inue in his present United Nations post is his latest effort to make some kind of impression on this lemming-like ivilization which seems so determine o rush to its own destruction. He is trying to make us all realize where we are or where, in his judg-

He finds us on the path to doom, and he finds us careless about and indifferent to the one chance we have of avoid-work or we destroy ourselves. Secretary General Thant's trouble is that none of un really believe this. We aying, perhaps a little more pertinent now, but still something this poor old world will blunder through somehow. But Secretary Thant thinks that this just another in the history-long series of failures the world somehow manages

The worst general danger the world faces is its refusal to recognize its own plight, and to recognize the necessity of developing and building the United Nations into what it would have to be, and what it really could be, perhaps, if the peoples and nations of the world took seir present situation seriously enough. The sharp specific danger which now has its spear deep in the side of the United Nations, and in mankind's whole chance of civilized survival, is the war And it was in Secretary General Thant's words on this war that he leeated his most urgent immediate coneern—the hope that still, in spite of all the rebuffs his personal diplomacy has received in the past, the actors in that . ragedy will stop letting themselves slip into involvements and commitments ever deeper and ever more hopeless. "The cruelty of this war," said Thant

"and the suffering it has caused the cople of Vietnam are a constant reproach to the conscience of humanity. Today it seems to me, as it has seemed for many months, that the pressure of events is remorselessly leading :towards a major war, while efforts to reverse that trend are legging disastrously behind. In my view the tragic error is eing repeated of relying on force and military means in a deceptive pursuit of eace. I am convinced that peace in Southeast Asia can be obtained only brough respect for the principles agreed upon at Geneva in 1954, and in seed for those contained in the Charter of the United Nations."

This is what concerns Thant purns inside him, and it is also what firestens the existence of our civilizadon. He is relinquishing his post besause he thinks that action might stimplate the world to do something about saving itself; he would probably continue to serve in his post if he thought that would get some kind of real awaresees and action, But one assumes that palayer which is being directed at him by those who, such as our own Ambasador Goldberg, want him to stay on the job and pretend that everybody is being loyal to the United Nations Charter while everybody is ignoring it. ontinue to serve while the world coninues to muddle through. But he seems o think this is the last muddle.

We fear he may be right. We doubt that any dramatics on his art will wake the world up to what it empeives his duty to be. We hope he iche to his points, and keeps on tryag to make peoples and nations think nd try to see themselves as they are. nd where they are, which is, we agree with Thant, in the deepest trouble man-

Every day, in our space food laboratories, the potential diet grows more varied. There are bacon cubes, and beef squares, strawberry sereal cubes, sausage pattles, cinnamon toast, shrimp cockteil, beef with gravy, cream-style corn, pineapple fruitcake.

The cubes, rather than the tubes, seem likely to be what the rest of us evolve for our own use back here on earth. Perhaps the best and most surprising thing about this food of our future is the cost involved. It is only about $100 day per astronaut, which is not so much higher than what it takes, at present prices, to feed a man normal earth

it was to be delivered to the press, on Aug. 26. Rusk, who personally approves of Mr. Johnson's new initiative with the Soviet Union, routed the White House draft to Henry Owen, the policy planning ehief; Zbigniew Brze-Owen's staff, and several other State Department bureaucrats. Although a few important changes were made at the State Department, the major thrust of the speech was not blunted. And the State Department bureaucracy was far from happy with this thrust. Indeed, the President's appeal to Moscow raised deep concern among State Department bureaucrats - including Owen-who are most closel identified with the long, futile multi-lateral nuclear force and give West Germany the appearance of a larger share in the West's nuclear arms. They are afraid that if the U.S. makes too generous an approach to the Soviet Union on a non-proliferation treaty, the political impact on West Germany could be most serious. In contrast, the White House takes a more flexible view, in which the German reaction is only one part. As President Johnson sees it, now is the espects of new arrangements with shrill attack from the Chinese Communists. Chris Burke, new president of the Firefighters Local 73, said the firemen were dissatisfied with a Civil Service Commission recommendation for a 12 per cent pay raise over two years. The proposal would establish salaries of department privates from $6,141 to $7,462 a year. Burke said the firemen wanted to be upgraded two steps by the commission which would make the salary range $6,770 to $8,227 yearly.

Pirates Miss Chance to Take Lead

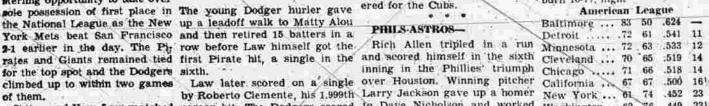

Late Rally Falls Short

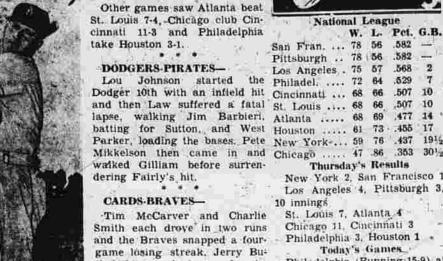

Ron Fairly's two-run single in the 10th inning started out as the icing on Los Angeles' cake, but it ended up as the skin of the Dodgers' teeth

Cicero Preparing For Rights March

peace - keeping force of 2.000 National Guardsmen has been promised to officials at Cicero, Ill., the oneime gangland capital where civil rights proesters and American Nazis plan to gather Sunday. Acting Friday on requests om local officials, Illinois Gov. tto Kerner activated the ardsmen, to be joined by lo-...l, county and state officers in olecting an anticipated 400 to 00 open housing marchers. Cicero was the scene 15 years ago of a three-day series of riots after a Negro family tried to move into an apartment.

Town Atty, Christy Berkos said he issued a march permit to avoid violence, on the theory the demonstrators would proceed with or without a permit. He pleaded with Cicero residents to "stay off the street and prove to the entire world that they are not violent people and are not looking for trouble." A Midwest division spokesman of the American Nazi party said members would be in Cicero Sunday. He did not say how many or for what. Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane, commander of the Guard, said his men would be instructed as previously: "If fired upon, they are to return the fire and shoot are to fly over the community of 70,000, scanning rooftops for potential troublemakers. In Dayton, Ohio, armed guardsmen and police patrolled the predominantly Negro district where a Negro man was killed by shotgun fire from a
