Commissions Get Together To Hash over Town Issues

All town boards and commissions met together last night for the first time, to go over a changing, the combined scale number of subjects of town-wide import.

The discussion ranged from bettering the lines of commuter station between boards to regional planning; from planning zoning and aerial maps to the problem and progress of the town's development commission.

Richard Roberts, speaking for the industrial commission, said that it is nearing completion of an industrial brochure describing the advantages of Tolland.

William Holley, chairman of the board of recreation, suggested that the chairman of each board submit quarterly reports to Zanghi, which would be made public.

Those attending agreed with Holley, and will submit the proposed quarterly reports as well as holding combined board meetings twice a year.

Representatives from the boards of education and recreation, and the planning and zoning commissions, the assessors, the volunteer fire department, and the public health nursing association.

Highway Plans Zanghi told of a meeting Wednesday with officials of the State Highway Department, at which he questioned whether the department is planning to expand the Wilbur Cross by one or two lanes through Tolland.

This statement for Purtlew, however, has been a great deal more than a mere statement of fact...

For this was the only political convention in Connecticut history for either party in which the real situation was actually what political oratory usually claims it is in the case of each individual nomination.

Not a few of the first and most joyous Communist habits to reappear now that the Communist Party of the United States have been in the news...

Such Communist claims are of course just about as reliable as the lurid alarms about Communist activity and influence which come from the professional anti-Communists.

It is not the American function to combat revolution everywhere but to stand as the universal, all-embracing guardian of the status quo.

When Work Will Be The Luxury: On his way toward much weightier concerns in an article titled "Tomorrow's Agenda" in the current issue of Foreign Affairs...

(Continued from Page One) hour visit to Hae, a hotbed of antigovernment agitation. The anniversary actually was a week ago, but Ky held off his visit until loyal troops re-established government control in the city which has been a spawning ground for Buddhist and student efforts to depose Ky military regime.

Ky and his chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Cao Yan Wen, pinned rank insignia on a group of newly promoted soldiers and handed out awards for valor. The promotions and decorations were given for a major victory over the Viet Cong this week in three days of hard fighting about 30 miles north of Hue. More than 30 Communist guerrillas were killed, including many North Vietnamese soldiers — were killed. Ky gave the Vietnamese 1st Division major credit for the victory. The division, headquartered in Hue, had been split by the political turmoil.

Patrolman at the Center today radio for assistance yesterday afternoon when two men placed under arrest in a restaurant refused to leave. A man named Robert was arrested when he took a swing at the officer as the two men were being handcuffed, according to police.

Police arrested Thomas C. O'Neill, 27, and John P. O'Neill, 21, brothers from 10 Minuteman St., last night. Both cars were extensively damaged and had to be towed away by wreckers.

One of the motorists, Alan B. Ballou, 100 Foster St., received abrasions but did not require hospital treatment. Police said the woman, heading north on Summit St., drove through the intersection and collided with a motorist heading west on E. Middle Type.

Patrolman John McClelland said he was called to a restaurant at 499 Main St. after the owner of the restaurant reported a fight. McClelland said three men smashed a window as they left his shop.

McClelland said the three used "very vulgar language" as they left his shop. The patrolman started to leave when one of the men saw him and told McClelland he was under arrest when the brother drove at him.

Tolland County Democrat Loyzim Running For House as Independent

Stephen Loyzim of Coventry, a veteran member of the state legislature, has announced his intention to run for State Representative from the 51st Assembly District (the towns of Andover, Bolton and Coventry) as an independent candidate. He made his announcement at a meeting of the Tolland County Democratic Association in Union Thursday night, promising to uphold the principles of the Democratic party despite the fact that he will be running as an independent.

Loyzim was defeated in his bid for nomination as representative from the 51st district by Robert Moriarty, Democratic town chairman of Coventry and program chairman of the Tolland County Democratic Association. He was a member of the Democratic Town Committee from 1946 to 1962.

He described it, instead, as an opportunity to give all Democrats in the district the chance to elect a person of their choice. "It is important to look at the primary within the meaning of the law of the state — to give every registered voter the right to choose his representative."

Atty. Tarpinian polled 25 votes in the district. Atty. Lavin's 18 at the Democratic convention in Springfield last week. Atty. Lavin, whose 18 votes were more than 40 per cent of the total tally needed only 20 per cent to call a primary.

Primary is a "horrible word" to everyone who is an attorney. Atty. Tarpinian will be master of ceremonies for the show. During the balloting, winners of the 4-1 talent show in May will present two dance numbers: "Swaying Silks" by the Flying Flyers of Storrs, with Mrs. Marvin Kottke and Mrs. Sidney Waxman; leaders; and "Clockwork Square" by the Sewing Society Juniors of Tolland, Mrs. Richard Smith and Mrs. Andrew Winans, leaders.

Additional prizes of $15 for the first runner up and $10 for the second runner up will also be awarded. Cub Scout Pack 65 meets at 7:30 p.m. today at the Robertson School.

Lumber Firm Buys Former Nelco Plant

The Nelco Tool Co. building, which has been vacant since early this year, was purchased this week by Grossman Industrial Properties, Inc., of Braintree, Mass. The building, located off Center St. on Elm St. near New extension, will be used by the Grossman Distributing Co. as a retail outlet for selling lumber and all types of building materials. The lumber outlet is now located in the former King's Discount Department Store building, and William Marsh, manager of the Grossman distributing co., says the outlet will be moved to its new larger quarters in the next few months. The deed for the transfer of property was recorded at the town clerk's office Thursday, William Rood of the Crockett Real Estate Agency, who negotiated the sale, said the purchase price of the property was $100,000. Grossman Industrial Properties, Inc., the purchasing corporation, has 82 outlets for lumber and building materials in New England and New York. The company has been in existence 70 years, and set up the distributing outlet here about three years ago. The outlet, which employs seven persons, will expand its stock of goods when it moves, and will add a line of sheet rock to its inventory. The purchased building is located on a railroad siding, and has a larger store area. This will enable the company to buy for less and in larger lots, Marsh said. At its present location, the stock of materials sold has to be brought in by truck. Nelco Tool Co., which was established here in 1947, moved to Graystone, R.I., after it became a subsidiary of Brown and Sharp Mfg. At the peak of its production, the company employed about 100 machine operators, who manufactured carbide-tipped cutting tools, including drills and reamers. After Grossman Distributing Co. moves, only one tenant, a furniture supermarket, will be found in the spacious building of the Cheney Mill complex off Hartford Rd. in which King's Department Store was formerly found. Several other discount houses have reportedly been looking over the building for possible use.

Boys-Girls State Opens Tomorrow

The 24th annual sessions of the American Legion Boys State and Legion Auxiliary Girls State will convene tomorrow at the University of Connecticut, Storrs.

Manchester representatives to Girls State are Miss Carola Barbato of 28 Scarborough Rd., a junior at East Catholic High School; and Miss Cheryl Bartel of 361 Hackmatack St., a junior at Manchester High School. Manchester representatives to Boys State are Milton Costello, Stephen E. Cone, David White, George Bradiau, and Joseph Amato, juniors at Manchester High School; Norman W. Souza Jr., a junior at East Catholic High School; and Alan Dux, a junior at Cheney Tech. A joint meeting of Boys State and Laurel Girls State, tomorrow at 7 p.m., will open the session. The week will be given over to studying various phases in state, town and city government. Students will learn about each integral part of each side of government. Representatives of various courts of the state will speak, and there will be a mock trial presented by the Hartford Bar Association. Gov. John N. Dempsey will address a joint session Tuesday. Boys State has five cities and five towns with equal membership. Girls State is divided into towns. Miss Barbara Walcott of Manchester, president-elect of the Manchester Auxiliary, is serving her 18th year as counselor at Laurel Girls State.

Police Arrests

Marilyn Meier of West Hartford was charged early this morning with speeding. She was arrested on Center St. near Morse Rd. after her car was clocked by a cruiser patrolman. She is scheduled to appear in Manchester Circuit Court 12 on July 11.

Nerves Attacked

CHICAGO — Botulism, of which seven to 12 outbreaks occur in the United States each year, attacks the nervous system about 12 to 36 hours after spoiled food has been eaten. The resulting respiratory paralysis kills two-thirds of those affected.

NOTED IN GUIDE

Lutz Junior Museum is recommended as a feature tour attraction in the new 1966 Mobil Travel Guide which was published recently.

The guide, which comes in seven volumes to supply information to travelers, is available at Mobil stations and wherever paperback books are sold.

Manchester is listed in the Northeastern States volume, and general information is given about the town and towns in the surrounding area.

The Lutz Junior Museum is recommended for natural science, ethnology, American history exhibits, its "Living Wall" of live animals and fish, and the "voice mirror" telephone.

Each book also contains about 20 guest certificates which may be exchanged for tickets of admission at reduced prices to well-known sightseeing attractions in each area.

ACCOUNTING GRAD

BOOK AUTHOR

Albert Putnam of Putnam, Office & Book, 71 E. Center St. has recently published a book titled "The New City... Hartford."

Putnam is a historian, having published several pamphlets on historical subjects particularly connected with Connecticut. He is considered a top authority in the country on the life and times of Abraham Lincoln. He was honored at luncheon with the President of the United States along with a group of other Lincoln experts on Lincoln's Birthday last year.

The book is in paperback form and is somewhat unique in that it is written in blank verse.

DE-CENTRALIZE

The 46 food stores in Connecticut and Western Massachusetts area will become Stop & Shop's first de-centralized supermarket division.

According to the president of the company, this is an experiment which could set the standard for future company operations. The two-fold purpose of this autonomous setup is to enable division personnel to react more swiftly to competitive situations through on-the-spot decisions, and to establish a prototype for future growth.

QUARTER CENTURY CLUB

Twenty-two local residents recently joined the Quarter Century Club with Pratt and Whitney Aircraft after having served 25 years with the company. ### COMPLETES SESSION

William F. Legault, assistant treasurer of The Savings Bank of Manchester, was one of 103 savings bankers to complete the first-year session of the Graduate School of Savings Banking at Brown University here today.

The school, operated by the National Association of Mutual

William F. Legault

Savings Banks, drew 15 other Connecticut bankers to the freshman class in addition to Legault. Now in its seventh year, the school provides a comprehensive curriculum for junior and senior officers, covering all phases of savings banking and the financial climate in which it operates. Special emphasis is placed on the management function. Classes are held for two-week sessions during each of three summers and students complete extensive written assignments between sessions.

Legault, who has been associated with The Savings Bank of Manchester for the past six years, is head of its mortgage department. He attended the National Association's special Mortgage School in Meriden, 1965, and this spring completed the two-year course of the Connecticut Savings Bank School. He was graduated from the University of Connecticut in 1959, after attending high school in Manchester. He is married to the former Carol M. Dixon and they live with their four children at 22 Lenox St.

W. R. Johnson, secretary and treasurer of The Savings Bank of Manchester, also attended the Graduate School of Savings Banking, being graduated in 1963. Everett J. Livezey, president of The Savings Bank of Manchester, has served on the faculty of the Graduate School since its inception and has been active in the organization and development of the curriculum of the school as a member of the National Association's Committee on Education and Management Development.

NEW HAVEN MAN DIES

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Carl D. Mitchner of New Haven died Friday night when his car struck a utility pole off Lighthouse Road.

Police said Mitchner, 61, of 147 Oceanview St., was alone in the car when it failed to negotiate a curve.

Area Realtors Propose Code To Curb Bias

The Greater Hartford Board of Realtors, which include realtors from South Windsor, has proposed a sweeping program to aid minority groups in obtaining housing.

The proposals, outlined in a three-page letter, have to be approved by the directors and the members themselves. A spokesman for the Board of Realtors said that he foresaw no problem in obtaining the approval.

The group's civic affairs and human relations committees have prepared applications for non-whites who are having trouble finding housing, and has adopted a seven-point code of ethics that would require Realtors to inform property owners of fair housing legislation which bars discrimination in the selling of real estate.

The committee has established a unit, the Professional Standards Committee, which has powers to recommend disciplinary action against members on complaints of discrimination, and is set up to investigate complaints of discrimination.

The proposed code states the Realtors stand ready to show all property to any qualified member of any racial, creedal or ethnic group, to submit all formal offers to property owners, recognizing however that the right of decision rests with the property owner himself.

In taking a stand on "block-busting," the code states that "Any attempt by a member... to solicit or procure the sale or other disposition of real property by conduct intended to implant or promote fears in property owners... shall subject the member to disciplinary action."

The application form which will be given to non-whites, leads off with the following: "I am having difficulty in finding housing accommodations in the Greater Hartford area that are satisfactory to me and within my economic means. I hereby request assistance from your committee."

The application asks for type of property desired, the price range, place of employment of the person applying and a list of accounts payable and credit references, if the applicant has not been qualified for a bank mortgage.

The application form for minority groups and a copy of the code has been sent out to the members for study and approval.

YALE PROFESSOR DIES

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Professor Richard C. Donnelly of the Yale Law School died of cancer at his Madison residence Friday he was 51.

The noted authority on criminal law is survived by his wife, the former Frances C. Martin of Las Vegas, Nev., a son and two daughters.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at North Madison Congregational Church.

Does TV Make Us Passive?

NEW YORK (AP) — Television took humorist Sam Levenson out of the New York public school system — but show business obviously failed to take the teacher out of Levenson.

Father of a teen-age child, Levenson frets about the relationship of television and school, and winds up being critical of parents, pedagogues and commercial broadcasting.

"In 100 years of free compulsory education we have never prepared most children to be readers and thinkers," Levenson says without his familiar beaming smile. "We have laid a big fat egg in turning out millions of kids who just want to be amused."

Levenson believes that it is essential for the public schools to "teach kids to watch television."

"Why don't all the schools supply the students with 'preferred viewing lists?'" he asked. "Television supplies its own teachers for the children — the ones who want them to do something. And, to me, the sad truth is that the schools, which have something exciting to sell, don't know how to do it as well as television does."

Levenson, surprisingly, does not worry about violence.

"I don't think TV breeds violence," he continued with considerable fire. "I think it breeds passivity. When kids see real violence, it seems like something they've seen on a TV screen and instead of reacting to it they just watch quietly and wait for the commercial, knowing that it will turn out all right in the end with the good guys winning."

The evil in television, as Levenson sees it, is that practically the sole motivation in viewing is amusement.

"Does the industry—commercial television—have a right only to amuse?" he asked. "Maybe they have. But on the other hand, I as a father, have the right to refuse to let them educate my children."

Levenson may be disturbed by TV's incidental role in children's education, but the record indicates that the taste of elementary school children has grown more sophisticated over a 15 year period.

In a study by Paul Witty of Northwestern University (made before the advent of "Batman") it was found that the most popular children's shows last year were "The Man from U. N. C. L. E.," "Bewitched," "Shin-

Alexandre Moltke, portraying a governess, flees her employer's mansion in a new weekday series styled on the tradition of Gothic novels. The setting is a Maine fishing village. The suspense-and-romance series, "Dark Shadows," starts Monday from 4-4:30 p.m. on ABC.

Drama's the Thing Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television for several past seasons has resolutely brushed off the laments of its critics about the low estate and generally shabby quality of many of its light "entertainment" shows and the almost total lack of serious drama beyond occasional feature films.

Now, it seems, the networks are admitting — indirectly, of course — that perhaps the complaints have been based in truth. They want to do something about it—next season.

This new and sudden passion for drama with "meaning" and "significance"—two words being used a lot these days—bears some earmarks of a fad and now seems to be part of a fad and now seems to be part of the three networks, continuing game of oneupmanship.

The game rises to a peak of activity when the living room screens are taking their summer siestas. This is when the big build-up starts toward next season's output.

Now the word "quality" has become as fashionable as the word "ratings" with the network executives. ABC perhaps made the opening move in quality oneupmanship with publicity about its forthcoming "Stage 67" anthology series.

Then CBS came along with its splendid production of "Death of a Salesman" and made another move by promising at least two more of similar substance next season. ABC countered with an announcement of a plan for two-hour dramatic productions on a monthly basis some time after the first of next year. NBC said it had signed Sidney Poitier to play "Othello."

CBS made another move in the game Tuesday by announcing it has set aside $500,000 "to encourage the writing of original dramas expressly for television." Writers who turn out material that CBS find to be "meaningful" and "significant" will be rewarded by payments up to $25,000 per script.

The dramas, varying from one to two hours in length, will be presented on "CBS Playhouse" starting next season. The network said it already has a number of scripts it is considering.

"This effort to bring new drama resources to television," a spokesman said, "stems from our strong belief that such originality can engage the interest and attention of significant segments of the public, bring to television great talents on a regular basis, and provide unusual opportunities for experiment and innovation."

HOWES IN 'BRIGADOON'
Sally Ann Howes, the British actress, will star opposite Robert Goulet in ABC's 90-minute production of "Brigadoon." She will play Fiona. The musical is by Lerner and Lowe.

Excerpts from W. G. Fields movies will be shown on Wayne and Shuster's summer show Friday 10-11 p.m. on CBS.

The Boys Return to Ponderosa

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Meanwhile, back at Ponderosa —

They're already at work on the 1966-67 season of "Bonanza," which has proven its name for NBC, its sponsor, producers and stars. Those indomitable Cartwrights are once more at home on the range — Lorne Greene ever the father image, Dan Blocker fat and sassy, and Mike Landon the sex symbol, though slightly gray-haired.

Little Joe gray-haired? Yes, it's true, though the aging process has set in early. Otherwise Mike Landon remains the picture of youthful vigor, thanks to his daily sessions in the Paramount Studio gym while others are feeding in the commissary.

Landon, like his fellow Cartwrights, exudes confidence about the coming season.

"I hear Garry Moore, our opposition on CBS, is passing out sweatshirts marked 'Beat Bonanza,'" commented Landon. "It'll take more than that."

The actor reflected on the number of opposition shows that have hit the boneyard and commented: "The best opposition they had has been the feature movies. They would do even better if they weren't so long."

"It's a mistake to put on a 2 1/2-hour movie at 9 o'clock on Sunday night. That means the working guy would have to stay up almost until midnight, and that's too late."

ABC will once again be pitting the features against "Bonanza." The color Western will be offering more of its same formula in the series' eighth year.

"We're not planning anything new," commented Landon. "There may be more two-parters, which I don't entirely approve of. Experience has shown that the ratings suffer when we do them."

"Guest stars? I don't think we'll be using too many — unless the ratings drop. But experience has also proved that guest stars don't help the rating to any degree. Of course, if Paul Newman was available —"

Landon and his fellow stars have signed up for another five years of "Bonanza," after which they should be able to buy the State of Colorado. Mike admittedly enjoys the money, and he is content with the work as well.

"Acting is a job, just as being an engineer or doctor is a job," he reasoned. "There is a certain amount of routine in doing a series, but there is also a creative aspect of helping with scripts and writing an occasional one yourself."

Long Overnight For John Gary

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Gary is inclined to smile wryly when associates comment, "Isn't it great, now that you're an overnight success?"

A success he is — hot in the night clubs and on discs, starting for CBS this summer on the John Gary show, replacing Danny Kaye.

Overnight? Forget it. John was singing to huge audiences at an age when most boys are playing Little League. His splendid soprano won him a singing scholarship in New York at the age of 9, and he came on up the river from his home in New Orleans, La.

Later John was singing for USO shows and in Ken Murray's marathon "Blackouts" show in Hollywood.

"I was in the show for a year and a half," he recalled. "Then one night I was singing 'When Irish Eyes Are Smiling' to Marie Wilson and my voice cracked. I lost my soprano and my career at the same time."

Later he learned to sing again by studying the records of Tony Bennett, Vice Damone, Perry Como and others. He still does impressions of them in his night club act, but he also developed a style of his own — melodic, romantic, pitched higher than most baritones.

John's career was going well until he encountered something he couldn't lick: Rock 'n' roll. He figured he couldn't survive amid such dissonance and so went into the salvage business in New Orleans.

"What lured me back was seeing singers like Jack Jones, Andy Williams and Robert Goulet make it in the record field," he said. "I figured there might be a chance for me."

He scored well in clubs, and his rendition of "Danny Boy" was heard by an executive of the Kaye show. That led to three guest spots with Kaye last season. During the past season, Gary appeared nine times as part of the plan to groom him for the summer takeover.

And what happens to him when the leaves start to fall? "I hope I do well enough to do a regular season on television," said the 33-year-old singer. "Andy Williams did two summer seasons before he landed a regular show. Maybe I can do it with one."

Nelson in Musical
Ricky Nelson will star in a new musical, "Flip Side," that satirizes the teen-age music world on "ABC Stage 67" next season. Joania Sommers will co-star.

16,000 Jam Jackson At Finish of March

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The long and turbulent Mississippi march has ended with James H. Meredith—who started it as a "journey against fear"—saying the "governor and every other person is going to pay attention to the Negro."

"The system of white supremacy will reign no longer," Meredith told a heavily guarded rally behind the imposing state capitol building Sunday. Some 16,000 persons, most of them Negroes, flowed through Jackson streets to jam into a portion of the capitol grounds and adjacent areas.

The final leg of the march—from Tougaloo College on the outskirts of Jackson to the capitol—and the rally were marked by a subdued atmosphere.

Meredith, 33-year-old Air Force veteran led the procession with a number of national civil rights leaders, including Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Meredith drew the greatest response from the crowd, which couldn't hear half of what was said from the flatbed truck which served as a speaker's platform.

Meredith said his father, now dead, told him most white persons "are pretty decent. It's true that we got some mean white folks in Mississippi, but these people can be decent. There is only one thing that is holding them back. And that thing is the system of white supremacy."

"The purpose of the march that I started three weeks ago was to point up and to challenge that thing at the base of the system of white supremacy. That thing is fear—a fear that the Negro in America to grips with very bones, not only in Mississippi, but in every section of this country, because every inch of the country is controlled by the system of white supremacy."

Meredith recalled that he was shot on the second day of his march "but as you can see here, that didn't end a thing."

Still carrying his walking stick, James Meredith smiles and waves on arrival at the Jackson, Miss., capitol, end of a long civil rights march.

Bank Robbed

HARTFORD (AP)—A thin, middle-aged man robbed the Connecticut Bank & Trust Co. office at 760 Main St. of about $2,000 early this afternoon.

Police said he handed a teller a note which said "This is a holdup. Don't sound the alarm. Give me $5, $10 and $20." He apparently showed no weapon.

He was described as about 55, with a crew cut and wearing a red plaid shirt and glasses. He fled on foot, through the bank's side door, to an adjoining building and presumably to the street, police said.

Tynan Urges Newer Laws For Cyclists

HARTFORD (AP)—"There are altogether too many motorcycle accidents," says State Motor Vehicles Commissioner John J. Tynan, commenting on Connecticut's 10 motorcycle fatalities so far this year.

The commissioner also noted that in 84 such accidents, during the first three months of 1966, there were 65 personal injuries.

Tynan and many of Connecticut's law enforcement officers feel that now is time for additional legislation defining and limiting the rights of motorcycle drivers.

State Police Commissioner Leo J. Mulcahy has announced his support of a bill to introduce at the next General Assembly calling for separate tests and licenses for drivers of motorcycles.

Mulcahy noted that under present state law, any person possessing a standard automobile driver's license can drive a motorcycle.

Tynan, who also supports such legislation, said "It doesn't mean that a fellow can drive a motorcycle just because he can operate a car."

Pastore to Speak

HARTFORD (AP)—U.S. Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island was named formally today to be keynote speaker at the Connecticut Democratic State Convention Friday night.

State Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey said that Pastore had accepted his invitation to address the opening session of the two-day convention.

Pastore replaces Vice President Hubert Humphrey, who was scheduled to speak at the convention.

Violence Erupts In Poland After Religious Rites

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—About 1,000 hymn-singing Polish Catholics clashed with club-wielding police Sunday night in two attempts to march on Communist party headquarters in Warsaw.

At the height of the outbreak, helmeted police charged into a chanting crowd of youthful supporters of Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, the Polish primate, and began swinging their truncheons. Newsmen saw at least two persons struck by clubs and reported several arrested.

The violence erupted 10 years after the death of Cardinal Wyszyński.

Dodd Denies Charges, Attacks Former Aides

Counsel Asks Sen. Bennett Be Removed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd made a sworn denial of misconduct charges today and accused trusted employes in his office, who fed documents from his files to newspaper columnists, of "robbing me blind."

Dodd testified in his own defense at a climactic session of the Senate ethics committee hearings into the misconduct charges.

Before Dodd testified, his attorney had asked that the committee's ranking Republican member, Sen. Wallace Bennett, of Utah be disqualified for having made "a prejudgment before hearing the most vital evidence—the testimony of Sen. Dodd himself." The request was tabled.

The committee also heard Mrs. Dodd swear that it was she, not Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, who bought Persian rugs now in the Dodd Washington home. Papers she identified as receipts for the rugs were given to the committee.

Dodd, a Connecticut Democrat, acknowledged that several times a year he had used the New York hotel suite of Klein, a registered agent for West German interests.

"I'm not a rich man," the senator said. "I'm not ashamed of it, I wish I was." He went on to say he accepted Klein's "hospitality" and was "glad to have a place to stay."

Dodd denied he ever delivered any speeches written by Klein and testified a 1964 trip he made to Germany was to conduct an investigation for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee—not to help Klein gain onto clients there.

Navy Bombs Hit Fuel Dump U.S. Cavalry Joins Chase Of North Viet Battalion

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Thousands of U.S. air cavalrymen joined the pursuit today for three North Vietnamese battalions swarming the coastal hills of South Viet Nam's central plateau.

In North Viet Nam, U.S. Navy bombers left a large fuel dump in flames which sent up billows of smoke visible from as far off as their carrier 150 miles away, an American spokesman reported.

The reinforcements of skytroopers turned Operation Nathan Hale into a giant search-and-destroy sweep involving at least 6,000 U.S. combat troops. The prime targets were the battered survivors of a stubborn North Vietnamese battalion hit repeatedly in eight days of fighting.

However, U.S. intelligence sources reported that two other North Viet Nam battalions were in the same area 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Together the three battalions total about 1,500 men, the sources said.

So far 395 Communists have been reported killed as the allied force, in small units, went after the camouflaged North Vietnamese, making sporadic contact with them. Nineteen Reds were reported captured and 141 weapons seized.

The new spreader brought the bulk of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division into action with elements of the 101st Airborne Division, U.S. Marines and several South Vietnamese battalions in the expanding Operation Nathan Hale, and put the air cavalry's commander, Maj. Gen. John Norton, in overall charge.

A new spearhead Sunday drove into the Trang Luong area north of Tuy Hoa during a visit by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam. He traveled among the troops by light plane and helicopter.

Eight Army helicopter crewmen were killed today when two choppers collided near Tuy Hoa during the drive.

To the north, U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops went after the remnants of another battalion of North Vietnamese regulars and hard-core guerrillas in tunnels and bunkers northwest of Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon. The Leathernicks counted 66 enemy bodies, took four North Vietnamese regulars prisoner and captured 37 weapons, a spokesman reported in Saigon.

Marine officers at the battle estimated that relentless U.S. air and artillery fire may have cost the lives of 300 Communists, or about half the enemy force. U.S. 7th Fleet ships offshore joined in the barrage.

The air raid against the North Vietnamese oil installation left an inferno that glowed late into the night.

Heroic Mother Praised Tiny Tot Kept Alive In Icy Plane Wreck

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—"Her courage and initiative saved our baby's life," says the husband of a young mother who managed to keep her 2-month-old baby and herself alive for two days in a plane wreckage on a cold, snowy mountain.

Loren Little, 24-year-old University of Washington medical student, spoke with pride as he told of the ordeal his wife, Karla, 26, underwent to save herself and their daughter, Laure.

Mrs. Little's father and stepmother died in the crash on the snow-covered side of 9,971-foot Mt. St. Helens.

Mrs. Little suffered a broken back, broken ribs, a collapsed lung and frostbitten feet. Doctors reported she was resting comfortably in a hospital today. Her daughter has only a bruised forehead.

Little said his wife, who was rescued Saturday, recalled the ordeal clearly.

It began when Mrs. Little and her daughter were picked up in a rented plane by her father, Grant Erickson, 46, an executive of a radio supply company in St. Louis, S.D., and his wife.

They planned to fly to Norwalk, Calif., for the golden wedding anniversary of his parents. "I was supposed to go with them," Little said. "At the last minute I changed my mind."

Flying south toward Portland, Ore., Thursday the four ran into heavy weather. Mrs. Little thinks a wingtip struck the rocky side of the mountain.

Erickson crash-landed the craft on a ledge at the 5,500-foot level. He and his wife were killed.

Little, describing his father-in-law as a "very cautious pilot, a sensible flier," noted that the last reports from the plane had its altitude as 8,500 feet. He believes Erickson fought to bring the crippled craft to its crash-landing at a much lower altitude, "probably saving the life of my wife and child."

The young husband flew with the search planes, refusing to abandon hope through a long Friday and into Saturday afternoon.

Led by Instinct Blind Man's Pinscher Developed Cataracts

DETROIT (AP)—Hesitancy at the end of the leash told Jack McAdams, 23, something was wrong.

It turned out the blind was leading the blind. McAdams' dog, Dell, was leading him through downtown Detroit streets on a rainy April day when he sensed indecision on the dog's part.

A veterinarian discovered that Dell, a 7-year-old Doberman Pinscher, was as blind as his master and had been leading him "on instinct and gut alone."

Dell had cataracts, a malady common to both humans and dogs. The lenses of her eyes were so fogged she barely could distinguish light from darkness.

Fortunately dogs have a second set of lenses, though an operation to remove the defective ones costs $350. And no one could promise McAdams what the results of the operation would be.

McAdams had trained Dell since she was a puppy. He felt he just couldn't let her down. A short-wave radio operator, McAdams told other hams about his and Dell's plight. The operation money rolled in and there was transportation to take Dell to a clinic.

Two weeks ago Dr. William Magrane of Mishawaka, Ind., removed Dell's clouded lenses. Thursday the stitches inside her eyelids were removed.

But after the eye operation, "she lay there for hours, like she was dead," said Onete Robinson, McAdams' mother and a nurse at Doctors Hospital, who made Dell her special patient through the dog's ordeal.

Mrs. Robinson says Dell is starting to look better. "Her coat is coming back and she is beginning to scamper around the house again."

McAdams knows Dell can see again, even without a veterinarian's assurance. He can feel a more confident tug on the leash. "Right after the vet took out her stitches, she placed her paw in my hand for a handshake. She must be able to see again. She put her paw in the right place."

Costs, Aims Detailed For Downtown Renewal

By ANTHONY CHEMANSI

A breakdown of the estimated $16.6 million cost for the proposed Downtown Renewal project was made public today by the Manchester Redevelopment Agency (MRA).

The cost figures, the agency said, are subject to approval from the Department of Housing and also subject to change after detailed engineering studies are made for the project.

The information was contained in a 21-page report titled "Report on Market, Cost and Economic Potential for Downtown Renewal Project."

If the report's title was undeniably, the information within was even more so. The agency provided figures to show that if the downtown's future is not altogether bleak, it certainly is a moribund gray. Worse, the agency declared that, like a diseased limb, the loss of the economic health of downtown will affect the health of the whole town.

It offsets the bleak prospects by pointing out the benefits that can be anticipated from a "complete revitalization program" of downtown. Tax revenues will go up and the tax base will increase, the agency predicted.

The renewal plans would create a mall along Main St., relocate a portion of Main St., widen several streets and increase parking behind Main St. and the mall area.

The MRA gave this breakdown of the expected $16.6 million cost of the project:

Administration—$1 million. Includes survey and planning costs; administrative overhead of offices, office equipment and personal service contracts for legal, accounting, planning, surveys, appraisals, disposition and preparation of maps.

Site Clearance—$1.3 million. Includes estimated cost of demolition and relocation of private utilities. The project's share of the relocation is normally 50 per cent of the total cost. (A "good percentage" of overhead utilities may go underground.)

Project Improvements—$4.6 million. Includes streets, storm and sanitary sewers, landscaping and grading. Interest—$300,000. The estimate is for interest on the $16.6 million loan. (See Page Three)

AMA Research Links Smoking, Emphysema

CHICAGO (AP)—Emphysema, a lung disease with a death rate increasing faster in the United States than that of any other single disease, has been produced experimentally in cigarette-smoking dogs, a medical research team reported today.

At two smoking sessions daily, for more than a year, the dogs inhaled cigarette smoke through hollow plastic tubes inserted in their windpipes.

In a report to the general scientific session of the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, the researchers said:

"The inhalation of smoke directly from cigarettes by dogs causes destruction of lung tissue indistinguishable pathologically from that found in human emphysema."

The U.S. Public Health Service has reported that the death rate for emphysema increased sixfold between 1953 and 1963.

The Tobacco Institute Inc., in commenting on the study, said the smoking method used "is not at all comparable to human smoking conditions. The method was highly artificial and stressful, and the exposure to smoke was enormously exaggerated. Therefore, the results cannot be interpreted as having any relation to the possible effects of human smoking."

The study was headed by Dr. Oscar Auerbach of the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, N.J., and E. Cuyler Hammond, in the statistical research section of the American Cancer Society.

They reported that they attempted to duplicate human (See Page Seven)

Quiet Birthday For Helen Keller

EASTON (AP)—Today is a special day in the life of Helen Keller, a woman whose life has been filled with special days.

It was 86 years ago today that she was born in Tuscumbia, Ala. Nineteen months after she was born she was struck deaf and blind.

The story of her triumph over these infirmities has been an inspiration to those similarly afflicted, as well as those who have read her many books, or have seen the movies or plays based on her life.

After spending most of her life working tirelessly to better the conditions of the blind and deaf, Miss Keller has retired to a rural retreat in Western Connecticut.
