Something New
 Rocket observations up above the earth atmosphere have, for some four years past, been receiving some X-ray emissions which, originating apparently from some point in the Milky Way, have not only been strong enough to penetrate the atmosphere down to our land-based discovery.
 This new discovery is being read as probable evidence of a new star in being born to our Galaxy. At the present point, our astronomers guess, the star is in a very early stage of formation, and gas and gas are being drawn together out in space by their own mutual gravitational attraction. A little later, when they get a little closer and a little thicker, they will begin to glow, and then, some day, we here down on earth may be able to see the new star. We have no really authoritative way how long it may take this new star to be born.
 But with a fine sense of optimism, we are setting up our school of rocket observations so we can watch and measure and find out, even should the process take a century or two.
 This is the kind of news we can use more of.
 It gives us something to say when we are asked, "What are you doing?" Frank ourselves with news.

Connecticut Yankee
 By A.H.O.
 We remember the smooth, effective, but still unimpressive way in which Homer Cummings, on the platform of the 1930 Democratic State Convention at Eastern Point, uttered his oratory in favor of the revolution which was about to take place in the Democratic party of Connecticut, free it from its long dogmatic machine servitude, and began with the nomination of Wilbur L. Cross, the downfall of the Roosevelt machine.
 We remember the way Augustine Lonergan used to stump back and forth across the stage in 1934 we think it may be able to see the new star. We have no really authoritative way how long it may take this new star to be born.
 But with a fine sense of optimism, we are setting up our school of rocket observations so we can watch and measure and find out, even should the process take a century or two.

Manned Mars Landing
President's Decision
 By DR. I.M. LEVITT
 DIRECTOR
 The Fels Planetarium
 of the Franklin Institute
 It is possible to initiate a program at the earliest possible time under the current political system operating in the United States? Are there political restraints which would prevent the Apollo "follow-on" program to unreasonable lengths because our political system is one in which the man who guides the space program — the President — is elected every four years and the duration of space programs is of necessity long—much longer than the presidential term?
 The answer is, "No." It is obvious that we do not expect any such drama, any such memorable moment, to be created for observers to remember in their history books. The program is not intended to be a dramatic event, but rather a series of steps leading to a manned Mars landing. The program is not intended to be a dramatic event, but rather a series of steps leading to a manned Mars landing.

What The Rebels Said
 Perhaps this is the year really to read the Declaration of Independence, with some effort at attention to the words it used and what it tried to say. It was a document of fire and passion, but it was also a document of modesty, humility, tolerance and reliance upon persuasion.
 It acknowledged, at the opening, the people and states which were united in respect to the opinions of mankind.
 It held that "all men are created equal" and that the certain rights which all men are endowed are "unalienable," which means nobody, but nobody has a right to separate men from their or deny them to men.
 It described the role and the function of government, which was to secure the rights, whenever they were denied, their form of government, "destructive of these ends." It gave to the people the right to alter or abolish it and to set themselves up a new government, which its foundations on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to affect their safety and happiness, and most forgotten words in this passage are the five words "as to them shall seem."
 This might seem to mean that these rebel ancestors of ours, calling on force to obtain for themselves the kind of government which to them might seem best suited to them and to the objectives of their society, were of a mind and heart to grant similar privileges to other men in other situations, conceivably with other tactics, for other systems.
 There was nothing in this early statement of the principles for which this nation was founded and by which it has sought to guide their going to this particular nation the supervision of what choices people made in other parts of the globe, or establishing the premise that only those principles and forms of government which we fancy and treasure here in this country should be considered fit choices for other people to make for themselves.
 Our Declaration of Independence held a torch up before the world, not a demand for conformity; it championed the right of revolution and change without attempting to define certain pre-conditions to which they must adhere for all time; it opened, not closed, doors for men.
 We Americans can't help it if we grow old and prosperous and very much pleased with our system for what it has done for us. We have made of ourselves what we want, and we are naturally proud of it. We are naturally proud of it. We are naturally proud of it.

Is The Cheerleading Necessary?
 One tries hard to keep the focus on principle and not get caught up in the emotionality to this country's situation in Vietnam.
 But one can't help thinking that, in the end, it is the cheerleading that counts. If Vice President Hubert Humphrey could be taken out of the role of official cheerleader for our military decisions, it would be a great relief.
 Somehow, his joyous roars, the other night, that our first raids on oil installations at Hanoi and Haiphong had been a military miracle of precision, and his solemn assurance that there must be "a lot of thinking" going on in Hanoi the next night, did not seem to be a military miracle of precision, and his solemn assurance that there must be "a lot of thinking" going on in Hanoi the next night, did not seem to be a military miracle of precision.

Colonial Blackout
 By Wesley Gryk Jr.
 A wave of angry grief through the Connecticut Legislature as an eerie darkness spread across the skies of Hartford in May 1966, was a day which was to go down in New England history as the "Dark Day," or, simply, "the Dark Day."
 Already, the House of Representatives had adjourned for the day. The Senate was in session, but the birth of a new Nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the belief that all men are created equal, and that the rights of the people are unalienable, and that the powers of government are derived from the consent of the governed, and that the government is instituted among men, deriving its just powers from the consent of the governed, and that the powers of government are derived from the consent of the governed, and that the government is instituted among men, deriving its just powers from the consent of the governed.

Tales of Connecticut
 A Matter Of The Heart
 Independence Day is a glorious and meaningful holiday. It commemorates the birth of a new Nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the belief that all men are created equal, and that the rights of the people are unalienable, and that the powers of government are derived from the consent of the governed, and that the government is instituted among men, deriving its just powers from the consent of the governed, and that the powers of government are derived from the consent of the governed.

 May Need Guard
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. James E. McConnel says the Air National Guard may have to be called out in case of trouble outside Viet Nam because there has been a reduction in the United States Air Command in the United States.
 It is apparent now that the Tactical Air Command cannot, without expiring resources, support a large-scale augmentation and, at the same time, provide adequate support for other possible operations without calling up the Air National Guard, McConnel said.

The Bible Speaks
 by Eugene Brewster
 "And I... came unto you... not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, proclaiming to you the testimony of God; for I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and him crucified." (1 Cor. 2:1-2)
 There is no other message men need so desperately as this—that Jesus died an inherent sense of right and wrong, and that he died for the redemption of the world. The message of the Bible is that Jesus died for the redemption of the world. The message of the Bible is that Jesus died for the redemption of the world.

STUDENTS TOUR MOTTS
A group of students from the University of Connecticut recently toured the Meat Shop Rite Super Market for an on-the-spot study of retail food distribution techniques. The group was conducted through the store by Raymond Dimajo, store supervisor, and accompanied by other staff members. The tour included everything from meat preparation and accounting to merchandising and inventory procedures for fresh foods and packaged goods. in Hartford and have a dance tonight. The Manchester Squadron will return the visit at Thanksgiving. The Canadians are here for the third year in a row. (Herald photo by Sateris.)

Convention Highlights

Veteran Cast Stressed

Two Enfield Republicans, who had had the sidewalk all to themselves at the Republican State Convention, were backed last night, but they stood in one spot. Their placards demanded "One Man—One Vote."

The Bushnell organist was a successful architect, Phil Stock of West Hartford, who plays at most Democratic Conventions as well as at the all-day, Air-Craft Christmas parties.

The Democratic Convention was less organized than the Republican Convention of two weeks ago. Only two tables were provided for the press and radio men—the Republicans supplied four. Almost no advance literature was provided—the Republicans provided portfolios with speeches, biographies, pictures, etc.

There was no dance in the Grand Ballroom of the Hilton Hotel, as there was following the GOP Convention. The place was taken over by the Rainbow Girls. But, there were parties all over the place, plus many at the Sheraton Motel.

The Manchester delegation had a party at the Sheraton and played host to the delegates from the 5th Senatorial District.

The biggest party of all was in the Hilton's Terrace Room, taken over by the East Hartford and New Britain delegations. The six bartenders and eight waitresses were kept hopping.

Last night's session ended at 9:55, about 25 minutes longer than the Republicans'. The extra time was taken in reading the names of members of committees. West Hartford's 5th Senatorial District delegates had a great time, cheering every time one of their members was mentioned.

Herbert Stevenson and Miss Barbara Coleman of Manchester served the convention. Stevenson on the rules committee, and Miss Coleman as an honorary and also a working secretary.

Lt. Gov. Fred Doocy of Wapping served as temporary chairman, and got a fine hand. Gov. John Dempsey and Mrs. Ella Grasso, secretary of state, received the warmest greetings, when they were introduced.

Sitting in the front row on the stage, were Sen. Dodd, Gov. Dempsey, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, Mrs. Grasso, former Gov. Wilbur Snow, former Sen. William Benton, and Sen. Pastore U.S. Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario of the First Congressional District, who will nominate Gov. Dempsey today, sat in the second row.

The Manchester delegation had choice seats, sixth and seventh rows center. The State Senatorial District standards, marking the various seating areas, were taken down temporarily, to unblock delegates' views.

He predicted, "This will be a great year for the Democrats of Connecticut, because we Democrats don't need a change in image."

John Bailey, state and national Democratic chairman, brought a howl when he said, and he said it three times. "I don't feel a bit older and I'm not a bit tired." His remarks were an answer to Republican claims of "a listless and tired Democratic leadership."

Bailey twitted Gengras on the hiring of campaign consultants. "We Democrats don't have to go to Boston or New York to get some experts—to tell us how to run an election campaign. You delegates are our experts."

He accused the Republicans of trying to claim credit for all of the state programs of the last 12 years, and said, "They are trying to out-Democrat the Democrats." He promised, "We're going to win," cautioning, "But we'll have to fight!"

Sen. Pastore was amazing. He spoke for 25 minutes without a prepared text, without notes and without hesitation. At the beginning of his talk, he rattled off the names of all Connecticut officials—governor, senators, congressmen, and others, and he didn't miss a name or pronunciation.

Pastore said of the Democratic Party, "Ours is the Party that cares for people," and emphasized, "People is the gospel of this party of ours."

After enumerating the advances made "since the days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt," he said, "As long as one person needs our help, our work is not done. We will strive to continue to take care of that segment of our population which is discouraged—the poor, the widow, the aged, the sick, the unemployed."

In pointing with pride to the Democratic record, he said, "As for business in America—they never had it so good. The gross national worth, and the earnings after taxes, are the highest in the nation's history."

Pastore and Dodd left the stage immediately upon adjournment and avoided a flock of delegates who swarmed onto the stage—to shake hands, to be seen, and to keep the excitement alive.

And so, on to today's session—more or less routine, except for demonstrations and acceptance speeches.

Police Arrests

A Linnmore Dr. resident was rearrested within an hour after he was released on bond this morning.

He is Frank Timreck, 49, of 37 Linnmore Dr.

He was first arrested at his home at about 12:30 a.m. and charged with intoxication, after he arrived home and allegedly made a disturbance. Shortly after 6 a.m. he was released on bond.

Timreck was under arrest again before 7 a.m. after his wife complained that he broke a lock on a door and stamped on her feet. He was charged with breach of peace.

Timreck is being held by police in lieu of bond. If he does not post bond over the weekend he will be presented in Circuit Court Tuesday.

Colonel Ryan Gets Transfer

A 1947 University of Vermont graduate, he has served in the Army for 20 years.

Tea All Handpicked

COLOMBO—Ceylon, the island nation off the southern tip of India, produces nearly half a billion pounds of tea a year, all picked by hand.

Visitors to tea plantations in the semi-tropical valleys soon learn that "orange" and "pekoe" are tea-leaf gradings of size, not quality or taste.

Firehouse Funds Hearing Subject

An appropriation of $222,000 to build a firehouse at the Green like the new one on McKee St. will be the subject of a public hearing before the board of directors July 12.

The hearing is a part of the board's scheduled meeting at 8 p.m. in the hearing room of the Municipal Building.

The $222,000 would pay for constructing and equipping the firehouse, to be built on a two-lot site at Lawton and Weaver Rds. given to the town by James McCarthy and William Peck. The town will duplicate the plan drawn by Arnold Lawrence for the McKee St. firehouse and thus cut the planning cost in half.

The appropriation, if approved, would be added to the Special Fire District Account and financed by the issue of fire district bonds.

The site selected is one of several considered by the town. The lots originally helped fulfill a minimum area zoning requirement for adjoining apartments. Before the town was able to accept the land gift, the zoning board of appeals had to waive those requirements.

The town planning commission also gave its approval, but claimed that the selection was an accomplished fact before the commission was consulted.

The D. A. Leaves A Loser

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What is it like for an actor to play the same role on the same set week after week for nine television seasons?

"It can become a cranking, tedious nightmare of a bore," says William Tallman, television's most famous loser.

As Hamilton Burger, the hapless district attorney, Tallman never has won a decision from defense attorney Perry Mason, as essayed by Raymond Burr. Tallman holds no grudge about having the cards stacked against him in every one of the nearly 300 episodes. But he did confess the mechanics of the series left him benumbed.

"In the first place, I was handed a role that was one-dimensional," he said. "I did my best to keep up my interest by playing the part just a little bit differently each week. But the effort increased as the wells of inventiveness had to be bored deeper and deeper.

"Eventually there was nothing I could do to relieve the boredom. Yet as long as the show was on the air, I never complained publicly. It would have been stupid and graceless for me to do so.

"Besides, I was lucky. Actors search all their lives to find hits, and I was in one. I would have stayed the 10th year if the show had remained on the network, and I think it could have."

His reason was simple: He recently became the father of his sixth child. Also there is the matter of hefty alimony to his first wife.

Having divested himself of his D.A. duties, Tallman now is discovering "there are other fish to fry." His first outside job was a guest starring on "Wild, Wild West." Quite naturally, he plays a loser—a sheriff who gets plugged by an outlaw.

At least three new shows this fall will continue the trend for adventure with exotic heroes. For example, Burt Reynolds, left, stars in "Hawk," an ABC series about a detective with nighttime New York as his habitat. Robert Loggia, center, is a reputed former cat burglar on NBC's "T. H. E. Cat." Van Williams, right, portrays the Green Hornet with cape and all on ABC.

He is mulling other offers and says he would gladly perform in another series. But he confessed he'll probably never find another post as easy as the one in "Perry Mason."

"Usually I came to the studio only for the courtroom scenes," he said. "That meant I only had two days out of the six-day schedule, and when I worked, I really worked. Poor Barbara (Hale) and Hoppie (Bill Hopper) sat around forever to do their scenes. And, of course, Ray Burr was there all the time, faced with endless dialogue."

Tallman admitted he will miss the old gang. "This is the truth: We ended up the best of friends," he said. "We couldn't have survived if we hadn't been."

Hey Wow! An Event

NEW YORK (AP) — Summertime has really come to television and when the premieres of two more game shows and country music half hour in the daytime schedules become a sort of event.

There is, however, a good chance that when this NBC gift package arrives on Monday, they will all slip into the TV stream without much of a splash since July 4 is a holiday notorious for getting the folks out of the house.

The new shows are "Chain Letter," which stars Jan Murray and is based on a familiar parlor game, "Showdown," which will feature a preteen rook 'n' roll group as well as the usual studio audience gamblers, and "Swingin' Country" — a music show with Rusty Draper, Molly Bee and Roy Clark.

Also on Monday comes the start of the usual summer series replacing "The Lucy Show" on CBS and called "Vacation Playhouse."

ABC's "Summer Fun" will replace "Tammy," on July 22 for seven weeks. There is also the premiere of "Hippodrome" next Tuesday night, a show that takes over Red Skelton's CBS comedy hour until after Labor Day. This is another of those British-made variety hours specializing in European circus and music hall acts with an American host and one or two American guest stars.

There is little unfinished business in television, it seems. NBC insists that vacationing Jack Lescaulte will return to the

No Rats for 'Rat Patrol'

NEW YORK (AP) — White television news shows suggest that the war in Viet Nam is a grim affair, war will be depicted as gallant adventure or as a barrel of laughs in the entertainment shows scheduled for next season.

Counting "Gomer Pyle" — and we probably should not since boot camp comedy has little relationship to the rest of military life — there will be seven series featuring soldier-ing, mostly the World War II variety. Generally speaking from a distance of 20 years, our old enemy is being portrayed as pretty nice.

ABC's "Combat" and "12 O'Clock High" are straight action shows, one about combat infantrymen in France and the other about Britain-based U.S. Airmen. CBS' new "Jericho" will fight the underground war. "Hogan's Heroes" and "F Troop" are just for laughs.

But even the stars-to-be of the forthcoming "Rat Patrol" are not exactly sure — yet — whether they are in a comedy or an adventure series. They suspect a bit of both.

The four young men who comprise four-fifths of the ABC show's leading players, sipped through New York last weekend en route to Spain for three months in which to turn out 17 shows. They will be using the sandy locations and sets used in the film "Lawrence of Arabia," since apparently some sections of Spain look more like African desert than Africa. "Rat Patrol" is built around Rommel's ill-fated African campaign.

The quartet—Chris George, Lawrence Casey, Justin Tarr and Hans Gudergast—already have a tendency to work as a team, often finishing each other's sentences.

"Rat Patrol," one gathered from them, will be "audacious and bigger than life" and portray "the camaraderie of the professional soldier." It will also have as a regular character a German officer, played by Gudergast, and he will be an awfully good guy even if he is their steadfast enemy.

"I am not a heavy," insisted Gudergast. "Even though occasionally I think I may have to try to kill one of them."

George will be an American sergeant, Casey and Tarr will be privates. A fifth actor will join them on the Costa Brava to play a British sergeant. All of them are practically unknown at the moment. Tarr auditioned for his part upon graduating from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts.

There is but one damper on their enthusiasm — the competition next fall will be a non-war comedy called "The Lucy Show," which in its time has fought and defeated some powerful competition in the ratings battle.

Speaking of Lucy, for the first time in many, many years there will be no reruns of ancient "I Love Lucy" shows on CBS' daytime lineup next fall.

For an Understudy It Took a While

NEW YORK (AP)— Every-body knows the show business legend about the unknown understudy who finally got her big chance and was an overnight sensation.

Well, the overnight lightning failed to strike Lainie Kazan when her big chance came. She was the understudy to Barbra Streisand in "Funny Girl," a show that had made Miss Streisand an instant Broadway star. And Miss Streisand was very healthy.

Lainie's big chance finally came the one night Miss Streisand came down with a virus 40 minutes before curtain. One glorious night in "Funny Girl" didn't do it for Lainie, but her ambition and determination finally have.

She auditioned for jobs, including a spot on the Telephone Hour. She attracted some TV attention by getting booked on a local, late-evening variety show. The word spread about her looks and voice and she started getting nightclub bookings, sang on the "Tonight Show" — all the while keeping her understudy job.

Now the career of Lainie Kazan, formerly of Brooklyn, has taken off. She's a regular on "The Dean Martin Summer Show." She has performed in the dozen pre-taped shows, and although in the first two broadcasts she has done little beyond sing attractively, she gets a chance in later shows to do some comedy and dancing.

George Burns, who was helpful in stimulating Carol Channing's career, has chosen her as his partner for some club dates during the summer. And she has a July booking in New York's Persian Room, the Buckingham Palace of the nightclub circuit.

Lainie still is surprised that she is gaining recognition as a singer. She started out to be a speech therapist and entered Long Island's Hofstra College as a drama and speech major. Singing was a sideline.

Her father, she admits frankly, was a bookmaker, but when he died there was little money for the family. But the hardest time was not financial. It was being the understudy.

"It's an ego problem," she said. "You feel that you want to play it, that you have something to say. It was so frustrating—not appearing—that once I thought I had an ulcer, and when I didn't, I had my gall bladder taken out. But it was the job."

"Now it's different. "What I'm trying to do now that I have the chance, is to find out why and what I really am. Am I a singer? An actress? It is very difficult to face yourself and come to some conclusions."

TWO-HOUR CONCERT
NBC will present a live two-hour broadcast of a Berkshire Festival concert by the Boston Symphony Orchestra Aug. 14. The concert will be presented directly from Tanglewood in Lenox, Mass. Winners of the Third International Tchaikovsky Competition being held in Moscow will be featured as soloists.

FOR CAR BUFFS
Lloyd Bridges will narrate "Wonderful World of Wheels," a one-hour CBS study for car buffs in September. Antiques and cars for future will be featured with sidelights on stock cars, go-carts, motorcycles and other wheel conveyances.

Holiday Road Deaths Set National Record

Soviet Bloc Nations Seen In Discord

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — A summit meeting of Soviet bloc leaders continued today amid indications of a new clash between the Soviet Union and little Romania over control of the Warsaw Pact's military forces.

Romania's official press gave no progress report on the meeting of the Communist counterpart to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Soviet press made no mention of discussion and treated the meeting as a reaffirmation of solidarity. The seven-nation meeting opened Monday at the former royal palace and continued there today but there apparently was a delay. At 9 a.m. and again at 10, spokesmen said the meeting had resumed. But it was 11 a.m. before the delegations arrived.

There were strong indications that a compromise over control of the member nations' armies had broken down.

The Soviet Union has been trying to obtain tighter control over approximately a million troops committed to the alliance. Romania has insisted that small pact members have a louder voice.

Official spokesmen reported Monday that the first meeting had lasted about 45 minutes. Actually, it dissolved into a three-hour confrontation between the Russians and the Romanians.

Some 45 minutes after it opened in the old throne room of the palace the first delegations began wandering out.

Within half an hour the Bulgarian, Czech, East German, Hungarian and Polish delegations had departed. That left only the Russians, led by Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, and the Romanians.

Drownings Nearly Twice 1965 Total

CHICAGO (AP) — The worst Fourth of July traffic fatality toll on record was reached over this holiday weekend.

With last minute figures coming in slowly today, the toll stood at 559 traffic deaths on the nation's highways to surpass in a three-day period the four-day record set in 1963.

Drownings with 203 were sharply higher than last year's figure of 114.

Boating accidents accounted for 47 deaths. The National Safety Council had estimated that between $10 and $100 persons would die in traffic accidents this holiday period.

But there was an optimistic word from Howard Pyle, council president, even as the death toll mounted.

Said Pyle: "After years of inadequate official attention to the traffic problem, Congress is in the process of enacting major legislation that will provide funds for a number of vital safety activities."

"In all our 50-odd years of accident prevention work, we at the council have never been more confident than we are today that the years ahead will see increasingly greater safety on our roads."

The worst single accident of the period took 10 lives Sunday 30 miles west of Tappan, N.J. Two cars collided head on and all of the occupants, Wisconsin Indians, were killed.

Several other multiple death crashes swayed the count.

In Arkansas two separate accidents within five hours Sunday killed 11 persons. The first accident, a three-car crash near Fayetteville, killed six. A head-on crash five hours later near Benton killed five more.

Earlier, the Safety Council had warned that "if traffic deaths continue at this present rate, it (the death toll) will exceed not only last year's Fourth of July, but possibly the Labor Day weekend of 1965. The 1965 Labor Day weekend (See Page Seventeen)

Hot, Who Said It Was Hot?

Record-breaking weekend temperatures didn't mean a thing to Patrick Stefurak, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stefurak, 613 Main St. With a cool spot to sit (Bolton Lake) and a bit of lunch (a plum) he had the heat pretty well 'beat'.

Giant U.S. Satellite Thunders into Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's heaviest satellite — a 20-ton rocket stage like that which one day will propel astronauts to the moon — vaulted into orbit today. It was filled with 10 tons of liquid hydrogen in an engineering test to determine if this high-energy fuel has at last been harnessed for space use.

A 17-story-tall Saturn 1 rocket, most powerful ever fired by the United States, thundered off its launching pad at 10:53 a.m. EDT on the 1.6 million pounds of thrust and trailed a plume of fire more than 500 feet long as it darted into the sky.

Eight minutes later, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the 20-foot second stage had ignited with a 200,000-pound thrust burst and drilled itself into an orbit about 118 miles above the earth.

The launching was held up nearly two hours because of the failure of one of two television cameras located in the fuel tank to monitor behavior of liquid hydrogen fuel. Flight controllers finally decided to launch with only one of the cameras operating.

A tracking station at Bermuda reported receiving clear pictures from the camera as the huge stage passed overhead several minutes after liftoff.

The controller at Bermuda reported the photos showed that the hydrogen was "very stable" and was "behaving itself very well" with only an occasional ripple on the surface.

The report said gases evaporating from the hydrogen were being expelled properly to provide a small amount of thrust to help settle the volatile fuel. Officials said several hours would be required to determine how successful the mission was. They termed the early portion highly successful.

Success would clear the way for the launching of an unmanned Apollo moon ship in August and the flight of a three-man Apollo crew on an earth orbit mission in November. Both would be boosted by Saturn 1 rockets.

Except for the spectacular launching and the size of the satellite, there was no glamour associated with the flight. It was strictly an engineering test to determine if the United States has tamed liquid hydrogen as a potent rocket fuel.

The second stage, with its instrument package and nose cone weighed 98,987 pounds. The (See Page Seventeen)

State Accidents Claim 10 Lives

NEW HAVEN (AP) — At least 10 persons lost their lives in Fourth of July weekend accidents in Connecticut.

Three persons were killed in highway accidents, four persons drowned, one perished in a fire, another lost his life after receiving an electric shock, and one fell from a fire escape.

In addition, police were searching for a man presumed drowned at Lighthouse Point Beach in New Haven.

Seven Connecticut residents lost their lives in out-of-state accidents. The victims of Connecticut highway accidents were: Aurelio Diaz Rivera, 41, of New Britain, who was killed Saturday when a truck hit his car which was stalled on Route 81 in Wallingford.

No 'Rocks'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — During the holiday weekend when a heat wave blistered Atlantic City with 100-plus temperatures, the resort ran out of ice.

Hardest hit were the city's more than 200 bars and nightclubs.

"We had many customers go away and I don't blame them," said an employe of one lounge.

"I mean, did you ever try to serve a guy who wants a scotch on the rocks with no rocks?"

Some Statements In Court Barred By Judge Ruling

HARTFORD (AP) — A Connecticut rule which allowed a judge to comment to a jury on a defendant's refusal to testify in his own behalf in a criminal trial was scrapped by the State Supreme Court today.

The unanimous opinion is a reflection of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling handed down in 1965. The state court's action makes the ruling retroactive to any Connecticut case which has not been exhausted in the appeal courts.

The decision was prompted by the case of a New Haven man, Salvatore Annunziato, who was convicted of aggravated assault after the shooting of Lawrence Zermis, also of New Haven, in 1964. The defendant once boxed professionally, using the ring name Midge Renault.

The state court opinion said he had been Connecticut practice to prohibit a prosecutor from drawing an inference about the

Sukarno Loses Power, Title

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's Congress today ordered President Sukarno to relinquish his authority to form a new cabinet and look away his title of president for life.

Racial Violence Mars Nation's Long Holiday

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — National guardsmen moved in to reinforce police in Omaha's near North Side early today when violence flared there for the third night.

The troops were called when a new wave of rock and bottle throwing erupted in the heart of the predominantly Negro area.

When quiet was restored, police reported 78 arrests — 19 of them juveniles — and two officers slightly injured. Officers said apparently 10 business places were targets of looters or window smashers.

Owners of at least two establishments struck by looters on previous nights mounted their own armed guard.

While quick action by police and troopers apparently brought a fairly quick end to the trouble, a police report noted that vandalism, looting, violation of curfew loitering and disturbances which had plagued the areas the two previous nights of the weekend holiday "became uncontrollable tonight."

Public Safety Director Francis E. Lynch said highway patrolmen and police moved to clear the area around 24th and Lake streets where a disorderly crowd was congregated because "there was a general assault on the police officers."

Police Capt. Monroe Coleman said youths in the crowd of 100 to 150 were throwing rocks and bottles.

The flare-up prompted the call for the National Guard which arrived in the area in a few minutes.

Iowa DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A Fourth of July firecracker incident exploded Monday night into a melee between about 20 police and more than 200 young Negroes on the near North Side of Des Moines.

Nobody was injured in the disturbance, but five police cars were damaged by flying rocks and bottles.

The incident began when police were called to investigate

Nantucket Quiet After Weekend Full of Tension

NANTUCKET ISLAND, Mass. (AP) — This island community was back to normal today after weekend holiday tension which saw a policeman use tear gas to disperse a crowd of about 600 persons.

The incident took place Saturday night in the lower Main Street area. It was followed by a special selectmen's meeting Sunday at which Police Chief Wendell H. Howes outlined events that led to the use of the tear gas.

Four children between 8 and 10 years old were treated and released from Nantucket hospital for inflamed eyes. Their parents (See Page Seven)

Anti-U.S. Protests Held Around World

LONDON (AP) — "Americans get out of Viet Nam" was the now familiar cry of chanting crowds, many of them Communist-organized, that staged Fourth of July protest demonstrations around the world.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was the target of about 5,000 screaming Japanese leftists as he arrived in Japan for an economic conference. Police slipped him out of Osaka Airport by a back road.

In Paris, about 25 Americans began a march on the U.S. Embassy to deliver a protest petition, and French Communists moved in and swept the group into a fist-swinging clash with police. The crowd of 700 applauded when an American girl held aloft a burning American flag "as a symbol for what's happening in Viet Nam—for the Americans to get out."

British police stopped an attempt to burn the American flag at the U.S. Embassy in London where U.S. Ambassador David

Navy Planes Resume North Viet Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy fighter-bombers attacked two North Vietnamese torpedo boats off Haiphong early today as the air war against the Communist north continued without letup.

One of the two A4 Skyhawk that caught the torpedo boats 35 miles southeast of the main Viet Nam's fuel supplies continued.

U.S. military headquarters reported relatively little ground action in South Viet Nam, but it appeared that the Communists may have targeted isolated Special Forces camps for the victory that has so far been denied them in the 1966 monsoon season. Viet Cong raiders made four attacks on the lonely outposts in the past three days.

Dempsey-Gengras Race May Be Best in Years

HARTFORD (AP) — The gubernatorial contest pitting Gov. John N. Dempsey against millionaire businessman Clayton Gengras may produce the best head-to-head political fight Connecticut has seen in years.

Gengras, who was nominated by the Republicans in mid-June, is already out nearly every day, hitting town after town to show himself to the public and build a campaign machine to his own exacting specifications.

While Dempsey, who was nominated Saturday at the Democratic State Convention, is held up this week at the National Governors Conference, Gengras will be on the prowl for votes. Today's schedule had him in Bridgeport, Stamford and Greenwich. On Wednesday, it will be Middletown and East Hartford; on Thursday, Norwalk and Westport.

But this doesn't mean Dempsey will suffer from a late start. His campaign is also well under way.

The governor's appointment calendar for weeks has shown a heavy commitment to personal appearances and speaking engagements in every part of the state.

"I'm going to walk the streets, make visits, get out every chance I get," Dempsey said.

"I'll go anywhere they want me. My whole campaign is going to be based on meeting people."

Besides Dempsey vs. Gengras, the choices facing the voters Nov. 8 will be (Democrat first in each case):

— Lieutenant governor: State

Consumer Protection Commissioner Attilio Frassinelli of Stamford Springs vs. John Gerardo of Hartwinton.

— Secretary of State: Mrs. Ella T. Gengras of Windsor Locks, incumbent, vs. Mrs. Phyllis Shulman of Hamden.

— Attorney General: Harold M. Mulvey of New Haven, incumbent, vs. William D. Graham of Hartford.

— Treasurer: Gerald A. Lamb of Waterbury, incumbent, vs. State Rep. J. Tyler Patterson Jr. of Old Lyme.

— Comptroller: State Sen. Louis I. Gladstone of Bridgeport vs. Mayor Thomas C. Messer of Stamford.

But the campaigns of both parties will in all likelihood stand or fall on the performance (See Page Nine)
