Fleet of B52s Near Double

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, aware the Viet Cong fear sudden bombing attacks most, has almost doubled the force of B52s flying missions to Viet Nam.

Sources said today about 20 of the big bombers have joined the 30-plane fleet of Stratofortresses based on Guam, 2,000 miles from South Viet Nam.

Plans are to step up bombing raids against Communist troop concentrations and supply areas.

Informed sources say interrogation of captured Viet Cong shows the guerrillas dread the unexpected rain of bombs more than any hardship or war tactic, including encounters with U.S. ground troops.

The explanation for this is that the guerrillas are fairly successful in avoiding combat with American units. But they get no warning from the high-flying B52s and, unless they are near reinforced underground tunnels, have no way to evade the 500-pound and 750-pound bombs.

Sources said the increase in the B52 force is proof the military command in Saigon is sold on the value of the big bomber, once envisioned only as a deliverer of the nuclear punch.

Critics have alleged that the B52s have questionable value and that using them against the Viet Cong is like shooting at a mouse with a cannon.

SU-111 commanders in South Viet Nam call almost daily for B52 raids to support ground operations.

Since the Stratofortresses went into operation in June 1968 the massive aircraft have flown hundreds of strikes, dropping more than 100,000 tons of explosives.

The B52s can now carry 108 500-pound bombs — 27 tons — per trip.

Although it would not likely be ordered, a 50-plane B52 raid could drop 1,500 tons of explosives against a single target. Generally three to six planes are used in a single strike.

Informed sources mentioned the Viet Cong fear of bombing attacks in a discussion of enemy morale.

These sources said only 20 to 25 per cent of the Viet Cong prisoners who are questioned describe Viet Cong morale as good, while 10 to 15 per cent say fair.

Besides bombing, Viet Cong prisoners mention increased military training, forced indoctrination into service, hardships and the requirement of always staying on the move as factors affecting morale.

Final Day Tax Filers Get Bonus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The taxpayer who waits until the last minute to file his yearly income tax return will get a two-day bonus next spring — the filing deadline has been extended to April 17.

And the Internal Revenue Service said it should be easier for the more than 65 million individual taxpayers to complete their returns next year because the few changes made in the tax form should simplify matters, not complicate them.

Changes made by Congress this year in tax laws will have no effect on the new tax forms. For example, the new law which permits taxpayers to divert $1 of their tax — $2 for married couples filing joint returns — to a presidential campaign fund doesn't go into effect for another year.

The form to be filled out in early 1969 for 1968 taxes will include a small box to be checked by the taxpayer if he wants to do this.

Even if Congress should raise taxes early next year, the new forms would be unaffected. The forms filled out in early 1967 are for this year's taxes.

The two-day filing bonus results because the normal April 15 deadline falls on a Saturday, in such cases, IRS usually gives taxpayers until the next business day to submit returns.

Ground War Lull Goes On

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U. S. and South Vietnamese commands reported 76 Communists killed in small skirmishes in the past 24 hours as the lull in ground fighting in the Viet Nam war continued for the third day. Continuing foul weather once again slowed the U. S. air offensive.

The U. S. command reported 22 enemy killed in more than a dozen patrol contacts. The South Vietnamese headquarters said their forces killed 22 Communists in three small engagements.

Vietnamese headquarters also reported that a Viet Cong force ambushed a 17-vehicle Vietnam military convoy, causing some casualties.

$250 Million Transfusion Builders Divided On Emergency Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is giving the payments which are up to the giving home building industry a $250 million emergency transfusion. Some builders hail it as a step in the right direction. Others say it is too little, too late.

President Johnson ordered the release Monday of one-fourth of the $1 billion in special federal mortgage funds authorized by the last Congress. The government said the action would permit construction of 15,000 new homes.

Due largely to a shortage of mortgage funds, the housing industry is mired in its deepest recession in two decades. Total new housing starts in October dropped to 83,100 units — the lowest since World War II and more than 50,000 under October 1965.

The $250 million will be used for mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration up to $45,000 or $17,000 in high cost areas, and $22,500 in Hawaii, Alaska and Guam.

On mortgages up to $15,000, FHA requires a 3 per cent down payment. An additional 10 per cent is required on the next $5,000 and 20 per cent on the purchase price between $20,000 and $30,000.

"This is a house costing $13,400 would have an FHA mortgage of $15,000 and one costing $15,200 an FHA mortgage of $17,000."

Lynda Among 'Belles' Of Fancy Masked Ball

NEW YORK (AP) — It was hard to decide who was belle of Truman Capote's much talked masked ball Monday night — Lynda Bird Johnson, Kay Graham or agile Alice Roosevelt Longworth — but there was no doubt that she was the host with the most, the idol of the "in-crowd."

The President's glamorous elder daughter — a working girl — danced until 2 a.m. with several partners.

The honored guest, publisher Kay Graham, sat out a few dances, kicking her feet from the bandstand, but not many.

Mrs. Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, sat out the dance tures by Peter Duchin and the Soul Brothers. Nevertheless, she was surrounded until the wee hours by various personalities.

At one time, at the same red-dressed table, sat three members of White House families — Lynda Bird chatting animatedly with Mrs. Longworth while Margaret Truman Daniel listened.

White House Homecoming Kin from 10 to 90 Recall Happy Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some folks who lived in the White House gathered there again and talked about it all.

They remembered: —Live bats living in a second-floor chandelier, said President Benjamin Harrison's granddaughter, Martha Harrison Williams.

Mrs. Johnson invited offspring and descendants of the former presidents. Some couldn't come. Rain kept others away. But there were 14 representatives of the presidential families of Grover Cleveland, U. S. Grant, William H. Taft, Benjamin Harrison, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower on hand among 200 guests for the festivities in the state rooms.

The Eisenhower were the largest contingent. There was former First Lady Mamie Eisenhower, Mrs. John S. Eisenhower, daughter-in-law, Mrs. John S. Eisenhower.

In Lansing, the state capital where about six inches of snow fell overnight, some state offices were closed. A spot check by the Civil Service Department showed about a 30 per cent absenteeism. Normal absenteeism is less than 5 per cent.

Italy's Plan Also Blocked By Big Edge

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly voted by a substantial majority today to bar Red China from the United Nations. It also rejected an Italian proposal for a high-level study of the Chinese representation problem.

The vote to expel Nationalist China and seat the Peking government was 59 against and 46 in favor with 17 abstaining and Laos not participating. It was the 14th time Red China has been refused a seat.

The proposal study, which many believed might lead to a recommendation for seating both the Chinese Communists and the Chiang Kai-shek government, was defeated by a 49-42 vote against and 25 abstaining.

The assembly had decided in advance that both resolutions would require a two-thirds majority for approval. The action proved unnecessary, however, since neither received even a simple majority.

The result was to leave the China problem more tightly docketed than ever.

The China debate lacked its usual steam this year, due mainly to the worsening dispute between the Soviet Union and Red China and a three-way split among the Western nations over how to break the stalemate.

During seven days of discussion preceding the balloting, most of the speeches on both sides were apathetic.

Communists bloc delegates who usually spearheaded the drive to seat Peking were almost perfunctory in their support of the resolution. The most vocal warm backing came from the Soviet Union.

The only enthusiasm for the Red cause was generated by Albania, Peking's voice in the United Nations and by Cambodia and radical elements in the African group.

Western Union, which has been arguing for several years on the Chinese question, was shattered over the Italian proposal.

Britain and France were as cold toward the Italian plan as the Communists, making plain that it did not fit in with their desire to see Peking seated without further delay.

Teen King Deposed In Africa's Burundi

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — The army has taken over the neighboring African King. Justice Minister Arthem Simbanani had been named attorney general, apparently giving him the power of arrest and detention.

The coup was led by Premier Michel Micombero, an army captain who helped Niare depose his father, 61-year-old King Ntare, in July 1965. The king was in Switzerland for medical treatment. Micombero said then that extremist elements had made a puppet of his young son.

Burundi had been the scene of periodic Chinese Communist activity, and the Chinese are believed in the ascendancy again.

Niare was in Kinshasa for the celebration of the first anniversary of Congolese President Joseph Mobutu's seizure of power. The young king was not available to renew his today, but Mobutu said in a broadcast he considered the coup a "discourteous gesture" since Niare is still his guest.

Micombero said he was withholding recognition of the new Burundi regime but pledged not to interfere.

Micombero, a Burundi official, said he had become chief of state and head of a committee of national liberation made up of 12 army officers. He said his foreign policy is unchanged, guaranteed the safety of foreigners, and asked other states not to interfere.

Micombero said the government is expected to be proclaimed to presidency of the country on Thursday with Lynch Townsend stepping up to become chairman and chief executive officer. Won't Ever Be Same

That is the judgment of Maj. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, who directed the sky operation involving some 25,000 American soldiers in the tangled jungles of Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon.

"We started the end of War Zone C as a maneuver for the VC," Weyand said in an interview at his headquarters here. "War Zone C will never be the same."

The Communists have controlled the area stretching to the Cambodian border for 20 years or more.

"We've been all through there," Weyand said. "I can't think of any place we can't go, and on short notice."

The general did not claim that the Viet Cong's hold on Zone C has been broken. But he predicted that "eventually, War Zone C will no longer be a Viet Cong area for them."

Operation Attleboro was declared ended last Saturday when it was reported that the Viet Cong had been driven from the area.

Alternate bids being sought are for a 20-30 kilowatt plant and a 40-50 kilowatt plant. Bids will be opened Dec. 19 at 11 a.m. in the Municipal Building.

The emergency system, to service the building and to be used by Civil Defense personnel, is estimated to cost about $200,000. The Federal Government will pay about 75 percent of the cost and the town will pay the balance.

The town has already been furnished with a 25-kilowatt plant.

Four Accidents On Wet Streets

Four accidents took place on the rainy wet streets yesterday, and two persons were arrested as a result of the mishaps.

On Tolland Tpk., near exit 94 of Rt. 16, a car driven by Herbert E. Fries was charged with failure to yield the right of way and is scheduled to appear in court on Dec. 12.

Arthur Goulet, 34, of East Hartford was charged with improper use of registration plate and operating an unregistered motor vehicle, after the car he was driving hit the rear of a car driven by Dorothy Horvath of 15 Westminister Rd., Summit St. yesterday afternoon.

The accident took place on E. Center St. near Summit St. yesterday shortly after 5 p.m. The Horvath car had stopped at a light at Madison and E. Center Sts.

The Goulet car had to be towed away. It is scheduled for court on Dec. 12.

In an accident on Center St. near Henderson St. yesterday evening, a car driven by Frank J. Carvini, 69, of 86 Park St. hit a car driven by Stephen Casanova, 34, of Nantucket, Mass., police report. Police say Casanova applied his brakes, his car spun out of control and into the opposite lane where the Corvini vehicle rammed it. Minor damage was done to both cars, and both were driven away, police report.

Rotarians Told To Apply The Golden Rule to Labor

"One of the major problems of civilization is that we have learned to destroy each other scientifically," Jack L. Walker, told Rotarians at a luncheon meeting yesterday.

Walker is director of human relations of the Farberware Division of Walker Kiddle and Company. He discussed his copyrighted anti-strike pamphlet, "Private enterprise is in danger of being choked to death," Walker said. He asserted that what he saw as a trend of the government is to threaten by admission is a threat to business and is one step removed from Communism.

In reviewing the philosophy behind his human relations program, which was introduced more than 15 years ago at the Farberware plant, Walker said his formula, "Golden Rule Extension," is based on harmony and cooperation.

Walker further noted the formula recommends wider use to "satisfy the wants and needs of others as you would have others satisfy your wants and needs."

As explained by Walker, his theory implies that employees have different wants and needs and that an employer concerned with the bonds of friendship by satisfying these needs and assures reciprocity in the satisfaction of the employer's wants and needs.

"Usually, Walker pointed out, these are the accomplishments of mutual goals away from competitive status of the company, its products and the security of well-paying jobs."

The speaker urged that an employer must take a genuine interest in the welfare of his employees.

"If we are to maintain free enterprise and safeguard our democracy we must demonstrate union," Walker said. "Union members need to be protected from the tyranny of their own organization."

Walker added that the seed of discontent. Two emotions he said, cause more than about 900,000 of the Federal Government will pay about 75 percent of the cost and the town will pay the balance.

Daily Question: Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades, 8-4; Hearts, 10-10; Diamonds, J-8-4; Clubs, K-Q-7-4.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts. This shows trump support and about 4 to 5 points in support of hearts (counting distribution as well as high cards). In this case you have 5 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubler.

Bolton 6 Weeks Before Christmas And a Partridge in Nursery

By CLEMWELL YOUNG

Once upon a time, about two weeks ago, a partridge flew through two layers of glass into a room on Shagley Hill. The bird found itself suddenly barred from its world of trees and grass and sky, trapped in a box of bedroom furniture and children's toys.

The mother in the house heard the shattering of glass, rushed to see what the noise had been up to while she was bathing.

The bird, about the size of a domestic hen, regarded her with wild apprehension from the window sill, then hid behind a screen.

Fragments of glass were everywhere, so the mother picked up her small son and plunked him in his crib. He had not seen the bird. She went to get a broom.

Blood-curdling screams issued from the bedroom. The mother hurried back, found the bird under his blanket in the crib. She was startled to see the proceedings in silence from the doorway.

The mother tried to catch the bird, but fearing its claws and beak, went to call that man of all nations to midnight matters where gold, silver and lead have been mined since 1874, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

A blooming plant needs more water in an hour, called a neighbor, who arrived with fish net and sturdy gloves.

The bird was caught and gently released through the hole in the window. It flew away, to all appearances unscathed.

The boy, however, has been trying his blanket around solemnly, even waking up in the middle of the night with dreams.

Who can convince a child of one and a half that a bird won't hurt into his room again some autumn morning? It happens all the time.

Hands Across Border All Girl Scouts and Brownies in Andover are taking part in a joint service project during this scouting year which consists of a friendship program with Mexican girls. International friendship is always a part of scouting, and this year the girls in Andover have a contact with friends in Patzcuaro, Mexico.

All troops are being reminded that they should bring clean, usable clothing in their small gifts and writing and scrapbook materials to their Mexican meetings for their Mexican friends. Clothing and gifts also may be left at the home of Mrs. George Arnold, Hutton Rd.

Senior Girl Scouts will make the Christmas packages ready for mailing by the deadline Monday. The troops hope that the clothing donations will be repeated later in the year.

Scrapbooks which the troops are compiling are meant to reflect the American way of life through the use of magazine postcards and such as a means of overcoming the language problem between our girls and the Spanish-speaking children of Mexico.

AN NHON DISTRICT, VIET NAM—A few weeks ago, Communist guerrillas attacked the hamlet of Thanh Lien in a small cleared space in the hamlet district—with most surprising results.

Whenever a public board in Manchester puts its time at the random disposal of the public, it is not the public which appears, but the shifting membership of what Manchester has come to call its shadow board.

The members of the Manchester shadow board claim to be surface logic, that they are the ones who are keeping alive the process and right of dissent, who are still representing directly the sovereignty and political organization of the people.

And, along much the same line, the unity coalition creates may prove to be a unity which drives toward the re-unification of Germany—a thing therefore kept on the back burner of German politics partly because the Christian Democrats would stand to lose and if the population of East Germany were brought back into national elections.

"Moralistic Stragglers" If State Representative John A. Mischke of Torrington can possibly arrange it, Connecticut will have a state lottery for raising taxes like the one in New Hampshire and like the one which will probably be set up in New York. Rep. Mischke's whose earlier measures on the subject have all failed for one reason or another, has filed his bills again with the hope of getting a state referendum on the tax lottery issues in the state elections of 1968.

We think it is a stupid idea—because it makes taxpayers out of the stupidest citizens and exempts everybody who is smart enough to spend his money for something besides a lottery ticket. But not everybody agrees with us by any means. The Manchester Evening Herald, for instance, holds that "it is time for a few moralistic stragglers to abandon their old-fashioned effort to keep gambling established as a personal sin and a social disease."

If it is possible, we concede, yet we question whether it is probable. We strongly suspect that most of the voters for legalized tax lotteries came from those who think that this will somehow make the tax load lighter. They are voting against tax bills—not against hypocrisy.

And in the process, they are voting for a system that is particularly un-American, a system which openly invites a majority of the people with representation to avoid the burden of taxation. Talk about hypocrisy!—WATERBURY REPUBLICAN

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

Here are we seasoned Connecticut political reporters, none of us without some smouldering ambition to do a book and ride into fame and fortune, and all of us living all our observer lives with some of the best subjects in the world, and along comes a headless young man from Yale and poses us all to it by producing, almost as his own introduction to Connecticut politics, rather than as a result of long experience and political influence than has yet been made, and brought Mr. Bailey himself up still all roses.

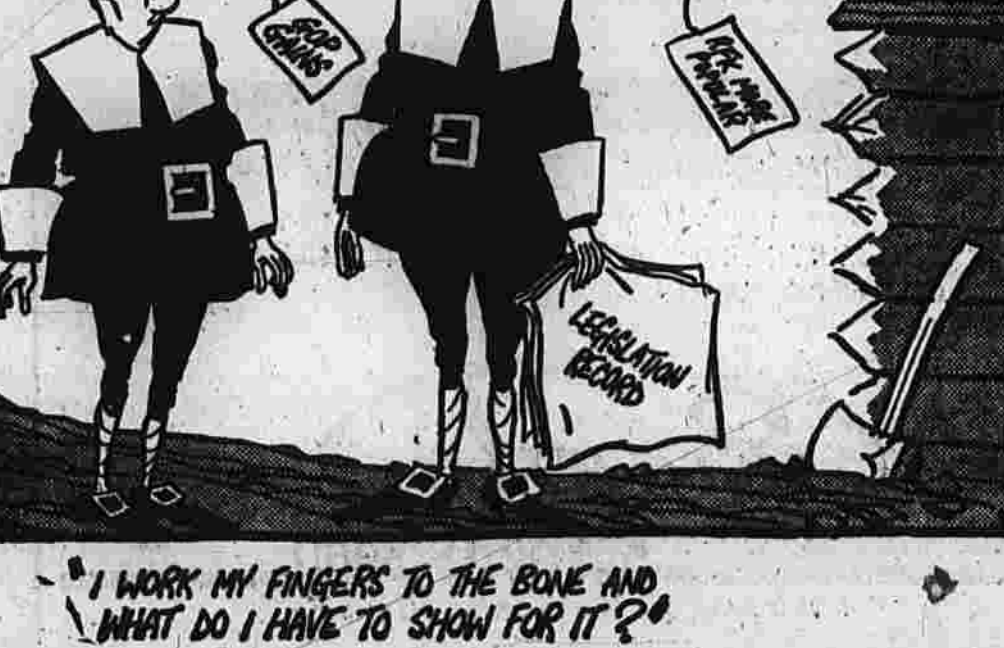

Finally, John Bailey himself passed a test with this book. It appeared, with its somewhat challenging and provocative title, in the midst of a political campaign in which all of Bailey's previous brookwater was at stake once again. Now we can't put any actual guarantee of what we are about to deduce, but so far as we have heard, there was from Bailey no cry of complaint, no personal resentment over the possibility that a combination of title and publishing time and mildly objective reporting might be doing him realistic harm. We can't guarantee this, as we said, but it comports with our own previous observation of Bailey as a sportsman in the political arena. He has always been able to take it as well as he gives it; we have never known him to object to fair comment, even when it was directed to his own mistakes and vulnerabilities.

Hussein Warns Middle East Moving Closer to Explosion

Editor's note — AP correspondent Roy Heston's interview with King Hussein of Jordan today on the current crisis in the Middle East following an Israeli raid on Jordanian border villages and violent demonstrations in Jordan. Here is his report of the exclusive interview.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan told The Associated Press today the Middle East is on the brink of an explosion more dangerous to world peace than the Suez crisis of 1956.

He said Jordan was threatened on three fronts — by Israeli raids, by the Arab world and the West.

He said his armed forces would strike back at Israel — "and strike extremely hard" — if Israel attacks again across the armistice line.

Our patience is at an end and we won't stand for any further aggression," he said in an interview at the royal palace in Amman.

Twins, 18, Saved From Lake Zou, 3rd Boy Drowns

MONROE (AP) — Twin 18-year-old youths were rescued from the chilly, choppy waters of Lake Zou late Monday night, but their 15-year-old companion apparently drowned.

The twins, Larry and Gary Stevens of Monroe, said they had taken their 12-foot boat for a final excursion before a storm for the winter.

The weather was windy and wet, and a big wave overturned the boat about 100 yards from shore, pulling the twins and 15-year-old Dennis Gaffney of Monroe into the water.

Asked whether he had any fear of assassination — his grandfather King Abdullah was murdered before young Hussein's eyes in 1951 — the king said: "I never think of it. I only think of doing the best I can for my people and of upholding the ideals in which I believe and which are shared by free people everywhere."

He suggested that the attack and the disturbances in Jordan that followed it might have been motivated by an Israeli desire to exploit the current crisis "to spill the Middle East into two warring East-West camps."

Tolland 35,000 Napkins Recipe for Prize Float!

The "Here Comes Tolland" float, designed and constructed by members of the Tolland Teachers and Drum Corps, was awarded first-place trophy for best float in the weekend Christmas Parade in Rockville Centre. The float was entered by the corps and sponsored by the Savings Bank of Tolland. The trophy was presented to Florie Tantiello, president of the group; Beth Himmelman, Steve Dianna and Robin Lace, drum major, by William Bush, executive director of the Rockville Centre, Chamber of Commerce. Tolland residents will be given a second opportunity to see the float when it leads a parade escorting Santa Claus to town on Dec. 18. Santa's visit is being sponsored by the Board of Recreation. The float was lifted off its truck in one piece and is being stored under plastic wrap awaiting its Tolland appearance. It was designed and built by the youngsters, each of whom contributed his idea to the project. The float was built with without benefit of any plans on paper. "We worked it out as we went along," explained Mrs. Walter Beaton of Mountain Spring Rd., founder of the Teachers. Only one of the boys had any previous experience building a float, she noted. The float was built in the form of a large sleigh carrying a drum with mechanical drumsticks which beat the drum in synchronization with the brass drum in the drum corps. Large paper napkins depicted the theme of the parade, "Christmas Balls are Ringing," were mounted on the rear of the float. The color scheme of the organization, white and blue, highlighted with turquoise and gold, was used. The prize entry was the result of many hours of work by youngsters and several parents. It is composed of 35,000 paper napkins, including 30,000 white and about 5,000 turquoise napkins. Gold braid outlined the drum and gold paint was used to highlight runners of the sleigh. The turquoise napkins served as the sleigh's runners, setting it apart from the rest of the parade. The napkins were stuffed into the drum in a way which would make it sound like the drum corps was playing. The construction was done in separate parts which were later put together on the truck by the older members of the group. The method of "stuffing the napkins" was an exercise in teamwork, as each of the napkins had to be spread over the hand and twisted in a certain way. It would then be tossed into a large box, where another child would make a "bouquet" consisting of several of the napkins put together. A "bouquet" then was stuffed into every other hole in the Meadowsbrook School, and a sunchicken wire by another youngster, with the attendant leading way.

The mechanism of the drum was worked out by Kenneth Krivanec, head of the science department at the Junior High School. He rigged the drumsticks with a combination of pulleys and ropes, which could be operated from the passenger seat of the truck. He also set up a sound system which played "Santa Claus is Coming to Town." The drumsticks were made of styrofoam balls covered with blue glitter, as were the napkins had to be spread over the hand and twisted in a certain way. It would then be tossed into a large box, where another child would make a "bouquet" consisting of several of the napkins put together. A "bouquet" then was stuffed into every other hole in the Meadowsbrook School, and a sunchicken wire by another youngster, with the attendant leading way.

Other townspeople donating their talents to construction of the float included Marshall B. Mer, Verne Durkin and Wesley Tholin. Eight of the youngsters worked every night after school on the float and a full crew worked Saturday and a half-day Sunday since the entry was decided on at the Nov. 8 meeting of the Teachers and Drum Corps. Work on the float wasn't completed until 11:30 the night before the parade. The truck was driven by State Rep. Walter Thorpe, re-elected Nov. 8 to serve the New London and Coventry assembly district. Krivanec rode in the passenger seat, working the various mechanisms he had rigged up. Members of the Drum Corps used five new drums, which arrived just in time for the parade.

Wilson's father was the Rev. Joseph Ruggles Wilson, Presbyterian minister in Stamford, Va., and Augusta, Ga. Bullitt describes him as "a handsome man who cared more for the expression of a thought than his substance." Bullitt says the Rev. Mr. Wilson prayed to God five times a day while his family listened. "On Sundays," says Bullitt, "he stood in the pulpit and laid down the law of God."

Bullitt adds that as a boy in Augusta, young Woodrow Wilson "sat in the fourth pew and gazed into the face of his incomparable father" with rapt intensity. So completely did he take into his heart the teachings of his father that for the remainder of his life, he never allowed himself to entertain religious doubt for an instant.

In a rebuttal in the same issue of Look, Allen W. Dulles, former head of the Central Intelligence Agency, called the study "a well-founded attack on the character of one of our great idealists. Mr. Dulles also pointed out that the peace talks dealing with the fate of Germany and Russia, ex-

But when confronted with the hardened positions of England and France, they said, "he shrunk from the possible consequences of wounding his masculine ego."

Wilson eventually suffered a mental and physical breakdown after the signing of the peace treaty. It came, Freud wrote, after "his hatred and loathing of nearly all mankind, which must have been at the bottom of his hatred and loathing of himself, had reached a fantastic pitch."

Bullitt contended Wilson disregarded an offer he said he received from Lenin that would have restricted Communist rule and provided "a unique opportunity to prevent Communist conquest by force" in other areas.

Coventry State Aide Outlines Ways To Solve Local Problems

Members of several town boards, commissions and committees gathered last night at the Coventry Town Hall at an informal meeting to learn how the town may best go about solving its sewage and other problems in a rapidly growing town. The speaker at the meeting was Thomas Skarupa of the local and regional planning division, urban renewal section, of the state development commission. The boards of selectmen and the planning and zoning commission, the conservation committee and the newly-formed sewage study committee were represented. Donald Smith, chairman of the planning and zoning commission, introduced Skarupa and told those present that there are three specific problems the town has to deal with: sewage, substandard housing in the lake area, and the Main St. business area, "where space is not renting too well."

Smith pointed out that previous meetings have been held with his commission, the board of health and the selectmen, resulting in the formation of the sewage study group. In June, there was an open meeting at the home of Mrs. Arlene Purry, Meadowbrook Rd. The executive board of St. Matthew's Ladies Guild will meet tomorrow night at 8 at the home of Mrs. Arlene Purry, Meadowbrook Rd. The executive board of St. Matthew's Holy Name Society will meet tomorrow night at 8 in the Parish Church. The Men's Choir of St. Matthew's Church will rehearse tomorrow night at 6:30 in the church. The Youth Choir of United Congregational Church will rehearse tomorrow night at 6:30 in the church, followed by the Adult Choir at 7:30. To John Society Jane W. Wilson eventually suffered a mental and physical breakdown after the signing of the peace treaty. It came, Freud wrote, after "his hatred and loathing of nearly all mankind, which must have been at the bottom of his hatred and loathing of himself, had reached a fantastic pitch."

Wilson's father was the Rev. Joseph Ruggles Wilson, Presbyterian minister in Stamford, Va., and Augusta, Ga. Bullitt describes him as "a handsome man who cared more for the expression of a thought than his substance." Bullitt says the Rev. Mr. Wilson prayed to God five times a day while his family listened. "On Sundays," says Bullitt, "he stood in the pulpit and laid down the law of God."

Bullitt adds that as a boy in Augusta, young Woodrow Wilson "sat in the fourth pew and gazed into the face of his incomparable father" with rapt intensity. So completely did he take into his heart the teachings of his father that for the remainder of his life, he never allowed himself to entertain religious doubt for an instant.

Notre Dame Gains in College Grid Poll

Irish Top Spartans With 34 Point Edge

It was certainly wonderful to see the five win mark and become the first squad at East to break the five win mark. In the first half of the year, the boys were very nervous. During the first two return games to relax, that we would stay with our game plan and start to hit and play good football. The second half was our volunteer coaches showing a barometer. John Atchick led our team to their third touchdown in seven plays and called them all Don Robert himself. John has an excellent football mind and I term him as one of the top college prospects to watch next fall. John is a junior and will be back for the final year. Jim Jukins took over for John and set up two touchdowns with his passing. Jim proved that he could bounce back from an injury and still play that ball. His passing was great with some fine receiving by Fred Dooley, Jim Quinn and Jim Leber.

Our 20-7 victory over Windsor last week was a tremendous season for our kids. In some ways it was even more gratifying that winning the title last fall. This season, when we were defeated by Windsor 25-20, it was a stronger third in The Associated Press next-to-last major college football poll of the 1966 season. The Fighting Irish moved in front by 34 points this week after finishing their season with a smashing 51-0 conquest of Rose Bowl-bound Southern California. Notre Dame led the second-ranked Spartans by only three points a week ago after the teams battled to a 10-10 tie in Michigan State's final game. The No. 1 and No. 2 teams each finished with a 9-0 record.

Super Bowl Seen In L.A. Coliseum

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Coliseum and Sunday, Jan. 15, are the likely site and date of the Super Bowl football game between the champions of the National and American Football leagues.

The AFL-Pro Bowl game, between all-star teams of the two leagues, can be shifted from Jan. 15 to Jan. 22, if the two leagues are expected to move their first big game into the vast 110,000-seat Coliseum.

No decision has been made. The Coliseum, Miami's Orange Bowl, New Orleans' Sugar Bowl and Houston's AstroDome are being considered according to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

A joint committee from the two leagues, with Commissioner Rozelle as chairman, is making its recommendations to the two leagues and their respective owners. A definite announcement is expected before the two pro leagues meet in separate meetings Wednesday or Thursday.

Of primary importance to the members of the NFL is the NFL's 1967 realignment. With New Orleans becoming the 10th team in 1967, the league will split into the same two Eastern and Western Conferences, with the NFL's 1967 realignment. Baltimore will still play in the West. St. Louis is in the East.

Each conference will, in turn, be split into two four-club divisions. The AFL's 1967 realignment is causing considerable discussion. Among the factors to be considered are weather, baseball park conflicts, traditional rivalries, geography, season ticket sales and business success and competitive aspects (strong or weak teams).

Headquarters of the AFL are in New York City. The AFL's 1967 realignment is causing considerable discussion. Muscular Dystrophy Fund Gets $994

Biggest winner, as is always the case each year, in the annual Five Mile Road Race promotion is the Muscular Dystrophy Fund. General chairman for the sponsoring Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, reported a total of $994.75 was collected last Thursday morning during the running of the race by volunteer collectors who passed out 200 paper money containers among the crowd.

The sum collected is the largest in history for the Tall Cedars since starting in 1952 to forward all donations to this worthwhile project.

This year's total, broken down at the Savings Bank of Manchester, under the supervision of Bruce Noble, went like this: $250 in half dollars, $502 in quarters, $24.45 in nickels and $18.30 in dimes, $23.00 in pennies, $34 in currency and $65 in checks. The checks were in the amounts of $50, $10 and $5.

Fourteen of the best players in the coin containers were a gift from St. John's University in Brooklyn, N.Y., a dollar for each of the 14 players. The Tall Cedars have been sponsoring the Five Mile since 1951.

The latest sum of money brings the overall figure since 1952 up to nearly $100,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Fund. This is the only Muscular Dystrophy fund of raising money annually in Manchester.

Dodgers May Trade Wills Bavasi Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have acquired Juan Pizarro in an attempt to solve their primary problem, and the Houston Astros have grabbed Mo Belinsky with the hope that he can overcome him.

Pizarro and Belinsky, both 29-year-old left-handed pitchers, were in the spotlight Monday as a split decision victory over the Houston Astros was made. Pizarro was 1-0 in the game, but he was hampered by an ankle injury.

Belinsky, who is weaker than Pizarro, has been as much good as bad as he has had pitching. Last season, Belinsky posted a 10-2 record with Philadelphia and a 3-4 mark at San Diego of the Pacific Coast League, where he was hampered by an ankle injury.

Bosox Play Tight Hand At Meetings

Bosox Play Tight Hand At Meetings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Boston Red Sox were ready to talk trade with all comers at the baseball meetings today but appeared set to play a pat hand if necessary despite their ninth place finish in 1966.

It looks like we may not make any trades at all," Dick Williams, the Red Sox manager, said Monday. "Of course, everyone is looking for help, but we have a pretty healthy situation with competition for several positions as things stand right now."

The Red Sox gambled $20,000 in picking up southpaw pitcher Bill Landis, 24, from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League in the major league draft. Landis had an 11-10 record with a 3.40 earned run average and 120 strikeouts in 190 innings last season.

In a Shopping Quandary? Read Herald Supplement

In a tizzy on what to buy for Christmas gifts? How about some duddies—sleepwear, slippers with filigree buckles or even something for Christmas next year.

In tomorrow's Herald will be found a special 22-page supplement which will solve all your gift-buying problems for Christmas.

The supplement is sponsored by the Retail Division of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and lists hundreds of items which are sold at downtown Manchester stores and at the Parkade.

And if the neighborhood children invade the house to show their games, it could be useful for them to play on in some quiet corner.

The Christmas supplement has many, many ideas, from many stores. And if, after looking at it, your gift-buying problem still exists, use it for research. Pass it along to one who you want to buy for and
