U.S. Blocks Red China From UN Membership

Backs Plan For Survey Of Problem

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States today rejected once more the seating of Red China in the United Nations but announced it would support a plan offered by Italy and five other countries for a full high-level study of the China problem.

In a policy speech before the U.N. General Assembly, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg repeated the traditional U.S. opposition to the admission of the Peking government and declared the United States could not accept any move to expel Nationalist China.

"There is no conceivable justification for the expulsion of the Republic of China," he told the 121-nation assembly. "The Republic of China is a founding member of this organization and its role has been outstanding."

Goldberg stressed that the problem of deciding Chinese representation in the United Nations was an "important question" and as such must be resolved by a two-thirds majority. The United States is among the sponsors of a resolution reaffirming previous decisions of the assembly on this two-thirds rule.

On the proposed study of the China question, Goldberg quickly indicated U.S. support. But this plan would not sidetrack the vote on the seating of Peking at this session. It would be considered only after the vote on a resolution sponsored by Albania, Cambodia and nine non-aligned nations to expel Nationalist China and seat Communist China.

"Whatever your stand on Peking," Goldberg said, "if you are unwilling to see the Republic of China expelled you have no alternative but to vote against the Albanian resolution."

Goldberg spoke shortly after Italy and its five co-sponsors (See Page Eight)

Romney, Rockefeller Meet To Discuss Party Strength

DORADO, P.R. (AP) — Rockefeller has said Republicans should reach a "consensus" on policy before deciding on a candidate. When he arrived Sunday, Romney immediately shied away from use of the term "consensus," a word employed by President Johnson to describe his political aims.

Before the meeting, the two governors differed on strategy for 1968. Romney is considered a leading candidate for the GOP's presidential nomination in 1968.

Johnson outdistanced other potential Republican presidential contenders and Harris concluded: Romney "stands a better chance of winning the White House than any Republican since Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Town Woman Killed On Way to Church

Miss Mary Muldoon, 71, of 741 E. Middle Tpke. was struck and killed by a car Saturday night as she was walking across E. Middle Tpke. to go to St. Bartholomew's Church.

The Rev. Philip Hussey, pastor of St. Bartholomew's, administered last rites at the scene. Miss Muldoon had been employed as a housekeeper at the church's rectory at 741 E. Middle Tpke. for the past six years.

Dr. Robert R. Keeney, medical examiner, said today she died of multiple injuries. He said she was pronounced dead at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Charged with negligent homicide is Melvin Schechter, 27, of Denver, Colo., a University of Connecticut student. He is listed also as living in Chapel. Schechter was released on $250 bond pending appearance in Manchester Circuit Court 12 Dec. 6.

Police said he was driving west on the turnpike when the mishap occurred at 7:52. Miss Muldoon was crossing the street from north to south. Miss Muldoon was born July 27, 1895 in New York City. She lived in Manchester six years. (See Page Thirty-One)

Turkey Prices Slightly Higher

HARTFORD (AP) — Thanksgiving turkeys are running only one to two cents a pound higher than last year, Robert Goldman, marketing division chief in the State Agriculture Department, said today. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has calculated that a turkey dinner with the trimmings will cost only 14 cents more than it did a year ago for a family of four. It said the total cost for four persons this year is $3.22. This is for one meal that includes turkey, sweet potatoes, peas, cranberry sauce, celery and olives, a salad, rolls, pumpkin pie and a beverage. Goldman said turkeys in Connecticut are retailing for 39 to 43 cents a pound. The smaller turkey, the higher the price per pound. "Retailers are absorbing the increase in the cost of turkeys," he said, "planning to get their return on the accessory foods."

Performers' Unions, Networks in Accord

NEW YORK (AP)—Two performers unions and four broadcasting networks reached a tentative contract agreement Sunday night, averting a strike threatened for midnight.

Negotiating sessions went on throughout the day and, at 9:15 p.m., federal mediator Abraham A. Dessler announced a settlement.

The announcement indicated that the 17,000 members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and the 24,000 members of the Screen Actors Guild would remain on the job pending membership votes.

There was no immediate comment from the two unions or the networks involved: the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Co. and the Mutual Radio Network.

Terms of the settlement were not made public.

Dessler said, "the parties have resolved the major issues between them" and will submit the agreements to membership approval. Accordingly, all performers in APTRA jurisdiction will continue at their usual work and accept engagement calls.

"Meanwhile," the mediator continued, "local contract negotiations in New York, Chicago, Washington and Los Angeles will continue to their conclusion. All the contracts will be retroactive to Nov. 14, 1966."

The old contracts between APTRA and the networks expired at midnight last Tuesday. Talks were broken off early Wednesday but resumed Friday.

The Guild also had been negotiating with networks and advertising agencies for performers appearing in filmed television commercials.

Dessler stepped into the dispute last Thursday to prevent a walkout, which would have taken most live shows off the air except where supervisors could take over the roles of performers and newsmen.

Powell Absent, Church Is Full

NEW YORK (AP)—A capacity congregation filled Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's Harlem church Sunday, but his pastor failed to show up.

Powell, D-N.Y., had promised a week earlier when he was in the pulpit of his Abyssinian Baptist church that he would return Sunday for the Lord's Supper and the judges not preventing.

But last Thursday in State Supreme Court he was ordered jailed for 30 days starting Wednesday for criminal contempt, as it was believed the congressman could be arrested if he returned to New York State.

The court order grew out of his failure to pay $164,000 in damages to a 68-year-old Harlem widow in a libel suit.

Powell has moved to prohibit the State Supreme Court from punishing him, and the Appellate Division is to consider his application Tuesday.

His whereabouts were uncertain.

Cave Explorer Rescued After Paralyzing Fall

CASLETON, England (AP)—A 19-year-old cave explorer was brought to the surface today more than 20 hours after being injured in one of Britain's deepest caves.

A fellow explorer, Brian Howarth, 30, scrambled to the surface for help when they found Carson was paralyzed on one side of his body.

Fifty members of the Derbyshire Cave Rescue Organization and the Derbyshire Caving Club rushed to the spot from surrounding towns. They were joined by a nurse, Margaret Aldridge. In rubber diving suits and helmets, she and her husband went down with the rescue team.

Carson was strapped to a stretcher and moved inch by inch toward the surface.

John Flowers, chief controller of the Derbyshire Cave Rescue Organization, said, "It was one of our most difficult rescues because we had to get the youth through a series of narrow tunnels in some places no more than a foot wide."

Coke, Ford Banned

KUWAIT (AP)—In an action that could significantly reduce Arab-U.S. trade, the Arab Boycott Bureau has voted to ban the American Coca-Cola and Ford companies from 18 Arab states and sheikhdoms.

The bureau said at its 24th regional conference Sunday it had received "unconvincing replies" from the two companies about their plans to open factories in Israel.

The bureau also considered whether to ban the Radio Corp. of America but reached no decision.

Ford and Coca-Cola are among the largest U.S. sellers in the Middle East. Officials of the two companies in New York declined to comment on the boycott until notified officially.

The Arab bureau seeks to reduce Israel's foreign trade by retaliatory boycotts. An official of the bureau claimed boycotts have caused a $200-million deficit in Israel's budget.

Podgorny Back Home

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny returned to Moscow today after a one-week official visit to Austria during which he voiced opposition to Austrian plans for closer ties with the West European Common Market.

In his talks with Austrian President Franz Jonas, Chancellor Josef Klaus and other government officials, Podgorny said any Austrian arrangement with the Common Market would be incompatible with the nation's neutral status.

The Austrians reportedly have said they do not need Soviet approval to link themselves with the Common Market, but they obviously want to keep good relations with the Soviet Union.

Tokyo Demolition

TOKYO (AP)—Demolition crews protected by police today began tearing down a dormitory at which 200 students had battled police who evicted them.

Fifty-four policemen and four students were injured, most of them slightly, in the hour-long battle Sunday. Students hurled stones, bottles and other objects at 800 helmeted policemen.

Some students doused policemen with gasoline, then dropped sheets of burning newspaper.

Police held three student leaders for questioning. Officials said they may be charged with organizing an illegal demonstration and obstructing policemen in performing their duty.

Speculation Aroused

MOSCOW (AP)—A newspaper report hinting successful ground tests of a new spacecraft and announcement of a new series of rocket tests have aroused speculation that the Soviet Union is planning a manned space shot early next year.

The military newspaper Red Star published an interview Sunday with a spacecraft tester named Bogdan which said he was working on a "long experiment." The caption of a photograph showing him in front of a spacecraft's port hole said, "The tests have been completed." Bogdan had conducted ground tests of the multi-seat Voskhod spacecrafts more than two years ago.

The Soviets said Saturday they would test-launch carrier rockets in the Pacific until December. Such tests have preceded previous manned space shots.

Western experts have said poor weather would prevent Soviet space flights through the winter, perhaps until March. The Soviets have not announced a manned space flight since March 18, 1965, when Alexei Leonov took the first walk in space.

Millenium Ends

WARSZAWA, Poland (AP)—The celebration of the 1,000th anniversary of Christianity in Poland ended Sunday with Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski urging the nation's Roman Catholics to forgive the Communist authorities for their hostility to the event.

The Polish primate, in a final pontifical Mass celebrating the Christian millennium, said the government's charge that the church's celebration was organized as an anti-state political movement was a misunderstanding.

Underpinnings for Oak Grove Footbridge

Togo Coup Effort Seen As Failure

PARIS (AP)—Insurgents were reported to have seized the Togo radio station early today but President Nicolas Grunsky later announced that "emergency measures have been taken to put an end to the disorder."

Grunsky's broadcast, heard in Abidjan, Ivory Coast, indicated that Grunsky has probably regained the upper hand in the civil disturbances during which his resignation was demanded. It was not clear who was leading the opposition.

An earlier report from the French News Agency quoted travelers arriving at Cotonou, Dahomey, as saying that thousands of demonstrators ringed the presidential palace. The palace was being protected by troops under the chief of staff, Lt. Col. Eloiens Gassanigbe Eyadema, who has reportedly clashed with Grunsky recently on the military budget.

First reports of an uprising came from London. An unidentified speaker on the radio at Lome, the capital, said a revolution had broken out in the tiny West African republic.

The Soviet news agency Tass, in a dispatch from Cotonou, in neighboring Dahomey, quoted the Togolese government radio as saying the army had seized power and deposed Grunsky. His whereabouts were not reported.

Togo, a long narrow nation about the size of West Virginia, has a population of some 1.6 million people, divided among numerous tribes. It became an independent nation in 1960.

Grunsky took power in 1963 following the murder of President Sylvanus Olympio, who was slain by disgruntled ex-colonial officers from northern Togo. The country formerly was a French colony. The air costs much more.

Stassen Says UN Is Key to Peace

"I emphasize that the Vietnamese situation cannot be solved along the present course of the increasing American War in Vietnam," Dr. Harold E. Stassen yesterday told an audience of about 500 at Bailey Auditorium, Manchester. High School. "The Council of Nations was the title of Stassen's talk. It was given at a Community Program of Concern, sponsored by concerned citizens of Manchester. The event climaxed a "Month of Concern" proclaimed by Mayor Francis Mahoney.

In the opening of his address, Stassen commended the citizens of Manchester for the "unique and significant program," and advised that "in the future the endeavor might well spread across the nation."

"Since the beginning of history," the speaker said, "war has always been tragic, but now in the modern nuclear age it would mean 'the virtual extinction of civilization.'" He mentioned problems stemming from the tremendous social changes taking place in the world, and advised that the concerns of citizens mobilized on an interfaith and inter-religious basis could help to solve these problems.

Dr. J. Manley Shaw gave the invocation, after which a Manchester Youth Choir sang "This is My Country," and "A Children's Prayer for Peace." The speaker then read a letter from the Rev. Dr. Einar Raak, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church; Rev. Dr. J. Manley Shaw, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church; Rabbi Leon Wind of Temple Beth Shalom, the Rt. Rev. Magr. Edward J. Reardon, pastor of St. Ignace Church; Lt. Gov. Fred Doody and Deputy Mayor Harold A. Turkington. (Herald photo by Sateris)

Text of Stassen's Speech

My I begin my address to you this afternoon with an expression of my appreciation to each of the citizens of Manchester who have gathered here today to hear me speak. I am grateful to you for your presence here today, and for your participation in this program of concern for peace.

It is my hope that this program will be a step toward the solution of the problems of our world. I believe that the United Nations is the key to peace, and that we must work through it to bring about a just and lasting peace.

The United Nations was created in 1945, and it has since that time been working for the maintenance of international peace and security. It has done this through its various organs, and through its efforts to bring about a settlement of international disputes.

I believe that the United Nations is the only organization in the world that has the authority and the power to bring about a just and lasting peace. It is the only organization that represents all the peoples of the world, and it is the only organization that has the power to enforce its decisions.

I believe that the United Nations is the key to peace, and that we must work through it to bring about a just and lasting peace. I believe that the United Nations is the only organization in the world that has the authority and the power to bring about a settlement of international disputes.

Kidnaped Girl Back Unharmed

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—A young girl, who police said was offered a ride by a stranger, than held captive, is back home unharmed. A South Carolina man was arrested.

Bay County Sheriff M.J. Duffin said charges would be filed today against R.E. Collins of Columbia, S.C.

The sheriff said 12-year-old Rose Marie Bradley was found early Sunday in a car driven by Collins. Duffin said she was bound and gagged. She had been missing more than five hours.

A deputy stopped the car after roadblocks were erected throughout the northeast Florida city.

Police said a motorist had picked up brown-haired Rose Marie and two brothers as they drove Sunday in a car driven by Collins. Duffin said she was bound and gagged. She had been missing more than five hours.

Three Crewmen Killed Airliner Crashes On Maiden Flight

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—A 40-passenger Martin 404 of Piedmont Airlines crashed in a swampy area of the Croatan National Forest on its maiden flight Sunday. Three crewmen, the only persons aboard, were killed.

They were the pilot, Capt. C.J. Halsebeck, 48, of Walnut Cove, N.C., who had been with Piedmont 12 years; First Officer E.O. Adams, 32, of Taylors, S.C., three months with the company; and Pamela Sue Fumble, 22, of Frogflesh, N.Y., the stewardess, who had been with the airline one year. All were based in Wilmington, N.C.

The plane left Wilmington at 8:40 a.m. for the 86-mile trip to the North Carolina coast to pick up its first passengers at New Bern. Tom Davis, Piedmont president, said in Winston-Salem, N.C. that the last radio report from the plane was at 8:06 a.m., when it gave its location as 12 miles southwest of New Bern and reported no problems.

It crashed three miles south of the town, about 10 miles west of the New Bern airport and the Haulage was broken into three pieces. A Piedmont spokesman said there were indications that pilot Halsebeck may have been trying to reach a clearing near the heavily wooded site of the crash.

The plane, flight 101, was to have stopped at Goldsboro, Raleigh, Greensboro, and Winston-Salem, N.C., Tri-Cities Airport in Tennessee, and end its flight at Louisville, Ky.

Halsebeck won the Air Medal with seven oak leaf clusters.

Never before has such a pressing need for both full-time and part-time workers existed during a Christmas season.

The Hartford Area unemployment rate has reached a new low of 2.2 in a labor force of 322,700 while at the same time a "Biggest Christmas Ever" has been forecast for the retail trades.

Plentiful job openings will exist in nearly all areas of the retail trade—sales, shipping and receiving, stock, cashiering, and other related jobs. Such a multiplicity of jobs offers an excellent opportunity to the homemaker whose children are in school for a large part of the day or whose children are now grown, been educated, and left the nest.

A temporary job for the holidays is an excellent opportunity for those who are just a bit hesitant about again becoming involved in the "Wonderful World of Work" as well as for those who want to earn a little extra money in order to make their Christmas brighter.

Local merchants offer training on the job, a variety of types of work, hours in many cases tailored to the workers' requirements, and many additional benefits.

The fledgling worker, the returned to the labor market, and State Employment Service, 806 Main St., are encouraged to seek a job during this holiday season.

Industrial employees in the men- tal health insurance negotiated by the "Wonderful World of Work" as well as for those who want to earn a little extra money in order to make their Christmas brighter.

Police Picket Plan Postponed

NORWICH (AP)—A plan by Norwich policemen to picket city hall today was called off over the weekend when the city offered improved terms in a new contract.

The picket announced by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association Saturday when the association learned the administration was willing to alter its previous positions on contract terms.

Under the tentative agreement, the proposed two-year contract would provide an across-the-board pay increase of 7 1/2 per cent, retroactive to July 1, and improved fringe benefits.

Current wage scales in the police department vary.

Assassination Anniversary Controversy Still Goes On Over Tragic Circumstances

NEW YORK (AP)—Tomorrow is the third anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas, Texas, and the controversy surrounding the assassination is still going on.

Was the killer Lee Harvey Oswald? Did he act alone? Or was there a conspiracy involving one or more accomplices?

The special investigative commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren answered the first question in a report last month. It concluded that Oswald acted alone.

The commission found that the rifle fire had come from a window of the Texas School Depository Building. Critics of the commission insist there is reason to believe Warren group had ignored certain evidence which might have shaken the theory that Oswald was the lone killer.

Attorney Mark Lane asserts in his book "Rush to Judgment" that at least seven witnesses said they had seen "a puff, or rays of the late president's puffs, of white smoke" from behind a wooden fence which followed the presidential car was about 100 yards away.

On the point the Warren report had this to say: "In contrast to the testimony of witnesses who heard and observed shots fired from the depository, the commission's investigation has disclosed the adequacy of evidence that shots were fired from anywhere else."

Critics of the commission say a sound in President Kennedy's throat appeared to have been fired from in front of him. If so, the bullet could not have come from the School Book Depository building.

But Dr. Malcolm P. Strickman, who operated on the president's throat wound, told the commission "A full-jacketed bullet would not have passed through the skin would have left a clear track in the entrance and exit wound, and the facts which you have made available and with these assumptions, I believe that a bullet which killed President Kennedy and wounded was an exit wound."

Last week Lane and another Texas were fired by Lee Harvey Oswald. On the basis of the Warren Commission report, Oswald had a head "inquest" — had a head have been forced to lay off personnel. And, with Title VII in effect, the usually sensible practice of the past, which was to lay off heads of families last, had to yield to a new practice of laying off employees on a basis of seniority.

This is something many women employees have more of than the men do. In one Iowa meat packing plant, the grotesque result today is that 450 of its male employees have been laid-off, while all of its 500 female employees are still at work.

This means that a member of the fair sex who may be the partial support of her family keeps on working while a man who may be the sole support of his family has to get along on unemployment insurance.

One is not sure that anything like this was ever the real intent of the sponsors of Title VII. Congress itself, for that matter, never had any very real intentions about it. The provision got into the 1964 Civil Rights Act only because Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia, the famous old Southern reactionary, was trying to kill the main bill itself, and thought this provision would slow it down. Occasionally some good provision gets into law this way.

Sometimes, it seems, there can be such a thing as too much equality.

"Nobody stopped to think what this law would mean in bad times," says one industrial relations expert who has been studying its operation in these western depression pockets.

Don't Call Us, Call The Journal. We have, as readers of these columns may be aware, consistently demonstrated respect for the factual content of the Wall Street Journal. Solid, reliable, accurate—these are the adjectives we would normally apply to Journal news content.

Then, the other day, we found the Wall Street Journal discussing the cost of this year's Thanksgiving dinner.

"Turkey dinner," it said, "will cost a little more this Thanksgiving. A holiday meal for four will run around $6.05 up from $5.90 last year. . . . Despite this year's rise, the cost of a turkey dinner for four remains well below the peak of $8.60 reached at Thanksgiving of 1951."

Housewives wanting to find out how to prepare a turkey dinner for four for $6.05 or even $5.60, for that matter, don't call us, call the Wall Street Journal.

On His And Hers. Thanks to a towel bar, I now understand what the other sex's most women outlive their husbands.

We moved recently, and it was necessary to do a little bit of redecorating. It's the one on the far side of the bathroom, my wife said stolidly.

It became quickly evident that the towel bar was not readily available. In fact, it was two full steps from the wash basin, which meant I had to get the towel, bring it to the sink, and return it. My wife's towel bar, in contrast, was six inches from the wall and within easy reach, for instance, if she got soap in her eyes. She merely could reach out with her right hand and get the towel without even opening her eyes.

On a closer examination, I learned that my towel bar was precisely two yards from the wash basin. Since I had to get the towel and return it, each time I walked four yards farther than my wife did in the process of cleaning up.

On a typical day I use that towel in the morning, at noon, before dinner, and before retiring—four times. Even a four yard grade could determine that another day I walk 16 yards farther than my wife does just to use the wash basin.

With a little luck, fewer cigars, etc. according to its constitution of individual candidates and party appeals.

Conceding that the once-solid and reliable voting blocs of the big cities are breaking up, it could be a factor in an election like that of Nov. 8 that the Republicans were able to offer the brighter, newer, more appealing candidates across the states in the north.

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — With the election returns barely in, the aggressive House Republican leadership has already decided to resurrect a discarded Great Society scheme for a major legislative push.

The tipoff was given last week at the Shoreham school here as a keynote address to the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders by the powerful Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican caucus.

Laird's proposal: That federal income tax revenue be shared among the states.

This was a give or take some details, another version of the plan conceived in late 1964 by Walter Heller, then President Johnson's chief economic adviser, but rejected at the last minute by the President.

It became quickly evident that the proposal was not readily available. In fact, it was two full steps from the wash basin, which meant I had to get the towel, bring it to the sink, and return it.

A Thought for Today

Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches. Thankful for What? Some years ago a farmer had a weather vane on the top of his barn, with the words, "God is Love," affixed to it.

One of the ways in which the federal government helps states now is through grants-in-aid, meaning that if a state has a need for some specific program, which Washington approves, the government will give the state money to help pay the bill.

Today's Highlight in History. Today's Highlight in History Today is Monday, Nov. 21, the 330th day of 1966. There are 40 days left in the year.

Ten Years Ago. Egyptian President Nasser declared that he would never become as he put it: "The Negro or satellite or puppet hireling of anybody."

Five Years Ago. The Soviet Union accepted an Anglo-American proposal to resume three-power talks on a treaty to ban nuclear weapons.

One Year Ago. Manchester High School, in cooperation with the Defense Program, gives first aid instruction to junior and senior girls.

10 Years Ago. The Board of Directors approves a 22-acre site for the construction of a junior high school on E. Middle Tpk.

Thought for Today. A splendid storehouse of integrity and freedom has been bequeathed to us by our fathers. In this day of confusion of peril to liberty our duty is to maintain it.

Today's Birthdays. Former baseball star Stan Musial is 46 years old; Actress Vivian Blaine is 46.

Coventry Conservation Group Seeks Designation as Commission

Coventry's conservation commission has recommended to the board of selectmen that it be established as a conservation commission in order to better accomplish the goals it has outlined since its formation last summer.

The committee, comprised of Hugo Thomas, John Lasek, Joseph Walker and Mrs. Lena Gust, has submitted a detailed report to the selectmen, listing its recommendations.

Working with the committee during the past months has been Edwin Lawton, representative from the planning and zoning commission.

The committee, formed to study paths open to the town in the acquisition of open space, discovered during its investigations that a commission must be established to maintain a program of open spaces, conservation and recreation data collection in order to:

- (1) Be a source of material and advice for local organizations wishing to develop conservation practices. (2) Support and coordinate local conservation projects which will allow the public to make effective use of the natural resources.

More Financial Aid Seen For U.S. Arts to Survive

NEW YORK (AP) — The professional performing arts in America, which now need more than $20 million a year in contributions to survive, are going to require three times that amount by 1975, a team of economists predicts.

Audiences for the performing arts come from "an extremely narrow segment" of the population, mainly the well-educated, high-income professional people who are in their late youth or early middle age, the report said.

As for the artists, "in many ways, the working conditions of the performer fall below what might be considered reasonable standards," it said, with the average annual income of a singer, dancer or actor or musician in the North End-saltwater area.

Even on Broadway — where they get the legitimate theater has come close to showing a profit in recent years — last Wednesday to fill an unexpired board term to June 1968, will be seated. The agency-owned seems grim, de-vised for his support.

Board to Discuss Lone Bid For Treatment Plant Work

The one bid received for improvements to the sewerage treatment plant will be discussed by the Board of Representatives at a meeting tonight at 7:30 at the administration building.

The bid was from C. H. Hickox Company of Torrington at the amount of $32,347. The amount appropriated in the current budget for the work is $21,000. This includes $1000 for almost completed.

The board tonight will discuss whether it might be possible for some of the treatment plant workers or other town employees to do some of the work in order to bring the cost down.

Work has to be done on the plant as soon as possible, as it has been ordered by the State Water Resources Commission. Toxic materials have been getting into the plant which will be harmful to biological treatment processes.

Board members will also discuss the refuse disposal problem. It is hoped that the owners of a proposed landfill area in Ellington, which Vernon is considering using, will come up with some definite cost figures.

Should the $35 Mark preliminary reports from all but three churches in town indicate favorable UNICEF action will go over last year's mark, according to chairman Mrs. Mildred White.

Town Books 'Satisfactory,' Auditors Make Suggestions

The auditors' report for the fiscal year ended Sept. 15, 1966 to June 30, 1966, has been completed and is on file in the auditor's office. The auditors, Barry, Macri and Co., pronounce the town's books satisfactory and make five suggestions for improvement.

They recommended that: 1. A legal opinion should be obtained by the town in regard to closing the junior-senior high school construction and equipment account into the General Fund. A total of $3,661.71 remained as of June 30 from the 1965-66 fiscal year.

The town should also seek an opinion as to the type of expenditure that can legally be made from this account. In the past, books have been purchased by the town.

The auditors' "again recommend that the tax collector maintain a central subsidiary ledger of uncollected taxes and balance the rate books at the close of the fiscal year."

The summer school program shows a balance of $24,116 as of June 30. "The amount represents the excess of the tuition charge over the expenses for the program during the 1965-66 fiscal year."

Champeau Quits Tax Board Post

Louis F. Champeau, a Republican, has resigned from the three-member Board of Tax Review, effective last Tuesday, Nov. 15, citing the pressing of personal business.

He was appointed to the board in January, to serve the unexpired term of Robert W. Phelan, effective last Tuesday, Nov. 15, 1967, vacated when Atty. Gen. Paul Sullivan, also a Republican, resigned.

Champeau is manager of the Hartford agency of the State Mutual Life Assurance Co. His resignation means that the Board of Tax Review will consist of three new men when Edward Dupre, also a Democrat, and Charles McKenna, a Republican, appointed on Nov. 7 to a three-year term, replacing Phelan and Sullivan, respectively.

Open House at New Tolland High

Bert Palumbo, chairman of the high school building committee, addresses visitors in the cafeteria at yesterday's open house at Tolland High School. The 32-room school, opened in September, was built at a cost of $1.7 million.

The gym, completed this month, has multiple thin strips of wood on the floor instead of conventional floorboard. The cafeteria, also finished this month, forms a wing with the gym.

State's First All-Electric School

Open house ceremonies for the state's first all-electric high school were held yesterday at Tolland High School, followed by the new Tolland High School, performance by the Junior High School Band and Chorus.

Bert Palumbo, chairman of the committee and the architect and oted the cooperation received by the committee and the problems it faced in planning the school.

First Selectman Carmelo Zanzani welcomed those attending including the belief that Tolland will become the leader in the teaching of respectability on behalf of the town and the handicapped children in this part of the state.

The ceremonies were held in the gym of the high school and Robert Briarson and high were opened with an invocation school principal Harold Harvey explained the facilities, after which refreshments provided by the Connecticut Light and Power Co. were served in the new cafeteria.

The high school is the first all-electric high school to be constructed in the state and is located on the site of the old school at the intersection of the main road and the highway.

The school is a 32-classroom building with a central boiler, separate heating system and automatic dishwashers. It is expected that hot lunches will be served in the high school cafeteria after the beginning of the year.

A reading and study skill center will provide developmental and remedial reading programs, a college testing program and a language laboratory.

A driver education program is planned when the high school houses students of the proper age.

The high school facilities are presently housing sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students. The first freshman class will be phased in next year upon graduation of the present eighth grade, which will remain in the high school as the first freshman class.

Tolland presently sends its freshmen, sophomores and junior class students to Rockville High School and its seniors to Ellington High. This is the final year that the town will use the Ellington facilities.

Cook urged the school board and the town officials to work toward the location of a regional vocational technical school to be located at the site of Tolland's new high school.

Cook referred to a theory advanced by State Educational Commissioner William J. Standish, who recommends that future trade schools be integrated with regular high schools.

Cook added that he felt Tolland would serve as an ideal location for such a school due to the location of the high school at the crossroads of several state highways, providing easy access from Tolland County to the state capital.

He also recommended that the construction of the auditorium in the Hicks Memorial School to its original use. It is presently serves as two classrooms and the office of the assistant principal.

He explained that the facilities would be more beneficial to the town as an auditorium seating 300 to 400 people than as classrooms. The central location of the school facility on the Green was also cited by Cook. The conversion of various facilities would postpone the need for construction of an auditorium at the high school, which is planned as a future phase of construction at the site.

In his talk, Cook traced the origin of the Tolland school system from the establishment of the original district schools, to the construction of the Hicks Memorial School in 1906, and its several additions, to the construction of 600 students capacity Meadowbrook School in 1962, to the high school completed this year.

An analysis of the recent election figures stated that 666 voters, or approximately 78 per cent, of the town, voted in favor of the construction of the new high school.

Republicans have claimed the major percentage of voter turnout, with 769 registered Republicans voting out of an eligible 924, or 82 per cent. They the Tolland Junior Woman's Club to benefit the perpetually handicapped program in town.

The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet tonight at 8 p.m. at the town hall to discuss the proposed location of the new high school and to vote on the location of the new high school.

The two political parties established headquarters for the election and worked to get out the vote.

The analysis revealed a lack of agreement in the final tally for each office with the exception of the town clerk. This occurred in the final year of the election, which was held in 1965 with $1.15 billion. This compares with $1.15 billion in 1964. The value of crude oil was $8.1 billion; natural gas, $2.5 billion; and natural-gas liquids, $897.7 million.

Teacher Kenneth White sits in second-floor social studies room, a typical room in the school. Sixteen new rooms will be added in wing scheduled to be completed by next September.

Trees in the courtyard, their roots covered with burlap, await planting. The courtyard separates the classrooms from the gymnasium on the right. A courtyard will also separate the planned wing from the main building.

After 8 P.M. and all day Sunday you can call Richmond from Connecticut for 65¢ or less.

"General, we made it to Norwich, Connecticut!"

Poison May Be Key to Life, Monsanto Chemists Report

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Research chemists at Monsanto Co. have discovered that a poison, hydrogen cyanide, may have been the key to the origin of life. Clifford N. Mathews, a Monsanto chemist, said today the experiments have resulted in a new theory on the origin of proteins, the main chemical substance in all life on earth. He said the experiments also may result in the development of synthetic foods. Mathews and Robert E. Moore, another scientist, said they "then we added water and the result was a brown scum which we believe once covered the earth. Both scientists said the scum was full of protein-like chunks which contained amino acids, the natural ingredient of all natural proteins. "From this scum, we appear to have emerged," said Mathews. "We are saying that proteins came before amino acids," said Moore. "Other researchers have said that amino acids came before amino acids," said Moore. South Windsor Appeals Board to Consider Six Zoning Variance Pleas

The zoning board of appeals will meet Dec. 1 at 8 p.m. at Wapping Elementary School, Ayers Rd., to consider the following applications:

Edward Bruski, 118 Smith St., New Britain, variance to allow a building lot with less than the required square footage on premises at the northeast corner of New Britain and Wapping Rds., Wapping. This is an R-1 zone.

Jennie Myette, co-Edwin A. Lassman, 37 Lewis St., Hartford, variance to allow construction of a single-family dwelling with attached garage on a lot 125 feet by 170 feet with area and distance less than required, and a specific exception to allow construction of a two-family house on premises on John Fitch Blvd.

This property is bounded approximately north and west by Myette, east by John Fitch Blvd., and south by Gordin. It is in an R-1 zone.

Case and Blinn, 881 Pleasant Valley Rd., variance to allow reconstruction of a non-conforming building on premises at 882 Pleasant Valley Rd. This is an R-1 zone.

Charles H. Miller, co-Edwin A. Lassman, variance to allow a sign other than permitted on premises at 478 Pleasant Valley Rd. This is an R-1 zone.

Charles H. Miller, variance to allow a sign other than permitted on premises at 883 Sullivan Ave. This is a C-1 zone.

Robert H. Pavey, 100 Northview Dr., variance to allow installation of antennas on a 32-foot high mast on his premises. This is an A-20 zone.

A survey of the insurance coverage of town-owned property is being undertaken, according to Town Manager W. V. Sprinkel. The survey will itemize as current replacement costs and equipment evaluation. The manager noted that the leaf collection program is approximately three days behind the announced schedule. A major problem leading to the delay is that many town residents thought collections would be made a second time, which is not the case.

Sprinkel said firms were started by many residents to burn the remainder of leaves collected on this assumption, which necessitated the return of the leaf-gathering machines to certain areas.

Award Renamed

The award presented annually to the outstanding industrial arts student at the Everett Bostrom Memorial Award.

The award will continue to recognize the outstanding industrial arts student and to memorialize the late Mr. Bostrom, who served as a metal working teacher at the high school for five years.

Remarking of the award is the result of a unanimous action of the faculty of the high school at the time of Bostrom's death this month.

Studying Changes

The public health and safety committee of town council is investigating changes in the landfill dump ordinance and will make a report to council in the near future.

Egan said some $2,000 has been expended by a commercial firm in town to dispose of rubbish by a commercial removal firm. Difficulty in continuing this practice is evident, he commented.

Councilman John J. Egan noted that a commercial firm in town has experienced some problem in disposal of refuse due to the present ordinance, while residential property owners experienced no hardship in disposing of refuse.

Egan said some $2,000 has been expended by a commercial firm in town to dispose of rubbish by a commercial removal firm. Difficulty in continuing this practice is evident, he commented.

Council recommended that questionnaires be submitted by town manager Terry V. Sprinkel to industrial and commercial property owners requesting information on the volume, frequency and type of refuse to be disposed.

After receipt of this information, the ordinance pertaining to use of the town dump will be reevaluated and a permanent solution for activation of the North Central Refuse Committee will be pursued.

Food Complaints Spark Mess Hall Rioting in Prison

CALDWELL, N.J. (AP) — Apparent dissatisfaction over prison food touched off a free-for-all Sunday in the Essex County Penitentiary cafeteria, sending 18 inmates and three guards to the hospital.

Aluminum cups and plates flew through the air as a small group of convicts sparked the protest, authorities said. Others became involved because they wanted to get out of the line of fire, officials added.

It took about a half-hour to quiet the shouting inmates. The violence erupted after almost 250 men had marched into the cafeteria for lunch. There were no serious injuries.

Warden John Rush was called from his home when the noise began. He called in 20 off-duty guards.

"We have an automatic tear gas set up in the mess hall, but we didn't have to use it," Rush said.
