Threat of New Slide Eases for Welsh Town

ABERFAN, Wales (AP) — Rescue workers today succeeded in halting a moving mountain of coal mine refuse which had engulfed a school and at least 14 homes in this tiny Welsh village, leaving 200 feared dead.

Engineers and miners worked nonstop through the night digging deep channels through the black sludge to divert water from building up inside the heap and causing possible further slides.

Half the 800-foot slag heap crashed down a green hillside Friday, crushing a junior school and a row of miners' cottages. Rescue officials said that 130 bodies — nearly all children — have been dug out of the debris. Officials said that no survivors in this tiny Welsh village, leaving 200 feared dead.

One minister said no special services would be held in the village's church Sunday. "Hearts are breaking," he said. "The sorrow is too great for the usual services. We can only pray."

The Rev. Kenneth Hayes, pastor of the English Baptist Chapel, which has the largest membership in Aberfan, said he plans to conduct services. His nine-year-old son is among the missing.

District education director John Beale said 36 children who were rescued had been hospitalized in Cardiff after the disaster struck. The bodies of David Benton, deputy head teacher, and five children were found late Friday night.

But even the energy of a young boy was not match for a motor, and the bus rounded a corner and disappeared. He was standing on Main St. near his home at 27 East St. and his school was 11 miles away in Manchester.

He and other boys and girls, taking part in a two-year busing project which transports 260 Hartford students to five suburban towns, had been riding the bus to Manchester since the opening of school, so Bobby had a vague idea where the school was.

For three hours and 10 minutes he trudged along Hartford's Main and Morgan Sts., across the bridge, along the Wilbur Cross Highway through the distance and finally onto Center St. in Manchester.

By then it was lunch time. Bobby washed his face and hands and then revived himself with a hearty meal of macaroni and tuna fish.

At 12:20 he entered his home room and explained his story to his teacher, Mrs. Dorothy Krause. Bobby recalled walking into the room. "A girl said, 'Bob, did you really do it?'"

Bobby had in fact done it, and his legs and feet weren't sore. His 11-year-old brother Archie made it back to school. Bobby walked to his reading class, instructed by Mrs. Gloria Samuels who was teaching in Manchester as part of the busing support team. Bobby learned that Samuels had sent him earlier walking on Center St. and called the school to have someone pick him up. But he had gone with the man.

Bobby settled himself at his desk and opened the reading book entitled, "Around the Corner."

Weary President Back in Brisbane

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — President Johnson began the last leg of his Australian tour tonight, appearing in a rickshaw and while a 21-gun salute boomed in Sydney was marred by rain.

Johnson drove directly to Fairbairn Airport outside Canberra after sitting in a rickshaw at Lanyon Station 17 miles away. The cookout was given by an old friend, Edmund Clark, the U.S. ambassador to Australia.

At the 10,000-acre ranch, Johnson met an Australian soldier recently returned from service in Vietnam. The soldier presented the President with an Australian digger's slouch hat.

There were no demonstrators tonight as Johnson departed Canberra after an official farewell from Gov. Gen. Lord Casey.

The crowd turnout at Sydney was the mightiest yet on the President's Asian tour. Although Johnson's friends in the Australian capital, of a barbecue were flying on to Brisbane.

Johnson wore Western clothes and a Texas hat at the barbecue.

Even in Jail... Oakland Shows 'Jittery' Calm After Violence

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A man sentenced to 12 years in prison for breaking and entering and larceny has complained in court that "there's a bunch of thieves" in the Dade County jail.

Hiram Cases Parnell, 33, appeared before Criminal Court Judge Edward S. Klein yesterday to appeal his conviction. He was wearing a battered pair of shoes which he said he had to borrow because "somebody stole my $25 shoes in jail."

Oakland teachers are demanding police protection for teachers and pupils and prosecution of anyone who discourages a school boycott.

The 2,200-member Oakland Teachers Association adopted the resolution Friday as a jitters calm replaced the sporadic racial violence which began Tuesday.

The teachers said that unless the Board of Education gives them the assurances they request they may carry their complaints to the National Education Association office.

At predominantly Negro Castlemont High School Wednesday a group of 200 Negro truants beat five white teachers and three white students and littered classrooms.

Absenteeism has soared to double the normal rate in the city's secondary and high schools.

Castlemont was quiet Friday morning. Under English law, the former "Red Dean" of Canterbury, England, died today. He was 92.

The retired Church of England clergyman had been in his home and resumed their private lives since he fell in his home last week.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Johnson died peacefully in his bed during the Spanish civil war. He was 92.

Little Hope Seen For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Mike Mansfield said he didn't know when the impasse would be broken — but he added that Congress still may be in session during the next week.

"That's up to the Senate," Mansfield said as he summoned his dwindling forces for a Saturday session and another attempt to clear the path for adjournment. The House, it shores for the year virtually completed.

Today with a handful of members on hand, Mansfield said with elections 17 days away, many members of Congress have headed for home to campaign.

"We're asking our members to return and maintain the quorum," Mansfield said. But he saw little hope of adjournment today. "I would guess not," he said.

The session already is the longest unbroken meeting Congress has held in an election year since World War II. There have been 10 days of session.

Nixon was scheduled to arrive by private plane about a noon at Trumbull Airport in New York.

He earned his nickname because of his simultaneous preaching of Christianity and communism during his time as dean of Canterbury from 1881 to 1924.

Buckley Pupil Was Late—He Walked from Hartford

By ROBERT COLBY — Ten-year-old Bobby Butler today said he had to do things to worry me.

He traced his small four-foot five-inch frame down Main St. in Hartford after the bus which had stopped momentarily to worry me.

But even the energy of a young boy was not match for a motor, and the bus rounded a corner and disappeared.

He was standing on Main St. near his home at 27 East St. and his school was 11 miles away in Manchester.

Bobby Butler, 10, back at home, manages a smile as he recalls his 11-mile walk and the resulting telephone calls from newsmen and friends.

Laos Forces Retake Base, Rebels Flee

LONDON (AP) — Vietnamese today national Laotian forces had recaptured Savannakhet Air Base without a shot being fired and rebel forces under Brig. Gen. Thao Ma had fled abroad.

The national armed forces have completely recaptured Savannakhet Air Base without any fighting. The rebel pilots under Thao Ma's command fled.

The general situation in the Laotian kingdom has returned to normal. People who left their homes to escape the events are asked to return to their homes and resume their normal daily activities.

A Bangkok report said the whereabouts of Thao Ma were not known.

Air force fighter-bombers based at Savannakhet, bombed several military bases and an airport around Vientiane Friday morning, killing 12 persons and wounding several, in an apparent power struggle between Thao Ma and members of the armed forces high command.

A half-hour before the raids began, Savannakhet military radio broadcast the formation of a revolutionary coup committee and demanded the dismissal of three generals in the high command. The Bangkok report said the coup was successful.

Laos sources having direct communication with Vientiane, the Laotian capital, said the government was in control and the city was quiet today.

Fourth Straight Victory for Indians Thanks to Last Quarter Touchdowns

By PETE ZANARDI. "Let's go out and win this one for Dave Turner," Coach Dave Wiggins told the Manchester High griders at half-time last night when he was in the pits for a first-hand look at Jimmy Graham Hill and Dan Gurney. Diakan is one of many racing enthusiasts from this City of Will...

The clincher came on the first play of the final quarter. A field drive that started on its own 28, sputtered on the 49. Dropping back in the second quarter, then putting the long Dale Ostroff instead threw a pass to Mike McCarthy who nailed his way down the side to the Bristol 17. Again Bristol's defense rallied and again Ostroff hit the air; this time on a fourth and 10 situation, putting Manchester in a play and four and 10 touch-down pass for their fourth straight triumph in five starts. "This was by far our finest effort of the season," Wiggins said. "They really looked like a ball club out there tonight. They hit hard, hitting the holes and coming up on the big plays. It was a real team effort."

Manchester bounced right back, however. Ostroff leading a 65-yard drive in 12 plays, Turner providing the punch. Cobb added the point. Turner rushing attack and adding another 128 yards on seven pass completions in 10 tries. "And don't forget that line," Wiggins concluded. "The pass blocking was real strong out there and the holes were open. They played a big part in this win."

Giants Near Title In Midget Football

Clinching at least a tie for Midget Football League honors last night, the Giants, coming up with two touchdowns in the last half to stop the Eagles, 16-10. In the first game, Dave Caldwell's fourth Patriots 12-0 triumph over the Jets. It enabled the Pat to climb into second place. "I kicked an inmate at the state prison, kicking a football over the prison wall last month during a game with other inmates. He obtained permission to go after the game," Caldwell said.

Cone Sparks Booters With Pair of Goals

Celebrating his return to the wing position, Steve Cone came up with two goals to lead the Manchester High soccer team to a 4-0 whitewash of CCIL foe Platt High of Meriden yesterday at Memorial Field. The booters, aiming toward the goal, were now 6-0. It was the fifth shutout this fall for Indian goalie Doug Cone.

Quite a Feat, (AP)

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Clarence Jenkins claims he ran the longest football game in history only to have the referees call it a break. "I made a pretty good run," he said. "I kicked the ball and then ran it 2,700 yards."

Last Period Goal Nips Tech Club

Scoring with two minutes of regular time remaining, Skip Cacio provided Vinal Tech of Middletown with the clincher yesterday, as the visitors handed Cheney Tech its eighth consecutive victory. It was Vinal's second win over the Rangers.

Kennedy Added To Brave Staff

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Atlanta Braves have filled out their 1967 coaching staff with the acquisition of Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs in 1965 and 1966. Kennedy's hiring Friday did not mean that Ray Duhon's first place in the Atlanta Braves coaching staff was in jeopardy.

Oaks Play Home Against Wheeling

The Hartford Charter Oaks Toronto soccer team is in the making. This tonight at 8 o'clock at Dillon time it could be a four team stadium in a game which could advance its own record to 8-1-1. Dave Loveland averaged a mark of 1.00 in the game. The Oaks scored first in the second quarter on a goal by Jim Tomko's shot.

The program leads to a commission as second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

State Sen. David M. Barry of the next town and you will find yourself in an atmosphere similar to, but quite distinct from, your home environment.

"Often nowadays similar problems make desirable and even necessary in some cases, joint action involving two or more neighboring towns," Barry continued.

"Those hard-to-define things which make each town unique, however, must be preserved at all costs while efforts of this kind are in progress," he cautioned.

He said, "When Connecticut's General Assembly was being reorganized in line with the 'One man—One vote' ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court recently, I was one of those who believed, in what turned out to be a minority view, that each town should be permitted to have at least one representative in the Legislature."

"That is in the past," Barry said, "but the general problem remains. I firmly oppose, and will continue to resist, any plans which would further threaten town autonomy in the interest of regional government."

District Considers Moving Firehouse to Renewal Area

The 8th Utilities District has come up with a proposal to relocate its firehouse to the northeast corner of the new N. Main and Main Sts., within the North End Renewal Area.

It has submitted a plan to the Manchester Redevelopment Agency (MRA) for consideration. Edward Ryzyk, executive director of the MRA, has referred the plan to the Town Planning Commission (TPC) for review. The TPC, as the official representative of the Town of Manchester, which has a stake in renewal plans, will discuss the proposal Monday night, when it meets in executive session.

Basically, 8th District directors are interested in a swap for the new location, with the present firehouse and property at Main and Hilliard Sts. offered in trade.

In the meantime, the district has on file an offer of a free parcel on Oakland St., in the event a second firehouse is ever constructed in the North End.

The offer comes from Albert Lindsay, who proposes to construct an apartment complex on Oakland St. In other business Monday night, the TPC will consider action on three zone change requests, heard on Sept. 26.

They are from Atty. Leon Podroze, a change to Business Zone III for a parcel at Buckland St. and the Wilbur Cross Highway, now in Rural Zone; from William Fack for a change to Industrial Zone for a parcel off Tolland Tpk., now in Business Zone II; and from Roger Ricard, for a change to Industrial Zone for a parcel of Adams St., now Residence Zone A.

Bic Solves Crises for I.B.J., He Gets His Pens on Time

Today at the other end of the world President Johnson is handing out ball-point pens to thousands of well-wishers.

How he got those pens, which are imprinted "President and Mrs. Johnson," is one of those stories the public rarely hears of; but to the people involved, it never will be forgotten.

Last Sunday, Oct. 16, the late Sunday calm in the Orange, Conn., home of Robert P. Adler was interrupted by the ringing of the telephone. The time was 5 p.m.

The caller identified himself as Peter Smith of the State Department. He asked Adler, who is president of the Waterman-Bic Pen Corp., for 25,000 Bic ball points, with the Presidential imprint, to be delivered to Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, before the President's cargo jet was due to take off late Monday afternoon. (The next day!)

"The job is practically impossible," Adler replied to Smith, "but we'll try."

Then Adler and Charles Matjouranis, Bic's purchasing agent, went to work. The firm's regular die-maker, based in Long Island City, could not be reached. By 7:30 p.m. it was apparent another die-maker had to be found. A minister, the Rev. Otto Borchert of Seymour, Conn., who makes dies as a hobby, was contacted. A second die-maker, the Hoggson & Pettis Manufacturing Co., of Orange, was reached and, by 10 p.m., Bic's regular supplier, Sossner Steel Stamps Co., was contacted.

By the next morning a State Department courier brought the New York-made die to Bic's manufacturing headquarters in Milford. The minister, who worked all night, had his work reviewed by Adler before 8 a.m. that morning.

One by one the dies were installed into the Bic machines and, by noon, 10,000 Bic ball points were manufactured and flown in the company plane to Andrews Air Force Base. The remaining 15,000 pens were picked up by the government and, ultimately, caught up with the first order.

"$166 Highest Average" WASHINGTON — A Labor Department report lists Flint, Mich., factory workers as having the highest metropolitan earnings in the United States in 1965—an average of $166.26 a week. Fall River, Mass., production workers earned the lowest, $69.38.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Arleen Rose Kilby to Robert David Pelletier, both of Manchester, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Kilby of 210 Green Rd. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Pelletier of 21 Bissell St.

Miss Kilby is a graduate of Manchester High School, and is employed at Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co., Hartford. Mr. Pelletier is a graduate of Manchester, and is an apprentice at Pratt and Whitney, Division of United Aircraft, East Hartford.

No date has been announced for the wedding.

Martin to Talk On Task Force

Former Town Manager Richard Martin, now executive secretary of Gov. John Dempsey's Clean Water Task Force, will speak before the Town Affairs Committee of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday at 8:30 a.m. in the Chamber's offices.

Martin will discuss the recent proposals of the 100-member Task Force, scheduled for priority consideration by the 1967 State Legislature.

The Chamber's Town Affairs Committee, after study of the proposals, will make its recommendations to the executive board of the C of C.

The Chamber, last spring, backed passage of a federal bill on water pollution, introduced by U. S. Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, but not reported out of committee.

Edgar Clarke, chairman of the local committee which pressed for passage, said that the Chamber will pursue action again at the January session of Congress.

Under Sen. Ribicoff's bill, business and industry would be allowed to write off the cost of water and air pollution abatement equipment on their federal income taxes over a three-year period, as opposed to the normal long-term capitalization under which this equipment is now credited.

Youth-Sisterhood Workshop Slated

Connecticut Branch of the National Women's League of America will have a combined Youth-Sisterhood School Relations Workshop Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. at Temple Beth Shalom. The theme of the workshop is "Youth—Their Involvement and Commitment." Rabbi Herbert Feder of Hartford, Rabbi Leon Wind of Temple Beth Shalom and Alfred Weisel, educational director of Emanuel Synagogue, Hartford, will speak.

Mrs. Philip Bayer of 219 Parker St. is in charge of luncheon reservations and registration for this area. The discussion will be followed by a symposium and workshops which will be divided into three groups covering material pertaining to the large, medium and small synagogues.

All Sisterhood presidents, youth chairmen and Sisterhood-school relations chairmen of the Conservative Sisterhoods of Connecticut and Southern Massachusetts will be represented at the meeting.

GTA BACKS RAILROAD BRIDGEPORT (AP) — The Connecticut Transportation Authority has agreed to continue New Haven Railroad support payments in 1967. Samuel Kanell, executive director, said at the authority's annual meeting Friday that the agreement will supplement financial assistance being given the railroad by Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York. The commission said further information will be announced later.

GETS PROF JOB

Hamilton Standard has recently been selected by Handley Page Ltd. of London to produce propellers for the new HP-137 Jetstream transport aircraft.

The propellers will be controllable blade-pitch, with full feathering and reversible. Each will have three blades and be eight feet in diameter. The propeller spinner will be made of fiberglass reinforced plastic. The Jetstream is being manufactured as a business and local-service airline plane and will carry from 8 to 18 passengers.

IN NEW POST

Edward A. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Richardson of Highland St., was advanced to an officer at Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. this week. His new position, administration secretary, was announced following the regular meeting of the company's board of directors.

Richardson, who lives with his wife and two children in Glastonbury, is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Trinity College where he earned both undergraduate and master's degrees. Richardson is secretary of Glastonbury's conservation commission, chairman of the J. B. Williams Park Committee, and membership chairman of the Glastonbury Human Rights Council.

ANOTHER FRIENDLY

Friendly Ice Cream Corp. will open an ice cream and sandwich shop on Tolland Tpk. in the Burr Corners Shopping Plaza next month. Officials of the firm say the store will employ about 25 persons on either a full- or part-time basis.

The first Manchester Friendly opened in 1957 at 435 Main St. The chain of the popular ice cream parlors stretches across New England and into New York and New Jersey and numbers 125. Projected future growth plans call for 200 shops by 1969 and 400 by 1974.

The first Friendly Shop was opened in 1935 in Springfield, Mass. Nine members of Watkins Bros., Inc., who have a total of 234 years of service with the company, were honored at a breakfast meeting at Watkins Bros. yesterday morning and received service pins in recognition for their many years of service.

MSLA ADDS SYSTEM

A new data processing system will soon be processing savings and loan transactions at the Manchester Savings and Loan Association, according to Robert J. Boyce, president of the association.

The "On-Line" system will provide a computer-communi-

Does Corn Thrive on 'Acres?'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some observers of the television scene drew this lesson from the first Nielsen ratings of the 1966-67 season: Never underestimate the value of corn.

This is the attitude of certain sophisticates who sniff at the fact that among the top 10 shows in audience ratings were such offerings as "Green Acres," "Gomer Pyle," "The Andy Griffith Show" and "Beverly Hillsbillies."

The most impressive showing among series in the ratings was made by "Green Acres," which captured the No. 2 position below the blockbusting Sunday night movie, "The Bridge on the River Kwai." Do they grow corn on those "Green Acres"?

"I don't think so," says Jay Sommers, who created, co-writes and produces the series. "I think it's a fairly sophisticated show."

Sommers, a rotund, owlish veteran of the gag-writing jungle doesn't really care what the smart crowd thinks of "Green Acres." It's his baby, and as long as the public buys it, that's all that matters.

The inspiration for the show came from Sommers' boyhood, of which two years were spent on a farm in Greenvale, N.Y. His stepfather went broke trying to earn a living from the soil, and the experiences remained with the boy. He capitalized on them with a 1960 radio show, "Granby's Green Acres," which starred Gale Gordon and Bea Benaderet, the latter now star of "Green Acres," sister show of "Peticoat Junction."

When "Green Acres" went on CBS last season, the original plan was to exchange performers with "Peticoat Junction."

"We're getting away from that concept now," said Sommers. "It's awfully hard to schedule when the actors will be available, and they are busy enough with their own shows. Besides, I think 'Green Acres' should stand on its own feet."

Lucille Ball and Anthony Newley bundle up in a scene from an hour-long comedy program, "Lucy in London," Monday at 8:30 p.m. Miss Ball and guest take an unorthodox tour of the British capital.

The series is doing a good job of it. Credit is due Sommers who spends a 12-hour day at General Service Studios, overseeing everything from script to cutting. Despite the rural nature of the show, it is filmed almost entirely on the lot. "The people are important, not the settings," explained Sommers.

The secret of "Green Acres" success?

"I think it appeals to a basic human urge; everyone would like to buy a farm," Sommers theorized. "And we came up with a brilliant combination in Eddie Albert and Eva Gabor. They work together like a dream."

Tic-Tac-Toe Is Back Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Television game shows, like fashions in clothes, move in cycles and if you can hang on to an idea long enough, it is bound to turn up in style again. That fine childhood game, tic-tac-toe, again is the basis of a day-time diversion.

Seven years ago, NBC abruptly dumped a show called "Tic Tac Dough" amid the uproar surrounding the great quiz show scandal. Monday morning a half-hour show was born on NBC called "Hollywood Squares." The inspiration once again was the familiar parlor game with its circles and crosses.

Nine television personalities — you can't have a game show without television celebrities — occupy the nine squares in which the game is played. One of two audience contestants — these are mandatory, — picks his star and the smiling host fires a question at the celebrity who must make some answer, preferably funny. Somehow these answers are turned into circles or crosses. Sample questions included such subjects as George Washington's teeth, Noah's age and the method used by Eskimo women to soften leather.

It is a cut above some of the day-time truck masquerading as entertainment, but there must be some better way to use a half-hour.

Earlier on the network came the debut of "The Pat Boone Show." This one tries to crowd into a half hour the ingredients of the more leisurely music-and-talk programs.

Boone, exuding wholesome boyish charm, opened the show with home movies of his family and sang a song. Guest Eddie Adams also sang and did a quick, rather nervous imitation of the First Lady. Best thing in the initial show was the appearance of Johnny Carson who was greeted affusively by Boone and asked to say something funny.

"Jack Benny," said Carson, and disappeared, never to return.

Monday's really big television event came on ABC's "Peyton Place" when the strange wild girl taken into the hospital finally spoke. She didn't say much, but this was Leigh Taylor-Young, who seems to be the cast replacement for Mia Farrow.

Like Mia in the old days, this young actress has long hair, big eyes and an innocent air. She is also definitely linked with Mia's old character Allison, who disappeared in the woods a couple of months ago. Anyway, the new girl — no one knows her name yet — was found clutching Allison's bracelet.

NEW LOOK AT HUNGARY

Hungary a decade after the 1956 revolution against the Communist will be explored in a one-hour program, "Back to Budapest," on Nov. 13 on NBC. Frank Bourgholtzer, who covered the uprising, will report on life in Hungary today.

Christopher George Goes Unrecognized

NEW YORK (AP) — Christopher George, co-star of the new television season's only certified hit, "Rat Patrol," flew into New York this week and for the next 24 hours not a single fan had recognized him.

"I think that if I wore that crazy Anzac hat, they might have," said George, only mildly dashed. "A lot of people give me a second look, as if they thought I looked familiar. Tom Poston was in a restaurant last night and eyed me two or three times with a puzzled manner — then he gave up too."

"Rat Patrol" is currently a controversial property. The Spanish location was chosen because of the weather, and the existence of a mile-square area near Almeria that looks like African desert and contains film facilities built for movie-making.

Production costs too must have entered into the matter. The trade publication Variety estimates that they are between 50 and 60 per cent lower than they would be in Hollywood.

But the production of the series in Spain has caused anguish among the Hollywood studio unions who hate to see any production by American companies get beyond their jurisdiction. In fact, they have been grumbling so loudly that there is a big chance that when "Rat Patrol" shooting is resumed, it may be back in the Southern California desert we see over and over in outdoor shows.

The show has been a critical hit as well as a success in the ratings. It is headed by people who normally make their base in Hollywood — three of the four co-stars, the producer, directors and others. And they fly in guest stars from California. But a large number of the people

Palaces Visited
"The Royal Palaces," a one-hour program on Great Britain royal palaces and their art treasures, will be televised by NBC Jan. 29, Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle and St. James' Palace are among the buildings that will be visited.

Would You Believe 'Va va va Vroom'?

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Sorry about that." "Would you believe?" "If you haven't heard or read these expressions, there's a good chance that you are either a Basque shepherd or a Trappist monk.

Most other citizens use or encounter the phrases with unerring regularity. They gained currency through the television series "Get Smart," on which they are uttered by the all-thumbs spy played by comic Don Adams. Thus he carries on what has long been a tradition in radio and television comedy: The repetitive punline.

The man responsible for promulgating "Sorry about that" and "Would you believe?" on the American public is the executive producer of "Get Smart," Leonard Stern.

"The comedy catch phrase can be enormously advantageous in achieving publicity," theorized Stern. "You see them and hear them everywhere."

Some comics shy away from trademark sayings, fearing they themselves will fade when the sayings do. They cite George Gobel and his "Well, I'll be a dirty bird," and "You can't hardly get them no more."

"The dangers are minimal if the phrase is not abused," counters Stern.

Just in case the current pair of sayings go stale, Stern has two more warming in the bullpen: "Missed it by that much" and "Hope I'm not out of line."

Here's a bit of a quiz to test how well you remember such punchlines of the past. If you can guess who originated all 10, it proves one thing: You have devoted a lot of time to radio and television:

1. "That's a joke, son."
2. "Va va va vroom!"
3. "Wanna buy a duck?"
4. "I dood it."
5. "Coming, mother."
6. "I'm a ba-a-ad boy."

7. "That's what I keep telling them down at the office."
8. "Hi-ho, Steverino."
9. "So help me, I'll mow you down."
10. "Tain't funny, McGee."

1. Kanney Delmar as Sen. Claghorn with Fred Allen; 2. Art Carney on "The Honeymooners"; 3. Joe Penner; 4. Red Skelton; 5. Ezra Stone as Henry Aldrich; 6. Lou Costello; 7. Jerry Colonna on the Bob Hope show; 8. Louis Nye as Gordon Hathaway on the Steve Allen show; 9. Charlie McCarthy; 10. Marian Jordan on "Fibber McGee and Molly."

who work in the unit are Spanish.

George, who fell in love with the beautiful countryside and the stimulation of working in a foreign locale, confessed that in many ways it was much harder than acting at home.

"We were at it six days a week and even on the seventh we were usually rehearsing," he said. "For the first six weeks all of us American actors were awfully sick from the change of food and water. And, lets, face it, were were lonely. That's one reason you work so hard — there's not much else to do."

Plane Crash Kills Two; 6 in State Die on Roads

NEW HAVEN (AP)—A man and his wife were killed in a plane crash and traffic accidents claimed six lives, three of them pedestrians in Connecticut during the weekend.

The bodies lifted from the wreckage of the plane that crashed into a cowpasture in Orange Sunday night were identified as Theodore V. Steller, 40, of Monroe and his wife Claire, 37.

The one-engine blue and white craft was on its way from the Bridgeport Municipal Airport to Ansonia Airport, a distance of less than 15 miles, when something went wrong shortly before 10 o'clock.

The motor apparently quit, four hours before the plane crash, a since Frederick Hine, on whose farm the plane crashed, said he heard no engine noise.

"All I heard was a thud," said Hine. The plane smashed almost vertically into the ground about 50 yards from Hine's house and about 200 yards from Route 24, and tipped over on its back.

Steller, who ran a rubbish collection firm in Monroe, bought the plane recently, a relative said.

After the bodies were taken to St. Raphael's Hospital New Haven, police roped off the wreckage pending an investigation by state and federal aviation officials.

The victims were both residents of Chicopee, Mass., and were apparently visiting friends in East Hartford. They were identified as Mrs. Mary Antonio, 38, and Theodore Almeida, 56.

The driver of the car, 21-year-old Lionel Boutin of East Hartford, was charged with negligent homicide and released under $1,000 bond.

Other victims of weekend traffic accidents were:

—Michael J. Elvecky, 17, of Monroe, whose car veered off Jockey Hollow Road in Monroe and hit a tree Saturday night.

—Nine-year-old Lisa Larson of Branford, killed when a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Adele Larson, hit a utility pole off Damascus Road in Branford Saturday.

Zoo's Chimps Recovered OK

NEW YORK (AP)—Tarzan and Jane, 15-month-old chimpanzees who were abducted early Saturday from Brooklyn's Prospect Park zoo, were found today—in a telephone booth.

An anonymous tip to police sent them to Myrtle and Franklin Avenues. They opened the door of the booth and there were the chimps, huddled in a cardboard carton.

Ronald Ellis, the zoo's head keeper, Sunday issued a warning to the abductors, saying they "had better be an expert at handling chimps."

A detective on the case explained, "Jane's a biter."

As for rumors of an elopement, one keeper commented, "they fought sometimes."

NY Times Supports Gengras

HARTFORD (AP)—The New York Times endorsed Republican gubernatorial challenger Clayton Gengras today for election in Connecticut Nov. 8, but backed most of the six incumbent Democrats in the congressional races.

The Times said "it is time for a change..." in calling for Gengras' election over Gov. John Dempsey. The newspapers said Dempsey "simply inherited the office when Abraham Ribicoff resigned to enter the Cabinet" in 1961.

The paper said Dempsey "has demonstrated that his chief talent is for offending no one." On patronage, "he has faithfully followed the recommendations of John Bailey, the Democratic Party's shrewd state boss."

The newspaper said the "critical contest" among the congressional candidates is in the 4th District, where U.S. Rep. Donald J. Irwin "has shown courage on foreign affairs and civil liberties issues."

Also winning endorsement were Congressmen Emilio Q. Daddario in the 1st District, William L. St. Onge in the 2nd and John S. Monagan in the 5th.

In the 8th District the Times recommended the election of Republican Thomas J. Meskill on the grounds that the record of Rep. Bernard F. Grabowski "remains undistinguished."

The Times position in the 3rd District was not clear.

"Rep. Robert N. Gialmo, whom we have endorsed in the past," the paper said, "completed a rather disappointing record in this Congress. We note particularly his vote against the administration's home rule bill for the District of Columbia, his votes on both sides of the rent subsidy issue, and his opposition to a long-term foreign aid authorization."

His Republican opponent is unimpressive."

The GOP candidate challenging Gialmo is Tell Stelio Salmona.

Martha Raye in Viet Nam Noted Comedienne In Serious Role

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Comedienne Martha Raye, a front-line trouper for 24 years, changed her routine last week. She donned fatigues and worked for two days in an Army field dispensary, cleaning wounds, changing bandages and comforting GIs wounded in a Mekong Delta battle.

The twangy-voiced brunette, who has gone from outpost to tiny outpost throughout Viet Nam to entertain American servicemen, sang, danced and ribbed the men of two Army aviation helicopter companies stationed in the Mekong Delta town of Soc Trang.

The next morning, the chopper pilots and their crews delivered Vietnamese soldiers to the paddy fields and marshlands of the delta to charge the entrenched Viet Cong. As the first helicopters settled into the landing zones, they were met by intense fire. The landing zones were in the stronghold of a Viet Cong battalion.

Additional troops were brought in, and in the battle that followed four American helicopters were shot down and 20 were damaged. American casualties began arriving by 8 a.m. at the small Soc Trang dispensary.

Miss Raye, a former nurse, arrived about the same time, dressed in Army fatigues and volunteering for duty.

"She worked all day—until 9 that night—doing everything she could," one corpsman said.

One of the first things she did was donate a pint of blood to a badly wounded sergeant. Then it was hour after hour of scrubbing and preparing the wounded for surgery, helping the surgeons, changing bandages, and cheering up men awaiting evacuation to field hospitals in Vung Tau or Saigon.

Miss Raye's show did not go on that night. The next morning she was back at the hospital in her stained fatigues, helping the one doctor and eight corpsmen care for the patients.

Shortly before noon, when the work eased, Miss Raye flew 80 miles north to Vinh Long and performed that night for another unit of Army chopper crews who fly Vietnamese troops into battle.

"She did a lot for the morale of the men who'd been shot up, and she did a lot for ours, too," said a corpsman at the dispensary.

Lt. Col. James E. Kennedy, commander of the 386th Army Aviation Company at Soc Trang, recommended that the War Department cite Miss Raye for her unscheduled performance in the dispensary.

Johnson Urges Allies To Show Viet Unity

War Far from Over Westmoreland Says

MANILA (AP)—The U.S. commander in Viet Nam told the Manila summit conference today the war is "far from over" and he will need more troops in the days ahead, but President Johnson said a display of unity by the allies here should provide new fuel for the cause of peace.

"Let the bullets of the world know that when they do sit back their neighbors will be there to resist," the President said in this first day of meetings among the leaders of nations fighting Communists in Viet Nam.

Johnson was the last speaker of the day. His remarks came after Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander, reported to the leaders that allied forces are increasingly effective in battling the Communists.

Westmoreland said troop morale was high.

"The troops are the finest ever fielded; they understand the conflict and appreciate their complex role as both fighters and builders."

The session in which Westmoreland and the President spoke was closed to the public, but their remarks were given to newsmen later by U.S. spokesmen. White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers gave the account of Johnson's remarks.

Johnson summed up what he portrayed as the four main principles of the summit.

Tanker Burning Out of Control Off Louisiana

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP)—Flames raged out of control through an oil and gasoline-laden tanker 60 miles south-west of here today, forcing the crew to abandon ship. The Coast Guard said seven of the 40 crewmen are missing.

The Gulf Stag, a 572-foot vessel, was settling and believed sinking at midmorning.

Another tanker, the Atlantic Prestige, picked up the Gulf Stag's captain and many of the crewmen.

The Gulf Stag's master, whose name was not available, said he believed all his crewmen had abandoned ship. He said seven crewmen are missing.

A Coast Guard helicopter took three badly-burned crewmen to a Morgan City hospital. A doctor at the hospital said the trio suffered second-degree burns.

The hospital identified the

The clash outside the entrance lasted only a few minutes but the demonstration was continued a short distance away. It was then that police fired about six shots into the air to scatter them.

The noise of the demonstration could easily be heard inside the hotel lobby and the floors above.

State Soldier Loses Hand as Shell Explodes

HARTFORD (AP)—A Connecticut National Guardsman on a weekend training exercise in Old Lyme suffered the loss of his right hand after picking up a live artillery shell, the state adjutant's office reported today.

The shell which exploded and injured Pfc. Richard L. Zaharak, 23, of Torrington, was made prior to World War II, the adjutant general, Maj. Gen. E. Donald Walsh, said.

The incident occurred at the Stone's Ranch military reservation. The soldier, whose unit is Co. A, 2nd Bn., 160th Inf., had just arrived at a training area Saturday, Walsh said, when he picked up the shell he found lying on the ground and it exploded. There were no other persons injured.

Zaharak was reported in excellent condition today by the hospital at the submarine base in Groton, Walsh said. The hand was amputated at Lawrence Memorial Hospital, New London. He also suffered an injury to

Nixon Visit, Debate Weekend Highlights

HARTFORD (AP)—A visit by former vice president Richard M. Nixon, another debate by the gubernatorial candidates and a "poor people's convention" were highlights of Connecticut's weekend political scene.

Nixon made a speech in New London Saturday afternoon before a large crowd of people, including local Republican candidates and perhaps his own chances for the next presidential nomination.

Castigating Congress as a "lapdog" instead of a "watchdog," and blaming inflation on President Johnson, Nixon got an enthusiastic reception from a crowd of over 1,200 at Ocean Beach Park.

But the remark that brought down the house was a reference to State Sen. Peter P. Mariani, longtime congressional foe for the GOP gubernatorial nomination who made a strong statement last week supporting the man who won the job, Clayton Gengras.

"I want to congratulate Pete Mariani," said Nixon, "for providing the united front that our party needs."

Nixon boosted the GOP candidate for Congress in the Second District, Joseph H. Goldberg of Norwich.

All but scrapping his prepared text, Nixon said that if another "Johnson Congress" is elected, "there will be an America in which the majority of Americans—not just those who are poor—will have their rent paid by the federal government; in which all Americans will have a guaranteed income paid by the government, whether they work or not; in which decisions about what will be taught in our schools will be made in Washington; and in which cities will be planned, not by local communities, but by bureaucrats in Washington."

Nixon said, "A vote for Johnson's Congress in November is a vote for an economic recession in 1967."

TELEVISED DEBATE

On Sunday, Gengras and Gov. John Dempsey squared off in another televised interview-debate, this time in the studios of WCBS-TV in New York City.

Dempsey said Connecticut has the finest civil rights program of any state in the United States and he cited the experimental program in which children from crowded schools in Hartford are bused out to schools in the suburbs.

Bereaved Parents Accuse Coal Board

ABERFAN, Wales (AP)—Bereaved parents brought up today to an inquiry for young victims of the coal slag slide that buried Aberfan's village school.

A man whose wife and two sons were killed in Friday's "black glacier" told the coroner to record a verdict of "buried alive" by the National Coal Board.

The board, which runs Britain's state-owned mines, has been accused of neglect in allowing the giant slag heap to grow to the point where it collapsed.

To date, 143 bodies have been recovered, all but 17 of them children.

Sixty parents were present at the inquiry for the first 24 victims identified. In the uproar, women called out: "They killed our children."

Courier Benjamin Hamilton

tried to calm the distraught mothers and fathers by saying: "I know your grief is such that you may not realize what you are saying."

He reminded the parents "an inquiry will be held at a later date when you will be able to state your grievances."

One father, his face twisted in sorrow, replied: "We had an inquiry on Friday night when we stood and saw our children murdered."

Under British law, inquests on all violent deaths are held as soon as possible after the event.

Officials estimated that more than 50 others were still under the waste and slime that descended on the village school Friday from the man-made mountain of coal mine refuse.

Hundreds of miners and volunteers struggled on through the night, shoveling away the

Open Sessions Slated On School Pay Talks

The board of education last night began preliminary talks with the Manchester Education Association, representing the town's teachers, on a written contract for salaries and working conditions for the next fiscal year.

The major decision reached about 88 per cent of the total budget. Rottner said the board believes it should strive to lower the ratio of 85 to 15 per cent, in order to provide better for continuing school maintenance.

This decision came over the objections of MEA negotiating team heads Miss Martha White and Robert Geagan, who spoke for the association.

The MEA position was that it would be better "for matters of expediency" to hold some of the talks in closed session, Miss White said.

But chairman John Rottner refused, saying that the MEA could only hold "exploratory" sessions with its agents, Suppl. of Schools William Curtis and that all other sessions must be public.

"The board," said Rottner, "doesn't have the right to delegate its final policy decisions to the superintendent."

Another "initial point on which the two sides disagreed was over the position of the assistant superintendent."

Rottner said the board felt that this position should not be under the MEA's jurisdiction since it requires the same type of certification as the superintendent.

The MEA, however, held that all personnel below the rank of superintendent should be covered under the negotiated contract.

Both the MEA and board agreed in principle that the budget arrived at for the coming year should be kept at a ratio of 87 per cent for salary to 13 per cent for non-salary items.

This year salaries account for 88 per cent of the total budget.

Keystone's David Lawrence, 'Maker of Presidents,' Dies

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — speech at the 1960 Democratic convention. The name of David L. Lawrence was not too well known outside Pennsylvania, except to men like Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Lawrence, who died Monday at the age of 77, spent his political career spotlighted in Pennsylvania as four-term mayor of Pittsburgh and governor.

But nationally Lawrence worked backstage, influencing Democratic councils and earning the title "maker of presidents."

"I regarded Gov. Lawrence as one of the last of the major political forces in the Democratic party and a force for good," said Truman.

Lawrence was credited with helping propel Truman into the vice-presidential nomination in 1944.

A dozen years before he had helped engineer the nomination of Roosevelt as president.

Lawrence was called "a personal friend and adviser" and said, "a genuine friend does not produce many such leaders as Gov. Lawrence."

Lawrence delivered Johnson's vice-presidential nomination and a son.

President Johnson, Mrs. Graham said she had been tutored in a full "while performing my duties as treasurer" but said she had hoped to return to the job.

"Since I have not been permitted to return to my office, I submit my resignation rather than hold this important position without performing its duties," she wrote.

Fowler, in his reply letter, said the resignation was a "source of deep personal regret to me."

Planner Sees State 'Filled' Within 33 Years

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut is a small state with a growing population, and without long range planning, its open spaces, including farmland, could be filled up within the next 33 years, according to a land use expert.

Robert D. Brown of the Capital Region Planning Agency said Monday at the annual Connecticut Development Conference that one way to save land is to develop more efficient transportation systems.

Horace H. Brown, an official of the Connecticut Interregional Planning Agency, said Connecticut could resemble the "urban sprawl" of Los Angeles some day.

ZBA Passes Six Requests

The Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) last night unanimously approved all of the six requests which were up for public hearings, including the one for a full auto accessory and repair business on the south side of V. Middle Tpk., east of the "Arden" entrance and just west of the new Hartford Veterans Bank branch, now under construction.

Main Auto Care, a six-store chain with offices in West Hartford, will construct a 40 by 125 foot, six-bay building on a 100 by 180 foot parcel, owned by Alexander Jarvis.

In addition to the six stalls, the building will feature a showroom. About 15 full-time and part-time workers will be employed.

Eugene Frankel, vice president of the chain, told the ZBA last night that the operation will be similar to the Sears Automotive Store on Broad St., except that no gasoline will be sold. He said that about 8 to 10 cars will be serviced each hour and that no plans exist for servicing trucks.

The other five requests approved last night were for:

1. Donald E. Wilson, an extension of permission to have a limited repairer's license at his 411 Hartford Rd. service station. The permission is for the duration of Wilson's operation of the station.

2. Leon Lubian, a four-year extension of permission to have a used car dealer's license (limited to the showing of five cars) at 85 Oakland St.

3. Ernest and Margaret Segenberg, a variance to erect an addition to their dwelling at 38 S. Adams St. to the rear of the existing building.

4. Theodore J. Stapanik, a variance to erect a rear addition to his garage at 42 Conroy St., now closer to the sidewalk than regulations permit. The garage was built in 1951, before the existing zoning regulations went into effect.

5. Harry S. Howroyd, a variance to erect a carport at 31 Conroy Rd. to be closer to the sidewalk than regulations permit.

There was no public opposition to any of the six requests.

DRONIN INDICTED

HARTFORD (AP)—Robert Drouin, 25, is scheduled to plead guilty to the slaying of a 41-year-old widow who lived next door to him in Gentryville, N.Y., on Monday.

Drouin was indicted Monday by a Superior Court grand jury, which also indicted a candidate for a B. S. degree in education. Drouin is accused of shooting Mrs. Kryatek from Monson Academy in Monson, Mass., in Sept. 1. Another neighbor spotted Mrs. Kryatek's body on the floor of her kitchen the next day.

There will be a celebration of Mrs. Kryatek, a piano teacher, had been shot several times and her body was covered with bruises, police said.

ZBA Chairman

Atty. John F. Clifford last night was re-elected chairman of the Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) and John A. Caglianella of 85 Crestwood Dr. was re-elected secretary, both to their fifth consecutive terms. Both men are Democrats.

Clifford, on the ZBA since 1958, works for the Veterans Administration in the Hartford area. A 1947 graduate of Hillier College, now the University of Hartford, he received his bachelor of laws degree from the University of Connecticut in 1952 and passed the state bar examinations the same year.

Caglianella was appointed to the ZBA in 1959 and is now serving his second five-year term. He is an insurance consultant with the Manchester office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Classes have been canceled this week during the holiday season. The Couples Club of the church will meet Saturday at 8 p.m. in the parish hall. The church will hold a "Who's Who in America" breakfast on "Vacations." Reservations for the breakfast will be held by signing a prepared sheet in the narthex of the church.

Mission Units to Meet

Wapping Community Church, First Congregational Church and St. Peter's Episcopal Church will meet tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the parish hall of St. Peter's, Sand Hill Rd.

Murder Charge Lodged Against State Youth, 16

DARLEN (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Henry Goyette, who disappeared after leaving his home for school last Friday morning, is being held in Illinois on a murder charge, according to Darlen police.

Goyette was arrested Sunday in connection with the fatal stabbing of a gas station attendant in Kentland, Ind., police said.

The Darlen youth was arrested across the state line in Illinois and was being held at the Iroquois County sheriff's office in Watsela, Ill.

In addition to the murder charge, Goyette also faces a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. This charge was brought by the U.S. Attorney in Hammond, Ind.

Victim of the stabbing was 21-year-old Marvin R. Zoby of Watsela, who worked at a service station in Kentland. Zoby was stabbed in the back with a hunting knife, police said, and died on the way to a hospital.

Bolton Architect Proposes 2-Stage School Core

A complete report of the architect's suggestion to build core facilities for a proposed elementary school in two stages was read at a short meeting of the public building commission (PBC) last night.

The original estimate for 12 rooms, including two kindergarten, and core facilities for 24 classrooms, was $689,900.

But Robert Leland of the architectural firm Malmfred Associates, now suggests that the interests of the town's debt limit, that core facilities be built in stages also, bringing the estimated cost of stage one down to $500,000.

The all-purpose room and the library would be the major core facilities held over for construction in stage two. In the meantime, the cafeteria would serve as an all-purpose room, and one classroom would serve as a temporary library.

The school in stage one would be built for 400 pupils.

Stage two would add 14 more rooms, the additional core facilities and bring the capacity to 800 pupils.

The architect estimates the cost of stage two at $189,900, and the total cost of the 24-room school at $689,800.

Leland also figured an increase of $42,450 in state aid for construction if the core facilities were built in stages rather than all at once.

The architect has made drawings of the two stages which they have not presented to the PBC. A meeting is to be arranged for this afternoon at 5 p.m. The board of education will be invited.

The PBC will acquire the location of the school under this change in construction ideas by letter. The chairman of the board spoke together about the proposal last week, and the information was passed along to the board of education at its meeting last Monday.

The PBC letter will note that the construction change is not in accordance with the original board of education educational specifications for the elementary school. But Kenneth Matthews, Mason member of both boards, said he didn't foresee any difficulties.

The board of finance had informed the public at a hearing last month that the estimated cost of a cafeteria-auditorium addition to the high school and the elementary school would exceed the town beyond its borrowing capacity.

In his letter to the PBC, Leland said that the estimate reduction might help the debt limit situation.

Transportation Arranged for Special Pre-School Class

These youngsters attend the pre-school classes at Keeney St. School which are sponsored by the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Greater Hartford. They live in Manchester, Glastonbury and Wapping, and this year their transportation problems have been solved by the association which has leased a station wagon from Dillon Ford under a special rate. Mrs. Raymond Normann, their teacher, helps John Lupacchino as the other children wait their turn. In background is Mrs. Carleton Chase, helping teacher. Volunteer drivers not shown in picture are Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Colton of 743 Tolland Tpke. The classes, formed last year, are held five mornings a week. According to Mrs. Normann, a few more children can still be accommodated. Any parents in the area wishing to enroll a palsy-afflicted child may contact Mrs. Normann at the school daily before noon. An exceptionally long agenda, including some carryover items from October, will be tackled by the Board of Directors tonight. Its special meeting, at which the public will be permitted to speak, will be held at 8 in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Financial items on the agenda consist of one additional appropriation of $1,500; four allocations of funds, totaling $62,000; one transfer of $1,800; and two sidewalk-fall settlements, totaling $7,500.

In other business, the board will appoint an acting general manager, an acting secretary of the board, four members to the Human Relations Commission, two members to the Administration Council on Economic Opportunity, and one member to the Town Development Commission. It will consider appointment to several citizen-participation committees and two additions to the Action Commission for the Aging.

Also, it will consider approving the sale of nine town-owned parcels on Ferguson Rd., authorizing the manager to sign an amended agreement with the

District to Discuss Renewal, Sewer Lines

The 8th District Board of Directors is scheduled to meet Nov. 30 with the town manager and three other officials to discuss urban renewal and sewage disposal in the proposed industrial and commercial center to be located in Buckland.

Rescue Markers Now Available

The board has invited General Manager Robert Weiss; Edward Tysocik, director of the Manchester Redevelopment Agency; Thomas J. Hackett, head of the Thomas J. Hackett Realty-Management Co. of Hartford; and Alfred Werber, head of the Town Development Commission.

The meeting will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. in the 8th District firehouse.

At last month's meeting, the board said it would be receptive to furnishing sewage disposal facilities for the proposed 52-acre center, which is the site of the old Hackett farm on N. Main St.

Hackett had said he envisioned problems of sewage disposal in the area as the center develops beyond the first stage. Town sewers do not extend to the Buckland area. Hackett had said septic tanks would be used for the first section of the center.

At last night's meeting, the board discussed several proposals with Mayor Nathan Agostinelli, including expansion of sewer lines in the North End.

The board told Agostinelli they would renew expanded to include Union Pond, April 21, and the proposed connector to Parker St.

The board also favors a post office in the North End, and housing for senior citizens there, for a swimming pool in the Robertson Park, Agostinelli said he had taken steps toward the creation of the pool in the North End by the town.

The board feels the leaving deprives North End children of recreation in the summer. The board said also it wanted exterior illumination on the building and improved lighting in the gymnasium.

The board also discussed with Agostinelli the installation of fire alarms in Bentley, Wadwell and Bowers Schools. The board noted the schools have no inter-feral fire alarms.

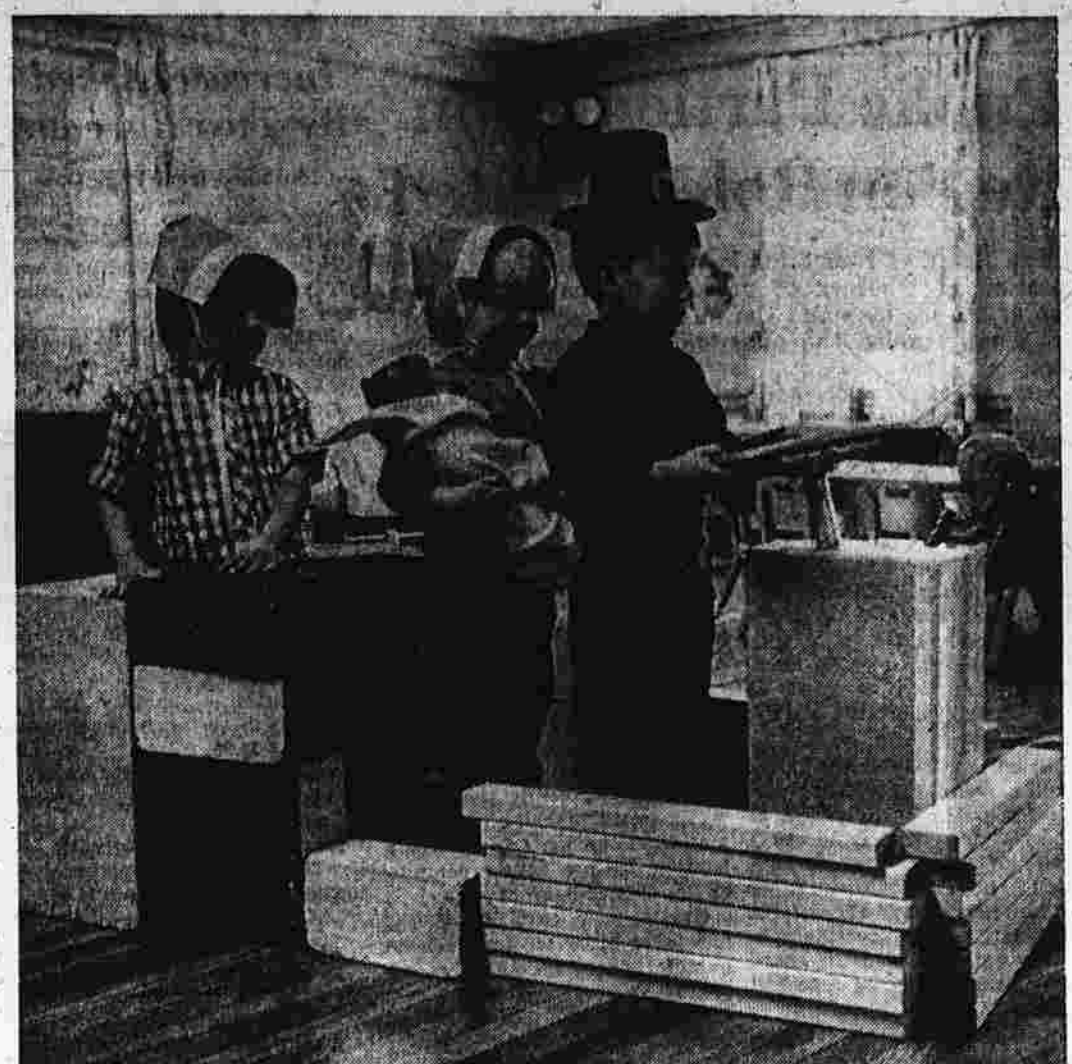

In other business, board President Victor Swanson officially swore in Harold A. Osgood Sr. to the board of directors.

Osgood, of 29 Cumberland St., was elected to the board last week by 8th District taxpayers so fill in the unexpected term to June 1968, vacated in September by the resignation of Winslow Manchester.

District firemen made 19 fire calls from Oct. 10 to Nov. 10, including six calls outside the district, a monthly report from 8th District Fire Chief Francis J. Limerick shows.

The 19 calls included six miscellaneous calls, three appliance fires, two car fires, one waste paper fire, one dump fire, two town fires, one leave fire, two wood fires, and one electrical fire.

Grain Output Spurred
BUENOS AIRES—Recent increases in minimum prices paid to Argentine grain producers are expected to help bolster this country's grain production and further expansion of exports. In the past decade grain exports have gained 50 per cent, making Argentina the world's largest grain exporter.

Columbia Parish Men To Receive Communion

The men of St. Columba's parish are to receive Holy Communion as a group at the 10:30 a.m. Mass Dec. 4. The Mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Hugh Murphy. Following the mass, the men will travel to Lindy's Restaurant in Willimantic for a Communion breakfast.

Co-chairmen Herbert Winkler and Milton Anthony stated that this is the second in a series of activities sponsored by the Holy Name Society for the men of the parish.

Reservations may be made with either man by Nov. 27. The society is planning additional activities in an effort to promote good fellowship in the parish and the community.

The co-chairmen added that attendance at an earlier Mass does not exempt anyone from attending the breakfast. Transportation will be available from the church should anyone need it.

Survey Plane Due

BOSTON, (AP)—A twin-engine survey plane is to fly at about 500 feet over portions of New England during the next 10 days.

It will be a Geological Survey Convair 440 on a routine low-altitude flight making aerial magnetic studies.

The Geological Survey, an agency of the Department of the Interior, said Monday the aircraft will sweep an area from Duxbury to Easthampton, along the coast north to Boston and west of Worcester from Wachusett Mountain to the Connecticut River near Amherst.

Other flights will be over Buzzards Bay and Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts, and in Connecticut from Bridgeport to the New York State line.

Girl's Brief Poem Recalls JFK Tragedy

FALAMAZZO, Mich. (AP)—The assassination of President John F. Kennedy three years ago today means millions of Americans, but to Candy Geer, then a 16-year-old high school student, it meant more.

Candy, who had never written anything but a school composition or a letter, put her address and a 42-line poem that was published and has been read across the country.

Candy is a coed now at Western Michigan University, but she remembers well the events of November 1963—particularly the television coverage of the president's funeral—that led her to write the poem "Six White Horses."

"It struck me as odd the way the horses that drew Kennedy's hearse" came up to the door of the White House. It was sort of like they were calling for him. Candy also was moved by the television view of the president's son, John, then 35. She wrote the poem through tears.

It reads in part:

"Six white horses came today
To take my daddy far away
Mommy said I must be good
And study hard for my school."
I have on a big boy's suit
And now it's my turn to salute
I do it just like big boys do
Because I have to be one too."

Candy wrote the poem in half an hour, sitting in front of the television set in her family's home in the Detroit suburb of Grosse Pointe.

Her father, Dr. William Geer, is a dentist. She has two brothers, aged 11 and 22.

"I didn't even show it to my mother," she recalls. "Usually I showed everything I wrote to my parents."

A classmate saw the poem over Candy's shoulder as she copied it during class the next day. He passed it on to others in the class.

"Hand-written copies of the poem were passed from pupil to pupil at Grosse Pointe High and at other schools."

It was published by the Grosse Pointe News where it was read by Charles Mason, an executive of the Detroit Edison Co. "I saw it immediately as a

Man Who Shot Meredith Begins Term on Dec. 2

HERNANDO, Miss. (AP)—Albrey James Norvell is scheduled to surrender to authorities here Dec. 2 to begin serving a penitentiary term for the ambush shooting of civil rights leader James H. Meredith last June.

The former hardware salesman from Memphis was sentenced to five years, with three years suspended, after entering a surprise plea of guilty Monday to a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. He is free under $25,000 bond.

Norvell pleaded innocent at his arraignment last Friday and black smoke over a mile into the air was scheduled for today. His new plea came after his attorneys lost several motions to have indictments quashed.

Norvell, 40, was arrested June 4, minutes after Meredith, 39, was shot in the back by a sniper who integrated the University of Mississippi amid bloodshed in 1962, was peppered with bullets on the second day of his "march against fear" in Mississippi.

Meredith was not seriously injured. Later he joined a massive civil rights march touched off by the shooting.

A second indictment, returned against Norvell in connection with the same incident—aiming and discharging a firearm at N.Z. Trout of the state highway patrol—has been set for trial Nov. 28.

The grand jury which indicted Norvell last week consisted of 22 white men and six Negroes.

Volcano Erupts

TOKYO (AP)—A volcano, on a small island off Kagoshima, 800 miles southwest of Tokyo, erupted today, the Japanese Meteorological Agency said.

The island's 1,000 people were reported fleeing.

The agency said that the 1,800-foot mountain on Kuchino-shu island exploded twice, sending lava and a column of black smoke over a mile into the sky. Some fires were caused in nearby forests. The island is about six miles long and three miles wide.

Petitions Replacing Slack After the Election Fever

This has been a busy week for petition circulators and signers in Coventry. With election and campaign excitement over for another year, citizens have turned their attention to three other matters currently on their minds.

One petition, circulated by Paul McGinnis of Twin Hills Dr., is asking the town to relocate a fire arm presently in operation on the easterly side of Twin Hills Dr. The arm, while recognized as a necessity, has never been tested, has never been repaired, and is a source of fear to the inhabitants of the area, which is heavily populated, want to see it moved to a less densely populated location.

The second petition, which in two parts, was circulated by Stephen Loyzin of Goose Lane. The first part asks for "assignment of top priority in the improvement of Brigham Tavern Road on its intersection with Merrow Road on the north side of the town. The second part of the double petition is a request "to the board of selectmen to appoint a charter commission pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 90 of the General Statutes of Connecticut."

Last week, the Republican Women's Club in Coventry announced that it is undertaking a survey in the town to get the feeling of citizens about possible formation of a new charter commission. A new form of government, some citizens feel, is necessary because of the rapid growth of the town and the problems that arise under this circumstance.

Last year, a town charter was presented to the voters at a referendum and was defeated. Despite problems of rapid growth, it is still possible in Coventry for thirty citizens to sign a petition asking for a town meeting on whatever issue they wish to discuss. As one petition signer put it, "If the town administration ignores our wishes, we can always resort to government by petition."

Several possibilities exist to deal with the snag. Lowis said it would be nice to find more money, he noted, but this is unlikely. He also suggested putting the work on hold until again and making cuts in original renovation plans, but this would follow - through was voted.

To deal with the immediate problem of space expansion, the old HELCO building, now owned by Jarvis Construction Co. because a more likely possibility. An official of Jarvis too large.

MCC Again Eyeing Old HELCO Building

Facing increasing pressure for space as its student body grows, Manchester Community College will make a greater effort to get for its use the old Hartford Electric Light Co. building on Hartford Rd.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Regional Advisory Council of the college yesterday evening at Manchester High School, members discussed the problems of expanding space.

Last week, plans for renovation of the Nike site ran into a snag as bids came in at a much higher estimate than expected. The lowest bid was by Conyers Construction Co., which bid $14,700.

Theodore Powell, chief executive officer of the State Board for Regional Community Colleges, said the State Board had allotted a price of $211,000 for the construction.

President Frederick Lowe, said the main differences between what the state estimated and what the contractors estimated is in electrical and mechanical work.

Officials of the college had set up more definite plans for the meeting.

It was decided that a "Desert Meeting" will be held for legislators at the high school on Dec. 2. Invitations will be sent to about 25 legislators on the east side of the Connecticut River.

Several of the members left, and the committee remained to set up more definite plans for the meeting.

History Group To Hear Talk On Mark Twain

Mrs. Edith Colgate Salisbury of Hartford, an author and a trustee of the Mark Twain Memorial, will speak at the November meeting of the Manchester Historical Society Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Hiling Junior High School. Her topic will be "Mark Twain as a Father."

The meeting will be open without charge to all members of the historical society and their guests.

Mrs. Salisbury is the author of a biography which centers on the life of Samuel Clemens' eldest daughter, Susy, entitled, "Susy and Mark Twain: Family Dialogues." It was published in 1965 by Harper & Row and was an outcome of research conducted by Mrs. Salisbury in connection with her work of helping in the restoration of the Mark Twain Memorial in Hartford.

Mrs. Salisbury is quoted on the jacket of her book: "I started research in 1963 and by 1968 came to the conclusion that I must share the knowledge I had acquired about Mark Twain and his family."

"It was fortunate to gain access to a great many unpublished letters and family documents through Mrs. Clemens' relatives in Elm St. Bangor, tragically short life paralleled the era in which the Hartford House was of major importance to the Clemens family."

Of the biographer, the publisher comments: "This narrative focuses upon the lifetime of Susy Clemens, (1872-1898) her family's happiest years. Mrs. Salisbury tells the story in dialogue form: Susy and her immediate family, their relatives, friends and servants speak for themselves through quotations from letters, journals and manuscripts, with brief explanatory material by the narrator" (Mrs. Salisbury).

Mrs. Salisbury born in Bedford, N.Y., was educated at the Bedford Rippon School, the Ethel Walker School in Simsbury, and at Smith College, where she earned her B.A. in 1929.

She later studied painting at the Art Students League, at the Studio of Jonas Lee, president of the American Academy, and September 1955 by Harper & Row and was an outcome of research conducted by Mrs. Salisbury in connection with her work of helping in the restoration of the Mark Twain Memorial in Hartford.

Two Youths Held For Murder of Brother Vanel

STOUGHTON, Mass. (AP)—Todd Gibson, 19, and George A. Anderson, 18, both of Boston, are being held without bail for the grand jury on murder charges in Oct. 30 shooting death of Brother Albert Vanel 86, at the Sacred Heart School in Sharon.

Judge Gregory W. Grover of Stoughton District Court Monday ordered Anderson returned to the state prison at Waldpole where he is completing a three-year term for a previous conviction. Gibson was sent to the Norfolk County House of Correction at Dedham to await action by a Norfolk County Grand Jury.

Two witnesses who testified at the hearing placed the two Tolland Public Health Nursing youths at the scene of the killing.

Other officers are Catholic brother's death, the Rev. J. Clifford Curtis, vice chairman; Mrs. Clarence Smith, chairman; Mrs. Clarence Smith, secretary; and Mrs. Richard Shorne, treasurer.

Mrs. Donald Miller was appointed chairman of the practice committee.

City Welcomes Santa in Sleigh, Not Helicopter

CLEPTON, N.J. (AP)—Santa Claus, says the City Council, is neither a public official nor a foreign power. So he can't land in the city.

A department store (W.T. Grant Co.) had applied for permission to land Santa in a helicopter at a shopping plaza Friday to launch the Christmas shopping season.

But an ordinance forbids flying machines from landing in Clifton's airports 12 square miles. The two exceptions are public officials and foreign powers.

"Well, isn't Santa Claus in Clifton a foreign country?" asked Mayor Joseph Vanscoke. He drew a laugh but no supporting votes.

The council turned down the request Monday.

"We love Santa Claus in Clifton," said a councilman. "We welcome him by sea, land... any way but by air."

Guardian Angel (with briefcase)

Somewhere today a young scientist is on the threshold of a new discovery that will benefit millions of human beings...

Somewhere today a widow and her children have been given the courage and the means to face the future...

Somewhere today the owners of a young and thriving business, gutted by fire, are rolling up their sleeves and making a fresh and enthusiastic start...

Somewhere today the victim of an auto accident is leaving the hospital with all his bills paid and heading for home in a car that's good as new...

That young scientist acquired his technical knowledge because his father was wise enough to provide for his education through an insurance program—and because somewhere an insurance agent was able to convince that father of the importance of that protection and service.

Yes, the world we live and work in is a brighter and a better place for all of us because of the insurance agent—that dedicated professional man or woman whose patience, persistence and unshakable belief in the service he renders does so much to protect us against the day-to-day hazards of living and contributes so much to our future security.

Here, in Connecticut, we're especially fortunate—for we're blessed with a reservoir of superbly trained and knowledgeable agents whose devotion to their profession has earned our trust, our confidence and our gratitude. Small wonder so many people think of the insurance agent as that "guardian angel—with briefcase."

Towns Are Invited to Detail Petitions for Local Colleges

HARTFORD (AP)—A public hearing is set Monday for towns to tell why they feel they need a community college in their area.

A list of guidelines for towns to prove that they need a two-year college in their area was presented Monday by the State Board of Regional Community Colleges.

Scheduled to be heard by the board at Monday's hearing in the State Capitol are representatives of these regions: Milford area, North Central (Enfield-Thompsonville), South Central and Southwestern (New Haven - Greenwich - Stamford), Capitol West (Hartford and suburbs), Ansonia-Derby-Woodbridge area, southeastern (Norwich-Colchester), New Haven shore line, Bristol-New Britain area, and Central Naugatuck Valley.

The guidelines set down by the board include what is called evidence of "collectiveness" by the town's experience in working with other towns in the area or within a common planning region.

Some others:

- Potential enrollment. How this enrollment would affect existing public or private institutions.
- Student interest.
- Employment or personnel needs of the region.
- Percentage of high school graduates going on to higher education.
- Per capita income.

In addition the board said it would be interested to learn from the towns how they plan to travel to the proposed school from the towns being served, availability of resources and facilities, and official action taken by the town government.

The state now has three community colleges, Manchester, as well as the Middletown branch of the University of Connecticut. The board voted Monday to go of the garage, hit a tree, police ahead with applying for a license.

Rotary Makes Plans For Antiques Market

The Rotary Club of Manchester will sponsor an Antiques Market, Dec. 2 and 3 from 7 to 10 p.m. at the State Armory.

About 35 dealers from Connecticut and Massachusetts plan to exhibit a wide variety of art-objects.

A snack bar will be open throughout the show and offer sandwiches and desserts, plus hot dogs and soda.

Proceeds of the show will benefit youth activities of the club which include scholarships, student loans, handed by the Manchester Scholarship Foundation; an annual Dawn Dance held after the senior reception at Manchester High School; Town Government Day; an annual student trip to the United Nations, and awards to top students at Howell Center Technical School.

Miller Haugh and William Rood are co-chairmen of a coordination committee for the show.

Other chairmen and committees are Kenneth Ostrowski, chairman, Atty. Paul Masto, Bussell Wright, Ernest Bush, Leonard Yost, Ronald Scott and Harry Madlman, correspondents; Herbert Swanson, chairman, Perley Trombly, Neil Myer, Rhozer Flydal, Dr. Edward Smith, John Sullivan and Norman Weil, advertising; Harvey King, chairman, Frank Murray, Bernard Lanevold, John Alvord, Atty. Roberts Heads East In Setting Records

By PETE ZANARDI
Nothing is as unstable as a record book. Like sport itself, it is in a state of constant change. Once in a while it will be almost completely dismantled and rebuilt. This is the case with East Catholic football this fall and the man playing a leading part in it is senior fullback Rick Roberts.

Rick Roberts

Roberts goes into the traditional finale with South Catholic Thanksgiving morning at Mt. Nebo at 11 o'clock with a number of individual records already under his belt and can claim a lot of the credit for another group of team records already established.

The 180-pound Roberts has drawn the attention of several college scouts, scoring nine touchdowns for 54 points and gaining 785 yards through the first eight games, all new standards. His high, 196 yards against Rockville High, is also a new game high.

"Rick should make a fine college back," said East Coach Don Roberts. "He plays with plenty of desire on both defense and offense and runs with both speed and power. It's been a pleasure to coach him."

Praised by Coach... "He has given us some fine performances," Roberts continued. "Even with an injury he would come up with the big play. He has done a fine job."

First Crothers, Burfoot May Be Next Pupil Beat Teacher Last Year. History Could Repeat Again

By EARL YOST
Can history repeat itself in the Five Mile Road Race when pupil turns on teacher? Last year, Ray Crothers showed his heels to John Kelly in winning the Manchester event Thanksgiving morning in record time. Kelly is acknowledged the finest road runner in the county and was tutored in the fine art of running by Crothers.

Thursday morning at 10:30, Ambrose Burfoot will attempt to duplicate Crothers' feat against the master. Both Crothers and Burfoot are protégés of Kelly. Both trained with and were tutored in the fine art of running by Crothers.

SECOND BEST—Jimmy Jackson, 13, 174 Vernon St., Manchester, is shown in action during competition in the sixth annual Punt, Pass and Kick contest held at Yankee Stadium last Sunday. Jackson and 17 other district winners from the New York, Newark and Boston districts punted, passed and place-kicked on the gridiron of the famed stadium before the New York Giants-Atlanta Falcons football game. Jackson, second in his class, was sponsored in the PPK&K program by Dillon Sales & Service of Manchester.

Board to Check Accident Record

Town Safety Director Ernest Turcek announced today that a Safe Driving Citation Program, retroactive to July 1, has been instituted by the Town Safety Committee.

Final and certificates will be awarded to drivers of town vehicles on a yearly basis.

Turcek has appointed an Accident Review Board, consisting of Police Capt. George McCaughy, Rec. Department Superintendent Lawrence Whitehouse.

The board will evaluate accidents, to determine whether they are chargeable to the operators.

The yearly program will run from July 1 to June 30.

Police Checking Theft of Gloves

Police are investigating a shoplifting case at Sears' store at the Parade in which someone apparently scooped $280 worth of gloves off a counter and escaped.

The incident occurred Saturday between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. and while a clerk was out to lunch.

When the employee returned he noticed that the counter was stripped clean, according to police.
