August is the month you can get a beautiful deal on a new Chevrolet. Because August is the month your Chevrolet dealer has, right in stock, a wide selection of models, colors and extra equipment you'll like . . . at a price you'll love. Pick out the Chevrolet you want and drive it home the same day, while warm August days are still with us. Take Chevy II, for example, a great value in any month. Its steering lets you zip around in areas you never thought possible. Brakes are selfadjusting. The ride is smooth, seats are foam cushioned, the instrument panel is thickly padded for extra safety. Reasons enough for buying Chevy II. And now that August is here, you've got the best reason of all.

A Thousand Plane Day The statistic for one day's air operations over North Vietnam one day this week was 146 missions flown, involving etween 400 and 500 planes. Over South Vietnam, on a single day, the number of missions flown was 353, all single plane missions.

This was the heaviest day of air operations in Vietnam to date. But the daily average had, of course, been creeping up toward such figures. There were, on this day, nearly 1,000

American planes in the air, dropping bombs, strafing, dropping napalm. This is, as has been noted many times, a scale of air operations which promises to give Vietnam bombing on a higher, more persistent scale than that of World War II. It is unquestionably the greatest onesided pounding any territory has ever received from the air. It is a tremendous air attack, which has the privilege of operating without opposition in

Like the air operations of World War II. it is certain to be subjected to various kinds of analysis, later on. And the minimum defense for the operation, then and now, has to be the contention that without the damage and destruction and killing done by this use of sirpower, nobody knows how nuch better off and how much strong er the enemy would have been.

But the image that forms in the minds of the critics—that of a great big air force free to hit at will targets lying practically defenseless below it and that great big unopposed air force still unable to force any kind of decision or even glimpse any end to its own incessant pounding—this image will not easily be erased. The use of so much power against so much defenselessness might seem a little less grotesque if it could be shown to be more decisive. But the impression is growing that the advocates of air power have been given a free hand in Vietnam to fly and bomb as much as they please and that, even under such supposedly ideal conditions for experimentation and effectiveness, all their power seems curiously powerless. They have destroyed everything many times over and it still remains to be

The result, so far, does no good to the theory that air power can be decisive in this kind of war, and no good to the image and reputation of the country which indulges itself in such a seemingly decisionless rage of destruction. More and more this terribly tragic struggle makes us look monstrous in the eyes of the world and makes us question ourselves in our own conscience. How could this be us? And when, as vesterday, our napalm falls on our own men and takes their lives, the anguish with which we ask that question is doubled.

The Comeback Of The Movies

Not even the experts-let alone the arm chair generals of commerce and industry who mastermind things without assuming even the responsibility of the professional—can be very sure of the habits and tastes of the American All of us can remember how, a few years back, as television took its first seemingly firm hold on the American family, the arm chair experts and the owners of movie theaters were unanimous in admitting that the death of the theater had arrived. Audiences dwindled year by year. If theatres weren't closed or torn down, it was merely because their owners lacked realism. Now, of course, as everyone can see when everybody goes out to the movies now and then, there has been a very striking reversal of the trend. There are, once more, people sitting in the theaters, watching the shows. And the movie theater is one of the ot construction items of the moment, across the nation. One chain which closed 130 house in the last 12 years is building 15 new ones now. Altogether, as many as 1,400 new theaters may be built and opened in the next 12 month VENTION IN MIAMI.

Such statistics are, of course, backed up by patrons and their money. What has brought it all about? Perhaps the movies on television, coming on for the third time, have begun to bore some people. Perhaps they have created in others who never went out to the movies an enthusiasm for the art (?) form which can only be satisfied by regular movie going. Perhaps the latter day mixture of screen product has somehow proved more enticing, even without the very famous personal stars of the supposed golden age of Hollywood, than the one-time formula

We don't know what particular kind of explanation to settle upon. Except this. People remain people, and, being people, they retain a certain refreshing degree of unpredictability of taste. Sometimes they surprise even themselves. Even more often than that, they surprise those experts, professional or arm chair, who are always trying to tuck them away into neat little cubbyholes where they react like neat lit-

Why Not Angels As Well?

Those medieval theologians who used to pass fascinating hours debating how many angels could dance on the head of a pin were, after all, as close to reality and a real problem as they thought themselves to be. We are the ones who have just begun to emerge from the dark ages which intervened after the unparalleled enlightenment of the Middle Ages, until we are now, once again, glimpsing and reconfirming some of its wisdom for ourselves.

We aren't yet visibly or measurably dancing any particular number of angels on the head of a pin. But we are getting into the very next

We are just about ready to build a computer, which can do the work of a whole host of run of the heavens angels, on the head of a pin.

Already, we have a microcircuit, called a digital differential analyzer, that can perform a few computations by itself, and which is built onto a single chip of silicon which measures only 86 one-thousandths of an inch by 72 onethousandths, which seems pin head size

When, as we certainly will, we can get two pairs of paired microcircuits linked together, we will have a computer capable of tens of thousands of problem solutions a second. That day will come, and the space will still be the head of a pin, and with tens of thousands of solutions dancing around in that area every second we will at last come to some sensible resolution of the old and fascinating medieval scholastic inquiry. What doubt can there be that there will also be room for an infinite number of angel-dancers too? And we can remember when these medieval scholar-theorists were considered to be some fancy kind of nuts, with their silly pretense that more than one of anything could ever be located on such a small area as the head of a

The Ugly Hour The time we are living in might best be described as the Ugly Hour. Our booted and spurred and chopped off fashions are ugly. (The women's fashions, I mean. The men's clothes are getting pretty as roses.). Our blackeyed, white-faced makeup is ugly. Our Sassoon and monsoon hair styles are ugly. Our most publicized sculpture is junkvard, and our best-selling art comic strip and soupcan. Our music is noise and dances that go with it convulsions Our language too often is unprintable. Our religions are godless. And our manners are just plain ungodly. One reason for this is that our youth-oriented society has given over and given in too much to amateurs and children. And things aren't likely to get much prettier until we get courage enough to be square enough to say "No!" . . . and insist that things be run again by adult

Meanwhile, I'd like to share . . . my creed for the Ugly Hour, which goes like this: I believe in soap and water and shan poo. I believe that their regular use will not wash away talent and that the smell of success is still sweet. I believe that, while clothes do not make the man, genius does not necessarily come clothed like a walking Third Avenue litter basket. . . . I believe that any knee over 40 is better off covered, except Marlene Dietrich's-and so are all knobby knees of any vintage. I believe that the wordsmith of the day should not be Lady Chatterley's lover-that the gamey gamekeeper's language belongs, if anywhere, on the back fence, not at our conference tables and luncheon tables. . . . I believe that courtesy is not corny loyalty is not square and God is not dead-although He must get awfully believe that while youth is wonderful, maturity can be and ought to be magnificent-that, moreover, the young mind, the young heart, the young spirit have little or nothing to do with chronological age-and that the creativity they generate does not fade with the putting on of bifocals. - MISS JO FOXWORTH. one of timing. Some of Balaguer's top advisers don't think the time is ripe to take on the military in the inevitable political battle that will follow the unveiling of his armed forces reorganization. And yet, if he does not move very soon, he will not have the muscle of the Inter-American Peace Force to back him up if the

"senior" officers, particularly those in the air force, refuse to accept the reorganization plan. The worst of these have either been sent abroad or assigned to harmless posts outside the line of command, but a hard-nosed nucleus remains that does not wish to yield its traditional power position. Thus, if the counsel of delay wins out, Balaguer may feel warning to Antonio Imbert Berrera, the only surviving trigger-man in Trujillo's 1961 assassination, to stop making visits to various military camps. These visits, coupled with Imbert's reputation for intrigue, were giving wing to rumors of anti-Balaguer plots. Imbert, who was briefly a junta military leader during the 1965 revolution, accepted the President's advice. But these two events were small steps compared to the momentous reform of the military. And interrelated to Balaguer's military reform is inability of his government to round up several thousand arms stolen wholesale by left wing "rebels" during the bloody revolution in April 1965. By now, many of these arms including such heavy weapon

$10 Million Record Sale For Gridders

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) Rumors that the American Football League's Chargers might leave San Diego have been quelled with the sale of the franchise to a group of Southern California businessmen for a record $10

"The San Diego Chargers will remain exactly what the name involves-the San Diego Chargers," said Eugene Klein, 45, head of the group which bought the team from Barron Hilton. Klein, also president of Nadonal General Corp., added that the Chargers will play in San Diego's new 50,000-seat Mission Valley Stadium currently under construction. The stadium is scheduled for completion by the 1967 season.

Negotiations for the sale, announced Thursday, began six But Klein added, "I've been at least seven years trying to buy an interest in a Los Angeles or San Diego ball club."

The $10-million selling price is West Side Reunion Set Oct. essional football team, surpass ing the $7.1 million paid for the Los Angeles Rams in 1962. Before the recent merger of the AFL and the National Football League, the Chargers had been quoted as worth between $6 and $8 million-from adjacent areas . . . have of their own volition joined the Manchester Multiple Listing Service of the local board. The constantly increasing sales volume in the service is impressive indeed, so much so that even brand new homes and commercial and business properties are finding their way into the service. Yes, frankly, it is very effective.

THE MANCHESTER BOARD of REALTORS

WHAT IS IT? HOW DOES IT WORK? WHAT DOES IT DO? WHAT DOES IT NOT DO?

The Manchester Multiple Listing Service is an integral part of the Manchester Board of Realtors. Just as the stringent and enforceable Realtor Code of Ethics might be referred to as the spiritual soul of the Board, so the Multiple Listing Service may be called the functioning, physical body. The plan is simple. Instead of you, as the seller of property, effecting an exclusive right to sell contract with one Realtor, a uniform Board Listing Contract is used. The Realtor then forwards to the board secretary a typed copy of your listing giving all pertinent data together with a glossy print of a picture of your property these are combined into one sheet for easy reference and within a matter of days your listing is in the hand of OVER 60 REALTORS AND SALES-PEOPLE! It is as simple as that. The exposure is broad and comprehensive, yet all appointments and responsibilities are channeled thru the Realtor of your choice. There is only one commission paid, regardless of which Realtor firm sells the property.

Multiple Listing DOES give you the combined . . . and yet diverse . . . talents of the local and area Realtor firms. Their clientele lists, facilities, employes and other assets are yours at no extra cost.

Multiple Listing DOES NOT assure that a property worth $19,000 will sell or $22,000, for instance. Buyers today shop and compare values in property ust as they do in automobiles. Should there be an honest difference of opinion as to the price range that a property will bring on today's market, your Realtor may suggest a bank appraisal thru an independent fee appraiser. Be guided by your Realtor. He has a habit of being right in the final analysis,

Well practically every qualified Realtor in town . . . and an increasing number history-making attempt to tame the fury of Hurricane Faith was canceled today as the storm lumbered reentlessly toward the southeastern Bahamas. The storm churned toward the west-northwest on a path parallel-but 150 miles south-of a whale-shaped area where scientists had hoped to bomb her eye with silver lodide to prove that man can conquer one of nature's mightiest forces. "Project Stormfury is canceled," said a spokesman at the National Hurricane Center. Hundreds of scientists and echnicians and a fleet of planes nad stood by all week waiting for their first chance in three years to test their theory that heat and moisture can be artifically drawn from hurricanes, wrecking their structure. Hurricane Faith, not as strong as once feared, spun north of Puerto Rico, leaving little more than high tides and occasional gales in her wake. At 5 a.m. her dead-calm center was 160 miles north-northwest of San Juan, P.R., or about 900 miles east-southeast of Miami, and whipping ahead at 15 miles an hour. Peak winds near the center were estimated at 85 m.p.h. but Gordon Dunn, chief of the National Hurricane Center, said he believed the storm barely mustered enough strength to be called a hurricane.
