Despite Protests U.S. Uses Crop Killers To Clear Viet Jungles

WASHINGTON (AP) — planes equipped with 1,000-gallon dispensers swept sections of the DMZ with chemicals which kill defoliants and crop killers in Viet Nam, a war tactic that has been used since 1961. The Pentagon says it has used 230 million in chemicals.

A Pentagon spokesman acknowledged today that U.S. Air Force C-124s still periodically spray heavy jungle and rice-growing areas in an effort to deprive the Viet Cong of ambush cover and food.

The effort, under way for the last two years, was deplored last month by 21 scientists, including seven Nobel Prize winners. The group, in a letter to President Johnson, said employment of even mild chemical agents opens the door for the administration of deadlier types by both the enemy and the United States.

Some Hospitals Planning Sharp Rate Increases

In addition to saying their employees better, the hospitals have also had to pay higher prices for "new scientific equipment, new drugs and specialized personnel," Hamilton said.

On the bright side, Hamilton said today's hospital patient is back at work in a relatively short time.

"We should not lose sight of the fact that modern hospital care has produced a shortened stay for a high percentage of patients — an average of only 7 1/2 days, most important, in much better prospects for recovery," he said.

Andover Candidates Talk Before the LWV At Mansfield

Andover people who attended the Meet the Candidates public hearing at the Mansfield branch of the League of Women Voters agreed that it was an informative and interesting affair.

There had been some reports that the Monday night session might be canceled.

A questionnaire had been sent out to the three candidates who are running for the office of State Senator from the 35th District and to the two candidates for Representative from Mansfield. All nominees filled out the questionnaire and appeared except Wendell O'Dell, the Independent candidate for the Senate from Toland.

Democratic candidate Charles Turpin and Andrew Repko, running for the Senate seats, were not too far apart on the three major areas which the League had asked them about. On the question of what measure they would favor to get additional state revenues, if needed, both believed that the present tax program, with certain increases within it, could provide adequate revenue for the next biennium. An with most candidates for state office, both parties, they did not touch upon the possibility or acceptability of a state income tax.

On the subjects of water resources and water pollution and on what to do about urban problems and renewal, both Repko and Turpin stated their belief that a good start had been made on both problems, that the objectives were clear and what was needed now was forthright action.

Poster Richards, Republican candidate for Representative from Mansfield, stated that for present programs the additional revenue could come from present taxes. For new programs or for greatly increased present programs he said that a state income tax would be the most equitable tax source. Herbert Novarese, Democrat, also stated that a state income tax would be the most equitable tax source.

Both men agreed with the need of vigorous programs on water and urban problems, and both stressed the vital need of a constantly upgraded program on education.

Back Game Friday The success of last month's setback card party has prompted the Women's Auxiliary to the Andover Volunteer Fire Department to put on a repeat affair to be held at the firehouse tomorrow night at 8. Refreshments will be served. Tickets will be available at the door.

GOFF Women's Open House The Andover Republican Women's Club has been invited by their counterparts in Coventry to attend an open house there next Monday at the Coventry High School at 8:00 a.m. Speakers at the meeting will be Mrs. Phyllis Shuman, candidate for secretary of state; Joseph Goldberg, Republican nominee in this district for Congressman and Walter Thery, running for representative to the legislature from the 3rd district.

Dr. David Finchbaugh, Birch Dr., gave a talk last weekend at the joint meeting of the American Physical Society held at the University of New Hampshire in Durham. His subject was "A Microwave Ultrasonic Frequency Diagnostic Ultrasound Design" and was presented to 200 scientists from the New England states.

FOAM CUPS INSULATE There is no indication the plea was heeded.

In fact, the Pentagon recently announced the opening operation to include water-turbine engines in the South Viet Nam's portion of the south-wide dam project of separating the country from North Viet Nam.

Large numbers of North Viet-minh troops have penetrated the demilitarized zone in recent weeks in what some military think may be the prelude to a big offensive push into South Viet Nam's northernmost Quang Tri Province.

Harry Byrd Dies Of Brain Tumor

During Byrd's brief hospitalization at Charlottesville, the Virginia Legislature adopted a joint resolution expressing its "sorrow at his illness and best wishes for his speedy recovery."

And the legislature directed that a copy of the resolution be sent to Byrd "as a token of the esteem in which he had been held by the members of this body."

The elder Byrd was a newspaperman, orator, philosopher, politician and philosopher. But first of all he was a Democratic politician. He was the Byrd organization which bore his name — and the last of the major "political machines" in the nation.

Byrd Sr. is survived by his three sons, Ben Byrd, publisher of the Winchester Evening Star and Harrison Byrd (Va.) Daily News-Record; and Beverly and Richard E. Byrd, both connected with the elder Byrd's apple orchard industries. A son and from Jefferson to Harry daughter, Westwood, died in Flood Byrd.

Six Cities Join Super Market 'War' Continues to Spread

The affected products included cake mixes, down as much as 4 cents a box, peanut butter, 44 cents a jar, canned fruit drinks, 7 cents, canned soup, 4 cents, salad dressing, 8 cents and baby foods, 3 cents.

No boycotts or organized campaigns had preceded the price slash. Whittier said his stores, facing "the worst profit squeeze in history," would only be able to maintain the reductions through increased sales.

An abrupt end came to the price war in Portland, Ore., where consumer pressure had briefly sent the price of a gallon of milk to 19 cents.

Prices returned to more normal levels after that. Atty. Gen. George Van Housen of Multnomah County began investigating complaints from independent grocers that the discount war was in violation of state law.

Knee-High Evening Gowns Predicted by Designer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Knee-high evening gowns will take the play from the long length collections shown earlier this year.

Novarese Wednesday told the nation's fashion editors, gathered for the California Fashion Creators press week, that stores around the country prefer short evening dresses when they have a choice.

He displayed some of his, which hovered, like his daytime dresses, just above the kneecap. Most were glittering with multi-colored paillettes and multi-colored sequins. One, which he called paillette, was a short sleeve, all-over paillette dress of bold horizontal Roman stripes in shades of gold, green, blue, and red.

Novarese also showed some long evening gowns. Two were strapless, one of them in black and white crepe panne with a soft drape at the bodice. Another in white cotton had a matching stole trimmed with organza feathers.

His daytime wear featured cape and butterfly sleeve treatments ranging from a readily seen as full-length luncheon at 99 cents, but really? Chopped Beef Stroganoff with rice? Teriyaki? (And is teriyaki a day dress.)

The short evening dress was ignored by designer Hele Rose. She stuck generally to the long, draped chiffons, which have been her trademark for years.

Two of her gowns had deep hem-draped stoles over each length of chiffon trousers, edged with glittering beading to match beading on the gown.

The Stanley Nelson coat and dress were featured.

Church Budgets Urged for Help In Foreign Aid

WEST HARTFORD (AP) — "If Christians really wanted to be wise stewards, they would spend half their church budgets supporting foreign aid," says Prof. Joseph Fletcher, an Episcopal theologian.

The idea that stewardship means supporting church activities alone in "a Sunday school concept," Fletcher said at the New England Regional Meeting of the United Church of Christ.

Instead of "merely supporting their own missionaries," churches should support missionaries to Congress in the form of lobbyists pushing for larger foreign aid programs, he said.

Fletcher, who teaches ethics at the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C., said the United States — and other developed nations — should be spending at least 3 per cent of their gross national product on foreign aid.

Area Weather WINDSOR LOCKS (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau says rain continued through the night but should not be needed to play over two inches to most sections of Connecticut.

Rain will end early this morning in the central and Western sections and by the mid-morning in eastern sections. Cloudiness will linger this morning but by this afternoon sides will be clear with a high of 60.

Last night the storms began to merge and form one larger system over southern New Jersey. The developing storm is moving across Rhode Island this morning in easterly sections. Cloudiness will linger this morning but by this afternoon sides will be clear with a high of 60.

SOFTSPOKEN DEUCE FOULS CLEVER FLOT By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If playing cards could speak, ace and king might bellow like opera singers; a deuce would make faint whispers. Even so, the right kind of partner would hear what the deuce had to say.

Opening lead — four of spades. West led the four of spades, and South concurred a bid in the twinkling of an eye. He put up the jack of spades from dummy and overtook with the king in his own hand, as though he had only the deuce to play.

Declare then went after the club, and West took the second club trick. West remembered that his partner had played the deuce of spades at the first trick. (It was such a quiet card that you probably didn't hear it in the first paragraph.)

West to sure his partner would not have played the deuce if he held 8-7-2 of spades. With little else in his hand, East would surely offer a bit of encouragement by playing the five or seven of spades.

East's deuce meant that he had only two or three low spades. South had not needed to play the king of spades, and therefore was plotting to conceal his weakness in some other suit.

The only hope lay in hearts. East could have only one high card in his hand, and the only chance was that this card was the ace of hearts.

West led the king of hearts, holding the trick. He continued with a low heart to the ace. Back came a heart, and West had the J behind declarer's 10, defeating the contract.

"Well done," whispered the deuce of spades. But only a faint whisper in some other suit.

Protestant-Catholic 'Good Will' Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — Several areas listed in which Roman Catholics now hold membership in the local council of churches were: Austin, Fort Worth and Wichita, Kan.; Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Okla.; Grand Rapids and Muskegon County, Mich.; Decatur, Ga.; Naperville and Joliet, Ill.; Pueblo, Colo.; northwestern Indiana, and Lexington, Mass.

The latter report came from the Rev. Dr. John E. Ketcham, National Council of Churches' liaison officer with local and regional councils. He cited various ways in which the two Catholic-Protestant ties are being formed.

Verwoerd's Assassin Is Declared Insane

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A South African court declared Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's assassin insane today, ending his murder trial. The killer, Dimitrios Tsafendas, 46, was ordered committed to jail. President Charles R. Swart is expected to order his transfer to a mental institution. The court's ruling ended the trial because it found Tsafendas sane enough to plead to the murder charge.

Three members of Emanuel Lutheran Church will participate in a convention of the Lutheran Church Women tomorrow and Saturday at the Hartford Hilton Hotel. They are Mrs. Abe Nussdorf, Mrs. Roy Johnson and Mrs. Herman Peterson.

School Menus Beer Blast Railed, 130 Minors Found

The Manchester public school menu for the week of Oct. 24 is as follows: Monday: Cabbage steak gravy, mashed potato, spinach, bread, butter, milk, apple crisp. Tuesday: Hamburg gravy on mashed potato, carrots, bread, butter, milk, rice pudding with raisins.

Police declined to say whether an agency was represented by the two narcotics agents who took part in the raid. Police said the party was attended by 21-year-old Victor Coogrove of 43 West Hills Road while his parents were away. The party was held Friday night, but police did not report their findings until Wednesday.

teer and make high risk loans, a little less infatuation with the idea of permanent property and increasingly rapid growth, could have avoided a lot of disaster in 1931 and could do everybody some good in 1966 too.

Nothing is Simple in Saigon As President Johnson's trip turns the spotlight on Asia not everything illuminated there contributes automatically to what must be judged the prime purpose of the trip—the education of his fellow Americans back home to a belief in the rightness of this war for us and the rightness of his conduct of this war.

We doubt that there has ever been, in all the history of conflict on this earth, any struggle filled with so many contradictions, confusions, and almost equally legitimate versions and interpretations of circumstances which are themselves so loosely shaped that the pronouncement of anything as hard and irrevocable fact is almost an impossibility.

So when one result of the President's trip is to focus more than usual American public attention on such a thing as the cabinet crisis in Saigon, none of us should expect to be able to gain any clear or authoritative understanding of that crisis.

What it does highlight some of the confusions.

This is a cabinet crisis which has been the result of two allegations against the regime of Premier Ky.

One grievance of the seven members who want to resign, but who may be persuaded to stay on until after the Manila Conference, is that too much favoritism is shown by the Ky government to people who like Premier Ky himself, are natives of North Vietnam and not of South Vietnam. The other grievance holds that what Premier Ky is building, with the aid of other officials who are also native to North Vietnam, rather than South Vietnam, is too much of a police state.

Underneath this dissatisfaction on the part of the South Vietnamese members of the Ky cabinet there lies some of the previous history of the struggle in Vietnam. The North Vietnamese, after the French left Vietnam, left Hanoi and went South were, in many instances, North Vietnamese who had been with the French in their effort to hold on to Vietnam as a colony, and who were not, therefore, fighting for the independence of their country in that phase of its modern history. Does the background picture of politics and allegiances in Vietnam begin to seem slightly complicated, at the moment when the President's journey is supposed to make everything simple and clear and palatable to us all? This is only a spotlight hitting the surface at that. A real study of all the background for the present moment in Vietnam could prove almost as bottomless as the war itself.

Salute To The Biggest Sheer size is always a compelling thing, whether the object involved be pleasant or frightening, menacing or useful.

So we worship, for a few lines, before the vastness of the Identita Maru—all 209,000 tons she is the world's largest. She is 58,000 tons larger than the Tokyo Maru, which used to be the world's largest ship.

But she is likely to be surpassed, next year, by a new monster of 276,000 tons. And the Japanese genius and imagination which produces such ships is talking of one which would be a 500,000 ton affair.

The Identita Maru is a mere 1,222 feet long. The Queen Elizabeth is a baby of 82,678 tons, 1,031 feet long.

But the Identita Maru is, of course, not a luxurious liner, but a workmanlike oil tanker. She is only 131,000-000 to build, and building her took only two years. She hasn't seen a picture—she isn't very beautiful, or graceful in the water. Perhaps sailing her would be like pushing a city block sideways across Union Pond. But she floats and she is incomparably the biggest thing that does.

On Credibility Selected news items: WASHINGTON—A Selective Service System spokesman said tonight that immediate physical and mental examinations had been ordered for about 70,000 men from ages 26 through 34 who were still liable for military service. But the spokesman said the system had no plans to put any of the men in uniform even if they pass the examination. (New York Times, Oct. 19)

WASHINGTON—The Army Defense Department spokesman said there is "no current proposal by the Army to call up reserve units to replenish the nation's dwindling manpower pool, it was learned today.

Col. Paul Aker, New York City Selective Service Director, acknowledged in an interview that the nation is so short of men that there are too many men to go around—without enrolling the conscripts or reserves. If draft calls are increased (or) if draft calls for January and February remain at the October-November level. (World Journal Tribune, Oct. 11)

Pentagon spokesman Arthur Sylvester once explained why, when national service was at least the Government had to tell the people lies. Perhaps he'd now like to explain why it has to spread total confusion as well. — WALL STREET JOURNAL

Inside Report

Chicago—"Will you look at that?" grumbled a conservative organization Republican pointing to the morning newspaper. "Why couldn't Chuck wait until AFTER the election to say something like that?"

But as so often happens in regard to dangerous issues, the two candidates tended to merge together. For all the differences in rhetoric, their positions are substantially the same: Opposition to both unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops and further escalation.

By Labor Day, the only solid debating point concerning Southeast Asia was Percy's much-publicized proposal for an all-Asian conference to seek a peaceful solution in Viet Nam.

But when campaigning resumed following the Percy murder school of staunchly anti-Communist liberals, was an unqualified supporter of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy.

A Thought for Today

It is amazing, it is not, that although we claim to be a civilized people, that although we pride ourselves on the fact that we are among the most educated nations of the world, still we kill on the basis of the difference in color in another's skin pigment. We kill not only by taking physical life, but we kill by denying rights and by slandering another's character.

That this strategy was launched in Southern Illinois was no accident. If the senator's usual dovish vote (exceptionally high for a Democrat) shrinks on Nov. 8, as much as it now seems to be, Percy will be elected. A good emotional issue like Percy-Red China (See Page Nine)

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

If one of those modern devices which, flown over a jungle in Vietnam, can detect when the soldier there is heat from some hidden campfire or motor, were put into flight over Connecticut we think it would find its signals assailed by a very special heat from down below when it happened to be hovering over the precise location of Stamford.

The heat rising would be that of individuals and parties wrestling with one of the most dramatic and vitally involving issues of our time, that of racial relations. And this particular kind of heat would be rising from this particular location because Stamford is considered a particular "scattered sites" proposal which would establish small clusters of new housing for lower income groups in a number of sections of the community.

The drama is heightened and hotter because Mayor Thomas C. Mayers, who has taken a position in favor of the "scattered sites" proposal and who has been threatened with impeachment by angry groups of residents who also happens to be the nominee for state comptroller on the Republican ticket.

And the heat signals given off in the Stamford area get even hotter still when outside state politicians and officials into the territory, inevitably find themselves put on the hot spot and invited to declare themselves on the issue.

Mayor Mayers himself has, to our long range observation at least, passed this test handsomely and with a grace and courage that is not only commendable but also inspiring.

Very very hot Stamford issue, with the Stamford mayor and the Republican nominee for state comptroller already committed on it for better or for worse, was thrown at the two top participants in the state campaign when they visited Stamford for one of their campaign debates.

It is amazing, it is not, that although we claim to be a civilized people, that although we pride ourselves on the fact that we are among the most educated nations of the world, still we kill on the basis of the difference in color in another's skin pigment.

Coventry Towns Worry About a Drop in State Aid, Thorp Says

The Committee to Re-elect

Waller L. Thorp predicts that "history will be written" on Tuesday, Nov. 8, when the number of representatives from the small towns in Connecticut reduced while the number of legislators elected from the urban districts is greatly increased.

Thorp, who is seeking the post of representative from the 51st Assembly District of the towns of Andover, Bolton, and Coventry, states this situation is "causing serious concern to the people in my area, particularly in regards to state grants for education and lower roads."

He said that the population growth in rural towns has placed enormous burdens upon local taxpayers. The needs of our expanded population must be met if we are to provide for the future and fulfill our responsibilities, he continued.

As a result of his visit in the three towns, Thorp also reported, "We have in our 51st District many senior citizens living on fixed income, and consistently increasing property taxes are placing undue burdens upon all taxpayers. In order to fulfill future requirements and meet immediate demands, it is imperative that state aid for towns, such as ours, be increased."

Thorp concluded by stating, "When I return in January to the State Capitol in Hartford, I pledge to the citizens of my District that my schedule of the past four years of holding office hours shall be continued and expanded to include Andover, Bolton, and Coventry."

The former local representative (under the old form of town representation in the state legislature) said also that "I shall represent, speak for, and act on behalf of the needs of my constituents."

116 Made Voters Of the 116 voters made at the final regular session, 49 registered with the Democrats, 30 with Republicans, and 37 remained unaffiliated.

The two-hour voter-making session on Nov. 5 will be only for those whose rights have matured after Oct. 15.

Second Congressional Note The Rev. James H. Ameling, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, will use "Living in Glass Houses" as his sermon topic during the 11 a.m. worship service.

Sunday at 5:30 p.m. the Junior Fellowship Fellowship meets in the Church Community House.

The Coventry Fragment Society has an all-day work session at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Church Community House.

Dean Munsey Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Booth, and Mrs. Fred Doyle, and Laura Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sculler, have been baptized by the Rev. Mr. Ameling.

The church pastored by Ameling, Lawrence Penland as chairman and Mrs. Ellsworth Greenleaf as secretary.

The church meeting this week voted to have the church's organ set to see if it is in good working condition. If found so, the board of trustees is to proceed with the plan of building an addition on to the church sanctuary, off the choir loft, for housing this equipment. The estimated cost is reported as $2,300.

might just mend Douglas's downstate fences.

Moreover, it further encourages disaffection by Bourbon Republican county chairmen (a disaffection helped no little by Percy's twisted tongue in answering the Northwestern student). The fact that Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen, the state's most prestigious Republican, let it be known that he is unhappy about Percy's foreign policy statements fits neatly into the Douglas strategy.

Yet the strategy creates one backdrop. The Illinois liberals who once were Paul Douglas's most fervent supporters long have been displeased with his Viet Nam position. Now they are heartier, over the nature of his attack on Percy.

In numbers of defecting liberal voters, this backdrop is insignificant. But it is part of an overall phenomenon, described in an earlier column, of diminishing fervor and spirit by Douglas voters which, combined with the difference between victory and defeat. In this vague and inexactable way, the Red China issue is far from an untarnished asset for Douglas in the political fight of his life.

GERMANS RANSOMED BERLIN—East Germany has ransomed about 2,600 political prisoners to West Germany for some $24 million worth of consumer goods.

FIRST DOCTORS DEIFIED CAIRO—It is generally accepted that Imhotep was the first Egyptian physician and Aesculapian the first Greek physician. Both were deified after death.

WAPPING—Mrs. Annie V. Collins, 92, of 335 Buckland rd., the oldest member of Wapping, Grace and former member of the Wapping Episcopal Church, died this morning at a Manchester convalescent home after a long illness. She was the widow of Edward Pitkin Collins.

Mrs. Collins was born in Wapping Feb. 10, 1874, a daughter of Seth and Ann Ripley Vinson and lived here all her life. She had participated in Grange activities for 72 years. She was a librarian at Saint Memorial Library for 45 years.

Survivors include a son, Walden V. Collins of Wapping; four grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at Wapping Community Church. The Rev. Theodore Bachelor, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Wapping Cemetery.

Friends may call Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Manchester.

The family suggests that those wishing to do so make memorial contributions to an Organ Fund at Wapping Community Church.

Administration awards both from the MAHRC and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Handicapped for his pioneering work will be to show how, with efforts.

Australia Enthusiastic In Welcoming Johnson

earlier rain cheered loud and clapped during the President's arrival in Canberra, Australia, and brilliant late afternoon sunshine shined through the dark gray underbushes as Johnson, followed by his wife, stepped from the plane to be greeted by Prime Minister Harold Holt.

"I feel now as I did in 1942—the confidence that comes from the steadfast support of the Australian people," Johnson said. "You must know that we reciprocate that support in full measure."

"Together, as we have always been, I know that we shall succeed. Now I look forward to meeting your great people once again."

The demonstrators were in for a long wait. Johnson's schedule called for him to drive to the Canberra Rex Hotel about 11 a.m. and to the Parliament House at 1:30 p.m. Johnson said he was grateful that the Australian and American people had put their hands to the task of helping to build a new Asia.

which he said was striving to gain its own nuclear weapons. The West German government, he said, already is in a position to produce enough plutonium to make 13 atomic bombs a year.

Today the Federal Republic of Germany seeks to create the multilateral NATO nuclear forces, he said. "Tomorrow we will have a nuclear force which would state that those multilateral forces are but an interim step on the way of the German army to a full possession of such weapons."

Crash Victim Still Listed As Critical

Donald P. Bird of South Windsor, who was seriously injured yesterday afternoon in a head-on collision, remains in critical condition at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Bird, 57, of 199 Pine Tree Ln., received fractures of the left arm and right wrist. The collision took place on Avery St. in South Windsor, just north of the turnpike. Bird's car was driven by Mrs. Marjorie R. Straw, 72 of Box 30, Dr., Vernon. She was admitted to the hospital with face cuts and a reported laceration of her right arm.

Factory Worker Not Considered Percy Suspect

CHICAGO (AP)—Cook County and Chicago authorities say that a 19-year-old factory worker who mentioned the slaying of Valerie Perry while appearing on a parole violation charge is not considered a suspect in the slaying.

Police said Gerald Welsh of Chicago made comments about the slaying of Valerie Perry, daughter of Charles H. Perry, Republican U.S. Senate candidate, at a luncheon at the Chicago Club last week.

Police said Welsh, who is a member of the Chicago Police Union, was arrested on a parole violation charge in connection with the slaying of Valerie Perry.

Vernon Reading by Students Rising, But So Is the Loss of Books

The loss of books continues to plague the school district according to the annual report issued by Rockville High School librarian Margaret Small.

Mrs. Small notes the lack of responsibility on the part of the students who have taken books to be deprived of books that are not returned.

At the Sidner Road School, the circulation totaled 21,908. During the year three books were purchased, and 79 new books were added.

The Sikes Junior High School reports an annual inventory of 15,649 books of various classification, but not including periodicals or pamphlets.

During the year 308 books were added, 18 discarded and 36 lost. The circulation totaled 15,649 and the attendance 21,540.

Mrs. Lanier is wearing a gray wool coat with knit fox collar and cuffs. Kathy wears a knit shirt striped red and gold. The Ladies Guild of St. Margaret Mary's Church in South Windsor will sponsor the fashion show next Tuesday evening at 8 in the church hall. (Herald photo by S. O'Brien.)

O'Brien said that in cases where delays could become serious, he is authorizing whatever overtime pay is necessary to clear up the jam. He also disclosed the department is creating 10,000 new regular jobs by converting temporary substitute positions to regular status. Meanwhile, a postal employes union official predicted an embargo will be placed on all third class mail — such as advertising circulars — to permit Christmas mail to be delivered on time. James H. Rademacher, vice president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, also said in an interview that there were "instances where parcel post is being delayed as much as a week, circular mail was even being delayed."

With Governor Dempsey's leadership—

We'll have modern railroad service...

John Dempsey led the fight to save the New Haven Railroad, Thomas F. Richardson, president of the Fairfield County Trust Co., wrote the Governor on May 2, '66, "We know how hard you have worked on it and we are truly grateful that, in good part, because of your efforts the state and our country will have continued passenger and rail freight facilities."

On September 28th, Governor Dempsey in cooperation with New York State announced a new $80 million commuter program to modernize the New Haven.

Earlier, at the Governor's insistence (Bridgeport Post, May 19, '66), the federal government included Connecticut in the high speed rail test. United Aircraft Corporate Systems in Farmington has the contract to produce these test-run trains.

These efforts are what will give Connecticut the modern rail service it needs. This is the way to run a railroad.

Let's keep moving ahead

Re-elect Governor Dempsey Vote Democratic—Top Lever

Democrats Laud Cummings For Attempt at Unanimity

Democratic town officials and defeated Democratic candidates at hand—a new election in the Oct. 3 election received a standing ovation last night at a meeting of the Democratic Town Committee, and Town Chairman Ted Cummings was commended for his efforts for a show of unity by Republicans and Democrats.

Cummings in telephone calls to the board of directors, had asked for unanimity in a Tuesday night vote on approval of an annuity agreement with General Manager Robert Weiss, to honor previous commitments.

The agreement was approved 8 to 0, with the six Democrats voting "yes" and the three Republicans abstaining.

Cummings said last night, "How could I, chairman of a party that was just beaten, be accused, as Republican John Gerardo accused me, of trying to bring pressure on a victorious party?"

"I was naive enough to believe that I could call on them, in good faith, to take an action for the good of Manchester, I see now that the Republicans are not amenable to suggestions."

"And now," Cummings said, "we must get on with the business at hand—a new election and victory on Nov. 8."

Three More Breaks Reported Eight Occur in Week's Span

Three more breaks—at Gammans-Hoagland Co., Westchester Rd., and Parker St.—were reported by police today bringing to eight the number of breaks which have been reported in less than a week.

A thief used an shredded cloth to wipe away fingerprints from a desk drawer at Gammans-Hoagland Co. after stealing $100 in cash sometime between 6:45 p.m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Police found no signs of forced entry. The money was taken from a green metal box located in a metal fire cabinet in a second floor office, they said.

Five desks were ransacked but nothing else was taken, police said. At 40 Westminister Rd., a thief entered the home of Dr. John J. Allison some time between Oct. 9 and yesterday and stole $10 in cash from a desk in a dining room cabinet, police said.

No signs of forced entry were apparent, police said. Although other valuables were in the house, they were not taken, police said.

About 25 cherry bombs and between 5 and 10 two-ounce bottles of liquor valued at $10 were stolen from Ostrinsky's Waste Material at 731 Parker St. sometime between three p.m. Tuesday and 1 p.m. yesterday.

Police said the thief entered the front of the building through a window in an overhead door which had been broken before. The cherry bombs were taken from an office desk and the liquor from a file cabinet, police reported.

They said more liquor was in the cabinet but it was not taken. Several days ago thieves broke into homes at 86 Otcut Dr., 300 Hackmatack St. and 108 Porter St., escaping with more than $100.

Before that, a home at 86 E. Alton St. and a parked car were broken into. Thieves netted $100 in those breaks, including a nine-cluster diamond ring and other jewelry. No value has been placed on the jewelry yet. Far East, struggle along on 55 Vendale broke into a pump garage a day or two ago.

GAS RATES FOR SCHOOLS REDUCED!

Effective October 1... a new, lower gas rate for all-gas schools in Greater Hartford cuts annual fuel bills 28% to 40%!

The new rate applies to public, private and parochial schools, as well as colleges, when they use only natural gas for heat, hot water, cooking and laboratory equipment.

The gas rate reduction comes at a time when most other costs of education are rising.

Proof again, that for performance and economy GAS makes the BIG difference.

Manchester Is Growing, Bank Survey Proves It

What are the economic prospects for growth for Manchester? If the past 10 years are any indication, the prospects are good, according to a survey done by the Market Research Staff of the Hartford National Bank. The survey covers a period from 1955 to 1965.

The population of Manchester, which is the main measuring gauge of economic growth, has shown a steady increase in the period. An average of two persons a day have been added to the town population in the past 10 years.

Manchester, according to the survey, has some heavy breadwinners in the families and registers a total family income of $9,340 in 1965, as compared with $6,500 in 1955.

As the population has increased, so have the number of housing units, the amount of money spent in Manchester stores, and the number of cars. The population has gone up slightly over seven thousand in the period, and the number of registered cars has risen about an equal amount.

Since 1955, the car population of Manchester has increased at a rate of slightly less than two per day. The survey shows there are slightly under 22,000 registered motor vehicles owned by residents in town, and sometimes it appears that the majority of these are found on the ramps entering Rt. 15 on Sunday afternoon.

If all persons in town got into their cars at the same time, each car would have 2.2 persons in it. Manchester, according to the survey, has some heavy breadwinners in the families and registers a total family income of $9,340 in 1965, as compared with $6,500 in 1955.

As the population has increased, so have the number of housing units, the amount of money spent in Manchester stores, and the number of cars. The population has gone up slightly over seven thousand in the period, and the number of registered cars has risen about an equal amount.

Native apples are in abundance and Mrs. Kenneth E. (Doris) Bensen of 207 Ludlow Rd. has several ways of preparing them, including Apple-Chinamen Muffins, Apple Slices and Mini-Apple Frosty.

Apple-Chinamen Muffins
 1 1/2 cups flour
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/2 cup soft shortening
 1 egg
 1 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup grated or chopped unpeeled apple
 Sift together dry ingredients and cut in shortening. Add egg, milk and apple and mix together with fork or blender. Stir just until ingredients are blended. Fill greased muffin tins of tin with paper liners, two-thirds full. Top with a mixture of one-third cup brown sugar, one-third cup chopped nuts and one-half teaspoon cinnamon, blended together. Bake in 400-degree oven about 25 minutes. This recipe makes a dozen muffins.

Rousing, Rainy Receptions For Bob Kennedy in State

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was met with a rousing reception in Fairfield County on his way to the state capital in Hartford. Kennedy's visit had been described in advance by Irwin, a Republican opponent, former Congressman Abner W. Sibal, as "desperate effort to salvage the Democratic coat-tail candidate."

Irwin previously got Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall to visit the Fourth District. Next on the list of what Sibal called "the party's leading attractions from out of state" is Sen. John O. Pastors, D-R.I.

Irwin and Sibal have each served two terms in Congress and each has beaten the other several times before. Irwin appears to be at a disadvantage in this election, since he won by only 8,000 voters over Sibal in 1964 while Pastors carried the district by over 64,000 votes.

Kennedy made speeches in Danbury, Wednesday, and in Hartford, Wednesday, before a crowd of about 600 in Stamford, 500 in Norwalk and 2,000 in Bridgeport. The maximum penalty for violation is one year in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Lowney Case Deal Denied By Hospital

HAMDEN (AP) — The only "deal" proposed in the removal of mental hospital superintendent John F. Lowney was rejected by the board of mental health on Sept. 22, after discussing the situation again. The board unanimously approved the dismissal of Lowney, "effective immediately."

In a Wednesday night statement, the board said: "The board of mental health, therefore, offered Dr. Lowney the opportunity of resigning under the usual conditions."

"There was no deal." "At no time was there any consideration of deferring Dr. Lowney's removal from office in order to prevent the matter from becoming public prior to the election."

"Dr. Lowney's removal by the board of mental health on Sept. 22, 1966, is evidence that there was no deal and no attempt to postpone the decision until after the election."

The board said in a statement Wednesday night that the fact that Lowney was dismissed on Sept. 22 "is evidence that there was no deal and no attempt to postpone the decision until after the election."

Charges that the state had tried to keep the situation at the Connecticut Valley Hospital quiet by getting Lowney to resign after election day were leveled by Clayton Gengras, the Republican candidate for governor.

Gengras also charged that hospital patients were used as "human guinea pigs" in drug research conducted by Lowney.

The board had previously denied reports that experimental drugs had been used on patients without their consent, and it reiterated Wednesday night that it "regrets that legitimate research should be characterized in the way it has."

"Some of the drugs used in these studies," the board said, "had already been approved for regular use on prescription by any doctor. The other medications had long passed the stages of testing, which met FDA (Food and Drug Administration) criteria for evaluation of their usefulness for treatment."

"All of these were medicines designed to be effective in treating the illnesses from which the patients suffered."

Lowney and his director of training, Dr. Jack Shepe, met with two members of the board Aug. 26, along with three members of the hospital board and Mental Health Commissioner Wilfred Bloomberg.

According to the minutes of the meeting, it was "conceded" for the purpose of discussing the resignation of Dr. Lowney and Dr. Shepe, it having been earlier indicated that they were willing to accept their resignations on "honorable terms."

However, "no specific suggestions were offered by Dr. Lowney or Dr. Shepe as to suitable terms for resignation, except the suggestion that a July 1 or Feb. 1 date for termination of services would be agreeable."

On Aug. 11, six of the seven board members, plus three hospital board members and Mental Health Commissioner Wilfred Bloomberg met again and continued the suspension of Lowney.

Soon after, Shepe resigned, citing "personal reasons."

On Sept. 13, Lowney met with all seven members of the mental health board, four members of the hospital board, and Bloomberg.

"When asked if he wanted to make a statement, Dr. Lowney said that he did not," according to the minutes of the meeting. Lowney left the meeting and it was decided to make a final decision Sept. 22.

"At no time was there any consideration of deferring Dr. Lowney's removal from office in order to prevent the matter from becoming public prior to the election."

A Grand Class Holds a Reunion in South Windsor

Perhaps not the classiest of the show, this 1928 Model T Ford Camper had its attractions: It slept a family comfortably, then folded its wings for flight.

The scene at the fourth annual Albro Case Old Car Reunion held over the weekend at the East Windsor Hill property of Case. Packards, Rolls Royces and Stutzes were among the guests. Case calls the show a "social gathering."

Bank Favoritism Charge Termed Silly by Bailey

BARTFORD (AP) — Republican candidate for state comptroller, represented the Lafayette Bank & Trust Co. of Bartford in its charter hearing before the banking commission. Gladstone's law partner is a director and treasurer of the bank, he said.

Pinney said Wednesday that his Democratic counterpart, John M. Bailey, and his "henchmen" have been "passing out banks" through the State Banking Commission. Gladstone said Wednesday he would not comment on Pinney's statement until he had a chance to study it.

Pinney also said that State Sen. Frank Piccolo of New Haven represented the Woodbridge Bank & Trust Co. in its charter hearing, and the charter was granted. State Sen. Edward Marcus of New Haven, a member of the legislature's committee on banks, is a director of the Woodbridge Bank, he noted.

"Also in New Haven," Pinney said, "Democratic National Committeeman John M. Goldstein, long-time political sidekick of John Bailey, is treasurer of the recently chartered General Bank & Trust Co."

"In Meriden, where the Law Bank & Trust Co. was established recently, that bank was represented before the banking commission by the law partner of William Shea, who is also presently minority leader in the House of Representatives."

Marcus called Pinney's charge "totally ludicrous and ridiculous" and said he had become a director of the Woodbridge Bank 1 1/2 years after it went into business. He got the position, he said, through his "business knowledge and judgment," he said, not through Bailey's influence.

Piccolo said his fee for representing the Woodbridge Bank was determined by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the banking commission. The fee, he said, was "hardly a plum."

Many Obstacles In Housewives' Food Price War

NEW YORK (AP) — Frustrated housewives are running into trouble with everyone from district attorneys to their own husbands in their organized attempts to cut food prices.

In Portland, Ore., the district attorney made an investigation of the grocery prices war that has seen milk drop to 18 cents a gallon.

One store even was giving away a gallon of milk for a loaf of bread and a pint of cottage cheese with every purchase.

In Van Nuys, Calif., housewives ran into objections from their husbands when they tried to organize.

The housewives have claimed away a gallon of milk for a loaf of bread and a pint of cottage cheese with every purchase.

Money Staying Home Higher Interest Rates Help Stop Dollar Flow

NEW YORK (AP) — The current higher interest rates in this country may be helping improve the U.S. balance of payments situation, thus giving an assist to government efforts to stem the flow of dollars abroad.

These rates, which are being urged by borrowers and loved by lenders, might be damaging consistency. But when viewed in terms of dollar stability they may not be looked on with disfavor by the Treasury.

One of the most immediate effects of the higher rates has been to keep money invested here rather than in Europe or other continents. Since some U.S. rates are as high as they've been since the Civil War, the return to the lender matches that of many other countries.

Since last year, the capital outflow has been decreasing, and the inflow of money from abroad has been rising.

The United States is still just about the best investment there is. Knowing this, many foreign sources of capital prefer to hold dollars simply because of the high interest payments to foreign investors. The amount is relatively small, however, if the investment itself remains here. Security as well as interest is so.

Cong Mine Explodes In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong terrorists exploded a homemade mine in the learning market place of a district capital today and killed or wounded 57 Vietnamese soldiers and civilians.

Park stopped off for seven hours on his way to Manila to attend the seven-nation summit conference on Viet Nam opening Monday.

South Viet Nam Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, having quieted the storm within his own cabinet, took time off to fly to D. Nang to welcome the visiting Korean president.

The air war over North Viet Nam, U.S. strike pilots flew 40 missions Thursday and an American spokesman said the forces cost two U.S. planes.

The North Vietnamese claimed five planes were shot down Thursday and a number of pilots were captured.

U.S. spokesmen ignored this claim, but said the pilots of the U.S. planes were missing.

The mine explosion occurred in Tra On, a district capital 75 miles southwest of Saigon.

Five persons were killed. They included four Vietnamese servicemen and five civilians.

A spokesman said 35 were wounded seriously enough to be hospitalized. Fifteen were Vietnamese soldiers and 33 were civilians.

A Vietnamese spokesman said an undetermined number of others in the marketplace suffered minor wounds.

The seriously wounded were moved to hospitals in Chu Tho 25 miles away by U.S. and Vietnamese river patrol boats.

A spokesman said 30 U.S. servicemen descended blood in the Chu Tho civilian hospital.

LBJ Welcome in Melbourne Marred by Paint-Tossing

Paint splatters on the windshield of President Johnson's bubbletop limousine during a motorcade in Melbourne, Australia. Secret Service men accompanying the auto were bathed in the paint but those inside the car escaped untouched. (AP Photofax)

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — From 500,000 to a million Australians gave President Johnson a tumultuous Melbourne reception today, marred by a paint-throwing incident that smeared his bubbletop limousine amid the boos and jeers of youths opposing the war in Viet Nam.

The closed car was smeared from windshield to rear bumper by the sea-through top protection of the president and Mrs. Johnson from an Australian politician son from the red and green parties.

Two Secret Service men riding on the rear bumper of the limousine were bathed in paint.

The paint was water-based and washed off readily and the car returned to Melbourne airport for the return to Canberra. Thousands of Australians along the way cheered the Johnsons. Some shouted "Come back!" or sang "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

"I believe there is light at the end of what has been long and lonely tunnel," Johnson told the Australians, referring to the Vietnam war and his firm belief the Communists no longer can win.

The Johnsons appeared unconcerned by the paint throwing or the jeers from young Australians as they arrived at Government House from the airport. They smiled and waved to the crowds as if nothing had happened.

In the perspective of two million people or so, said the First Lady, "it was just like a grain of sand."

The Johnsons spent their afternoon in Melbourne in a schoolyard for 40 minutes to visit with two plastic balloons — one thrown by two youngsters about 14 years old. Another said the thrower was a young man 60-year-old husband, Sir Norman Johnson.

The President's usual concern by the paint throwing during the 15-mile drive to Government House and standing in the open doorway, kissing babies, waving vigorously, shaking hands and other taking.

On his way to Government House, the President stopped to shake hands with a young man who had been arrested for throwing paint at the limousine.

Senate Eases Obstruction To Adjournment Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today voted 78-19 to ease its own rules to allow the chamber to adjourn tonight.

The action may have eased the biggest obstacle to adjournment of this session of Congress by tonight.

On that provision, a House-Senate conference committee approved a House-approved bill on Oct. 18 to extend the 1966-67 fiscal year to Jan. 1, 1967, the 78-19 vote.

The bill includes also an extension of the 1966-67 fiscal year to Jan. 1, 1967, the 78-19 vote.
