Summing Up On Renewal What has been left unsaid in favor of Downtown Renewal? It has been said again and again, and in a variety of ways that renewal is very worthwhile, that it will pay for itself in dollars and cents, that it will reclaim a tax-important area destined, without renewal, to continue a downhill trek, that it will re-establish a social, cultural, commercial focus, that it will apture for this growing suburban community the distinct identity it has been losing over the years of sprawl. It has been said that a renewed downtown would put Manchester in an excellent position to capture more of the growing market in the region, especially with the proposed relocation of Rt. 6. It has been said that renewing downtown will make it possible to attract new retail business and other commerce to town, either within the renewal area er on its fringes. It has been pointed out-and a cursory inspection of the model or map of the renewal plan shows it-that renewal would make it possible to get into the downtown area from any direction and out of it again in any direction without getting involved in a trafthat renewal provides a way for growth with public control, a means of preserving the public interest even when it does not coincide with the private interests

It has been suggested that the kind of downtown renewal will produce is the kind of downtown someone would ure to be there and to shop.

It has been brought to the attention of Manchester voters that this renewal plan offers so much that is new and needed while at the same time destroying so little that is existing and useful, something unusual in the process of re-

It has been illustrated, furthermore, that the cost to Manchester taxpayers for renewal is small in comparison to the economic and civic benefits expected to come from it, even in the most conservative estimates. All of these points have been made and a vast segment of the population has shown that it accepts the validity of Formal endorsement has come from both political parties, from the Chamber of Commerce, from the League of Women Voters, from the Jaycees, from the Manchester Board of Realtors, and from the Parkade Merchants who see the advantage to the entire town in the. wast improvement of the community's Renewal officials who spoke before civic groups felt a clear favorable consensus from Kiwanians, Rotarians, Lions, and members of Civitan. Residents who were openly skeptical at the outset have been convinced of the wisdom of Downtown Renewal once Its provisions have been explained to them. Comments by passers-by who stopped to examine the renewal model on display have indicated excitement over the prospects it presents. Very little, if anything, has gone unsaid in support of renewal. What arguments, on the other hand, have been presented against it? Very few of consequence.

Some who have homes within the renewal area have expressed understandable reluctance to be uprooted. Their objection deserves respect. The problem of human relocation is one renewal officials work hardest to resolve, and rightfully so.

A few who have studied the renewal layout carefully have concluded that it is faulty in this or that specific detail. But the over-all concept has not been successfully attacked. Some residents have displayed, not prosition as much as timidity, fearing that the whole affair is too big, and suggesting that it be delayed a while. But it is already late. The most vociferous objection has some from the professional opposers, who see, or pretend to see, all manner of injustice to the taxpayers, all kinds of extravagance.

They contend that Downtown Renewal is just a give-away to owners of property on Main St. and merchants who do business there. Perhaps it is a gift of a sort-not an "extra" of any kind but rather a vital necessity which the voters cannot afford not to bestow practices. — STAMFORD ADVOCATE upon themselves and their town.

In The Streets, In Voting Booths

The easy primary victory in Georgia for Lester G. Maddox, the candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor who, in the words of one commentator, had nothing but his white supremacy issue going for him, is bad news. Similarly, there is more and even more serious bad news ahead, if various political prognostications are to be respected, in the appearance of something called "white backlash" in upcoming elections all across the country. If, in response to what white people sometimes quite accurately and justly evaluate as new extremism among the Negro battlers for civil rights and basic position in the American society, the white people themselves begin to turn back toward racial extremism of their own-that is going to have a compounding effect on the amount of trouble this nation has to face and surmount if it is to live through its inevitable and necessary revolution on the race front.

There is little choice as to which is the more terrible thing in this fall of 1968 some contemptuous, anarchistic Negro act of senseless violence-or some white American going to the polls and casting a white vote. Each thing interacts on the other.

A Negro disorder in the streets can help the victory of a Lester Maddox in-

The victory of Lester Maddox in Georgia can help clinch the desperate argument, among some Negroes, that only violence on the streets has a chance of winning the battle they have to win. A vote cast white in a Northern city or town can help persuade the Negroes of the North that they should not depend upon the whites of the North to be any reasonable than the whites of the

And if the Negroes of the North find their hope of progress through reason and moderation blunted, they are inevitably going to turn toward more violent voices and more drastic codes of There is only one difference between

of our time, than upon the other.

There should be, therefore, more legitimate hope for restraint and moderation -for civilized conduct in the voting booth, to be specific-from the white side of the mutual problem.

might have only a very slim chance of resolving its racial conflict in such a fashion that it would remain, afterward,

Both the ominous looking black panther, and the poisoned bigotry of a white backlash selection in the voting booth, operate only to decrease the slim chance we have.

Relief Riot

There were those who thought that it could never happen in the land which was once famous for its steady habits. It did happen. Thursday last about 125 persons, led by state paid social workers and clergymen, attempted to break. their way into the office of Welfare Commissioner Shapiro. The reliefers were in revolt. They wanted more money and less supervision. Most of all they are demanding the respect due them as human beings. Some seem to think that reliefers should run their own relief.

Let it be on the record that these rioters were not the aged, the sick, the handicapped and with ten exploited exceptions they were not children. They were, from their actions, remarkably able bodied and some of them assuming leadership had never been on relief and never would be. It has been said that the riot was started by the Students Nonviolent Coordinating Committee which has always been one of the more violent civil rights groups. But this does not account for the actions of state paid welfare workers or the New Haven head of the The riot was deliberately incited.

Commissioner Shapiro agreed to see a committee to consider grievances. He was turned down. The mob insisted that they all be allowed to enter his office. The whole thing makes no sense, Commissioner Shapiro is the modern type of relief worker. Certainly he is a man with respect for human dignity. If he has a fault it is in allowing his emotions to dictate policies which some might believe to coddle the reliefer.

And Commissioner Shapiro has been generously supported by the taxpayers of the state. Connecticut reliefers get bigger payments than those of any state in the union but one. Commissioner Shapiro says that within weeks Connecticut reliefers will get more than any reliefers in the nation. Considering the number of well paid jobs going begging for able bodied persons to demand more is ridiculous.

If the leaders of the riot had spent their time and energy fitting some of those they exploit for better jobs they would not have to demand respect by threats but would be given it as it is to all who work for progress instead of

Commissioner Shapiro is a man of compassion but it would seem that his ualifications for social workers is low. Every outfit has some kooks but for state welfare workers to lead a riot against the Commissioner is absurd. There should obviously be a better check of personnel and emplo
