State Campaigners Shift To Attack Personalities

Last Days Rough, Say Both Sides

HARTFORD (AP)—The opening of Connecticut's polling booths tomorrow morning will mark the closing of an unusual state election campaign which focused in the final weeks on private, rather than public, fiscal responsibility.

Gov. John N. Dempsey

Gengras Plans Libel Suit Over 'Unworthiness' Ad

HARTFORD (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate E. Clayton Gengras announced today his intention to file a libel action against "all responsible parties" involved in a newspaper advertisement which labeled him as "untrustworthy."

Gengras took back the word "unfit," which was injected into the campaign last week when he said that Dempsey's choice of Attilio R. Frassinelli as a running mate raised questions as to the governor's "fitness" for office.

Dempsey backed down on the word "untrustworthy," which had been picked up from a New York State Insurance Department citation critical of Gengras' Security Insurance Group.

Mason Fired On

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Comedian Jackie Mason says someone fired three shots into his hotel room here last night.

LBJ Visits Old School In Cotulla

COTULLA, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson revisited today the small Mexican-American school here where he taught 38 years ago. It gave him a chance, the day before election, to point with pride to administration education programs.

50 Million Votes Expected Tomorrow

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon also added some homestretch steam, counter-punching at the President on the Viet Nam issue.

Alan Boyd Chosen For Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alan S. Boyd, who says he "never had a master plan" for his career, is President Johnson's choice to head the new Cabinet-level Department of Transportation.

Johnston designated Boyd, 44, for the post Sunday. His nomination will go to the Senate next January.

The new department, 12th in the Cabinet, is a collection of 31 transportation-related units and nearly 100,000 employees plucked from throughout government.

Boyd has worked with some of them as undersecretary of commerce for transportation.

Its first task, said Boyd in an interview: "One of organization. That doesn't have a great deal to do with substance, but it's the thing that has to be done first."

The long-range challenge, said Boyd, "is to try to devise some way to assure ourselves we have the most efficient transportation system that we could have."

Venetian gondolas also became victims of flood waters inundating central and northern Italy. These were sunk near San Marco Square with the rest of the city (background) looking like a floating island after days of torrential rain.

Massive Rescue Force Attacks Flood Damage

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Helped by clearing weather and driven by fear of epidemic, a massive Italian-American rescue force worked today to pull a third of Italy from the chaos and misery of the nation's worst flood disaster.

More than 150 bodies were reported recovered and the estimated death toll went to 300. It was feared that the final count would be far greater.

Three days after the first floods and landslides struck in central and northeast Italy, rescue teams still had not reached all of the hundreds of stricken and isolated communities.

American military bases in the country sent men and machines to join Italian soldiers, police and civilian volunteers in a rescue force of 250,000.

The Weather Bureau reported rain, clouds and fog were generally diminishing. But the situation was still tense along sections of the Adige River in mountainous northern Trento Province and in the lowlands of the Po Delta.

Throughout the stricken area, from south of Florence to north of Venice, water contamination and hundreds of thousands of drowned livestock increased the danger of epidemics.

Light Airplane Crashes in N.Y.; Two Are Killed

NASSAU, N. Y. (AP)—Two persons were reported killed today in a crash of a single-engine airplane near this Rensselaer County Community.

The identities of the victims were not disclosed immediately. State Police said another person was injured critically.

The plane was believed to be the craft missing on a flight from Windsor Locks, Conn., to Albany, N.Y.

The Massachusetts Wing of the Civil Air Patrol said the missing plane piloted by Wilbert Trester Jr., Clinton, Conn., left Bradley Field in Windsor Locks, Conn., at 9:30 p.m. A half hour later, the CAP said, Trester made radio contact with the Albany Airport and said he was flying at 1,600 feet over Brainard, N.Y., but was not heard from after that.

The airplane was described as a brown and white Cessna. Workers toiled through the night to shore up dikes and earth levees at the mouths of the Piave-River north of Venice and the Po, Adige and Brenta Rivers south of Venice.

Water spilled over reinforced embankments at new places in the broad Po Delta but the main current emptied into the Adriatic. Thousands were evacuated as a precaution from homes at San Dona, near the Piave's mouth, and at Porto Tolle, in the Po Delta.

Lunar in Orbit, Busy Days Ahead

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Sighting devices on Lunar Orbiter 1 never found Canopus, apparently balked by glare from the craft's antenna frame-thanks to a bit of black paint—passed a test its predecessor flunked.

Scientists said they were in no hurry to order a midcourse maneuver to correct its trajectory, and set back the time for the maneuver until later today.

Plans call for Orbiter 1, which with its solar energy panels extended looks like a giant four-leaf clover—to approach the moon Thursday to begin a month of picture-taking. It will orbit at 126 to 1,160 miles above the moon.

It is scheduled to take a look at the crater where Ranger 8 crashed in February 1966 and to yield information about the texture of the moon's soil.

South Windsor $700,000 Town Hall Issue Endorsed by Both Parties

Town voters will go to the polls tomorrow for state elections and a referendum question for the proposed new town hall. Local candidates include Henry S. Burke, Democrat, Joseph Paquette, Independent, and Paul Britt, Republican, all running for state senator from the third district.

Atty. Edward Kuehn, Democrat, is a candidate for re-election to the position of judge of probate. Kuehn has been endorsed by both major political parties.

The candidates presented their political views at a "Meet Your Candidates" night sponsored by the local unit of the League of Women Voters.

Paquette and Britt have criticized the "Bally" power structure and the political brawls of the Democratic party in the state.

Paquette, a registered Democrat, noted that he is running for the position of state senator on an Independent ticket since he "does not care to serve as a puppet of Joseph Paquette or any other political boss."

Britt has pledged to serve the voters on a "Meet Your Candidates" basis if elected to the State Senate. He also called for the re-election of G. Warren Westbrook as a representative from the 4th district.

Westbrook noted that during the four-year term of his service in the Legislature, the House of Representatives was controlled by the "Bally" power structure. He said that the Senate was Democratic.

"Therefore, neither party can really take the credit for legislation passed during this time since both houses must approve a bill before it is passed," he declared.

Lassman, Westbrook's opponent, noted that during the campaign a decided lack of issues has been evident. Lassman is in favor of legislation which would eliminate the present formula for state aid to education. He proposes a set amount of funds on a per-capita basis for each child in the school system, which would benefit that growing town like South Windsor.

Burke has voiced opposition to the idea of a state income tax and pledged to pursue legislation for clean water for the state.

He noted that the state has been one of the fastest growing in the nation under the leadership of Gov. Dempsey and said he has served in the State Legislature for some 10 years.

Cost $700,000

The referendum question on tomorrow's ballot is on the proposed new town hall, slated to cost $700,000.

Both political parties have issued statements calling for an affirmative vote on the question.

The town hall on Main St. was built in 1914 and is termed "inadequate" by town officials. The police department is leasing space on Rt. 5 because of a lack of facilities in town hall.

If approved, the new facility will be located near the Wapping Center, adjacent to the Wapping Community Church.

Of contemporary design, the building would provide offices for town agencies and a council meeting room. Facilities for the police department also will be included.

Polls will be open tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. District 1 voters will cast their ballots at the Pleasant Valley School on Ellington Road; district two voters will vote at the high school on Noyes Road.

Schools and the town hall will be closed for election day.

Democratic Workers

Miss Julia Nicholson, registrar's assistant; Mrs. Myrtle Odum, head moderator; Joseph Grizter, machine mechanic; Mrs. Sally Parcell, assistant to registrar; Mrs. Lillian Chapman, official checker; Mrs. Donna Loftus, official challenger; Mrs. Shirley Woodard, machine tender; Mrs. Lois Chamberland, machine watcher; Mrs. Rose

N.Y. Troopers Seen Informers For Minutemen

NEW YORK (AP) — For two years a state trooper quietly fed information about police and FBI activities to a regional leader of the militant right-wing Minutemen, says Queens District Atty. Nat. H. Hentel.

The prosecutor said the trooper, whom he declined to identify, forwarded the information to Milton Kellogg of Syracuse, N.Y., whom he believes to be the eastern regional director of the Minutemen.

A week ago, Kellogg surrendered to police on charges of illegal possession of hypodermic needles and syringes. He pleaded innocent and was released on $1,000 bond.

It was a week ago Sunday that Hentel organized raiding parties that picked up 19 other alleged Minutemen in the New York City area.

Some of the men were allegedly on their way to "blow up" three private camps they considered to be left wing. Hentel said Saturday that Minutemen had actually planted crude inflammable devices at one of the target camps, Camp Weatback in Wading Lake, Dutchess County.

He said state police found the devices hidden in the buildings the day after the arrests.

Tolland County School Aid, Experience Issues in 48th District

The election campaign for the 48th District including the issues of Tolland, Ellington, and Somers, finds two former opponents from Tolland, again facing each other in the contest for State Representative. Both candidates are residents of Tolland.

King served as a U.S. prosecutor in the war crimes trials in Nuremberg and after completion of the trials and appeals prepared the book "The Justice Case," on which the recent motion picture, "Judgement in Nuremberg" was based. He served as legal advisor with the U.S. State Department in Berlin and Stuttgart until 1952.

He is now a member of the State Interim committee to study the formation of an effective organization composed of officials and community leaders from every small town in the state, to provide a united effort to assist the small town legislators to "protect the rights and interests of small towns in an urban-oriented legislature."

Burkles maintains that a candidate from the majority party will have more influence among his own party than a minority member. He has a close contact with the people of the district, including the establishment of a schedule in which he would be available in each of the district towns for the convening of local residents.

He has advocated repeal of the one-cent increase in the state sales tax effective July 1, 1967, and the location of parking areas near the Connecticut Highway to encourage car pools to relieve congestion on the highway.

Burkles has also urged the improvement of Connecticut camping facilities, which he predicted would result in increased sales tax revenue for the state. Initial investments for improvement of the state are amortized quickly from the added revenue and camping fees, he said.

Both candidates have stressed the need for increased state aid to education for the small towns while recolonization will have to be fought for in urban legislation. They have urged the repeal of the 1965 law which increased property tax in the small towns which have little or no industry to absorb the cost of education.

Burkles however, has questioned the voting record of his opponent on an amendment to a bill which would have increased state aid for education to all children of the state. King has maintained the bill would have caused the state to lose $38,000 under the formula as presented, while Burkles claims the bill called for an increase of $4 per pupil grant in each category of grants on the sliding scale.

He also criticized King for voting against a weighted vote legislation which was proposed by the Democrats and would have retained the present number of legislators but under a weighted vote system of balloting.

Both candidates have expressed concern over the plight of the senior citizen. King has fixed income who is facing the increasing property tax cost, often forcing them to sell their homes.

Candidates' Background

King, the incumbent legislator from Tolland, is a member of the General Assembly Judiciary and governmental functions, insurance and federal and inter-governmental relations committees, reapportionment subcommittee and interim home racing and partitisan study committees.

A graduate of the University of Iowa and Yale Law School, King has served as an instructor at Purdue University, a mem-

Center Congregationalists Back MISAC Housing Plan

The membership of Center Congregational Church voted yesterday to join five other town churches in endorsing a moderate income housing plan for Manchester.

At a church meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Center Church, the 60 attending members passed the resolution unanimously, though a change was made in the original resolution to give the church an "out" in case unforeseen developments took place.

The resolution calls for a commitment on the part of the church to sponsor, and words were added to the effect that the church "reserves the right to terminate the resolution" until the Federal Housing Administration issues its commitment.

The resolution also calls for appointment of three members to serve as part of the corporation which would directly be

Chute Bad, Sky Diver, 11, Killed

MANASSAS, Va. (AP) — Dana Rutledge, 11, spent half his young life around skydivers. He knew what it was all about.

So skilled and trustworthy he was that for the last 200 of 1,000 jumps his father has made, he was allowed to pack the chute.

The father, Carl A. Rutledge, is a classifier at the U.S. Patent Office in nearby Washington and lives in Vienna, Va. He has been jumping for five years and is president of "The Targeteers," a skydiving club.

asked whether jumping might have had something to do with the boy's disappearance, Rutledge said "it may have." But he said Mark decided on his own he wanted to jump.

Rutledge was asked whether he and his wife ever would let any of their other three children jump.

"At a later date, if they wish," he said.

The chances of a fatality in skydiving "are one in a million," Rutledge said. But it can happen and Rutledge knew it. He plans to keep on jumping.

Exactly what happened to Dana's chute, he does not know. The boy — a 6th grader in school — jumped from a light plane at 3,200 feet. He was to pull the ripcord as soon as he cleared the plane. The main chute did not open.

The emergency chute opened but it did not blossom. It might have opened too late. Whatever happened, Rutledge said, Dana "did everything fine."

Dana packed the chute, his father said, but it was the chute that was at fault.

Wedding

Lockwood - Fill

Miss Gail Madeline Fill of East Hartford became the bride of William Edward Lockwood of Manchester Saturday, Oct. 22 at St. Christopher Church, East Hartford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fill of East Hartford. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Francis W. McCaughey of 37 Edmund St. and Lester W. Lockwood of Goshen.

The Rev. Henry J. Murphy performed the double ring ceremony and was celebrant at the nuptial Mass. Bouquets of white pompons were on the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of white lace. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was arranged from a crown, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Eileen Gesiak of East Hartford was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Karen Stecko of Hartford and Miss Gigi Bilodeau of East Hartford. They wore similarly styled full-length gowns fashioned with velvet bodices and chiffon skirts. The honor attendant wore two-toned green and the bridesmaids wore two-toned pink. They were matching crowns with face veils, and carried bouquets of pink mums.

Walter A. Lockwood of Manchester served as his brother's best man. Ushers were William Casparini of Glastonbury and Peter Moynihan of East Hartford.

Mrs. Fill wore a blue faller dress and coat, white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a plum and grape colored ribbon Anti jacket dress, matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception for 85 was held at Willie's Steak House. For a motor trip to Vermont, Mrs. Lockwood wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The couple are living at 885 Burnside Ave., East Hartford.

Mrs. Lockwood is a graduate of Pennay High School, East Hartford, and is employed at the Hartford Times. Mr. Lockwood is in the advanced training school at Pratt and Whitney, Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford, and is a member of the Army Reserve.

Think - And Vote
The privilege of voting, in a free election, in a free country, is not to be taken lightly.

Quantity of voting is not, if anybody is going to allow it to be taken lightly, as a matter of course, a matter of course, a matter of course.

The largest votes are consistently turned out by the authoritarian states, sometimes even without there being any context at the polls.

The highest objective of a political campaign should be its endeavor to persuade people to do some thinking for themselves and form some judgments for themselves.

Democracy can be most proud of itself, and most sure of its own future, when its elections are the polls primarily in their capacities as individuals, always reserving the right to place their individual judgments ahead of whatever natural and honorable economic, social and political ties and associations may also be part of their lives.

Democracy, inevitably, has to be a mixture of, and a compromise between, the specific good of the individual and the general, common good of the society as a whole.

Casting a truly democratic vote can sometimes be a pretty big thing.

Sometimes it does take some thought, some searching of the soul, to make sure one's vote is right.

Sometimes the vote is still a troubled one.

But if the effort to think and judge has been made, it is a better vote for it, whichever way it finally goes.

The polls will be open, tomorrow, from 6 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night.

The Cancelled Campaign Trip
Last Friday, in a news conference at the White House, the day after he had informed the nation of the two physical conditions which are shortly to require that he submit to surgery.

President Johnson irritated the nation's newspapers, radio and television correspondents with an unnecessary piece of petulant pretense.

Although the news of his own health problems was sufficient reason for him to cancel the last minute whirlwind campaign across the country the President had been scheduled to make, the President chose to take the approach that nothing had been cancelled because nothing had been scheduled.

The various candidates across the country whom the President had intended to try to help had already adjusted their own plans to the President's coming. The routes for his parades and appearances had already been selected.

But the President, in his news conference, Friday, chose to deny all this, and say it was all the creation of the imagination of reporters.

"I have not," he said, "cancelled any plans that I had agreed to."

This, in turn, is the same President who, back at the Friday news conference, had attacked - quite accurately we would say - Mr. Richard Nixon as a "chronic campaigner" because Mr. Nixon had dared describe the results of the Manila Conference as something less than historic. Our quarrel is not with what Mr. Nixon was called, but with the moral privilege of the President to be calling anybody else a "chronic campaigner" when the whole Manila Conference has seemed, to so many observers and evaluators, one of the most ornate political campaign gimmicks of all time.

We regret the President's problems of health. We know he will have the well wishes and the prayers of all his fellow citizens during the ordeals ahead of him, and we hope for his speedy return to his full duties in full restoration of all his physical well-being and his physical powers.

But it has to be said that it is a blessing upon the President, and upon the country, that he is not going to carry out that last minute political barnstorming which he had scheduled, and which had obviously been intended to parody the Manila Conference, the great American play upon the emotions of the American people, to get them to vote a certain way at the polls tomorrow.

The country is the cleaner and healthier for its good fortune in being able to miss this scheduled performance. If it could also have escaped Mr. Nixon's own wisdom on the issue, it would have been even more fortunate. The President has done enough in Vietnam without Mr. Nixon egging him on.

The Spinach Juice Factor
What the California scientists have finally accomplished in the creation of polyphenols outside the confines of a natural living cell must stand as one of the most important milestones of our fast-moving penetration of the basic mysteries of life.

They have taken the sunlight and they have taken certain materials and they have succeeded in having the sunlight produce, among those materials, the same chemical changes leading to growth which take place inside any living plant standing out in the sun.

The long range practical use for such a discovery might be that it would give man the power to control the content of growth in all kinds of vegetation not now edible.

Eventually, for instance, all kinds of exotic plants and leaves which now have neither flavor nor nutrition for man may be converted into the same delicious, and this just in time to help feed the population explosion.

This scientific conquest of the future.

For many of us, it will stand as an interesting and perhaps somewhat morbidly sidereal "the particular" ingredient which the scientists used in achieving their breakthrough toward greater palatableness for growth hitherto considered inedible was the juice of fresh-plucked spinach.

Another Package Bond Issue
Another omnibus bond issue may be in the works to finance upcoming city improvements. According to Mayor Shea, Meriden will "probably be forced" to go into omnibus financing because of its lack of a capital expenditures budget.

Items proposed for financing during the months ahead are: A parking garage on Church Street, a $1 million, a library site, cost probably around $2 million. A new, cost not cited but shouldn't be more than half a million. Improvements in the water and sewer systems, cost up to but not necessarily as high as $6 million. Site work on Parcel 8, cost comparatively minor.

The Mayor is right that the city should adopt a capital expenditures program, with appropriate plans for borrowing and repaying the money. A start was made in this department with the current budget, when the Council authorized a capital expenditures program of nearly half a million dollars for city equipment.

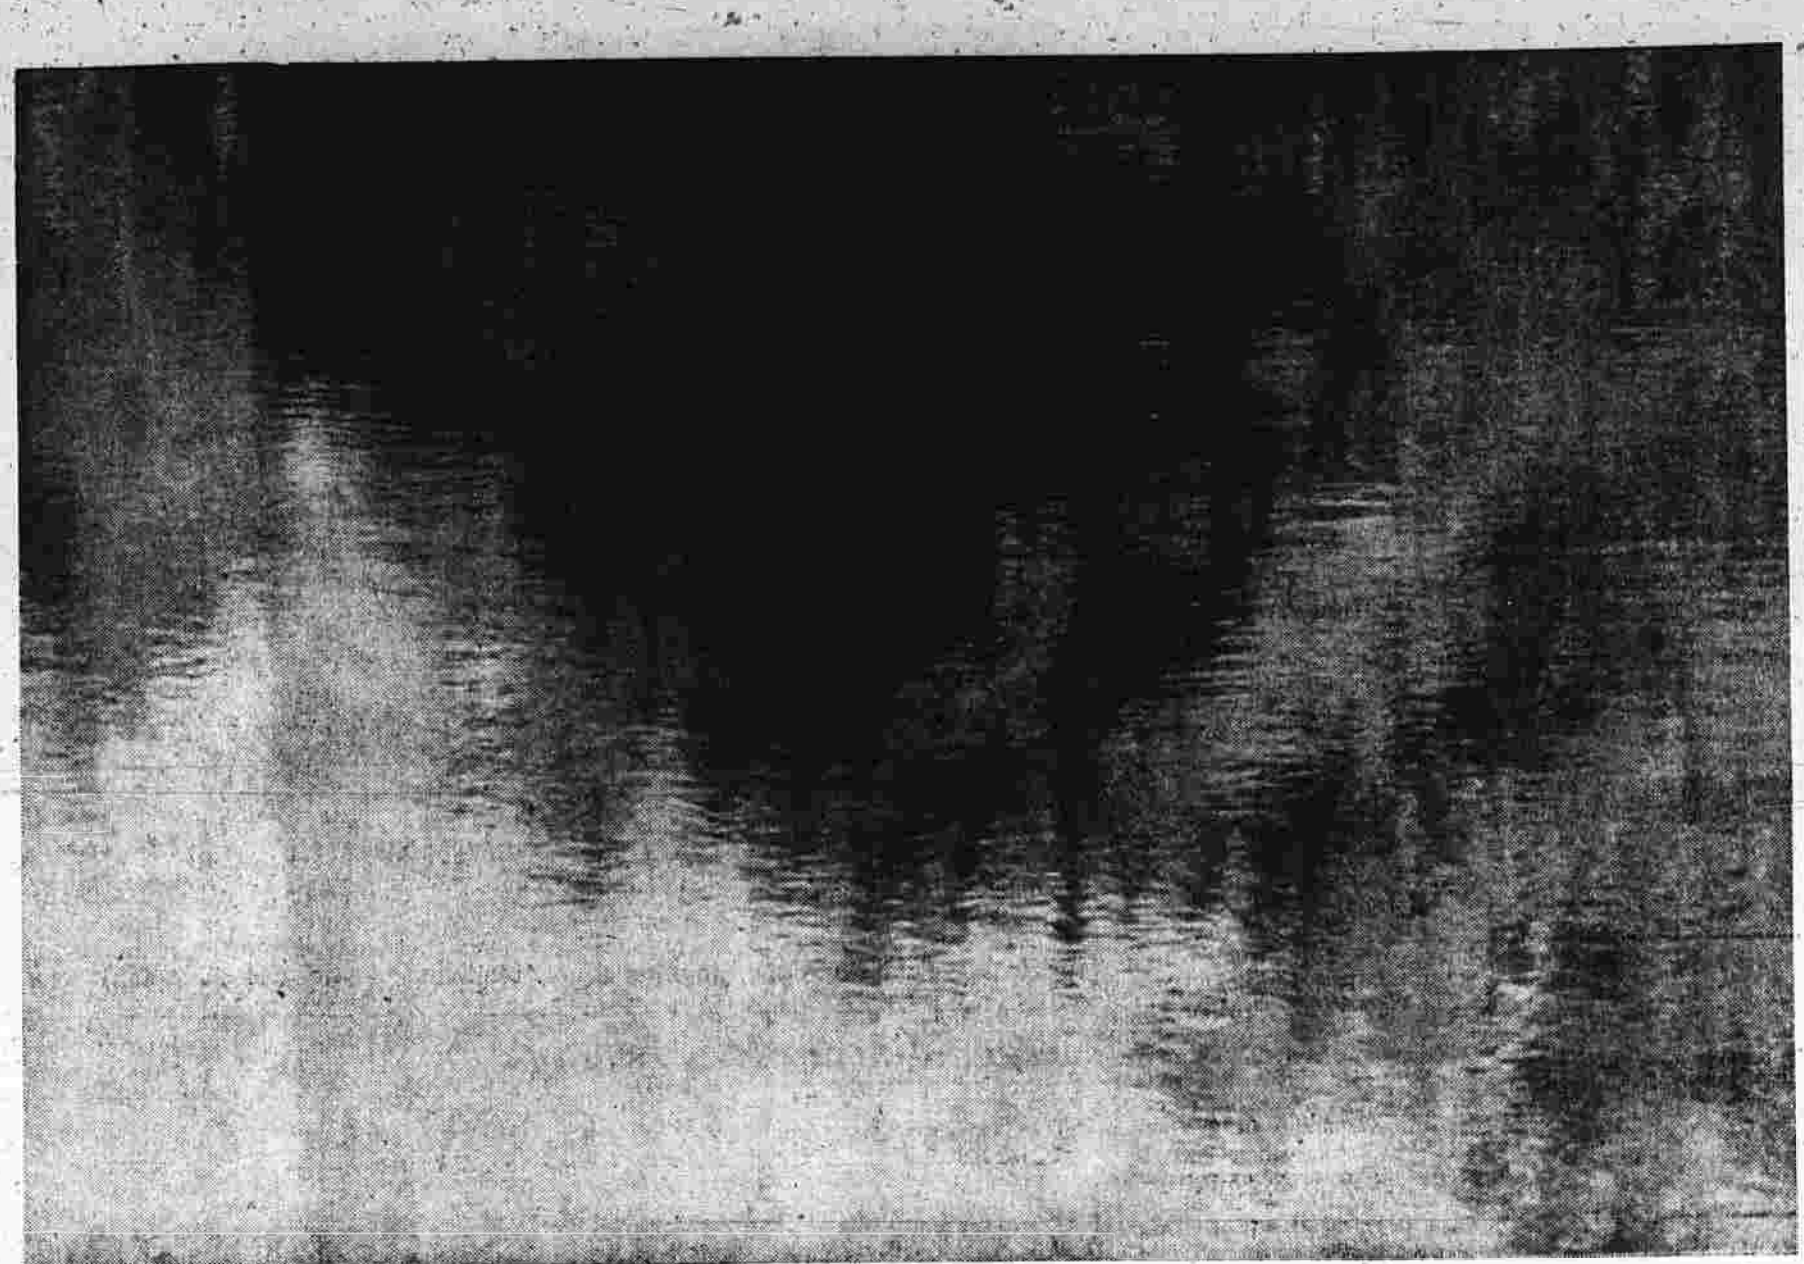

But there is no reason why, just because we don't have a capital expenditures plan, we should have to lump all improvements into an omnibus bond.

Of the projects mentioned, each one except perhaps the fire house and the Parcel 8 site work is capable of standing on its own feet and is better bonded for individually.

These projects will not be undertaken simultaneously. The garage, for instance, must be finished and in operation before a real start can be made on the library if the Butler Street site is chosen for the latter. Parcel 8 work must be done at once, but the sewer and water program is a long-term one which will stretch out for years.

Individual project bonding will enable officials to determine more accurately in each case how much the project will cost and how much federal and state aid is available at the time of building. It will allow offering of the bond at the time the money is needed, instead of calling for manipulation of short-term notes as has been the case with the last omnibus issue. It will prevent the accumulation of large sums of unused bonding money that are difficult to keep track of and a continual temptation to the political powers-that-be.

Meriden is not building an omnibus bond issue. Meriden is building a parking garage, a library, a trunk line sewer, and some other necessary improvements. Bonds should be floated for these projects as the need arises. -MERIDEN RECORD

Parcel 8 work must be done at once, but the sewer and water program is a long-term one which will stretch out for years.

Individual project bonding will enable officials to determine more accurately in each case how much the project will cost and how much federal and state aid is available at the time of building. It will allow offering of the bond at the time the money is needed, instead of calling for manipulation of short-term notes as has been the case with the last omnibus issue. It will prevent the accumulation of large sums of unused bonding money that are difficult to keep track of and a continual temptation to the political powers-that-be.

Meriden is not building an omnibus bond issue. Meriden is building a parking garage, a library, a trunk line sewer, and some other necessary improvements. Bonds should be floated for these projects as the need arises. -MERIDEN RECORD

The Ballot as It Appears on Machines

This is the way the voting machines will look when Manchester voters go to the polls tomorrow. The name "Paul B. Grobert" will appear in 10A, and the name "Robert Z. Stavnitsky" will appear in 10B. The names appearing there on the voting machine tomorrow will vary according to Assembly District. In Assembly District 18, the name "Steve Cavagnaro" will appear in block 10A; and the name "Vincent A. Genovesi" will appear in block 10B.

High Court Decides

New Trial Ordered For Ex-Baker Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court ordered today a new trial for Fred B. Black Jr., convicted of federal income tax evasion.

Black, a public relations man and longtime associate of Bobby Baker, former secretary to Sen. Democrats, had asked the high court to overturn the conviction because the Justice Department acknowledged FBI agents "bugged" his hotel suite here to eavesdrop on talks between Black and his lawyer.

The Supreme Court said in an unsigned opinion "It appears that justice requires that a new trial be held so as to afford the petitioner an opportunity to protect himself from the use of evidence that might be otherwise inadmissible."

Black won a new trial on a vote of five of the nine justices. Two, John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart, dissented. Two others, Byron R. White, a former deputy attorney general, and Abe Fortas took no part in today's action.

New Directors Board Takes Over Tonight

Manchester's new Board of Directors will be seated tonight at 7:30, with Probate Judge John J. Walllett administering the oaths of office and Judge Charles S. House, chief justice of the State Superior Court, delivering the principal address.

The program will include the invocation, by Rabbi Leon Wind of Temple Beth Shalom; a prayer, by the Rt. Rev. Magr. Edward T. Beardon of St. James Church; and the benediction, by the Rev. Dr. J. Manley Shaw of South Methodist Church.

It's first order of business will be the election of officers; Nathan Agostinelli as chairman, Harold A. Turkington, acting chairman and deputy mayor, and John Garande, secretary.

The three men, in that order, were the top vote-getters in the town elections.

At 8, following the ceremonies, the board will conduct a regular meeting, when it will hold a public hearing on a $32,000 washout item to the Sewer Fund; will consider a $5,000 additional appropriation to the General Fund, for additional costs of preliminary plans for the proposed Globe Hollow School; and will fill vacancies on 22 town boards and agencies.

The appointments were announced by the board.

The board will also consider a $5,000 additional appropriation to the General Fund, for additional costs of preliminary plans for the proposed Globe Hollow School; and will fill vacancies on 22 town boards and agencies.

Great Society's Future May Depend on New House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future of President Johnson's "Great Society" could be largely determined Tuesday when voters select a new House of Representatives.

Although Democrats appear certain to retain control of the House, it seems equally certain the big majority that enabled Johnson to launch his far-reaching domestic program will be reduced.

On election eve, Democratic and Republican strategists, in separate assessments of House races, are in near agreement that Republicans stand to gain between 25 and 30 seats.

Johnson's refusal Sunday to predict election results, but passed along the assessment of support for GOP candidates.

But there is an uneasiness among some Democrats and a bubbling hope in Republican ranks that the GOP pickup could be greater.

The big worry for Democrats is that in an off-year election, a lot of voters will stay home because no big issue is agitating them.

At his news conference Friday, Johnson said, "There could be a change of 40 or 50, as there has been on an average since 1950, and not adversely affect the government program."

On a dozen votes in the 86th Congress, key administration bills were passed or saved from annihilation by fewer than 50 votes. A switch of 25 votes would have been fatal.

The charge had been made Saturday by Manchester's three Democratic candidates for the State Assembly.

Stavinsky, in the following statement, declares that "it is government over the people, be it regional or otherwise, that the people object to, that I object to."

"I put my hand under a heap of clothing and felt something warm," one official reported. Out came Barbara Gryn, 22, Polish blonde. She tearfully pleaded to be allowed to stay in Britain.

After questioning at the Dover police station, Gray, it, was allowed to go. The girl was put on a ferry back to France since she had no visa. An Immigration officer said he understood she was returning to Poland, and the home office said no question of political asylum had been involved.

Gray reportedly runs a laundry in the Midlands. His birthplace in California was not once and for all they want to close this issue as being against it. They go even further to try and make the Manchester voter believe the nonsense that the Statute and Constitution of Connecticut forbid it, further that we are guaranteed that regionalism can not be accomplished.

"Our two Manchester Representatives, Cavagnaro and Grothman served in the 1963 legislature and did in fact pass enabling statutes for regional government and our new Constitution provides for it. It is not a matter of interpretation, or of twisting but rather a matter of fact. We all I am sure agree that cooperation to solve a problem is many times the best answer. This by no stretch of one's imagination is regionalism, but the Democrats would have you believe that regionalism has existed for some time in certain areas. Cooperation by groups, be towns, cities, states or even countries, to provide a better method is not regional government, even in a liberal interpretation. It is government over the people, be it regional or otherwise, that the people object to, that I object to. It is times that government be for the people, that its elected officials listen to the people, this is the way our Country and our State began, it is time that we return that power to its proper perspective."

Stavinsky Denies Charge GOP Creating 'False Fear'

Robert Stavinsky, GOP candidate for state representative in Manchester's 19th Assembly District, today denied a charge that local Republican candidates have created a false sense and false fear of regionalism.

The charge had been made Saturday by Manchester's three Democratic candidates for the State Assembly.

Stavinsky, in the following statement, declares that "it is government over the people, be it regional or otherwise, that the people object to, that I object to."

Tolland County

Three Candidates in Race In 35th Senate District

The names of three candidates will appear on the voting machines for the office of state senator from the 35th district (Tolland County). Candidates for the office are Republican Andrew Repko, Democrat Charles Tarpinian, and Independent Wendell Odell. Tarpinian retained his party's endorsement after defeating an opponent, Atty. Edwin Lavitt, in the first district-wide primary in Tolland County since the adoption of the state primary law in 1965.

Repko who stated the present pollution problems should be corrected first and warned on the danger of using up all available funds to correct the situation. Both candidates have come out in favor of the location of a regional technical school for the county, increased state aid to education, relief of the property tax burden on residents of small towns, primarily for retired citizens living on a fixed income. Tarpinian has spoken in favor of expansion of present mental health centers in the County to enable them to provide treatment on a day care basis.

Waterbury Paper Backs Gengras. WATERTURY (AP) — The Waterbury Republican has endorsed Republican Clayton Gengras for governor, lamenting Gov. John Dempsey's choice of a running mate.

The independent candidate, Wendell Odell, has mounted a campaign based on "economy in government as a means to hold taxes to their present levels or lower." He has expressed his disapproval of agencies such as the Capitol Region Planning Agency because they induce "creeping regionalization by reducing the rights of the individual." He is a strong advocate of the rights of individuals in towns, which he feels are being usurped.

Senatorial Candidates' Background. Repko has served as state representative from Willington twelve years, has served as house chairman of the personnel committee since 1961 and as a member of the rules committee, the public utilities and the interim rules committees. Also as a member of the Republican policy-making committee. He worked closely with the education committee and received the Silver Apple award of the Connecticut State Teachers Association and other Advertisements.

Weekend Accidents

Highway Crash Kills Two; Youth, 17, Electrocuted

Two persons died in a head-on collision with a truck and a Westport youth was killed by an electric shock in accidents on railroad equipment near the Gretna Farms station Sunday, state police said. State police efforts to revive the youth were unsuccessful. Killed on Interstate Route 84 in Union Saturday were Miss Carol A. Gavron, 21, of Palmerston, N.J., and Orla Sada, 26, of Cambridge, Mass. They were riding in a compact car that crossed the median divider and hit an oncoming tractor-trailer and another about 535 in reverse, police said. State police identified the driver of the death car as Zeller A. Januruk, 24, also of Cambridge. Januruk was reported in critical condition at Hartford Hospital. It took two hours to free Miss Gavron's body from the crumpled wreckage of the overturned car. The driver of the other car, Simeon Stear, 48, of Miami Beach, Fla., and the tractor driver, Clarence Smith, 44, of Worcester, Mass., were also hospitalized.

DEMOCRATS: When you go into the voting booth tomorrow, think FIRST of Prices That Are Rising, Interest Rates That Are Rising, Mortgage Money That's Hard To Get, Confused Leadership Over Viet Nam and LAST of partisan politics! AND, Vote JOHN BONEE for a strong independent voice in CONGRESS!

GLASTONBURY VOTERS... Your best bet tomorrow is a vote for JEAN T. THORNTON FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE. ENDORSED BY THE GLASTONBURY CITIZEN AS FOLLOWS: JEAN T. THORNTON. The contest for the State House of Representatives certainly does not place local Democrats in a good light as far as the Citizen is concerned. We are appalled and disgusted at the tactics used by the Democratic candidate in his bid for the House seat. We never thought that Glastonbury would see ward politicking. The type of campaigning done by the Democratic candidate will certainly be rejected by the voters in Glastonbury including many Democrats. It is evident that the Democratic candidate isn't familiar with the Town of Glastonbury for if he had been his campaign would have been handled in a different manner. It is unfortunate that he didn't take a lesson from the Democratic candidate for the State Senate who conducted a dignified and high level campaign. On the other hand we compliment the Republican candidate for this office, Jean Thornton, who conducted a campaign deserving the respect of the Glastonbury voters. Mrs. Thornton has served her town well in the House of Representatives and her knowledge of the problems and issues which confront the town is more extensive than her opponents and all the Goldwater labels hurled at Mrs. Thornton does not offset the fact that she knows her town of Glastonbury and its problems better than her opponent. Her first interest is the Town of Glastonbury and not Jean Thornton. We are not impressed with the Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives and believe the Democratic leadership could have made a better selection. We have the greatest respect for Mrs. Thornton and hope the voters will send her back to the legislature with a landslide vote over her opponent.

A Thank You From Wilber Little Dear Voters of the 20th Assembly District, (West Side Rec and Verplanck School) We have come to the end of a political campaign. This is the first time that a section of Manchester called the 20th General Assembly District is to have a representative of its own in the legislature. The fact that if elected I will represent the 20th District gives me a feeling of closeness to the people of my district and I'm sure that the dividing of Manchester into three assembly districts also gives my colleagues, Vincent Genovesi and Bob Stawinski, a feeling of closeness to the people of their districts. One really never gets to know his neighbors until he runs for public office. That is why I want you to know, that regardless of your decision tomorrow, I shall always value the opportunity I and my volunteer workers have had to meet you during the past month. You have been wonderful. The neighborliness you have shown to me and my workers, the friendliness you have expressed and the words of encouragement you have given me have made this campaign an experience I shall never forget. So as the campaign closes, I would like to take the opportunity to thank you for all you have done to welcome me. I hope that I will be worthy of your vote and confidence. Sincerely, Wilber Little Sponsored by Wilber Little...

Kennedys' Cook Recalls 'Most Wonderful Summer'

DETROIT (AP) — She was only a cook, recalls pretty Miss Connors, but that didn't matter: She was cooking for the Kennedys at Hyannis Port.

"It was the most wonderful, most exciting summer ever," she tells her classmates and instructors at Margrove College.

"When I met Jackie, my hands were in dishwater," Miss Connors, 21, said in an interview. "Everything you ever read about her turns true."

The widow of President John F. Kennedy spends much time with the children, Miss Connors said.

"Caroline and John are unspoiled and unaffected," she said. "The children's days are planned for them, every minute is filled. They have lessons in swimming, riding, tennis, surfing, boating and water skiing."

"Prompts at six every evening they go to see their grandfathers. This is a regular ritual."

Another ritual, Miss Connors said, is that when seeing each other after an absence, "the first thing a Kennedy does is shake hands."

"When I met little Ted Jr. (son of Sen. and Mrs. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy), my hands were in strawberries. He got a very sticky shake."

'Things Must Get Better' Viet Nam Amputee Fights Second War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Staff Sgt. Wayne A. Marge, 23, amputee from Viet Nam, looked at it this way.

"If you want to, you can lie around and feel sorry for yourself. But then you don't get up off your back. You've got to accept it for what it is."

"The way I look at it, things will always get better — eventually. It may take a little time. This is what kills me — time."

"There were two things I was going to insist on when I came here," he said. "I was going to stay in the Army, and they were going to take care of me."

"Well, I got to keep the rest of my foot. And I'm hoping for the other."

Marge figures that maybe it was a pretty good idea for a story and pictures about the rehabilitation of Viet Nam wounded at Walter Reed.

"People read about guys getting wounded and all that, and maybe they don't realize we come back and get fixed up," he said.

Marge went to Viet Nam in December, 1965, and was a squad leader with the 1st Infantry at Phuoc Vinh north of Saigon.

"I didn't remember exact dates and times for other events in my life, but he did that one. It was last March 11, about 15 1/2 minutes after 4 I think," he said. "I was out booty-trapping an area and had just called in."

Another inmate suffered a sprained ankle. A third man involved remained inside the cell. Although he was out of his cell, Sheriff Bob Turner said Harold, Frederick, Okla., and Eugene R. Shiebert, 18, both of Oklahoma City, cut through the bars of their cell with a hacksaw blade.

They broke through a window on the eighth floor of the courthouse and started for the ground on a rope fashioned from bed sheets.

South School would then supplement the new building and at the same time be within walking distance for the young children in the neighborhood.

The new school has been designed by the architect to be the "add-on" type. In other words, "core" facilities such as the administrative and health suites, library, auditorium and cafeteria are planned to be centrally located so that a future west classroom wing could be added economically when needed.

School officials and South School PTA supporters say the present building is badly overcrowded, cannot be expanded and that both pupils and teachers are subjected to sub-standard learning conditions.

Some persons, who oppose the school, have either directly or obliquely brought into their arguments the Hartford busing issue, under which the Board of Education last spring decided to participate in an urban-suburban integration experiment by educating 62 predominantly Negro Hartford pupils in Manchester schools during the next two years.

Various opponents of busing have reasoned that if Manchester can afford to accept out-of-town pupils without raising the pupil-teacher ratio, it therefore must not be in very dire need of a new school.

The fact is that none of the pupils bused from Hartford attend South School. They go to Nathan Hale, Highland Park, Buckley, Green, Bentley and Wadell. There, they have been accepted only in classes where their presence does not increase the number of pupils beyond 25 per teacher — the limit recommended as desirable by the Board of Education.

South School is badly over-crowded. Right now, 154 pupils are being educated in a building designed to accommodate to eight.

Prisoner Dies In Fall During Escape Attempt

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — An Oklahoma county jail prisoner, Steve Lloyd Harold, 22, was killed Sunday when he fell five stories after a makeshift rope broke during an attempted escape.

Another inmate suffered a sprained ankle. A third man involved remained inside the cell. Although he was out of his cell, Sheriff Bob Turner said Harold, Frederick, Okla., and Eugene R. Shiebert, 18, both of Oklahoma City, cut through the bars of their cell with a hacksaw blade.

South School Issue In Hands of Voters

Manchester voters tomorrow will be asked to approve a $775,000 bond issue for the construction of a new Globe Hollow elementary school to serve the South School District. The school, if approved, would be placed on a 12-acre tract of town-owned land in the Globe Hollow watershed off Dartmouth Rd., which would be extended to Furr St.

Plans for the building call for a unit of 10 regular and two "special-purpose" classrooms, a cafeteria, auditorium-gymnasium, administrative and health suites and other components consistent with facilities in other newer town schools like Highland Park, Robertson and Kenney.

These were renovated and added to during 1964-65.

A new plant in the district is necessary, school and town officials have agreed, to solve problems caused by current and projected population growth.

Students of the district already number many more than the five-room South School can handle.

Town Planner Joseph Tanky and Superintendent of Schools William H. Curtis have said the population in the southern quadrant of town is increasing rapidly and that the increase can be expected to continue because the area contains large amounts of undeveloped land available for new home construction.

They say the rate of new building should accelerate when the Rt. 6 bypass — now in its final acquisition phase — is completed.

Curtis, in fact, identified the need for additional facilities in the district as long ago as 1962.

In January 1965, he submitted a comprehensive study of school needs to the Board of Education. In it, he stated, "The construction of a new elementary school in the Gardner-Spring St. area is the number one critical situation in our need for additional elementary school facilities in the community."

The Board of Education gave Curtis the go-ahead in May 1965 to start planning a new school in the area.

Subsequently, the board got town approval of a site; Mankey Associates of Manchester prepared preliminary plans and specifications received the unanimous approval of all town agencies involved, including both political parties of the Board of Directors; and the directors agreed to put the school bond issue to a vote at the Nov. 8 crowded. Right now, 154 pupils are being educated in a building designed to accommodate to eight.

Top Race Holds Key For Town Hopefuls

About 18,500 of Manchester's voters, a little over 80 per cent of the 22,500 who are eligible to vote, are expected to cast ballots in tomorrow's state election.

The campaign, which started at the end of June, when un-known GOP gubernatorial candidate E. Clayton Grogan began touring the state to introduce himself to the voters, was for months, an uneventful series of statements by both parties. In the last few weeks, however, it has turned into a rough and tumble campaign of personality charges and counter charges.

The Republicans, who had been running on the issue of "We can do it better," are now saying, "Throw the rascals out."

The Democrats, led by Gov. John Dempsey, have run on the issue of "We have been good for the State of Connecticut."

They have been defending their office seekers and appointed officials as capable and good men.

Tomorrow's vote in Manchester for Dempsey and Grogan will have a marked effect on local candidates running for state seats.

In 1962, Gov. Dempsey drew 9,115 votes in Manchester to 9,087 for his Republican opponent, John Altop.

Many local forecasters predict that the 28-vote lead in 1962 in Manchester will increase to as many as 3,000 or more tomorrow.

They base their prediction on the Manchester High School poll taken last week, which gave Dempsey 60 per cent of 1120 votes cast. The count was 670 for Dempsey and 449 for Grogan. The high school poll has proved accurate in the past.

An East Catholic High School poll showed even a greater margin for Dempsey, 627 for the governor and 133 for Grogan.

Tomorrow, for the first time in the state's history, the offices of governor and lieutenant governor will be elected as a package deal.

Also to be elected are a secretary of state, a state treasurer, state comptroller and state attorney general, plus a Hartford County sheriff.

Among local candidates are those for the offices of Judge of Probate with Republican John J. Wallitt endorsed by both parties; a Democratic and Republican for the Republican post elected automatically, and seven justices of the peace, all elected automatically. The Democrats and Republicans are given the advantage in the gubernatorial race because the incumbent governor is a Democrat.

In addition, Manchester voters will cast ballots for a U. S. representative from the First District, a state legislator from the fourth district; Atty. Arnold Klau, District 6; and Joseph E. Lee, District 6 state representatives from three new local Assembly Districts.

U. S. Cong. Emilio G. Daddario, a Democrat, running for the fifth consecutive term is opposed by Republican John L. Boone and People's Choice Party candidate Donald B. Le-wadell. All are from Hartford, key to tomorrow's results.

Rotary Sponsors Antique Market

Miller Haugh, chairman of the ways and means committee of the club, has announced that the Armory has been sold out and that exhibitors will have space at the show, William R. Road, Rotary president and Haugh are co-chairmen of a coordination committee of the market.

Other chairmen of the event are Kenneth Ostrinsky, correspondence; Herbert W. Swanson, advertising and publicity; George T. King, arrangements; Frank J. Miller, finances; John B. Barnini, operations; Clarence G. Brown, setting up booths; Arthur G. Holmes, refreshments; and James S. Sheldon, door. All Manchester Rotary Club members are serving on one or more committees.

Californian Teen Queen

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sandy Roberts, 17, a Tulsa dancer with a hankering to become an electrical engineer, was chosen Miss Teenage America for 1967 in Dallas, Tex., Saturday night.

The Milpitas, Calif., brunette, an honor student, mailed in her application as a candidate at large "the very last day, just to see if I could do it."

She entranced the audience with a hula, which she learned while her father, Robert N. Roberts, was in military service in Hawaii.

With her $10,000 scholarship, Sandy will study engineering at Stanford University.

Donna Estlin, 17, of Philadelphia, won the $4,000 scholarship as first alternate.

Carol Camerun, 16, Syracuse, N.Y., was second alternate and Susan Flankinson, 16, Knoxville, Tenn., was third alternate and $1,000 scholarship winner.

Symphony Plays For Town Pupils

The Hartford Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Arthur Rogstad, music director, will play four concerts for 6,000 students of Manchester in Grades 4-10, tomorrow and Wednesday in Bailey Auditorium at Manchester High School.

The concert will open with the "Star Spangled Banner," followed by selections from the "Water Music Suite" by Handel, the first movement of "Symphony No. 94 by Haydn and selections from the "Comedians" by Kabalevsky.

Cyrus Stevens, a junior at Manchester High, will then play the first movement of the violin concerto, "Symphony Espagnole" by Edward Lalo. The orchestra will finish with the "Hoodlum from Rodeo" by Copland, "Night on Bald Mountain" by Moussorgsky and the march "Stars and Stripes," by Sousa.

Heavy Casualties Inflicted VC Force Eludes U.S., Fades Away in Jungle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A large Viet Cong force eluded pursuing U.S. infantrymen today, slipping away through the dense jungle of the Nin Province near the Cambodian border after inflicting heavy casualties on some U.S. units over the weekend in one of the fiercest fights of the war.

About 200 South Vietnamese militia, aided by accurate artillery support, beat off an unusual daylight attack by 400 to 600 Communist on a government post 12 miles southeast of Quang Ngai, on the central coast.

South Vietnamese pilot was rescued Sunday after Communist gunners knocked down his F100 Super Sabre jet flying support for ground troops near Tay Ninh City.

Seven men aboard a U.S. Army helicopter were killed and four others injured Sunday when the craft lost power taking off from the Tay Ninh area and crashed into a hillside, returning from a mission.

South Vietnamese civilian irregulars and other government units also were hard hit by Viet Cong attacks during the Tay Ninh fight. One unit west of the American positions apparently was overrun.

The American infantrymen swept through a complex of enemy bunkers in dense jungle today. The bunkers had been stoutly defended until air strikes and artillery apparently forced a retreat. The spokesman said some 50 miles northwest of Saigon the Communists had launched human wave assaults against the attacking American forces.

Military analysts in Saigon said the stiff enemy resistance apparently developed because the Communists had the U.S. probes were getting too close to the guerrillas "central office for South Viet Nam," thought to be somewhere near the Cambodian border.

50 Million Votes Expected Tomorrow

GOVERNORSHIPS

California: Gov. Edmund G. Brown agreed Sunday he is treating in public opinion polls in the race against his Republican challenger, Ronald Reagan. But Brown said "they told Harry Truman that back in '48. I will not do that." He said the backlist in the state is a "subtle appeal to the white backlist."

This, I Believe

IN THE PAST FEW MONTHS WE HAVE RELEASED MANY PREPARED STATEMENTS, HAVE MADE MANY SPEECHES, AND HAVE PARTICIPATED IN MANY DEBATES...

State Technical Aid as well as State Funds...

A GREAT DEAL OF TIME AND MONEY COULD BE SAVED THROUGH STATE SPONSORED CONSULTANT HELP AND SERVICES FOR MAJOR, COMMON TOWN PROBLEMS...

Preservation of Connecticut's Natural Assets...

THE FIGHT AGAINST POLLUTION OF OUR RIVERS, STREAMS AND LAKES IS OF PRIME IMPORTANCE, I WOULD SUPPORT ANY LEGISLATION WHICH WOULD HASTEN THE PURIFICATION OF OUR WATER AREAS...

Improvement of State Facilities...

OUR HIGHWAY SYSTEM AT THE PRESENT TIME SEEMS TO BE FULL OF TRAPS AND PROBLEMS. THE SIMPLE TASK OF DRIVING FROM MANCHESTER TO HARTFORD AND RETURN HAS BECOME AN ADVENTURE OF DANGEROUS PROPORTIONS...

Increased Educational Facilities...

THE TIME IS RAPIDLY APPROACHING WHEN BOYS AND GIRLS WHO WISH A COLLEGE EDUCATION WILL NOT BE ABLE TO FIND AVAILABLE COLLEGE FACILITIES, REGARDLESS OF THEIR ABILITY TO PAY FOR THEIR EDUCATION...

Efficiency in Government...

THE STATE GOVERNMENT IS A MASS OF OVERLAPPING BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS. WE NEED A COMPLETE RE-VAMP OF OUR PRESENT SETUP TO PROVIDE BETTER GOVERNMENT FOR LESS MONEY...
