ways to head off further racial end calm.

All three metropolitan areas the rioting, looting and fire bombing which had continued through most of last week. In Cleveland, where the violence left four dead, nearly 50 injured, and untold property damage, Police Chief Richard R. Wagner expressed the hope the riots are over. He is expected to recommend soon the withdrawal of National Guard troops which have been patrolling the city's Hough section since Tuesday night.

Meetings between white and Negro leaders in the Ohio city were held over the weekend in an effort to seek out the problems which led to the outbreak.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher said he would meet with the new biracial group as soon as he wasconvinced "the rioting in Hough has been suppressed." He also said that the slum conditions in the area warrant action but added that they were not an excuse for violence.

However, the Rev. Charles Rawlins, executive director of the Metropolitan Affairs Commission of the Council of Churches of Christ of Greater Cleveland, said he believed "wehave seen just the opening phase of the Negro community's capacity to express its anger. Rawlins said there was a lack of civil leadership. T think we are well on our way to a situation that will produce another Watts," he said, referring to the racial outbreak last year in the Watts area of Los Angeles.

In Chicago, where two were killed during three nights of violence, Gov. Otto Kerner ordered the release early today of the last 700 of the 4,200 National Guardsmen activated to help police halt the rioting.

The troops were called out a week and a half ago during violence that erupted when authorities refused to, allow fire hydrants to be used during a spell

In fact, when it comes to money, a VW will save you a lot of counting after you buy it, too. On gas bills. (It gets about 29 mpg.) On tires. (They average 40,000 miles.) It hardly ever needs oil between changes. And, since the engine is air-cooled you never have to dish out for anti-freeze. So if you don't like to count, buy a Volkswagen.

of our conduct in Vietnam. If that was the way one side of the argument was going over the weekend, one version of the other side was being presented, forcefully, persistently, bit-ingly, by President Johnson himself. Where "Christianity And Crisis" felt that events in Vietnam make it "difficut to be an American," President Johnson wondered what kind of Americans the critics of his actions and poli-

"They bombed and injured some of sur American boys in South Vietnam tolay, and I doubt that you will hear many speeches in this country. I doubt that you will see many columns writ-bombs they dropped on that hospital. "I just wonder why they're so anxious to get us to stop bombing to protect our men and they never say a word about stopping them from infiltrating and killing our men."

And in his final speech in Indiana, President Johnson said "I had rather have those men there carrying that flag with honor, honoring their commitment, than to tuck in their tail and come running home."

President Johnson, in such inference of a lack of patriotism in his critics, is dong what seems to him the best and most effective thing he knows to try to produce American unity in policies he has promulgated in his capacity as some understanding for the idealists, for the churchmen, for the "nervous Nellies." But he is making no bones of the fact that they had better stand aside while he, and men who are willing with him to exercise the power we possess, deal with the immediate problem at The President, being a pragmatic, are as much concerned as anybody with the welfare and safety of the American soldiers in Vietnam. He knows their real criticism is of his decisions and judgments. But to allege that those who queston his decisions and judgments are really stabbing American boys in the back is the most forceful platform tactic he has found to defend himself, and he is using it. He sends American troops to Vietnam, and then uses their presence there as the cudgel with which he tries to beat down the domestic criticism of his decision to put them into two sides of the equation, the wistful religious appeal to the idealism of man, to try to climb out of his own savagery, on the one hand, and, on the other, the scornful warning to such tender weakness to stay back and silent while one last necessary piece of savagery is accomplished. It has been ever thus.

has been estimated that more Americans have been killed shooting fireworks while celebrating the birthday of our nation than died in battle fighting for it during the Revolution. From 1900 until 1940 alone, more than persons died celebrating the Fourth of July; later statistics would no doubt indicate a higher figure.

Actual number of deaths during the American Revolution is not known. Incomplete War Department records indicate that at least 4,000 American soldiers were killed in action. The actual number was unquestionably higher, but still below that of casualties due to celebrations through later years, -
