tion and fact, sensationalist assumption and realistic judgment, there still emerges some circumstance or detail which seems to defy common sense, then, and only then, would there seem to be justification for any official reopening of the investigation, for new conclusions by a new set of judges.

We would guess, from our skimming acquaintance with the controversy, that the one final area of almost complete bafflement is likely to prove to be that which concerns the path of the bullet which, in the Warren Commission theory, is believed to have passed through the body of the President and inflicted the wound on Governor Con-

The troublesome assumption the Warren Commission has to make considering the course of this bullet is illustrated, perhaps with unwitting drama, in the official statement which has just come from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, denying the existence of any conflict between FBI reports and the final verdicts of the Warren Commis-

Director Hoover, in the course of this statement, gives two descriptions of the path of this bullet. First, he describes how the autopsy surgeon discovered "a bullet hole in the back below the shoulder." Next Director Hoover describes the examination of the clothing for evidences of the same bullet.

"This examination," he says, "rg November, and, therefore, does not apvealed a small hole in the back of his coat and shirt and a slit characteristic But this, for the past few days, has of an exit hole for a projectile in the been the right kind of weather at the front of the shirt one inch below the Because of what we have succeeded collar button. Or even traveling forward in a straight, level ine, assuming the President might have been hunched forward, which evidence indicates he was not?

The very phrasing of the statement n which Director Hoover answers one of the side issues raised by the critics of the Warren Commission Repor serves, then, to suggest the impossibility of another Commission conclusion quite as graphically as any of the arguments presented by the critics. A theory in which a single bullet proceeds in two directions in order to wound two men is not going to have an easy time defending itself. And there may come a time when the country will want to have a new panel decide whether such a theory can be defended, or should be abandoned.

Visit To The Vet

If you are feeling discouraged about human nature and need to regain little faith in the goodness of your f low-man, try visiting a veterinary office. If you've come to the conclusion that we're all a bunch of savages, cutting each other's cars off at traffic lights, crowding in shead at the supermarket line, backbiting on our fellows at shop or office, sit in the waiting room with people who have brought their small animals to be cared for. ### The Specials Climb Among The Top Ten

NEW YORK (AP) - NBC sprinted back to the lead in the national Nielsen ratings in the report released Monday. OBS dropped back into second place. The averages for the two weeks ending Nov. 6 were NBC, 19.4; CBS, 18.3; and ABC, 16.7.

One interesting aspect of the new list was the strong showing of some special programs. Four made the top 10 and CBS' half - hour Halloween special, "It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown," a cartoon show, actually tied NBC's mighty "Bonanza" for top position. CBS' "Lucy in London" was next, followed by the weekly Red Skelton show on the same network.

Other programs in the top 10 were OBS's Lucy Show, NBC's Ice Follies, tied with OBS' Jackie Gleason Show, CBS Green Acres, ABC's Alice Through the Looking Glass, and CBS' Andy Griffith Show.

None of the new series this season is listed among the top 20 shows, although CBS' "Fam-By Affair," a situation comedy, was in the 22nd spot.

"Rat Patrol," the ABC action series that hit the top 10 at the start of the season and even beat its competition, "The Lucy Show," dropped back to 28th.

Two shows popular in other seasons are faring less well this year. ABC's "The Fugitive" wound up in the lower third of the Nielsen list — probably beligan's Island," which was a hit in a Thursday night time period, has dropped far down the list since CBS moved it to Monday nights. Neither "Batmaa" nor "Peyton Place" is doinig as well as last season.
