

Robbery Attempt Foiled by Girl, 13

WOODBRIDGE (AP) — A 13-year-old girl broke up an attempt by three masked gunmen to rob her father last night by calling for help on a bedroom telephone.

When a police car pulled up to the home minutes later, the trio hurried out the back.

Several shots were fired but the men apparently were able to get away from the area safely on foot, leaving behind a car with New York license plates, police said.

Police Chief Richard Carleglio said Louis Gold and his family had just returned from a coin show in New York about 9:15 p.m. and were putting the car away when the gunmen accosted them.

Besides Gold and his wife, the other members of the family were Gold's mother, Mrs. Mary Gold, 70, and the couple's children, Louis Jr., 16, and Sharon, 13, police said.

Forty-five dollars — apparently the only loot the men had with them when they fled — was taken from the elder Mrs. Gold's purse, police said.

The men might have come to the home with the intention of stealing Gold's valuable coin collection, they said.

Carleglio said Gold remained under guard in the garage but his wife was handcuffed, taken into the house and ordered to open a safe.

Mrs. Gold insisted she didn't know how to open the safe and while she and the robbers were arguing, Carleglio said, Sharon slipped into a bedroom and called the fire department for help. The fire department relayed the call to police, he said.

The robbers suspected that Sharon had been trying to use a telephone, Carleglio said.

"One of the fellows kept asking her, 'Did you call the police?' and she said, 'No, no!' and finally she said she did."

Mrs. Gold said the men "completely panicked" when Officer Raymond Gagne drove up to the front of the house. They dashed out the back, dodging four shots fired by Gold, Carleglio said.

When Gagne called to one of the fleeing men to stop, the man replied by firing "a couple of shots," the chief said. Gagne returned fire but apparently missed, he said.

The men had left their car on an old track in the woods nearby. Hearing a neighbor shouting "They're here! They're here!" Gagne found the car and fired a bullet into a tire to disable it.

Woodbridge policemen, reinforced by officers from surrounding towns and state troopers, searched the woods without result. When dogs were used to track the men they led the searchers to a road and then seemed to lose the scent, suggesting that the men might have stopped a passing car to make their getaway, police said.

Carleglio said that the car used by the robbers was seen in the vicinity of the Gold home on Sept. 28 with its hood up. A policeman who stopped to offer help was told by the driver that he was having water pump trouble.

The officer took down the license number before he drove away, the chief said.

About a week earlier, he said, Gold's son was stopped by two men who asked if he could tell them where the Gold home was. When the youth told them he was a member of the family, they quickly dropped the matter and insisted they had the name wrong, he said.

Not Wanted

BENNINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Tourists out to see the flaming colors of New England's fall foliage caused some king-size traffic tangles during the weekend.

One of the bigger jams occurred in the center of Bennington where Route 7 running north-south and the Molly Starke Trail running east-west intersect at a traffic light.

Traffic backed up for miles in four directions but waiting drivers found amusement in a sign on a car parked near the traffic light.

With Vermont terseness it said simply: "Tourists go home."

Truck Crash Jams Traffic On Route 91

MERIDEN (AP) — Morning commuter traffic on Route 91 was snarled today when a tractor-trailer crashed and burned.

The busy highway was fully open by 10 a.m., but not in time to prevent tieups.

Motorists were advised by state police after the 5 a.m. mishap to use the Berlin Turnpike or Route 9 if they wanted to get to Hartford from south of the Meriden area.

The tractor trailer lay across a large part of the highway's northbound lane until it was moved to the side.

The driver, Ronald Klymer, 33, of Quakerstown, Pa., suffered a compound fracture of the left leg.

Getaway Car Found

PLAINVILLE (AP) — The getaway car and two unopened bags of loot from an armored truck robbery staged in Plainville last week have been found.

The two money bags, filled but locked, were found under the front seat of the car when it was discovered Sunday in a parking lot not far from the scene of the robbery, police said.

The car had been stolen in Bridgeport, they said.

Masked bandits got away with $42,322 — $18,221 in cash and the rest in non-negotiable checks — in the Wednesday night robbery at the driveway of a New Britain Federal Savings and Loan Association branch on East Main Street.

Campaign Bosses Admit Viet War Not an Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — With less than a month of campaigning left, strategists of both parties are admitting privately they haven't found the Viet Nam war to be a congressional election issue.

Most candidates interrupting their campaigning to check in now and then for major Senate and House roll calls report the voters are disturbed about the ever-enlarging conflict and frustrated by the apparent failure of peace efforts.

But how the average citizen will react to this at the polls Nov. 8 remains largely a mystery. One Democratic senator, seeking reelection, seemed to voice the sentiment of many of his colleagues.

"I know the people wish we didn't have this war on our hands and wonder why we ever got into it," he said. "They'd like to have it end but not many of them want to cut and run. I think most of them believe President Johnson is doing the best he can."

"My opponent hasn't found any way yet to blame me for the war and as far as I can tell it isn't an issue that will affect many votes one way or the other."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has cautioned fellow Republicans against trying to make an issue of administrative policy in Viet Nam. He feels that in war Americans ought to stand squarely behind the commander in chief — the only person, he says, who ultimately can call the signals on broad policy and grand strategy.

Johnson told a Newark, N.J., political rally last Friday that Republicans "don't know how to end the war in Viet Nam, except to criticize the commander in chief." While they don't admit it publicly, GOP campaigners generally acknowledge that is a fairly accurate description of their position.

Eisenhower says domestic issues such as government spending and inflation offer GOP candidates much better opportunity to capitalize at the polls.

Eisenhower still insists the

Exemptions From Taxes Will Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review a decision that upheld Maryland's practice of exempting church property from taxation.

The decision was given by Maryland's Court of Appeals. It said exemptions do not violate federal or state constitutions, and are a recognition of the contributions made by religious organizations to the general public welfare.

The Supreme Court made no comment in announcing its refusal to review the decision.

Two petitions had been filed with the Supreme Court in the litigation.

One was by Madalyn E. Murray O'Hair, who several years ago began one of the suits that resulted in a Supreme Court ruling against compulsory prayers in public schools. The other petition was by Mr. and Mrs. Leomoin Cree of Mount Rainier, Md., and the Free Thought Society of America.

In the Maryland court, the contention was made that because religious groups were given tax exemptions, other property owners were obliged to pay higher taxes, and this amounted to taxation in support of religion.

Justice Gen. Thomas B. Finck of Maryland said in a brief submitted to the Supreme Court that the attitude for years has been that tax exemptions for religious bodies are constitutionally inoffensive.

"At the heart of the legal basis for tax exemptions is this well-established constitutional principle that the state is free to select its objects of taxation, and pursuant to this power may altogether decline to tax certain kinds of property, so long as there is a reasonable basis for the exemption," Finck said.

In other decisions announced today, the court:

Let stand unchanged a decision by the California Supreme Court that the state's ban on pay television was unconstitutional.

Twins Flip Coin To Pick Entrant In Queen Contest

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Laura Beckwith, an impish green-eyed blonde, will never be an Orange Bowl queen. But there's a chance she'll be mistaken for her highness.

Laura, 21, is a University of Miami senior who has a sister named Imogene (Gene to her friends). Identical twins, they were princesses in last year's Orange Bowl pageant.

Both wanted to enter the competition for queen this year. But they didn't want to compete against each other, and princesses cannot succeed themselves.

They decided they would have a better chance if only one entered her candidacy.

One thing led to another and a coin was tossed into the air. As a result, Gene entered the race. "I didn't even ask her to

$17 Million to Be Sought

Airport Improvement Triples Bond Figure

HARTFORD (AP) — The State Aeronautics Commission will ask the next session of the General Assembly to approve a $17 million bonding program for 1967-69, of which $13.5 million would go for work at Bradley International Airport.

The figure is almost three times the request for the current biennium, which ends next June 30.

Two major projects were moved up from the 1966-71 period of long-range planning. They account for $9 million in the Bradley program, including $7 million for a new runway.

The commission's new request is an attempt, at least in part, to enlist legislative help in catching up on a behind-schedule building program at the airport in Windsor Locks.

Some of the work in the latest request appeared in earlier aeronautics budgets, but never got off the ground because of money problems.

In addition to the capital projects at Bradley, which top the department's priority list, the requested budget entries include $1.6 million for runways and development of Trumbull Airport in Groton, and $1 million for development of an airport at Oxford.

Sums of $559,730 for Brainard Field in Hartford and $290,000 for Danielson Airport are also in the proposal.

Bradley, beset with delays in a program to convert to a major jet aircraft facility, rates most of the commission's attention in the hoped-for bonding program.

westward at six miles per hour. It was the second recent change in course for the hurricane. Early today Inez swung to a more westerly path and headed toward the Tampico area.

About 24 hours earlier it had deserted a similar course and pointed its 135-mile-per-hour winds toward the South Texas coast.

Hurricane warnings remained in effect from Tampico to the Brownsville-Port Isabel area.

Inez Turns Again, Texas May Escape

BRANSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Inez slashed the Mexican Coast north of Tampico today and headed inland on a course that may spare South Texas and its multimillion-dollar citrus crop.

The Weather Bureau at New Orleans reported that Tampico, a city of 200,000 population, had wind gusts of 90 miles an hour.

A portion of the 17-day-old storm, which has taken at least 150 lives since developing out in the Caribbean, moved over the Mexican Coast, the Weather Bureau said.

It added in a 6 a.m. EDT advisory that the 50-mile-wide eye of the storm was expected to go inland this morning 25 to 100 miles north of Tampico and 150 to 225 miles south of Brownsville, near the villages of Moron El Sabino and Nuevo in the state of Tamaulipas.

The dangerous hurricane was located by Brownsville radar about 195 miles south of Brownsville. Inez was moving

Traffic Tieups Fail to Deter Foliage Fans

BOSTON (AP) — Traffic jams that extend for miles are but a minor obstacle for fans of this year's fall foliage display in New England.

Lured by sunny skies, pleasant temperatures, and a color display that naturalists have called one of the best in years, few Sunday headed advice that they stay home and view the leaves in their yards.

Templeton Police Chief John Whipple made the suggestion Saturday after police in central Massachusetts encountered "massive" traffic jams. Motorists were out in force again Sunday, however, for what Whipple called the "worst bump-to-bumper traffic" he's ever seen on a Sunday evening.

A little farther to the west along the most popular sections of the Massachusetts Mohawk Trail, a scenic route that generally follows east-west Route 2, traffic was halted for long periods and moved only at a crawl.

Johnson, Gromyko Talk in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several proposals for improving U.S.-Soviet relations, in spite of sharp differences over the Vietnamese war, are due for discussion here late today between President Johnson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The White House announced the two men will meet at 5 p.m. shortly after Johnson's return here from a weekend at his Texas ranch.

There appeared to be no doubt Johnson would urge upon Gromyko the U.S. view that the Soviet Union should do everything possible to bring the Vietnamese war to an end. The U.S.S.R. is a chief supplier of weapons to North Viet Nam and recently concluded a new aid deal with that country.

Administration advisers, preparing for the Gromyko conference, were deeply interested in reports from Moscow that the Communist party paper Pravda argued in an article Sunday that a halt of U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam was the main requirement for improving ties between Moscow and Washington. Previously, the emphasis has been on the U.S. ending the war and getting out of Viet Nam.

President Johnson has offered through U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg at the United Nations to suspend bombing if the North Vietnamese promise to de-escalate the war. But, even if nothing comes of the bombing suspension issue, the Soviet response to Johnson's speech Friday, appealing for better relations, reflects a more friendly attitude than usual in the recent past.

On major international questions, which officials confidently expect to arise, one of the foremost is a pending proposal for a pact to outlaw the use of outer space for military purposes and dedicate the moon and other celestial bodies to peaceful exploration and research.

Another issue under active U.S.-Soviet discussion is the proposed treaty to prohibit the spread of nuclear weapons among the nations which do not now have them. The Soviets have linked this with their adamant opposition to any nuclear force in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in which West Germany would share.

U.S. sources cautioned against any great expectations from the White House session, which was in the nature of a courtesy visit since Gromyko is in this country attending the U.N. General Assembly fall session.

But the mere fact of a Gromyko trip to Washington was a step above the icy atmosphere that set in with the massive U.S. military involvement in Viet Nam in 1965.

A year ago Gromyko stayed away from the U.S. capital, though he went to New York as usual for the annual U.N. opening and had stopped at the White House in previous years.

U.S. reinforcements were massed in the north to help stem the mounting influx of North Vietnamese forces into South Viet Nam and to bolster the allied forces against an expected major Communist offensive.

Heavy fighting has been in progress just south of the demilitarized zone almost continuously since mid-July. In the last nine weeks, the Leathernecks have killed 1,071 North Vietnamese regulars — the equivalent of two battalions, the Marines have taken many casualties, but their losses are officially termed moderate.

The battlefield just south of the demilitarized zone was reported quiet. No contact was made with the enemy, but Marines uncovered another grave containing 25 North Vietnamese bodies at a site where heavy fighting took place last week. It raised the enemy death count to 1,071, U.S. headquarters said.

Formations of B52s struck at dawn just north of the demilitarized zone, pounding a base camp and bivouac and supply areas used by the North Viet-

Inez Turns Again, Texas May Escape (Continued from Page One) Deputy Sheriff Ray Sandlin said all the 1,000 residents of Corpus Christi and a hurricane watch alert to Port Arthur near the Texas-Louisiana line.

Thousands of evacuees from the flatlands surrounding Tuxedo jumped into the City Hall and other concrete structures there. Padre Island, a slender, 100-mile-long strip of sand noted as a recreational area of the coast of Texas, was evacuated except for 10 men at the Coast Guard station there. Fort Isabel, on the mainline across from Padre Island, also was nearly deserted. Fort Isabel said about 150 persons were left in his town of 4,000. "It looks like it is dead," Barter said. "There are a few old timers left. The Coast Guard will probably pick them up later." Barter said there were two trawlers who refused to leave.

He evaded the score Sunday, hitting the MIG with two heat-seeking Sidewinder missiles from his F-4 Phantom II and knocking a wing off. Lt. (jg) William T. Two Boys Tossed Off Stolen Bike An observant patrolman yesterday was literally the downfall for two young boys who stole a motorcycle and went for a spin. Police said a patrolman in a cruiser was traveling west on Center St. when he spotted a motorcycle traveling east being driven by an operator who looked too young to be driving. The patrolman turned around and followed the cycle which speeded up and turned onto Henderson Rd. The downhill came when the younger dumped the cycle on Henderson Rd. and the two were thrown to the pavement. The two eeked the patrolman, however, by running to the rear of buildings off Henderson Rd. The boys were apprehended by running to the rear of buildings off Henderson Rd. This is part of the crowd, estimated at 10,000, that jammed a one-block section of Baltimore last night after the Orioles captured the World Series. The after the Orioles captured the World Series. The after the Orioles captured the World Series.

Register Now For Swimming Series Celebration Nearly Turns to Riot BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—It started in the suburbs, where small knots of children shouted their joy, and rose like a crescendo into a huge downtown celebration. The Baltimore Orioles had brought the city its first baseball world championship, and thousands of fans filled the town with the din of shrieking and horn-blowing. It started shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday when the last out was made and the American League champs had taken their fourth straight victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, 1-0, on the night of the World Series.

It was a balmy evening, and by 8 p.m. the streets along Baltimore's boutique row, known as "The Block," were jammed with cars and lined with a crowd estimated at 10,000. Downtown, the sounds of victory for "the orange" were everywhere. Fans lingered for hours at Memorial Stadium, children gathered at street corners in residential areas to add their voices, and everywhere had a big banner.

Some auto carried as many as 15 persons — hanging from the windows, on the hoods, crammed into open trunks and on top. Pennies and crumpled paper fluttered widely, and firecrackers popped. Two foreign seamen asked a bartender if the war in Viet Nam was over. "No, we just got the World Series," the bartender replied. At one point it seemed the joyous occasion might turn into a riot as that police ordered the crowd to disperse.

Three Techniques In 20 Years?

If some of us, as individuals, have considered the pace of our age a little swift and disconcerting—as well as thrilling—let us turn, for a moment, to a casual notation of the fast-paced evolution of a whole industry—that of telecasting.

Already, within two short decades of the medium, a third change in the method of transmission is in view.

We began with individual stations, independent or network affiliates, each reaching in its own geographical area.

Within the past two years we have moved—especially in areas where reception from existing individual stations is limited or poor—into the device of community antenna television, which is leasing into the status of a great new public utility type of industry.

But four years from now we may find both the individual station and the community antenna obsolete because telecasting from space satellites has become the completely satisfactory substitute for both.

The concept about telecasting which uses space satellites is that one satellite hung up over the United States could pick up the present network programs from New York or Los Angeles and telecast them directly into every receiving set anywhere in the United States.

Such a development would, of course, set us on our feet in the usefulness and value of all the community antenna systems already set up, and of many of the 800 television stations, and the 1,300 radio stations which now serve the American people.

Calculate the investment in these stations, and calculate the growing investment in community antenna systems, and then try to calculate whether it will be economically sound to spend the money it will take to set up the satellite telecasting system and thus render much of the other two investments obsolete.

The economic answer is not likely ever to come out simple and clear. But the odds are that, within the next four years, but soon, we will be doing most of our telecasting by satellite. There was a time, perhaps, when new processes could be settled up because of the importance and influence of old investments. Today old investments which are shrewd and realistic no longer count on a difference of opinion and are being set up or savagely into the usefulness and value of all the community antenna systems already set up, and of many of the 800 television stations, and the 1,300 radio stations which now serve the American people.

Inside Report

WASHINGTON — The big unwelcome danger awaiting President Johnson in Manila is, ironically, the hard-line anti-communism of his Asian allies who will meet with him there.

Mr. Johnson's peace-seeking trip to Manila later this month, U. S. diplomats in Washington are privately worried about the attitude of the most militant anti-Communist nations fighting alongside U. S. troops in South Vietnam. Public opinion over Mr. Johnson's peace overtures would certainly be embarrassing. At worst, it is feared, they could actually derail peace efforts.

The worst danger stems from South Korea, which has been fighting in Viet Nam since the end of the Korean War in 1953, the 38th parallel splitting Korea has been an impenetrable military barrier between the Communists in the north and the anti-Communist South Koreans led by Gen. Chung Hae Park, South Korea's president.

Under the old South Korean constitution, the one duty listed for the sheriff was to deliver, or cause to be delivered to the sheriff, the writs and orders of the court. In the new document, the one duty listed for the sheriff was to deliver, or cause to be delivered to the sheriff, the writs and orders of the court.

But Connecticut's eight elected sheriffs still wield political power not commensurate with their positions or their duties. In New Haven County, for example, the high sheriff, besides having a chief deputy, has 31 appointed deputy sheriffs. There are 17 deputy sheriffs in Litchfield County.

Deputies are named by the high sheriff with the consent of the county town committees. The old county jails in the old county jails now state jails and assign deputies to court duty, to serve writs, and so on.

Salaries of the high sheriffs are based on the size of the county and the workload these officials are expected to handle. Sheriffs in New Haven, Hartford, and New London County sheriffs will be paid $10,500; the others will receive $8,500 each.

Other appointments, like room and board at the jail, usually go with the job of high sheriff.

But does Connecticut need an elected sheriff to administer each jail? Further, does the state need nine such jails (Fairfield has two)? They are all old. The most that can be said for some of them is that they are quaint.

Litchfield State Jail was constructed in 1811; it is 155 years old; New Haven State Jail was built in 1857; it is 109 years old. Danbury State Jail was built in 1859; it is 107 years old.

In January of this year, an inspector for the Federal Bureau of Prisons called the state jails "archaic." He said they include the only jails in New England which lack toilets in the cells. He recommended that the buildings be replaced because it costs too much to maintain them.

In 1965, State Jail Administrator Harold R. Highton received a request for a study of the state's jail system which would eliminate all the old jails.

Certainly the number of jails could be reduced to three or four at the most. Trained penologists, serving under the merit system, could run them.

The high sheriff's present duties would then be split. And, the election of deputies and other officials needed by the courts would be the direct responsibility of the courts themselves. These officials would no longer be picked and purchased through an office of high sheriff could be eliminated, as it should have been long ago.

"Know-How, Integrity" — Manchester or Hartford? If the newly empowered party wishes to embrace itself well, it will make some effort to ward against the new school which is being built by the Democrats who will surely see the defeat of this bond issue.

How can the Republicans ally the fears of the electorate? The directors and committee-man-let can simply issue a joint statement that they will propose a new town ordinance which requires a student to be a bona fide town resident in order to attend Manchester's public schools. They should then work diligently on presenting it to the electorate in a referendum as soon as possible.

I need recently in your paper that Mr. Ted Cummings, a spokesman of the Democratic Party, has stated that the party is still for working and will continue to work for its existence. That is fine; he has a perfect right to do so as long as his party agrees to allow him to speak for it in that party's acceptance of the fact that defeat came as a result of its losing hand.

This fall we have a Republican coming to power. This party will have a 6 to 3 majority on the Board of Directors and a 5 to 4 majority on the Board of Education. Now, while it has assumed no position on the busing issue, this party has made it abundantly clear by its campaign platform and its ineffective votes on related issues last spring, that it intends for the busing issue to be settled by the voters of Manchester.

Uniquely enough, the Republicans assume power on the day before we voters must decide whether or not to voluntarily raise our taxes by voting an immense bond for the new South School. My question and I'm sure that of all the electorate is, "For whom are we building this new school, —Manchester or Hartford?" If the newly empowered party wishes to embrace itself well, it will make some effort to ward against the new school which is being built by the Democrats who will surely see the defeat of this bond issue.

Uniquely enough, the Republicans assume power on the day before we voters must decide whether or not to voluntarily raise our taxes by voting an immense bond for the new South School. My question and I'm sure that of all the electorate is, "For whom are we building this new school, —Manchester or Hartford?" If the newly empowered party wishes to embrace itself well, it will make some effort to ward against the new school which is being built by the Democrats who will surely see the defeat of this bond issue.

How can the Republicans ally the fears of the electorate? The directors and committee-man-let can simply issue a joint statement that they will propose a new town ordinance which requires a student to be a bona fide town resident in order to attend Manchester's public schools. They should then work diligently on presenting it to the electorate in a referendum as soon as possible.

I need recently in your paper that Mr. Ted Cummings, a spokesman of the Democratic Party, has stated that the party is still for working and will continue to work for its existence. That is fine; he has a perfect right to do so as long as his party agrees to allow him to speak for it in that party's acceptance of the fact that defeat came as a result of its losing hand.

This fall we have a Republican coming to power. This party will have a 6 to 3 majority on the Board of Directors and a 5 to 4 majority on the Board of Education. Now, while it has assumed no position on the busing issue, this party has made it abundantly clear by its campaign platform and its ineffective votes on related issues last spring, that it intends for the busing issue to be settled by the voters of Manchester.

Police Arrests

Dennis R. Root, 19, of 211 Union St. was charged at 12:10 p.m. yesterday with failure to have a fender on a motor vehicle, and operating with a defective horn.

Police said a cruiser patrolman saw Root operating a motorcycle east on Toland Tpk. at a fast speed.

He was stopped on the turnpike near Union St. and issued a summons. Root was also given an oral warning for speeding.

He is scheduled to appear in Manchester Circuit Court 12 Oct. 24.

Victor J. Carter, 18, of Coventry was charged at 2:18 a.m. yesterday with operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Police said they stopped Carter on Toland Tpk. near Taylor St. and found that Carter didn't have a license.

Carter is scheduled to appear in Manchester Circuit Court 12 Oct. 24.

And police said homeward bound travelers made traffic on the Newbury Turnpike north of Boston as heavy as it ever gets on Sunday nights in mid-March when it carries travelers to beach and resort areas of New Hampshire and Maine.

Most motorists seemed to take the western stride. In western Massachusetts, one man was observed waxing a small sports car as the driver inched it along in traffic.

Who-Who You Believe Four Straight' Never Been Bigger Day For Baltimore Baseball

By EARL YOST

BALTIMORE — "How Sweet 16" was the inscription in large letters on a huge banner, visible to all 54,458 fans on hand, plus millions via television, that was carried by two jubilant Baltimore baseball fans and displayed for the world to see seconds after center-fielder Paul Blair gathered in Lou Johnson's fly ball for the final out of the 1966 World Series.

This just about told the story for there has never been a bigger day in Baltimore baseball history than on a balmy, unseasonal afternoon yesterday when the Orioles completed a sweep of Los Angeles in the first of seven sets, 1-0, the final score for the second straight day.

Baltimoreans had reason to stand up and cheer, and parade as they did until the wee hours of the morning, for their birds won the American League pennant for the first time since 1903.

The four-game sweep by the Orioles led the never Baltimore lead in the American League season did not come until yesterday's victory over the Los Angeles and Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles' pitching was superb, and they were able to pitch against Koufax and Drysdale because it was a challenge National League in 1964, 1965 that they were pitching against.

Oaks Hold On to Tie For First

A three-way race has shaped up in the Central League's Eastern Division after the Orioles' victory over the Philadelphia A's in the 1966 World Series.

Robinson had been traded to the Orioles on Dec. 9 last winter when the Orioles were in the pennant race.

McNally, who pitched the first game in the series, was the only one to pitch in the series.

Best in Business Never Got Chance

Whatever happened to the Baltimore Relief Corps, considered the best on the major league baseball scene in the 1966 World Series?

Only once did Manager Hank Bauer and pitching coach Harry (Cat) Brewer get a chance to use their bullpen.

The answer, as it came from the dressing room, depended on the point of view. Harry Brewer, the Orioles' pitching coach, said it was Baltimore's pitching superiority. Maury Wills, the Dodgers captain, said it was the Orioles' pitching coach and his Orioles' pitching superiority.

Manchester Mighty Mites Upset Wethersfield, 14-12

David slew Goliath, the tortoise outwitted the hare and Manchester High Baseball defeated Wethersfield High, 14-12, at Memorial Field Saturday with 2,100 fans paying witness.

The "mighty mites" came up with the first victory over a Wethersfield grid squad since Coach Walker Briggs did it six years ago, advancing their record to 2-1 while the Eagles dropped below .500 to 1-2.

Dick Cobb's size 10 hard-toe provided the edge, but a complete team effort made the difference. Outplayed by an average 30 pounds in the line, Manchester relied on pure and simple guts, coming up with right plays at the right time, bringing down the win.

The victory took all statistics, gaining 22 yards on the ground, 22 for the locals and collecting 52 yards in the air to 48 for Manchester; but the Indians put together two quick scores, one by the defense the other by the offense, in the third, then, then on.

"I can't remember when a team outplayed like we were today showed so much intention," said Coach Walker Briggs. "I was very pleased with my defense."

Wiggins continued, "especially the improvement in the secondary. Cobb and Bryce Carpenter came up with defensive plays that saved the game. Mike Walsh, the smallest man on the squad, wouldn't quit. He was a true team effort."

Manchester's victory was a surprise. The team had been outplayed in previous games, but they showed a new level of determination.

Goalies Assume Spotlight In Indian-Eagle Deadlock

Exceptional play by goalies wouldn't fit between the posts. Doug Stealy of Manchester and Fred Salts of Wethersfield highlights a 0-0 deadlock played between the two OCHL soccer teams on Saturday morning at Memorial Field.

The deadlock was the first in a series of games between the two teams. Manchester's goalkeeper, Fred Salts, made several key saves to keep the game tied.

Roberts, Quinn Pace East To 52-0 Bombing of Kolbe

By RICHARD DYER

"We out-hunted a bigger team," Roberts said. "Our defense did a great job, giving us a lead in the first quarter. The loss left Kolbe with a 1-1 mark."

East made the most of its offensive talents, matching quarterback Jim Jukins' near perfect aerial efforts with a well-honed rushing attack. Jukins completed ten of 11 pass attempts in garnering 159 yards.

Coach Don Roberts saw the closing minutes of the game. He saw the Raiders' defense holding strong, and he saw the Raiders' offense making the most of its opportunities.

State News Davis Faces Six Charges Of Murder

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Arthur J. Davis, who was recently declared mentally competent to stand trial, has been indicted on six counts of first degree murder. The indictment was handed down Monday by a Superior Court grand jury. Judge Philip R. Pastore, hearing a request from the 26-year-old New Haven man's court-appointed defense counsel, granted an indefinite continuance rather than set a date for Davis to enter a plea on the charges. According to police, Davis is the man who invaded a New Haven apartment early on the morning of Aug. 28 and began firing indiscriminately at the men, women and children there, most of whom he knew. Davis was angered because his girlfriend, the daughter of the woman who applied for a job, was had left him, they said.

Just Like the Movies Small-Town Girl Inherits Fortune

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. (AP)—It reads like a movie script: A small-town housewife who was an adopted child inherits $1.6 million from an uncle she never knew. But it actually happened to Rosemary Jenneck, 40, at least she's adopted, says: "We're going to go on living just as we always have." Until recently, Mrs. Jenneck's life centered on her husband, Fred Niles of Ottawa County, and their two sons and a two-story white, frame house with a fireplace in which she and her family live in Swartz Creek, a southeastern Michigan community of 3,000. But Monday Probate Judge Fred Niles of Ottawa County ruled Mrs. Jenneck was the only heir to the estate of her late husband, a petroleum products dealer, a "sort of average citizen" in the "upper-middle income" bracket who was a man "I cannot recall I ever heard of" said Mrs. Jenneck, who several weeks ago had no idea she was an adopted child and a niece of Kruse, 61, a bachelor who died near here last March. Mrs. Jenneck is the child of Kruse's sister, Ann Corbin, who put her up for adoption almost immediately after her birth in 1924. When Kruse left no will, the estate was expected to be divided among six cousins, but then the administrators found Mrs. Jenneck. Kruse, a vice president of the Combined Insurance Company of America, capitalized on 100 shares of stock bought for $2,000 in 1961. Stock splits and dividends increased his holdings over the next 15 years. Gordon Cavanaugh, Mrs. Jenneck's attorney, describes her and her husband, Calvin, as "petroleum products dealer, a 'sort of average citizen' in the 'upper-middle income' bracket who was a man 'I cannot recall I ever heard of' said Mrs. Jenneck, who several weeks ago had no idea she was an adopted child and a niece of Kruse, 61, a bachelor who died near here last March.
