammunition wagon in his father's campaign. Other local families in which both father and a son saw service were Bryant, Evans, Griswold, McKee, Keeney and Marsh. Moses Evans Jr. served with various fathers taking turns. Game time, at the high school baseball field when in Bolton, is 6 p.m. for weekday games and 5 p.m. for Sunday games.

Auditorium with Sloping Floor Okayed for High School Wing

The board of education has unanimously approved a plan for the new high school wing that includes a stage, a small auditorium, with a sloping floor, that can be expanded by opening it up to a cafeteria behind it.

The board chose the design, and instructed architect Arnold Lawrence to proceed with preliminary plans, after the three possibilities at a joint meeting with the public building commission (PBC) Monday night.

Eliminated was a cafeteria-auditorium with a completely flat floor and raised stage. Favored until the final vote by two board members; and a design with a "bunkin center" for the auditorium section, which was quickly thrown out as not having much value in providing better visibility or greater flexibility—the two criteria on which the decision to adopt the sloping-floor plan was based.

Since last week, when the board took its first look at the floor elevations, Lawrence made two changes in the sloping floor rendition, to provide greater visibility from the rear of the whole area is opened into one large auditorium.

The floor, as drawn for the board Monday, now has a more gradual slant (21 inches) and the stage, which is at the same level as the cafeteria, is now one foot, nine inches high.

Because of the more gradual slope, the auditorium is now suited to be divided into two classrooms by a partition, which will be used for science demonstrations, large lectures and the like, and will have a table-top area, except for a few rows near the stage which are to be movable. It will also be used as an orchestra pit.

The auditorium area would have fixed seats, and a capacity of 244.

The cafeteria section would seat 250 students at tables eating or studying.

A partition is included to divide the cafeteria into two sections. The kitchen is off the cafeteria.

The two sections opened into the auditorium would seat about 602.

Between the small auditorium and the stage would be another movable partition. The stage itself, containing about 1,250 square feet, would be divisible into two music rooms.

Small storage rooms and a larger music storage room are included in the design. Board of education chairman Walter Weddel said the music storage room would only be used for its designated purpose.

Board members Robert Frost and Harold Smith favored the flat floor until persuaded otherwise.

Frost contended that the flat floor would be more flexible, and that the primary use of the area would be as a study hall. He did not favor the fixed seats, and lamented the loss of space devoted to corridors.

He also suggested that Grade 8 might have to be brought into the school temporarily, until more elementary school rooms are available, a proposal violently opposed by Mrs. Claire Wartel.

Weddel said he thought the board should plan for the ultimate use of the facility, that the flat floor "offers an issue which is more paper tiger than it is real."

Principal Ralph Conlon, called upon to express his views, said that the staff of the high school and administrators definitely favor a sloping floor. He noted that no more than 200 students could sit at a sitting in the cafeteria—that only so many students can be served at a time.

Staff members present also spoke up for the sloping floor. Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, English teacher, said it would be good for drama; Mrs. Louise Goodworth, science teacher, spoke of its use for demonstrations of more than one class; Mrs.

Driver Faints, Car Continues And Hits Pole

Gets Masters

A car whose driver lay on the seat after she started to back out of Birch Mountain Rd. yesterday morning, struck a pole and burst and traveled on the wrong side of the street for about 60 feet before coming to a stop.

The driver was identified as Ann M. Naggioli of Hartford. She received minor injuries in the accident but declined treatment.

The car had to be towed away by a wrecker.

The woman told police that she was driving north on Birch Mountain Rd. when she started to grove fast and lay down on the seat while the car continued moving.

Police said the car went off the right side of the road and sideswiped a utility pole. The car burst through the pole, struck the street and smashed into a thick bush.

The driverless car continued down the street on the left side of the road for about 60 feet before it came to a stop. No charges were brought.

New Wave Commander French Cookery Enthusiast

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The Waves from 1961 to 1963, the seventh director of the Naval War College at Newport, N.J., where she is global strategy Waves is a student of French cookery. And home decorating, too.

Cmdr. Rita Lenihan, in the Navy since 1942, takes command of the feminine branch—500 officers and 5,000 enlisted women—Sept. 1. She will relieve Capt. Viola Sanders, who is retiring. Cmdr. Lenihan, a trim woman with prematurely gray hair, pink and white complexion and brown eyes, will be promoted to captain — the Waves' only captain — when she takes command. She has just finished a course in Spanish at the War College, in addition to the home decorating and French cookery at a private school in Newport. Does that mean she possesses considerable cooking skills? No, Cmdr. Lenihan says. "I tend more to specialization in chocolate mousse."

The seventh director of the Waves was born at Monroe, N.Y., and grew up in Nutley, N.J. She received her bachelor's degree from the College of St. Elizabeth in Morristown, N.J., with a major in Latin and a minor in journalism. She was attending graduate school at Columbia when she entered the Navy in 1942. Later, while on foreign service in London, she completed course requirements for a master of science degree. She also possesses a master of arts degree in international relations from George Washington University. Her sports activities, she says, are confined to "spectator tennis," an interest which developed at Wimbledon during her London tour.

Barrett, from Rutledge, Tenn., is staying with friends here. He was graduated from Rutgers in 1964 and then served two years in the Army, including one in Viet Nam, where he was wounded. He said he read of Prof. Eugene Genovese's statements on the Viet Cong in an Army newspaper. "This diploma is worthless to me," Barrett said.

Town Marine Tells Story of a Battle

Lance Cpl. George L. Wilson of 152 School St., a member of the 9th Battalion with the 3rd Marine Division in Viet Nam, was camped off Highway 14, south of Da Nang, when the troops were attacked by the Cong.

H. Co., consisting of about 150 men, held off the morning attack though outnumbered two-to-one. About 90 Marines were killed and wounded, while the Viet Cong casualties were twice as heavy.

Wilson, who has been in Viet Nam since December, describes the action as follows: "It was 4:15 a.m. The Communists hit H Co. 9th Bn. 3rd Marine Division with a heavy barrage of 81mm. and 60mm. mortar fire which lasted until about 5:30 a.m.

"Then they attacked with about four companies of mixed South Viet, North Viet, and some that did not look like Viet names. Three companies were armed and the fourth unarmed to carry off the dead and wounded.

"Our Marine company at the time consisted of about 150 men to the enemies 300 armed and 300 unarmed men.

"Just before the main attack began one of our patrols got caught in a three-sided trap and had to retreat about 100 yards under heavy small arms fire as well as the mortar attack. One of our machine gun teams gave cover fire and in so doing became a prime target for the enemy's mortars. Despite the heavy fire the patrol made it safely back to our position.

"The machine gun team consisting of Cpl. Gary Dillon of Quabry, Wash.; L-Cpl. Charles J. Murphy of Philadelphia, Pa.; and PFC Joseph Gayton Jr. of Sacramento, Calif.; had at least one shell hit just behind their position.

"There were no prisoners taken but the villagers later confessed that we had killed 60 and wounded between 40 and 60 of the communists while losing one third of our strength in killed and wounded.

"The Marines here are having an extremely rough time of it being short of manpower, vehicles had to be face to face.

TV Debate Time HARTFORD (AP)—Gov. John Dempsey and Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Gerasca can have free radio and television time for a face-to-face debate.

The free time on station WTRB was offered Tuesday night by Paul W. Moressey, president of Broadcast Plaza, Inc. Moressey also offered free time for debates between candidates for Connecticut's six seats in the House of Representatives. He stipulated, however, that all debates had to be face to face.

MRS. RICHARD FREDERICK EBERLE

Shelters Empty, Hampton Takes Care of Its Own

HAMPTON, Va. (AP)—Residents of a section here have taken care of their own. In the wake of the crash of a Marine jet that killed two and injured 44 Monday night, the Red Cross set up emergency facilities in Brooke's Beach High School to shelter the 60 persons left homeless.

But there were no takers. The homeless were with relatives and neighbors.

The AAA intruder jet crashed high above Chesapeake Bay with a star jet. The second craft plunged into the bay after its crew bailed out, unharmed. The other continued toward Brooke's Beach, a heavily populated section of the Community House of the city.

A reception for 125 was held at the Community House of the city. For a motor trip to Cape Cod, Mass., Mrs. Eberle wore a pale blue suit with white accessories. The couple are living at Wright's Mill Rd., Coventry.

Mrs. Eberle is a graduate of Coventry High School, and she is employed at Astra Life and Casualty Co., Hartford, Mr. Eberle is a graduate of Manchester High School. He is a 30-year-old son of Donald and Mrs. Eberle. He is employed at the Popular Market in Manchester and is an assistant chief of North Coventry Volunteer Fire Department.

Bodies Recovered

NEW YORK (AP)—Five more bodies have been recovered from the site of last week's tanker collision and fire in New York Harbor.

The additional bodies, and the death Tuesday of one of the injured in the collision, brought the total known dead to 20, police reported today. Four men are missing and presumed dead.

At a Coast Guard inquiry into the collision, three survivors testified Tuesday that they did not think the crash had been serious when they first felt its impact.

Smith, Mazzarella Match Highlights Amateur Golf

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — Former champions Pat Mazzarella, Ron Smith and Bob Allen are among the eight players who survived the first two rounds of the 64th Connecticut State Amateur Golf Tournament Tuesday. Mazzarella and Smith, meeting in the highlight of today's quarterfinals, were the 1965 and 1966 champions. Mazzarella, a 24-year-old Brookline, Mass., golfer, was able to beat the par 71 of Brookline Country Club. Smith, a 22-year-old New Britain schoolteacher, won the tournament in 1965, was doing the best job of solving the course. He had the best score of Monday's 36-hole qualifying, 72-90-141, and shot a pair of 65s Tuesday to oust 186 State Open Champ Jerry Courville of Shorehaven and Tom Gorman of Four other former champions. Mazzarella just 1-up. Against Courville he came from behind on the final four holes with a pair of birdies and two pars. The Edgewood Country Club stand-out, who hasn't won a major crown since 1959, hoped the first hole and then strung 17 pars against German. Defending champion Dick Field, 1-up, and Fred Keak of East Hartford, 2-up. The 1966 and 1966 champion, Alphonse Winter, Jr. of Brookline, will have to settle for his current post as Connecticut Golf Association President in 1966. Winter defeated 1961 champ Dr. Ted Lenczyk of Indian Hill 2 and 1 in the first round, but first nine holes, and beat Bruce Ben Costello of Mill River, 2 and 1. Costello meets Jim Ruckler of Ellington Ridge in another quarterfinal match today. Allen went three under par for the first nine holes, and beat Bruce Ben Costello of Mill River, 2 and 1. Most Finished Tennis Product Russian Challenge For Top U.S. Hope

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Dennis Ralston, top American hope for the Wimbledon title, faced the growing challenge of Russian tennis today. The Bakersfield, Calif., star seeded No. 6, was paired against Alexander Metreveli, the Soviet No. 1, in the second round—and he agreed it was no pushover. "This boy can play," Ralston said. "No sensible man could fail to respect the Russians these days." Metreveli, 22-year-old journalistic student at Tallisi University, is the most finished product of the Russian drive to get a foothold in world tennis. For two straight years he has coached the third round at Wimbledon. "It is just seven years since the Russians decided to promote tennis as a serious sport for the Soviet people." Russian players won both boys' and girls' junior titles at Wimbledon last year. The Russians are out to do the same again this time, with two 17-year-olds challenging the cream of the world's teen-agers—Vladimir Korotkov and Rosa Slavova. Roy Emerson of Australia, flitting for his third straight Wimbledon title, has an old score to settle against Wilhelm Burgert, the tall and elegant German, Burgert was the last man to defeat Emerson at Wimbledon—in the quarter-finals of 1962. Clark Grabner of Beachwood, Ohio, who is seeded No. 8, faced the Australian left-hander, Owen Davidson.

Leaves for Active Duty Oct. 4 Ron Smith Joins Marines, Ex-State Golfing Champion

Ronnie Smith Jr., well-known Connecticut amateur golfer, received the path of recruitment to the Marine Corps last Friday from Major Wilbur Dinegar, officer in charge, Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Hartford. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald W. Smith Sr., 28, Thomas St., Manchester, shares the distinction of being the only other Connecticut resident to garner first place in both the Connecticut Amateur Championship and the New England Amateur Championship during the same year. This was accomplished by Bobby Grant Sr. during the late 1950s.

A June 1966 graduate of Manchester High School, Smith joined the Marines via the Corp "No-Delay" Program. He will leave for active service on Oct. 4. During this period of time he will not be obligated to attend any meetings or drills and is assured that the time prior to going on active duty will occur towards completion of his military obligation. During his four years as a student at Manchester High, he participated in golf and was named the captain of the team in 1966. During 1969 his school team won the OCHL Championship and, as an individual entrant, Smith won the Connecticut Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament. He went on to place fifth in the National Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament that year.

In addition to winning the preceding laurels, Smith has the added distinction of being low amateur in the Hartford Jaycee sponsored Insurance City Open in 1962 and has plans to attempt to repeat this performance during the 1966 OCHL. Following graduation from high school, Smith went to attend the University of Houston, Texas, while a student at that school he was a member of the golf team for four years. Highlight of his four years at Houston came in 1966 when they won the NCAA National Championship.

Future Olympians may be on display Saturday morning at Memorial Field when the Manchester Jaycees stage their annual track and field meet. First event is held at 10 o'clock. Stan Jarvis, Jaycee chairman, reports there will be 16 events and 20 trophies. Two divisions will be featured, Senior/Group for boys 15 to 18. The Junior Division will be for boys in the 11 to 14-year-old class. Senior Events: 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 400-yard dash, mile, broad jump, shot put, discus, 500-yard low hurdles and high jump. Junior Events: 60-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 400-yard dash, broad jump, high jump. All entrants must have parent's or legal guardian's permission to compete. Entry blanks have been distributed to local schools. Local winners will qualify for the Jaycees State Meet, State student entering on to the Nationals in Denver, Colo., in August.

Shaw's Psychology or Spitball?

Cards Lose And Protest Wet Pitches

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' psychology on Tuesday night, but the Cardinals suspected that it was a good old-fashioned spitball.

Shaw, throwing sharply breaking stuff, had the Cardinals' starting pitcher Harry Wendelstedt to see the ball a half a dozen times. But it did little good. Wendelstedt kept upholding Shaw and kept firing his staff at St. Louis, which went down, 2-1, to a four-hitter.

The victory was Shaw's, the Cardinals' first since he was named manager in 1954. He had a record of 44-44 in 1954, 44-44 in 1955, and 44-44 in 1956.

Shaw denied that he throws a spitball. He said he has never thrown one and that he would never do so.

Smoke Proves Asset As Reds Nip Pirates

NEW YORK (AP)—Deron Johnson never would make it as a railroad engineer in Cincinnati. When the railroad engineers learned that Pittsburgh was in town Tuesday night, they arranged a pleasant little reception. Johnson hurried the party with some justly fitting that was warmly hospitable.

Pittsburgh was bothered by smoke but it was just like old times for a few minutes in Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Midway through the first inning of the Red 11-4 victory over the Pirates, the engineers whipped Los Angeles, 7-4, and San Francisco downed the Braves, 7-1.

That touch of oldtime atmosphere was the last friendly gesture Cincinnati made all night as Johnson went to work.

The Pirates had grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first inning before the smoke from the neighborhood Union Station began blowing into Crosley Field.

The smoke caused a delay of four minutes while it floated down the first base line, over to the second and on to the outfield. The players could hardly see each other and when it finally cleared, the Dodgers for a throw a ball to the outfielders to make sure they could see.

Play resumed, the Reds hopped on Woody Pizarro for four runs and a lead they never relinquished. Johnson hammered a three-run homer in the second, clinching a five-run victory. He hit a 9-3 lead in the third, and the Pirates could not come out. The Pirates pulled a 9-3 lead in the third, and the Pirates could not come out. By EARL YOST

YANKEE STADIUM, New York—Air was blue when the final out was signaled and the first game of last night's doubleheader between the Yankees and Baltimore Orioles, P.T. to be followed by the Yankees' Frank Robinson's ruling that White's bid for a game-winning three-run homer in the last half of the ninth inning, was Yost's Manager Ralph Houk.

Baltimore was leading 7-4 with two Yankees on base when White, who had homered earlier in the sixth inning, worked the count to two strikes and one ball and then unloaded a drive of one after another's Bu Miller's bid for a game-winning three-run homer in the last half of the ninth inning, was Yost's Manager Ralph Houk.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

It was two up and two down for the Orioles & Fire and Bears entries last night at Weddell Field. The YPs winning two games, 2-2 and 6-2. The latter one-run decision was the completion of a tie game. The YPs are now 6-4, under a heavy load of one-run decisions.

Picking up after eight innings with the score 2-2, action went two more frames before Jim Leticia drove in Jim Gen with the winning run with Doug Scruton getting the mound win. The latter worked late innings, two in the first game and four in the second, and fanned 11. He allowed only one run, a home run by Doug Scruton. He walked two.

Bob Briggs pitched well for four in the nightcap, allowing only three runs. He was trailing 3-0 after five innings. Bears rallied for two runs in the sixth before pulling to pull the game out of the Fire. Bears collected three of their four hits in this frame, one a double by Stan Miksa.

Between the games, Houk announced that he had lodged a protest.

When the four-man team of umpires made its appearance for the start of the nightcap, a shortstop who just the night before had been ejected at home plate, Houk informed the umpires that he was protesting and the umpire stepped the word along to Bob Shepherd, stadium attendance.

Word was then relayed to the crowd and a wild demonstration followed.

The Yankees whipped the American League leaders 8-4 in the second game and manager, the Orioles' manager, and New York pilot Houk were still standing late.

Houk pitched well through Friday, 4 to 2, in two games. He was 2-0 in two games and 1-0 in one game.

Jets Sign Pair

NEW YORK (AP)—Lanabacker Al Robinson and safety man Ray Accorso have signed their 1966 American Football League contracts, the New York Jets said today.

AL Results

Cleveland edged Boston 2-1. Detroit defeated Washington 2-0. Kansas City edged Chicago 9-8 and California downed Minnesota 10-7 in other games.

Before his controversial first ball, White made two errors that led to five Baltimore runs in the second inning and hit a two-run homer in the sixth. Detroit's Matty Alton pitched a hitless relief until the Yankees had their short-lived rally in the ninth.

The second game was tied 3-3 until the seventh when the Yankees erupted for five runs. Hal Renitt ignited the rally with a home run.

THURSDAY'S RESULTS—Denny McLean became the first in the AL to win 11 games, stopping Washington in five innings. Jim Northrup tripled home two runs for Detroit while Norm Cash singled across two.

A'S-WHITE SOX—Bert Campaneris broke an 8-2 tie for Kansas City in the ninth when he got his fourth single, was sacrificed to second, stole third and continued home on catcher J. C. Martin's wild throw. Chicago had tied in the ninth on John Romano's run-scoring double.

ANGELS-TWINS—Ed Kirkpatrick helped California build an 8-0 lead, driving in four runs with a single and a homer. Minnesota rallied to within 8-7, but reliever Minnie Rojas struck the Twins' ace, Steve Carlton, for the second time in the last four innings.

POPPE JOHN'S VISIT—Pope John's historic visit to Yankee Stadium last summer will be noted Saturday with the unveiling of a plaque, costing $10,000, which will be erected on the centerfield wall as part of the Knights of Columbus Day ceremony, July 23. Featured in the overall 48-28 standard.

New York—Playing just like the Boston Red Sox, this sums up in capsule form how the New York Yankees looked last night as they opened 7-5 twilight doubleheader with the American League leading Baltimore Orioles.

Quota of the night: "The pitchers should see for non-support." Little Jackie Farrell, Yankee promotional staff member, said.

Frank Wyman, North End businessman and sponsor of numerous local athletic teams, from George and Benny Wyman, two runs for Detroit while Norm Cash singled across two.

Season Odds: Eddie Watt, won 12 straight games in New York before losing last night's game. He is now 1-1 in his last two games. He is now 1-1 in his last two games. He is now 1-1 in his last two games.

Found: One manager, bearded Billy Herman in Boston, who leaves his pitcher in the game when getting bombarded by another manager. The Orioles lead off on Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre for seven hits and six runs in the first two innings. He was replaced and he stepped on the bag and appealed to the umpire. Sheldon Strong but RSox Lose

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox are playing like duffing golfers these days, not able to hit both ends of their game together.

When the pitching is strong, such as Eddie Rhoads' five-seven-hitter Tuesday night, the power hitters fail to get any runs. The result was Boston's 10th one-run loss of the season, 2-1, at the hands of the Cleveland Indians.

Rhoads, making his second Red Sox start since being acquired from Kansas City, allowed only one earned run, a better defensive work by the Boston infield could have given him a shutout.

The Indians scored on the second inning on a fielder's choice after three consecutive singles loaded the bases with no outs. One of the hits was of the infield variety that, cleanly played off, could have been an out.

The other Indians run scored in the fourth after a two-base error put the runner in scoring position.

Herman was genuinely mad for Rhoads, a right-handed pitcher once started for the University of Connecticut.

"He should have had a shutout," Herman agreed, "and he could have had the victory any way if we'd given him some runs."

But Boston's batters were unable to cope with the "new" Larry Beitz, who shut out the Red Sox until the ninth. Beitz, playing more breaking pitches than he ever has thrown at the Red Sox in the past, exhibited perfect control, especially with the ninth-inning run that boosted the Athletics past the Chicago White Sox 9-8.

Shaw's Psychology or Spitball?

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' psychology on Tuesday night, but the Cardinals suspected that it was a good old-fashioned spitball.

Shaw, throwing sharply breaking stuff, had the Cardinals' starting pitcher Harry Wendelstedt to see the ball a half a dozen times. But it did little good. Wendelstedt kept upholding Shaw and kept firing his staff at St. Louis, which went down, 2-1, to a four-hitter.

The victory was Shaw's, the Cardinals' first since he was named manager in 1954. He had a record of 44-44 in 1954, 44-44 in 1955, and 44-44 in 1956.

Shaw denied that he throws a spitball. He said he has never thrown one and that he would never do so.
