Denver Baby Back in Mother's Arms

Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon smiled happily yesterday with the safe return of their infant son, taken from Colorado General Hospital early Saturday morning when he was but one day old. After a 41-hour search, FBI agents arrested Mrs. Susan Douglas of Denver who, police said admitted taking the baby. FBI agents said Mrs. Douglas apparently had a miscarriage recently and "decided to go to the hospital and get a baby.'

provided protection for the lowly, slow moving turtle, in modern language, we might even call it a form of social security. God gave the turtle a shell for his house, a protection against elements and enemies. The turtle has only to put his neck out to eat, Far, far more important though is the thought that even the turtle MUST stick his neck out to go forward.

God made the eagle, too. The eagle roams and soars through spacious skies. Without being told, the eagle instinctively builds a home on high mountain peaks. Miles mean nothing when with strong, undaunted courage the eagle flies through and fights storms, snow and wind when winging for food.

The turtle has its place and purpose. But, isn't it significant and shouldn't we be proud that the eagle, not the turtle, is the emblem of America? Connecticut GOP There were those who thought that after the election of 1964 the only way the Connecticut Republican party had to go was up. These people were shocked on Wednesday morning. Of course the new Supreme Court dictated districting assured a Democratic majority in both houses of the General Assembly but no one expected that the majorities would be more than two to one. Add to this the debacle of the statewide ticket and the GOP is left without any power base around which to build. That this situation should exist while there is a Republican resurgence

The shattered organization is due to the inability of political leaders to unite the party after 1964. The Conservatives were thought to be discredited. They were not considered. Political leaders of more moderate persuasion were apparently to be blamed for party defeats. This not only removed from party conferences the balance which Conservative dissent might have given but also the experience necessary to keep a political machine running smoothly. Under these circumstances, it is natural that the candidates should in the course of their campaigning lose contact with the goals and aspirations of the that a man running for statewide office will follow a course which is contrary to his ideals. There should be nothing in his ideals, however, which prevents him from, at least, listening to those who while differing from him on some issues, sincerely desire his election. Candidates and their publicity men become separated from the people if they do not listen. When this situation develops defeat is certain.

The GOP leadership which suffered disaster last Tuesday had read out of the party not only the Conservatives but the "old Republicans." Its candidates then allowed themselves to become separated from the people. The question is whether the present leadership can profit from its mistakes Can it really unite the party? Can it attract candidates with an empathy with the people? Can it, in this "land of steady habits," get back on a winning track? The time to consider these questions is now. There is no time to lick wounds or develop alibies.
